

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 24, 1936

NUMBER FORTY-EIGHT

Business of Goldthwaite Merchants Is Improving Steadily

Eagle Will Continue Under Mrs. Thompson

The Goldthwaite Eagle will continue publication under the general management of Mrs. R. M. Thompson, and, as announced last week, the general policies established by Mr. Thompson as a result of more than a half century of fruitful newspaper experience, most of it in Goldthwaite, will be continued.

While we feel that Mr. Thompson's sudden death on July 14 was an irreparable loss both to the paper and to our community, it is our desire to honor his memory by carrying on his work. Improvements in the paper will continue to be made whenever justified, but the Eagle will remain a home town paper owned and operated exclusively by Goldthwaite people for the benefit of the citizens of Goldthwaite and Mills county. With the aid of competent assistants, we expect to publish a newspaper of which its readers may justly be proud.

The Goldthwaite Eagle is fortunate in being free from entangling alliances or influences which might affect its fair and impartial presentation of the news. It is owned solely by the undersigned, and has no outstanding indebtedness. It is still more fortunate in possessing the genuine good will of the people here. Your kindness and your co-operation during the past trying week have made us more determined than ever to continue to merit your good will and your patronage. Your suggestions will at all times be welcomed. While we know that, on many issues, honest differences of opinion on the part of our patrons will make it impossible for us to please everyone, we shall always rigidly respect the rights of all and continue to be fair to both sides. Fairness, completeness and regularity will remain our guiding principles.

MRS. R. M. THOMPSON,
Editor and Publisher.
MRS. M. Y. STOKES, JR.,

Church of Christ Will Have Revival

Elder Lynn V. Noble of Burnet and Arthur Stark of Valley Springs, who conducted a revival meeting here last year, will open a meeting at the Church of Christ Friday night, July 31, to continue through August 16.

The Church of Christ tabernacle invites everyone to attend this meeting and invites all of those who took part in the meeting last year to co-operate this year to make the meeting a success.

Interview Shows That Conditions Are on Upgrade

Expressing an impressive optimistic trend in every line of business, the business men of Goldthwaite are looking with a great deal of satisfaction on business conditions during the ordinarily slow season of mid-summer.

On the eve of the Democratic primary election to be held Saturday the business men are satisfied with the condition of the country and express bright prospects for the fall business.

Goldthwaite stores are among the most modern in this section of Texas and the complete and well arranged stocks of merchandise and the alert proprietors reflect that not only the surrounding trade territory has been responsible for good business conditions but the merchants have seen to it that their customers have gone away satisfied and have invited them to return to make Goldthwaite their trading center.

Individual expression from representative business men in Goldthwaite are as follows: Trent State Bank—W. C. Dew, president—Deposits are the largest in the last 10 years and loans are getting less. More than $700,000 is on deposit and everyone is in a good humor and conditions are favorable for the future.

Little's—Tom Toland—Mr. Toland does not know anything bad about Goldthwaite and would not tell it if he did because he said that when a man gets to talking about his home town, he is talking about himself. He said that business conditions are better and that people are demanding a higher grade of merchandise and are willing to pay for it because raw materials are bringing much higher prices. Goldthwaite's trade territory is growing steadily, he said, and better transportation facilities and better roads are an asset to business.

Fairman's—Earl Fairman—This store has more tractor prospects now than it has ever had in the history of the business. Business is good and tractor farming is growing steadily among the farmers because of the low acreage cost of using machinery to cultivate land.

Saylor Chevrolet Company—Kelly Saylor—The best business since 1929 is being enjoyed by this organization and the outlook is good for the remainder of the year. Mr. Saylor is unloading a carload of Chevrolets this week and since the factory is catching up with sales, he will have a complete showing of cars from now on.

Hudson Bros. druggists—Dow Hudson—Business for the last two years has been steadily improving and getting better all of the time. The trade territory is enlarging and the town business is getting better. A vast increase has been made in the number of prescriptions filled. Mr. Hudson has been making many improvements in his store and has added shelving, new linoleum and made improvements at his popular fountain.

Long and Berry—Curtis Long—Since this store has remodeled its building, an increase in business has been noted. Wonderful increase in business has been noted in the last sixty days. Lee Berry is busy with the livestock part of the business and is glad to see the ranchmen getting good prices for their livestock. Stockmen have bought more salt at this store in the last half month than they formerly purchased in 6 months.

Simpson Bakery—Roy Simpson—This is one of Goldthwaite's few manufacturing plants and enjoys a nice business from this town as well as having distribution in many neighboring towns. This sanitary bakery makes good quality products and its business is increasing.

Weatherby Auto Company—Walter J. Weatherby—Ford sales have been steady and the farmers and ranchmen are getting more and more interested in buying Ford pick-ups for convenience in the operation of their farms and ranches. Prospects are good for future business and Fords are available to all prospects since the production is keeping up with the sales.

Mr. Sellers was driving alone and was brought to Goldthwaite for medical attention by two passing motorists. His condition was summarily analyzed here and then he was taken to a Brownwood hospital.

His injuries consisted of a broken right leg, crushed ribs, head injuries and other body bruises. He was unconscious when brought to Goldthwaite and was quickly removed to a hospital in Brownwood where he was x-rayed and given surgical attention.

South Speaks Citizens Here

The new management of the Eagle has very generously suggested that the writer of these notes continue as in the past. This, I shall endeavor to do, at least for the present, and gladly so. This simply indicates that the Eagle, as in the past, is desirous to carry out the policy which so long obtained in the management, of devoting some space to the churches and schools of the county.

Charles L. South of the regional district, was here Tuesday afternoon addressed a group of citizens of the Trent district.

TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

Summer finds both new and unusual fashions displayed in the stores and you wouldn't believe it, but bed-ticking and sheeting take high honors this week as the unusual in dress materials. The fabrics, long heralded as a domestic standby, are blossoming into the latest suits and blouses for the season.

Blue and white striped ticking (called roamer cloth this season) make a smart sports suit with a youthful belted jacket and a slim skirt with a kick pleat. With it you can wear a skirt of marine blue or lemon yellow ticking with a matching casual hat and gloves.

Another headliner of the season is the tropical cotton print in two-piece culotte for bicycling beach-combing or other summer sports. This one has a bold leaf pattern in blue and white on a wine background, is guaranteed immune to sun and tubbing and is austere tailored. It's made with a manish shirt waist and slightly flared culotte skirt.

Hats are another fashion item that is demanding attention this season. Lace hats for summer evenings are back in style and huge wide away hats with alluringly large brims are proving even more popular than last year.

Some of the famous designers are showing a collection of wide brimmed hats with ostrich feather trimmings.

MEDICAL PROGRESS

The progress of medical and surgical science is likely to be overlooked, unless we recall that only a century ago wounds commonly were treated with vinegar or rum or politices of gunpowder and cabbage leaves, that sterile bandages and surgical instruments were almost unknown and that childbed fever took a frightful toll among mothers. Some of the early settlers of Dallas were persons who fled in terror from plague-stricken cities of the Mississippi.

As a result of recent medical progress, the average span of life has been greatly lengthened—this in spite of the counter-influence of reckless motorists. Today's child has nearly twice the normal expectation of life as one of a hundred years ago. Several serious diseases have been banished from the country, and others have become almost unknown.

Some ailments still appear to defy medical cure, but it is not unlikely that laboratory experiments now in progress will overcome even the most stubborn diseases. When this is done, medical progress must necessarily turn more to the economic problem of providing proper treatment and care for those unable to pay current charges.

The conservative faction of the medical profession has been much aroused in the last few years from fear of what it has termed, not quite correctly, the socialization of medicine. Some would have us believe that a doctor who received a salary instead of fees would lose his professional status. That has not proved true, however, of the preacher who prefers a salary to alms, the professor who sells his services to a university—even a state university—or the lawyer who serves a corporation or a branch of the government.—Dallas News.

ROCK SPRINGS

Our town and county was shocked last Tuesday when we learned about our editor's death. Mr. Thompson will be missed in our town and county. He was a friend to everybody. It is your loss and heaven's gain.

This community extends its deepest sympathy to those whose loved ones passed away last week: Mrs. Thompson, the Petrick family, John Heathley and wife, Jim Corts and children. My God's richest blessings rest on each of you is our prayer.

A middle-aged, unidentified man leaped to his death Friday from the Colorado street bridge, the graceful span that has drawn civic argument on whether it should be made suicide-proof. Police records listed him as the seventy-sixth victim since the bridge was built twenty-three years ago.

Sixty new, speedy fighting planes will zoom into the air every month during the rest of the year under perfected war department plans. The record of two plane deliveries a day, army air corps officials said Friday, has been made possible by the smooth functioning of a new purchasing plan started by Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war. Before the end of the year, 500 new planes will be ready for action, officials said. Plans have been made for the purchase of more than 600 planes of various types in 1937.

Edward VIII of England, a king for almost six months, rode unharmed last week into range of a loaded, leveled pistol which was knocked from the hands of a London malcontent. The pistol, taken from the hand of its crippled, baldheaded owner by a middle-aged heroine in gray, clattered harmlessly to the roadway behind the king's horse on crowded Constitution Hill. The malcontent, George Andrew McMahon, was whisked to a Bow street dock, wailed: "I didn't want to hurt him. I only did it as a protest!"

The seventh grandchild of president Roosevelt, a boy weighing 6 pounds 12 ounces, took his first look at the world July 15 from a hospital in Fort Worth. The child was named Elliott Roosevelt, jr. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt were notified by wire immediately after the birth of the baby and congratulatory messages from both of them received Wednesday morning. The president's congratulations were radioed from the Sewanna, a schooner on which he is vacationing. Mrs. Roosevelt's message came from New York.

A new drought-resistant corn, which may be the remedy Texas farmers are seeking for continued losses in this crop from lack of precipitation, was displayed in the agricultural department of the Dallas News Saturday by H. M. Ferrell of Whit, Parker county. This corn is a cross between Uncle William sweetcorn and Indian Squaw corn. Yield has been increased from one to two stalks to grain to three and five stalks; from one or two ears to a stalk to eight or twelve ears. During the last year Mr. Ferrell has shipped seed to points as far as Minnesota in the north, to several states of the corn belt and to practically all of the states of the southwest. He planted some of his corn March 30 and did not get any rain until May 7. On June 10 he had fully developed roasting ears. Extreme hot weather lately has been hard on most of the corn in Parker county, but his variety has withstood lack of moisture phenomenally. The crop when matured can be ground up with stalk, foliage, cobb and corn as feed. Cows will fight over it, Mr. Ferrell said. Feeders who change from another system to the use of this corn notice improved flavor in milk and increase in butterfat proportions.

You get the low down on bees at the Texas Beekeepers association exhibit at the hall of agriculture at the Texas centennial exposition.

A queen is never selected after being born. Her majesty is chosen while she is still an egg. When the bees elect a queen they pick out an egg and surround it with the sweetest of sweets to appease the royal baby's first appetite.

A queen bee only mates once in a life time. She spends the Warning

It has come to my knowledge that a former employee is testing eyes and fitting glasses without a Texas optometry license and representing he is connected with me. I have never had a man representing me in that capacity. I have always personally done my own eyesight fitting and will continue to do so. Any person claiming to represent me as stated above is an impostor and the sheriff should be notified.

SUMMER BEVERAGES

When the heat of summer becomes so torrid you feel you just can't eat anything, try an ice cold beverage. Juices left from canned fresh fruits can be utilized when the intense heat creates a loss of water from the body. They can be used as a foundation or added to a tea base to make appetizing drinks at meal time or a cooling draught on a hot afternoon.

Usually a blended flavor is more pleasing, so two or perhaps even three varieties can be used to an advantage. A good general proportion is one half fruit juice and one-half water or other liquids such as cold tea or ginger ale. Some lemon juice should be added in every case as it brings out the flavor of the other fruits. Jams, jellies and preserve may also be used by adding water and straining. Beverages of this sort should not be too sweet.

Tasteful fruit juice combinations are: pineapple juice, apricot juice, lemon juice and ginger ale; lemon juice, orange juice, spices and tea; orange juice, pineapple juice, lime juice, tea; peach juice, fresh grapes, lemon, ginger ale; sour cherry juice, grapefruit juice, lemon juice, tea; strawberry preserves, lemon, water.

Grapefruit juice punch: One cup grape juice, 1-2 up lemon juice, 1-2 cup tea, 1-2 cup carbonated water, 1-4 cup sugar. Plain water or tea may be substituted for the carbonated water if preferred.

Orange delight: Juice of three oranges, juice of one lemon. Measure and dilute with equal volume of water. Add one third cup of sugar, some mint leaves and a red cherry in each glass.

Pineapple lemonade: Juice of three lemons, 1-2 cup of pineapple juice, 1-2 cup or more of sugar. Equal volume of water.

Lampasas is sponsoring a three-day racing meet Aug. 5, 6 and 7. There will be five good running races each day in the Lampasas racing plant, one of the best in Texas. The whole park has been worked over and is in tip top shape for the program. Some seventy-five horses have already been booked for the occasion.

BUS TRIP POSTPONED

The bus trip for school children to the centennial as announced by Superintendent A. H. Smith for this week has been postponed until next week on account of storm damage last Monday night to the centennial buildings. Mr. Smith states the trip will be made next week just as it had been planned for this week.

Complimentary to our fellow townsman, Fred Martin, the Tuesday's San Antonio Express carried a splendid picture of him with other salesmen of the A. B. Frank company, who are celebrating their 32nd anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Montgomery and children and Mrs. J. D. Weems of Shamrock spent several days this week with Mrs. C. E. Bayley, on their way to Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Duke returned Wednesday at noon from a ten-day vacation trip to Houston and Goose Creek, visiting with their sons and families.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Atinip of Dallas were called to Goldthwaite this week on account of the death of her father, Wiley Sullivan.

G. M. Long of Stanton and Joe Sellers of Big Spring were called to Goldthwaite this week on account of the death of Lem Sellers.

Oscar Bodkin and family have returned to their home in Bardwell, Ky., after a pleasant visit with Mr. Bodkin's cousin, Mayor Bodkin. They returned via Dallas where they will visit the centennial.

Mr. and Mrs. Tamin Vick and two daughters of Batesville, Miss., Trenton Smith of Caldwell, visited Mrs. J. H. Randolph Sunday.

The Eagle is prepared to do job printing of every kind and always appreciates an opportunity to quote prices on anything in the printing line.

SAFE DRIVING

Millions of motorists will take to the open road this summer for vacation trips. Some will start with no preliminary preparation of their cars, others will make sure beforehand that all is well mechanically. The chances of enjoying a 100 per cent pleasurable tour are strongly with those who carefully groom their cars for the trip. In fact, "tune up before your tour" is advice that, if followed, will do more than any other one thing to make a motor trip a real pleasure trip, writes the service department of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

Many drivers who use their cars daily for only a few miles in their regular routine, with never any trouble, do not realize that a car that seems to work well in the city may be quite unfit to undertake long-distance trips. Little faults that need correction remain unnoticed through months of ordinary driving; when the car is suddenly called upon to work at full power over long periods, these little faults may develop into bigger faults that detract largely from the fun of motoring.

Both safety and leisure are at stake when vacationists start out without having their car carefully inspected and its faults corrected. The principal safety items, of course, are brakes and steering—and in most cases simple adjustments are all that they require. Good tires are required for both safety and pleasure. All lights should have good bulbs and headlight beams must be properly adjusted. New windshield wiper blades are not costly, but are of much value when needed.

For comfort and uninterrupted pleasure, everything should be done that will guarantee continuous travel without enforced halts. A motor tune-up is one of the best of precautionary measures. The battery should be checked carefully and the generator charging rates adjusted for road distance running at good speed. A complete change of lubricants in crankcase, a transmission and rear axle is recommended and, of course, a thorough greasing of the chassis. Shock absorbers always are subjected to severe use on a vacation trip over strange roads, and should be adjusted before the departure.

For some strange reason, vacation motorists are always greatly surprised to find that cars that have seemed all right at home "heat up" as soon as they get out on the open road. They have overlooked the fact that the faster the run and the heavier the pull, the more heat the engine develops and that the cooling system that was good enough for runs to the office and the country club may not be up to the job of carrying off several times as much heat on a long climb in the mountains. To function properly, the cooling system must allow free circulation of the water, which call for a clean radiator and good rubber connections, with renewed or tightened pump packing. Highly important, too, is the proper adjustment of the fan belt, which on long, fast runs must carry a far greater load than in city driving.

Incidentally, bodies that seem dead silent on city boulevards often reveal an astounding variety of squeaks and rattles when the car really gets going. It will add a lot to the vacationist's happiness if he will have the body bolts tightened, door hinges and catches tightened and oiled and everything made snug.

Missionary Society

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. Henry Martin Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. C. E. Bayley will have charge of the program.

TRANSFER NOTICE

All parents wishing to transfer school children from one district to another must do so before August 1. This applies to high school pupils as well as others.

TREASURE SHIP FOUND BY DIVER

Fort Isabel, Tex.—What may be the hull of a Spanish ship laden with lead and silver is being investigated by a deep-sea diver here.

The Hopper dredge Galveston has continually suffered equipment damage while working near a certain point off the south jetty, according to reports, and a diver was ordered to Port Isabel by the United States engineering department Monday to submerge and investigate the obstruction.

Rough water and high seas Monday made it impossible for the man, Diver Jorgenson of Corpus Christi, to explore the floor of the Gulf at this point, but Tuesday he made a 10-minute dive. Upon his return to the surface he said he found what might be the hull of a two-masted schooner, but conditions made it impossible for him to be certain. A second and longer dive will be made when the Gulf is calmer.

H. A. Trevillyon, resident engineer of the United States engineering department, Brownsville, said that it might be a sunken schooner, but that the engineers could not be sure and explained the diving as merely preliminary work to removing whatever the obstruction might be.

Pioneers, upon hearing of the diving, recalled the sinking of a Spanish or Mexican ship before the civil war.

MODEL AIRPLANE TO FLY

Major Al Williams of the National Aeronautics will be one of the model airplane contestants at the Texas centennial in Dallas, July 25. Boys and men of all ages enter the tournament. Colonel J. G. Davis, Jr. will judge the contest. Three age classes are provided: junior class for boys, senior class from 16 to 21, and an open class for all.

Hundreds of entries have been received from all over the state. Entry blanks and contest rules are available from the American Aeronautical Society, 1200 North Main Street, Dallas, Texas.

Models submitted will be judged on design, construction, and performance. The contest will be held from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on July 25.

MISS MARGIE FEATHERSTON IS HONOREE AT SHOWER

Mrs. Mark Manuel was hostess at a shower Tuesday afternoon given for Miss Margie Featherston, whose approaching marriage to Floyd Manuel of Houston has recently been announced. Mesdames Ed Randles, Nolan Horton of Wichita Falls and Miss Ruth Featherston assisted the hostess.

Entertainment for the guests was furnished by Miss Mae Featherston who told a very interesting pioneer story, "Comfort's Wedding."

Then pencils and paper were distributed and the guests asked to write a bit of advice to the bride-elect. All joined heartily in this task and when the papers were read she received some very sound advice. Mrs. Ed Randles then pulled a large basket of gifts into the room saying, "Margie, you may not be able to use all the advice given, but here is something you can use."

The honoree was gracious in her acceptance of the gifts.

After the guests had seen all the gifts, a dainty refreshment plate was served to the following guests: Mesdames Lee Parker, R. A. Parker, W. A. Heath, Avery Manuel, Milford Jobe, Virginia McGirk, W. T. Kirby, M. McGirk, J. H. Brown, Ollie Hall, Ed Randles, Monroe Page, Will Knight, A. L. Karnes, Tom House, Tommie Weathers, C. G. Featherston, Clyde Faulkner, Hazel Wilkinson of Dallas, W. E. REDUCING OUTLAWRY

It is a matter of satisfaction that the strong hand of the government has dealt so severely with bank robbers, kidnapers and other dangerous outlaws that very few depredations are recorded at this time. A few years ago one could see accounts of kidnappings and bank robberies on the front page of every newspaper throughout the land every day, but now such accounts or such acts of outlawry are indeed rare. It is not because of the dereliction of the newspaper reporters, but these criminal acts are not being committed with any degree of frequency. One of the best proofs of this decrease is the lowering of insurance rates by companies indemnifying banks against robbery.

The revision brought a reduction of 20 per cent to banks in 35 states. Most of the states not included were those on the eastern seaboard which, owing to a favorable underwriting record of longer standing, already enjoyed the lowest rates in the country.

A great deal of credit for the rate reduction belongs to the law enforcement officials, particularly those of the federal department of justice. The sensational aspects of the drive of the "G-Men" on the hierarchy of America's public enemies, with whom bank robbing was an important line of business, have been vividly dramatized. This insurance announcement is another scene in the drama. Although lacking gunplay it is equally exciting and the happy ending is that the insured banks will save, it is estimated, nearly a quarter-million dollars in insurance premiums annually.

The underwriters cite as another important factor making the reduction possible, the rule promulgated two years ago requiring banks to keep 85 per cent of their insured money under delayed time locks. This move greatly minimized the robber's possible loot. Add these vigilant measures of the banks themselves to the outstanding accomplishments of the law enforcement authorities and you have the formula for lower insurance rates.

With minor changes, the formula can be applied to any kind of property loss by robbery. If every community will perform its law enforcement duties and help keep losses at a low cost level, the effort will be reflected in the lowering of criminal depredations.

In announcing the reduced bank robbery insurance rates, the companies warn banks against relaxing their vigilance, especially since, with the daylight robbers scared off or in jail, there seems to be an increase in night vault burglaries.

DEATH WALKS THE HIGHWAY

The gods of recklessness are devouring thousands of lives each month on American highways—and there is no limit to their appetite.

During the recent Fourth of July week-end, close to 500 people met accidental deaths—the largest number for that period since 1931. Fireworks were responsible for a smaller number of fatalities than usual—but that greatest destroyer of all, the carelessly operated motor car, chalked up a grisly record. And every week-end witnesses similar occurrence. If, in a single disaster such as an earthquake or a fire, as many people were to be killed as have been killed in accidents in the last month, the world would be aghast. But we seem to regard accidents as being inevitable, and look upon them with equanimity.

But the great tragedy is that accidents are not inevitable. Nine out of ten are preventable and easily preventable. Carelessness, recklessness, ignorance and stupidity are the principal causes of accidental injury and death, and surely they can be cured—through law, through force of public opinion and, perhaps most of all, through education of the individual.

Death walks the highways. He strides through our homes. He is an unseen visitor at every place of amusement. He is apt to put in his appearance in the happiest hours. The deaths that follow accidents can be eliminated almost 100 per cent if we will only make a small effort, and learn that a foolish act that saves a minute or provides a brief, futile thrill can send us or others into eternity. No graver problem faces the American people than the accident problem—and its solution is entirely up to the people.

POLITICS AND BUSINESS

It is amusing to read in some anti-New Deal newspaper where Republican speakers have announced that President Roosevelt has brought the nation to the very brink of ruin while in an adjoining column the good news is announced that automobile sales and production are making new high records, that there in Texas commercial failures have dropped to about half of what they were last year, and that for the first time in years many railroads are actually making money.

When the United States really was at low ebb in 1933 and President Roosevelt took heroic steps to help it out of the Republican directed depression, big businessmen who had seen their fortunes slipping away were quick to applaud him. But now that they are making money again, many of them have announced their intention of deserting the Democratic party which has always favored the rich against the rest of the people.

Fortunately for the nation, dollars will not vote as such next November. It is men and women who will be counted, not bank accounts and bonds. And with such a tremendous number of grateful citizens remembering what Roosevelt has done for them, there can be little doubt that he will be re-elected to the second term he so richly deserves.

EARNED SECURITY

The institution of life insurance has existed in the old world much longer than in the new. But the American life insurance industry leads the world by a vast margin.

About $100,000,000,000 of life insurance is in force in this country. That is more than double the amount in force in all the rest of the world combined, and four times the amount in force in all Europe. In a single state, New York, there is $5,000,000,000 more life insurance in force than in the United Kingdom. And the United States includes only one-sixteenth of the world's population.

No other people has taken such great advantage of life insurance, both as a protection and an investment. As a result, no other people is so well fortified against financial exigencies.

SWIMMING HAZARDS

In Texas, during 1935, there were 3771 deaths from accidental drowning, according to records in the state bureau of vital statistics. This is an increase of 54 over the number reported for the year 1934, and an increase of 85 over the number reported for 1933.

While water sports are the greatest of all sports during the summer season, they present certain hazards which should be heeded, said the state health officer. Accidental drowning would not occur if each individual respected the fact that water is not man's natural element and governed his activities in the water by standards of safety.

Certain precautions should be taken by all swimmers:

1. Never swim alone—especially in deserted places where no rescue is available in case of an emergency.
2. Do not let young children go out in deep water even if they know how to swim, unless some older person proficient in life saving is with them.
3. Do not go in bathing directly after eating. Wait two hours before taking the plunge.
4. Do not dive in unfamiliar places until you are sure of the depth of the water and the absence of rocks.
5. Do not overtax your strength—work up gradually to a long swim by strengthening the muscles first.
6. Do not swim when fatigued.
7. Do not create a hazard for other swimmers by childish pranks and smart tricks.

Accidental drownings, with few exceptions, occur through lack of proper safeguards or in places without adequate supervisions. Take your swim in one of the approved sanitary swimming pools now available in most communities and help reduce the deaths in Texas from drowning.

NEW SOIL CONSERVATION PRACTICE APPROVED BY AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE

College Station, July 23.—That the eradication of noxious weeds and grasses including Johnson grass, Bermuda grass, nut grass, blueweed and bindweed will be considered as a soil-conserving practice in Texas and will qualify farmers for a soil-conserving payment acre for acre in lieu of a soil-conserving crop, has been approved by the state agricultural conservation committee.

Two methods of eradication were approved. One consisted of flat-breaking the infested land, followed by intensive cultivation during the months of July, August and September with a knife cultivator or disc harrow.

The other method that may be used is that the infested land be bedded and rebudded with a sweep or "middle-buster" at intervals of not more than 30 days, followed each time by a harrow in order to expose the roots to the weather.

Eradication can be carried out for payment on badly infested crop land, location of which is filed with the county committee before eradication starts.

VALUE OF ADS TO STORE TOLD BY SPECIALIST

Newspaper advertising is found more important than anything else in leading women to choose the store at which to buy their dresses, says a research study made public this week.

In Boston, the study found, 43 per cent of the women bought their dresses at the store whose advertising they liked best. To attract patronage, says the report, it is more important for a store to have the best liked advertising than it is to have a reputation for the best style, best quality or the lowest prices.

The study was made by Chas. C. Stech, research specialist and adviser on better selling, of New York City. More than 3,000 women were interviewed in Boston in the survey. Six leading Boston department stores were used as a basis for comparison. The advertising value of each Boston newspaper was studied.

"For selling of women's dresses," the report states, "advertising is 16 per cent more important than low price; 27 per cent more important than style, and 24 per cent more important than quality."

HAD TO TAKE SHORT STAPLE OR NOTHING

A spinner in Manchester, England, had need for a desirable staple and came to Texas and Oklahoma to fill his order. He was unable to find what he wanted and tried Brazil. Brazil had the desired staple, but the character of the Brazilian cotton did not have the dye-absorbing properties his order required. He returned to Texas and Oklahoma and accepted a shorter staple at a lower price than he was willing to pay had the cotton he wanted been available. The spinner will undoubtedly make an effort to locate the kind of cotton he needs to fill his orders, even though he goes to distant lands to do so.

There are many present-day cotton growers who can remember the time when Texas and Oklahoma cotton was never questioned. It could be bought "sight and unseen" with perfect safety. Today one must go to some large concentration point to fill a small order, or else pick up a bale or two here and there at considerable extra expense.

As heretofore stated in Farm and Ranch, the south can regain its export market if farmers will quit planting cotton on land unsuited to it, and will join with each other by communities or regions and plant a uniform type of good and desirable cotton. It would take but a season or two to restore the old reputation for good cotton which brought the best buyers of the world to our door.

Farmers and ginners should co-operate in the improvement of our cotton. After the farmers have produced the cotton, it should be properly ginned and compressed into neat bales. Damp cotton should be thoroughly dried before hauled to the gin. It has been demonstrated that cotton which has been allowed to dry a day or two after picking before being taken to the gin comes out a higher grade.

It is a well known fact that some markets are higher than others. Every market gets its reputation from the character of cotton produced in its vicinity. Therefore the producer of good cotton in a community with a reputation for poor staple is penalized if he sells on that market. This demonstrates the need for community plantings of good cotton.

There are two things that the department of agriculture should be authorized to do to aid in restoring the export cotton trade of this country. The community planting work of the department should be supplemented by a market news service which would inform every cotton grower the prices of various staples and grades at his nearest designated spot market. The department should provide cotton classes in every community which is carrying out the uniform planting program. If the farmer knows the grade and staple of his cotton and is also informed as to what it is worth, he will be encouraged to produce the kind of cotton that foreign and domestic spinners want. It is almost a certainty that the cotton industry will become less and less profitable if we continue to produce from 30 to more than 50 per cent unmerchantable staple.—Farm and Ranch.

OLD DOC BEAVER

It may chagrin the New Deal Christopher Columbus of erosion Doc Tugwell, to hear that the province of Ontario also knows about it. Ontario is also doing something about it. But Ontario's notions of flood control and the prevention of erosion are entirely too direct for a young sophisticate like Tugwell.

Recalling that there were floods and flood control, erosion and erosion cures on this continent long before even the noble red man set foot upon it, the Ontario authorities have consulted a reliable flood-control engineer, none other than Old Doc Beaver. For ages and ages Doc Beaver and his folks and grand folks were in the flood control business. Like the CCC boys they built check dams in the head waters of streams. They held the water in the upper valleys where it fell. The aggregate effect of the work of beavers upon the terrain of North America in the course of the ages was probably as great as all the human alterations of the continent's surface.

It was constructive, not destructive like so many human efforts. This may sound incredible but in "Beaverland," Enos Mills many years ago made a study which showed that as a topographical engineer the little mammal has few notable rivals, although Darwin's earthworm is the tops of all such technicians. Ontario is trapping beaver and transplanting them to the head waters of all streams which now have no beaver colonies or beaver dams. The idea is to do that and then let nature take her course, as one of our city hall statesmen proposed when he advised that the city buy a pair of gondolas and liberate them upon the waters of Lincoln park lagoon.

The Ontario plan of flood control, however, is too naive for the New Deal. Beavers can't vote—not even in Chicago's 24th ward. And what's the use of flood-control without a payroll?—Chicago Daily News.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

WOOL FROM TEXAS

Some figures on production of wool in the United States, as released by the department of agriculture, are of much interest to Texas. They show that this state is still far ahead of all others in the production of wool. Despite depression prices for the produce and the severe drought of 1934, which curtailed production, Texas produced a total of 59,220,000 pounds of wool last year—nearly double the production of the next state, Montana, which reported only 32,712,000 pounds.

The development of the wool industry in Texas has been relatively rapid. In 1910, there were only 1,898,709 sheep and lambs on Texas farms. Reports from that date to 1935 show a steady increase in the number, with a peak figure of 7,026,534 of the animals in Texas last year. And an important point is that the quality of the sheep and of their wool has grown better as the quality has increased.

In view of the fact that Texas is today such an important factor in the woolen industry, it is interesting to note that the first sheep to come to the United States landed in Jamestown in 1609. The colonial governments did everything in their power to encourage the industry, even passing a law in 1654 that prohibited the importation of wool from England. Incidentally, President Washington imported the best breeds of sheep, and made arrangements to bring to this country the most experienced spinners and weavers that could be found.

When the early settlers began their westward trek, great areas suited to the raising of sheep were opened up, and mass production methods were introduced into the growing of wool in America. This is where Texas came in, of course; and it has been "in" ever since. Today, Texas has about one-seventh of all the sheep in the United States, it being estimated that there are 50,000,000 head in this country. And at the last census, there were 472,000 sheep raisers in the nation.

The normal consumption of wool in the United States, by the way, is about 600,000,000 pounds—enough, it is estimated, if all used as wearing apparel, to afford not less than four suits for every man in the United States. And if it happens that there are some men who do not have their four suits per capita, they should not blame Texas. The Lone Star State, as the leading producer of wool in this country, is, it must be admitted, doing its part.—Texas Weekly.

PECAN CROP SHORTEST IN MANY YEARS IS REPORT

That the pecan crop of Texas is the shortest in many years is evidenced by reports made by pecan growers in attendance upon the 16th annual convention of the Texas Pecan Growers association at San Saba on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Individual reports were that the crop was from 3 per cent to 15 per cent of normal, with McCulloch and Tom Green counties making the most favorable reports. Late frosts were reported to have killed the pecan buds, the damage in San Saba county having been especially severe.—Brady Standard.

ON THE 105TH ANNIVERSARY OF DAVY CROCKETT'S BIRTH

Among the heroes who fell defending the Alamo on March 6, 1836, was David Crockett of Tennessee. That frontiersman's picturesque career will be recalled next month by a pageant at Greenville, in the "Volunteer State."

Crockett's father (born in Ireland) was an American revolutionary war veteran. He fought in the battle of King's mountain on October 7, 1780, in which both American and British used rifles, as well as muskets. The Americans were victorious and their triumph proved a heavy blow to Lord Cornwallis—then operating in the Carolinas.

David Crockett was born at Limestone (Green county) on August 17, 1786. That county then was within North Carolina, but was included in Tennessee when the latter was admitted to the union in 1796.

"Davy" Crockett grew to manhood under heavy handicaps—poverty and the lack of educational advantages—but he largely overcame them by his honesty and strong character. He served as a scout under Major General Andrew Jackson in the campaign against the Creek Indians in 1813-14. A few years later he was elected a militia colonel. Each military district then was required to maintain a regiment, ready to help defend its state.

Crockett was elected to congress (as a Democrat) in 1826 and served thus until March, 1831. Defeated for re-election in 1830, he ran as a Whig in 1832 and was elected. His career at Washington was marked by opposition to President Jackson. The president's adherents gained the upper hand in Crockett's district in November, 1834.

That year Colonel Crockett's autobiography was published. In 1835 he reportedly dictated two books, "Life of Van Buren, Heir-Apparent to the Government," and "Tour to the North and Down East."

Those books were scarcely off the press when rumors as to trouble in Texas reached Tennessee. That state had sent numerous settlers to the region between Red river and the Rio Grande.

Crockett decided to offer his services to the Texans who were upholding the Mexican constitution of 1824 against General Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna and the centralists. He hastened to Nacogdoches—via Little Rock, Arkansas—and arrived there on January 5, 1836. At Nacogdoches he met Jose M. Viesca Santa Anna had deposited the provisional administration that was set up at San Antonio on November 10. Crockett insisted upon inserting "republican" before "ment" in the oath, as that some other form devised thereafter.

has been charged that I was often absent when legislature session. It is not true. When the house was passing pet bills rate of one every two minutes I simply did not vote except occasionally when I knew what I was doing. No one in this race can intelligently that fast.

All these instances the house was under "Call." When the house is under "Call" no member can leave and the Sergeant-at-arms in absent members. The Sergeant-at-arms knows when a member is absent. By permission I publish herewith a sworn statement that the above reference to the record is true.

Yours, R. A. LUKER.

MOUNT OLIVE

Flashing to you the Mount Olive news. With this issue we are changing reporters. Your other scribe said that due to the press of business duties, he did not have time to write the news. But this change of reporters will be like jumping from the frying pan into the fire. He was bad, but I'll be worse. The real reason he quit was not due to business engagements. He had just purchased a late model car, and—well, figure it out for yourself. He even had his meals brought to him and he slept in it at night. But joking aside, folks, he did well and gave us news when no one else did.

We were greatly grieved and shocked to learn of the passing of our friend, Editor R. M. Thompson. We always thought of the Eagle and Editor Thompson inseparably. He was a wonderfully well informed man. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved.

Rev. J. Clifton Weathers began a meeting at the school house last Friday night, July 17, and it will extend through Sunday, July 26. He is a very forceful preacher, and all should come out and hear him.

Many of the people from this community "took in" the picnics at Priddy and Indian Gap over the last two week-ends. The next picnic will be at Caradan, but the date is as yet unannounced.

Miss Myri McCarty of Big Valley has been in this community last week visiting with her brothers and other relatives. A dance was given for the young people Wednesday night in the home of Leslie Kerby.

Elder Ariel West, a Primitive Baptist minister, preached at the church house Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. His home is in California, but he is on a tour of Texas at present.

Within the next few days a new windmill and tank will be erected at the school house. The foundation holes for the tower have been dug. This will be a much needed improvement for the school.

Harry Couch and Herman Reid left early Sunday morning for a Houston where they expect to obtain work.

Seaborn Woods and family and Arthur Neely and family visited in the Bob Harris home Saturday night and Sunday.

A ten-day singing school will start at Mount Olive next Monday. This same school will also hold sessions each night at Caradan. The school will be taught by Prof. Bill Huggins, which should be a guarantee of a good school.

And there are those who think the picture starring the Dionne quintuplets was not given an appropriate title. Some of the married men hereabouts think that instead of "The Country Doctor" a more appropriate title would have been: "She Done Him Wrong."

Some in the community are planning on visiting the centennial some time this summer. If any go, I'll let you know.

The first primary will be held here Saturday. It will be held by J. F. Poer and wife, I. B. Cody and Bill Chapman.

It is reported that Leslie Smith has bought the Will Hightower place. I understand that Will plans to leave for California as soon as he rounds things up here.

More next week from the reporter who knows nothing, sees nothing, but attempts to tell something. REPORTER.

STAR

Slim Hurst, B. P. Goode, Luke Teague, Jim Soules and son, James, returned Tuesday afternoon from a business trip to Fort Worth and Dallas.

Mrs. J. E. Peck and little daughter, Celeste, of Goldthwaite are visiting relatives in the Star community this week.

Mrs. Ed Hamilton came in from an extended visit to relatives in southern Texas. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. John Shelton, of Liberty.

V. D. Adams of Summerton, Ariz., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lant Adams of this city.

Grandmother Hamilton returned Monday afternoon from Ranger where she attended the wedding of Rev. Johnny Lovell.

Miss Nannie-Lu McCamy of Tennessee is visiting relatives and friends here this week.

The Methodist meeting closed last week with twelve additions to the church. Everyone enjoyed having Brother Sherman of San Saba with us.

The Baptist meeting is now in progress with Rev. Allen DeHart in charge.

Miss Florine Hamilton and Johnny Soules were married recently in Brownwood. They are making their home in Star. A shower was given in the home of Mrs. Slim Hurst Wednesday afternoon honoring Mrs. Soules.

We had a nice rain Monday evening which was greatly needed and greatly appreciated. The weather is much cooler and the summer gardens looking better.

The summer skies are very beautiful these dark nights, and no matter how tired, discouraged, blue and despondent one may be, he has only to slip a cot out under the brilliant canopy of night and look up into the multitude of worlds above and wonder what our own little world would look like if we were up there somewhere. Our own little lives are so trifling when we stop long enough to consider the marvelous work of God. The main attraction for the latter part of July is the Peltier comet over in the northeastern skies which will be plainly visible to good eyes. I hope some see it and can tell me how it looks to them.

Well, I hope I won't be so long in coming next time, or from now on I should say. But this little city of Star has been in such a whirl of heat, dust and work, and coming and going, that it has been beyond me to keep track of it all for the weeks that have gone by of late. REPORTER.
