A MISUNDERSTANDING

It seems that there has been a misunderstanding with reference to the city ordinance. It does not affect people who stop to load or unload merchandise. Just stay in your car and the merchant will be glad to load or unload your goods, then move your car so as to make room for others. We want to make it just as convenient for the customers of Goldthwaite as possible, and also to handle traffic in the best way possible.—Lacy Thompson.

Marble Falls Golden Jubilee Celebration Set For July 12-13

Marble Falls will entertain thousands in a Golden Jubilee Anniversary Celebration and Bridge dedication ceremony at Marble Falls Monday and Tuesday, July 12 and 13. The plans are at present being worked out and it will be one of the most elaborate celebrations of its kind in the history of the town. Fifty years ago on July 12 the town was founded and lots were sold at a large founding celebration. Many of the people who were present at that founding in July 1887 will be present at the golden anniversary. A feature which deserves special mention will be a parade on the first day at 11 a. m. This parade will consist of motor vehicle and early day carriers, surreys, etc., and will show progress made in transportation within the last 50 years.

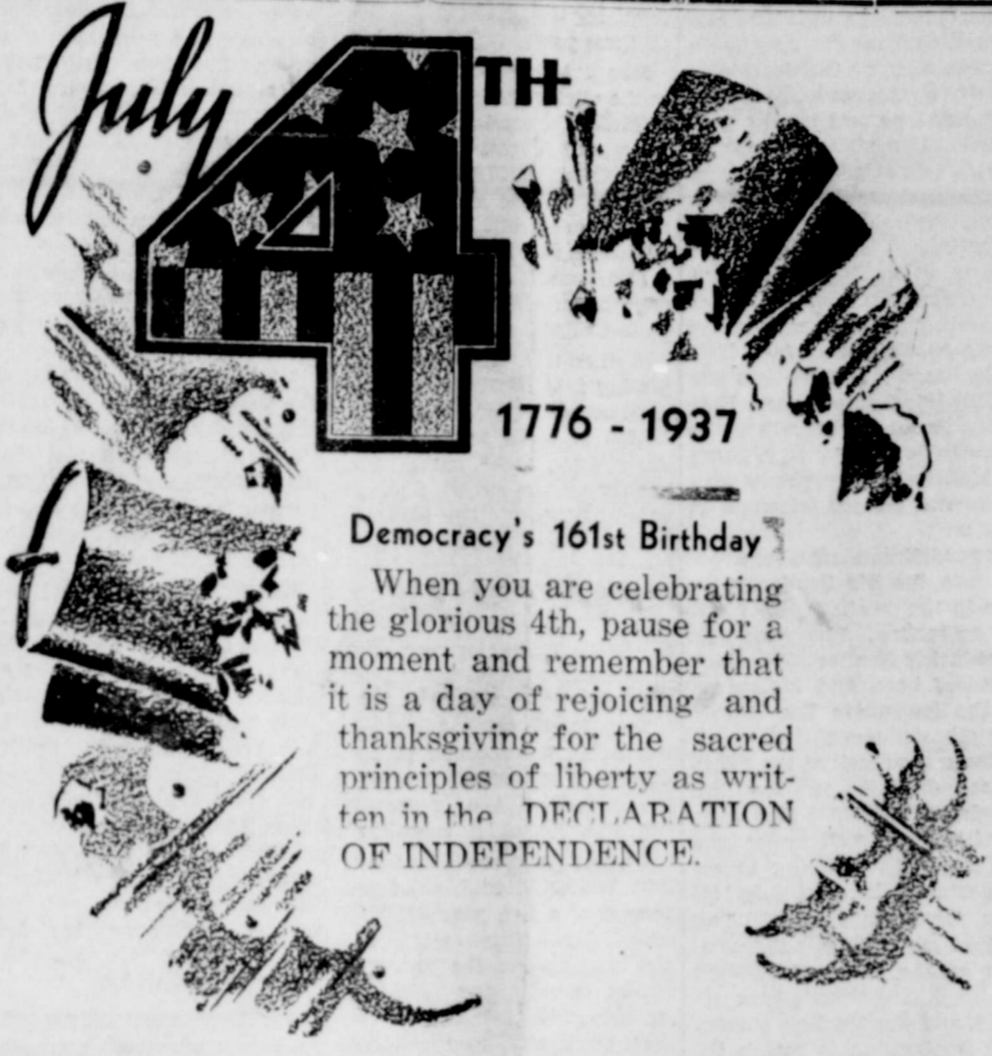

At 10:30 the second day the bridge dedication ceremony will take place at the bridge. A band will be present and furnish music. The Highway Commission and other notables have assured committees of their presence. The bridge will be beautifully decorated for the occasion. Immediately following this feature the Marble Falls fire department will stage a water fight and other entertaining features at the City Park.

NAZARENES HAD BIG DAY SUNDAY

The Church of the Nazarenes enjoyed a splendid day over the Sabbath. Rev. Joe M. Tyson spoke to two splendid and appreciative congregations. He spoke at the morning hour to a large enthusiastic group of children that seemed to drink in every word the pastor had to say, using as his theme, "Faith," climaxing with a beautiful object lesson. The Sunday school went over the top in attendance. At the opening exercises, Miss Mary Horton brought a beautiful crayon picture, while Miss Bettie Ellis sang "Life's Railway to Heaven." It was very impressive and inspiring, many were the praises of joy heard during the program. We shall look forward to many such beautiful pictures.

At the evening hour the choir loft was filled with a fine group of young people, the congregation joining them, in an old fashioned song service, in charge of the pastor and wife, who had several years experience in evangelistic singing. At the close of the evening service, there were three additions to the church.

We extend an invitation to you, no matter who you are, to worship with us on the Lord's Day. Whether sad or joyful, discouraged or full of hope, out of sorts or well, poor or rich, dismayed or optimistic, friendless or befriended, old or young, sinner or saint, you will find a warm welcome and helpful service awaiting you at the church with the welfare of mankind at heart. We're looking for you.

INFORMATION ON OLD AGE ASSISTANCE FOR MILLS COUNTY

A letter written by County Judge R. J. Gerald to District Supervisor and the reply is somewhat encouraging to old age pensioners. Mr. G. D. Camp, Old Age Assistance Commission Waco, Texas, Dear Mr. Camp: Since the thirty per cent cut in the list of old people who are to draw assistance there is a great deal of dissatisfaction on the part of those cut off and of the public in general. I understood from Mr. Daniel when he left this county that you would be glad to come here and hold a hearing on any cases which felt that they had not been fairly dealt with. I feel sure that some cases were closed here with great injustice to the old folks. I wonder if you would consent to holding a public hearing here for the complainants in these closed cases and if you would let me know far enough ahead of time that I might let the people know about it. R. J. Gerald.

SHADOWS SLANT NORTH IS NOVEL WRITTEN BY SISTER OF C. C. BLEDSOE

The first novel of Mrs. Rupert Gillett has been purchased by Lathrop, Lee & Shepard, prominent New York publishers. LAWN PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Walters Hester were hosts at a lovely lawn party Monday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stevens, who are leaving soon to make their home in Hamilton. The guests gathered on the spacious lawn which was made festive with bright lawn chairs and colored lights. Bob Steen and Dumble Hamilton chose sides and competitive contests and games were entered into merrily by the two groups. Mr. Hamilton's side won by a small margin. Partners were then chosen and each couple had to imitate some animal before they could enter Noah's Ark, where delicious cup cakes and punch were served. The honorees were the recipients of many lovely and useful gifts as a token of friendship from the guests.

NEW CAFE

A very progressive young couple, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Meyer have opened a new cafe next door to the Melba Theatre with everything new and sparkling and up to date furnishings, making a most attractive place where friends meet and enjoy good things to eat.

Mrs. Harry Palmer underwent a major operation at Santa Anna on Tuesday of this week. She was on the operating table something over three hours. Last report from her was that she was doing as well as could be expected.

S. E. Q. CLUB

The club ladies are taking a vacation. They will begin their work again in September unless it is still too warm for some to go. We will have our next meeting with Mrs. Booster Berry. XXX

WEAVER IMPROVING

The many friends of W. P. Weaver will be glad to know he is greatly improved after having been quite sick all the week.

Fiesta Mascot

Cute little Mary Hope, mascot of the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta, shown displaying a double handful of souvenir ticket books which are being sold throughout the state by church and civic organizations.

Geologist Coming To Pick Well Site

A geologist is expected here within the next few days to establish the location of the new well that is to be drilled for oil on the Boyd-Balyeat acreage west of Goldthwaite. It is expected that the location will be made somewhere on the old Weston tract about 6½ miles from town. Considerable interest has been aroused by the announcement of this well, and some leases are being made in other parts of the county.

Annual Three Day Picnic at Priddy

On July 15, 16 and 17 Priddy will have its Annual Picnic. This always promises to be three of the days when everyone can come and meet his friends. This year they will have goat roping, saddle races, tournament races, airplane stunting, guinea catching and various other contests, ball games, band concerts and other music. There will be a big carnival and other free attractions with a dance each night, music by some of the best orchestras obtainable. So come and meet your friends. Plenty of shade, water, eats and drinks.

Church Of Christ

The summer heat and vacations as usual takes its toll from church services, but despite that the church moves on. It must be a powerful institution to survive all the knocks it receives, but Jesus said that hell could not prevail against it, and Paul said we received a kingdom that could not be shaken. Last Sunday was my last preaching day until summer meetings are over. I begin at Evant Friday night. My meeting work will keep me busy until Sept. 1. Don't forget the summer meeting which begins July 28, with O. C. Lambert of Port Arthur doing the preaching. Make your plans to attend every service. Bro. Lambert is a very fine preacher.—E. W. Stovall.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Missionary Society held their world Outlook program on Monday with Mrs. C. E. Bayley leader. It was voted to hold only one meeting a month for the next two months. The first Monday will be devoted to business and World Outlook program. On account of the first Monday in July being a holiday, our meeting will be held the second Monday at the church.

HONOR STUDENTS

Among scholastic honors announced for John Tarleton College students by Acting Registrar Morton P. Brooks this week five went to students from Goldthwaite. Named to the semester honor roll at Tarleton for earning a minimum of 30 grade points during the second semester of the 1936-37 session were Clara Blackwell, Ruth Goosby, Grace Saylor, Lillian Summy and Virginia Womack.

New Traffic Light Is Installed Here

An approved type of traffic signal light was installed yesterday at the Trent State Bank corner. The light hangs at the center of the intersection of Fisher and Fourth streets and will be set to give Fisher Street right of way for 30 seconds and Fourth Street the right of way for 20 seconds with a yellow caution light between each change. The light cost the city approximately $125. If it proves desirable, it is planned to install two others on either side.

Buildings Inspected For Post Office

Postal Inspector A. S. Page of Fort Worth spent last Friday here inspecting the buildings on which the Post Office Department has received bids for use as quarters for the Goldthwaite post office. Besides the present post office building, Mr. Page looked at the J. V. Cockroft building, the old picture show building, at Fisher and Third streets; the D. A. Trent building between Third and Fourth streets; the L. E. Miller building between Fisher and Parker streets; and the Evly building two doors south of the post office. Mr. Page stated that there was a possibility that the government would furnish fixtures including the windows and mail boxes. These might be new or from some of the federal buildings which have recently been replaced by new buildings. He stated that his report would be forwarded to Washington this week and that notice would be sent from there as to which building would be selected. Meanwhile the present building will continue to be used on a month to month basis, as the former 10-year contract expired June 30.

The Methodist Church

Last Sunday was our record attendance in the Sunday school for the year, and the offering was fine. There is nothing quite so stimulating as the church growing in all its departments. When growth is the experience, not only those on the inside are blessed and enriched, but others will come under the influence and be enriched. When we live, labor, love and serve as we should in the church, God will sanctify our influence and make us a blessing to others. Great victory always awaits a faithful church. Sunday school 9:45 a.m. Fill your place regularly and you will be happy. Preaching 10:50, subject "Christian Patriotism." Epworth League services 1:30 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. Preaching 8:00, subject "When Life Tumbles In, What?" You are most cordially invited to all the services of the church. Find your church home and make yourself at home in a definite way.—John K. Beery, Minister.

"Vacation in Texas"

A strange combination of deserts, canyons and fertile valleys awaits the visitor who heads down from Lubbock to the land "West of the Pecos." Possibly the most interesting route is across the line into New Mexico, where Carlsbad Caverns provide interest and beauty.

Swinging back into Texas by way of Guadalupe Peak and into El Paso, the traveler may catch his first view of Old Mexico in the city of Juarez with its ancient missions and motley population. Immediately south of El Paso the cultivated areas of the Rio Grande Valley appear, and in the midst of the oldest community in the state are the missions of Ysleta and Socorro.

Southeastward the Davis mountains, rising a mile above sea level, are famed for their scenic beauty, healthy climate and historical importance. Here also is Mount Locke, where the University of Texas is building the McDonald Observatory with the second largest telescope in America.

No good Texan can skip a detour into the Big Bend country down in the southern tip of this western section. The continually producing Shafter silver mine is located here, and farther on are the impressive Los Chisos (The Ghosts) mountains.

After a good look at the Santa Helena Canyon of the Rio Grande, with its 1800 foot walls, the visitor can well understand why the state is trying to acquire enough land in this territory for a state park. Two hundred and fifty thousand acres of the proposed 1,000,000 acre tract have already been acquired, and the Mexican government is planning to match the Texas acreage with land just across the border. The completed international park will include 2,000,000 acres.

EVANS

This community was made sad Tuesday morning. Mrs. W. B. Wilcox's brother, Rubley Scrivner passed away in a Lubbock hospital early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Wilcox was not able to attend his funeral. Our sympathy is extended to all the family of the deceased.

Miss Fern Kimbal of Ratler spent Saturday night with Geraldine Weathers.

Ashley Weathers has been baling hay for Brenton Davee and L. C. Kimbal. He will bale next week for Omar Bell and Tip Roberts of Ratler.

From what I hear Mrs. C. J. Crawford has been having her cook, milk maid, guests and Mason breaking beans and peas.

Nice work, Mrs. Crawford. You will have to give the rest of the women some advice.

W. C. King of Brownwood and Ashley Weathers called in the Harris home near Caradan Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. B. Wilcox and grandsons called on Mrs. Earl Hale Wednesday evening.

W. C. King of Brownwood spent the week end in the community visiting friends.

Charles Boatright and Ray Churchwell of Ridge and Johnnie Weathers visited in the Wigley home Tuesday night. Mr. Boatright was leaving for Houston and Galveston, where he will remain until after the 4th with his brother.

Congratulations, Mr. J. R. Slack! Mr. Slack left Saturday for Pecos City near the Pecos river, where he will visit his brother, Henry Slack. He hasn't seen his brother but once in 45 years. We know they will have a grand time talking about their early days.

Several from here attended the ball game at Ratler Sunday.

A large crowd gathered in the Earl Hale home for a singing on Sunday. Everyone reported very good singing and a nice time.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hale are proud owners of a new brick house.

Miss Johnnie Weathers and friends attended church at Goldthwaite Sunday night.—Catfish.

The Eagle is prepared to do job printing of every kind and always appreciates an opportunity to quote prices on anything to be printed.

TEXAS FINDS 'TOURISM' ITS SECOND LARGEST INDUSTRY

Dallas.—The "state that has everything" has been taking stock of itself as a merchant of "tourism" and has found that its traditions, scenery, hospitality and climate are just as marketable—for hard cash—as the cotton, wool, oil, meat, sulphur, gas and spinach that it has been supplying the rest of the country all these years.

Now entering its second year in the world's fair business, Texas finds that tourists constituted its second largest industry in 1936—the $446,000,000 that tourists spent in the state last year being topped only by the $450,000,000 oil industry of the state. Agricultural crops, at $384,000,000, and cotton, at $210,000,000, ranked third and fourth.

Furthermore, increased auto touring into and within the state accounted for a gain of $4,000,000 in state retail gasoline tax revenue alone, more than liquidating the state's $3,000,000 appropriation for the 1936 centennial—a cool million profit for the state's own coffers right there.

As a result, says a report of the All-South development council, sentiment is fast crystallizing throughout the state in favor of a long term state advertising and publicity program, to continue and consolidate the gains scored through the centennial and Pan American exhibitions.

A major point made by Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul, chief proponent of a five year $3,000,000 advertising plan was that not only would the resulting tourist revenue pay dividends on the cash investment, but that permanent new residents, among them industrialists looking for sites for decentralization and expansion, would accrue and, he says, "We need more people and capital to give us the push."

That Texas can get her share of the four and three-quarter billion national tourist crop by dint of thorough advertising was proved by the "take" of the centennial year, bulwarked by analysis of the things Texas has yet to show the nation in the way of parks, caverns and playgrounds. That hard headed industry will be as easily lured, however, in the face of Texas' unstable tax situation, is open to serious doubt, says the council's report.

Industrialists and investors can not help noting that while Texas' vast natural resources constitute the proudest theme in her advertising, there is as yet no visible change in the almost traditional tendency of the state government to depend more and more on natural resource indus-

NEWSPAPER ERRORS

Credit Roland Holford, publisher of the News-Review at Elco, with saying something exceptionally apt in his "Here In Elco" column every now and then. As, for instance, his recent pronouncement upon the subject of newspaper errors. Says he:

"The bane of a newspaper's existence is the constant threat of errors in the columns of the paper. Not alone typographical errors, but mistakes caused from misinformation or a tongue-tied typewriter can cause untold grief.

The News Review has had its share of these occurrences, although we keep a constant vigil on the things that go into print, but not quite so many as some other publications within our knowledge.

No one can sufficiently explain the mistakes that are prevalent in print, for they are tricky and tries to shoulder its mounting revenue burdens—to say nothing of threatened new franchise imposts.

Whether Texas' natural advantages are so vastly superior to those of other states now taking a diametrically opposite attitude toward industry—notably other southern states—as to insure Texas getting her rightful share of major industrial decentralization, is a question causing many Texas business leaders to advocate that a more definite, reassuring long time policy in this respect be outlined and adopted, as "the very best form of advertising" for industries, the report concludes.

defy explanation, even though some editors try hard just as did the staid and stately New York Herald-Tribune in a recent issue as follows:

"Error: A statement was printed Wednesday that Paul Willet, president of the Oxford University Press, now visiting United States, would be guest of honor at a reception to be held this afternoon at the English Book Shop celebrating the opening of an exhibit of Oxford Press books. It has been learned since that, first, the name is Paul Willet, second, he lives in New York, third, he is president of the Oxford Press, New York office, and will not be guest of honor, nor will the reception, as he is in New York. LIVING UP TO MY AD

Giving you tops in Mileage

I know the trouble. So many oil ads yell mileage, that you can't believe one way or another. I don't want my own ads to be in that class, so I'd like you to know all I'm staking, when I personally recommend Conoco Germ Processed oil to you. In my case, you see, I'm the owner of my business. And there's nothing makes repeat customers for me like my Germ Processed oil . . . or I ought to say, the mileage it gives you. The patent Germ Process makes this oil fastened real firm to the bearings and cylinders and other parts. If they'd been built with an actual plating of oil that can't be rubbed off . . . can't thin out and burn right up. Neither is it going to rust every time you stop. Then you can't make any "dry starts" with Oil-Plating, and right there is where engineers say you will get the good half of all the wear you used to get in Summer. The less the less oil your engine eats. You'll get on to this yourself, from a cool quiet Oil-Plated engine. And that's how I make another friend for my Conoco Germ Processed oil.

Bro. Wade preached two good sermons Sunday and Sunday night. His father in law and some other relatives of Locker came to church Sunday morning. Mrs. Wade and baby went home with her father for a visit.

The church is planning to build a tabernacle some time in the near future.

There was news in our paper last week about the post office. We hope it just won't be talk as a new office would help our town in looks.

We were glad to read in our paper about Bro. Lambert being able to be taken home last week. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

The mail carrier will have another holiday Monday, so don't forget and go to the mail box. Our carrier is taking his vacation now.

Seems to me our Eagle was crammed full of lots of news last week. I don't blame people for borrowing such a newsy paper. When you have anything good pass it on to your friends and neighbors.

Of course you noticed the big headline in the paper about the oil well that is to be dug some time in the future. It can't be too soon.

The Evans news has been missed. We hope, Catfish, you are through with your vacation for this summer. I enjoyed all the other letters. It keeps us posted where our friends go.

Those who attended Mr. O. C. Bogusch's funeral were Marion Robertson and wife of Big Valley. They took his father and mother and Mrs. Woody Traylor.

Some of our talented neighbors are getting up a one act play, which will be the tenth of July unless something happens. See the paper for any changes. There will also be a style show from away back yonder until today, so try not to miss this. I am not sure just how much you will have to pay, but it won't be very high. So sell a few eggs and come.

Several from here went to Arnold Sloan's Friday night to a tacky party, from what we heard and what we saw it certainly was a real tacky party.

PROPOSALS

Possible outlines of Roosevelt's labor program are being worked out around a $16 a week minimum and elimination of overtime pay at the capitol. Some sources who keep in labor developments expected Mr. Roosevelt's recommendations to be passed early next year.

It is stated that in addition to the standards that are being elastic the legislation will be passed by the three-man commission to consider the proposed act and work industries. Apply to firms engaged in inter-state business. Exempt service industries, such as dry cleaners and firms employing fewer than 20 persons. Contain no fair trade practice provisions. Some sources said the commission might be given sufficient leeway to lower maximum hours to 35 a week and to raise wage minimum to $1500 a year in some cases, it was explained.

Claude Saylor, who has been quite sick all week, is slightly improved.

Salt Treatment Aids Paralysis

"Hypotonic" salts flowing in the veins of 57 infantile paralysis victims have brought every one of them through the disease alive and 20 without any trace of paralysis.

This new treatment for infantile paralysis, first announced two years ago, and since then improved and simplified, was exhibited to the American Medical Association by George M. Retan, M. D., of Syracuse University and Syracuse Memorial Hospital.

The "hypotonic" solutions are common salt of less concentration than the normal salt in the blood. In infantile paralysis large quantities are flushed in the veins continuously for five hours at a time. They are put in with hyperdomic. The volume is 10 cubic centimeters of liquid per hour per pound of weight.

The result is relief of the nerve inflammation which causes the damage and death. During the salt injection small amounts of spinal fluid are periodically extracted as a precaution against high pressure building up in the brain.

All 57 cases were severe. Ten were the breathing paralysis type which usually has a death rate of 50 per cent. Five were the "ascending" kind which copy books say is usually 100 per cent fatal. All were from Louisville, Binghamton and Syracuse.

Dr. Retan said it appears the "iron lung" will not be needed with infantile paralysis treated by this method. The lung was used on the first two of the 10 respiratory cases, he said, before the new treatment had been well established.

He described a case of a child with one side of the diaphragm and intercostal muscles on the same side completely out of action. The child was breathing only with the other lung when the salt treatment began. In half an hour breathing movement was visible in the apparently paralyzed lung.

There were six cases of throat paralysis. Average mortality of such cases is 40 to 50 per cent. The six were not only saved, but recovered far quicker. With the throat paralysis, Dr. Retan said, ordinary patients are not able to swallow liquids until an average of 16 days after the onset.

But the salt treated patients were able to drink fluids after the first treatment. This happened although their throats had been paralyzed from a few hours to three days. Several, he said have eaten solid food after the third treatment. This was 48 hours after complete throat paralysis.

He reported that some strength returns almost immediately to weakened muscles. But muscles which are completely paralyzed are not helped. Of the 57 cases, 23 began the salt treatment before muscular paralysis had appeared. Twenty of these after recovery were completely free from any paralysis whatever.

SWIMMING SEASON CALLS FOR LIFE-SAVING METHODS

Austin.—"No elaborate equipment is needed to save a life from drowning," is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. "In fact, actual harm has been done by the misuse of so-called lung motors. Modern resuscitation apparatus has been perfected so that oxygen and carbon dioxide can be used without inflicting more damage to cases of asphyxiation and of drowning. It is tragic enough to have a drowning accident, but it is far more tragic if no one present at the time knows how to save a life by artificial respiration.

"The prompt application of artificial respiration is of primary importance, and for this purpose the prone pressure method is the easiest, simplest and most effective. This should begin at once and continue rhythmically until natural breathing is established—this may take 4 or more hours. Procedure: First: Kneel and straddle the patient below the hips, placing hands on small of the back with fingers over the lowest ribs, tips of fingers just out of sight. Second: With arm straight, while counting one, two, swing forward, bearing weight on body firmly but not violently. Third: Swing backward while counting one, straighten up and thus relieving pressure—this allows air to be drawn into the lungs. Fourth: Rest in this position for two counts. Fifth: Repeat these movements rhythmically, forward and backward, without interruption, about 12 to 15 a minute, until natural breathing is restored. Sixth: Meanwhile, if assistance is at hand, a physician should be sent for, the patient's tight clothing should be loosened at neck, chest, waist and he should be kept warm. The patient should not be moved until he is breathing normally and then should not be allowed to get up but should be carried in a lying position to a place where he can be kept warm and receive medical attention."

You can always do without what you can't get. A pleasing disposition is more convincing than argument.

GET IN OR GET OUT

The welcome news has been received that Uncle Sam is going to require all the men and women on his pay rolls to become citizens of the United States or lose their jobs. So far the requirement has been merely that first papers be taken out. While no great number of aliens is said to be in our army and navy and otherwise employed by the nation, there should not be a single one. Americans first, last and all the time should be the rule in these cases.

EMPLOYMENT AT NEW PEAK

The number of persons employed in the United States rose from 41,719,000 in March to 41,953,000 in April, a new high for the recovery movement. Persons unemployed declined from 9,609,000 in March to 9,391,000 in April. The unemployment figure, however, did not quite reach the low of last December because of the increase in the supply of workers since that time. In April, there were 4,416,000 more persons employed than in the same month last year while unemployment was lower by 2,056,000.

On the other hand, a sharp recession in manufacturing activity is in prospect before the end of the year. On the basis of current figures, the normal average index of factory output for the last eight months of the year works out at 87, or nearly 30 per cent below the year's peak of 124 in April. While it is probable that factory output will be in excess of normal this year, it is not likely that the excess will be sufficient to do more than modify to some extent the indicated recession.

FARM INCOME STILL RISING

With returns on farm income available for a third of the current year, the Alexander Hamilton Institute says that it is now possible to get some definite idea as to the probable annual farm cash income in 1937. The Government estimates that farm income, including benefit payments, will amount to about $4,000,000,000 for the first half of the present year. Actual returns should not vary much from this figure. While the quantity of farm products marketed has been running below last year's volume, the curtailment has been considerably less than the figures on last year's short crop yields indicated. Either the drought was less serious than the reports indicated or the farmers have been shipping reserve supplies to market. At any rate, the curtailment of the quantity sold fell by a wide margin to offset the higher price level prevailing this year as compared with last year.

The outlook for the last half of 1937, however, is for a different situation than that existing during the first half. The present prospect is that the price trend of farm products will be downward, barring a drought which has as yet shown no indication of developing. During the last half of 1936, the price trend was upward. This suggests that the prices of farm products during the last six months of 1937 will not average much higher than during the corresponding period of 1936. If there is any increase, it should be practically offset by a curtailment in the quantity marketed.

Government benefit payments during the last half of the present year should not run greatly in excess of the relatively small payments of a year ago since most of the money set aside for this purpose will probably be paid out by the end of June.

This means that total farm cash income during the last six months of 1937 will be about the same as a year ago, or in the vicinity of $4,500,000,000. Consequently it may be tentatively estimated that the annual farm income in 1937 will be approximately $8,500,000,000, or the largest since the pre-depression year 1929. Although the income will be 18.9 per cent smaller than in 1929, it will be 8.1 per cent larger than in 1936 and practically double the income at the low for the depression in 1932. This year will represent the fifth consecutive year of expansion.

The prospect is, however, that the farmers' purchasing power for the full year 1937 will not be much larger than in 1936 in view of the higher price level of goods which the farmers buy. At the same time, their purchasing power will be only 7 per cent lower than in 1929.

Speaking of Epitaphs

By IRVIN S. COBB

BUT a few months ago one of my associates consented to attend a function given in honor of a close friend, and sat at the head table with the other notable guests. Toward the shank of the evening the toastmaster called upon him for a few words.

The lanky fellow got slowly upon his feet. "Some of you know why I have given up speaking," he said. "I don't talk in public any more. But I have not altogether wasted the time I have lately spent in a state of semi-retirement from the gay life of this great city. I have been composing a suitable epitaph for my own use. When I pass on I desire that these words may be inscribed upon my tombstone:
"Here lies (My name).
"Came into the world on such and such a date.
"Bit the dust on such and such a date.
"It was the first decent bite he'd had in years."

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. Why did Santa Anna and his men go to New Washington just before the Battle of San Jacinto?

A. Two reasons have been given: one that his army was much in need of Texas supplies stored there which he secured for the relief of his half-starved men, the other that he thought Houston's forces were in retreat to safety beyond the Sabine and he, Santa Anna, hoped to negotiate with the owner of a coasting vessel for his return to Mexico via Vera Cruz. When he reached there he learned that the vessel had that day been captured by a Texas war schooner, so he turned inland to avoid a sea attack and to assemble the scattered Mexican army.

Q. Where is Padre Island and to whom does it belong?

A. It is a narrow sand formed strip of land 120 miles long along the Texas coast between Corpus Christi and Brownsville. Private parties claim ownership under a Spanish grant confirmed by the Texas legislature in 1852 to "eleven and one-half leagues called Padre Island" but the island now contains nearly three times that amount of land.

Q. What are the details in the Hall of State on the exposition grounds at Dallas and where has the responsibility for them been placed?

A. The lower floor has been flooded through seepage or faulty plumbing, one wing of the structure has perceptibly settled, as has part of the paved plaza in front of the building, and the expensive murals have blistered in places. If the responsibility for these conditions has been fixed, it has not been made public.

Q. How and when were William H. and John A. Wharton captured and imprisoned in Mexico?

A. When William H. Wharton was returning on the Independ-

SOCIAL SECURITY

Collector of Internal Revenue W. A. Thomas has called attention to the fact that business and office managers of firms or corporations are not allowed to sign Treasury Form SS-1, which accompanies payment of taxes under Title VIII of the Social Security Act. Only an owner, president, partner or firm member may sign that form, or one with a properly executed power of attorney.

Treasury Form SS-1 must be submitted monthly accompanied by the employer-employee tax, which is one per cent of the wages paid and received.

Teachers and students who find occupation in camps and hotels this summer come under the taxing provisions of the Social Security Act and must pay their tax to the Collector of Internal Revenue in the district in which they are employed. Collector Thomas warned. Ordinarily, persons in the teaching profession are exempt from participation in the tax, but when they engage in private industry their income from that source is taxable, Mr. Thomas explained.

ence in April 1837 from service as commissioner from Texas to Washington the vessel was captured by two Mexican brigs of war, and Wharton was taken to Matamoros and imprisoned. John A. Wharton went to Matamoros to try to exchange Mexican prisoners and secure release of his brother, but was thrown into a dungeon there, from which he escaped after six days. In the meantime, William H. Wharton had escaped and returned to Texas.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest and Importance

ONE HEALTHY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The most encouraging recent economic development in the country as a whole is that both individual citizens and business organizations are paying debts more promptly than for some years past.

A nationally recognized authority on financial matters—F. M. Law of Houston, former president of the American Bankers Association—lately brought that message to the Texas manufacturers meeting in San Antonio. That healthy trend partly offset the staggering and still increasing public debt, the financier commented. Notwithstanding the fears expressed in some quarters, the nation is solvent and not in the least danger of going bankrupt.

As has been demonstrated again and again, the average American—whether he tills the soil or heads a great corporation—respects an old debt paying tradition. Consequently, an early sign of better times which financial observers noted was that farmers were paying back debts.

Similarly, meeting in Spokane, recently the National Retail Credit Association reported that buyers all over the country paid bills more promptly last year than for some time past. That association's country wide survey brought to light these developments:

"Bad debt losses were, in most cases, the lowest since 1929." On the other hand, increased collections of accounts receivable tended to reduce the cost of doing a credit business.

However, in its declaration of policy the association wisely advised against "competition in liberalizing credit terms." Evidently it has not forgotten the lessons learned during the "prosperous twenties." It recognizes a "duty to control the mortgaging of future earnings for the protection of the consumer public."

A modern Polonius would advise, Use your credit sparingly and you always will have credit.—San Antonio Express.

LET THE BUYER BEWARE

Postmaster General Farley is moving against one of the meanest of all rackets—the promotion of fake mutual benefit life protection organizations which has cost the American public thousands of dollars annually.

The shysters who run these rackets pretend to sell insurance although they are careful not to use that word. They sell their policies to anyone, without requiring medical examinations, welcoming prospects up to the age of 85. Since few people bother to read their insurance certificates carefully, the joker in these policies—which makes payment of death benefits subject to a postmortem investigation—is generally overlooked. As a result, benefits are seldom paid to beneficiaries.

"Before you invest, investigate" is an excellent rule for the buyer of insurance. While the postal authorities are driving these crooks out of business, the rule is commended to your attention.—Brownwood Bulletin.

SPLENDID PLAYGROUNDS TEXAS SHOULD HAVE

Both the Padre Island State Park and Big Bend National Park enterprises—though temporarily set back by Governor Allred's vetoes of proposed appropriations for land-acquisition—should be kept alive.

Texas needs both those playgrounds and can develop them into priceless public assets. Therefore, the state cannot afford to pass up the opportunity to acquire such natural beauty spots for the people's permanent use and enjoyment.

Now that tourism—more than 47 million strong this season, by an official estimate—have "discovered" America anew and are traveling the highways to the South and the West, those playgrounds are the most desirable. Both are usable the year round and offer advantages and attractions not to be found elsewhere. Unquestionably, the two parks would draw several hundred thousand visitors annually, who would spend aggregate millions of dollars in Texas.—San Antonio Express.

BANK NITES ARE GONE

This week for the first time since the pangs of the depression first gripped this country, Texas will not have "Bank Nites" and merchandise awards. Judge O. S. Lattimore, in a straightforward opinion, held such business stimulating schemes to be lotteries, and thus a violation of Texas statutes. The decision found concurrence by Judge Lattimore's associates on the Court of Criminal Appeals. The Supreme Court previously had so held in a civil suit, and thus the two highest courts of appeals are in agreement on the matter.

It is not without regret that we see Bank Nites go. They were harmless institutions that stimulated business not only in theatres and mercantile establishments, but probably throughout the country. To the theatres they were the shot of life blood that enabled these seemingly essential institutions to weather the dark days of the depression. The crowds they brought to business centers during the dull days certainly did not harm business in general.

But it was inevitable that in time they must go, and no one can find fault with the logic of Judge Lattimore's decision. They depended upon the element of chance, and that constituted a lottery. Rather than quarrel with the inevitable, those directly affected should be grateful that a tolerant people did not find fault earlier; that when they were most needed, Bank Nites were accepted as an emergency institution mildly at variance with accepted practices. Most people applauded the resourcefulness brought forth by this harmless depression-beater.

The emergency is gone and now Bank Nite is gone with it. Had not the higher courts ruled the custom out, a reform-minded legislature in its morals session would have outlawed the practice. And so the theatres lost only a few weeks at most. It was a good scheme while it lasted.—Brownwood Banner.

DEATH IS PERMANENT

The destruction of denburg has once again before the eyes and ears of the world the terror of uncontrollable fire. Millions, reading the news and viewing the photographs of the disaster and its victims, have been led by a shudder of so long ago to the school disaster rehearsal and its victims.

The unfortunate fact is that these things are quickly forgotten, and a large part of the population refuses to adopt measures of long standing which would prevent the individual tragedies and the cumulative total of damage property damage is greater than that of infrequent major disasters are headlined in the press.

For example, see the sons in the United States of the 1500 who in burning buildings of burns and scalds, literally every one of them is preventable. Indian Gap is making great preparations for the annual home coming and picnic to be held at the E. P. Mitchell picnic grounds there on July 4. A big basket dinner will be spread at noon and everybody is invited to attend and participate in the program of the day. Many old timers from a distance are expected to be present.

Considerable interest has been occasioned by the recent discovery of a slight landslide on the bank of the Lampasas river near its head in the McGirk community. The particular location is about six miles north of the McGirk school house and about 300 yards northwest of the place occupied by Gordon Crews, son-in-law of H. C. Cornelius; and approximately one-half mile from the home of J. J. J. Newton.

Some three weeks ago the Newtons heard some kind of an unusual rumbling explosion, apparently in the nearby vicinity, but beyond some casual comment concerning the peculiar noise, no attention was paid to it, until later, on Sunday when they started to church along the accustomed pathway across the river, interference with their route was noticed. Investigation revealed a some 200-foot cave-in or landslide on the river bank. Information concerning the phenomenon soon spread and many people have journeyed to the spot to investigate, and many different opinions are expressed as to the cause of the great earth fissure. Some say that it is merely a landslide, such as is frequently seen along overbalanced creek banks, while others, probably less sophisticated, declare it is an indication of a gas upheaval; still others surmise it to be the result of some volcanic eruption or mild earthquake; others venture that it is possibly the result of giving away to some extent of the roof of an underground cavity, weakened by a constant accumulation of water seeping through from the surface.—Herald-Record.

THAT WORD "CRASH"

Latest Developments in the Nation's Battle Against the Reckless Driver

BUS CRASH KILLS TWELVE says a paper on Monday. FAMILY OF FIVE DIES IN CRASH says another on Wednesday. FRANCO-GERMAN RELATIONS HEAD FOR CRASH—Thursday. Even the Friday woman's page says "Linen Crash dresses popular for sports wear." And the depression, now turning venerable and white at the temples, started its lusty youth with what was popularly called "The Crash."

If you've ever been in a crash, you know it's not as simple as the word sounds. It's a very personal sort of symphony, starting with the scream of tires on the pavement, going from the second movement, a sort of shuddering, bumping whack, into the lighter melodies of tinkling glass, screaming women and the music of licking, hungry flames.

Speed did it again.

Speed does it, and speed alone. It doesn't take a student of naval gunnery to figure out that if a thing is going fast, it hits something hard. Speed hits more than 35,000 people every year. It hits them very hard and kills them.

The simplest logic in the world is to say, "Get rid of speed and the word Crash will soon be as extinct as the shaving mug." But speed is like the weather—everybody dislikes it, but the only man who can do anything about it—the driver—doesn't.

That's easy, too, because if he won't do anything to help himself, somebody will have to do something for him. Speed cops can watch him part of the time, and arrest the most blatant offenders, sometimes before they kill somebody, sometimes after. But the consensus of opinion—state, local, and Federal—is that if these grown-up children are going to hurt themselves by running their kiddie-cars too fast, the kiddie-cars will have to be fixed so that speed too great for conditions is just not there. In other words, mechanical control that holds down the driver at all times.

In Minnesota they have a plan, and more and more of the other states, especially where they have heavy crash casualties, think the Minnesota plan is pretty good. The first prerequisite is a color zoning of roads; when a driver can go about with impunity, he sees yellow painted all over the fences, lamp posts and everything else. A

Nance and Mary Sue had been visiting there for a week. As we have always contended, the watermelons and the girls are a little sweeter the air a little fresher and everything a shade more prolific in the Garden of Eden than elsewhere. To substantiate our claim, W. H. Carothers brought in a Johnson grass root bearing an Irish potato. The fresh is on exhibit in the Stallings window. Yes, sir, there may be other sections of Texas that are good, but as far as we know, Lometa is the only vicinity that Johnson grass roots produce Irish potatoes while the top makes hay.

FIRST ON RECORD
A star route mail carrier out of Burnet, who serves the Buchanan Dam, Bluffton and Tow Offices, met the Bluffton office coming down the highway the past Friday, the enterprising Tow correspondent of the Llano News reported this week.

The building, which houses a general store and post office, was halted long enough for the exchange of mails and then was moved on down the highway to its new location where the Tow road intersects Highway No. 23.

There the proprietor, Alex Croft, will reestablish the village of Bluffton. Evacuation of the old site was made necessary by the rapid rise in the level of Lake Buchanan.—Llano News.
