Work on Eagle Field To Begin Soon

The latest information available from district WPA office is that the office has asked the state office at San Antonio for work orders to begin the school athletic field. Those who are watching this project will be happy to learn that work will probably start very soon.

PICNIC

The Eagle is authorized to issue an invitation to Mills county citizens who are interested, to attend a Mills county picnic to be held in the Public park in Arlington, on June 20.

Old friends have a cordial welcome to be there by 12:30 Sunday, June 20. All are asked to carry a picnic lunch.

These gatherings have been most pleasant in the past and have enabled the former Mills county people to keep in touch with each other and cement the friendship which otherwise would be lost.

BUFFET SUPPER

One evening recently Miss Katie Francis Fulton was hostess at a buffet supper given at her apartment in the Dr. J. E. Brookings home, honoring her friend, Miss Martha Louise Allen, who is visiting in her old home town, Lometa. Miss Allen is now living in Washington, D. C. Much conversation ran riot and much enjoyment was had recalling the old times.

The following guests honored Miss Allen with their presence: Mmes. Roland Wendell, Virgil Jackson, Fred Herring, Clyde McAnnely, a sister of Miss Fulton, all of Lometa; Mrs. Mac Horton of Goldthwaite, Mrs. T. Winkle, Port Neches; Mrs. D. McGrew of Woodville, Mrs. Elton Casbeer, Lampasas; a sister of Miss Allen, Miss Mattie Kirby, Ellen Spangler, Pearl Casbeer, Juanita Mayberry, all of Lometa.

S. E. Q. CLUB

The club met with Mrs. Glenn Nickols. There were five present. One of our old members, Mrs. Homer Doggett of Coleman, was our visitor. Little Janice Doggett and Ruth Ann Barbour were our visitors also. We meet with Mrs. Booster Berry next time. We plected on two quilts Tuesday. Mrs. Nickols served a very refreshing drink and cakes.

Local Lions Club Has Group Meeting

The quarterly meeting of Group 22 of Texas Lions Clubs was held in Goldthwaite on Thursday evening of last week with visitors present from Lions Clubs at Coleman, Santa Anna, San Saba, Brady, Llano and Lometa.

Admirals' caps of paper were issued each member and guest as they entered the gaily decorated recreation room of the Methodist church, where the ladies of the Methodist choir served a delightful banquet.

Music was furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Smith. After a brief address of welcome by M. Y. Stokes, Jr., A. H. Smith, president of the Goldthwaite Lions Club, introduced the visitors. The Lions quartet, consisting of Buel Condon, F. P. Bowman, Marsh Johnson and R. E. Clements, gave several warmly applauded numbers.

R. L. McConnell of San Saba spoke on the prospects of securing a federal flood control survey for this region based on his recent trip to Washington in the interests of such a project. Mr. Clark of Coleman, Judge Cobb of Brady and Deputy District Governor Bill Collins of Llano all spoke briefly.

District Attorney Jim Evetts of Belton then gave the principal address, taking the "Spirit of Fellowship" as his subject. Sam Braswell of Clarendon, a former national director of Lions, International, brought the evening to a close with a short but impressive message to Lions.

San Saba's invitation was unanimously accepted and the group meeting will be held there at a time to be selected later.

Voter Gives Facts About Bond Election

Relative to the school bond election set for next Tuesday, the following points of interest have been gathered and are hereby passed out that the voters may intelligently consider the matter.

Contrary to the idea of many, the main purpose of the bond issue is not to provide room for pupils from outlying districts but to provide sanitation and comfort for the pupils of our own community. We are informed that more than two-thirds of the proposed expenditure will go for providing space and installing sanitary toilets.

Also contrary to the idea in the minds of some of the outlying districts, the transportation system is not a financial burden since the state, through the equalization fund, makes it possible for them to pay their pro rata part of the cost, even though they do have a lower tax rate than does the Goldthwaite district. On the other hand, the transportation set-up which is made possible by the contractual relations with the adjoining districts provides transportation for all pupils in the Goldthwaite district living outside the city limits.

Neither the tax rate nor the valuation will be changed regardless of the outcome of the election. If the proposed issue carries, then more of the present tax will be used to retire indebtedness and the district will become eligible for more of the state equalization fund. —X

BARTON SMITH REPRESENTATIVE FOR HYDRO-GAS

Barton Smith, popular young business man of Goldthwaite, has taken over the distributorship of the popular Hydro-Gas plants and appliances for Mills county. This cooking, heating service has become very popular in adjoining counties and Mr. Smith will be glad to demonstrate it to his friends here.

SANTA FE TO OFFER 61 4-H CLUB PRIZES

The Santa Fe Railway has again offered 61 educational prizes to members of 4-H clubs in territory served by its lines, as follows:

Texas, 19; Oklahoma, 16; Kansas, 12; Missouri, 5; Illinois, 3; New Mexico, 3; Arizona, 2, and Iowa, 1.

Winners of these prizes will be guests of the Santa Fe on a visit to the 16th National Congress of 4-H clubs at Chicago next fall.

Contest for prizes in each state is under the direction of the state club leader, who is an official of the state agricultural college extension service.

Several thousand useful farm boys are eligible to compete in the contest according to J. F. Jarrell, manager of the Santa Fe Railway system's agricultural department.

FLYING VISITORS

Mrs. Addie Cook and sons, Marvin and Quin, of San Bernardino, Calif., have been visiting her nephews, E. E. and J. C. Faulkner, here this week. Marvin Cook owns and operates a flying school, and the party made the trip in one of his planes. They reached Brownwood in just 11½ hours of flying time after leaving California and report an enjoyable trip.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Several interesting letters that have been crowded out this week will appear in The Eagle next week. In fairness to all, our rule must be, "First in, first printed." You can help by mailing your letters early. —EDITOR.

Press Association Meets in Brownwood

Thirty-two years ago—in 1905—the Texas Press Association met in Brownwood, and Mr. R. M. Thompson, editor of The Goldthwaite Eagle, and his wife attended it. Last week, the association returned to Brownwood for its 58th annual convention, but only a few of those who were present in 1905 were on hand. Of the 600 members and guests who registered this year, a great many were youngsters less than 32 years of age.

But it was a great convention and the present Editor of The Eagle, who was honored with a place on the reception committee, enjoyed it despite the heart-pangs that came with it. There were a number of old friends, and many new friends were made. The people of Brownwood extended themselves to show their hospitality to the visitors who came from every section of Texas. H. F. Mayes and Jim White, the publisher and editor of the Brownwood Bulletin, were indefatigable in their efforts to make everyone feel at home and have a good time.

H. H. Jackson, publisher of the Coleman Democrat-Voice, presided with dignity and efficiency. The program was well balanced, and the speakers were all intelligent and forceful.

Many delightful courtesies were shown the delegates. A motorboat excursion on beautiful Lake Brownwood and supper at the CCC camp there Friday evening was particularly appreciated.

The convention closed Saturday morning and many of the delegates proceeded to Dallas where they were guests of the Pan American Exposition that evening and Sunday.

Highway Work on No. 7 to Start Soon

According to information received from representatives that appeared before the State Highway Commission, Highway No. 7 plans are now being checked by state authorities and will then go to Fort Worth for the final federal checkup. Work will probably begin within 30 days, if the plans are OK'ed by both commissions.

County Agent's Notes

W. R. Nesbit, extension livestock specialist, assisted Joe T. Burdette and John G. Berry with goat dipping demonstrations last week. Eradication of lice on goats and sheep is of great importance to ranchmen and these demonstrations with Sulphur Dip will be observed through the county.

A dipping demonstration using sulphur dip will be given at Earl Day's ranch, Ebony, Friday, June 18.

The District 7 4-H club encampment postponed because of rain will be held at Lake Brownwood Park July 26-27-28.

All 4-H club boys, their dads, county agents, assistant county agents and assistants in conservation, club leaders and their families are invited to attend. Club boys should not miss this encampment.—W. P. Weaver, County Agent.

Contract Renewed For Mail By Bus

Postmaster M. Y. Stokes, Jr. has received notice from Washington that the Creamer Stage Line has been awarded the contract to carry the mail between Goldthwaite and Comanche for another year beginning July 1.

This mail arrives at Goldthwaite at 12:40 noon and is dispatched at 3:30 p.m. and arrives in Fort Worth at 8 p.m. in time to make connection with the principal mail trains and air mail routes.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Rural electrification in Texas now has opportunity to make its greatest progress as a result of the Electric Cooperative Corporation Act passed by the legislature and signed by the governor.

The bill authorizes cooperatives to generate or purchase and to transmit and distribute electric energy and to do any and all other things necessary to carry out their purposes.

An effort is being made to organize a cooperative in Mills county. Meetings have been held at Big Valley, Center Point and Lake Merritt. Other communities have been or will be canvassed. Already 80 home owners have signed applications. Mrs. E. H. Hapgood, Mrs. Oglesby, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cook are actively canvassing home owners along the proposed route from Goldthwaite to Priddy, Prairie, Duren, Center Point, Ridge, Big Valley and Intermediate points.

RANCHMEN'S ROUNDUP

To the great number of ranchmen and stock farmers interested in range and livestock improvement and the government range program, the Ranchmen's Roundup at the Sonora Experiment Station, June 24 and 25, holds compelling interest. An interesting program covering all phases of pastures and livestock improvement interspersed with recreation will be presented to guests. A free barbecue will be enjoyed both days.

If you intend to go, come to the court house Saturday, June 19, at 2 p.m. to plan for the trip. —W. P. Weaver, County Agent.

FOOD FOR FATHER

By BETTY BARCLAY

This year Fathers' Day falls on June 20th. Don't forget him and his day. Never mind the delicate salads, tiny fruit cups and dainty desserts. Dad wants food with a foundation—none of your "fancy" dishes.

So here are recipes that fill the bill on this particular holiday:

Ripe Olive Ridge Podge

- 1 cup sliced ripe olives
- 1½ cups flaked red salmon
- 1 cup drained whole kernel corn
- 1½ cups crumbled soda crackers
- ¼ cup finely cut green sweet pepper
- Salt
- Pepper

1½ cups white sauce

- 2 eggs
- 6 thin slices orange
- Combine olives, salmon, corn, cracker crumbs, green pepper, salt and pepper to taste and blend. Combine white sauce and beaten eggs and mix. Pour over olive-salmon mixture and blend well. Pour into a buttered casserole or baking pan and place orange slices over top. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Che-Braz

- 1½ cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon mustard
- Dash of cayenne
- ½ cup shortening
- Cold water about 2 tablespoons

Cups cheese, rubbed through a strainer

- 1 egg white
- ½ cup sliced Brazil nuts

Mix and sift the flour, baking powder and seasonings. Cut in the shortening and when the mixture is well blended, add cold water to make a stiff dough. Roll into thin sheets, sprinkle with cheese and sheet, sprinkle with cheese and make three folds. Turn dough one fourth way round, roll thin, sprinkle with another layer of cheese and make three folds. Repeat until cheese is used. After the final rolling, the dough should be about one eighth inch thick. Cut into fancy shapes, brush with egg white and sprinkle with sliced Brazil nuts. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet in a hot oven, 450 degrees F., eight to ten minutes. Serve with cocktails or with salad.

Hawaiian Raisin Pie

- 1 egg, well beaten
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 4 tablespoons corn starch
 - ¼ teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 - 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 - ¾ cup seedless raisins
- (soaked for two hours in cold water)

1½ cups Hawaiian pineapple juice

- ¾ cup water

To well beaten egg add sifted dry ingredients, mix until smooth and add grated lemon rind and juice. Mix pineapple juice and water and stir into egg mixture. Add drained raisins. Cook over hot water until thick and clear, about 20 minutes, stirring constantly at first and then occasionally. Cool and pour into a baked ten-inch pie shell. Top with meringue made of three egg whites and 6 tablespoons of sugar or serve with whipped cream. If meringue is used, bake until puffy and golden brown in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.).

Some Facts For Dad

The cash income received by farmers from milk was over one billion four hundred million dollars last year. That is nearly twice the farm milk income during the depression. Our friend the cow deserves some praise, of course, but how about the milkman and modern distribution methods that take care of forty-five million quarts of milk a day? Something for Dad to ponder over on this day of his! Better give a cheery greeting to the milkman. Perhaps he's a father as well as a benefactor to mankind.

Social Security May Impose Penalties

Employers of eight or more who have failed to make returns in accordance with the provisions of Title IX of the Social Security act, which imposes an excise tax on employers, commonly known as the unemployment compensation tax, were warned by Collector of Internal Revenue W. A. Thomas that they faced delinquent penalties ranging from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of the tax their pay rolls call for. The returns are to be made on internal revenue form 940 and were due on April 1, last.

Collector Thomas referred to Article 502 of Regulations 90, which provide that "failure to file a return when due causes to accrue, under the provisions of section 406 of the Revenue Act of 1935, a penalty of from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of amount of the tax, depending upon the period of delinquency." Employers were granted an extension of time for the filing of returns and paying of the tax until April 1 by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering.

The Social Security act, Mr. Thomas explained, calls for a pay roll tax of one per cent on the 1936 pay roll containing 8 or more persons on each of some 20 days during the taxable year, each day being in a different calendar week. Each employer is entitled to a credit of 90 per cent of his federal tax, provided he has contributed at least this amount to unemployment compensation funds established by states in conjunction with the Federal Social Security Law in which he has employees.

Collector Thomas said that by all employers would remove recognition of the following facts a great deal of the confusion that apparently exists as to the provisions of Title IX of the Social Security act:

1. The employers' excise tax, provided for under Title IX of the Social Security act, is separate and apart from the employers' tax and the employees' tax provided for under Title VIII of the same act. Participation in one does not exempt an employer from participation in the other.
2. Officers of corporations are considered employees for taxable purposes.
3. No federal credit is allowed an employer for a state contribution unless the said state contribution is paid prior to the due date of the federal return.
4. Employers alone pay the tax levied under Title IX.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER THINKS 1937 GRADUATES HAVE BETTER CHANCES

New York.—Happy days are here again for college graduates. "The year 1937," says Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, "is a peak year for employment of graduates. It will be as good, perhaps even better, than the two other peak years, 1926 and 1930. "Not only are there more positions to be had, but salaries are better. For the first time in years requests from big business for college graduates are so numerous that the best men can choose which of several positions they will take."

Dr. Butler has been president of Columbia since 1902. He is 75 years old. He sits in his paneled study in the old library on Morningside Heights, an impressive figure in pencil stripe gray and vest with lapels. Stiffly starched cuffs gleam from sleeves' end. At his massive desk he looks like a symbol of the business titans whose representatives come to his campus for recruits.

Dr. Butler does not think that recent social and political developments have complicated things for the 4,500 young hopefuls who will receive degrees. Columbia has an annual enrollment of more than 30,000.

"It is true," he says, "that those were simpler days when I went to school, although in general conditions were not different. Communism is as old as the hills; we had it 5,000 years ago. Fascism is old, too—it's the medieval despot all over again, sometimes he made a great success and sometimes he made a mess of things; so we got rid of him."

Returning to the job situation Dr. Butler adds: "Other things being equal, the young man who works his way through college gets the best chance. (He himself worked his way through school.)

"The poorest outlook is for graduates at law. Only 25 per cent of the graduating class have thus far been offered positions."

This contrasts with 100 per cent for mechanical engineers, 75 per cent for chemical engineers and 60 per cent for electrical engineers.

Texas Panhandle Attracts Tourists

Summer travelers who feel the call of the wide open spaces must, of course, look to the west to find a vacation spot. Texas panhandle, painted with glowing colors of its cowboy legends, offers a varied bill of fare to the visitor.

Probably the most inclusive route through the northwest section of the state begins at Fort Worth on highway 81 and 370, passes on through Wichita Falls to Amarillo. After a circle of the Panhandle, it turns south through Plainview and Lubbock.

Remains of ancient Indian cultures are glimpsed by the tourist in the interesting old towns of Tascosa and Old Mobeetie up in the eastern corner. Then, traveling along the scenic Canadian river and southward he comes upon the land which formed the well-known XIT ranch, a 3,000,000 acre tract that was paid for the building of the state capitol. Just a remnant now remains.

Another large tract is the Goodnight ranch in the lower

FARMERS HAVE THE POWER

As Governor Lehman of New York recently said, "The farmers have all the power to solve every major problem." This power lies in cooperative organization to dispose of farm produce to the best advantage, and to raise it most economically and scientifically.

It is a fact that the tens of thousands of farmers belonging to well established marketing cooperatives have gone far ahead of unorganized farmers in the last decade. Such cooperatives provide what individual farmers lack—mass bargaining power, equal in size and strength to that of wholesalers and distributors. They place the farmer on an equal footing with those to whom he sells. This has been one of the most encouraging phases of agricultural development in recent years.

LIMITING AUTO POWER NEXT

A report submitted to the accident prevention conference organized by the Department of Commerce is a straw in the wind, giving a clear warning as to the direction preventive efforts fail to get adequate results in the reduction of useless slaughter on the highways. The government committee asserts that high speed and poor lighting account for the major part of the highway accident deaths last year. The reason often assigned for present high speed construction of cars is that it enables drivers to extricate themselves from hazardous situations, for the innocent as well as the reckless, something will be done about it.—Dayton (Ohio) Journal.

I WILL OIL-PLATE YOUR ENGINE

in next to no time

And even quicker I can plainly state how it saves your oil and your engine to change to Oil-Plating. After I put in Conoco Germ Processed oil, which is the only oil that forms Oil-Plating, let's say you run a bit and then want to park—a few minutes or maybe hours. But every drop of Germ Processed oil will not drain back down into your crankcase like an everyday oil. Instead of that, a definite amount of this oil is always left closely plated all over the pistons, cylinders, bearings and other parts, from the bottom clear to the top of your engine. You'd say that the oil is united for good, to every working surface. I don't know of anything that will make Oil-Plating let go, no matter if you want to stop and start at every doorway, or make 500 miles a day across the mountains. Staying in place and not just splashing on and off, Oil-Plating can't leave the usual openings for friction and wear. Your smooth, quiet, cool-running engine will certainly make you notice that, and of course, your own eyes will see Conoco Germ Processed oil staying up around full.

A CHANCE FOR FLOOD CONTROL

The encouragement that the West Texas delegation in the interests of flood control for the upper Colorado river valley received in Washington seems to have amply justified the comparatively small expense required to send it. Speaking before the Lions Club group meeting in Goldthwaite last week, R. L. McConnell of San Saba, who represented San Saba and Mills counties in the delegation, stated that the head of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, who are charged with all flood control work, voluntarily told the delegation that there was no question as to the merit of the proposal to survey the upper reaches of the Colorado and institute flood control measures.

The other contacts made in the ten days that the delegation was in Washington will undoubtedly have good results. At last report, the citizens of Mills county had not responded heartily to the call for expense money to send the delegation to Washington. Surely now that a definite report has been made, those who have not contributed will do so.

The amount of unpaid work that has been contributed by officials of the Mills county Flood Control Association, especially A. D. Kirk, president, and W. P. Weaver, secretary, deserves better response from the people of this county who stand to profit by the elimination of the flood hazard.

THE MAKINGS OF WAR

During recent months, the political situation in Europe has changed considerably, but more and more the groupings and regroupings of the European alliances are assuming the pre-war formation, according to informed sources. Broadly speaking, the lineup of the major powers of Europe represents the cleavage between those nations which favor the status quo of the Treaty of Versailles and those which desire to make a change in the territorial provisions of the Treaty.

Belgium, after having had a close military alliance with France since the end of the war, has recently reverted to its pre-war status of neutrality in an endeavor to maintain the good will of Germany as well as that of France. The close cooperation between Italy, Germany, Austria and Hungary resembles very closely the political alliance which existed before the war between the Austro-Hungarian Empire, Germany and Italy. The cooperation between France and England on the one hand and Russia on the other is very similar to the old pre-war status. It differs only in the fact that a military treaty existed between Russia and England before the war while at present no formal treaty has been arranged. However, such a treaty does exist between Russia and France.

The close cooperation between Italy and Germany is not based entirely on a sound foundation. Both nations are rivals for hegemony in the Balkan countries where each claims to have specific interests. Furthermore, while Italy is anxious to have Austria maintain her independence, Germany favors an Anschluss. Since, in the pre-war era, Italy was threatened on the north by the Austro-Hungarian Empire, she naturally would prefer to keep Germany off the Bremen pass. Furthermore, both countries are rather weak economically and financially and should an economic reconstruction of the European Continent take place, both nations would be dependent on capital from the Western European countries. Since all the European countries claim that they desire to maintain peaceful relations, such a reconstruction seems likely.

As conditions are at present time, a war between Germany and Italy on the one hand and France and England on the other is almost inconceivable. The risks involved are altogether too great. A conflict between Germany and Russia also seems to be out of the question. In the first place, these nations are economically complementary to each other. Secondly, there is no common boundary between them. Poland, which lies between them, has adopted a policy of strict neutrality since the end of the war and it seems logical to assume that it will continue to adhere to this policy in order to avoid becoming again the scene of war activities which entailed so much loss of life and property during the last war.

Careful political observers in Europe therefore believe that the present political realignment in Europe is merely a preliminary step towards a forthcoming world economic conference which will seek to settle the political and economic grievances of the various nations. The stronger the alliance, the stronger is the position of the individual nation to demand and receive concessions from the other powers. Politically, the European situation today, while fraught with considerable uncertainty and danger, is such that it practically excludes the possibility of a military conflict in the near future.

His Version of the Case

By IRVIN S. COBB

NO MAN'S opinion is entirely worthless. Even a clock that won't run is right twice a day. Lawyers are paid to give opinions, and this story seems to indicate that some clocks are more reliable than some lawyers, even if the clock won't run.

The district leader called up a lawyer who was a party man and therefore one who could be called upon to use influence in a court where the going was tough. He was told that one Marty O'Brien was in a sad scrape and must be liberated at once to keep peace in the district. To his surprise when he arrived at the court he found that O'Brien had been indicted, convicted and sentenced, in fact he had been in jail for two days of a ninety day sentence.

Off he rushed to the jail and got in touch with O'Brien at once. "What was the offense?" asked the lawyer.

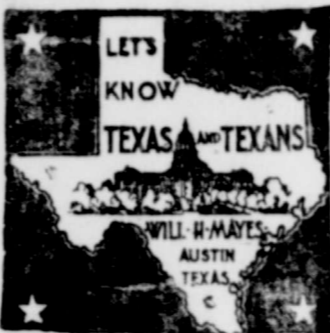

"That's what puzzles me," said O'Brien, "all I did was to call a man a name on the street."

"And that's what you were sentenced for?"

"Sure thing, that's what they got me for."

"Aw hell," said the lawyer, "they can't put you in jail for that."

TRAILER CAMP REGULATION SOUGHT

Austin.—The state health department, cooperating with the American Public Health Association, hopes eventually to bring about standardization of automobile trailer fixtures to facilitate correction of a sanitation problem caused by the increase of "rolling homes."

V. M. Ehlers, sanitary engineer says the department receives increasing inquiries from cities seeking to meet the problem.

Although a few municipalities actually discourage creation of trailer camps, several encourage them because of economic benefits.

Ehlers says Texas has 30 camps and has a degree paralleled Florida's experience. Originally, that state discouraged nomadic tourists, but the picture changed when Jacksonville found trailer visitors spent $88,000 monthly in that city.

A proposed revision of state and sanitary code would prevent promiscuous disposal of waste on the highways, streets and public parks.

PEARY'S PREDICTION AND THE SCHMIDT EXPEDITION

Thanks to the airplane, the polar regions slowly are yielding their secrets to mankind.

When Commander Robert E. Peary tolled over the Arctic Ocean ice floes to the "top of the world" in 1909, aviation was in the experimental stage. That explorer was rewarded by promotion to rear admiral's grade and by many decorations and honors. He became deeply interested in aeronautics and served as chairman of the National Aerial Coast Patrol Commission during the World War.

Peary died in 1920, convinced that planes and dirigibles eventually would be employed in polar flights. Five years later Capt. Roald Amundsen, who had been first to reach the South Pole (1911) and four other persons in two planes flew from Spitzbergen toward the North Pole. The explorers were forced down when only 154 miles from the goal. They remained on the ice floes from May 21 until June 15 when all five crowded into a single plane and flew to Spitzbergen's northern coast. They had found the Arctic Ocean 12,000 feet deep at their farthest point, but sighted no land beyond Eitpenbergen. Lieut. Lincoln Ellsworth, an American who had served in naval aviation during the World War, was Amundsen's principal aide.

Soon after Amundsen's return Capt. Donald MacMillan and Lieut. Commander Richard E. Byrd sailed from Boston with an expedition that was destined to mark another advance in polar exploration. On August 1, 1925, the schooner Bowdoin and the plane carrier Peary arrived off Etah (Greenland) the world's northernmost settlement. Bad weather prevented a flight to the North Pole in the dirigible Norge and then landed safely at Teller (Alaska). Unfortunately Amundsen and Noble parted on bad terms. The latter designed the dirigible Italia, which he piloted to the pole on May 24, 1928.

While returning to Kings Bay the Italia was wrecked and eight of the crew were lost. Capt. Amundsen rushed to aid Noble, but disappeared with five companions when his plane sank in the northern seas.

Russian aviators lately have taken to exploring the Arctic Ocean. A group under Professor Otto J. Schmidt, an outstanding authority on the Far North, recently flew to the top of the world from Rudolf Island (Franz Josef Land). It is camped upon an ice floe, which drifts about six miles a day.

The Russians have found the sea about 2 1/2 miles deep near the North Pole. They keep in radio contact with the outside world and plan to remain on the Arctic ice for a year. Their weather and other scientific observations will benefit mankind.

With planes at both their camp and Rudolf Island, 500 miles distant, Professor Schmidt's party has more than fulfilled Admiral Peary's prediction.—San Antonio Express.

Rich deposits of the relatively rare fluor spar, a mineral which is all but indispensable to porcelain, glass and steel manufacturers, have been found in the Big Bend country.

RETURNING BORROWED BOOKS

The State Department, with its protocols, is, of course, our national arbiter in matters of etiquette. It is therefore particularly gratifying to learn through the American Foreign Service Journal, that the department has just taken a highly ethical stand with regard to returning borrowed books.

All of us lend books and all of us borrow books, but too few of us return them. In fact, the borrowed book becomes in time a problem of conduct. We happen to see it, after many months, stuck on our shelf amidst our own volumes, and we are immediately overwhelmed with a sense of guilt. We resolve to return it forthwith; but a glance at our watch reveals that the hour is past midnight. Tomorrow will do, but tomorrow we forget about it. And this sequence of events is repeated periodically, with geometrically retrogressive pangs of conscience. Gradually we reach a state where we can gaze for hours at the offending volume quite calmly. To return it now would seem tactless and unnecessary.

That is why the example of the State Department, our highest court in matters of fact, is of such great significance. The department has shown that one can still be casual and nonchalant in returning a borrowed book, even after 96 years! The department, it seems, borrowed some books nearly a century ago from the Massachusetts Historical Society. It meant to return them forthwith, but time elapsed and nothing was done about it. What is the diplomat's thing to do—after 96 years? Nothing? Not so! For the State Department, after 96 years, has actually returned those books. So let us all go home tonight and do likewise—tomorrow.—Chicago Daily News.

FOR SUPREMACY OF THE AIR

The lengths to which the United States is willing to go to win commercial leadership in the air are discernible in the recent activities in aviation circles.

No sooner has Capt. Musick proved the feasibility of the route to New Zealand across the Pacific, than renewed attention is given to the Atlantic air problem. Not one but three great ocean terminals for trans Atlantic planes are under construction or authorized. These are at New York, Baltimore and Charleston. The purpose of this triple terminal plan is to give planes heading toward America a maximum selection in case storms are reported from portions of the coast line.

No less than six alternate routes have been surveyed, one of them going as far as Greenland and Iceland, and another as far south as the Azores and Portugal. It is probable that a varied combination of routes eventually may be used, for the same reason that dictated the creation of three terminals, the diminution of the storm hazard.

At the same time every engineering resource is being plied into the making of a trans Atlantic plane which will give maximum safety and speed. The

BARTON SMITH, Mills County Representative

SCALLORN

We are having pretty weather after the good rains. Everyone is busy finishing planting cotton and plowing. Dutch Smith started his thresher Monday morning. He will be back in this community the middle of the week.

Marvin Laughlin and wife and Charlie Laughlin carried Johnnie D. Ford and Albert Cannidy back to Austin last Monday. Rachel Stafford spent a few days with Oleta and Reba Ford in Bertram.

Francis Whittenburg and two half-brothers, Carothers boys of Belton spent several days with their brother Fred and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Williams and two nieces of Talpa spent several days in his brother's, Dutch Smith's home.

We said in our last letter John Samuel Kuykendall had gone back to John Tarleton to go to summer school. He finished at Tarleton and has gone to A. & M. and will go there until he gets his degree. Am sorry we made the mistake and wish him success in his school work.

Mrs. T. J. Laughlin returned home Saturday after spending several days with her son, Elza, near Brownwood.

Forest Strayley spent Saturday night and Sunday with the Ford boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Albany spent several days in their niece's, Mrs. Homer Eckert's, home. Mrs. Derreck accompanied them home for a visit in Albany and Moran before returning to her home in Arkansas.

Sherwood Ford and his wife ate dinner with his mother Sunday, in the afternoon they and his mother and Alva and Tom and Forest Strayley motored to Belton and spent a few hours with their brother and son, Chester and wife. Chester and wife then went with them to Temple to see the sights and stopped at Pierce's cafe and had a chicken lunch.

Mrs. Jack Laughlin visited with Mrs. John Kuykendall Monday evening.

Dan Smith and family came to Dutch Smith's one day last week. They will stay until after threshing as Dan is helping.

Mr. and Mrs. Ran Gunn of Lometa spent awhile one night last week in the Fred Whittenburg home.

Mmes. Swinney and son, Fannie Tarelton and children, Joe Evans, wife and son, Grady, of Lometa spent Sunday in Mrs. R. D. Evans' home.

Mrs. T. J. Laughlin went on Wednesday to spend awhile with her son, Webb, and family.
