And Civic Club Meeting

Art and Civic club met at the home of Mrs. Schooler.

Announcement of Texas was the main feature of our year's study of this program. A very interesting roll call of Texas heroes was given. Many very efficient speakers were brought to the club for the afternoon.

Miss J. Gartman gave an address on the life and works of the great men.

Conferences stressed other outstanding characters.

Character and life of the great men were reviewed by Mrs. McCullough.

Very attractive refreshment tables and sweets with delicacies as plate favors were served to club members and a number of young ladies.

Methodist Notes

As announced last week, next Sunday will be the closing services for this conference year. We expect no change of pastor for the coming year. The church has already asked for the return of Brother Duke, and he has signified his readiness to return, so there is no uneasiness, such as is sometimes manifest with the close of the year.

The year has been a pleasant one for all concerned. Much good has been accomplished, and there has been a spirit of fellowship and co-operation that is commendable. The church can, beyond doubt, enter upon another year under favorable circumstances and we trust with a spirit prophetic of great success.

At the morning hour next Sunday, as announced, the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be commemorated. The first Sunday is the regular time for this service, but on account of other matters this was deferred at that time, and it is fitting that this be observed at this, the last morning service of the conference year. Let all who can possibly do so be at all the services next Sunday.

This writer has felt sometimes that he has rather imposed upon the privileges granted him by the Eagle editor by referring so often to the great moral issues that confront our people. Not that the editor is not in accord with most that has been said, but rather through the fact that a local paper in a very special sense belongs to the public and is thought to be conducted more to convey news than to propagate moral and religious principles. But from the words of approval of the things that I have been writing about along moral lines, and from the complimentary things that I have heard about the editor and the Eagle, because of the large space given to the things moral and religious, I feel that the Eagle constituency rather approve these things. All this indicates that the people expect the papers to continue the work of formulating policies for the good of the people, in addition to the business of publishing that which is denominated news. Certain it is, that we have some mighty problems before us if we are to survive as a people, and maintain our civilization.

We are disposed to be very sympathetic toward the people across the Atlantic because of that destruction that is eminent from the war. Yet, how many realize that we are destroying more lives with automobiles than are falling in the battles of Ethiopia? The public is becoming aroused at this situation as never before. Some of our great daily papers are doing yeoman service in the cause. Foremost among these is our great Dallas News. The battle it is waging against careless and drunken drivers will bear fruit that may save the lives of many and will aid in a reform that will tell for all time.

I have wondered why no one has thought of going to the people with this important subject in a thoroughly organized campaign. Make an appeal in every school district, in every church and community, and teach our youths, yes, some of the older people, too, the necessity of care in driving, the absolute necessity of total abstinence from liquor in every form, and the necessity of law enforcement. A campaign of this kind, it seems to me, would be fruitful of a good that would tell in time and eternity. Our courts justify their laxness in many instances with the excuse that our people do not endorse the enforcement of law. Our legislative bodies justify their failures by saying that an unpopular law can not be enforced. All this may be true, but if it is true, the answer is in the cross.

Pecan Growers Organize

A number of the large pecan growers met in the district court room and formed the Mills County Pecan Growers association and named E. H. Haggood president, John D. Walton, secretary, and J. J. Cockrell, vice-president.

The purpose of the organization is to strive for a better market for the 1935 crop, and to begin planning now for marketing next year's crop. The association will promote a program of pecan improvement.

Another meeting will be held next Saturday, Oct. 26, to further plans for marketing the present crop. X

Scallorn P.-T. A.

On Friday, Oct. 18, the Parent-Teachers association met in regular meeting.

Following a short business meeting, an interesting program was given by the pupils. Cocoa cookies and popcorn balls were served to the children, parents and members of the association.

The aim and purpose of our association is to help the teacher have a better understanding with the children and to help make a cleaner and better place in which our children may work and to promote a better welfare in our community. REPORTER.

Highway Work Delayed By Rain

The rain of the past several days has caused a suspension of the highway work here, but a few days of sunshine will remedy the condition and the work will be resumed. Up to the time the rain caused the suspension of work good progress was being made on 74a, which includes Fisher street, and a considerable improvement had been made.

Hurt By Auto

Riley Thompson, one of the men engaged in highway work, suffered painful injuries Tuesday when the car in which he was riding collided with another car on Fisher street.

Showing Prosperity

There is no doubt that this country is rapidly recovering from the depression, if it has not already recovered. There is evidence of improvement and prosperity in every direction.

Corn-Hog Referendum

Mills county will vote on the nation-wide corn-hog referendum at Mullin, Center City and Goldthwaite and Ebony Saturday, Oct. 26.

Only one question will be on the ballot: Are you in favor of a corn-hog adjustment program to follow the 1935 program, which expires November 30, 1935? All operators and owners, or their official representatives, of farms which produced corn or hogs in 1935 may vote, whether they signed 1934 or 1935 corn-hog contracts or not. Each eligible person is entitled to only one vote.

AAA officials point out that unless a sufficient number of farmers vote favorably, there will be no program. The administration must be assured that a sufficient number of farmers will participate to make the program operative and successful.

Farmers' receipts from the sale of hogs in 1935 will be about 700 million dollars, as compared to 440 million in 1932.

Prices received on the farm for corn last year averaged 82 cents a bushel. The farm price in 1933 averaged 52 cents a bushel, and 32 cents a bushel in 1931 and 1932. Hogs averaged $3.73 per hundred weight in 1933-34, as compared with $3.36 in 1932-33, and slightly over $7 per cwt. in 1934-35.

W. P. WEAVER, County Agent.

Checks have been received by the county agent's office for most of the group 2 and 3 corn-hog contracts. There have been a total of 253 checks received, which amount to $4,635.80. Checks for group 1 signers are expected at any time.

Eyes Of Texas Are On Them

The legislators are back in Austin and at work on the old, vexing question, taxation. Most of them enjoyed a few days vacation at their respective homes and gained new viewpoints from the home constituents. All new taxes are opposed by the ones who have to pay them. The gigantic task for the solons is to find a tax that will bring in the revenue for the old age pension, and that tax not to be too obnoxious to the already burdened tax payers. So the question is calling for all the brain children and all the tact the legislators have.—Mullin Enterprise.

Christmas Rates Now Effective

The Christmas bargain rates for the daily papers are now on and the Eagle is making a combination rate with all of them. The readers can save a goodly amount by taking advantage of this combination. The Star Telegram, Houston Chronicle, Dallas Morning News are all included in this offer. Better see about these rates before the time expires and while the combination is in effect at this office.

Those who desire the daily subscription without including the Eagle are also invited to hand in their subscription at this office.

A Reasonable Charge

The Eagle, like all other newspapers, makes a reasonable charge for the publication of cards of thanks, obituaries, lodge resolutions and similar articles. This is not a new rule, but has been in effect all of the years of the Eagle's publication. The charge for these articles must be assumed or guaranteed by the writers or some other responsible party.

Rains General Through Section

Rain that commenced to fall here Tuesday and continued through Wednesday and Thursday has been general throughout this section and was heavier in some parts of the country than in Mills county, although the moisture that fell here was sufficient for present needs and has put the ground in fine shape for plowing, as well as being of benefit to the fall grain crops, while doing some damage to cotton that was still in the field, yet it is not thought the damage will be serious, except where burrs are rotted and the cotton stained.

The rain was badly needed, although it would have been advantageous for clear weather for another week, so that the open cotton could have been gathered.

Marble Machines Outlawed

Notice to Owners and Exhibitors of Marble Machines, etc.

We quote as follows from an opinion of the attorney general's department of the state of Texas:

"—It is, accordingly, our opinion, and you are so advised, that any table, bank, wheel or device of any character, design or construction whatsoever, with or without name, when used, kept or exhibited for the purpose of gaming is a gaming device within the contemplation and meaning of Article 619, of penal code, whether the games played thereon involve pure skill, pure chance or a combination of skill and chance. And this conclusion follows, whether or not the stake award, or prize, for which a coin or other consideration is hazarded, comes in the form of an automatic release of money by such machine, or device, or an automatic release of tokens that can be used to renew the play upon such machine or device, or to be redeemed in cash or merchandise by the keeper or exhibitor, or in the payment or giving of cash, credit or merchandise by the keeper or dealer, rather than by such machine or device.

Of course, it necessarily follows from this conclusion that such machines or devices, when established to be gaming devices under Article 619, penal code, are subject to condemnation and destruction by order of the court, under procedure outlined by Articles 636, 637 and 638, of the penal code; Mills vs. Browning, 39 SW (2d) 219. And the person knowingly permitting such gaming table or device to remain in his possession, or on premises under his control, or of which he is owner, to be used for gaming purposes, is, under Article 630, penal code, subject to prosecution. Abraham vs. State, 39 SW (2d) 42."

There are numbers of marble machines, stake machines, and gambling devices of similar character being exhibited and played in restaurants, cafes, filling stations and other places of business in Goldthwaite and other towns throughout the county. Recent decisions handed down by the higher courts condemn such as gambling devices. The above articles of the penal code of Texas prohibiting the use, keeping or exhibiting of such devices for gambling will be strictly enforced throughout this county, and notice is hereby given to all persons having the same in their possession that criminal complaints will be filed against them if such devices are found on their premises or in their possession after Monday, October 28, 1935.

J. H. HARRIS, Sheriff Mills County. E. B. GILLIAM, JR., County Attorney, Mills County.

Baptist Reminder

Our B. T. U. reached its highest goal Sunday night. There were 102 present. This is the highest attendance we have reached since the beginning of the organization two years ago. Our B. T. U. has been growing for some time. I feel that the united effort of all workers makes this possible. The two senior unions are doing the best work they have ever done.

It has been suggested from time to time that each church should have at least twice as many in Sunday school as B. T. U. If each class will have four more this coming Sunday than we had the past Sunday, we will have 201 in Sunday school. Will you do your part?

The ladies had an unusually good attendance in all the circles Monday. Circle No. 1 had 13, No. 2 had 12, No. 3 had 20. Do your best to make it 20 in each circle Monday.

The preaching services were well attended Sunday. We will have a male quartet Sunday morning to sing for us. You will enjoy hearing them. My subject will be, "The doctrine of belief." Sunday night, "A father's interest in behalf of his son." FRANKLIN E. SWANNER.

The Forgotten Student

BY TOLBERT PATTERSON

We have heard a great deal about the "forgotten man." Just who this man is, we have never been able to fully decide. It seems that the identity of this individual depends upon the point of view of the individual attempting to identify this forgotten man.

In my estimation there is in reality a "forgotten student." There are three types of students who are forever in the foreground of the attention of the student body and the faculty of every school. First is the "honor student." This is the student whose name is always found on the scholarship honor rolls. He or she may not necessarily be the hardest worker, but is the individual that has the ability to make good grades in all subjects at all times.

Second, is the group of students often labeled as "heroes." This group is always very small. This hero may be an outstanding athlete, a popularity queen, a good debator, or a class wit.

Thirdly, comes the "discipline group." In this group is found the individuals who are habitually out of place, out of order, late at school, delinquent in attendance, or those who never seem fully able to happily adjust themselves to school life. The three groups listed above are always in the attention of both student and teacher. They have the spotlight and too often perpetuate a monopoly on this attention.

These three groups combined comprise a very small part of the average student body. At most, they represent not more than ten per cent of the total number in the ordinary class. The remaining ninety per cent is the "forgotten student." The representative of this great group is a plodder, can always be depended upon, has a wholesome attitude and is a brand of the average American high school student. This individual should command the greater part of the teacher's time. In spending time promoting the cause of this individual, the teacher is rendering the greatest good. An instructor's efficiency can be most accurately measured when consideration is given to the number of students benefited by the teaching process.

Congratulations to the "forgotten student." From your ranks will come a progressive and enterprising citizenship. You are the backbone of the school citizenship.

Discount Law Declared Void

The supreme court of Texas this week held unconstitutional a law passed by the forty-third legislature offering discounts for the early payment of state and county taxes. The law is "absolutely unconstitutional and void," Associate Justice Richard Critz stated. The court ruled the law violated several sections of the constitution, particularly the prohibitions against exemption of property from taxes and more than one valuation during a tax year. The law proposed a 3 per cent discount to tax payers remitting in October, 2 per cent if paid in November and 1 per cent if paid in December.

Old Friends Are Remembered

Port Neches, Oct. 20, 1935. Dear Folks Back Home:

Today I've had the second biggest thrill of my life. The first was twenty years ago when our Judge Sam Allen presented me my first teachers certificate. I didn't know whether to laugh or cry, so I cried. Today my old painting, a picture of a boat on the Neches, with a moss-covered tree near by, won third prize in the art exhibit at the South Texas State fair, in Beaumont, with hundreds of artists from east Texas, western Louisiana, Galveston, Houston, Port Arthur and Beaumont competing. The judging done by James R. Chillum, Jr., curator of the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston. So today I could laugh with joy.

We enjoyed last week in Mills county and I have lingering memories of fried chicken and butter milk with the Lit Burnham family, and visions of delicious barbecue, pineapple cake and a glorious day spent with Edwin Haggood's at their camp on the Colorado.

Memories of those eats make this spaghetti and canned spinach seem repulsive. Then there were days of squirrel hunting down on the farm, and the party with Mrs. Jake Saylor. That was fun, but those girls didn't know I hadn't played "42" since I left Mills county, ten years ago, but my score card showed and told it.

And our visiting friend, Mr. Hausmann, from Birmingham saw his first jack rabbit and chaparral bird, and I hunted for hours, turning rocks and logs, and at last found the centipede and a scorpion under the same rock, so our trip was not in vain. But if we had always lived in Birmingham, 400,000 strong, we might wonder why the rattlesnake rattles, too; for when I visited Alabama in April and saw lilies of the valley growing wild, when we can only see them at church weddings and funerals, and my eyes feasted on miles of purple iris and tulips, and hills so high that little boys could never climb them. And we went to church on Easter morning at Saint Paul's cathedral in Birmingham, where he sang in the choir when he was a little boy. That was a gorgeous sight, the altar so lighted with hundreds of tall, white candles, and Easter lilies, and the pipe organ reaching almost to the dome, and voices singing—voices of seventy little boys robed in white, singing "Christ Is Risen." It made all the world seem good, and it made me forget I had been a little kid down on the farm. For I do so love cream gravy with my spinach.

But it was good, seeing all of you again. RUBE KENNEDY WRINKLE.

That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Peppercorn for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results. Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

KNOWS AN HONEST MAN

Sam Rahl of Goldthwaite knows an honest man when he sees one, and the Rev. Leonard M. Evans, who is holding a meeting at China Creek, bears the countenance of and is an honest man. This fact was illustrated last week when the Rev. Evans was in Goldthwaite and wanted to come over to San Saba and did not want to wait for the bus. He stopped in at Mr. Rahl's garage and asked if anyone were coming to San Saba and if they were, he would like to have a ride. Mr. Rahl, not ever having seen the Rev. Evans before, told him that he had a car that he wanted to send to John Grundy in San Saba, and he would be glad to have him drive it over for him. To the evangelist's surprise, the car was brought out and "ran like a top" to San Saba and a safe delivery was made to Mr. Grundy, with no inconvenience to Mr. Rahl and with a quick trip for the pastor.—San Saba Star.

ROCK SPRINGS

Bro. L. O. McGallam from Brownwood delivered two good sermons Sunday. He spent the day Sunday with W. A. Cooke. It was announced that B. F. Renfro from Ratler will preach here Sunday morning.

There were some mistakes in my letter last week which I must correct. I can't say just who made the mistake. Mrs. Ellis was thanking for the bouquet, not dinner, her neighbors and friends gave when her father died. Next, Greta Traylor was able to start the opening day of school. She doesn't suffer any more with the spider bite. Part of my letter was left out. I am sure it was an oversight.

Phillip Nickols can't be idle. He didn't work on the highway until Thursday, so he shelled corn to take to the mill.

It seems like most all the Center Point young folks are about to get married. Of course, there are several left yet, but you can not tell who might be next. If they keep on at the rate they have been going, they will soon be showered under. It wouldn't do for it to break out in this community, for the depression is still out here.

Phillip and Shirley Nickols gave up ever breaking Claud Smith's colt, so they took it to town Sunday morning and Mr. Smith took it home.

Phillip and Shirley Nickols decided they had better haul a load of wood Friday morning after their sister, Mrs. Joe Roberts, and Mrs. A. R. Kauhs ironed all day Thursday. They celebrated the afternoon by going to town and seeing the ball game.

Mrs. J. O. McClary was called to Fort Worth last week to her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Salters, who was sick.

Mrs. Joe Roberts and daughter made chow chow for Mrs. John Roberts Friday afternoon.

Hillard Dyches and family of Breckenridge spent Sunday night with J. T. Robertson.

It is hard for James Nickols to make up his mind just what he wants to do for an honest living. He has farmed some this year and worked at the carpenter trade, and now he has work at Guy Rudd's filling station.

Landy Ellis sat until bed time in Loy Long's home in town Sunday night.

James Nickols ate dinner at home Sunday. He is working for Guy Rudd in town.

Sunday afternoon Joe Davis and family and Mrs. Eula Nickols visited in J. T. Robertson's and J. C. Stark's home.

R. E. Collier has work in town this week. I didn't learn where.

There was a bunch of Mexicans, as well as some white folk, helped the farmers to get their cotton gathered last week and this week.

J. R. Davis took his first bale of cotton to town Tuesday.

Woody Traylor and family visited with J. T. Robertson and wife Sunday afternoon.

Shirley Nickols helped Fred McClary work with hay this week.

Mrs. Claud Laird and children left Sunday night on the midnight train for Galveston where her husband has work.

J. O. McClary visited Friday afternoon in the Webb home.

J. T. Robertson and wife and Joe Davis and family and mother went over to John Roberts one afternoon last week to see the new house which is climbing upward.

Mrs. Joe Roberts ironed Monday at her mother's.

M. R. Circle and family went to Ratler to hear J. A. Lauderdale preach Sunday.

B. F. Renfro, Jr., spent the week end at home last week.

Loy Long and family from town spent Sunday in the Ellis home.

Frank McDermott from Rabbit Ridge broke land on the Faulkner farm last week and Monday.

Dwight Nickols and wife and Miss Claudia Carroll from town called in the Nickols home late Sunday evening.

Ben Davis and wife from town visited Sunday afternoon with his parents and W. A. Cooke.

When I stay home on Sunday afternoon no one comes. I went visiting, so I had company. Jesse Lowe and wife from Rabbit Ridge and Joe Roberts and family. As it happened, Mrs. Roberts entertained Mrs. Lowe for me. Come again and I'll try to be at home.

Mrs. Dewey Bohanon was sick all last week. She is better at this writing.

A. R. Kauhs and family ate supper in the Nickols home last Thursday night.

Mrs. W. A. Daniel wasn't able to come to church Sunday or Sunday night.

Mmes. Nickols and Joe Roberts and Janette attended the S. E. Q. club in Mrs. Buster Berry's home in town Tuesday afternoon and helped to quilt.

Mrs. Loy Long and son from town picked up pecans on the Ellis farm last Wednesday.

I was very proud when I saw my grandson, Beryl Roberts, was on the honor roll, and he also made a straight A card. There were lots of others I was proud of, too. When you study and really try, then you will make good grades.

This is the end of the second week of school out here. All of the pupils seem well pleased with their teachers. BUSY BEE.

That Chesterfields are milder and taste better is no accident . . .

The farmer who grows the tobacco, the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder, every man who knows about leaf tobacco will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobaccos to make a good cigarette.

In making Chesterfields we use mild ripe home-grown and Turkish tobaccos.

After the game, the pep squad, aided by Mrs. Clements, Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Little and several others, entertained the football boys at the Clements' home.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it?

Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but, after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5 1/2 gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosyphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvers permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display by Ford dealers.

Betty Lou, the tiny daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Crowder, is doing fine. The reports about her are that she is very cute.

Grandmother Wilmett is still unable to leave the house on account of a catch in her back. Otherwise she is well and cheerful.

Don't forget that next Sunday is the fourth Sunday and Bro. Wharton will preach for us in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. Give him your presence. His sermon will do you good.

It is reported a few herds of sheep have been affected with sore mouth. A number of sheep died out on Dick Edmondson's ranch at Ridge. Ranch men are watching their sheep for symptoms of the disease. Benjamin Franklin said an ounce of precaution is worth a pound of cure, and this is a fact with sheep, for a sick sheep is always ready to give up the fight and pass on, ever before the fight is on. Wool is such a good price now it behooves the owners to give the meek and lowly sheep a run for their money's worth.

TWO INCH RAIN FELL HERE TUESDAY

A fine rain fell here Tuesday afternoon, over two inches in all, and falling just ideal for the grain crops and fall gradens. Then, too, most of the cotton has been gathered and ready for market, and not hurt by the rainfall. The good rain will be most beneficial to the fall pastures and was generally welcomed by one and all.

ALL NATIONS OPPOSE ITALY

The developments since the beginning of Italy's campaign of aggression against Ethiopia is not surprising to most of the nations of the world, whether co-operating with the League of Nations or not, yet the action of other nations must have surprised Il Duce, for had he realized the far reaching results of his declaration of war on the Ethiopian people he would, very likely, have adopted some other method of securing the needed territory for expansion. One of the best posted authorities on the subject says that a substantial part of Italy's foreign trade is with countries which are not committed to participation in League sanctions. Germany is by far the most important market for Italian exports, and in the first seven months of the current year absorbed more than 22 per cent of the total. The United States took $2 per cent in the same period and Austria and Hungary together absorbed 6.4 per cent. These four nations alone currently purchase 36.8 per cent of Italy's exports. Furthermore, in the event of sanctions being applied by other countries, there would probably be a tendency for Italian exports to move through the non-participating countries to other markets. Yet it appears sure, that while a League boycott of Italian goods would seriously curtail that country's export trade, it would by no means entirely eliminate such exports. A similar situation exists with respect to an embargo on the sale of goods to Italy. Germany is also the principal source of Italian imports and Germany, the United States, Austria and Hungary together currently supply about 44 per cent of Italy's imports. Furthermore, the United States is an important source of those raw materials particularly necessary in time of war. In 1934 this country provided 21.2 per cent of Italy's total imports of wheat, 61.6 per cent of cotton imports, $1.6 per cent of copper imports and 15.4 per cent of petroleum imports. With these sources of raw materials open, a League embargo on exports to Italy would be only partially effective. Probably the most serious international economic problem confronting Italy is that of paying for its imports. With foreign exporters demanding cash payment, it will be of little avail to Italy if several important nations remain willing to sell unless she has the means of payment. This is the weakest point in Italy's position.

PENSION LEGISLATION

At the time this statement is being written there has been no pension provision, known as the old age pension, adopted by the Texas legislature and it is possible the second called session of that body will expire without a satisfactory plan having been submitted, not to say adopted. The plan of pensioning citizens who have reached an age that is generally denoted as a non-productive age is a good plan, if the regulations and provisions are acceptable, but there is the rub—getting a plan that is acceptable at all parties at interest. The plans that have been heretofore offered provide only for a dole for those who are in an indigent condition and have no relatives upon whom they can call for sustenance. A better plan must be found, else the pensions will reach but few besides negroes and Mexicans in this state. If the pension law is placed on the basis of the Confederate pensions, then many deserving citizens can accept the provisions, whereas, none will accept the indigent provisions unless they are in dire need.

A DICTATOR IN GOVERNMENT

The American people rebel at the thought of a dictator in government, yet men in some departments of government in this country have assumed such powers and prerogatives and have succeeded for a time, on a limited basis. The late Huey Long is perhaps the most outstanding example of the success of a dictator in this country, and yet the fact that he left no recognized successor in his Louisiana dictatorship, but left political affairs in his state in a chaotic condition, is a strong argument against such a system. The American people prefer to take chances with inefficiency in a democracy rather than to stake everything on the chances of finding an able dictator. So far, the European dictators have not proved such glittering successes, and the only American aspirant, Huey Long, was not precisely the man to whom any considerable number of the people would have been willing to entrust autocratic power.

PASSING OF THE DOLE

The withdrawal of the government's direct relief has been a thing being accomplished without the disturbance and chaotic conditions that many expected and predicted. While there is still a fragmentary portion of the system in effect, in the main the work program has taken the place of the dole and the change has come about so gradually that it has not been especially noticeable. True, there is the influence on the minds of some of the beneficiaries of the direct relief that the government should support them, but this idea is not as wide-spread as was feared. While the government possibly went to an unreasonable, or at least an unnecessary extent with the system, it is no doubt universally admitted that the plan was the best that could have been evolved at the time of its adoption, and some plan of the kind was absolutely necessary to prevent wide-spread suffering or possibly internal difficulties.

AMERICA'S ATTITUDE CLEAR

The interests of our country are so interlaced with those of other countries, there is no desire on the part of any considerable portion of our citizenship to become embroiled in the difficulties between other nations. While there is a very small percentage of Americans who are for peace at any price, practically the whole of the citizenship of this country favor war as a last resort and desire to keep clear of any entangling alliances. With wars and rumors of wars on other parts of the globe, it is well that Secretary Hull outlined this country's position, when he said in a recent speech: "This country has no aggressive ambition of any kind. We make no threat against the territory or safety of any other country. We are prepared to defend ourselves against any threat to our own safety and welfare."

THINGS IN GENERAL
(Selected)

In the opinion of many, Mussolini promoted the war with Ethiopia merely to save his face at home. There is a rumor that economic conditions are not so good at home and this seems to be the situation that even a dictator can not handle. The war will take the minds of the people at home off their troubles and incidentally, bring them a new lot.

California is complaining that each month several thousand people in search of work come into the state to add to the burden of the relief roll. California should remember that this is one of the prices a state has to pay for being advertised far and wide as the land of sunshine, roses, oranges and opportunity.

Distance from market often makes a difference in the price at which a thing will sell. For instance, fish worms in the garden and grasshoppers in the field are not worth anything, but around the fishing resorts they are worth ten cents a dozen.

For some time it has been believed that the most effective way to consign a man to oblivion was to elect him vice president. This idea has given way, however, to the position of the husband of a woman in politics.

It is the common belief that the introduction of machines has thrown men out of employment. Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget, states that machines in the long run do not deprive men of jobs, rather they create jobs. In the period following 1879, industry provided 49,000 jobs per million population. In 1929 industry provided 73,000 jobs per million population. Mr. Lewis takes these figures from a study of the national industrial conference board.

The most amazing thing in connection with the Ethiopian situation is that an avowedly Christian world will stand by and see another Christian nation invaded and despoiled by a power whose only justification for its act is territorial acquisition. As long as this situation exists in the world, there will be wars. If Italy knew that the rest of the world would not permit a war, no move of this kind would have been made.

Regardless of how one feels over the matter of the further invasion of Ethiopia by the Italian army, no one can blame Ethiopia for resisting the aggressor to the last ditch—and we might add the desire of everyone is that in some manner Ethiopia will whip the eternal day lights out of the Italians. Walter Winchell describes Broadway as a place where people spend money they haven't earned to buy things they don't need to impress people they don't like. We are not so sure that the condition described is confined altogether to Broadway.

There are few things that bring the satisfaction to a man equal to that which comes from the completion of a good job well done. The joy of creation that such an achievement awakens in a man is not equalled by any other human pleasure.

We often hear sharp criticism directed against the young woman who gets married without any knowledge of cooking or housekeeping. Our observation has been that there are just as many men that get married without any well defined plan in mind as to how they are going to support a family as there are girls who get married with-

ANOTHER PUSH

That many of our leading schools and colleges of the state have opened with larger attendance than usual, should be taken as a matter of encouragement. Some Texas colleges report the largest classes in their history, while some of us were thinking that the stress of the hard times had almost shocked the life out of public institutions.

I ran onto something this summer that I wasn't looking for. Incidentally, I contacted one of the leading educators of the south. In another state he was for years at the head of that state's leading institution. The job of educating young people for nearly forty years gave him much time for observation. One thing he said was the thing I was not looking for and this is it: "I have known as many young people hurt by education as I have known helped by it."

I remarked that we all had thought more or less as to that matter, but didn't know how to state the proportion. He described those who were harmed by education as those who cram and stuff with only books and may become bookish, but never learn the mental qualities to tug and dig hard. They remain in life where their school days left them.

The argument is something to think about. Could it be that at least half of our effort and money for educating young people is useless and merely thrown away? I prefer to think the inability is of the individual and not a reflection on education. A fertile, warm seed bed need not be held responsible for the character of seed deposited in it. Moreover, should a vigorous, lovely plant be transplanted from a fruitless seed bed to other conditions and then fail and dwarf, the other conditions have caused the failure.

You see, now that I am hundreds of miles from that eminent professor, I can afford to raise an argument with him. I dare not do so while in his presence. SAM SAY.

—EDITORIAL COMMENT—

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

FACTS ABOUT ETHIOPIA

Ethiopia is impressive on the map. It is three times as large as Italy. About one-third of the country is a desert plain, subject to intense tropical heat where white men can not work. But there are current reports that the land is rich in mineral resources, and that the plateau region is a fertile district where several million Italian farmers might settle and produce a surplus of agricultural products for the Italian market. On examination, however, these reports do not stand up. So far as is now known, there is no indication that the country is rich in mineral resources, in spite of the recent notorious oil concession. Dr. Barnum Brown, an American geologist who made an intensive survey more than ten years ago at an expense of $100,000, reports that there were no indications of oil or other important mineral wealth. There is some platinum and a little gold and iron. Potash lakes have been found remote from transportation.

On the agricultural side the outlook is somewhat better, though far from brilliant. Outsiders think the Italians are right in believing some cotton could be grown by irrigating a strip of Italian Somaliland, for which plans have already been drawn.—Kansas City Star.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

Texas leaders are only beginning to realize fully to what great degree the people of the state, taken as a whole, are dependent on foreign trade. It can not be said truly that the people themselves have any genuine realization of this dependence or of its relation to their daily lives, but many are becoming aware of it. We recall how the average Texan was surprised to learn from the newspapers about ten years ago that during the year 1924 the exports originating in Texas were valued at more than those originating in any other state, except New York. But there was little or no understanding of the significance of this fact, and few stopped to think that there were more than twice as many people in New York as in Texas, or that a greater percentage of the products of the people of Texas was sold abroad than was the case in any other state, even New York. The circumstance that Texas surpasses even New York in the value of its exports during the one year of 1924, and that it was second only to New York in this respect as a general thing, became just another thing to boast about, a sort of "boosting" item, indicating the commercial greatness of Texas. There was no suspicion of its significance.—Texas Weekly.

THE JAPANESE MODEL

On the principle that imitation is the sincerest flattery, Mussolini is paying a marked tribute to Japan. What she did in North China he apparently hopes to do in Ethiopia. It is announced in Rome that Italy will promptly annex Adowa and the adjoining territory. Then it is expected that the Ethiopian province of Tigre will be set up as a pretended independent state, after the example of Manchukuo. That puppet of Japan has not yet been recognized by any foreign government, we believe, except that of Salvador. Mussolini will be sure to encounter similar delay in the recognition of any tiny Ethiopian empire which he may erect under the guise of a spontaneous movement by the native population for independence.

It is clear that these reported plans of the Italian dictator will, if they are carried out, bring him into further collision with the League of Nations. Following the lead of Mr. Stimson, when he was secretary of state, the league laid it down that it would not recognize any state set up by force of foreign arms, and

ANOTHER PENSION LIST

Government officials estimate that it will require seventeen years and $28,000,000 to pay for all the injuries of those on relief work. The fact that the government, in going to the employment business, incurs this additional liability is probably something the average citizen has not thought about. It is a liability that justice demands the government to assume, however; if it can stay within the limits of the present estimate, it will be fortunate.

Of course, it will not stay within these limits. This statement is based upon the experience of the government in the past in paying army pensions. If the elasticity of the army pension estimate can be accepted as a "yardstick," then a figure ten or twenty times as great as the present estimate of relief roll damage claims will be conservative. This is not sarcasm, nor is it criticism of the administration's efforts to reduce unemployment; it is simply an application of the actuary's formula to a new fiscal problem.

It may be argued that the moral claim to pensions for army service is much better than the claim for personal damages sustained while on the relief work payroll. This ought to be sound argument, but it is not. Pension payments are not in proportion to strength or moral claim, but scaled to the number of votes that can be mustered by an organized minority of claimants. Who will deny that this statement is based on experience?

The government should prepare promptly to meet just claims of those injured while on relief work; at the same time it should build its defense against future treasury-raiding by what can very easily become an organized minority of political wire pullers.—Dallas News.

APPLES FOR OTHERS

There are still Johnny Appleseeds. This strange man with a strange look in his eyes, went among the settlers in pioneer Ohio territory and gave them little bags of apple seed. Many thousand apple trees resulted on farms that would have otherwise been without apples. A monument has recently been erected to the memory of this man who helped in producing trees whose fruit he would never eat.

A little story of a modern Johnny Appleseed is told by Rev. John W. Holland in the current Progressive Farmer:—

"An old farmer in his 84th year bought some apple trees, and made plans to put them out as soon as winter was over. He had an ultra-practical neighbor who said to him:

"You certainly don't expect to live to eat any apples from those trees. Why plant trees for the fruit you can not possibly eat?"

"The old man smiled, and said, 'Have you never eaten apples from trees you did not plant? Most of the apples I have enjoyed grew on trees I never saw.'"

In telling this incident Mr. Holland remarks:—

"The greatest enemy of mankind is the person who leaves life lean and scanty wherever he walks. The land robber, the timber robber, the grasping landlord robber—all these take riches away that four generations of men can scarcely restore."

would not regard as valid annexations effected by conquest. These precedents would surely remain to trouble Mussolini if he were to go through with his alleged designs in Ethiopia. If, on the other hand, these rumored intentions of his are meant as merely preliminaries to suspending his military operations and seeking a peaceful settlement by the consent of all parties at interest, that would be another matter to be taken up on its merits. But the strong probability is that he still has no thought of retreat or even compromise, since either of them might be the signal for his fall from power in Rome.—New York Times.

TEXAS HISTORY

It is a sad commentary, nevertheless a true one, that very few know the history of their state. The coming centennial celebration at Dallas next year started a lot of reading up on Texas history, and it is hoped that we will all be familiar with the heroic and romantic pages of our imperial state when the hordes of visitors come to see and our big show.

A school teacher of quite a prominence said the other day that she found more acquaintance with the history of Ethiopia than the history of their own country. There is disposition, she declared, wanting to find out about something far away and neglect the glory and grandeur right under our noses.

The history of Texas is one of the world's greatest novels. Under six different flags at different times, this state has seen touch of France, Spain and Mexico. It has looked upon the rise of a republic and the stars and bars of the Confederacy. The savages have claimed dominion from the Red river to the Grande, and at one time it was the only part of Texas held by other than savages was under the red flag of the pirate, Lafitte.

Texas has had a wonderful past, it has a wonderful present and it is going to have a wonderful future. Let us all learn more about it in the next few months.—Waco Record.

Strengthening Football's

When Harvard's athletic committee recently caused the re-nation of the varsity football captain, it was taking a courageous step. Some will feel that the fact that the young man receiving financial aid for college expenses without approval of the athletic committee was poor reason for asking him to turn in his uniform, and in light of the coming season, loss of his captain is not likely to strengthen the morale of Harvard eleven.

Yet, far more important, the committee's action may help raise the morale of the game as a whole. If the incident of nothing more than to be again before the public as a quasi-professional status much college football, Harvard's seeming penalty will mean sixty-yard gain for the sport self.

Few would criticize the extension of scholarships to good students who are also good athletes. But the basis on which was given in this case was of question, and therefore, the committee could only take action.

The subsidized player has become a traditional figure in many an American campus. He is virtually hired to participate in one or more sports. He may even be given a contract! He may or may not attend class according to the rigors of the college he is "attending." The college authorities have been largely responsible for the existence of such players. College football, due to its phenomenal glamour, has been one of the few sports to pay for itself. It has even made enough money to support other college athletics. Instead of realizing the potential danger of turning an undergraduate sport into a business office attraction, some college authorities have exploited football, have demanded winning teams to bring fame to the college and cash to the general athletic fund.

Harvard should be highly recommended for its stand. If more colleges and universities take this attitude, college football might resume its rightful role as a healthy undergraduate sport and the financing of athletics and other college departments could be relegated to its rightful office.—Christian Science Monitor.

The bastille will be located on the city lot, at the rear of the fire hall.

The federal government has granted the Lometa school $20,454, to be used for the erection of a new school building, provided they raise the balance of the funds. So a mass meeting was called for last Saturday night, but only a few were present. The plan was discussed, pro and con, and it was finally decided to put the question to a vote of the people. CORN-HOG REFERENDUM

Secretary Wallace announced that as a result of the public hearing held in Washington, D. C., on the corn-hog situation that a national corn-hog referendum would be held to let corn and hog producers throughout the United States decide as to whether they wanted a new corn-hog contract.

"The referendum, which is to be held on October 26, is intended to provide an opportunity for full and free expression, both for and against a voluntary adjustment program, on the part of all corn and hog producers," the chairman of the state corn-hog review board at College Station, said.

"It rests with Texas farmers themselves whether or not there is enough interest and demand for a corn-hog adjustment program to justify the AAA offering such a program," he pointed out.

Plans are going forward throughout the state to inform county corn-hog control associations of the details of holding the referendum. It is also pointed out that an adjustment program might be urgent in view of corn and hog prices and the outlook for future production, and yet, if enough farmers do not vote in favor of such a program, the AA Administration will not be justified in offering a new program.

The World's Biggest Information Bureau Is At Washington, D. C.

The world's biggest information bureau is at Washington, D. C., headed by the superintendent of documents. Facts about practically every subject on earth have been collected by the United States government. All of this information has been carefully classified by subjects ranging from agriculture to weather. Then it has been further divided and printed in the form of pamphlets.

The government furnishes these pamphlets, at small cost, to the public on request. You can get a pamphlet containing information about almost any subject that may interest you.

Some of the subjects most likely to be of interest to our readers, and a brief description of the contents of the pamphlets on those subjects, are given in a new book published by the manufacturers of Cardui and Black-Draught. This booklet, entitled "Information," is being sent free to anyone who writes to the Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tennessee, requesting a copy.

In no way bind producers to accept or sign a contract, as the contract itself, should the producers vote for one, will be entirely voluntary as was the last one.

The League of Nations employed a powerful weapon against warring Italy by declaring a boycott upon all her goods. This sanction, by far the most drastic ever adopted by the league, is expected to cut off 70 per cent of the Fascist nation's exports—if rigidly enforced. It will affect directly most and indirectly all of the workers of Italy. In approving this far-reaching step, the league's general committee of 52 nations fixed Oct. 31 as the date the sanction will become effective. Premier Benito Mussolini has until then to think things over.
