

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1935.

NUMBER FORTY-EIGHT

Public Square

There have been busy days during the past few days that he has neglected the important (?) duty of furnishing these notes on time. He feels sure, however, that should they be altogether omitted, that the readers of the Eagle would not be disappointed to any very great degree.

The weather has been so hot the past few days that this alone should be a good reason for some mighty fine church attendance. It should bring vividly to mind the old fashioned doctrine of a very hot hereafter, together with a devout longing to avoid the awful consequences of neglected duties.

Bro. Duke is an expert in dealing with the hot weather problems, so as to make all things conform to the wishes of his congregation. He has unusual terminal facilities. He knows when to begin and when to quit, and does not allow long intervals between these two important points. In all this a long suffering audience arises and calls him blessed. Selah.

The choir is doing some fine work now. Join it and help out. It was a joy Wednesday evening to greet some recruits in that body. Come along and help.

Be sure to attend both the morning and evening services. We fear some people doubt the ability of Bro. Duke to preach a worthwhile sermon at night. Give him the benefit of the doubt and try him out next Sunday evening. J. S. BOWLES

Financing the Crop

Senator John H. Bankhead, Alabama, says the government will lend cotton farmers at least 12c and possibly 13c a pound on this year's crop.

"The administration is prepared at least to sustain last year's purchasing power for the cotton farmers and to protect the cotton now under government loan by making a loan on this year's crop," Bankhead said.

"That loan cannot be less than 12c and it is hoped that it will be 13c. Announcement has been withheld pending the continuance by congress of the Bankhead act. That is being continued in the AAA amendments."

Bankhead said confusion growing out of court decisions has caused a general demoralization of the cotton trade, resulting in a downward trend.

"It is reported that buyers of cotton goods have largely withdrawn from the market because they believe there is a prospect for cheaper cotton and cheaper textile goods," he said. "This is an unfortunate situation and without justification. No one need expect cheaper cotton nor cheaper cotton goods this season, but on the contrary textile buyers should recognize that the price is now probably at its lowest point."

Helped by Relief

Approximately 12,000,000 men and women have come of age in the United States since 1929, states an article in a recent number of the magazine "Today." Of this number, nearly 1,000,000 are college graduates. During the school year, which ended in June, nearly 100,000 students were supported in colleges by the federal emergency relief association, which provided an average of $15 a month for each of these students.

Singing Convention Is Announced

An announcement signed by J. D. Murray, secretary, says that a singing convention is to be held at Woodland Heights, two miles south of Brownwood, Saturday night and Sunday, July 27-28. He says everybody has a cordial invitation to attend, especially Mills county singers.

Application Received For Sewerage Funds

The city officials have received applications for their signatures for the federal funds to provide a sewerage system for Goldthwaite. The application calls for $45,000, which will be the full cost of the system. However, the government donates approximately one-third of the amount, hence very little above $30,000 will be to pay. The system will be self-liquidating and, therefore, it will not be necessary to appropriate funds from tax money to pay the indebtedness.

Engineer Ward has compiled with all requirements of the government in the application and it is hoped the funds will soon be allocated for the work to begin on the sewerage system.

Will Take Business Census In Texas

The first complete picture of business conditions in Texas since the advent of the depression is to be secured by the federal government as a part of its work relief program.

With an allotment of $210,763 recommended Tuesday by the president's allotment advisory board and to be signed by the president shortly, the census bureau will start January 2, 1936, to obtain full information upon business activities in the Lone Star State.

Not only is the information expected to be useful to business and labor, but will be used directly by the federal, state and local governments in future recovery operations. At the present time there are no accurate figures available upon business conditions in Texas or any other state.

With the exception of manufacturers and agriculture, for which regular censuses are taken, the survey will secure basic information relating to the number of operating units, employment, pay rolls, receipts and other business data.

This data is expected to be of great value to financial, industrial and commercial organizations in connection with sales promotions, marketing research commercial credit and analysis of costs in relation to volume and type of business.

Homes and Incomes

The government housing plan receives comment from the Waxahachie Light, which says: "Do you know why more people don't own their own homes? The principal reason is that the great percentage of folks live beyond their means. 'Building and loan agencies and the banks,' says the Sherman Democrat, 'have been aware of it for a long time. But the Federal housing agency lets the public in on the situation. The Oklahoma City office announced this week that nearly nine out of every ten would-be home owners in Oklahoma are living beyond their means. The director put it in another way. He reported that about 90 per cent of the loans sought to build, buy or refinance homes under the federal housing act are turned down 'not because of insufficient income, but because of excessive obligations.'"

Business Good In Goldthwaite

Goldthwaite merchants are doing good business and trade is attracted to this city from many miles away, because of the complete stocks and the very satisfactory prices. The people have learned to consult the Eagle's advertising columns as a means of keeping informed as to goods, styles and prices. The large crowds in town almost every day and especially on special occasions prove that the country is rapidly recovering from the depression, if in fact it has not already recovered.

Farmers Short Course

The short course and agents' meeting, July 29-August 2, brings together more men, women, boys and girls than any other farmers meeting of the year. The attendance for the last few years has averaged 6000. It is well known that the program covers all subject matter of interest to farm people.

A number of Mills county men, women and 4-H club boys intend to leave Sunday for College Station to be present at the opening exercises Monday morning.

School Matters

All transfers of pupils from one school to another must be in by August 1. The law does not allow transfers after that date. Local boards of trustees have until August 5 to appeal any transfer to the county board, if they have reason to think the transfer unjustified. The new transfer law requires that two copies of the application for transfer be made by the parent or guardian, giving the name, age and grade of the child. One of these copies must be sent to Austin by the county superintendent.

Notice has been received from the Texas relief commission that the following schools have been granted federal aid in the amounts opposite their names:

Priddy	$1,223.75
Prairie	240.00
Ridge	210.00
Big Valley	720.00
Washboard	120.00
Lake Merritt	540.00
Pompey Mountain	270.00
Mullin	1,500.00

(This money is to pay teachers amounts due them for the last session of school and liquidate other obligations of the schools.)

Checks for the above amounts have not been received, but it is expected that they will be received in a day or so.

R. J. GERALD.

School Aid

Checks for paying approximately 8000 rural school teachers of Texas under the federal aid program which enabled nearly 1500 schools this year to complete normal terms are being prepared and will be in the mails shortly, State Relief Director Adam E. Johnson has announced. The FERA early last spring agreed to pay a portion of teachers' salaries in schools in towns and communities under 5000 population which were unable to complete a full term on their own finances.

More than 1500 school districts applied, and 1493 projects were approved, F. A. Royse, engineer in charge, revealed. Exact number of children benefited is to be compiled later. In most cases schools were enabled to remain open an average of two months longer than otherwise would have been possible. A total of 8764 persons, chiefly teachers, but including others connected with schools such as bus drivers, will receive the checks being prepared by the relief commission. The total aid will be approximately one million dollars.

Mr. Johnson announced that no more applications from schools can be received as all funds are allotted. Checks will be sent to superintendents in the various school districts for distribution.

Car Turned Over

Last Friday night as Bud Wilsford of Fort Worth was driving into this city a front tire on his car blew out, just as he reached the intersection of the Waco and Comanche roads. The blowout made his car careen and fall into the ditch beside the road, causing him to be painfully although not seriously hurt. He was brought to a physician, who gave him the necessary attention and he was able to return to his home the next day. His car was damaged to some extent, but a few dollars expense put it back in good shape.

Transfer of Scholastics

To parents desiring to transfer children from one school district to another:

Your attention is called to the fact that this must be done before August 1. Heretofore high school pupils have been transferred at any time during the year. A new transfer law passed by the last legislature makes it imperative that high school pupils be transferred prior to August 1.

A. H. SMITH,
Supt. Goldthwaite Schools.

New Auto Plates

Advance information says that next year's passenger automobile license plates will be cream colored with blue numerals and lettering. The truck plates will have the colors reversed.

At the bottom of the plate, where the word "Texas" now appears, there will be the word "Centennial," while "Tex" will be stamped horizontally in the middle of the plate.

County School Board Meeting

The Mills County School Board met in called session on Wednesday of this week. Judge E. B. Anderson, the chairman, was not present, having filed his resignation before leaving on an extended visit and vacation.

G. W. Chancellor of Mullin was elected temporary chairman and presided through the re-organization of the board.

Rev. J. S. Bowles was elected to the vacancy from commissioners precinct No. 1 and also to the chairmanship of the board.

The resignation of Judge Anderson was received with much regret by all members of the board. Judge Anderson's long experience with schools and in the practice of law made him a highly valuable member of the board.

The board passed an order for the establishment of another bus route for Mullin school to reach into the territory west of Mullin and the Pompey creek district.

An order was also passed, allowing all those schools which have applied for bus routes to purchase and operate the necessary buses.

Most of the afternoon was taken up with a discussion of a petition filed several weeks ago by some citizens of the old Washboard district, asking that a portion of the Washboard district be detached from the Priddy consolidated district and annexed to Indian Gap district. This petition had been acted on by the board July 16, when it was denied. Interested people prevailed on the chairman to call another meeting of the board for reconsideration. After hearing much evidence from both sides of the controversy, the board decided upon legal advice, to deny the petition.

Baptist Reminder

My subject Sunday morning will be "Turning Toward Bethel." This is the solution to life's greatest problems.

Sunday evening my subject will be "The Trail of the Serpent." This is one of the most interesting studies in the Bible.

REV. C. Y. DOSSEY

Our meeting starts one week from this coming Sunday. Rev. C. Y. Dossey of Dallas, will be our preacher and Bro. J. E. Longino of Fort Worth will lead the singing. If you hear these men once you will continue to hear them. The meeting will run for fifteen days. We will probably have all the services under the Church of Christ tabernacle, except the Sunday morning services. The condition of the street in front of our church will make it hard to care for our crowds. Let us pray for God's direction in his revival.

FRANKLIN E. SWANNER

Japan Moves For War With Russia

Foreign military observers, watching the Japanese army clutch north China ever tighter in its malleed fist, said that they believed Japan's leading motive was preparation for possible war with soviet Russia.

They credited the army's insistence on the demilitarization of Hopel province to its desire for absolute control of lines of communication in north China, as well as the desire to avoid trouble with Chinese troops.

With the army's protectorate over north China virtually established, the military sources pointed out, Japan can count on non-interference on her left if she has to push troops out into Mongolia to fight the Russian bear.

Japanese dominance of Hopel and, to lesser extent, Charhar province was entering its final phases with army officers concentrating on the eradication of the few remaining articulate anti-Japanese influences.

Will Entertain Friends

J. J. Gregg, editor of the Santa Anna News, has planned a most pleasant entertainment for his friends, which will take place in his home town next Wednesday afternoon and evening. The Ex-Rangers association will have a reunion and convention in Santa Anna next week and while the gala spirit is extant in the town Friend Gregg will prove his big heartedness by entertaining his newspaper friends and others with a party and program. The Eagle editor is glad to be numbered among those chosen to be guests of Mr. Gregg and his newspaper and expects to be among the early arrivals and the late stayers.

Santa Anna is making great preparations for entertaining the ex-Rangers in their convention.

Light Rain Falls Wednesday

A light rain fell here Wednesday afternoon. There was not enough to be of material benefit; nevertheless, it was appreciated and had the effect of laying the dust to some extent. There was much more rainfall in some parts of the county, especially in the Mullin section. Some communities report enough rain to be of benefit to cotton and to the late feed crops.

Floods In Southwest Texas

Flooded rivers which rose after heavy rains marooned about 700 persons, attending summer recreation and religious encampments and members of a tree army camp Wednesday and an overflow from Rio Seco covered the streets of D'Hanis, washing into business houses of the little Medina county town.

Streets of D'Hanis, fifty-two miles west of San Antonio, were from one to four feet deep in water that tore through the banks of the Rio Seco channel about two miles north of the town, after one of that section's heaviest rains. A number of residences, too, were flooded and long sections of the Southern Pacific Railway and Highway No. 3, main travel arteries from San Antonio west to Uvalde, Del Rio and El Paso, were washed out.

Two hundred persons in a tree army camp at Garner State Park, twenty-five miles north of Uvalde, were marooned by a rise in the Main Frio river. One hundred San Antonians, vacationing in Leakey and 400 persons attending the Alto Frio Baptist encampment in the Frio Canyon, were cut off by high water.

Fight Against Tariffs

A finish fight against tariffs of industry was promised by a Texas agricultural organization, which met in Dallas and claims a membership of 225,000 persons who "are mad because the processing tax was destroyed."

H. G. Lucas, president of the body, the Texas Agricultural Association, said the group would meet at Texas A and M college August 1, at the same time of the farmers' short course and map plans for the fight. He said each member would be asked to pay $1 to a "war chest to carry on the battle" against industry.

A similar move was started recently by an agricultural club at Victoria.

"The AAA processing tax is the farmer's tariff," Lucas said, "and agriculture is entitled to protection the same as other industry."

"The manufacturing industry has destroyed the processing tax, and the farmers are plenty mad. The processing tax has been one of the main things that kept agriculture going the last two years."

"Suits against the processing tax on the ground that it is not for revenue but for redistribution of wealth are just as applicable to the tariff which farmers have paid for generations on the commodities they use."

The processing tax was the first opportunity the farmer ever had to enjoy equality with other groups on the finished products of his own materials, and now he is losing that benefit through court action."

An Infected Hand

Roach Fox is still in the hospital at Brownwood, where he has been for some days suffering with an infection in his hand, but he is improving and it is hoped he will soon be able to come home. He suffered the injury to the index finger on his right hand while assisting in unloading some road machinery at the railroad depot. The skin was not broken and the injury was not thought to be serious at the time, but infection set up and surgeons were forced to make several incisions before the infection subsided.

CHINESE BOY WITH FATAL BITE

A hundred men searched the hills of Eastern Fengtien, China, Monday for the adder boy of Chuangchow, with orders to bring him back dead or alive—preferably dead.

Reports received at Mukden do not attest the truth of reports that the 7-year-old has poison fangs, but they make it clear that the population of Chuangchow believes he has—and furthermore, believes four persons have died from his bites. Homes in Chuangchow are being guarded while the men seek the boy.

Since the boy's own father had planned to execute him but failed, it is believed no mercy will be shown.

One report that reached Mukden was: "The young killer, whose bite means death, is as strange in appearance as is his penchant for biting. The lad resembles a baby ape."

"His extraordinary nature first was noticed when two relatives came to call on his parents. He bit them and the next day both were dead. This might not have proved so alarming except that on the same day he had bitten the daughter of a neighbor, who also died in twenty-four hours."

"The boy's father became seriously alarmed and locked him in a cage, intending to put him to death later. The next morning, however, when he went to the cage he found that the youth had broken from his prison."

"Some days later a woodcutter found him in the forest crying bitterly and taking pity on him took the lad to his cabin. There he showed his gratitude to his benefactor by biting him. The woodcutter died."

"The killer is again at liberty in the hills outside Chuangchow. The citizens are resolutely determined to kill him on sight."

ROCK SPRINGS

The population is growing with this community. Little Charley Alton Souders arrived the nineteenth to live with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Souders. We hope he will be a fine man. We welcome him.

If we don't get a rain soon the grass and other things will be a thing of the past.

Bud Wilsford from Fort Worth turned his car over Friday night close to town. Someone called W. A. Daniel and he and Ira Dewbre went in. They found him pretty well bruised up. They brought him home with them. His wife came Saturday afternoon. They went back to their home Sunday afternoon.

Bro. Homer Starnes will begin his meeting here this week. I failed to find out whether he got a helper for the meeting or not. If he does the preaching himself you will hear some good sermons. Come out to services.

We extend our sympathy to Zack Patton and family in the loss of their child. May God's richest blessings rest on each of you.

Mrs. Dan Holland from Richland Springs visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Circle, this week.

RESULT OF DOLE

Nineteen thousand heads of families were removed from South Dakota relief rolls Monday night in a drastic move to force them to seek employment in the harvest fields.

Spurred by farmers' complaints that dole recipients had declined to go to work gathering grain, officials ordered suspension of all state and federal relief until the shortage of farm labor is fully supplied.

Joining six other midwestern states that have taken similar though less sweeping measures to insure adequate help during the all-important harvest, a deputy welfare commissioner sent this notice to 14 county relief directors in South Dakota:

"Effectively immediately, issue orders to stop all work relief projects and close the relief office Monday night. Post a notice that all federal and state relief in South Dakota is suspended and that no relief offices will be reopened until all farmers needing men to help with the harvest have been supplied with such help. Refer unemployable persons needing assistance to the country."

INCREASING COTTON

Brazil this year is expected to exceed by more than 32 per cent her 1934 record cotton crop of approximately 1,233,477 United States bales. It is officially stated.

Figures confirmed by the ministry of agriculture showed an estimated total crop of 370,500,000 kilograms in 1935, equivalent in United States terms to 1,633,900 bales.

If all that cotton is industrially useful there will be for the first time more than 1,000,000 bales available for export. Brazil's infant textile and by-product manufacturers have hitherto used not more than 500,000 bales, says the report.

Interesting Items Reported Over the World

The federal fund has been set up in six north, central and western states for the recovery of AAA processing taxes, but sharply defined those who might pass through it. A compromise amendment to the AAA bill was adopted 61 to 23, limiting those who could bring suit to processors who could prove they had not shouldered the taxes off on producers or consumers.

Texas is to be allotted $5,490,000 out of the WPA funds for the building of armories for the national guard, according to a tentative program which has been favorably considered by Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, and the president, it was announced by Adjutant General Carl Nesbitt. The Texas allotment is a part of a total of $80,000,000 to be distributed for this purpose.

The Texas railroad commission has approved an agreement whereby the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad will remove its shops from Walnut Springs to Waco and deed its buildings and grounds to the town for a recreational center. Walnut Springs was on the old Texas Central railroad, which was absorbed by the Katy. The Central's main shops were at Walnut Springs.

At Medical Lake, Wash., Miss Theo Hall, 81, the oldest postmistress in point of service in the United States, died at the home of a friend Saturday. Ill when she retired last March, Miss Hall had served forty-two years under nine presidents, three of them Democrats and six of them Republicans. She did not seek reappointment when her last term expired.

The federal production credit associations loaned Texas farmers $4,860,000 during the first half of this year, the farm credit administration announces. Over $97,000,000 was loaned in all states compared with $52,700,000 for the first half of last year. The FCA pointed out that the co-operative associations served almost twice as many farmers this year as last, making loans to 155,800 farmers up to June 30 compared with 88,300 over the same period last year.

Licensing, allotment and processing tax provisions of the agricultural adjustment act were held unconstitutional by Federal Judge Kennerly in an opinion filed Friday at Brownsville, in which the court denied the secretary of agriculture an injunction sought to restrain a Rio Grande Valley concern from shipping citrus fruit. Judge Kennerly held that regulations laid down by the secretary of agriculture under the AAA were an unconstitutional delegation of powers by congress under the supreme court ruling in the Schecter case, which invalidated NRA.

Secretary Hull has advised Senator Sheppard that he had instructed Ambassador Daniels to ask the Mexican government to co-operate in creation of an international park along the Rio Grande international boundary. Hull and other administration officials have expressed hope the southern republic would create a park similar to the area congress has approved in Brewster and Presidio counties in Texas. To determine the exact size of this tract, the national park service has asked congress for a $10,000 appropriation which is now pending in the second deficiency bill in the senate.

Farmers whose small grain crops are subject to liens securing emergency crop loans may use up to one-half of the sales proceeds of the grain to pay necessary harvesting and threshing costs, the farm credit administration has announced. Heretofore those allotments were limited to specified amounts per bushel. Where a farmer sells a part of his small grain crop, he may not use more than one half of the proceeds to pay harvesting and threshing costs; at least 50 per cent of the proceeds must be applied to the payment of the loan, says the FCA announcement.

A section of the Central American highway act was indorsed at a meeting in Laredo, Texas, Monday. Meeting was held at the Laredo Hotel and was attended by representatives of the Texas section of the highway act. The highway act was indorsed at a meeting in Dallas, Fort Worth and

MERCHANDISE SALES ADVANCE

While total sales of general merchandise in towns and rural areas, as reported to the department of commerce, increased 22 1-2 per cent during the first six months of 1935 above those for the first six months of 1934, they were 38 per cent higher in dollar volume during June, 1935, than in the same month last year and 51 per cent above June, 1933.

"Daily average sales for June increased about 7 1-2 per cent from May," the report issued by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce states, "altho there is ordinarily little change and usually a slight drop."

The figures are all computed on a daily average basis which makes allowance not only for the varying number of business days from month to month, but also for the varying sales importance of the different days of the week. The tables included reports from three of the largest mail order houses for sales by mail only and a large group of chain units operating in small towns and cities of the agricultural regions of the country, but there is included only those stores which have been in continuous operation during the periods compared.

MISCELLANY

Alimony: The Alimony Reform League of New York state conducted a survey of divorced women who have sent their husbands to jail for non-payment of alimony. Each of the women was asked how long she wished to keep her husband behind bars. Forty-nine per cent answered: "Until he rots to death." The league concluded that many wives who have had their husbands committed suffer from some form of psychosis bordering on sadism.

Gasoline Bricks: Gasoline has been made in solid form. It is reddish, has the consistency of thick jelly, and can be sliced up and sold by the pound. On being warmed, it runs an engine just as the regular gasoline does, the method being to start the engine with liquid and use the exhaust to warm up the solid gasoline. The new fuel was revealed last Wednesday, and at the same time a public demonstration was made of its chief virtue—safety from explosion. At New York University's uptown campus incendiary bullets were fired into a five gallon can of the stuff from a distance of 25 feet; nothing happened. The inventors say that if airplanes use the solid gas they won't go up in flames when they crash.

Retired With Honors: Having done their bit for science, four chimpanzees were retired last week to pleasant cages in New York's Central Park zoo. For seven years they had been used at the Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons in experiments designed to yield information about the common cold. Six of their colleagues had failed to survive the laboratory life.

Women at the Bar: Thomas L. Anderson, excise commissioner of St. Louis, has asked for a law for bidding the sale of liquor to women in bars. The vigilance committee of the city's saloonkeepers are all for it. They averred last week: "Women patrons are a menace to business. They are moochers. They buy one drink and then expect the men at the bar to buy the rest. That drives the men into buying package liquor and taking it home to drink in peace."

Joy: Five days after America's fourth of July, Russia celebrated with fireworks, music and masquerade the thirteenth anniversary of the Soviet constitution. This year's ninth of July differed from all previous celebrations in that politics and propaganda were for the first time abandoned in favor of an unrestrained atmosphere of carnival. To insure that frivolity and joy be unconfined, censors were stationed at the entrance to the Moscow Park of Culture and Rest, where 100,000 gathered, to see that no one wore a gloomy costume; one man, who came dressed as a skeleton symbolizing the ravages of war, was told: "This is a day of joy. Go home and change your clothes."

FEED CONSERVATION

In direct contrast with last year's food and feed shortage, a record feed crop will be harvested this season throughout Texas, that will give an eighteen month supply if conserved, the director of the Texas extension service predicts.

In view of unusual food and feed crops this year, the director said, a ninety-day state-wide educational program to emphasize to farmers the importance and methods of harvesting, storing and utilizing this season's food and feed crop, would be inaugurated.

The eight points as outlined by the extension director are as follows: To dig trench silos or build up ground silos for storage of feed; to repair barns, bins and storage places for the harvested grains, orchard and field crops for home consumption; to use the best practical means of protecting stored grain and field crops from weevil and rat damage; to stack hay in the best known methods to prevent deterioration; to increase the number of milk cows, hogs and poultry for home use; to offer for slaughter only well fed and finished animals; to finish all Texas cattle and other livestock for market on Texas grown feed and to feed work stock and breeding animals well during the winter months.

RUSSIAN TRADE

The trade agreement with Russia has value, but should not be hailed as a great accomplishment resulting from diplomatic recognition of the soviets. The agreement that $30,000,000 of American goods shall be bought by Russia in the next year means that our trade, at a minimum, will be increased by $18,000,000. However, our exports to Russia in 1929, when there was no diplomatic recognition or trade treaty, passed the $80,000,000 mark.

The increase now arranged will be about 1 1-2 per cent of our total trade for 1934. That is a gain worth making, if, at the same time, we can keep our soviet sympathizers from convincing the public that their original promise of trade benefits to flow from diplomatic recognition has been realized.

That trade promise, we should bear in mind, dealt in billions, not in a 30 per cent return to what we once had without recognition.—Houston Chronicle.

VACATION TIME

Vacations are like other good things—some have them and some don't. In the older times nobody but farmers got a vacation. Farmers vacated after they laid by their crops, but the other classes worked on, day in, day out, through the year's four seasons. But the modern vacation is not an unmixed blessing. The habitual vacationer usually spends in two weeks all the money he saved in fifty weeks, and then comes back to meet or dodge his accumulated bills. He thinks he had a good time, however, and his wife tells the neighbors it was simply grand. They burned 400 gallons of gasoline, ate 760 hamburgers, had three blowouts, got one crumpled fender and met lots of nice people, all dressed in holiday fashion, many of them in pajamas and some in overalls.—State Press in Dallas News.

AUSTRALIAN BULLET PLANT MAKES LIPSTICK CASES

Aircraft machine guns and lipstick containers are the proudest products of Australian defense factories. A small arms factory at Lithgow, N.S.W., has just produced the first machine guns built in the empire specially for aircraft use. The guns can fire through propeller blades at the rate of 1000 rounds a minute. A Melbourne munition factory, finding its cartridge making machinery idle, turned to the manufacture of metal lipstick containers. More than 700,000 containers have been made in the last twelve months.

Tried Gulf gas lately? If not, you've a big surprise coming. Put it "on trial" in your car for the next 3 weeks. Then see if you don't agree with this fair member of the Gulf "jury."

750 "Jurors"
750 car owners recently served as jurors in a "trial" of That Good Gulf Gasoline.

They drove it for 3 weeks—compared it with their regular brands on (1) mileage (2) starting (3) pick-up (4) power (5) all-around performance.

Verdict—Gulf!
At the end of the trial, 7 out of 10 voted for Gulf on one or more of the five counts—many on all five.

Why? Because Gulf is 5 good gasolines in one. Controlled refining gives it not merely 2 or 3 ideal gas qualities—but all five.

Try Gulf 3 weeks. We'll bet it's your regular gas from then on!

WANTED BETTER CROPS

A report from Calcutta, says that death sentences were meted out there as civilization's penalty for two amazing sacrificial murders which natives had committed to "appease the gods" for crop failures.

At Nagpur a man was sentenced to death and several others were given life sentences for throwing an aged man into a holy fire to propitiate the gods. The victim in this case leaped out of the fire, covered with blisters, but one of the crowd, the one just sentenced to die, chased him, caught him and twisted his neck until he died.

The second case was at Patna, death being decreed for a man who had cut off the head of a shepherd girl who was grazing goats. He took the head home and worshiped it, asking the gods to accept it as a sacrifice and improve his crops.

COLLECTING THE TAX

A report from Washington says that the government will continue to seek collection of AAA processing taxes in all cases except that of the Hoosac Mills in which the Boston circuit court of appeals ruled the taxes unconstitutional, the department of justice announced.

"The decision of the majority of the circuit court of appeals for the first circuit in the Hoosac Mills case does not prevent future collection except in that particular case," Attorney General Homes S. Cummings said.

He reaffirmed that the government would carry the case to the supreme court as quickly as possible and said the government would attempt to collect the taxes "unless and until the supreme court directs otherwise."

Get Rid of Poisons Produced by Constipation

A cleansing laxative—purely vegetable Black-Draught—is the first thought of thousands of men and women who have found that by restoring the downward movement of the bowels many disagreeable symptoms of constipation promptly can be relieved. . . Mr. J. P. Mahaffey, of Clinton, S. C., writes: "I have found that Black-Draught is very effective in the cleansing of the system. When affected by the dull headache, the drowsiness and lassitude caused by constipation, I take Black-Draught."

MOSCOW GOES MODERN

Moscow, capital of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, has been plundered and burned frequently since George Dolgorukl, prince of Rostov, founded it in 1155. With great persistence, however, the city has always risen from its ashes.

Last week Moscow was doomed again. Soviet officials didn't like the old place, with its winding streets, bulbous Byzantine towers and dark, unlivable homes. Therefore the council of people's commissars and the central committee of the communist party adopted a plan for rebuilding the city.

The Moscow of 1945 will cover three times as much ground as the Moscow of 1935; it will have room for 5,000,000 people living comfortably instead of the 3,600,000, who today live uncomfortably. It will be, according to the plan, an airy and open city—a place of broad parks, large squares, wide boulevards and spacious apartment buildings.

Moscow today is a good place to look at; ten years hence it will be, Soviet officials say, a magnificent place to live in.

The town's famous landmark, the Kremlin, will survive the face lifting, observers there believe. Even Joseph Stalin, dictator of communist Russia and hater of Czarist Russia, feels that the strange beauty of the citadel-fortress should be preserved. The Kremlin looks back over a long history. Enemies, including Tartars and Napoleon, have come and gone; the Kremlin remains.

EBONY

INTERESTING NEWS ITEMS

The annual report of the police commissioner of New York City for 1934 shows that nearly 13 per cent of all the serious crimes in the nation's largest city last year were committed by youths between 16 and 20 years of age. Young men between 21 and 25 were responsible for 17 per cent. In 1933 about 2000 youngsters between 16 and 20 were arrested for felonies. Last year the number rose to more than 3100. In each instance more than 35 per cent already had police records.

A state tax rate of 62c is in prospect as a result of the healthy showing of the available school fund, which will have a cash balance of $2,500,000 Sept. 1, the beginning of the new fiscal period, which includes the scholastic. As the figures now stand the state rate will consist of 35c ad valorem and 7c for pensions, the maximum permitted under the constitution, and 20c for schools. The present state levy is 77c having carried the school tax at the constitutional limit of 35c in addition to the ad valorem and pension maximums.

Figures showing that Americans are not so bad off, after all, in point of income taxes, when levies made in some other countries are considered, were presented by W. L. McBride, United States internal revenue agent in charge of the Dallas division. In this nation a married man with an income of $10,000 would have to pay an income tax of $415, while in Great Britain he would pay $1862. In France $2525, and in Germany $2956. Cost of collecting internal revenue taxes has decreased by almost $1 per $100 since 1932, Mr. McBride said. In 1932 the cost was $2.17 per $100 and in 1934 it was $1.25.

In this, the deepest sorrow we have known, may the Heavenly Father reward each in His own loving way, is our prayer.

BIG BUSINESS DONE IN HONEY

The debate in the senate last week on whether bees should be basic farm commodities under amendments to the agricultural adjustment act directs attention to the fact that about 250,000,000 bees in some 4,000,000 colonies are a work in the United States, with a total production of some 150,000,000 pounds of honey. The queen bee forms the basis of the industry, which has grown steadily for eighty years. The queen can lay 1500 eggs in one day and mother a colony of 50,000 to 60,000 bees. A government survey of eight months during 1934 shows that 238,356 queens were sold in the United States for breeding purposes.

The queen is shipped by mail in a wire cage, called a package, accompanied by six to twelve other insects taken from the same hive. She has a compartment of her own and is fed in transit by her retinue on a "candy" of sugar and water, sucked from a container in the cage. Colonies of bees are shipped in two or three pound packages.

There are four popular varieties of queen bees imported into the United States in large quantities—the Italian yellow queen, the Dutch brown bee or Heather bee, the Carniolan and Caucasian.

In America, the southern states lead in bee raising, North Carolina, Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi each breeding about 300,000 colonies a year. California also produces large quantities of honey, and the apiaries of Alabama are among the most extensive in America. New York state is a leading bee centre, with 200,000 colonies and at least 12,000,000 bees.

Bees are kept in New York City. An association of bee keepers in the Bronx produces honey of good quality.

Honey is exported in large quantities. In the period from January to April, 1934, more than 920,000 pounds were sent abroad but exports this year have fallen off.

HARSH WORDS BUT TRUE

When J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, or head "G-Man," as the current slang terms the federal sleuths, spoke before the Association of Chiefs of Police at Atlantic City the other day, he used strong language.

"We know the criminal for what he is," he told the police chiefs. "A rat with a gun in his hand and murder in his heart." Of certain criminal lawyers he used the words: "Shyster lawyers and other legal vermin who consort with criminals," and "The legal shyster in law-making who orates upon the preservation of the constitutional rights of the criminal and the verdicts of politics who prevent police officers from doing their duty." And finally "the judge who will sentence a man to jail for 29 years, knowing full well that he will be out in five." These are harsh words, and they have evidently found their marks. The squeals of hit canines are already permeating the atmosphere.

But the average man who realizes the cost of modern crime feels like telling the "G-Man" to pour it on. Fortunately in this locality we are not cursed with the vermin Hoover exoriated, but this section feels the results of a too lax parole and pardon policy and a badly overworked suspended sentence law.

The blame for present lax conditions rests on us, the public. It is the average man who serves on juries and heeds the pleas for a suspended sentence. It is the average man who signs petitions for pardons and paroles, when down deep in his heart he knows the criminal should stay where he is. And it is the average man who permits public officials to remain in office year after year when they have given conclusive proof of their inability or unwillingness to live up to the full requirements of their offices.

Just talking—no matter how harsh the words or how true the speech—is not going to help unless it arouses us to action that will convince the "rats with guns in their hands and murder in their hearts" that their crimes will not and cannot pay.

TELEVISION PROMISED

Once more there is a stir about television. No less an authority than the president of the National Broadcasting Company states that television is now perfected to the point where it may be installed in the average home provided a television broadcasting station is in range.

We wonder just what this new invention will bring about. If it falls into the same unscrupulous hands that manage most of our radio broadcasting stations, perhaps it would be better not to have it. If the faces of the radio comedians whose high pitched voices infest every broadcasting period are as terrible as their talk, we'd rather not see them. If we are going to have a picture of New York harbor interrupted for a close-up of some advertiser's bill board featuring liver pills, we just won't tune in.

There is more than a suspicion that the reason television has been delayed this long is because the companies which control the basic patents have not been ready to admit its competition to sound broadcasting. When it does come, therefore, all the nuisances of the latter are likely to be magnified.

This brings us around to the fact that newspaper advertising still is supreme in the advertising field. The readers of this newspaper, for example, may read the advertisements it contains or not, just as they please. They may glance at them or read them thoroughly as they will. And tomorrow or next week, may still turn back to them and profit from their money saving messages. Long after such nuisances as radio talks, unsightly billboards and telephone salesmen have been put out of business, newspaper advertising will continue to link the buyer and the seller to the mutual profit and satisfaction of each.

PROGRESSING WITH SHELTERBELT

The plan of President Roosevelt to build a shelterbelt extending from Texas through the great northwest and into Canada has a two-fold purpose: To provide employment for thousands of men and to prevent future droughts. This latter purpose may not be successful, but we know the first purpose will succeed and is already succeeding.

The first general report from the forest service on progress of the shelter belt shows that more than 200,000,000 trees were planted last spring, covering 6890 acres in 50 counties along the belt's front line. The great belt, 100 miles wide, zig-zags northward from the Texas panhandle up through Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas to Canada. Up to July 1, reports from the 50 counties showed that a minimum of 70 per cent and an average of 90 per cent of the plantings had survived.

Trees found adaptable to various areas include cottonwood, green ash, red cedar, hackberry, "ponderous" pines and Chinese elm. Black locust trees with rapid spreading roots were preferred for areas of soil erosion. The belt eventually will act not only as a water shed to check drought and floods, but will provide haunts for wild game. New patches will be planted gradually, at right angles to the constant wind direction. Tall fast growing trees are being placed in the center, smaller ones are on either side and dense coniferous trees on the outside.

A FAR-REACHING DECISION

The courts of the country do not make the laws, but construe their meaning and in some cases pass upon their constitutionality. There is no quarrel with a court when its decision conflicts with our own judgment or desires, regrettable as may be the necessity for the court's action. A case in point is that of a circuit court in Boston a few days ago, where a decision was rendered invalidating the Agricultural Adjustment Act. While this decision is not final, it induces the fear that the United States supreme court, which is the authority of last resort, may find that the act goes beyond the provisions of the federal constitution. This act has been the financial salvation of the cotton and grain producing states since its enactment and but for its provisions there would have been a far greater depression in the agricultural states. The fact that the farm income from cotton last year—one of the poorest crop years in the history of the country—was practically 50 per cent greater than that of 1932 shows the degree to which this adjustment act was helpful. While everybody realizes that the provisions of the act can not be continued indefinitely, it is a fact that there was a necessity for this assistance from the government during the years of drought and depression. It is, therefore, sincerely hoped the highest court will find that the act is justified on the basis of a public necessity.

RABBIT FEVER

Several cases of tularemia, sometimes called rabbit fever, have been reported to the state department of health. The disease is usually transmitted during the hunting season by the handling of infected rabbits, when there is a break in the skin. The cases now being reported are probably due to the bite of the wood tick.

The disease is known to be caused by a minute germ which infects a small percentage of rabbits, and in addition, a variety of other animals. The germ is spread among animals by blood sucking flies, or ticks which draw blood from an infected rabbit and later carry infection to other animals. A rabbit that is slow and fails to get off to a good start is apt to be infected.

The disease usually starts with symptoms that resemble gripe or influenza. It has often been mistaken for typhoid fever. In many cases, an ulcer develops at the site of the infection. Whatever form it takes means a long, serious illness. The family doctor should be sent for without delay whenever symptoms develop that suggest rabbit fever. To assist in the diagnosis of the disease, blood tests for the presence of the infection will be made by the state laboratories, at the request of the city or county physician, for any case in the counties.

The best means of prevention is to avoid direct contact thru handling of wild rabbits, by protecting the hands with gloves, also, while in the woods to protect oneself from tick bites.

PLUMS ON ROSE BUSH

When an American Beauty rose bush which for three years had borne beautiful flowers sprouted plum blossoms, a Denver lady, in whose yard the plant was growing, called a nursery expert. The American Beauty rose bush was grafted, either intentionally or accidentally, in to the root of a plum tree, a Denver horticulturist explained.

For three years beautiful roses bloomed, then the plum sap won, and substituted its own life force for that of the rose.

Thereafter the rose bloom became a plum bloom, the bush dropped its thorns and a miracle was accomplished.

SWAPPING EYES

The grafting of a cornea from a woman's right eye to the left eye of a youth of 14 of Independence, Mo., was pronounced a success by physicians. The bandages were removed after the lad had been in total darkness for 17 days and the graft was found to have healed perfectly, the doctors said. The youth's sight was said to be perfectly clear.

The cornea was furnished by a woman, from whom it was necessary to remove the eye because of a tumor growth which did not affect the cornea. The boy lost the sight of his eye five years ago, when he fell on a reed while chasing a baseball.

By Hugo.

Don't be a back number. The sum total of back numbers is naught.

He is a long time dead who needs neither a model nor an ideal for his imitation.

It's all right for a man to be "crazy" if he'll only keep it private. There's no use in trying to get the whole creation over on your side.

If each purpose and act expresses the highest standard we have, then any hour may become the gateway to a larger and grander field of opportunity.

It's a real fact—you can't put a square peg in a round hole. Neither is a little man in a big place a success.

If you just thought once again, you would not add to the already overburdened the anguish of your harsh judgment.

Do the best you can where you are and then you will find the door to some larger sphere.

It is disgusting the way some young men and women do in cheap public places these days. The peacherino who monkeys with the trigger should not complain if the trap falls. But you say you're all right. Yes—and in what sort of crowd? The public will line you up in first class shape.

If the truth were known, many unfortunates whom the world condemns are entitled to the protection of the court while we proceed to drag others into the limelight, and all because they lay claim to protection on account of wealth and reputed refinement. We are quick to throw about their shoulders a mantle of secrecy since they happen to belong to that howling force—a segment of the modern social system—society. NATIONAL BUDGETS

During the past few years, national governments throughout the world have been faced with the serious problem of rising expenditures and declining revenues. Budgetary deficits have become the rule rather than the exception. In the period covered by the fiscal years 1929-30 thru 1933-34, a surplus was recorded only eight out of a possible thirty times by a group of six important nations comprising the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy and Sweden.

In Germany and France, there has been a deficit in each of these five years, and in the United States and Italy in the past four. Sweden nominally renders the most favorable report with a recorded deficit only in 1931-32, although certain capital outlays have been covered by special loans. Great Britain has had a deficit in three of the five years, but successfully balanced its budget in 1933-34, and again for the fiscal year just closed.

Even apart from the far more favorable showing of Great Britain and Sweden, the record of the United States suffers severely in contrast with that of other important European nations. For its recent deficits are not only far larger, both in actual amount and in relation to revenues; they have also been increasing at a far greater rate. While, in the fiscal year 1934, Great Britain reported a surplus and Sweden stated a surplus, France and Germany reduced their unfavorable balances, while that of Italy was somewhat larger, the deficit of the United States reached a new peak and actually amounted to more than total revenues. That is, Great Britain and Sweden lived within their means, Germany and France expended less than 10 per cent and Italy less than 40 per cent more than their revenues, but the United States spent in excess of twice its income.—Industrial News Review.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest and Importance

JAPAN AND COTTON INDEPENDENCE

All America, and especially American states of the cotton south, of which Missouri must be classed as one, have vital interest in Japan's new deal in China, from which Japan is emerging and expects further to emerge with an economic setup to the great advantage of the Island Empire. Among the great goals sought by the Japanese in China is the production and control of sufficient cotton in that land of cheap labor to supply the needs of the great textile industry of Japan and thus end its dependence on American and Indian supplies. It concerns a supply of this commodity that is computed roughly at 600,000 tons a year. The Tientsin correspondent of the China Weekly Review discusses the matter in a late June issue of that publication.

This writer says the economic significance of Japanese aims in North China remains hidden behind the screen of political demands, but that it is there, none the less.

At one time the planners of the Japan-Manchukuo economic bloc were enthusiastic about the possibilities of cotton cultivation in Manchukuo. Too enthusiastic, it proved, when it was discovered that the maximum of land suitable for cotton cultivation in Manchuria can not exceed 750,000 acres, where not less than 2,000,000 acres are needed for Japanese self-sufficiency. In fact, only about 200,000 acres were in cotton in Manchuria last year.

This has turned the eyes of the planners to Northwest China and an intricate economic bloc that is expected to develop cotton cultivation in Hopei, Shantung, Hunan and Shansi provinces suited to the needs of Japan. As the Review writer says, this may be hidden behind the screen of political demands now being made in the Tientsin-Peiping district, but the economic goal is there and in time will probably be brought to full flower. With China too weak to defend herself and foreign powers "busy with their own ailments," coupled with Japan's need not only for cotton, but for a ready market for the fruits of its investments in Manchukuo, this may well end in the conversion of the provinces of North west China into an economic appendage of Japan. And possibly mark the beginning of the end of America's cotton market in Japan.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Old age pensions, humanitarian in conception but hazardous in practical application, will be provided persons over 65 years of age if H. J. R. No. 19 is approved at the polls next month. Whether or not this amendment is desirable in principle unfortunately can not be considered. It is so poorly written, and conveys such dangerous latitudes of power upon changing legislatures, that it is one of the most dangerous amendments ever submitted to the people of Texas. The amendment does not restrict the payment of pensions to the indigent. If the legislature exercised the full power conferred upon it, all persons over 65 would be pensioned and the cost to the state would be approximately $40,000,000 a year, which is more than ten times the amount spent by the state for the support of all its charitable institutions combined.

Now, no one seriously charges that the legislature would exercise its power with ragtime abandon and pension all the wealthy as well as the poor, but the significant point is that there is no constitutional restriction provided as to how far up the scale pension payments might go. The pension issue would immediately become a constantly recurring political fight, with demagogues making exorbitant promises of extending pensions and thus weeding out the conservatives in the legislature who would promptly become unpopular—paradoxical as politics is—in their efforts to protect the financial and moral integrity of the state by refusing to make wild promises of bounties from the public purse. If for no other reason, the state should protect

AAA DECISIONS

Rejoicing by interests opposed to AAA over the adverse Boston decision pronouncing processing and floor taxes unconstitutional may be somewhat premature. It must not be forgotten that the full power of the Roosevelt administration will be hurled into the breach and by timely amendments may so alter the measure now before congress, which seeks to enlarge the powers of the secretary of agriculture in administering the act, that it may escape the ban of the supreme court.

Looked at dispassionately, there are several vital points involved in the agricultural adjustment administration's efforts to relieve agriculture. It is by now pretty well understood that the federal processing tax is in effect a farmers' tariff, to offset the benefits which industry has enjoyed for half a century at the expense of the agrarian south and west. Federal benefit payments have kept the farmers from insolvency and at the same time have been an aid to general business recovery. To plunge agriculture back into a slough of unprotection would have far-reaching consequences following upon two years of effective protection.

The fair-minded person admits that, as long as manufacture enjoys tariff protection, agriculture is entitled to similar protection, regardless of whether such protection for either industry basically may be unsound. The 30,000,000 men, women and children on America's farms long have been an underprivileged group. True, there are other underprivileged groups in the slums of industrial centers, equally entitled to aid in some form. But improvement in the condition of the farm population means heightened purchasing power, of which industry is sorely in need. The crux of the problem is how to impose taxes which will bring about the desired result and not place an unfair burden on processors.

The supreme court's decision which caused NRA to collapse was a timely warning to friends of AAA to set its house in order and escape extinction. A sweltering, bewildered congress is confronted with that task. Before the new year the supreme court is likely to decide whether AAA has been sufficiently adjusted to live or die.—Dallas News.

TIME FOR REAL THINKING

Today the average man and woman and child reads too much propaganda and listen to too much propaganda broadcast by radio or other means and does too little thinking. The average person is too willing to adopt opinions readymade. In fact, the way of the times is to have every thing done for you. Even the housewife never bakes bread if she can get out of it. The baker does it for her. The fashion is to buy practically everything, even soup, in cans. Almost everything is arranged along the same line so that we can get whatever we want, even our music, canned. People generally have found it much easier to let others cater for them. Therefore, it comes natural for us—that is, get our thinking "canned."

This, however, is one thing that should not be left to others. The times are too serious to farm out our thinking talents that were given to us to use. The proper use of our brains will improve them as well as our own position in the world. Disused organs, the doctors tell us, invite disease. Emerson said: "Thought takes man out of servitude and into freedom." We in this country are just entering upon a crucial new epoch of history. Great changes are in progress and coming. We are going to need people who have the ability and courage to think. So don't let anyone deliver you canned thoughts and doped conclusions. Insist on doing your own thinking. And remember, thought is nominal, free.—Pathfinder.

Only six of the caused by explosions, but three were automobile and ninety-six were the Campaign of the last of years for a safe fourth has been successful the point of view of a decline in noise, loss by death or injury by the fireworks, but it has not a diminution in the life, nor increased the safety and sanity in day activities. It has merited it from explosives as an of expression to other recklessness.

Fourth of July is the holiday we have in the summer, the season people take to the water and bathing suits. We another general holiday fourth of August, doubt would be as many as this is also true of accidents. The total fatalities the current year be conservatively estimated 35,000, though they will ably exceed that number means an average of one a day, or three more than of the recent fourth.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

Cotton acreage under estimate of the bureau cultural economics of the States department of agriculture amounted to 29,168,000 acres compares with 27,883,000 on the same date last year shows an increase of 4.6 per cent.

If the per acre yield the same as last year percentage of abandonment same, this would mean slightly in excess of 100 bales. On the other hand, acre yield equivalent to two years ago would crop of more than 110 bales. No accurate forecast, could be made at time, but the probability that the yield will not be as last year nor as high year before. A crop in excess of 11,000,000 bales is not able. In spite of delayed and early abandonment of acre because of heavy rains, floods, which reduced the ed area by nearly 2,000,000 there is still a possibility the new crop will be as great amount of cotton consumed the year which ends this month, and that the supply of American cotton the coming year will be as that for the year just of. The reduction of the supply there is any, will be to the that the new crop falls world consumption of American cotton for the current year world consumption of American cotton for the current year be more than 2,000,000 bales low that of last year, and 3,000,000 bales below that of years ago. Unless by some consumption of American cotton can be materially increased the coming year, the little hope that any progress be made toward a condition which it will be possible to reduce a normal crop of American cotton and market it on a itable basis.—Texas Weekly.

Two sisters were re-united for the first time within 54 years Sunday, when Mrs. James K. Paulk of Palacios, spent the day here with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Nabors. It was in 1881 that Mrs. Paulk moved from Comanche to Waco and that was the last time the two sisters saw each other until Sunday.

Comanche was awarded the 1936 meeting of the Comanche county old settlers, pioneers and veterans association, at the annual meeting held at Gustine Thursday, where a large crowd was in attendance and a successful meeting held. Only three Confederate veterans were registered.

About 3000 cans of fruit have been put up and 23,000 cans of vegetables. All cans are No. 2 in size. The plant employs from 20 to 30 hands and runs every day in the week except Thursday and Sunday. Thursday is used to check the work.—Chief.

IN HOUSING PROGRAM

Home and Outbuildings Eligible for Improvement Loans Under Modernization Program

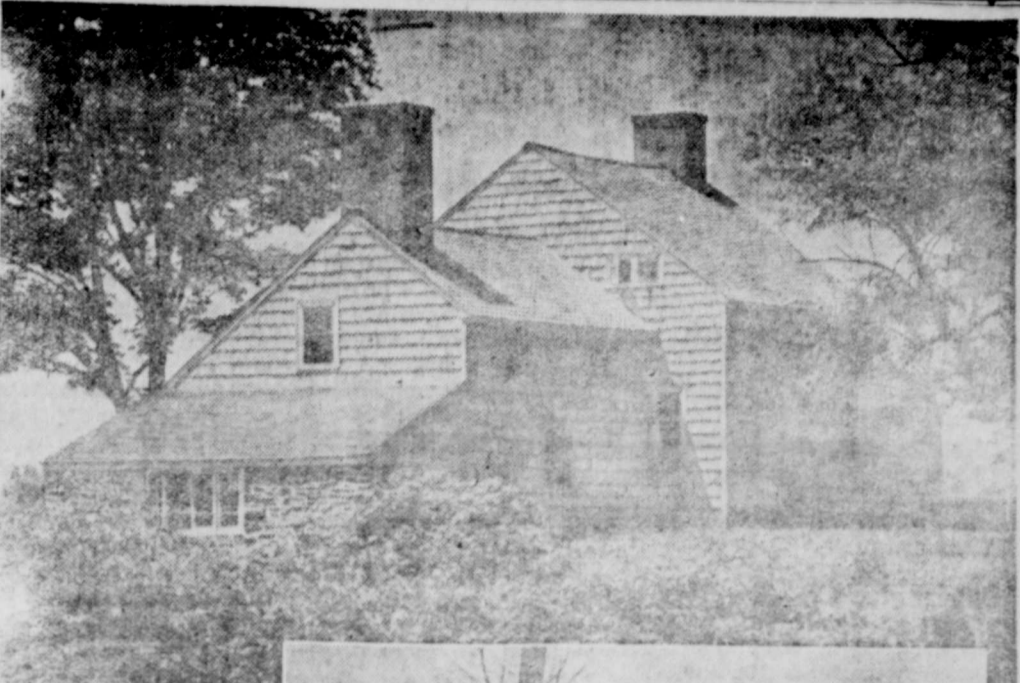

Persons who live in towns and villages and on farms near Goldthwaite should benefit as much as residents of the city from the Goldthwaite Better Housing Program fostered by the Federal Housing Administration, according to the general chairman of the local campaign.

"Success of the program will depend fully as much upon the response and co-operation of the farmer and the citizen of the small community as upon those who live in metropolitan areas."

The need on the farm for repairs, alterations and improvements is as great as that in the city, according to a recent Farm Housing Survey of the Department of Agriculture.

Through the Goldthwaite Better Housing Program, the United States Government offers the farmer as well as the city resident co-operation in bringing his home up to modern American living standards, and his barns and other buildings up to the requirement of modern efficiency. No money is loaned directly by the Government. The money is simply made available as "character loans" through approved lending agencies. These are insured against loss by the Federal Housing Administration up to 20 per cent of the total amount advanced.

You wouldn't know that the modern farm-house above once was in the run-down condition shown at the right. These photographs illustrate what money wisely spent on modernizing will do to restore property values. And money for this work is now available in your locality.

HEAVY EXPENDITURES

Week end report of the federal treasury shows that the government's program of recovery and relief have cost more than ten billion dollars. Up to the time of the report the government outlay for these purposes during the depression amounted to $10,681,689,780. This was in addition to about $3,500,000,000 annually for normal government costs.

About $1,000,000,000 of the emergency expenditures were made by the Hoover administration and the balance of the new deal.

Treasury economists have pointed out that while their figures showed recovery and relief expenses of more than $10,000,000,000, about $4,000,000,000 was paid out in loans and may be recovered.

Total emergency appropriations to date the treasury said, amount to $8,094,573,295. With $10,681,689,780 already spent, the treasury has $8,012,883,515 of unexpended appropriations for carrying on relief and recovery.

RELIEF FOR NEEDY YOUTHS

A fourfold program is being organized by the National Youth Administration to care for approximately 500,000 of the neediest among the country's 3,000,000 youths between 16 and 25 years of age.

To carry on its activities the NYA has $50,000,000 allotted to it by President Roosevelt.

First in importance among the proposed activities, according to relief officials, is to be a job training and job placement section.

Part-time jobs for college students may be provided as under the FERA program. Also an effort is to be made to help high school and college post-graduate students.

Another phase of the program is the development of projects where youth can be given employment at nominal wages.—United States News.

WE HAVE LEARNED

It is quite an achievement, we have been told by certain eminent philosophers, to learn to find happiness in small things—things that to the average person seem insignificant and meaningless.

We have learned to find at least a degree of happiness in the courteous nod from one whom we consider a friend; we have learned to appreciate a sincere and understanding smile. We have learned, too, how to enjoy the view of bits of nature which are visible through barred windows, or from a flower in one of the numerous flower gardens within the walls.

We have learned to expect at least a ray of sunshine in a letter from home or from one who has proved himself a friend in our hour of misfortune.

We have also learned to overlook the mistakes of others — to judge not lest we be judged. We can truthfully say that our time has not been ill-spent because—we have learned. — The New Era.

A SOUND BASIS

"There are inequalities in our tax system that must be eliminated, and adjustments must be made," says the Atlanta Constitution, "but we will be stepping out of the frying pan into the fire if we abandon now the basic principles of taxation under which the country has prospered and turn to radical ideas that not only will fail of their purposes but will be destructive of the sources from which the great bulk of the taxes must come."

"The only sound system of taxation is one under which every business and every person bears a fair and just share of the burden, and congress must act wisely in the creation of a new tax program to avoid the pitfalls of radicalism and confiscation."

WILL ROGERS LEARNS HOG-CALLING FROM EXPERT

Hank Bell, hog-calling expert, was engaged to coach Will Rogers in this delicate art, in connection with the cowboy-star's latest picture, "Life Begins at 40."

Two hundred pigs of all sizes and varieties stampeded into action when Will, properly directed, sang his siren song to the porkers. It is one of the many funny situations in this Fox film, which is showing at the Melba Theatre Monday and Tuesday, July 29-30.

PROFIT AND LOSS SYSTEM

We hear much today of the "profit system" under which this country has operated through the years and outstripped all other lands. Actually there is no such thing. It is a "profit and loss" system.

We venture into business as an investment and we either win or lose. Those businesses which prosper do so because they produce a product which the consumer wants at a price which he can afford to pay. If they continue to meet the inevitable competition, then the business grows big. As it inspires confidence, it often acquires thousands of stockholders in every part of the country, and they share in its profits. If it does not succeed, they share in its losses, or invest money in other business.

But not only do we have this "profit and loss" system. We also have a system of "hope and fear." It spurs on the able, the industrious, and the courageous by the hope of obtaining a reward in payment for their efforts; it spurs on the lazy and indifferent by the fear that unless they strive they will lose that which they have, they will suffer a decrease in their standard of living and perhaps face starvation itself.

It is the fear of loss, rather than the hope of profit, that has been the main incentive of human industry during the last few years. That old dictum of Captain John Smith, "Those who do not work shall not eat," is an absolutely indispensable part of any economic system which is based on freedom.

When we remove that as a part of the driving power of the human race, we must inevitably substitute for it the driving power of coercion.

I.P.S.
