Good Rains Over Mills County

Rain has fallen here at intervals since Tuesday night and the land is pretty well soaked. Some think the boll weevil and other cotton pests will do considerable damage to the crop because of the rain, but many farmers are of the opinion that the plant already has a pretty good fruitage and if all the bolls now in evidence are fully developed there will be a good crop, without any more being put on.

HERE AND THERE

The future of television as an entertainment feature may be determined during the centennial celebration next year, if the plans of U. A. Sanabria, Chicago television engineer, meet with approval of fair officials. Sanabria, who heads his own laboratory, conferred with officials Friday and placed before them a proposal to exhibit a $100,000 television display. The engineer explained his desire is to test public interest in the science as a general entertainment feature and for such a test the expected large attendance offered a fertile opportunity.

Democratic leaders, with their eyes on the '36 campaign, had hoped for a short session of congress next year. But these hopes, somewhat, have gone a-glimmering. In the first place, the president wants enacted at the next session a permanent industrial program embodying many of the features of the NIRA. His aids already are at work on such a program. Too, administration leaders agreed to take up the bonus early in the seventy-fifth congress. The "inflation bloc" will press its bills. And the neutrality legislation, effective only until next Feb. 29, will have to be considered anew.

A British promoter told press reporters that Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, seeking to stop an expected Italian advance into Ethiopia, deeded more than half his empire to Anglo-American interests for exploitation and development. Said he: "I, myself, saw the original charter, signed by the emperor with his official title, 'Anointed King of Kings.' Duplicate versions, one in English, the other in Amharic, carried the great imperial seal of the 'conquering lion of Judah.' By this remarkable document, the sovereign turned over an area of 150,000 square miles (more than the combined areas of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa) to the Standard Oil Company and British industrial interests under a 75-year charter. The charter authorizes its holders to exploit the oil and mineral resources and develop the country. The British government moved swiftly Saturday night to halt the granting of concessions in Ethiopia to American and English interests. Asserting the deal could not be negotiated without consultations among Italy, France and Britain under the tripartite treaty of 1906, the government announced its minister to Addis Ababa had been authorized to advise Emperor Haile Selassie to withhold the concessions.

MOUNT OLIVE

As I am a stay-at-home and am not on a party line, I know of very little gossip to offer you this week.

Orville Harris was real sick several days last week. The doctor was with him twice. He is better now, but is not entirely well.

Frank Poer and family visited her folks, J. W. West, and family, at Clyde, near Abilene, they left Thursday and returned Sunday.

Mrs. Edith Cody last Tuesday had an operation at a Temple hospital for relief of a sinus ailment. She is recovering nicely and will return Tuesday this week to the hospital for another examination.

A number of farmers went to town last week after their cotton exemption tags. As was to be expected, most everyone was disappointed in the amount they received.

Saturday evening Minnie Cody gave a "shower" for Mrs. Claxton Spear, a newlywed, formerly Clarabelle Burks. She and her husband are sojourning a few days in this community before their schools start. They both will teach the coming school term.

Houston Balentine and family attended church at Caradan Sunday night.

Says one: The closest race I ever saw was a horse race.

Says another: The closest race I ever saw was the Scotch.

The Cody-Roberts automobile run has ended. One of the participants, Effie Roberts, had to return to her home in Houston on business. Minnie Cody then decided not to carry on alone. The cars did not hold up as well as the ladies.

Nadine Hodges is working in Byrd's cafe in Goldthwaite this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkey and daughter, Audra, visited in the Elmer Cody home Sunday evening. There were some other folks with them, but I didn't learn their names.

Arleigh Harris and his bride came in on a visit last week end.

A radio salesman was in our community last week. The married men were greatly impressed by the salesman's demonstration of the radio. It was equipped with a loudspeaker that could be shut off.

In regard to a get-together of the Eagle's correspondents, I would say it would be very nice if the editor would call us all in and entertain us with an ice cream banquet or some such matter. I am sure we would all agree to it. The only question is: Who would convert the editor

ODD ACCIDENTS

Henry Ditties was walking along the street of a Minnesota city when he felt a tug at the coat he carried over his arm. Instinctively he tightened his grip and was thrown to the ground, receiving painful injuries. His coat had caught on the door handle of a passing car.

A somewhat similar accident befell an Ohio pedestrian, Mrs. Julia Simon, who was knocked to the ground by the protruding elbow of a passenger in a passing auto. She was seriously injured.

Stubborn refusal to give right-of-way involved two South Carolina mules in one of the year's freak accidents. Both broke from pasture and came running down the Edgefield-Greenwood road, where they met head-on. Both died within a few hours.

The AAA "plow-under" program may be all right for crops but two-year-old Dean Speer wants no more of it for himself. The little Iowa lad was trudging after his father who was plowing. He grew tired, sat down on the edge of the furrow to rest and fell asleep. When he awoke he found himself plowed under but uninjured.

One of our oddest lightning stories of the year concerns a 60-year-old Oklahoma man, William Dixon, and five companions, who gathered under a tree to escape a storm. Dixon, who was sitting with his back to the tree, was knocked unconscious by a lightning bolt which struck the tree and completely ripped the seat from his trousers.—Pathfinder.

to the idea? It's like the mice deciding to bell the cat. I would appoint the Rock Springs writer to put the bell on the editor. But putting jokes aside, it would be nice to have a get-together of some kind.

Minnie Cody took Mrs. Edith Cody to the doctor at Goldthwaite Monday.

I failed to get any news from the upper end of the community. But if I knew anything on you, I would tell it. I just didn't hear about it this time.

Herbert Cooke and Vera Koen were observed meandering 'round over our community Sunday evening.

Well, folks, that's all. We will now have some close harmony by the Scotch orchestra.

The right of Mexican working women to vote and enjoy other privileges of citizenship was proclaimed officially by President Lazaro Cardenas Sunday, in an address opening the annual fourth month session of congress. Altho the Mexican constitution is not specific on that point, the president asserted the laws of the land grant women workers equal rights and said their temperament equips them to embrace sincerely and enthusiastically a generous struggle, placing aside all selfish interest.

The drought resistant qualities of new wheat varieties of importance to growers in northwest Texas and other dry regions, are easily determined, the department of agriculture has discovered. It was found that the rate at which a wheat plant loses water through its leaves indicates its drought resistance. Water loss, or transpiration, is determined by cutting the plants at different stages of growing, sealing the cut intervals. This method permits the study of drought resistance of wheat even in wet seasons.

Secretary Hull deferred comment on whether participation by United States firms in the Ethiopian concession would affect this country or its policies in the light of possible war between Italy and the African empire. The White House said nothing. It was indicated American interests already were in business in Ethiopia, but the commerce department said it had no records showing investments. Significance of the transaction on American or international affairs, Hull said, was for development and study to determine.

Officials say that $20,000,000 or $25,000,000 fund will be set up to extend federal compensation benefits to casualties in the work relief program. No estimates available of the number likely to be injured or killed in spending the $4,000,000,000 work relief appropriation, but the fund will be about one per cent of the probable $2,000,000,000 payroll. Under the old civil works administration program, officials said the government provided similar compensation. Already $3,663,395 has been spent on CWA casualties.

The federal justice department announces a decision to not prosecute James J. Walker, self-exiled former mayor of New York on income tax charges. Walker never was indicted. Unless New York state charges are pending against the former mayor, he will probably be free to return to America from England if he chooses. The justice department said a thorough study by tax experts in Washington and United States attorney in New York showed that "there has not been found sufficient evidence to prosecute for a criminal offense."

The world's supply of wheat, excluding Russia and China, this season will be about 24,000,000 bushels smaller than in 1934-35, the bureau of agricultural economics estimates. While production of 3,520,000,000 bushels is about 60,000,000 more than last season, the world carry-over of about 800,000,000 bushels was about 300,000,000 less than a year ago. Russia is reported to be harvesting a good crop and may export up to 30,000,000 bushels, but this may be partly offset by larger Chinese imports due to a smaller crop, the report said. Short supplies in the United States may result in prices being maintained close to an import basis for all classes of wheat at markets east of the Rockies, the bureau said. The carry-over of 152,000,000 bushels and crop of 608,000,000 bushels now indicated give a domestic supply of 760,000,000, only 135,000,000 bushels more than average consumption, so that a further reduction in the carry-over this season is likely.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

Even in the comparatively short period of 40 years since X-rays have been known and utilized, the number of lives that have been saved and the amount of human suffering that has been averted are incalculable. The employment of this wonderful phenomenon in medicine and surgery is now so commonplace, as to excite little comment, but its importance is universally recognized.

In surgery, X-rays were first used principally to detect the presence of foreign substances, such as bullets, in the body. But developments in their use have led to their successful employment in the diagnosis and treatment of many injurious diseases and for other useful purposes.

For his epochal discovery, Prof. Rontgen received the highest scientific honors, including the Rumford medal of the Royal Society of London, the Barnard medal of Columbia University, in New York, which was awarded in 1900 for the greatest scientific discovery of the preceding five years, and in 1901 the Noble prize in physics.

Rontgen died in 1923, but his name will live forever among those of Jenner, Lister, Pasteur, and other immortals, whose labors in behalf of suffering humanity entitle them to everlasting gratitude.—Kerrville Sun.

DOING HIS BEST

When every man becomes expert in his own line, then will the reign of universal prosperity set in. Or will it? Perfect ability is not to be achieved by the mass. It is seldom achieved even by the individual. We have it from Holy Writ that none is perfect, nay, not one. But if every one of us would do his best to succeed there would be an immediate improvement all around. One farmer is better at raising crops and growing livestock than another farmer may be, just as one blacksmith can nail on horse-shoes better to the satisfaction of the horse than another blacksmith can. It is possible that somebody else could do better with this column than S. P. does. Indeed, the gentleman recently in charge of same thinks he did a better job with it than the old reliable was doing before vacation. It all comes down to this: Success in farming, writing, blacksmithing, charcoal burning—success in anything depends upon the attitude of the performer, the psychological approach he makes to his task. If he goes to his job reluctantly, querulously, antagonistically he fails before he starts. The man who enjoys farming makes a success of farming, given a fair chance against weather and worms. But the more he learns about his business the better businessman he will be in the conduct of his affairs.—State Press in Dallas News.

MEETING THE NEED

With social security benefit payments blocked until next year, the administration has turned to a $10,000,000 fund that will help lay the ground-work for the old-age pensions and unemployment insurance.

President Roosevelt emphasized that because an appropriation bill was killed by Senator Long's adjournment filibuster, funds would not be available for grants to states for old-age pensions before January.

Between now and the next meeting of congress, Mr. Roosevelt said the administrative organization would be set up, studies would be made of what each state would be entitled to and the social security agency would be prepared for quick action after the money is provided.

The effect of cottonseed meal feeding to dairy cows upon milk and butter has been tested recently by the Oklahoma A. & M. college dairy staff. Milk from five Jersey cows on a heavy cottonseed meal ration was compared with milk from five Jerseys on a normal ration. Flavor score of the milk from the cows fed meal was slightly higher than that of the other cows, it was found. While cottonseed meal milk has been criticized for a slightly flat flavor this is not as serious as the feed flavor, which was more common in the normal milk, the dairymen reported.

Texas started the new fiscal year, Sept. 1, with a net deficit of $11,208,064, a statement from State Treasurer Charley Lockhart showed. This included a deficit of $4,841,771 in the Confederate veterans pension fund and $6,366,293 in the general revenue fund. This deficit will be an added problem of the coming special session of the legislature. The general fund, from which all current operating expenses of government are paid, built up a deficit of $541,851 during the past fiscal year, increasing from $5,824,442 as of Aug. 31, 1934. The state is now a little over four months behind in paying state warrants.

Seeking an amicable solution to problems raised by Japanese cotton textile exports to the Philippines, American and Japanese officials are negotiating a "gentlemen's agreement." The aim is said to be a percentage reduction in the exports. Secretary Hull and Hiroshi Satto, the Japanese ambassador, it has been learned authoritatively, already have engaged in preliminary discussions. Other officials are now seeking to write a "satisfactory" agreement.

A direct objective of the move is to relieve economic and political friction arising from the island textile situation. Japanese manufacturers have made big inroads in the Philippine markets in the last two years.

Glasses or Good Lighting?

Four Sight-Saving Suggestions

1. Make sure there is a reading lamp for every member of the family and a study lamp for the children. These lamps should have shades that are light-colored inside, open at the top, deep enough to prevent glare from bare bulbs and wide enough to throw the light where it is needed.
2. See that every reading or study lamp is equipped with the proper-sized bulbs—one 100-watt, two 60's or three 40's according to the number of sockets.
3. Place lamps so that there is no direct or reflected glare in your eyes.
4. Do your visual work in a room that is moderately well lighted throughout. Reading under a floor lamp in an otherwise dark room is a sure source of eyestrain.

IT is an appalling fact that one-fifth of all grade children have something wrong with their eyes. At college age, forty students out of every 100 suffer from defective vision.

The new Science of Seeing reveals that one of the principal causes of eyestrain is improper lighting. A student who reads in dim light instinctively forms the habit of bringing his book or other object of study closer to his eyes. His eyes adjust themselves to this wrong reading distance—and he eventually becomes near-sighted.

If your child habitually reads with the printed page less than 14 inches from his eyes, there are two things you should do at once. First, have his eyes examined by a competent eye specialist. Then, correct your lighting to conform with the sight-saving suggestions shown at the left. We'll gladly help you with your lighting problems, free of charge.
