CONTRACT LET FOR CONSTRUCTING HIGHWAY TO STAR

Highway Department Lets $133,441. Job To Waco Contractors

FFA Meeting August 12, 13, 14

Tuesday evening August 3, Prof. Henry called a special meeting of the Goldthwaite Association of the Future Farmers to discuss plans and make arrangements for their annual Encampment, which will be held on Brady creek, ten miles south of Richland Springs on the Gibbons Ranch August 12, 14.

After a general discussion, each boy received his food and utensil allotment. Approximately forty boys will attend, going in a school bus driven by Mr. Lee. Mr. Lee drove a bus last year during the school term, so each boy will be assured safety.

SALT LAKE MAY PROVE VALUABLE.

The American Cyanide Company is considering a plant for the mining of cyanide salts eight miles west of O'Donnell. They plan the use of 135 men at the plant. The salts are found in a huge lake and Charley Doak of O'Donnell has been trying to interest capitalists in the project for many years.

ENJOYS REUNION

W. P. Weaver attended a reunion at Beattie eight miles north of Comanche of three families, Strickland, Fisher and Nelson, old friends of Mr. Weaver. About one hundred and fifty relatives and one hundred friends enjoyed a wonderful dinner together. Luther Soules went along with Mr. Weaver (as he says) to open gates.

Saturday the State Highway Department awarded the contract from Goldthwaite to the Hamilton Co. line near Star Hannah & Reid Construction Co. of Waco. Their bid was $133,441. The new highway will be little less than 15 miles, shortening the present distance about 4 miles and will eliminate bends and turns that make the present road a menace to drivers. Work will begin on the road within 30 days and will probably start at the Goldthwaite end.

Baptist Reminder

The meeting closed at Eva Sunday afternoon. It was the greatest meeting I have been there in three years. There were fifteen additions to the church. They invited me back for another year. This is the first time I have ever been invited for a fourth time for meeting.

I will begin my last meeting for the summer tonight (Friday) with the Jones Chapel Baptist church in Brown county. I will come back and preach here Sunday and Sunday night.

Remember our revival will begin the third Sunday in the month. Rev. Claude Johnston of Sherman will do the preaching and our singer will be Bailey Forrester of Brownwood.

GETTING THE SILO RELIGION

W. P. McCullough is filling a 140-ton silo with red top cane and corn and will feed the silage to breeding ewes and nannies this winter. Mr. McCullough has an excellent feed crop, particularly of red top cane. It has been demonstrated that corn and red top cane make the best silage. Mr. McCullough recognizes the need of succulent feed for breeding sheep and goats.

A number of farmers visited the W. A. Hill farm last week and watched the filling of his large silo with corn, feterita, maize and hegar which he will feed to his white face cattle.

Willis Horton, registered here, bred a large silo with corn last week. Several interested farmers visited Mr. Horton's filling.

In 1935 four silos were built in Mills county, in 1936 thirteen were built and filled and in July 1937 thirteen were built and filled.

NEW JUDGE

JUDGE RALPH YARBOROUGH

The job of counseling with Judge Few Brewster of the 27th District Court in expediting the administration of justice throughout Judge Brewster's jurisdiction, which includes Mills County, has been placed upon the shoulders of Judge Ralph Yarborough of Austin, Judge of the 53rd District Court.

Taking the oath as presiding judge of the 17 district judges and 32 counties in the third administrative judicial district, Judge Yarborough, as his first official act, called the annual business meeting of the district's judges, to be held in Austin on August 14.

Thirty-four years old, the new presiding judge is the youngest of any presiding officer in the nine administrative districts comprising the Texas judicial system. Former assistant attorney general, Judge Yarborough recently was elected president of the University of Texas Law school association.

As presiding officer, Judge Yarborough must see that dockets in all the district courts of the district keep reasonably abreast of current business, on theory that 803,000 Texans living in this area are entitled to orderly trials of all litigation as rapidly as is consistent with achieving justice.

An Outdoor Exposure Guide

Taken against a white garden wall, with puppies on a bench Exposure 1/25 second, stop f.11 with folding camera.

WHAT kind of camera is yours? What do you want to photograph? Below is a dependable outdoor exposure guide for average picture subjects.

This guide is for days when the sun is shining. When the day is cloudy, the exposure should be about twice as long and when very dull, about four times as long.

For the chrome type, supersensitive and panatomic films, the guide is good from one hour after sunrise until one hour before sunset. For ordinary film, make the margin 2 1/2 hours.

Why not cut this valuable guide out and paste it in your hat, or something?

YARD FENCES COMING BACK

American homes before long will have fences around them as they all did some 30 or 40 years ago.

In making this statement architects explain that fences will not be the old forbidding style as they originally were designed, but will be more for ornament. The romantically inclined may be interested in the fact that front gates are coming back along with the fences.

There are several reasons why front fences disappeared. One was that they cost money, different style fences were unsightly, and the need for them was felt to have ceased. At any rate, the fad of open yards started and soon became universal. There was a day when no respectable residence was without a fence. Nowadays many back yards are without them.

Fences that are fences should return for that matter. They will insure more privacy for homes. Front lawns were never intended as thoroughfare for peddler, children and others, or as recreation centers for neighborhood packs of dogs. The home lost something when fences disappeared, and they should come back—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

THE TOWNSEN REUNION HELD SATURDAY-SUNDAY

The annual Townsen Reunion was held Saturday afternoon, night and Sunday at the Presbyterian tabernacle grounds at Adamsville. Quite a number of the relatives came in from a distance and many of them gathered Saturday afternoon, and had supper together, and stayed till time to go home. Sunday morning the relatives and a few friends all began to pour in.

After gathering and talking for a time, some old songs were sung and religious services were held under the tabernacle. The Rev. G. W. Jones, pastor of the church, was in charge of the program and after a few words, called on Rev. W. J. Johnson, a former pastor to lead in prayer. Then the pastor introduced the Rev. H. Peyton Waddell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Wortham. He is a member of the Townsen family and used for his subject, "Our Great Heritage." In well chosen words, with feeling and a fine delivery, this young minister told what had made the Townsen family great and said that their future greatness depended on how they lived true to their God and made first things in life first—Lampasas Record.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe B. Townsen and Lewis Townsen Hudson attended from here.

Highest mountain in Texas is Guadalupe Peak, located near El Paso in the extreme western section of the state and rising 9,000 feet above sea level. Forming the southern end of the Guadalupe mountains in Guiberson County, it is quite a hill, even though not comparing with the 29,140 feet of Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain.

Many Are Homeless!

At best, a rented house is never a home in the true meaning of the word. The feeling of security, the joy of ownership, cannot be experienced in a rented house.

Home ownership is a primal impulse of mankind.

As far back as history records, we find men building homes and defending them—if only a rude hut entirely the work of a man's own hands. A cave in a cliff, or a prairie dwelling of sod, may be a real home.

Fortunately, the man of today, if industrious and saving, has within his reach a home all his own.

Our business is providing homes for homeless—won't you call and talk it over?

JOBS FOR THE UNDERTAKER

Four out of every five auto mobile accidents occur on dry roads in clear weather. Four out of every five automobile accidents involve cars driving straight ahead.

Here is the statistical proof of the disregard for every rule of courtesy and safety that characterizes the reckless or incompetent motorist. He constantly overestimates the "safety factors" of good roads and modern cars. A straight highway and a clear day act as bait to make him "open her up"—with the result that the undertaker gets about 37,000 new accounts each year.

A National Safety Council survey lists the seven most important causes of fatal accidents, in order, as follows: Exceeding speed limit or driving too fast for road and weather conditions; driving on the wrong side of the road; disregarding stop signs and signals; usurping right of way; cutting in; passing on hills and curves; failure to signal for stopping and turning.

These driving errors cause the great bulk of all serious accidents, and the first is by far the worst. Every one of them is a human error—and every accident they produce could be prevented if individual drivers would observe the most elementary rules of caution and proper driving.

In conclusion, here is one more fact you might think over next time you feel the urge to step on it: At 20 miles per hour, one accident in 61 is fatal, while at 50 or more miles per hour, one accident in every 11 produce a corpse.

YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps; when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man.

A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordsals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

FIRST IN HISTORY

Where the Buffalo and Tennessee Rivers meet is a fertile bend known as Big Bottom. On this little piece of farm land a daughter was born to William and Lucy Wyatt on Feb. 1, 1878. Hattie, as her name was recorded in the large family Bible, grew into a quiet girl who helped her mother around the house and her father milk the cows until she was sent to a little college in Dickson, Tenn.

At Dickson Normal College young Miss Wyatt changed her first name to Hattie, and after eight years of courtship she allowed her schoolmate Thaddeus Caraway to change her last name to his. The young couple moved to Jonesboro and while "Thad" became a competent young lawyer, Hattie became an equally competent young housewife.

Some weeks ago housewife Hattie Caraway became the first woman in the history of the United States to serve any state as its senior senator. Her elevation to this position, after the death of senior Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, was talked in the Senate as Mrs. Caraway's fifth "first." The first woman to be elected to the Senate by popular vote, she also was the first of her sex to be chairman of a Senate committee, to conduct a Senate hearing, and to preside over the Senate.

When her husband, who had been a Senator from Arkansas, died in 1931, Mrs. Caraway was chosen at a special election the next year to fill his seat. Her election was deemed nothing more than a gracious gesture on the part of Arkansas politicians who could not agree upon an heir to the Caraway post. In the Senate, Mrs. Caraway, who was known in Washington only as "a demure little woman," was seated next to boisterous Huey Long of Louisiana, and, without explanation, she promptly became his chief supporter. In 1933, the time came for the next senatorial election in Arkansas, and "The King Fish" helped Mrs. Caraway win more votes than her six opponents combined.

Then, back in Washington for a term that will not expire until 1939, Senator Hattie Caraway again took her place in the Senate chamber, where she usually sits huddled during sessions, apparently absorbed in a cross-word puzzle. Without Huey to guide her, she now votes as she thinks "Thad" would have done.

means giving the mileage

It's up to me to make this business go, because it's mine. I never did a smarter thing than featuring Conoco Germ Processed oil, with all its long mileage for you. Talk doesn't make mileage or customers, but I can tell you what does... Oil-Plating your engine with Germ Processed oil. The patent Germ Process makes oil actually take hold of every working part and keep it coated with a durable Oil-Plating... entirely extra to the regular moving type of oil film. Oil-Plating backs up the oil film while the car is running, and never drains down during hours of parking. Then you'll never start up without lubrication. And at the end of your longest run on a hot day, your engine will still have its full safe plating of Conoco Germ Processed oil. The way it lasts gives me a right to be called Your Mileage Merchant.

CITIZENS OF THE FUTURE

Stanley Baldwin chose at the last large audience he would address as Prime Minister, 7,000 youths from all parts of the British Empire who were attending a conference in London last week. To them he figuratively handed the torch which had been carried down the path of centuries of British domination as a world power. In his speech was revealed much of the fiber and sinew that have given a great empire its strength. In the hands of these youngsters, as Mr. Baldwin was aware, lies the nation's destiny.

The youths were reminded that on them would rest an obligation: "All your lives put your duty first and think about your rights afterwards." Each one of them was impressed with knowledge that he was bound to have some effect for good or evil in neighborhood and in country, and was admonished, "Do your best by it, for your own sake and for the sakes of your own children." And if they should fall in their trust, little benefit would remain for them or their children to enjoy.

Cavalcade Is $500,000 Free Spectacle at Exposition

The Cavalcade of the Americas, a great historical spectacle depicting the struggle for liberty on the part of the peoples of the nations of the Western Hemisphere, is a free attraction at the Pan American Exposition in Dallas. The production cost $500,000 and is on the largest stage in the world. Scenes from Cavalcade, shown above, are: (1) The landing of Christopher Columbus; (2) Geraldine Robertson, star of Cavalcade; (3) Cortez captures Mexico City; (4) Bolivar's cavalry charges the Spaniards.

STATE NEWS

Underneath the rolling Texas prairies, or tucked away in the state's hillsides, lies a varied and inexhaustible fortune in stone and marble, scarcely touched in the past, undisturbed in the present—the basis of a thriving marble industry. Yet, lacking the services of capital and the entrepreneur, ledge upon ledge of stone remains intact while annually Texas builders import $2,000,000 worth of marble for wainscoting and ornamental purposes from established quarries in the East and Old South. Among the stone's marble resources, important is a heritage from the ice age—a bed of deep sea shell limestone extending from the Red river to the Pecos, said to comprise a greater marketable volume of an unusual stone than any similar deposit in the union. Some of this stone when polished, reveals an ornate configuration rarely found on the commercial market. Parts of this ledge, crushed into small stone, were used in the foundations of several Texas highways. Even more important commercially is the great vein of dense limestone marble which shows huge outcroppings in Burnet, Blanco, Mason, Gillespie, Llano, Lampasas, San Saba and McCullough counties.

WPA WORKER INHERITS $50,000

WHAT! YOUR CHICKENS DON'T HAVE WORMS?

I WOULDN'T be too sure about that. Three locks out of four say worms. And you can't always tell by looking at birds whether they are wormy or not.

So it pays to make sure. And the way to find out is with Dr. Hess' Country Worm Powder—the modern treatment for worms in poultry.

It's the modern treatment because it is a flock treatment—none of this individual dosing business. And it's a sure-fire round worm getter.

Doesn't throw your flock off feed or off production. A single dose does the job. You just feed it to your chickens with a little wet mash in the morning—and then watch for results.

LARGEST CITIES

Even with the friendly rivalry between several Texas cities as to population totals, surprisingly few people know the ranking of the ten largest cities in the state. According to the 1930 census, Houston heads the list with 292,352. Dallas and San Antonio are in second and third places, and Fort Worth, El Paso, Beaumont, Austin, Galveston, Waco and Port Arthur follow in order.

ROCK SPRINGS

The meeting began Friday night. Rev. J. C. Wade preached Friday and Saturday night. Mr. Floyd Sansom filled the pulpit Sunday morning. His wife and son also attended services. Mr. Sansom made a fine talk.

We extend our sympathy to Ira Hutchings and R. E. Clements in the loss of their household goods and the loss of the house. A fire is a terrible thing.

Rev. Franklin E. Swanner from town is holding the meeting. His first sermon was Monday morning.

B. F. Renfro and family from town attended church Sunday night.

Rev. Renfro preached Sunday night.

The men of the community got the tabernacle finished Saturday morning. Joe Huffman hauled the seats out late Saturday afternoon, about fourteen years ago the ladies started a building fund. So that is how the tabernacle was built. This money has been loaned out for the past few years. Of course the ladies didn't do all this by themselves the men helped. This tabernacle could be built several years ago but you see it wasn't. The ladies of the community took lunch to the school house Friday which I am sure all the men enjoyed. The lunch was fine with plenty of ice tea and ice water as long as it lasted. This is one way the ladies made the money.

Mrs. John Roberts cousin Lee Secret of Hamilton composed this poetry for us which we sent for and near to relatives and friends.

"How much do you weigh?"
We are going to build a Baptist church,
So you upon the scales should perch.
And in your mind no thought should lurch,
Of avoiding a chance of giving
One penny for every pound,
Of bodily weight you carry around
Over life's great battle ground,
Where you and your neighbors are living.

Don't put off a week or two,
These days of waiting should be fun,
So come around and kick right through,
With the coin your weight prescribes,
Just send your check by mail,
Or the writer you might hail
When going down the trail,
Where people meet and greet,
And peace abides.

We gave box suppers, ice cream suppers, candy breaking and sold socks filled with candy. The tabernacle is something for a community to be proud of it will last a long time.

Our paper makes us think we may have an oil well some time this year.

"Rog" your poetry was fine in last weeks paper they have all been good but I liked last weeks better than any. Keep them coming some day my grandchildren will have a scrap book of them.

Don't be afraid to come and bring your children to church for Mrs. Joe Roberts is not bringing her children who have the whooping cough.

There has been a bunch of dogs killing James Nichols sheep the last few days. If you don't want your dog's killed you had better plan some way to keep them in a safe place. Sheep are too high for some one's dog to kill.

Maynor Walton from Center City visited in John Roberts home this week.

Will Dennard and wife from Big Valley and Mrs. Eula Nichols and Phillip were dinner guests in the Daniel home Sunday.

Joe Roberts from Winters spent Friday and Saturday will move his family sometime soon.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL

By MAX BERNIS

Our Form of Government

How does our form of government differ from that of most countries? In most countries the rulers create the form of government, change it at will and hand it to the people.

These are autocracies. But in our case not the government but the people drafted our Constitution, the people ratified it and the people only may amend it. Ours is a constitutional democracy—"a government of the people, for the people and by the people."

Some changes in our Constitution are healthy but those that change the basic form of the world's most successful democracy are dangerous. Daniel Webster points this out as follows: "Other misfortunes may be borne, or their effects overcome. If disastrous wars should sweep our commerce from the ocean, another generation may renew it; if it exhaust our treasury, future industry may replenish it; if it demolish and lay waste our fields, still, under a new cultivation, they will grow green again, and ripen to future harvests. . . .

"But who shall reconstruct the fabric of demolished government?"

"Who shall rear again the well-proportioned columns of constitutional liberty? . . .

"No, if these columns fall, they will be raised not again," concludes

Webster. "Like the Coliseum and the Parthenon, they will be destined to a mournful, and a melancholy immortality. Bitterer tears, however, will flow over them than were ever shed over the monuments of Roman or Grecian art; for they will be the monuments of a more glorious edifice than Greece or Rome ever saw, the edifice of constitutional American liberty."

SPECIAL TYPEWRITER AIDS SIGHT

Over 400 Sight-Conservation Classes Use Machines With Large-Sized Type to Save Sight of 6,000 Handicapped Children

TWENTY-THREE years ago the first two sight-conservation classes in the United States made a modest beginning. One in Boston, the other in Cleveland. Today more than 500 such classes are sending out hundreds of graduates annually, who, without this aid, would be among the handicapped and dependent.

Three types of children are eligible for these classes: those with permanently low vision, those with progressive eye defects or diseases and those whose vision may deteriorate under normal school conditions. A system of education is employed which combines both visual and tactile methods. Thus, while a child does all visual work in special groups, his oral lessons are conducted with the rest of his class who have normal sight. In this way he does not run the risk of emotional upset by being made to feel himself handicapped.

Special Eye-Saving Equipment
One of the most important pieces of equipment in these classes is the typewriter with large-sized, or "bulletin" type. As soon as the child reaches the 3rd or 4th grade he is taught the touch system. Thereafter all of his themes and written work are done on the typewriter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roper and little daughter of San Antonio spent a short while here with her sister, Mrs. Lucille Fairman, Sunday.

MILLS COUNTY ADVANTAGES

According to a report from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, there has been a 90 per cent increase in all classes of Texas livestock in shipments during June over last year. The shipments of cattle to the Fort Worth markets were doubled and sheep went one better, an increase of 67 per cent over last year.

Miss Mollie Dumas and brother Lee Dumas of Fort Worth and Mrs. F. R. Farris of Silver Valley visited Sunday with Mrs. M. E. Cook.

FRED LAUGHLIN HURT AT WORK ON HIGHWAY

Fred Laughlin was seriously injured last Friday evening in a truck accident and is still in a serious condition in a Brownwood hospital.

Miss Tommie Moore of San Saba visited her sister, Mrs. Lee Long, here Sunday.

O. H. Shaw has bought the J. W. Stewart place in the west part of town and has moved there this week.

Myopic Chinese
In San Francisco's Chinatown eleven little Chinese click away at their special typewriters under the guidance of an American teacher. One of their favorite activities is the building of an American home, consisting of living room, dining room and bedroom. The older boys make wooden furniture and the little ones mould clay dishes, all as occupational as their oriental fingers can contrive to make them!

According to Mrs. Winifred Hathaway, Associate Director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, these classes with special typewriters and other facilities have saved thousands from industrial failure and social handicap. "They not only save many children from repeating grades—an asset not only to them but to the taxpayer—but they turn these youngsters from liabilities into assets to the state," she says.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roper and little daughter of San Antonio spent a short while here with her sister, Mrs. Lucille Fairman, Sunday.

Mrs. W. E. Grisham, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fairman, returned to San Antonio with Mrs. Roper.

Jake Sexton, wife and daughter Mary Ann and Miss Joe Short of Dallas passed through here Saturday on their way to California for a two weeks vacation.

SEVEN YEARS OF DEBTS.

The Federal Government completed its fiscal year by spending $1,305,000,000 in June. This represented the largest figure for any peace-time month on record with the exception of June last year, when expenditures were abnormally large as a result of the payment made on the soldiers' bonus, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. Although receipts in June were much larger than in the corresponding month in 1936, there was a deficit of $434,000,000. This deficit occurred with the balance in the Treasury at a relatively low level. Consequently, the Government borrowed not only enough to meet this deficit, but enough to build up substantially its Treasury balance. Total borrowings in June amounted to $1,212,000,000, raising the debt to a new high peak of $36,425,000,000.

For the full fiscal year, total expenditures amounted to $8,573,000,000, or only $706,000,000 less than the previous year when expenditures were swollen by the payment of a major portion of the soldiers' bonus. In 1935 and 1936, the cost of the bonus was $1,673,000,000, whereas last year the cost was only $564,000,000. Expenditures for purposes other than the bonus were thus larger last year than in the previous year when they were at a record peace-time high. As a result of a sharp increase in receipts, however, the deficit was considerably smaller than in the previous year, although it was still substantial, amounting to $2,811,000,000.

Receipts during the past fiscal year were somewhat smaller than anticipated by the budget because of too much optimism in forecasting the repayment of loans made by the Government. Expenditures, however, were not as large as expected and the net result was a smaller deficit than the budget estimate. At the same time, the debt at the end of the year was more than a million dollars greater than the forecasted one. This was due to the fact that the Government gave up the idea of starting the new year with a balanced budget. Consequently, in order to meet the prospective deficits, it was necessary for the Government to build up its treasury balance, by borrowing to a much higher amount than it had originally planned to have on hand at the beginning of the new fiscal year.

The Government has now had deficits for seven consecutive years. As a result, the debt rose during this period from $16,185,000,000 to $36,425,000,000; an increase of more than twenty billion dollars.

OLD TIMERS CORNER

From time to time The Eagle will print under this heading the account of some incident in the life of one of Mills County's old time citizens. If you are an old-timer or if there is an old-timer living in your home, we would like to have you represented here. Just write out anything of interest that happened to you or some member of your family a long time ago and bring or mail it to the Goldthwaite Eagle.

Slavery in Kentucky

John A. Allen, better known to his friends as "Private John Allen" or "Pumper Allen," was born in Hardin County, Kentucky, before the war. There were plenty of negro slaves in that county, which, incidentally was the one in which Abraham Lincoln was born.

Mr. Allen remembers a negro slave named Willis. When only a baby, the little fellow rolled into an open fire and his side was so badly burned it did not seem possible for him to live. His master told his daughter, Elizabeth, if she could save the baby's life, she could have him to keep. By careful nursing, she saved his life and Willis grew up to be her devoted body-guard and coachman.

After the war when all the negroes had been freed, some nosy carpetbaggers who had come to Hardin County asked Willis how much his mistress was paying him.

"Just the same as she always has," he told them. "She gives me all I can eat and clothes to wear and a place to sleep, and that's all I want."

"But," the Yankees objected, "you are a free man now. You ought to make her pay you at least twenty-five dollars a month, or go work for somebody else."

"Look ahere, white man," Willis said, unbuttoning his shirt. "Do you see that scar? That burn was enough to kill me, and it would have killed me if Miss Lizzie hadn't saved my life. She and her husband have always taken care of me. Now he's dead and she's pore and got a big family of little

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

A Whole Community Implicated

By IRVIN S. COBB

THERE is a special writer on one of the New York papers who, justly or unjustly, lacks popularity with some of his office associates. It is understood that he believes his confreres are envious and cannot appreciate true ability. On the other hand, they assign very different reasons for the estimation in which they—and to hear them tell it—many outsiders hold the genius.

One night the special writer, having finished his assignment was loitered back in his chair, favoring the company with his views which, as a rule, are very pronounced.

From a nearby desk, an associate lifted a soiled face. "Blank," he said, "I'm going to tell you something—some morning you're going to be found dead in bed, with your throat cut from ear to ear."

"And more than a million people in this town will be arrested for the murder!"

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the state and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What is the tradition as to buried treasure near Chireno, in Nacogdoches County?

A. Legend: as to long lost buried treasure persist in almost every section of Texas. The Chireno tradition is that a Spanish pack train of 14 gold-laden mules was attacked near the present town of Chireno by robbers, a fight ensued, the mules with the gold escaped. The drivers threw the gold into a lagoon that goes dry in summer to which numerous searching parties have since come from time to time with time-worn maps, but without ever finding the gold. Many parts of Texas have been dug over by gold searchers following up traditions somewhat similar.

Q. Who conducted the first store in Comanche County and who erected the first mill there?

A. The first store was opened in 1855 by J. M. Cross, at Cora, the first county seat, about 12 miles from the present town of Comanche. Soon afterward Cross and Jesse Mercer erected a saw mill and grist mill there. At that time there were not more than two dozen families in the settlement, not enough to justify the expensive mill plant, and after two years it was moved to Bell county.

Q. Who was the first alcalde of the Ayish Bayou district?

A. Nathan Davis, who it is agreed, was the first settler in what is now San Augustine county, was erected first alcalde at a mass meeting in 1827. Davis refused to take the oath of children to raise. She took care of me, and now I see gwine take care of her."

office when it was read to him by the Mexican officer, on the ground that he did not know the Mexican law, but when others refused for the same reason, he finally consented to take an oath to execute such laws as he knew and other laws as he found out what they were.

Q. What was the first newspaper published in Jefferson?

BE AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE

Only 5 out of each 100 men, on reaching the age of 65 or more, have incomes sufficient for them to retire in decent comfort. The rest must continue to work, or subsist on charity or the bounty of relatives.

Here is the strongest possible argument for savings and investment plans, such as those provided by life insurance, whose purpose is to assure old age security. Nothing is more pitiable than dependent old people. The tragic lesson of millions whose plight cannot be remedied speaks louder than anything else for systematic saving.

Of two evils, choose neither.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

MANY FORGOTTEN MEN.

In his article in the Express recently-captioned "Many Forgotten Men"—David Lawrence asked:

"What protection is afforded to an individual who does not wish to join a union and who wants to work when a strike has been declared by either a minority or majority of his fellow employees? This question goes to the heart of present-day labor troubles and it becomes almost the paramount problem of the day because Congress, in passing the Wagner Act, omitted, not accidentally, but deliberately, listing an 'unfair labor practice' any coercion by employers against fellow employees."

Then Mr. Lawrence quotes from the Senate debate on the Wagner bill in May, 1935, in seeking, or analyzing, the reason "why Congress thought it wise to reject suggestions that employees be protected against coercion by other employees just as the Wagner Act protects employees against coercion by employers."

In the light of events marking the course of the steel, leather, aluminum and other industries' strike troubles—either general or local—during the past seven weeks and still today these two excerpts from the correspondent's quotations take on peculiar significance:

(1) Concerning a statement by Senator Wagner of New York, author of the National Industrial Relations Bill:

In refusing the amendment suggested by Senator Tydings to prohibit "coercion from any source," Senator Wagner declared that such an amendment, if adopted, would be used to endow the Federal Government with enormous police power. "So far as coercion is concerned, if it exists among employees, there is now an absolute legal right to go to court and seek an injunction if such coercion takes the form of intimidation or violence of any kind or character. When I was a judge, I issued such injunctions myself. But how has the word 'coercion' as among employees been interpreted by the courts? The use of pickets, mere persuasion, without any force, threats or intimidation, has been deemed coercion; and employees simply trying to persuade their fellow workers to join a particular organization have been charged with coercion."

(2) Concerning a statement by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts (chairman of the Senate Labor Committee (who, Mr. Lawrence considers, "has one of the fairest and best balanced minds of anybody in public life"):

"Nothing in this bill requires any employee to join any form of labor organization. Nothing in this bill requires the employees of any industry to organize. All employees are free to choose to organize, or not to organize, to join any or whatever labor organization or union they may choose."

And Senator Wagner himself is quoted (from the debate) as protection after police and strikers had waged a bloody fight over the reopening of the unit.

In about ten Commonwealths during the past two months, the State court injunction process—Senator Wagner will note—necessarily has yielded place to, or been supplemented by, the use of State soldiery and police either to enforce State governmental closing of industries, or to guard the resumption of strike ridden plants' operations, or both. And Senator Walsh will be particularly concerned about the manner in which CIO strikers have coerced fellow employees—sometimes in the majority—who did not denounce the same principle even more strongly—at that time." But, "what Senator Wagner thinks today of the failure of State courts to issue injunctions as were issued, for instance, in the State of Michigan, has not been disclosed."

The correspondent's article was written on June 7. On the same day, some 1,500 men who had signed up to work in a large unit of the Aluminum Company of America plant at Alcoa (Tennessee) which had been closed by a strike for almost two months past, saw the shops placed under National Guard fire to join in the strike.

Those many would-be stick to the job employees are not exactly "forgotten," but rather, they are ignored or slighted, men. The national law makers who passed the Wagner Act slighted them. Those State Governors who sent troops to close plants where they demanded the right to keep on working, ignored them. They were and are the principal victims of a wretched development which has carried the country from abuse of injunction on employers' side, to violent denial of the right to work on the strikers' side.

Unless we should decide the right to strike paramount to the right to work, Senator Wagner must concede that the last state is worse than the first. That is why the statute which bears his name should be amended to protect not alone employer's and the public's right to the orderly pursuit of industry, but also the right of the non-striking group (whether a majority or a minority in a given industry) to continue to work free from threats or the actuality of violent attack.—San Antonio Express.

A SERMON TO QUITTERS

Occasionally people of the church are heard to say, "I am not attending the services for the reason that such and such a one in the church is dishonest," or "I had dealings with a man of the church and he didn't treat me right," or "I know a certain individual is a hypocrite, therefore, I don't attend." Come, brace up! What's the matter with you? Did you join some individual in the church? Are you accountable for the sins of any individual?

DIET A PREVENTION AND CURE FOR PELLAGRA

Austin, Texas.—"Pellagra is a disease that is caused by not eating the right kind of food and shows itself usually by a strange kind of reddening and scaling of the skin," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The person with pellagra usually suffers loss of appetite, indigestion, diarrhea, soreness of the mouth and tongue, nervousness, low spirits and more or less general weakness.

Thousands of Texans suffer with this disease and approximately one thousand die each year. More cases appear in the spring and early summer than at any time of the year. This is because more people live on a restricted diet during the winter. It comes to those whose diet does not contain all that is needed to keep one in good health. The missing essential in the diet is called the pellagra preventin factor or vitamin. We know this because people who eat the right kind of food do not have the disease, because those who do have the disease eat the right kind of food do get well and remain well as long as they maintain a proper diet and also when people are fed the wrong kind of food they develop the disease. Pellagra is not a communicable disease. The treatment should be directed to your doctor and the main thing is diet. Do not rely on patent medicines.

The prevention of pellagra depends upon eating the right kind of food at all times. To make sure that the diet is right, it should always contain plenty of milk daily, some fresh meat and as many fresh vegetables as possible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, salmon, yeast, and fresh fruits are especially valuable. Having provided these essentials of proper diet, the rest may be arranged according to family or personal likes. In this way, you avoid pellagra."
