

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1936

NUMBER FORTY-FIVE

Office Goes Second Class

Goldthwaite post office has been promoted to second class. This is the second time it has been in the second class as it was second class two years under Postmaster J. Harrison, from July 1, 1931.

Changes in the conduct of the office have resulted from the promotion. The employees are required to maintain regular hours which total consideration more than they worked in the first class. By direct mail on Sundays has been discontinued, so that hereafter box holders will be required to secure mail on Saturdays after 10:30 a. m. for the present, the parcel post windows will remain open until 6 p. m., on the same as other offices.

Efforts are being made to give the office force to give the best service, despite the numerous restrictions imposed. Suggestions for improvement will be welcomed by the postmaster.

Sunflower Tea

The doors of the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Harrison were opened to the W.M.S. of the First church of Goldthwaite, Monday afternoon from 5 to 8 o'clock.

The program was good. Marvin Atnip makes a fine master of ceremonies. He enters into the spirit of the occasion and can put over the entertainment in exactly the right way. He was assisted by Mrs. Atnip, who also knows how to entertain.

There was a contest for the ladies of putting balloons in a basket by the use of fans. It was a hard contest, on account of the high wind. Mrs. Allie Mae Hicks Kelley of Fort Worth won first prize. It was a nice over-night bag. Second prize was won by Mrs. Mary Lou Grundy Barr, of Sherman. It consisted of a large box of stationery.

There was a sack race by some of the men and boys. Andrew Little, a visiting boy from Dallas, won first prize, which was a suadette zipper bag. Second prize was a walking cane, won by Ira Lennis Allard, of Dallas. Mr. Atnip, who is manager of the advertising department of Higginbotham-Bailey-Logan wholesale dry goods store in Dallas, and Mr. Atnip's wife furnished the prizes, also they furnished the seven-piece colored orchestra that furnished music that was actually music.

Mrs. Daisy Queen Milton of Arlington made the opening after-dinner address. Mr. Atnip told a joke on Waddy Ross also brought in a joke about Allie Mae Hicks Kelly, and then turned the joke on Darden Yarbrough of Arlington, who told a joke on himself.

Songs were sung by the assemblage, among them were: "There's a Long, Long Trail," "The Eyes of Texas," and "Brighten the Corner." Mrs. Lols Humphries Hicks accompanied on the piano.

Eugene Thompson of Dallas made a speech appropriate for the occasion. He said recently he was on his way to Goldthwaite and over the radio he heard the words and music expressing his sentiments: "On the Way to Home, Sweet Home." Some of his discourse was humorous, some sentimental and some sad. He said while he has been away from Goldthwaite a long time, a great part of his interest and devotion is still there, because of friends, a boyhood home, and a cemetery.

The next picnic will be the first Sunday in May, 1937, at the same location - Meadowbrook park at Arlington, Texas.

Waddy Ross and W. L. (Dock) Kelley, both of Fort Worth, will be in charge of the affair.

Waddy Ross and family left for McKinney, where he will be engaged in a meeting for several days. He stated he would be in meetings for about two months, but expects to be back home by September 1.

Soaking Rain

A slow, soaking rain fell here a good part of Tuesday and slow mist fell Wednesday morning, causing a great deal of much needed moisture, although it was not enough to cause the branches to run or put out stock water. The corn will be helped and all manner of vegetation will be revived.

Change Made In Bus Mail

Beginning July 1, the day mail at the Goldthwaite post office is being routed to and from Fort Worth via Comanche instead of Brownwood. Mail which leaves Fort Worth at 8 a. m. is now received in Goldthwaite at 1:30 p. m., instead of 6 p. m., as formerly, and the outgoing mail for Fort Worth and all out-of-state points now closes at 1 p. m., instead of 10:30 a. m., as it did when routed via Brownwood. Mail is received and dispatched on Sunday as well as week days on the new route.

By using the air mail, letters posted in Goldthwaite any time before 1 p. m., can be delivered in New York, Chicago or San Francisco the next morning.

Former Citizens Enjoy Picnic

The picnic at Arlington June 21, by former citizens of Mills county and friends and relatives was a success. The day was warm, but there was a breeze blowing and we had a good dinner. Plenty of ice water and lemonade.

The program was good. Marvin Atnip makes a fine master of ceremonies. He enters into the spirit of the occasion and can put over the entertainment in exactly the right way. He was assisted by Mrs. Atnip, who also knows how to entertain.

Mayor's Proclamation

Whereas, the growth and advantages enjoyed by this community have been largely augmented by the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railway, and who has made it possible to reach markets with our produce and our wares, and who have supplied our needs from other sources, and have furnished passenger transportation to our citizens; and

Whereas, the railroads increase property values, pay taxes and provide gainful employment; and

Whereas, they have built up a remarkable record of safe transportation, and in co-operation with other western railroads have (1) expended large sums in modernizing passenger equipment, including the air-conditioning of principal trains; and (2) have reduced fares and sleeping car charges, working ever toward the maintenance of both local and national prosperity; and

Whereas, the executives of other western communities, both state and municipal, have asked public recognition of the part played by western railroads of America in our wealth and welfare;

Now, therefore, I, H. G. Bodkin, mayor of the municipality of Goldthwaite, Texas, do call upon our citizens to take note of Railroad Week, July 13 to 18, inclusive, and to join in the celebration of that event.

S. E. Q. Club

Thursday evening, June 25, the club gave a tackey party at Mrs. Glenn Nickols.

After all the guests arrived we were seated on the lawn and played several games, such as, cross questions, crooked answers: what do I look like to you? And numerous others that caused much merriment.

Those present other than the club members and their husbands were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Morris, Miss Ethel Tyson, James Nickols and Austin Cooke.

Mrs. Wright was awarded the prize for being the "tackiest" one present.

Mrs. Nickols, assisted by John Earl and Janette Roberts and James Ralph Berry, served delicious punch and cake.

The club met with Mrs. Wright June 30 and pieced on the butterfly quilt.

Mrs. Wright served orangeade at the close of the meeting and Mrs. Eula Nickols played a tune on the organ while Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Joe Roberts "kept time."

Next meeting will be with Mrs. Joe Roberts, July 7.

Killing At Zephyr

Raymond Thompson, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thompson of Zephyr and nephew of the Eagle editor, was shot and killed on the street in Zephyr Tuesday night about 8 o'clock and Tol Beckham, also of Zephyr, was placed in jail in Brownwood charged with the killing. Funeral services were held for the young man Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church in Zephyr, conducted by Rev. Karl H. Moore, pastor of the First Baptist church of Brownwood, while Rev. Wilkerson of Blanket, Methodist pastor, had a part in the service.

Judge Miller is quoted in a newspaper report as saying he intends to convene the Brown county grand jury in special session Thursday of next week to consider the case.

Missionary Society

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet in regular business session on Monday afternoon at four o'clock in the home of Mrs. F. D. Reynolds. There is much important business to be attended to. All members are urged to be present.

PRESIDENT.

Baptist Church Revival Services

Revival services are to begin in the Baptist church Sunday, to continue through three Sundays.

REV. FRANKLIN E. SWANNER or until July 19. Rev. Franklin E. Swanner, the pastor, will do the preaching, while Evangelistic Singer Joe Trussell will lead the SONG LEADER JOE TRUSSELL song service. The church is making plans for a great meeting and the other church people and the public generally will be expected to take part and help in securing the desired results.

Baptist Reminder

The time has arrived for our revival. It will start Sunday. The first open air service will be held Sunday night. All the evening services will be out side.

We have as our guest singer Bro. Joe Trussell. He is one of the most popular singers in Texas. He is busy all the time. If you can sing he will appreciate your help. You cannot have a good revival without good singing.

One of the great indications of a revival is the interest in our prayer services this week. We have had prayer services each evening this week at 8 o'clock. These meetings have been well attended. As high as 40 being present. We will have our last prayer service tonight (Friday) before the meeting starts.

In the three years I have been here, I have never seen a more united spirit for a meeting. All our services will be brief. They will not last over an hour at any time.

I am very anxious that the people throughout the county attend. It will be fine indeed if our church can lead in having a great revival as we begin our associational campaign for the summer.

We are expecting you at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.

FRANKLIN E. SWANNER.

End In Sight For Bonus Bonds

Wednesday of this week was the first day since June 15 that no soldier bonus bonds were delivered or turned in for cashing at the local post office. To date nearly $45,000.00 worth of the bonds have been cashed through the post office here. While the big end of this money has been applied on old debts, practically every line of business has profited from the distribution of the money here.

Club Boys Attend Encampment

Twenty Mills county 4-H club boys and six club sponsors attended the district encampment at Lake Brownwood State Park Monday and Tuesday and report a grand time.

Swimming, ball games, stunts, boating, interspersed with educational lectures, made the meet a most instructive and entertaining event.

Mills county team played ball with other counties and two of them were on the all-star club team to play the county agents. They also put on a stunt and Professor Tesson led the singing.

Two hundred boys, agents and sponsors from 19 counties together with representatives from A. & M. college were in attendance.

Those attending from Mills county were: W. P. Weaver, Goldthwaite; Wayne Miller, Morris Sellers, Big Valley; Hugh and Winifred Soules, Star; Suey and Lorene Irwin, Marvin Nesbit, Pleasant Grove; Dale Young, Tom, Jack and Max Cooksey, Dennis Davis, Ernest Lynn Fisher, Rex Williams, Lloyd Carroll, Mullin! Durward and Elmo Fallon, J. C. Wesson, Oran Stark, Winifred Hagen, Center Point. Sponsors attending were: Lee Tesson, C. A. Stark, C. C. Wesson, James Soules, M. K. Masters and Tolbert Patterson.

Special music is had at almost every service. This special music is far above the average for churches of the smaller communities as is ours. Come out and see, and hear, for yourselves.

From now on through the summer we may expect much of our time to be taken up with supposedly political discussions. I said "supposedly." In the use of this term I am speaking in all seriousness. As a matter of fact, this will not be political discussion, as it should be, but rather a tirade against opponents who are striving to be elected, usually not upon their own merits, but upon the assumed demerits of their opponents.

We are sadly in need of a thorough discussion of politics, science of government, but when it turns into a campaign of vulgarity and false representation, it becomes inimical to good government, and is a heavy tax upon the patience of the public.

But recently an Irish friend of mine, who was reared in Berlin, and who has a seeming penchant for taking a crack at profound wisdom, made the following dissertation on some recent political actions. He said that each of two great political parties had invented a quip that seemed to be pressed into service to further political ends. These were: "Three long years," and "Eleven long years." This wise friend suggested as a substitute for both, "Two long ears, he haw, he haw, he haw." But it is not my purpose to deliver a dissertation on the political situation; this is only an introduction to what I desired to say in the beginning.

I was just wondering if the heat of the campaign was not going to turn the minds of our people away from the great moral and religious activities that ought to occupy us. This has been the history of the past, so far as my observation has enabled me to judge. I have never known a revival of religion, held any place, in any state, during one of these political campaigns. Possibly this has not been the experience of others. I am simply saying that this is my experience.

Let us take an interest in politics. I doubt if any man can be a good citizen who does not take an interest in the government of his country. But we can act like we had some common sense, and not conduct ourselves like a citizenship that has but recently made its escape from a lunatic asylum, or a home for the feeble-minded. This would help us wonderfully.

Go to church and Sunday school Sunday. If you are a member, it is your duty. If you are only a visitor, you will be welcome.

J. S. BOWLES.

Closed For Fourth

Most of the business places in Goldthwaite, and possibly all of them, will close Saturday in celebration of the Glorious Fourth. Notice of the closing was given last week by the secretary of the Retail Merchants association and it is likely most people secured or will secure their supplies in time to avoid inconvenience.

Absentee Voting

Monday will be the first day on which absentee voting is allowed in the first primary. If you expect to be away on election day, better apply to the county clerk for a ballot and deposit your vote before you leave.

Methodist Notes

The audience at the Methodist church was unusually large Sunday morning. It was pleasing to see so many visitors present; some of these were from other parts of the state. All these visitors are much appreciated, and are welcomed by the congregation.

The Sunday school is holding up well, notwithstanding the excessive heat of these summer days. Let all exert themselves to be present at all the services.

An item of special interest to church-going people everywhere is the music. Many times strangers, on visiting the community, ask where they can attend church where they have good music. For this reason the church that emphasizes this feature may greatly increase its congregation. What can be more inspiring than to have a good sermon, and then the song service fitted into it with appropriate songs, songs suited to the subject matter of the sermon? All this is helpful in every way. At this point it might be said that the choir at the Methodist church, even during these warm evenings, is meeting with a splendid degree of regularity and faithfulness to prepare the songs for the Sunday services. New song books are in the pews for the benefit of the congregation, so that all may join in the singing.

Special music is had at almost every service. This special music is far above the average for churches of the smaller communities as is ours. Come out and see, and hear, for yourselves.

From now on through the summer we may expect much of our time to be taken up with supposedly political discussions. I said "supposedly." In the use of this term I am speaking in all seriousness. As a matter of fact, this will not be political discussion, as it should be, but rather a tirade against opponents who are striving to be elected, usually not upon their own merits, but upon the assumed demerits of their opponents.

Care Prevents Many Accidents

Fourth of July is a safe holiday nowadays than it used to be—but it still results in a great number of deaths and accidents. The tragedy is that most of those accidents and deaths are preventable. You can have a "safe and sane" Fourth that is also an enjoyable Fourth—if you'll remember the following list of "don'ts":

1. Don't forget that the proof of Fourth of July patriotism is home protection.
2. Don't shut your eyes to the great Fourth of July hazards: Fireworks, automobiles, drownings, fires, firearms, falls, poisons.
3. If you must have fireworks, see that they are the safest procurable.
4. Tell the children why home fireworks are always dangerous.
5. Don't neglect to clear your premises of all rubbish.
6. Don't discharge fireworks near buildings. Get out in the open.
7. Don't let children play with matches. Keep matches out of their reach.
8. Don't let children throw sparklers. They remain hot some time and are dangerous.
9. Don't let children discharge fireworks unattended.
10. Don't let children stand too close to fireworks that are being discharged.
11. Don't let children pick up undischarged fireworks. They might explode.
12. Don't keep fire works in the home uncovered. Keep in tin box until used.
13. Don't forget, above all, that most Fourth of July accidents can be prevented.

Bus To Dallas

A school bus made a trip to Dallas Wednesday, returning Thursday evening, giving a number of school children and their chaperones and some teachers an opportunity to see the centennial. This is the second trip made to carry the school children to the centennial and gave many of them an opportunity to make the trip who otherwise could not have gone. Superintendent Smith and the school board are entitled to much credit for making these provisions for the children.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. J. W. Randles celebrated his eighty-second birthday Sunday with thirty-nine present.

Those present were: Edd Randles and wife and son, Jim Harmon and family, John Hamn and family, Edd Brownrigg and wife of Bangs, Clyde Brownrigg and family of Bangs, Jack Huffman and family, Will Horton, wife and baby, Johnny Brownrigg and family, Misses Oleta Atzman, little Billie Robinson. Mrs. M. T. Harmon and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Randles. ONE PRESENT.

Club Members To Meet July 8

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Mills County Hunting and Fishing Club has been called for 2 p. m. Wednesday, July 8, at the court house in Goldthwaite. Due to lack of a quorum, no meeting was held last year and all officers were held over for another year. Since then both the president and vice-president, L. E. Miller and H. B. Johnson, have died.

Cooking School

The Community Public Service Co. announces a cooking demonstration in their display room in this city next Wednesday, at which time a trained culinary artist will demonstrate the preparation and serving of different dishes. An interesting feature of the demonstration is that the meals prepared are to be given to members of the audience. These demonstrations are frequently made by the electric company and are always beneficial to the home keepers and attract widespread interest. Manager Long and Mrs. Cockrum will have everything in readiness for making the visit of the ladies pleasant.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

William Glenn and Harold Yarborough went to Austin Sunday for a few days visit.

Mrs. Austin Taylor of Eastland visited her mother, Mrs. A. C. Weatherby, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Pulliam and little daughter, Jean Randolph, and Mrs. Haskell Smith of Austin came in Monday afternoon for a visit with Mrs. J. H. Randolph.

Miss Thelma Coleman of Cometa, sister of Miss Annie Coleman of this city, was a pleasant caller at this office Saturday. Miss Coleman has recently purchased the theatre at Lometa and is well pleased with the business so far.

Rev. Franklin E. Swanner and family returned Friday afternoon from a visit to his parental home in Kentucky, where he was called several weeks ago on account of the serious illness of his father, who was much improved when Rev. Swanner left him.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scoby attended the picnic of the Mills county citizens at Arlington last week. They went from there to Dallas to visit Mrs. Scoby's sister, Mrs. Marvin Attrip, and to attend the Texas centennial. From there they went to Myrtle Springs. Mr. Scoby's home town, for a visit. Mrs. Scoby was formerly Miss Lols Sullivan of Goldthwaite.

Carroll Lowrie and his wife and son returned to their home in Corpus Christi Saturday of last week, after a visit to relatives here. They came to Goldthwaite to accompany Mrs. J. D. Priddy and Mrs. Mollie Lowrie to Dallas to see the centennial and after returning from the centennial city they spent a few days here.

ROCK SPRINGS

There were thirteen at Sunday school, four men and nine children. Seems like the wives and mothers sent their children and husbands and they stayed home to prepare dinner.

Saturday night the club members and their families enjoyed ice cream at the school house. There were one hundred present, if counted correct. We had white and pink cream with all kinds of flavors. Wouldn't it be nice if people would go to church like they will go to some kind of an entertainment. After the feast they gave the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson, a miscellaneous shower. They received many nice gifts. We had invited guests from Goldthwaite, Big Valley and Crawford Mills.

Joe Roberts and wife and John Earl and Janette and W. A. Cooke and Mrs. Eula Nickols had a nice time at the S. E. Q. club tacky party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nickols in town Thursday night. Mrs. Glenn Nickols sure understands making punch. It was fine with the cookies.

R. C. Webb had to call some help out to adjust their new windmill Monday afternoon. While the wind was blowing so hard it tried to run away with itself.

J. T. Robertson and wife and Billie were guests in the John Roberts home Sunday afternoon. Little Miss Janece Doggett of Coleman and Dwight Nickols and wife and Claudia Carroll from town visited in the Joe Roberts and Nickols home Monday night.

Jack Robertson and wife spent Sunday at Cat Claw with her parents and other relatives. Their friends and relatives gave them a nice shower.

Marion Jetton is working again this week for R. C. Webb.

Shirley Nickols helped R. E. Collier to stack oats Monday so as to have it ready for the thrasher.

News In Brief

Governors of twenty-five states have accepted invitations to visit the Texas centennial celebration the close of the fair November 23.

David M. Phillips, candidate for congress from the first district, Saturday announced his withdrawal from the race. Congressman Patman has too much for him.

A resolution calling on all states to adopt a uniform law for interchange of relief funds and "shipping" stranded and homeless families from one state to another, has been adopted by the Interstate Commission on relief.

Checks addressed to approximately 1,000 aged railway workers throughout the country were set up Saturday as the railroad retirement board pondered the effect of a decision of the United States district court at Washington holding the pension unconstitutional.

The Commodity Credit Corporation announced Saturday it will continue liquidation of its cotton stocks until mid-July 20, after which date cotton will be released from the pool except on payment of the full loan price plus interest and carrying charges.

More than $8,000,000 in damages suits filed against the government by four major airlines A Farley canceled their general air-mail contracts two days ago, were settled out of court by the new deal Saturday for less than 10c on the dollar.

Texas had a 41 per cent over-supply of farm labor on April 1 this year, according to figures compiled by the department of agriculture. The department reports that on April 1 the supply of farm labor in Texas was 99 per cent of normal, while the demand for labor on farms was only 70 per cent of normal.

The new Democratic national committee re-elected Postmaster General Farley Saturday as national chairman. The committee's action was unanimous on a motion by Guy T. Helvering, internal revenue commissioner and leader of a proxy from Kansas, a few minutes before his election. Farley again declined to say whether, or when, he would resign as postmaster general.

Charles Atlas, New York physical culturist, recommends a black telephone book placed on the floor as the only equipment necessary for reducing the female underplinnings. "Stand on the balls of the feet," says Atlas. "Then raise the body up and down 20 or more times a day, allowing the heels to touch the floor each time. This exercise will not only thin out the sides, but also develop attractive calves."

Bob Silver, who four times prepared to walk to the electric chair for the slaying of Roscoe Wilson, Fort Worth theatre manager, and then served a life sentence, will walk out of the Texas penitentiary July 11—a free man at the age of 33. Silver has been in prison nine years. Reprieves saved him from the chair three times. Then came the commutation of the death sentence to life, after he had eaten his "last meal." On June 6, 1934, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson commuted the life sentence to fifteen years.

Sylvan L. Orenstein is an insurance agent in Los Angeles, so he naturally would think of taking out a policy, just in case. His wife's mother once gave birth to twins and for fear multiple births are a family trait, Orenstein has insured himself for $1,000 against his wife becoming the mother of more than one child next September. If the work brings a single addition to the Orenstein family, he will be out $46.53, the premium he paid for the policy. Orenstein said doctors have told him one in every 89 births is a multiple and he considers he obtained good odds on the transaction.

A North Carolina convict, who escaped sixteen years ago got religion and returned to serve a life murder sentence, was paroled at Raleigh, N. C., Friday, but he still faces a ten-year prison term in Oklahoma.

Gen. John J. Pershing Saturday took his seat in the Academy of Political Sciences in France. The man who was commander of the American expeditionary force during the world war, was elected to the academy February 22. Henri Troughy, president of the academy, welcomed General Pershing with "appreciation to your nation, to your army and to you."

President Roosevelt Saturday discussed the middle west drought situation with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Chester Davis, former AAA administrator, at a White House conference. Secretary Wallace said that another conference would be held in several days to complete plans to combat the drought. He said he told the president he was planning to throw the entire resources of the resettlement division in the department of agriculture into the fight against the spreading drought area.

Scarecrows are going the way of wooden cigar store Indians because of inefficiency. Bureau of biological survey officials say devices which have only psychological effect on the birds, and do them no harm, are useless for any long period. The traditional figure of a man dressed in old rags is most useless of all since crows readily "catch on" and use it as a roosting place. A Washington scientist invented a flash gun operated by acetylene gas which generates from water dripping on carbide. This flashes with a loud noise periodically. It has proved effective only for a short time. Officials believe most farmers long ago abandoned scarecrows. The only good one, they say, "is probably a live man with a shot-gun in his hands."

The building of the Buchanan dam between Llano and Burnet will be expedited as a result of a change in the program this week, whereby the lower Colorado river authority took over construction of Buchanan and Roy Inks dams from the United States reclamation bureau. The Buchanan dam already is one-third complete, and work is due to start soon on the Inks dam, a few miles below. The Colorado river authority has a $20,000,000 public works loan from the government for a flood control, irrigation and hydro-electric program on the Colorado river. The case of the Texas Utility companies, which are seeking to prevent government participation in the Colorado and Brazos river projects, is pending in the District of Columbia supreme court, the trial being set for December 1. All work on the Buchanan dam to date has been preparatory, but as a result of the action taken this week, actual construction is expected to be under way shortly. The Buchanan dam, which is the largest of the series to be constructed in the Colorado river under the proposed plan, will be 10,000 feet long.

AMAZEMENT!

A newspaperman working now in Texas, a graduate from Harvard university in English, has been engaged in describing and attempting to interpret the universe from the atom to the remote galaxies of space, from Galileo's and Newton's mechanics to Eddington's expanding space and time and Einstein's relativity.

Such an endeavor is not an afternoon's amusement, it is the thoughtful labor of a true artist who "does not paint the picture on the canvas; he merely lifts, one by one, the veils which hide it." The picture is there, but it demands not only the artist to show it, but the seeing eye to envision it.

Here are the instruments that aid the eye in seeing into the unknown; the telescope, the spectroscope, the interferometer and the intricate devices of mathematics; atom smashing, analysis of wave lengths, x-rays, electron defraction, the quantum theory, the theory of probability—all these various theories and devices that science has brought forward in the attempt to understand a new and unsuspected cosmology.

It is an interesting and even stunning summary—the story, to date, of the endless quest that drives the scientific seekers forever on. It is not carried on for wealth, but from the desire to know and to understand. What is the meaning of it all? Why are we here? What is this universe in which we find ourselves for a few years out of the countless years stretching interminably ahead of us? Everything is far greater and more wonderful than we have thought. What is its inner meaning, the soul of its unfathomable mystery?

A German scientist once said that the word that expressed his feeling toward it all was—"amazement!"—Minneapolis Journal.

SOUTH'S CULTIVATED ACREAGE NOT TOO LARGE

The national co-operative council, composed of 4,000 farmers' business organizations, has announced a new farm plan for consideration by congress. One part of this plan states that the problem of crop surpluses should be dealt with by completely withdrawing from production the requisite number of acres instead of transferring these acres to other uses. Commenting on this proposal, The Progressive Farmer makes the following comment:

"Now it is entirely probable that such a plan as suggested by the national co-operative council would be found satisfactory in the corn belt states, but it would be less likely to work effectively in the south. First of all, it approaches our problem from the wrong direction. It calls for a reduction of our cultivated acreage, in the face of a cultivated acreage that is already too small to yield a decent standard of living for our farm people. What we need over most of the south is not smaller farms, but better balanced farms. We need that very shift of acreage to other crops that this plan inveighs against. If certain of the border states are included as southern, we have about half the farm people of the nation. The cultivated lands of the south are already overtaxed to support the huge population that depends upon them. It is doubtful if a smaller acreage can support our population in any condition but one of poverty.

"Farm management studies indicate quite clearly that a farmer must handle a reasonable acreage of cultivated land in the south and divide it by the total number of persons who are getting their living from this land, we find that here in the south, the number of cultivated acres per capita of rural population is very small in comparison with that of other sections of the nation. Unless many people are to leave southern farms for the cities, the present cultivated acreage will be required to maintain them."

In Our Office At GOLDTHWAITE

JULY 8

Opening At 2 p. m.

FREE—10 Dinners—FREE

Our staff home economist, Mrs. Dallas Plauche, is going to stage a novel demonstration of electric cookery. She is going to cook ten meals simultaneously in 10 NESCO electric cookers. She is going to do the cooking while you watch to show you how easy it is to cook with a NESCO; how it keeps the kitchen cool; how it eliminates guess-work and assures uniform results; how it cooks without attention; how it improves flavor by cooking foods in their own nourishing juices.

To prove her points, Mrs. Plauche is going to give each of the 10 meals away to someone present in the audience. She is going to invite them to take the food home in the cooker, compare its flavor with that of food cooked the ordinary way and then try the cooker for three days without obligation. You may be one of those to take home a free meal. Don't fail to attend.

When we announced in our letter last week that J. B. Jones of Brownwood would preach at eleven o'clock Sunday morning, we did not know that Bro. Tucker intended to preach then. Bro. Jones did not expect to preach unless the time was open. So Bro. Tucker's announcement will stand as it was in last week's paper, and he may have the time at eleven o'clock after communion service. Let's try to be there at ten o'clock for Sunday school. REPORTER.

SHERIFF'S SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS, County of Mills.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an order of sale issued out of the honorable district court of Mills county on the day of June, 1936, by the clerk of said court for the sum of twenty-nine hundred fifty four and 49-100 ($2,954.49) dollars and interest and costs of suit, under a judgment in favor of L. R. Wilkerson, in a certain cause and styled L. R. Wilkerson vs. Harmon Adair, and placed in my hands for service, I, J. H. Harris, as sheriff of Mills county, Texas, did, on the 29th day of June, 1936, levy on certain real estate situated in Mills county, Texas, and described as follows, to-wit: All of the right, title and interest of the said Harmon Adair, in the following described lands and premises, lying and being situated in the county of Mills, and state of Texas, to-wit: Being a part of lot or subdivision No. 22, of the Vegeral tract of land on the Colorado river, in said county, and beginning on the east bank of said river, at an ash tree, for the nw corner; thence east, with the divisional line of lots 22 and 24; 1.763 vrs. to a stone set in the ground for the ne corner, which is the ne corner of lot No. 22; thence s 220 1-5 vrs. to a stone set in the ground for the se corner; then west 1.763 vrs. to the bank of the river, a stone set in the ground for the sw corner, from which an elm tree is 72 x 9 1-2 vrs., another tree is 9 1-2 x 7 1-2 vrs.; thence up said river with its meanderings to the place of beginning, containing 100 acres of land, which was surveyed the 6th day of October, 1888, by the county surveyor of Mills county, Texas. Being the same land described in deed dated, December 7, 1888, from J. C. Peck and wife to H. T. Adair, recorded in Vol. 12, page 559 of the deed records of Mills county, Texas. Also all that certain lot, tract and parcel of land described as follows: Being a part of the Francisco Vegeral league in Mills county, Texas, and beginning at the se corner of a 100 acre tract out of the same league of land, sold to H. NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon one character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at this office.

PLACING THE BLAME

We hear much complaint about the constantly growing tax burden and much criticism of the taxing powers, but seldom indeed is the blame properly placed. Certainly, some officials and official bodies are liberal to a degree of carelessness in expending public funds, but in the main the blame lies with the public, because of the demand made for every manner of appropriation.

A BETTER OUTLOOK

There seems to be every reason for looking to the future with hope and assurance that the depressing experience of the past several years will not come to this generation—if it ever comes. It is an undisputed fact that during the years from 1930 to 1934, there was no sadder reading than the business and financial magazines. They were full of news, and practically all of the news was bad news.

AN UNBELIEVABLE RECORD

It is indeed unbelievable, even though it is true, that the record proves that the home is next to the automobile in danger to the individual. This conclusion is reached from figures recently released by the National Safety Council, covering the accident record during 1935, when accidents caused more than 100,000 deaths.

HELPING THE NEEDY

The criticism of the national administration for the immense spending of the past several years is justified to the extent that some of the appropriations have been misspent to a degree, yet it is universally admitted that without the government assistance extended there would have been wide-spread suffering. Some are even so pessimistic that they believe there would have been a revolution or something akin to it, had not the needy been given help during the years of sore depression.

MURDEROUS SPEEDS

"Accident Facts," 1936 edition, published by the national safety council, confirms last year's high record of 37,000 motor vehicle fatalities, a slight increase in the death rate on a population basis balancing a slight decrease in the death rate on a gasoline consumption basis.

They don't really want to have an accident, but neither do they sufficiently not want to have one. They take chances by going too fast; they pass others cars on hills and curves; they cross railroad tracks without looking; they do not slow down at intersections; they expect other drivers and pedestrians to get out of their way regardless of traffic conditions.

While accurate figures regarding speeds at which accidents occur are difficult to obtain, the council concludes from the information available from a number of states turning in detailed reports of accidents resulting in injuries that at speeds under twenty miles an hour only one such accident in sixty-one is fatal. In the next higher speed bracket, twenty to twenty-nine miles an hour, one in every forty-two is fatal; at thirty to thirty-nine, one in thirty-five; at forty to forty-nine, one in twenty-five; over fifty, one in eleven.

THIRTEEN REASONS

Why use newspaper advertising? Thomas F. Barnhart, advertising specialist and associate professor of journalism at the University of Minnesota, gives thirteen pertinent reasons. They are:

- 1. Newspaper reading is a universal habit. Newspaper advertising, therefore, reaches virtually all who read and buy.
2. A newspaper advertisement can always be seen by the reader.
3. The newspaper advertisement, as part of the complete paper, goes into the home as a welcome guest.
4. The newspaper advertisement can have as much news value and reader interest as the item.
5. The amount of text used in newspaper advertisements is dependent only upon the size of the space.
6. Newspaper advertising is flexible.
7. Newspaper advertising is quickly controlled.
8. Newspaper advertising may be adjusted to different conditions.
9. Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers and dealers to state where their products may be bought.
10. Newspaper advertising is inexpensive. Merchants have learned that it covers more families, for less money, than any other form of advertising.
11. Newspaper circulation is known and is comparatively unaffected by daily change.
12. Nearly all newspaper's circulation is concentrated in its own market.
13. Newspaper advertising reduces selling costs because it entails no waste in circulation. This helps reduce cost for the consumer.

ENJOY SUMMER

Schools are closed for the summer all over the state, and citizens interested in the welfare of the future generations are confronted with the fact that a vast amount of energy and ability may go to waste, if skill and patience are not employed in directing growing children in this play time season, according to the state health officer.

"The civic, moral and educational value of developing the natural talents of each child," he said, "has a far-reaching influence on the health, knowledge and character of the future men and women of this state. The child need not be directed in each little act that he performs. Let the summer vacation season be the time when the child has a chance to develop his own individuality. Many an artist, statesman or competent executive has come from humble surroundings. But looking back to this, we probably will find that this outstanding individual had a chance to develop his natural talent.

"It has been observed that children grow faster during the summer months than at any other time. This is explainable, perhaps, because it is then that they are out in the sunshine and fresh air. Good health is essential to physical and mental growth. The prime factors of good health are care of the body, nourishing food of the right kind, regular habits, sufficient sleep, rest and play and a happy state of mind.

"Of course, where the child lives and under what conditions, means a great deal as to the type of recreation he will find during the summer. The city child will look forward to trips to the country or hours spent in the play grounds and swimming pools. The child living in the country will have many things to do that will keep him in the sunshine most of the time.

"Let us all work toward the end that each child may feel at the end of summer that he has worked out some of his own ideas and dreams, and still developed his physical and mental capacities during these few months of play."

STATE COMPACTS

When Ohio completes a compact or treaty with other states of the Ohio river valley it will be the first instance in which this state has taken such action. More than 70 interstate compacts have been consented to by congress, beginning with one between Virginia and Kentucky in 1789.

The great majority of the earlier compacts between states, up to about the beginning of the world war, dealt with the fixing of boundary lines. Since then treaties have been negotiated among the states in larger numbers, and most of them have dealt with the re-definition of water rights, or fishing rights, or have provided for tunnels and bridges between states where the boundary is a river.

The clearest precedent for the compact anticipated in the Ohio valley is that of New York and New Jersey in 1835, creating an interstate sanitary district and a sanitary commission to administer matters of sewage disposal and to establish a long-range program for the purification of the water between the two states. Connecticut is expected to become a party to this compact soon.

It is worthy of note that the number of interstate treaties has been increasing steadily in the last 20 years, indicating that action on a larger scale than state legislation is required to deal with many pressing problems. As an alternative to federal action, which is too highly centralized, or to mere state action, which is inadequate, the procedure of interstate co-operation has a very wide usefulness.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest and Importance

SALARIES EAT INTO PENSIONS

Up to May, the liquor board had collected $2,166,020 at a cost of $168,786, which is a little more than 7 1/2 per cent. The available school fund got $268,006 of this and $225,130 went to the permanent old age assistance fund and $13,601 to the suspense account.

The amount available for the old age assistance is, or was $1,090,000. This was materially reduced by the expense of the old age assistance commission, with 432 full time and 24 part time employees. The salaries paid out to April first amounted to $78,532, and the amount of salaries paid during April was $66,781, a total of $135,313. The traveling expenses amounted to $1,382. This does not include the recent airplane trip to Washington of the governor, the chairman of the state pension board and the state labor commissioner, presumably on pension business.

The total of salaries and expenses of the old age assistance fund to May 1, according to the Texas Tax Journal, is $193,506. The total expended by the liquor board was $163,786. Before long, according to contracts signed by the state board of control, these two bureaus will be paying annual rentals of $18,900 to the American Publishing Co. of Austin for quarters in the new home of the American-Statesman.

Expenditures by the liquor board are necessarily large. Its employees number 164 full time and 12 part time workers, or did in April. It is probable all are kept busy and more may be needed. Some plan may be devised by which its work could be carried on at less expense, but none has been suggested.

Former State Senator T. H. McGregor has suggested a plan, however, by which the expenses of the old age assistance fund would be reduced to a minimum, and at the same time would make unnecessary the renting of quarters in the American-Statesman building. He would have the work now being done by examiners and investigators given over to the commissioners' courts of the state, each of them passing on the applications of the aged in its county. Disputed decisions would be referred to the district courts.

It is a sensible plan, a practical and economical plan, one that would prove both efficient and satisfactory. Members of the commissioners' courts know the people in their communities; it is part of their work to do so. They are certainly in better position to pass on the applications for pensions than clerks in bureaus who, at best, can do the work merely as automatons.

If it is necessary to amend the old age pension statute to change the method of receiving and acting on applications for pensions the law should be changed when the legislature next assembles.—Austin Dispatch.

CHIEF KEPT HIS WORD

The story of Chief Joseph Nepeca, warrior who made plenty of trouble for United States troopers some decades ago, and the faithfulness with which he kept his word when finally constrained to give up the warpath, are recalled by a recent writer.

On the spot in Montana where he surrendered to General Miles more than 50 years ago has been erected a monument to his memory, on which the following is inscribed:

"Chief Joseph was a military genius, courageous and humane. Presenting his rifle to General Miles, with his right hand upraised, he proclaimed: 'From where the sun now stands, I will fight no more forever.' He kept his word."

Although many would class Chief Joseph as a savage, he had a high sense of honor. His word, once given, was inviolable. It would be a wonderful thing for this old world if the so-called civilized nations which signed the Kellogg peace pact would, like him, keep their solemn word.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

WHERE CAN YOUNG PEOPLE LOCATE?

An editorial writer for an Illinois weekly newspaper discussed recently the continuance of education for those high school students who are graduated in small towns this and next month.

The young folks themselves, he concluded, should be the ones to determine their future course. Those who could financially afford it were urged to attend college as a further preparation for earning their way in life.

Another problem that arises at this time of year, every year, but of more concern during the recent depression years, is where the graduate of a small town who is finishing either high school or college and is ready to begin work will find opportunity for earning a livelihood.

This is not only a personal concern of the young people, but it is of deep interest to those people who have enough public spirit to want to see their community progress.

In the past years, there have been too few opportunities for the young people in the small cities and this lack of opportunity has sent too many high school and college graduates who were reared in the rural communities and towns into the big cities.

Private initiative has not solved this problem in the past. Since the government has become more concerned within the last few years in a planned society and has announced an interest in the small communities here is a place to start. Young people who are ready to settle into a job and to start a home are a real asset to any small community and most communities need more of them.—Granville Mercury-Independent.

BACK TO THE LAND

The long-heralded back to the land movement has gotten under way, according to the census bureau report of a farm population of 31,800,907 in 1935. This is an all-time high figure for this country. Along with the addition of more than 1,333,000 persons to the farm population in the last five years comes the information, however, that the principal gains have been made, not in the traditional farming areas, but near the large industrial centers. This points to intensive cultivation of small pieces of land for truck gardening near large market centers.

The figures also reveal a definite check of the drift of farm boys and girls to the cities and a return to the farms of many of those who had sought the regular pay checks of city employment. When industry was booming and factories were running in double shifts, the movement from the farm was pronounced, but the disillusioning effects of the depression have restored many prodigals to their farm homes, and have also brought tenants again to unoccupied and abandoned farms. This is particularly pronounced in New England, in the southern Appalachian section and in eastern Ohio. The development of subsistence farming has had its effect in the healthful increase of those turning to the soil for their living. It is noted that even in drouth areas, where some farmers have become discouraged, the population trend is not toward the city, but toward the farm regions which give promise of profitable crops. For many years this country was predominantly agricultural in its residence, its resources, its outlook upon life. The machine age, with its growth of cities, changed us to an urban population, and so we will remain. Yet when one-fourth of the people can be classified as farmers, devoted to the essential business of producing food, it is evident that there can be no successful national economy which is not based upon prosperous agriculture. It is trite to say that farm and city stand shoulder to shoulder, linked by an indissoluble bond of common interest—trite, but forever true.—Omaha World-Herald.

Most of the other officers are holdovers, Center City lodge, the oldest active Masonic lodge in Mills county, has had a prosperous year. L. B. PORTER, Retiring Worshipful Master.

Holiday Closing

The post office will be closed all day Saturday and rural carriers will observe the holiday, but star route carriers will make their routes as usual.

J. D. Hancock of Big Wells visited Jack Burns the past week.

Jars Blow Up

Mrs. Fisher Wigley, whose home is in the bayou country, in the western part of the county, was brought to town Wednesday for attention by a physician because of an accident in her home that morning, when two glass fruit jars exploded, scalding her about the face and upper part of the body and causing several cuts in her face. She was painfully hurt, but it is hoped there will be no lasting injury.

Mrs. L. B. Porter and Miss Lora Newton were among those who attended the centennial at Dallas Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Reynolds and little daughter returned Monday from a visit with her mother at Dublin.
