

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1936

NUMBER FORTY-ONE

County Singing Convention

The county singing convention will convene in the auditorium in Goldthwaite Saturday evening and Sunday morning through Sunday night. The convention is especially interesting, as it will feature the singing of old time songs in the morning and new songs in the afternoon. Those who have a part in the singing are requested to bring their own instruments. The convention will be held at the Goldthwaite auditorium. The program for Saturday night will include singing, dancing, and a social hour. The convention is a great opportunity for the people of Mills County to get together and enjoy a good time. The program for Sunday morning will include singing, a sermon, and a social hour. The convention is a great opportunity for the people of Mills County to get together and enjoy a good time. Methodist Notes

The Methodist folks had a great day Sunday last. The new church, after three months of faithful toil in building, was dedicated to the service of God. At the appointed hour, 11 o'clock, the beautiful auditorium was crowded to its full capacity. There were approximately six hundred people in attendance. These were from every section. Some were from Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, Houston. Some were from far away New York. The music for the occasion was furnished by the church choir. Those competent to judge, affirm that there had been nothing finer in the way of music ever given in the town. Would you allow me to give a little compliment to the choir just here? A few evenings since a gentleman from one of the larger cities of Texas, listened in on one of our choir rehearsals. No one knew him, or of his presence. He told one of our citizens that his own church had a paid choir, and that the Goldthwaite choir was 100 per cent ahead of his church's paid singers. This, for what it may be worth, but at any rate something to think about, as it carries out the idea, expressed in these notes some time since, that we, many times, have in our midst ability, undiscovered and unappreciated. Bishop Boaz of Fort Worth was the preacher for the occasion. This bishop, always a most excellent preacher, was at his best. He held the large audience spell-bound with his well thought out and inspiring message. This writer has heard him often, and with great pleasure, but never to a greater advantage than at this hour. The people were much pleased and will welcome his return at any time. At the close of the sermon the official members of the church were called around the altar, when Mr. W. C. Dew, who together with his wife, had been the inspiration for the building of the church, presented to the bishop the building for dedication. This was done through the beautiful and impressive ritualistic ceremony. This ended a service that will be held for many a day in the hearts and minds, not only of the membership of the local congregation, but by many others, as a really great and helpful occasion. The pastor preached a most helpful sermon at the evening hour. He was greeted by a house well filled with worshippers. It was the much appreciated privilege of the writer, and about fifty other guests, including Bishop Boaz, as an honor guest, to participate in a most lovely dinner, after the dedication service, at the lake. This was given by Mr. W. C. Dew and wife, aided by others. This certainly was fitting, beautiful and most surely enjoyed and appreciated by all whose good fortune it was to be present. I feel sure that language would be inadequate to fully speak the sentiment of every heart for the pleasure of this occasion. I feel sure that all, if permitted to speak now, would say: "From the depths of our hearts we thank all who had any part in this great occasion." One of the surprises that many people met in the service of last Sabbath, was the fact that the congregation was supplied with new hymn books. This book has only been published a few weeks. It possibly stands as one of the really great books of the age. I think nothing has even been made that surpasses it, with the possible exception of the book recently published by the Church of England. Possibly that is in no way superior. May we hope that full use may be made of this great book, and, in heaven's name, please allow me to make one appeal—will you hear me? Let us, for the sake of everything that is high and holy, take care of these books. Don't destroy them by bending

May Rainfall Near Ten Inches

Nearly ten inches of rain fell here during the month of May, according to the government rainfall gauge, which is kept by Harry Allen, the exact figures being 9.80 inches. This is 1.54 inches more than the total of 8.26 inches reported for May, 1935. In 1935 most of the rainfall was recorded the first week of the month, whereas, this year the last week had practically all of the rain.

Nazarene Remarks

Our morning service was dismissed last Sunday, after Sunday school, and our congregation enjoyed, with the Methodist people, the preaching and dedication of their new building by Bishop Boaz. Next Sunday morning, following Sunday school, a Children's Day program will be rendered followed by a message to the juniors. Some improvement, which has been very badly needed for some time, has been going on at the parsonage for about two weeks. Most of this has been on the inside, but we are hoping it will reach the exterior in the near future. Our evening services begin now at 8:15 o'clock, but let us be on time. CHARLIE HARRISON, Pastor.

Names Certified

Austin, June 3.—Vann M. Kennedy, secretary of the state Democratic executive committee, announced today the committee would meet in Dallas Monday to certify names of candidates in the first primary, July 25. Thirty-nine candidates filed for places on the ballot for all state offices. All incumbents seeking re-election were opposed except Lieutenant-Governor Walter Woodul of Houston, Chief Justice C. M. Cureton and Associate Justice Richard Critz of the supreme court and Judge O. S. Lattimore of the court of criminal appeals.

Deficiency Grows

Washington, June 3.—Gauging the amount to be paid on the bonus this month, treasury experts today estimated the fiscal year would close June 30 with the public debt a few millions short of $34,000,000,000. They figured that of 3,500,000 veterans eligible for the bonus, some 2,500,000 would receive their checks and bonds during the last two weeks of June, involving an outlay of $1,700,000,000. This would be reflected also in the deficit.

Speaker Byrns Died Suddenly

A radio report from Washington yesterday morning said Speaker of the House Byrns had died suddenly in that city of heart failure. He has worked strenuously the past several weeks, in an effort to reach an adjournment of congress by Saturday, if possible, and it is thought the extra strain was responsible for his death.

School Standardized

Midway school, east of Goldthwaite, has the distinction of being the only standardized school in the county. Misses Beard are the teachers in the school and they have a right to be proud of their attainment as teachers and the splendid record of the school. The school board patrons and pupils are all due much praise for the credits the school has received and the splendid record it has made.

The backs together. Don't for the sake of good raising—don't, I say, turn down the corners of the leaves. This ruins the books. I have seen many ruined in this way in negro churches, but we are white folk. J. S. BOWLES.

Garden Club Features Unusual Event Next Week

Plans have been completed for a Garden club open house next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, in the Presbyterian church. This affair, which will be the concluding event of the season for this organization, will be featured by the appearance of Mrs. C. V. McMahan of Waco, chairman of lectures and slides of the Texas federation of Garden clubs. Mrs. McMahan will show moving pictures and slides of wild flowers of Texas, as well as, of gardens and other beauty spots of the state and will make an explanatory lecture while they are being shown. Her collection of wild flower pictures numbers more than 100 pictures.

In connection with this event the Garden club will sponsor a display of wild flower arrangements. Mrs. Wilbur Fairman and members of her committee, Mmes. E. T. Fairman, D. D. Tate, R. H. Chandler, E. B. Gilliam, Jr., Luther Rudd and Miss Abbie Ervin request that each member of the Garden club submit an entry for this display. Placing especial emphasis on unusual containers, such as baskets, wooden bowls, copper and brass urns, etc. The entries may contain one or more varieties of flowers as well as the wild flowers may be used. The display will not be competitive. All entries must be at the church by 10 a. m. Friday. Attendance will be open to the public as well as to club members and members of Garden clubs from several surrounding towns have been invited. Due to the limited seating capacity, admission will be by ticket only. These may be secured from any of the following: Mmes. Paul McCullough, John Berry, R. E. Duke, J. A. Palmer, Al Dickerson, R. L. Armstrong and Miss Ruth Ervin.

Mullin Students Plan Centennial Trips

Announcements have been made by Superintendent Tolbert, Patterson that definite arrangements have been completed for the centennial trips planned by the Mullin school children. The first trip is planned for the girls. The group will meet at the Mullin school house Tuesday, June 16, at 4:30 a. m. The group will drive to Dallas in about 6 hours on Tuesday. That night and Wednesday morning will be spent at the centennial grounds. Each student making the trip is asked to bring a quilt, 12 sandwiches, and $3.50. The boys will make their trip one week later. They are urged to be at the school house at 4:30 a. m., Tuesday, June 23. Each group will return on Wednesday after leaving on Tuesday. Approximately 100 children have already deposited money to make the trip to the centennial grounds. The strictest of precaution will be given to the care of the students on these trips in order that the possibility of accidents may be reduced to a minimum states Mr. Patterson. Mothers and teachers will sponsor the girls and fathers and teachers will sponsor the boys. Any individual of school age living within the Mullin or adjacent school districts are eligible to make the trips. TOLBERT PATTERSON.

A Reasonable Charge

The Eagle, like all other newspapers, makes a reasonable charge for the publication of cards of thanks, obituaries, lodge resolutions and similar articles. This is not a new rule, but has been in effect all of the years of the Eagle's publication. The charge for these articles must be assumed or guaranteed by the writers or some other responsible party.

Sewer and Street Work Progressing

A large force of men has been at work for a week or more preparing for the Goldthwaite sewer system and street paving. These are both big undertakings, but good progress is being made and soon Goldthwaite will be a modern city in every way.

Baptist Reminder

All the regular services Sunday will be held as usual. Sunday morning my theme will be, "What do people fall from when they fall from, some people call falling from grace?" This is a Bible doctrine that needs to be understood, when it is, it is appreciated. Sunday night my theme will be, "Fools for Christ's sake." FRANKLIN E. SWANNER

Surprise Shower

Miss Gladys Casbeer was honored with a farewell shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nisbet on May 30, terminating her fifth year of successful teaching in the Pleasant Grove community. After several games of progressive 42, the pupils of "Miss Gladys", led by Willis Brown and Otho Lloyd Crawford, presented a bushel basket filled with beautiful gifts to the honoree. After the lovely gifts had been opened, "Miss Gladys" expressed her appreciation in a simple little toast to those present for past kindness. This delightful occasion was enjoyed by a large number, including several guests from out of the community. A GUEST.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wagoner, who moved to Center City from Star, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday, June 2. At an early hour their children, grand children and other relatives began to arrive with baskets of food. The day was ideal for the occasion. At the noon hour the feast was spread, near the clear stream of Bennett creek, on Mr. Wagoner's place. All reported one of the best times they have ever enjoyed and it was indeed pleasing to this fine couple to have so many loved ones with them, after their fifty-year journey together. Late in the afternoon farewells were said and good wishes extended that many more years be added to their happiness. Those enjoying this day were: D. N. Wagoner, C. W. Wagoner and family, J. S. Hatton and family, Ellis Cooper and family, Mrs. D. B. Strike Spreads

Paris, June 3.—A strike movement which embraces 350,000 workers and 300 factories rolled over France today as Socialists and Radical-Socialists prepared to take over the government. These figures were estimated by authoritative sources at 4 p. m. as the strike developed throughout the country. The capital itself was threatened with a shortage of food, milk, water and meat. Ice supplies were cut off, the workers in pumping stations threatened to quit, and bakers considered joining the strikers.

Bonds Arrive Middle Of June

Tuesday, June 16, the major part of the soldier bonus bonds and checks are due to reach Goldthwaite, by registered mail, and will be delivered as soon thereafter as possible. The letters containing the bonds can be delivered only to the veterans in person and the post office department requests that all veterans who receive mail on rural routes meet their carriers on June 16, to receive their bonds. No bond letters will be delivered to patrons residing on star routes, but such veterans will receive notices to call at their post office to sign for their bonds. No cash will be paid for bonds at post offices, but any post office where a veteran is known and can be properly identified is authorized to accept one or more of the $50 bonds from the veteran, for forwarding to Dallas, where a check for the face amount will be made out and mailed direct to the veteran. This check will be a regular government check, which can be cashed like any other government check. When it is realized that Mills county veterans alone will receive over $112,000 in checks and bonds, about two-thirds of which will go to the 150 veterans getting mail at the Goldthwaite office, it is obvious that the post office department could not undertake to provide the actual cash to redeem the bonds turned in by the veterans. Postmaster M. Y. Stokes, Jr., has been called to Brownwood today for a conference with post office inspectors relative to the proper handling of the bonds and will probably have a statement to make in next week's Eagle.

TOLBERT PATTERSON

Mr. Patterson has announced as a candidate for representative for Comanche and Mills counties and his announcement has been received with enthusiasm. He has been superintendent of the Mullin schools for several years and his record in the school work is of the best to be found. For several years prior to going to Mullin he was engaged in the schools of this and other counties and is universally regarded as one of the foremost school men.

Mr. Patterson was reared in this county on a farm and has intimate knowledge of the needs and resources of farmers and ranchers. He is a man of the highest integrity, with a broad view of public affairs and all who know him realize that he would make an ideal representative. His Mills county friends are enthusiastic in his support.

BROWNWOOD REGETTA

Brownwood, Texas, June 3.—Visitors to Brownwood's second annual Regetta and Speed Boat races, June 20 and 21, will find greatly improved facilities for handling the large crowds that attend the event. Native stone repair shops, concession house, dance pavilion and picnic structures have been constructed along the shore during the winter months by WPA labor. The parking grounds have been enlarged and cleared off underbrush, paved roads built throughout the park, and a water supply system has been installed. Numerous improvements will make it easier for spectators to witness the races and water events from more comfortable surroundings.

The races this year are attracting greater attention from speed boat racers throughout the southwest.

These events start promptly at 2 p. m. Sunday, June 21, with five races of two heats each. More than $700 in cash prizes will be awarded to the winners. Forty entries already have been assured. The two-day program will get under way Saturday morning. Regatta officials are expecting record-breaking crowds at Lake Brownwood for the two-day Regetta, which offers unique entertainment for residents of arid west Texas. Lake Brownwood, a 7,800 acre body of water, is one of the largest inland lakes in the state, and racing officials state its protected waters offer an ideal course for speed boat races. More than 10,000 people attended the 1935 races last summer, and preparations are being made to entertain larger crowds this year.

TEXAS ELECTION LAWS

Attorney General Wm. McCraw has published a book of Texas election laws, showing many oddities, while in the main the laws are plain and sensible. However, some of the oddities that appear are worthy of comment. As an example:

It is possible to elect a dead man to office.

A convict is liable for payment of poll taxes, even though his right to vote has been forfeited.

It is not legal to mark a ballot with red ink. Black ink or a pencil must be used.

To be legal, an election booth must be exactly twenty-two inches wide, thirty-two inches deep and six feet and four inches high, contain a shelf for the voter's elbow and be constructed with hinges so it can be folded for storage.

Election judges may arrest a man for drunkenness or disorderly conduct, but they must allow him to vote before going to jail.

LONG COVE

At this writing the ground is still very muddy and it looks as if we might get some more rain. We truly believe we have had enough rain for one time at least.

ROCK SPRINGS

Clifford Hicks and Miss Lola Waldon of London, Texas, were married Saturday night in London. He brought his bride to his home Sunday afternoon. We wish them a long wedded life. We welcome them in our community.

There was Sunday school Sunday morning with a few present. The town and all churches should be proud of the new Goldthwaite Methodist church. It is beautiful.

You who want to believe it can do so. Horace Cooke drove out a new car Friday. He is as proud of it as he was his first pair of long trousers. He intends to do some work on his car which will add to the looks. He intends to go to the centennial in it and there will be room for several to go along. I wonder who will be the lucky ones to get to ride in this new car.

I read in the Baptist Standard where our former pastor, Rev. G. C. Ivins, was called to the Rose Hill church in Texarkana. I hope he will have a nice church to preach in, like the one he helped to build at Whiteright.

I noticed in the Mullin news in the Eagle, where our friend Ben Patterson, has gone to Mississippi and Tennessee with his aunt, Mrs. R. H. Patterson, of Mullin. I hope he has a good time on this trip and he gets back without any car trouble.

Thanks, Long Cove, I am glad you are still enjoying my letters. I miss the news from there every week. I've also missed the little lady who used to write. I've decided she must have changed her name and moved off too far to write any more. Yes, I am anxious for our get-together this year. I hope some of the gentlemen scribes arrange for a program.

Herbert Cooke came home from Mount Olive Sunday evening. He taught school at Mount Olive. He will teach at Pecan Wells next year.

The Nickols boys are having a good time breaking wild horses for Joe Palmer and Jeff Priddy of Goldthwaite. Their mother doesn't enjoy it at all.

Jack Robertson didn't let the rain last week keep him from his work in town.

Rudolph Cooke helped Phillip and James Nickols Friday morning to pipe the water into their mother's kitchen. All of these boys would make good plumbers. Rudolph was the boss, so the work went off wonderful.

Billie Robertson from Whittenburg has come to spend the summer with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Robertson.

Horace Cooke made a flying trip to San Marcos Saturday afternoon. He came home Sunday evening. It was a pleasure trip, but not in his car.

Rudolph Cooke, Phillip, James and Shirley Nickols went to E. D. Robertson's Sunday afternoon for horses to take to town Monday for Joe Palmer.

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping the back to good health. . . . Mrs. C. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes "After the birth of my last baby, did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefits them. If it does not benefit you consult a physician.

The president of the American cotton manufacturers association, received assurance Monday that an attempt would be made to have the national Democratic convention platform propose exclusion of Japanese cotton goods from the United States.

The United States supreme court, which has ruled against federal efforts toward guarantee of minimum wages in the NRA and the Guffey coal cases, invalidated a New York state law for minimum wages to women and children this week on the ground that it violated individual freedom of contract.

Contract for erecting the crippled children's hospital and the negro hospital was awarded to Morgan & Son of El Paso on their bid at the meeting of the board of regents of the University of Texas in Galveston Monday. The provision was made that they may accept an alternate bid of $487,000 for the two buildings, if offered.

Judges with false teeth have no business hearing suits brought by dentists against patients who may have failed to pay for theirs, Justice John Onlon decided Monday in district court in San Antonio. Almost overlooked in the confusion of broken treaties following Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, another compact, of grave importance to the United States, is headed for the scrap heap. It is the 1930 London naval treaty, now being shoved into the discard by British initiative before the ink is hardly dry on its as yet unratified successor, the 1935 London naval treaty.

The federal treasury Monday awaited public response to Secretary Morgenthau's request for a loan of $2,050,754,400, largest in the nation's peace-time history. The financing is divided about half and half between new cash borrowing and issuance of securities to cover maturing obligations. Specifically, the treasury head offered $1,000,000,000 of securities for cash. They consist of $600,000,000 of 15-18-year bonds paying 2-34 per cent interest, and $400,000,000 of five-year notes bearing 1-3-8 per cent.

Legislation to fix the peace-time air strength of the army at 2,320 planes was passed Monday by the senate. It returns to the house, which had approved a figure of 4,000 air fighters. The present strength is fixed at 1,800 planes. The senate also passed a bill to authorize appropriations of $33,657,135 for construction work at army establishments throughout the country. It goes to the house. A third bill, passed by the senate and sent to the house, would allow an increase in the officer strength of the engineer corps from 415 to 600.

THE RECORD

By plugging tax leaks the 44th legislature made it possible to increase the scholastic apportionment three millions, increase rural aid appropriation two millions, accumulate a surplus of four millions in the available school fund and at the same time slice four and a half millions from the property tax load. This was the result of applying common sense to public business.

Your representative had an active part in all of this and a leading part in some of it.

Yours,
R. A. LUKER.

FISCHER FOR PENSIONS

Tyler, Texas, June 3.—F. W. Fischer of Tyler, who is running for governor of Texas on the platform of paying old age pensions in full, is spreading his philosophy of taxing natural resources from one end of the state to the other.

"A new source of revenue means a new deal for Texas," he says. He thinks prosperity can be returned through taking the tax off of land and putting it on oil, gas, sulphur, etc. This new source of revenue would provide means of helping schools, highways, the agricultural interests of Texas and the Texas consumers of gasoline who are now having to pay a tax of 4 cents a gallon.

Fischer, an oil attorney who gained fame as a constitutional lawyer in the legal squabbles over the east Texas oil field, dealt the first death blow to NIRA when the United States supreme court upheld his contention against section 9 (c) the oil provision of the NIRA.

Fischer was born in West Virginia, spent his boyhood riding bronchos in southwestern Oklahoma, and later studied law on the farm. He is a Mason, a Methodist and a member of the American Legion.

COTTON GROWING IN SOUTH AMERICA

Cotton . . . has never been appreciated as it deserves to be. Really, the government might do well to frankly subsidize cotton farming, to the end that twice as much cotton should be grown as is now the case. This would put the price of clothing down to a level where all of us would have a shift without waiting on the wash . . . But that would be only a part of the value derived from a thirty-million-bale crop. The seed would yield fats at such a price that everybody could have butter at 6c a pound—not regular butter, but vegetable butter, very good, too. The meal ground out of the seed, along with the hulls, would feed and fatten a million cattle on ten thousand hills. This would insure cheaper beef. In other words, a thirty-million-bale crop would put food, clothing, shelter within reach of every citizen earning as much as 50c a day. Would that be disastrous? Is cheap food, is cheap clothing, is cheap shelter a calamity in any nation? We don't know. We are all tangled up. We probably are bewildered and bemused.—State Press in Dallas News.

Legislation to fix the peace-time air strength of the army at 2,320 planes was passed Monday by the senate. It returns to the house, which had approved a figure of 4,000 air fighters. The present strength is fixed at 1,800 planes. The senate also passed a bill to authorize appropriations of $33,657,135 for construction work at army establishments throughout the country. It goes to the house. A third bill, passed by the senate and sent to the house, would allow an increase in the officer strength of the engineer corps from 415 to 600.

AMENDING CONSTITUTION

Texas must pass next November in the general elections on six more amendments to its too frequently patched constitution. With the exception of the proposal embodying material changes in the pardon and parole policy of the state, to which there can be little well-based objection, there is a good deal to be said for and against all of the amendments. The other five provide:

State liquor control by dispensary.
State teachers' retirement fund.
Compensation insurance covering state workmen.

Salary increases for governor, attorney general, comptroller, treasurer, land office commissioner and secretary of state.

Material changes in the legislature's house representation. If adopted, each of these six proposals will take their place as mandatory provisions of the existing constitution. All are important and no voter should go to the polls without having studied each carefully, making up his mind as to adoption or rejection. Each will be discussed separately by practically every newspaper in Texas and the voter should have no difficulty in understanding both the advantages and drawbacks involved.

The wholesale submission of six important amendments suggests anew that Texas requires a new, concise, flexible constitution, which would largely obviate the necessity of such proposals as those above. Such a document could be devised by a small, competent constitutional convention.

Well worth noting is the fact that the present six, the one affecting legislative representation is the only item that would require amendment in a flexible constitution, which would provide reasonable legislative powers for changes not necessarily fundamental.—Dallas News.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

TOLBERT PATTERSON

For State Representative 104th District

In announcing my candidacy for state representative subject to the Democratic primary, July, 1936, I wish to state:

I am a native of Texas and of this district. I received my early training from the public schools of Mills county. I have taught school in the rural and in the high schools of Texas for 12 years. Practically all of my life has been spent in the bounds of Comanche and Mills counties. I am acquainted with the people and with the problems of the people of this district, through personal acquaintance with the people and personal experience with their problems.

When I am elected, I will favor no special interests or special groups, but will vote upon every question that arises in such a manner as to promote the best interests of the people of the state as a whole and this district in particular.

I realize that no individual single handed may be able to do all the things which he desires to do, regardless of how hard he may work. I do pledge to the people of this district, however, that I will use every power which I possess to do those things which I think are for the best interest of the people I am serving, and to fulfill every trust that may be placed in me.

I further assure you that your help in this campaign will be deeply appreciated.

I favor:

- (1) An open fight against government extravagance. (I am against the creation of additional bureaus or commissions.) (2) Lowering of ad valorem, or property tax, on real estate. (3) I favor a complete revision of our present make-shift tax system. (4) The payment of property tax only to the extent of the equity possessed. (It is a gross injustice for an individual to have to pay taxes to the full value of property when he owns only an equity in that property, and is at the same time paying interest on the amount he yet owes.) (5) I favor an adequate tax on our natural resources to aid in the payment of old age pensions and in the reduction of ad valorem taxes. (6) I favor the payment of an old age pension up to the maximum as set by the constitution and to all individuals within the eligible age limit. (7) Careful and economical administration of old age pensions to prevent and eliminate graft and with the assurance that a maximum amount of the funds collected for the purpose go to the aged. (8) More state support for our public schools. It is only by this means that educational opportunities may be equalized. (9) I favor laws to insure strict regulation of the liquor traffic. Since the people of Texas have voted for repeal, control should be on a business basis as far as possible and the evils inherent in the trade should be minimized. Sincerely yours, TOLBERT PATTERSON

TYRANNY NOT PERMITTED

There has been more talk of dictatorial powers the past several months than has been heard in this nation the past hundred years. The rights and powers of certain commissions and boards have been questioned by many and certain phases have been submitted to the highest court in the land for interpretation. That court has not been slow to apply the constitutional limitations to all questions submitted, but laid down in no uncertain terms the lengths to which a commission may go in exercising its powers.

The decision of the court said that fear that some malefactor might go unpunished, "weights as nothing," against a just and strong condemnation of the means used to achieve the end, when these means are unlawful. The decision said in part: "A general, roving offensive, inquisitorial, compulsory investigation, conducted by a commission without any allegations, upon no fixed principles and governed by no rules of law or of evidence, with no restrictions except its own will or caprice, is unknown to our constitution and laws; and such an inquisition would be destructive of the rights of the citizen and an intolerable tyranny." Commenting, the New York Times said editorially: "To that declaration of principle a great majority of Americans will subscribe. The court had before it only a question of law, a single case. But it has warned all branches of government that even a short step in the direction of inquisitorial power must be resisted, lest it serve as a precedent for further advances in the same direction."

All of these incidents and efforts prove the truth of the proverb that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

PAYING THE BILLS

The thought that big business pays the greater part of the expenses of government, has been found to be erroneous to a considerable extent and it has been proved over and over that everybody pays part of the expense, no matter how the collection is disguised. The Charleston News and Courier gives a complete analysis of the tax matter that is decidedly interesting and states the case concisely. The statement shows where every dollar spent by the federal government in the last fiscal year was secured: Seven cents from personal income taxes; eight cents from corporation taxes; six cents from liquor taxes; six cents from tobacco taxes; seven cents from processing taxes; five cents from excise taxes; five cents from customs duties; three cents from estate and gift taxes; four cents from all other forms of taxes.

Practically every one of those taxes is, in fact, a sales tax. Each represents a part of the cost of the things we buy. Each one, with few and unimportant exceptions, must be and is passed on to the consumer. The total of the taxes listed above comes to just 51 cents, leaving 49 cents of each dollar unaccounted for. That forty-nine cents was obtained by borrowing—and when the day of reckoning comes, it will be the citizen of average means who will have to foot practically all of the gigantic bill. Big business is only the clearing house through which the collections pass.

NATIONAL INCOME INCREASING

It is generally realized that the country is coming out of the depression in better shape than could have been expected and is making much more rapid progress in that direction than one would have thought a few years ago, when everything and everybody appeared to be in the slough of despond, without apparent hope. But, presto, change: According to a preliminary estimate, the national income of the United States produced in 1935 showed an increase for the third successive year. It amounted to $53,900,000,000 in 1935 as compared with $48,600,000,000 in 1934 and with $39,500,000,000 in 1932, the low for the depression. The national income in 1935, however, was still considerably below the pre-depression level in 1929, when it amounted to $81,000,000,000. During the first quarter of 1935, the national income was higher than in the corresponding period of 1935. If this increase is maintained, the annual income in 1936 will amount to $58,800,000,000, according to high and dependable authorities.

On the basis of the showing made during the first quarter of 1935, the per capita income this year will amount to $459 as against $423 in 1933, $384 in 1934 and $316 at the low for the depression in 1932. The per capita income in 1929 was $677.

TEXAS TAX PLANS

Some of the candidates for state offices have announced tax plans in their platforms, but so far none has had the temerity to list among his demands the payment of delinquent taxes. Some have plans to prevent tax evasions and some advocate a search for other sources of taxation. Some of the plans are good and deserving of thoughtful consideration, but it is a fact that the plan to secure a collection of the taxes already assessed would benefit far more than some new system of securing taxes from the same sources already assessed. It is admitted that a hard and fast rule that would secure the payment of all taxes assessed is difficult to fix, but when it is known the delinquent tax records in this state for all divisions of government amount in round numbers to one hundred and forty million dollars, it is at once apparent that the collection of the amounts already assessed is the most important part of our taxing system. The candidate who can evolve a plan to enable the property owners to pay and the collectors to secure the money will do the state and its political sub-divisions a great service.

OPENING THE BIG SHOW

The main Texas centennial exhibition is to be opened in Dallas Saturday and it is a matter of pride for all the citizens of our commonwealth. It is the biggest undertaking of modern times and at the inception was looked upon as little more than a fantastic dream of some visionary individual, but it has come to be a reality. The expenditure of twenty-five million dollars in public funds has been necessary to complete it, but if the object for which it was intended is achieved, the money will have been well spent. Every section of the state should be benefited by this achievement and the results will be felt in future generations, for it will cause the people of the nation to hold Texas and Texans in high esteem for their enterprise and the wonderful advancement made in the last century.

TYPHOID CONTROL

"It is a well known fact that typhoid fever may result from the use of water, milk or other food contaminated by bodily discharges of patients or carriers who harbor typhoid germs," stated the state health officer.

"The fact that we know the source of infection and the means by which infection may be controlled, emphasizes the importance to all communities of providing water and milk of the highest quality.

"Texas is being host to many visitors this year, and all communities should put forth every effort to see that no epidemic occurs which will put an unnecessary blot on the health record of this state.

"Typhoid fever may be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk and clean foods, by the proper disposal of sewage, by screening homes against flies, by protecting food from contamination by flies, by destruction of the fly and its breeding places, by search for and care for carriers, and by anti-typhoid vaccination.

"Excreta from persons ill with typhoid should be carefully disinfected to prevent the germs from polluting the soil and thus being carried into streams or wells and contaminating the water supply. Where there is an efficient system of water purification, typhoid fever has greatly decreased.

"It is the responsibility of each community to establish adequate safeguards against the consumption of contaminated products at all times and in all places.

"It is the responsibility of each individual to further control the occurrence of typhoid fever by establishing immunity for himself by vaccination."

A REVOLUTION IN PLANT BREEDING

It has been only about 70 years since Gregor Mendel, an Austrian monk, discovered the basic principles of plant breeding. The progress made in cotton varieties since that time and something of its importance to the south is discussed in the Progressive Farmer in an article by David R. Coker, from which we quote:

"The first work of the breeders of economic plants in this general region was threefold:

"1. The separation of the many different strains or blood lines contained in most varieties;

"2. The testing and retesting against one another of the various strains; and

"3. Increasing the most productive and valuable strains without mixture with any others.

"This work was accomplished by using single plants, the seeds of which were grown in separate rows under uniform conditions, careful observations of each row being made throughout the season and accurate records being kept as to the qualities, characters, and yield of each row. The seeds of several of the best were then saved separately, these being (1) increased in larger separate plots the following year and (2) tested in variety tests against one another, the parent variety, and other varieties. As a rule, the two or three strains making the best records in this test were increased separately the following year and tested again in a variety test. The results of the three preceding years were then analyzed and the seed of the strain of outstanding record was increased for distribution."

WANT OF PROSECUTION

Three men, who had made written confessions to stealing and stripping a motor car, were dismissed in a justice court yesterday "for want of prosecution." The owner of the car notified the justice he did not desire to prosecute. But what had the personal feeling of the car owner to do with the case? If a theft had been committed, the law broken and the safety of society was involved. The men had admitted their guilt. It was up to the state to prosecute them without regard to the plea of the owner of the car.

Theft is not a private personal affair. The public as a whole is concerned that it be punished.

Repeatedly the efforts of the police are frustrated by the refusal of the victims of thefts to prosecute and the readiness of the prosecutor's office to let the

CONDITIONS IN TEXAS

The Santa Fe railroad bulletin for May says:

Rains in May saved the Texas truck crops, notably onions, potatoes and tomatoes. Harvesting on a small scale has started. Onions are of good quality and production per acre will be about an average for the five-year period.

Harvesting of potatoes has begun in the can-belt and Eagle Lake-Wharton areas; production fair; quality good.

May rains benefited East Texas tomatoes. Although early freezes cut the acreage in many sections, replantings have been sufficiently heavy to assure a crop equal to that of 1935. Movement of tomatoes has started.

Drier weather is needed in the cucumber, melon and cantaloupe areas of the Gulf coast. Insufficient aeration has resulted from wet fields. With favorable weather enabling farmers to cultivate these crops, conditions will improve. Movement of cucumbers has started in the Bolivar district, but maturity of the producing areas of Richland Springs, Bellville and Weatherford will be delayed until July 1. Production promises to be heavier than in 1935.

Late rains relieved drought conditions which have been holding up cotton plantings in many localities. A large acreage of cotton is up to a good stand, and planting now will be rushed to completion. Planting of cotton between onion rows in north Texas is continuing rapidly.

May rains saved the small grains of central and north Texas, but came too late to benefit materially the northwest and the panhandle. The estimated wheat crop has dropped from 13,000,000 bushels (official) to 10,000,000 (unofficial) for the state.

Corn and other feed crops have responded to moisture, and are doing well in many localities. Planting of feed crops in the northwest is progressing.

Garden and other truck crops are in better condition than in several years, and with continued favorable weather conditions, bumper crops will be produced in the truck growing districts.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR QUALITY

Southwestern farmers are capable of producing the highest quality of cotton, of grains, fruits and vegetables. It has been demonstrated that we can breed the best quality of livestock and that we can finish livestock for the market in a most acceptable manner. Improvement is now general throughout this territory, but our advance in recognizing the advantage of offering the market only the best has not been as rapid as the demand for quality suggests.

As stated in a special article in Farm and Ranch, an effort is being made to promote community or regional cotton of a uniform type and staple. If Texas and other southwestern states would plant 100 per cent uniform types of desirable staple length, according to the well defined soil regions, and confine their cotton plantings to soils adapted to that crop, buyers from all parts of the world would bid for the crop every season. We would not have to look for buyers to take our cotton at their own price. Buyers would come to the southwest ready and willing to pay us premiums. There would be no further discussion of a loss of our foreign markets.

The same may be said relative to our other products. If well-bred, well-fed cattle constituted the majority offered our southwestern markets instead of a very small minority, the demand for meat would be improved and a market established. If we graded our other products closely, disposing of the culls either by processing for home consumption, or destroying altogether, there would be fewer market gluts and better prices. Once a community or a region has established a reputation for the quality of its products, it finds a ready sale for them even though there is an over supply in some other sections. Quality seldom goes begging.—Farm and Ranch.

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest and Importance

PEACE IN THE AMERICAS

A draft agenda for the Pan-American peace conference to be held late this year at Buenos Aires has been drawn up by the governing board of the Pan-American Union on the basis of suggestions made by the 21 nations that are to take part in the meeting. It is an ambitious and comprehensive document. If acted upon, even in part, the conference will mark a great step forward in the direction of tightening the bonds uniting the nations of this hemisphere in a great fellowship of peace. The proposed agenda consists of six parts dealing respectively with organization of peace, neutrality, limitation of armaments, judicial problems, economic problems and intellectual co-operation. Some of these, like the proposals to promote closer intellectual and cultural relations between the American republics and foster increased trade and travel between them, can be dealt with incidentally to the main purpose of the conference. That purpose is the organization of peace in the Americas on a solid and permanent basis. The suggestions advanced for the achievement of that great aim vary widely in their nature, although united by a similarity of purpose. Some nations have proposed the re-examination of all existing peace pacts and agencies with a view to co-ordinating them in one well-knit whole. Others have suggested the creation of something like an American League of Nations; still others the establishment of an inter-American court of justice. Every one of these proposals is worth examining with the utmost care. It is a significant and heartening fact that at a time when in so many parts of the world discord and confusion appear to be the order of the day the trend in this hemisphere is toward greater harmony and co-operation. The very fact that the nations in their replies to President Roosevelt's invitation have not hesitated to make far-reaching proposals shows how eagerly they are looking forward to the Buenos Aires meeting to banish war in this hemisphere.—Washington Post.

EVERY MAN'S PAYROLL

Every man, woman and child in America has a payroll, whether he knows it or not. He may not own any property, he may not pay any income tax, or any taxes of any kind. All the same, he is contributing to the support of the 3,000,000 persons who are employed by our federal, state and local governments. These employees cost the country $4,000,000,000 a year. That money has to come out of the total earning power of the nation. Every man thus has a payroll. This in summary is one of the arguments put forward in support of its cause by the national civil service reform league.

That the league is undertaking a real campaign for reform is good news. The time is opportune. The people at last are becoming tax conscious. They are beginning to see that everybody helps to pay the huge bills put over on the public by the spoils system.

The league declares that 38 per cent of all taxes collected by our various taxing bodies is used to pay the wages and salaries of those on the public pay rolls. Of those gainfully employed in the United States about one in every ten is now deriving his pay checks from the taxpayers.

Until near the end of the boom years it seemed that genuine progress was being made in the maintenance of a merit system. Today the standards erected after years of struggle with the spoils theory have broken down in many fronts. Says the league: "In the 'recovery agencies' alone more than 200,000 employes have lately been added, nearly all of whom are exempt from the civil service law." The more abundant life of the spoilsman had arrived.—Boston Herald.

THE JAPANESE TARIFF RISE

It is unfortunate that the gentlemen's agreement under which imports of cotton cloth from Japan were to be limited has failed, and that the president has found it necessary to raise duties on all descriptions of cloth largely imported from Japan by an average of 42 per cent.

The textile industry has made a substantial case for revisions of import duties on certain descriptions of cotton cloth, in the light of our general protective tariff policy. However, regardless of the assertion of President Roosevelt to the contrary, there are good reasons for believing that a sharp rise in the cotton cloth tariff at this time will strain trade relations between this country and Japan. Already, dispatches tell of agitation by spinners there to reduce purchases of raw cotton in this country.

Japan imports more from the United States than she sells to us. In 1935 her imports from this country aggregated $203,000,000, while her exports to us were $153,000,000. For the first two months of 1936 Japanese imports from us were $13,356,856, while our purchases in Japan totaled $5,185,282. It is thus apparent that a large foreign market is at stake in our trade relations with Japan, a market that is especially important because raw cotton constitutes the chief commodity that Japan buys from us.

The present increase in duty followed the normal course of procedure in such cases. Numerous complaints were received by the administration concerning offerings of particular types of textiles below the American cost of production. The tariff commission made an extended investigation and the present advance in duty was ordered by the president on the basis of its findings.

It is to be hoped that the advance in the cotton cloth tariff is not the final chapter in the controversy, and that the matter will be settled on an amicable basis when a reciprocal trade agreement is negotiated with Japan. This will require an understanding attitude and restraint on both sides. There is nothing to be gained by reprisals and a policy of curtailing commerce between the two countries as a result of the president's move.—New York Journal of Commerce.

HOUSE HAS RECOURSE

As Representative Marion Zioncheck goes his fast and furious way, a great many people seem interested in why someone doesn't do something about him. Mr. Zioncheck has set a new high in the matter of asinities and indiscretions, to be sure, and there is probably room for suspicion that he hasn't really got started yet, either. He seems to thrive on notoriety and to find in each blatant absurdity the inspiration for another of even greater and more ridiculous proportions. He seems, offhand, a sort of combination of all the more offensive qualities of the famous mountebanks congress has ever harbored and without any trace, so far, of any of the redeeming qualities they had. The people of Mr. Zioncheck's district in the state of Washington will presumably take care of the problem if he offers again, but to some folks that seems an unduly long time to wait. The house has recourse, if it cares to exercise it, for the second paragraph of section 5 to the constitution of the United States is made to order for Zionchecks who may happen to get in. It says: "Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly conduct, and with the concurrence of two-thirds expel a member." There is always the lively possibility that some private citizen will obey that impulse and incapacitate Mr. Zioncheck, but if the house tolerates him any longer it is of choice and not of necessity. He has loaded the gun if the house cares to shoot.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

OLIVE BRANCH

Premier Mussolini in an interview reported in the London Daily Telegraph an olive branch to the nations, and takes peace under his own wing. There are two or three nations attached to the league must be withdrawn the sanction Italy and England. On his part Mussolini like to see an approach of a sort. Heassures England has no intention of plan troops in Italy of disturbing British waters of Lake T. he any intention of Egypt from Libya, withdraw the excess Libya when the B. is again in home. Furthermore, he assures nations of the B. ranean (Greece more especially) the more intention of war them.

These promises are rather empty. He promises that Italy is to undertake another of all with Great Germany, that Italy for economic and cooperation. Italy needs a loan badly a fundamental need to secure one from or Great Britain.

Mussolini's interview was given by arrangement to pave the way for Britain for peace organization of the ed practically by all portant members. It been for some time its fleet, two or three so that condition of process of fulfillment. The league's committee at Geneva June 16, though there is a real love feast. It been assured, if only Germany would kiss friends.—Dallas News.

WALLACE SCORES A POINT

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is on solid ground when he proposes that those portions of the public domain which are let out for grazing should be brought under one administration. As it is now, and long has been, part of the grazing land owned by the federal government is administered by the department of the interior and part by the department of agriculture. Varying policies of administration are not entirely to blame, but they must share in the responsibility for the almost continuous misuse of these public lands.

George B. Terrill of Cherokee, candidate for state commissioner of agriculture, was a visitor in Goldthwaite the early part of the week.

Fairman Marshall and wife have notified relatives and friends here of the arrival of a son in their home in Houston and they have named him William K.

Wastage, it is nothing short of an economic crime. Whether all the grazing lands should be brought under Secretary Wallace's department or under that of Secretary Icks, is a departmental problem to be worked out in Washington. But it is an important land-use problem and it does need to be worked out.—S. Louis Post-Dispatch.

J. H. RANDOLPH PASSED AWAY

Mr. J. H. Randolph, one of the best known business men of Mills county, died at his home in this city Wednesday morning about 5 o'clock and his remains were conveyed to Temple yesterday, for burial in the cemetery at that place yesterday afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. Randolph had the misfortune to fall at the home of a relative in Belton, where he was visiting, last week and in the fall his hip was fractured or cracked. He was given every attention possible at Belton and as soon as he was able to be moved he requested to be brought home, arriving here Sunday morning. All who knew of his condition entertained small hope for his recovery from the time of the accident and his going occasioned no surprise, although it was the cause of universal sorrow among all who knew him.

Mr. Randolph had been engaged in the lumber business here for forty years, having succeeded the J. I. Campbell Co. He also owned a lumber business at Mullin and at one time owned a dry goods business in that town and in Goldthwaite, but disposed of that line some years ago. He was one of the organizers of the Goldthwaite National bank and served as its vice-president for several years and was also a member of the board of directors. He also assisted in organizing the First State bank of Mullin and served as its president several years.

It is the universal opinion among all who knew him that no better man ever claimed citizenship in Mills county. He was ready to extend a helping hand to those in need and was never heard to speak ill of any human, no matter how grievous their wrongs might have been. He was a valuable citizen and a dependable friend. He is survived by his wife, one grand son and a number of other relatives and friends innumerable.

200,000 Gallons of Clean, Pure Water Every 24 Hours washes the Wheat used in—

Robin Hood Flour

In the giant wheat washers in the plant of the International Milling Company, Greenville, Texas, every kernel of wheat used in Robin Hood Flour is scoured and washed before milling.

As the wheat enters the cylinders of the washer, it is thoroughly drenched with constantly changing water. It is then whipped and scoured by beater blades. The sludge, smut and dirty water are carried away and a final rinsing spray of fresh water leaves the wheat bright and clean. Air currents dry the wheat as it is discharged from the wheat washer cylinder.

Why Wheat Is Washed

Wheat as it comes from the fields carries with it dirt and bacteria similar to the soil and scab which adhere to a potato when it comes from the ground. Only by thorough cleansing and scouring is this dirt completely removed from the wheat.

Clean, Pure Flour Means Better Baking Results

Because the wheat that goes into Robin Hood Flour is thoroughly washed before milling, you get a whiter, more pure flour. This results in better biscuits, cakes and pastry. They have an extra flavor and a lasting freshness. They have greater appetite appeal. Ask your grocer for Robin Hood Flour and be convinced.
