Commencement Thursday Night

Another successful school year was brought to a close by the commencement exercises last night in the school auditorium. The following program was given: Invocation, Rev. F. E. Swanner. The Snow, Elgar, A. Capella Choral Club. Salutatory, Education, the Solution to the Peace Problem, Louise Gartman. A Tiny Seed Becomes a Shrine, Coburn, Constance Trent, Lottie Belle Hester, Lorane Bledsoe, Adelle Mae Summy, Betty Jo Whitaker. Valedictory The Story of Education in Texas, Louise Ohlenbusch. Address by Don Morris of Abilene. Presentation of seniors, S. E. Cloninger. Awards, A. H. Smith. The names of the 42 graduates were published in The Eagle on April 23. Everyone of the members of the senior class at that time finished with the class, which is believed to be the largest in the history of the local school. Commencement week began last Sunday morning with the baccalaureate service, Rev. J. K. Beery preached the sermon. On Wednesday evening commencement exercises for grammar school were held. Fifty-six boys and girls were promoted to the high school at that time and awards were made to other members of the grammar school for successfully completing given lists in supplementary reading and writing.

Vigilantes Are Needed

Goldthwaite has been visited twice within a month by burglars and knob-knockers. Petty thievery here has reached deplorable proportions. Unfortunately there can be no doubt but that the criminals are being aided, if not directed, by persons either living in or entirely familiar with this community. What can honest people do about it? Years ago vigilantes cleaned out the horse and cattle thieves from this section of Texas. Vigilantes can do the job again. It is not necessary to resort to lynching bees, however. All that is necessary is for the law-abiding citizens to unite and to pool their resources, and the thugs, big and little, will leave us alone. The Eagle suggests that a reward be raised to be paid to the person or persons who furnish information that will lead to the conviction of thieves who steal the property of those contributing to the reward. Thus the more who join, the larger the rewards. This plan has worked elsewhere and it will work in Goldthwaite. Somebody here knows who is getting easy money without working for it. By making it profitable for them to turn over their information to the officers, it will make it possible for the officers to locate the criminals. Better still, as soon as the criminals learn that every suspicious move will be reported, they will start giving this town a wide berth. Petty thieves will steal their chickens and strip cars somewhere else and knob-knockers will keep on traveling. It may cost a few dollars at first to show we mean business, but it will save a lot more both in property and in peace of mind. The Eagle is ready to start such a fund. Who will join us?

ARMY'S CRACK PILOT LEAVES RANDOLPH FIELD

Captain Carl B. McDaniel, shown above in the Link ground trainer, has been ordered to Langley Field, Va., where he will fly the Army's giant new bombing planes. Captain McDaniel heads the list of Army pilots in flying time and safety.

Flood Control Interest Lags

Officers of the Mills County Flood Control Association were frankly disappointed this week at the lack of interest shown in the national flood control program by residents of this county. At a district meeting in Coleman on Wednesday of last week a committee of four was named to go to Washington to present to Congress the needs of the upper Colorado river valley. R. L. McConnell of San Saba will represent this section. A. D. Kirk of Crawford's Mill, president of the Mills county association, represented Mills county at the Coleman meeting. County Agent W. P. Weaver has assisted in raising the county's quota of $65 to apply on the expense of the delegation to Washington. This sum was guaranteed by Earl Fairman in order to insure Mills county being represented in Washington, but subscriptions to meet the quota have not been encouraging. President Kirk points out that the tax payers of this county will have to pay their share of the flood control work that is done whether any is done in this county or not, consequently it is good business to secure as much as possible for this section. The value of such work was strikingly displayed last fall when the Colorado river flood—bad as it was—from doing the damage it would have caused had the dam not been built. Contributions from citizens in every section of the county are solicited, and those who are interested are requested not to wait until called upon, but to turn their donation over to one of the association members immediately.

Priddy School Has All-Day Picnic

Rev. and Mrs. J. K. Beery, Mrs. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and The Eagle editor enjoyed a most delightful outing at Priddy Wednesday, through the kind invitation of Mrs. A. T. Kluge, the Lutheran minister's wife. Wednesday being the close of school a picnic was held at the regular picnic grounds out about a mile from the school building in a beautiful grove of trees, where there is a ball ground in connection and a small lake of water where the little folks fished for crayfish and caught some huge ones. After a most sumptuous dinner was spread on the nice tables erected for the purpose, all were invited to draw up and Rev. Beery was asked to return thanks, after which plates were filled to the limit with the many good things that the ladies of Priddy community know how to prepare. Supt. J. Oscar Swindle and Mrs. Swindle proved most hospitable hosts for the occasion. When all were more than satisfied, and the tables cleared, comfortable chairs were placed and groups of men and women chatted while the children played. At 2 o'clock the band began to play and splendid music was played with Reinhardt Kluge director. Rev. A. T. Kluge has directed the band through the year while his son, Reinhardt, attended Howard Payne College, but on his return home his father turned it over to him.

Large Crowds Attend Cooking School Here

Community Public Service Co. is sponsoring one of their famous cooking schools in Goldthwaite Thursday and Friday of this week in their office here under the direction of Miss Isabel Herndon, home economist. The session Thursday was very interesting as many pointers in modern cookery were given to a capacity crowd. Prizes were awarded and recipe sheets were given the guests. Today's lectures promise to be the best of the school and every one interested in this art is cordially invited to attend. School begins promptly at 2:30 p. m. The company's new electrical display coach will be open for your inspection after the school.

Church School Day On Sunday Morning

Church School Day, formerly known as Children's Day, will be observed at the Methodist church Sunday morning at 9:45, regular Sunday school hour. The classes will assemble as usual in each department, and after getting the class reports all will gather in the auditorium where a special program will be given. Many children and young people will have part, and you are invited to be present.

Post Office to Close On Monday, May 31

May 30, Decoration Day, falling on Sunday this year, the Goldthwaite post office will observe Monday, May 31, as the legal holiday. The office will be closed all day. The rural carriers will not go out on their routes, but the Star Route carriers to Moline and Caradan will carry the mail as usual. All incoming and outgoing mail will be handled by the post office as on other days except that there will be no window service. Patrons with post office boxes will receive their mail as usual.

Connections Made To Sewer System

Several business houses have been connected with the new sewer system here recently and others are expected to connect soon. Unlike most other cities, connection with the system is not compulsory here, but there is considerable agitation at this time for extending the regulations as a means of mosquito control and for sanitary reasons.

Goldthwaite Group Visits Brownwood

A group of Goldthwaite citizens conferred in Brownwood on Tuesday morning with Chester Harrison, manager of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce on plans for organizing a Chamber of Commerce in Goldthwaite. Mr. Harrison promised the visitors any assistance he or other officials of the local C. of C. can give to aid in the organization of the Chamber if Goldthwaite citizens decide to form such an organization. The Goldthwaite group included Roy Simpson, bakery owner; F. C. Fox, tire store owner; Paul McCullough, lumberman, and Miss Louise Coleman, theater manager. — Brownwood Bulletin.

OLLIE MAE FEATHERSTON HAS STORY ACCEPTED

Ollie Mae Featherston, student in the University of Texas, has had a story accepted for publication in "Straight Texas," the book of Texas folk-lore society for 1937, which will be published in June. Her story is entitled "Silver Dreams: A Tale of Treasure Hunting in Mills County." It is a survey of all treasure hunting which has taken place in the vicinity of the Dry Pond and the Epley Spring east of Goldthwaite since 1850, and it contains many local names, references and other things of local interest. The Texas folk-lore society to which Miss Featherston belongs was organized in 1909 by John A. Lomax and Dr. L. W. Payne, Jr., and it publishes a book each year. Through these annual publications, the society is striving to collect and preserve in literature all of the available legends and folk-lore of Texas and the Southwest. Selection of material and compiling the annual volumes are in charge of J. Frank Dobie and Modie C. Boatright, both professors of English in Texas University. The acceptance of this story is a considerable honor since the work of an undergraduate student is seldom selected for publication in the folk-lore society volumes.

Methodist Notes

For some time I have thought I would like to send a few items to The Eagle, for old times sake. But neglect explains many of our shortcomings. We are both well, and getting along about as well as one could really expect. I don't think that either Mrs. Bowles or I have been quite so busy at any time since my retirement from the active work as since we came to Fort Worth. I have preached several times for our pastor here. gave several services to the City Union Mission. Last Sunday I preached for the pastor at South Side Methodist church, and on the preceding Sunday I held a Mother's Day service at the Brooklin Heights church. I teach a Sunday school class part of the time, and occasionally conduct the prayer meeting in our own church. Mrs. Bowles has been busier than I have, as usual. She has conducted two months studies in the Women Missionary society. One of these was a study of Africa. She is at present conducting a class study in the life and letters of St. Paul. She will go tomorrow and conduct a study for women of Brooklyn Heights church. In addition to this work she has taken part in the Missionary work in some other churches of the city and spoken several times to the Women's Christian Temperance Union. In addition to all this we have attended the Gipsy Smith revival, attended the Bishops crusade meeting and attended the meet-

FLOWER SHOW

Coleman Garden Club will have flower show and tea at the City Park Friday afternoon from 5 to 6:30. All lovers of flowers in Goldthwaite are invited to attend.

The Methodist Church

Word has just been received from Dr. Virgil H. Fisher pastor First Methodist church, Austin, that he will be with us for our revival meeting beginning June 13, and continuing through two weeks. This makes the date for the beginning two weeks from next Sunday. We are fortunate to secure Dr. Fisher to assist us in our revival, as he is one of the leading preachers in the state and when you hear him once you will want to hear him again. Goldthwaite is in need of a revival, and we trust many of our people will enter into a covenant of prayer that one may be had at this time. We have extended the time to the second Sunday in June for writing your definition of a Christian. We are anxious that many put into the collection plates on Sunday evenings their definitions of a Christian. Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Preaching 10:50 a. m. Subject "The Christian's Reserve." Epworth League 7:15 p. m. Preaching 8:00 p. m. Subject "The Sixth Commandment, 'Thou Shalt Not Kill.'" Mid week prayer and Bible study Wednesday 8:00 p. m. This will be another Upper Room study. Our doors are always open to welcome you to the services. Attend the church of your choice every Sunday.—John K. Beery, Minister.

Baptist Reminder

Our Sunday school attendance held up in an unusual way Sunday. We had 158 present. We should come back up to 175 Sunday. Will you do your part? Our Sunday evening services are increasing in attendance and spirit. We had a fine service Sunday evening, with two additions to the church. We are anxious to make these services evangelistic. Invite your unsaved friends. Remember the time for all our services: 10 o'clock Sunday school. 11 sermon by the pastor. 7 p. m. BTU. 8 p. m. sermon by the pastor. Remember our open air services in the evening. Comfortable seats, good music and a brief sermon.—Franklin E. Swanner.

Catfish Grand Dad Caught at Lake

John Meador, efficient keeper of the Mills County Hunting and Fishing Club at Lake Merritt, this week caught the big catfish that has been tantalizing fishermen all spring. The big fellow weighed 10 pounds and 2 ounces. The fish appeared to enjoy being sought after. He would swim in plain view of the fishermen, sniff at their bait, but refuse to bite. His first mistake proved his last.

"WILD BILL" CUMMINGS
BREAKS TWO RECORDS
WITH GULF GASOLINE

Indianapolis, Ind.—Cracking two Indianapolis Speedway records in the first day of qualification runs for the annual 500 mile Memorial Day race here, "Wild Bill" Cummings, famous racing driver, also made a champion of a well-known brand of gasoline.

Cummings broke the all-time speed record at the speedway, as well as making the fastest qualifying time ever recorded.

In the last of his ten qualifying laps he was timed by the track officials at the sensational speed of 125.13 miles per hour. The previous all-time record of 124.01 miles per hour was set by the veteran Leon Durey in 1928.

Cummings' official qualifying time for the 25 required miles was 123.4 miles per hour. The fastest previous time was 119.6 m. p. h., made by Rex Mays in 1936.

In a radio broadcast immediately after the run, Cummings highly praised the Gulf No-Nox Ethyl gasoline which powered his sleek racing car. His engine was designed and built by Harry A. Miller, Gulf's famous motor expert.

This is the first year that stock commercial gasolines have been specified by the AAA contest board for the 500 mile race.

CONTROL SCREW WORMS
IN THE SHEAR CUTS

Stock owners are cautioned that it is important to prevent screw worms from building up a big population in injuries received from shear cuts, earmarking and docking. These operations are well ahead of the early occurrence of cases of screw worms and it is very important to continue to keep them in advance of the pest. Stockmen are urged to use dehydrated pine tar oil on all wounds to prevent infestation from gaining a stronghold on any ranch or farm.

L. L. Brock, screw worm control supervisor of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and plant quarantine, reports that he is obtaining splendid cooperation of stockmen and county agents in Brown, Mills, Hamilton and Comanche counties. He says that a little extra effort on the part

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL

Separation of Powers

What is meant by the separation of powers?

Our Constitution divides the three great powers of government among three separate and independent branches: the legislative power is vested in Congress; the executive power in the President; the judicial power in the Supreme Court and other federal courts.

Seven years before our Constitution, John Adams, great Colonial patriot, signer of the Declaration of Independence and second president of the United States, stated the same principle in the Declaration of Rights of the Massachusetts Constitution as follows: "In the government of this commonwealth the legislative department shall never exercise the executive and judicial powers, or either of them; the executive shall never exercise the legislative and judicial powers, or either of them; the judicial shall never exercise the legislative and executive powers, or either of them; to the end it may be a government of laws and not of men."

In the Declaration of Independence, Jefferson protested against the king's control of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of our Colonial governments, and we fought the Revolutionary War.

In Europe today we see that where all departments are controlled by one man or by one group of men, their whim becomes law; autocracy succeeds democracy; might becomes right; freedom, liberty and the natural rights of man disappear; tyranny rules.

It is to avoid this that our Constitution separates the powers of our government into the legislative, executive and judicial branches and makes them independent of each other.

We got out to the park about 11 o'clock, found it an awful nice place for youngsters and older ones, too. The children enjoyed the water to play in. At 12 o'clock we spread dinner, not lunch. There was lots of good food. At 3 we cut the two birthday cakes and ate ice cream and cake. We were all at our homes by 6 o'clock—oh, so tired!

NAME NEW HEAD OF LONDON SCHOOL

Kilgore.—A reliable but unquotable source said last Sunday T. M. Jones, superintendent of schools at Omaha, Texas, for the past seven years, was elected to succeed W. C. Shaw as superintendent of the London consolidated school.

Shaw, who lost a son in the school house blast March 18 in which nearly 300 students and teachers were killed, resigned recently at the request of the board, which praised his work at the school, but in the interest of harmony, thought it best for him to leave the school.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

ONCE in a while a fellow is apt to get sore at someone and shoot a lot of abusive language at him. Well this story proves that sometimes it's better to think it over before you let go.

A big crowd was gathered around a subway excavation in New York some time ago. They were watching the curious manner in which one of the onlookers was acting. He would laugh out loud whenever the big steam shovel would start a diggin'.

"Finally one of the gang said, 'Aw' don't pay no attention to that guy, he's crazy.'"

At that the fellow who had been actin' strange grabbed him and started to holler, "Don't you dare say that about me! You may be crazy and not know it, at least there ain't nothing you can do to prove you're sane. Now I'm sane and I can prove it which is a whole lot more than you can do."

With that he reaches into his pocket and pulls out a paper yelling, "Read that, and then tell me who's crazy."

Of course the fellow had no choice but to take it. And when he opened it he saw that it was a certification of sanity issued by the state asylum from which the fellow had just been discharged.

ing of the Texas Methodists at First Church, Fort Worth. We are now attending a revival held by Bishop Boaz at Boulevard Methodist Church.

Last week I attended the District Conference held at Grapevine.

So you can see we have been rather busy whether we have done much or not.

I don't know when I have enjoyed a service more than the revival service at the City Union Mission.

As all may know this is a service with a long history, for all classes of people. Most certainly do all classes attend. Some of the very finest people of the city attend and give their influence and support to it. Some of the worst to be found attend.

Many are hardened in sin, while others are entirely accessible and easily reached. I had the joy of seeing ten people converted in the services I was privileged to hold. The joy in this was in the fact that it was something new in my experience, in addition to the fact that it is always a joy to see the lost brought under the power of the Gospel of Christ.

Taking it all in all, we greatly enjoy living in Fort Worth. We have had nothing but the most kindly association. The people have been generous and kind, and have shown us every consideration, a thing that one would scarce expect among a people to whom we were utter strangers, and a people who were in no sense indebted to us.

The Eagle has brought us some heartaches this spring in the account of the death of so many of the people whom we knew, some of whom were special friends. It all causes us to remember that we are only pilgrims and sojourners here. With many of those who have been called to mourn, we mingle our tears.—J. S. Bowles.

Man Gets Life For Wife Killing

Brady.—A jury in district court here found that Fred Parker maliciously slew his wife Jan. 22, and assessed his punishment at life imprisonment. The verdict was returned after three hours of deliberation.

At the time of Mrs. Parker's death officers were told that the former Fort Worth school teacher failed to regain consciousness after being kicked by a horse at the Parker farm in the Milburn community, 25 miles northeast of here.

Later the body was disinterred and Justice W. B. Douglass held that death resulted from a blow on the head with a rail.

The couple was married about a year and a half ago. Mrs. Parker, 42, taught for 17 years in the J. P. Elder and Jennings Avenue Junior high schools in Fort Worth and later was an instructor in civics and history at North Side High school there. She resigned in 1933. Parker, 26, went on trial last Monday.

Texas Beauties

In the "Texanita" contest to select Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition official hostesses, McClelland Barclay judged these five girls most beautiful among 500 entrants.

STREAMLINED BEAUTIES LOSE OUT IN ARTIST'S "TEXANITA" CHOICE

Dallas.—The five Texas beauties who will set the national standard in feminine figures for this year at least, are not streamlined but are robust and rounded if the selection of the winners in the "Texanita" contest sponsored by the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition opening in Dallas June 12, has anything to do with it.

Out of a total of 500 girls entering the contest, McClelland Barclay, famed New York artist, selected five to head the corps of hostesses for the 1937 World's Fair. Supposed to choose only three, Barclay fell victim to what he termed "the charms of Texas at its best" and sent down five winners out of the total of 500 girls.

The artists decision shot Hollywood requirements full of holes. Average measurements of the girls indicated that Texas beauties are five feet two and a half inches tall, weigh 112 pounds, with waists measuring 24 inches and hips 36 inches. Legs are definitely substantial with 13 inch calves and 8 inch ankles. Bust is 34 inches. The average dress size is a generous 14 and shoes average 5-B. All the girls are brunettes.

Many towns in Texas are represented among the winners. Dark-eyed Delma Stephenson, winner of top honors, was born in Clinton, Texas. Eleanor Akers, second, comes from El Paso. Monetta Darnell, 14-year-old singer and dancer of Dallas was tied for third place with Helen Sexton of Lott, Texas, and fourth place went to Janet Adams, born in the state of Vermont but now a full-fledged Texan. In the picture, reading down from the top, are Janet Adams, Eleanor Akers, Helen Sexton, Delma Stephenson and Monetta Darnell.

The Texanitas, so called because they are "Texas senoritas" will act as welcome committee and guides to visitors attending the Greater Texas and Pan

TO THE GRADUATES

In Goldthwaite and in many other cities and towns as well as the largest graduating classes in the history of the schools have been graduated this week. Hundreds and thousands of young men and women have thus completed an important step in life. Commencement represents the culmination of an activity that has consumed practically two-thirds of each graduate's life so far. It marks the first important milestone along his journey to success.

Boys and girls of Mills county, what does commencement mean for you?

In the first place it means that you have been given an opportunity that was denied most of your fathers and mothers. Those parents who did graduate did not have anything like as well trained teachers, as well equipped schools or as good text books as you have had. So you're starting out with a big advantage in life.

On the other hand, the very size of your class shows that you will have more competition. For the past few years there have been thousands of high school graduates who have been looking for jobs they could not find. There have been college graduates who have been glad to take jobs for which a strong back was the chief requirement. Don't let this discourage you. Your biggest handicap so far is that you have had things too easy. Unless you can surmount discouragements, overcome obstacles and persevere without faltering or failure, the seed of success is not in you, and you might as well give up now.

Except for some degree of personal satisfaction in having an acquaintance with a wide assortment of more or less unrelated facts, what you have learned in school and what you will learn in life mean nothing. IT IS WHAT YOU DO WITH WHAT YOU LEARN THAT COUNTS.

Thomas Edison and Henry Ford learned less in school than you have. But they used what they learned and they kept on learning. This is important. If you think you are through learning you will find you are through getting ahead. But endeavor to learn things you can use in what you plan to do. So far you have had a smattering of everything. Now is the time to concentrate on what you expect to make your livelihood.

A good many of you will concentrate on having a good time. As long as your youth and money last, you will probably enjoy life immensely. But when you begin to see the plodders of your class stepping into positions of importance while you are passed by, you will begin to understand that life's greatest rewards still go to the workers and to those who earn them. Of course every normal human being requires a certain amount of recreation. Do not neglect it. But do not choose the forms of recreation that sap your strength, weaken your will, and divert you from the goal you seek.

Next, don't think you can make a success alone. Unless you know how to make and keep friends, you will never get ahead. The man or woman who plays a lone hand, who is too shy or too proud to cooperate, soon is left behind. This is a democracy in which we live, and that means everyone has an equal opportunity so far as natural rights are concerned. It also means that no one can long enjoy any advantage he has earned unless he knows how to retain the confidence and friendship of his associates. Choose your friends from those who are ambitious like you, who also want to get ahead, and they will help you on and not drag you back.

Finally, remember that you have a soul. In this most materialistic of all ages, those who make most out of life are still those who frankly seek guidance from on high and who strive to shape their lives in accordance with God's divine plan. Aside from all considerations of eternity, you cannot enjoy this life to the full, if you shut out the spiritual side of your nature. Religion is as fundamental today as it ever was. You may think you do not need it. You may think that others who have disregarded it have succeeded without it. But as you grow older and wiser, you will find, perhaps too late, that you were wrong. Your success must be built upon a happy combination of body, mind and soul. Each must be trained and exercised to make the perfect whole.

May your lives, boys and girls, achieve a real success.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER DEAD

All of the science and skill that money can command could not prolong the life of John D. Rockefeller to the one hundred years he so earnestly wished to attain. Once cursed as the personification of the grasping oil trust, his many generous philanthropies have entitled the world's richest man to an honorable place in the hall of fame.

"Yeh?" said Cohen, "Und vat kind of a crime iss dot?" "Vell," said Levi, "I vas a witness in a law suit and de Judge asked me if I vas Jewish, so I said, 'Judge don't be a damn fool' Vell he fined me five dollars for contempt und I said if it only costs five dollars to call you a damn fool, I take twenty dollars worth. Dat's ven he put me in Chail."

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas

Q. Was there a Cap. Burroughs in the Texas revolutionary war?

A. Cap. George H. Burroughs, of Zanesville, Ohio, commanded the Muskingum county (Ohio) Volunteers, who came to Texas in September 1836, to assist in repelling a threatened invasion. He resigned the command in about four months, and returned to Ohio, leaving Anthony Deffenbaugh, second lieutenant, in command until the company was disbanded in the summer of 1837.

Q. Why did Gen. Sam Houston furlough the Volunteer Army in 1837?

A. The Republic lacked money with which to feed, clothe and pay the men, and during the period of inactivity many of them became dissatisfied, restless and mutinous, a condition that threatened the internal peace of the country.

Q. How did the Sandia post-office in Jim Wells county get its name?

A. Sandia is the Spanish word for watermelon, and when the postoffice was established in 1907 it was located in a big watermelon field.

Q. What was the date of the battle of Conception and what forces were engaged in it?

A. The battle was fought Oct. 23, 1835, between about 90 Texans led by Fannin and Bowie and about 400 Mexicans, who surprised and surrounded the Texans. There were only about 400 effective men in the Texas army at that time, but these were re-inforced the next day by some 200 from East Texas.

Q. To what extent did the Masonic order promote education in the early days of Texas?

A. About 1848 to 1853, the Masonic order established and liberally supported some 18 educational institutions in Texas, including schools in Marshall, Linden, Rusk, San Augustine, Bowie and New Danville. Masonic and other fraternal organization interest in schools gradually declined as the state developed its system of free schools.

A SPUR TO THE BETTER COTTON CAMPAIGN

Texas, give us better cotton! runs a striking appeal by a noted merchant—F. A. B. Zacharias of Liverpool—speaking for his country's spinners, in the 1937 International Edition of the Cotton Trade Journal (New Orleans).

Early in the depression period and long before (through the Manchester Guardian and other qualified spokesmen) the spinners repeatedly reminded the American cotton growers that they could not get enough high grade staple. Even when the farmers were combating a surplus problem and plowing up "every third row," to keep the oversupply from destroying values altogether, Lancaster spinners were clamoring for long-staple cotton. That was in 1933—and now, in 1937, English mills still are demanding more higher grade raw cotton.

Though Texans have heeded the appeal slowly, they are moving in the matter now. Such agencies as its Certified Cottonseed Breeders Association, Cotton Improvement Committee, Seed and Plant Board and Cotton Association (representing the exporters) are getting an encouraging response to their educational campaign.

The one-variety cotton community idea, which originated in Gonzales county some years ago, has spread encouragingly. This year 4-H club boys are going in for cotton projects, with emphasis on quality, rather than quantity. Efforts by Texas A. and M. College to popularize Acala and other long staple varieties are meeting with increasing success.

All that interest has come in good time. The Liverpool authority writes that "the world is heading for a record-breaking consumption of cotton, which looks as if it will reach 30 million bales."—San Antonio Express.

DESERVED RECOGNITION

It was a fitting recognition by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress to the Elower Valley, when, at the annual convention in Washington, it elected Judge William J. Driver of Osceola as president. Born upon the banks of the big river, long familiar with the problems of flood control, Judge Driver has seen the great control system from a puny stretch of earth to the magnificent levees of today. Arkansas will not soon forget the efforts of his distinguished father, the late John B. Driver, who drafted the State's first levee bill and lobbied it through the Arkansas legislature almost single handed in 1890. From this grew the St. Francis levee system, now one of the main bulwarks against Mississippi floods. Judge Driver's election means much to the movement to bring flood control to its highest efficiency. His ambition, so often expressed, is to build the life-line so strong that people west of the river can "lie down at night in perfect ease and comfort without a thought of flood." So say we all, as congratulations go to Judge Driver.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

We can learn much from those less successful than we.

BACK TO THE FEE SYSTEM

A return to the fee system of compensating district, county and precinct officers is provided in one of six constitutional amendments submitted by the present legislature, upon which the people will express their opinion in a special August election. The fee system was abolished by constitutional amendment some two or three years ago, after a prolonged campaign against it, but the salary plan that was substituted for it has not been satisfactory and the people will be asked to authorize restoration of the former method of compensating local officials.

There is no doubt that the expense to the counties has been greatly increased under the salary system. Governor Allred the other day estimated that the cost has been raised about 70 per cent. This has been due, however, to complete failure by the state to absorb its just share of the expense, as was contemplated as the salary plan was inaugurated. Whatever has been added to the counties' costs has been subtracted from the state's costs under the new system. The legislature failed to make adequate provision for sharing the expense, and the counties have been justified in complaining. The only relief seems to lie in a return to the old plan, or in a determination to make the new plan work as it should.

With a few exceptions, the county officials of the state opposed the salary system from the beginning and have not wished it to succeed. If the plan is repealed, and the fee system restored, we may expect to find it worse than ever before. The legislature could easily remedy the entire situation by amending the law so as to make necessary adjustments in the salary schedules, and to provide for an equitable division of the salary costs between the state and the counties. But, perhaps that would be asking too much of the legislature.—Brownwood Bulletin

AIR DEFENSE

In his Columbia Club speech on aviation, Col. Edward V. Hickenbacher dwelt with considerable persuasiveness on the part that air defense is playing in the preservation of peace. He said that several times since the World War important nations had had more reason to go to war than they did at the outbreak of the World War, but desisted because of the destructive effect of air warfare on the civil population. He pointed out that "aviation has made doughboys out of the war lords. Formerly wars were fought on distant fronts, but it is now possible for the destruction to be brought to those who wait in the background. Aviation is making them think of their own safety." Certainly the possibilities of aerial warfare have inspired serious thoughts of war in the minds of all the people in countries open to invasion by war. In most European countries, all the people are being instructed in defense against gas dropped from airplanes. Gas shelters are being constructed and gas warnings are being distributed that the people can be notified when and how to defend them-

The Verner Chambliss Service Station was entered through a rear window some time after 10 o'clock Wednesday night by robbers. The fairly large safe was placed on 2x4's and carried to the Higginbotham Bros. lumber yard where the lock was broken off the gate and the safe taken inside. Here the knob was knocked off and between fifty and sixty dollars were taken, but checks and papers left in the safe. After entering the lumber yard the robbers took time to whittle a peg to place in the gate to hold it shut. They also knocked the knobs off of two safes in the office of the lumber yard, but failed to get the safes open.

Brady

Dedication of Brady's new federal building the past week was a momentous occasion. It marked successful completion of many years of effort upon the part of leading citizens to secure a federal postoffice building for Brady. The program was most appropriate to the occasion, and Postmaster A. B. Reagan has received many compliments, not alone for the splendid program, but no less for his own splendid address, co-incident with his officiating as master of ceremonies. Credit Mr. Reagan with having secured for Brady so magnificent a building; he fought for it every inch of the way, and as local supervisor of the work, he suggested numerous changes in the original plans such as have resulted in added beauty of building and grounds, as well as greater service and usefulness.

It was most fortunate that as chief speaker upon the program Brady was able to secure the Hon. Karl A. Crowley, the solicitor of the U. S. Postoffice Department. Mr. Crowley is a Texan—a native of Fort Worth—and he speaks our language. Incidentally, in his position as solicitor of the postoffice department, he has been close to the administration and has gained a perspective of national and state affairs that is illuminating.

Last week the News emphasized the fact that the Rangers deserve a home here because it really is their old home—scene of former battles and hardships in early pioneer days. We still believe that we owe it to these Rangers out of love for them and appreciation for their services. But to those who cannot get such a feeling, a more business like view can be taken in regard to their own profit and surely then the business folks can see that to sponsor and support the erection of such a museum will mean money in your pocket.

Whether you know it or not, the ex-Rangers are one of Texas' attractions to tourists. Tales of their heroic and romantic adventures have been cited from California to New York and a tourist from out of the state never fails to inquire about the Texas Ranger, who has been made the object of admiration in stories and films. Thousands of visitors are attracted to Texas each year; thousands come through this territory but more would stop in Santa Anna if there was a historical attraction such as an ex-Ranger Home and Museum.—News.

SURVEY ASKED ON COLORADO IN BIG AREA

Coleman.—Delegates of the West Texas Conservation Association in session here Wednesday decided to send three delegates to Washington to ask Congress for an appropriation for a survey of the Colorado river and its tributaries. The survey would extend from the lower edge of San Saba county to the head of the river west of San Angelo.

No project is wanted at this time by the organization but rather a survey that would show things that must be done to conserve the soil and prevent floods along the stream and its tributaries, it was pointed out at the meeting. It also was pointed out at the meeting that army engineers several years ago recommended that the survey be made.

The association consists of representatives from ten counties in Central West Texas that have the Colorado river as a border line.

Present for Wednesday's session were Mayor Dorsey Hardeman, former Mayor W. D. Holcomb, and J. C. Deal, secretary of the city board of development, all of San Angelo; T. D. Coupland, Winters; Joe Whaley, Menard; R. L. McConnell, San Saba; A. D. Kirk, Ruller; and Mayor E. P. Scarborough and S. W. Cooper, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, both of Coleman.

R. L. McConnell of San Saba and Marvin Nichols, Fort Worth engineer, were named and a third person is to be selected to represent the district in the Washington conferences.

Dorsey Hardeman acted as the chairman of Wednesday's meeting while J. C. Deal, San Angelo, secretary of the board of city development acted as secretary.

TRIPLE BIRTHDAY PICNIC

On the scenic banks of the little creek that winds through the Tom Kirby estate, last Sunday a birthday picnic was held for M. F. Kirby and two of his sisters, Mmes. Tom Hooten and Dora Morris, Goldthwaite, each having a birthday during May.

For two or three generations this creek has been the wading and swimming hole for the Kirby children and their friends. So of course this occasion was no exception.

A good old fashioned basket dinner was spread, just loading the tables and then three beautiful birthday cakes were presented to Mmes. Hooten, Morris and Mr. Kirby, with their ages respectively 56, 65, 70 embossed on them.

The Kirbys each year have a reunion, but this birthday celebration took its place this year.

In 1876 Thomas H. and Carolyn Kirby moved to Lampasas county and settled in the ranch home where Gaylon Kirby now lives. It was known as the '70' Ranch in the old days. There were nine children: Will, deceased; Nancy, deceased; Frank, Dora, Malle, Tom, John R. Mae and Jake born to this union, most of them being born on this ranch. Each of these have large families and numerous grandchildren living in or around Lometa and Goldthwaite.

Many useful and pretty gifts were received by the honorees and those that made this happy occasion possible for them were: Messrs. and Mmes. John T. Kirby, Frank Kirby, Roy Kirby and family, J. B. Kirby, Earl Kirby, E. E. Kirby, J. C. Kirby, Tom Kirby, John R. Kirby, Gaylon Kirby and family, Earnest Kirby, Omar A. Kirby, John T. COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

A number of sample reports made by the range inspector have been sent to the state office for inspection and correction and the following letter has been received by the county agent:

"The density figure used on these samples is considerably higher than what we consider an average density for your section of the country."

This means that ranchmen will receive a smaller range building allowance than the inspector's report indicates.

Now is the best time to kill mesquite, cut cedar and grub pear. Many reservoirs are being built. Compliance may be made before Jan. 1.
