Highway Paving Complete to Brown County Line

Construction Co. Finishing Big Job

Will see the completion of the biggest road paved by the State Department—the paving of 7 miles from Goldthwaite to Brown county line. The 19-mile road has been re-paved by the Loyd Construction Co. of Fort Worth, Tex. The cost of the job is $156,522. The paving was completed last January and on February 1, 1937, has been the local highway.

The miles await the asphalt top layer. The fine concrete is being constructed in accordance with the latest federal specifications with particular attention to features such as shoulders, curves and grades.

Orders were broken on this job in August when the rock crusher at the site was broken. The work was 3240 yards. The rock crusher at the site was broken. The work was 3240 yards. The rock crusher at the site was broken. The work was 3240 yards.

PTA Meeting Held Tuesday

The first meeting of the Goldthwaite Parent-Teachers Association for the current school year was held at 4 o'clock Tuesday, Sept. 14, with a good representation of both parents and teachers. Mrs. R. J. Gerald, the president, was in the chair.

Preceding the business meeting, the executive board served punch and cookies.

Following the business meeting an interesting program was rendered with Mrs. Floyd Sansom, program chairman, in charge. Miss Hill, music teacher in the Goldthwaite school system, led the audience in singing "America, the Beautiful." Miss Tippen, teacher of the fourth grade, gave a delightful reading.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Rev. F. J. Brucks of the First Methodist church, who used as his subject "Character Building." He defined character as "the sum total of what we are." The meeting was opened and closed with prayer.

Boost Pecan Sale By Advertising

Brownwood.—A nation wide advertising campaign, enlisting radio, newspapers and direct by mail media, to increase sales of pecans was the principal topic of discussion at the West Texas Pecan Growers' meeting here on Friday.

The scheme will be similar to that initiated by the California Walnut Growers' Association which resulted in heavy returns to growers and dealers. Another topic discussed was the plan of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to avoid market surpluses and facilitate easy movement of paper shell pecans from growers to consumers.

Experimental work being carried on by the two Department of Agriculture pecan research stations in Brownwood was outlined to growers. Dr. C. L. South of Austin, head of the United States Department of Agriculture pecan experiment work in Texas, was among the speakers.

A 25,000,000 pound pecan crop is estimated for Texas this year. Growers say recent rains have assured a crop of high quality, as tests at the experiment stations here prove the nut needs moisture during the last 60 days of maturity.

Baptist Reminder

Our services were well attended Sunday with unusual interest. We had 188 in Sunday school. There were four united with our church Sunday morning. This brings our present membership up to 446. In the past 13 Sundays there have been additions to our church every Sunday except two. This interest should continue.

We are having our evening services in the house now. It was practically full Sunday night. Our time of meeting is: Sunday school 10; church services, 11; BTU, 6:30; Church services, 7:30.

You are always welcome at the Baptist church. We try to make everyone feel at home.—Franklin E. Swanner.

Postmasters Meet Lampasas Club

About 50 postmasters and postal employees and the same number of Lampasas citizens enjoyed a chicken barbecue Tuesday evening in the club house of the Lampasas country club. The banquet was followed by a meeting of the Hill Country Postmasters association.

Postmaster Jack Adams of Lampasas was host for the very enjoyable occasion. The Post Office department is now advertising for a site on which to erect a $75,000 federal post office building in Lampasas, and this was a cause for congratulation to Postmaster Adams and his fellow citizens.

Postmaster-Editor Billy Smith of San Saba was toastmaster and Postmaster-Editor John Sharp of Georgetown made one of the addresses. The principal speaker was Congressman Charles L. South of Coleman, who assisted in securing the federal building for Lampasas. Postmaster Ewell Nalle of Austin spoke briefly on post office business matters. Post Office Inspector Besserer was on hand to answer questions.

M. Y. Stokes, Jr., postmaster, and Mrs. Stokes, former acting postmaster, represented Goldthwaite at the meeting.

Special Train to Exposition Leaves On October 2nd

Films about the early care of babies and the mothers were also shown during the program.

Preceding the business meeting and program, members of the association were guests of the hotel management for a dinner at 7:30 o'clock.

The organization voted to take San Saba county into the society and the name will be changed to Brown-Mills-San Saba Counties Medical Society.

The Methodist Church

The attendance at the services is growing nicely. Our attendance at both Sunday school and the preaching services was considerably "up" last Sunday. If you have not started coming regularly, we wish you would. We need you, and we will do our best to help you and to make your coming worthwhile. Why not start Sunday and then keep coming? Attend every service possible and remember our Rally Day on Sept. 26. Help us attain the goal of 200. We are counting on you.—Fred J. Brucks.

Goldthwaite School Notes

The local public schools are closing a second week of the year in a very satisfactory manner, according to Supt. Smith. The enrollment has shown a slight gain this week, remaining as was reported last week, about 40 ahead of the corresponding time last year.

All teachers are in their respective places and are getting in line on their work in a very satisfactory manner. High school classes have begun their organization by the selection of faculty sponsors as follows: Senior class, Mrs. Euna V. Barnett; junior class Mrs. Lois Cox Marshall, sophomore class, Mrs. Cumile Hatchett, and the freshman class, R. L. Peterson. A list of class officers will be given next week.

Band classes, an innovation in the curriculum, are fast gaining momentum. James R. Dameron has charge of this department and ere long hopes to have an organization that will make a creditable showing.

The Glee Club under the direction of Miss Marie Hill has begun its year's work and is expecting to hold up to the same high standard that it has enjoyed in the past.

The Pep Squad has organized this year with more than 100 members. This also has always been one of the live organizations. This year the following officers have been selected: Catherine Fairman, president; Dorothy Hartman, secretary;

Actual Drilling To Start at Once

Staging a last minute rally, the promoters who hold a block of leases on land near Pecan Bayou secured a 12-day extension last Saturday and agreed to start drilling before the expiration of that time.

Yesterday Gordon Balyeat and Fred W. Boyd returned to Goldthwaite and announced the rig would be on location in plenty of time to spud in the well before the new deadline next Thursday.

The drilling contract provides that the well will be sunk 2,000 feet or through the black lime. Other tests in this vicinity have hit the lime at around 1700 or 1800 feet and have made a small quantity of oil. Improved drilling methods and the use of acid is confidently expected to produce a paying well if the new test proves even as successful as those in the past. However, reports by competent geologists indicate that there is a strong probability that the new test will prove considerably better than any of the others.

Coke Westbrook of San Angelo, whose mother, Mrs. Annie L. Westbrook, is owner of the principal tract in the block, was in conference with the oil men and their local associates here yesterday.

Frontier Fiesta to Close on Sept. 26

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BANQUET AT METHODIST CHURCH

Quite a nice group of young people attended a banquet at the Methodist church on Wednesday evening. A three course dinner was served to about 32 guests. After the dinner a number of exciting games were played and everyone seemed to have a good time.

One of the purposes of the meeting was to organize a Senior League and an Intermediate League. Both of these organizations were started and will meet Sunday evening. All the young people are urged to be present. Watch the young people go.

TALL TALES FROM BRADY

G. C. Kirk of Brady, who went into the ranch business recently after making his own place in the town's business life, has a picture in his office of a fish he caught on his place. Not long ago a woman acquaintance saw it and oh-ed and ah-ed over its size. He solemnly told her it weighed 90 pounds (just 40 pounds over its honest weight) and that he caught it after he had begun investigating lamb losses in the river pasture. To her questions he answered that the blame thing had come up to the bank and eaten five lambs. After that story he told of a yearling billie, taken in with a lot of 90 goats bought recently, that he had sheared. The fleece he declared was only five months clip and was seven inches long. With an eye to the fish story he had told he produced the proof of his mohair story. The goat was one of a bunch that had been dipped twice a month and a half ago in wettable sulphur. There were no lice on the herd at shearing time.

Health Hint

Sept. 1 was a red letter day for Texans who value their health, that day marked the opening of the six district health units appropriated for by the 45th Legislature.

The paramount purpose of the state health department is to control communicable disease, states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. Quite naturally the closer the contact to the areas affected, the quicker the services rendered and the more adequate the health protection.

By the creation and maintenance of these new health districts we hope to standardize health procedures throughout the state, thus strengthening the health administration already in effect and extending throughout rural areas health protection hitherto lacking because of insufficient personnel, Dr. Cox announced.

The area of Texas made imperative the adoption of this plan dividing the state into six miniature health departments. Districting of the state, modeled on that already effected by the highway department and the state department of education, will result in better sanitary conditions in the schools, dairies, recreation centers, swimming pools, tourist inns, and the homes of Texas; better supervision and enforcement of state health laws and adequate teaching of health in public schools; development

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SCHOOL DAYS ARE HERE

The many school activities offer countless opportunities for snapping pictures that you will enjoy in years to come.

If there was ever a snapshotter's paradise, it's school for those who attend it. It may be a one-room school or it may be a great university. Wherever, whatever it may be, it's crammed with unbeatable picture possibilities.

Yet we might as well face the fact of the matter—few snapshotters make the most of school's snapshotting opportunities.

Perhaps they are dazzled by the very wealth of the material at hand. More likely, they assume that somebody else is going to take the pictures. And that's a fatal mistake. For nobody else can see things as you see them. And it's what you see that means most to you—and to the folks at home, now or years from now.

The question, then, is how to make the most of school's picture possibilities. A little planning will do the trick.

First, about the right camera for school. Any camera will do, providing it is clean and in good order and uses a size of film that is easily available anywhere. If you have a fast lens and a fast shutter, you'll have an advantage in taking shots at sporting events, but such a camera is not at all essential. With a little care you can make even the simplest box camera turn out entirely satisfactory pictures.

Then, how can snapshotting be planned? All of it, of course, cannot be planned, but many of the most important shots can be. Why not work out a scenario, Hollywood fashion?

First of all, whether school's just around the corner or a thousand miles away, you'll want a few good shots of home. Then a view or two taken on the way to school. Maybe those views seem commonplace now, but wait a few years.

At school, of course, there are the obvious shots of the buildings, the grounds, new classmates, teachers, old friends, sports, picnics, class ceremonies, and so on. It's a good idea to take them so as to form a kind of continued story. Then, when they are mounted in your album, the pictorial story will flow along evenly.

A really good collection of school pictures is hard to find, as any school year-book editor will tell you. Yet there's nothing much easier to take; and few snapshots increase in value, year after year, as surely as those taken at school.

When Women Need Cardui

If you seem to have lost some of your strength you had for your favorite activities, or for your housework . . . and care less about your meals . . . and suffer severe discomfort at certain times, try Cardui!

Thousands and thousands of women say it has helped them. By increasing the appetite, improving digestion, Cardui helps you to get more nourishment. As strength returns, unnecessary functional aches, pains and nervousness just seem to go away.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month. Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "smiling through."

A WELL-KNOWN publisher, while calling on a rich author—oh, yes, there are such things as rich authors—complained about the lack of good champagne in the present era.

The writer, with a wave of his hand, summoned a high priced butler and decanted a full quart of fizzy water into the publisher who subsequently brought up at a well-known club pretty well spiced. "Where did you get it, Blank?" inquired an envious friend. "Somewhat thickly, the illuminated one gave names, and the year of the vintage." "Oh, I see," said a jokesmith present. "A best seller has been emptying a wine cellar into a book seller." (American News Features, Inc.)

'IN MEMORY OF DADDY'

Death Angels with sable wings have hovered low—put out the light of a dear and happy home. Took from us our precious daddy, S. M. Williams, Monday morning, Sept. 6, 1937, after a few hours of illness.

Daddy, dear Daddy, the joy of our life. We have loved you always so tender and true, now up in heaven, you are waiting for us.

Now dear Mother don't weep any more, for he's found such a bright and beautiful shore. Meeting thousands of our loved ones, to him they're so dear and some way he knows every one he meets.

We're anxious to come and begin life anew in our paradise home.

Let us be true to Jesus as you were to us and soon, very soon, your face we shall see.

We'll never forget the sad morning he bade us good-bye, the morning the chariot swung low, but he had to leave us and go.

His days were all numbered, his life here was spent, our savior called him and he went. So softly he stepped from his worn house of clay, and joined a sweet angel that bore him away.

He rode in the chariot, that day, that centuries ago carried Elijah away; 'twas made of most beautiful, transparent gold, and had been kept in a land where things never grow old.

Let us lift our faces, get a glimpse of the beautiful evergreen shore, take God by the hand and make haste for the land where we'll meet to part never more.—Mrs. Lois Williams.

and Oleta Henry, reporter. The yell leaders are Jeanette Martin, Joyce Johnson and Mamie Lou Womack. Mrs. Barnett and Mrs. Hatchett are the faculty sponsors.

Conditions in the grammar school are very good for the year. Some classes are crowded at present, but with the completion of the additional room that is now under construction it is thought that the crowded condition may be relieved.

In the primary department the second grade is badly crowded. Other rooms are very comfortable.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the buildings. The general contractor, Mr. Horton, is well along with the brick work, also quite a bit of the wood work. Plumbing and wiring in the buildings is being kept up with the general construction work.

Work on the football field is going forward in a nice way. The southwest corner of the grounds, which for so long a time has appeared as a "no man's land" and an eye-sore to all who passed this way is fast becoming a level plot of ground and will soon be filling a long felt need by its usefulness. This work is under the direction of County Commissioner Shaw and is being financed by a public subscription sponsored by the Lions club.

According to Coach Cloninger, the Eagles are looking good. They are light and many of them are inexperienced, but they are showing signs of fight and determination. Tonight (Friday) the locals play the heavy Comanche team on the field of the latter. The coach is noncommittal on the outcome of the game, but promises that those who attend will see a hard working, scrapping boys in action. At the time of this writing it is the plan to carry the pep squad on the school buses.

GARDEN CLUBS, PLEASE NOTE

Every year the garden clubs of this and other communities are saddened by the wanton destruction of shrubs and wild flowers by ignorant or malicious persons.

One of the most heartening trends in the other direction has recently come to the Eagle's attention. It is the class in landscaping in the Farm and Home Science Course under the guidance of Vocational Agriculture Department in the Hutto High School in Williamson county—the only class of its kind in the entire United States.

Soon after the opening of school in September if you had followed the class in its activities you would have been led a merry chase through neighboring woods, into yards of the town's citizens and over the country roads, to homes of students.

Members of the class under supervision of the teacher took a survey of native trees and shrubs suitable for landscaping purposes. Specimen leaves were gathered and growing conditions observed. Notes were taken and later they were filed with specimens by students for future reference.

Well planned yards, both in the home town and neighboring cities, were visited by the class.

Out of the survey each student is expected to create his own designs, decide on shrubs to be used, seeds to plant and times for planting, and his rating as a student depends upon the success of these plans.

Other than individual projects the class as a whole takes a pride in enlivening the school grounds with native cedars, yupon and hackberry. This bit of landscape finery, class members will explain, costs nothing and will be there when they are gone.

You will not be surprised to learn that the entire town of Hutto has caught the enthusiasm for home beautification which the Farm and Home Science Class has promoted. On every side you will see yards looking up under attractive landscape designs and newly planted shrubs.

No one can doubt that these students besides making their own homes more attractive will gain a love and appreciation for natural beauty that will make them want to protect shrubs and flowers rather than destroy them.

RETARDING PROGRESS

Even if the Chinese-Japanese war is terminated soon, considerable capital will be required for the reconstruction of the devastated territories, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. This will tax the limited capital resources of not only China but also of Japan since numerous textile mills and other industries established by the Japanese in Shanghai have been destroyed.

The war has caused the resumption of export of gold from Japan, and the prospect is that gold resources of Japan will be greatly diminished if the war should continue for a prolonged period. In view of the fact Japan's unfavorable trade balance is exceedingly large, that the amount of foreign exchange available within the country is limited, and that exporters to Japan already find it exceedingly difficult to obtain the foreign exchange due them, it is apparent that the country would soon be in a serious position if a further decline in the metallic reserve of the Bank of Japan should occur.

Even before the present military outbreak, Japan was feeling the lack of capital at home. Many Japanese economists believed that the exportation of capital to Manchoukou had been too rapid and any further borrowing by the government would lead to inflation. Even assuming the final victory for Japan and the occupation of additional Chinese territory, the question of finding capital to develop the newly acquired territories will still remain. Moreover, it stands to reason that, if the war continues, more and more Japanese loans will have to be floated. This will ultimately lead to currency inflation, which is bound to undermine the very foundation of the Japanese national economy.

BUYING SOCIAL SECURITY

Millions of Americans are taking seriously the ideal of "social security through life insurance." During the first six months of this year, almost $4,000,000,000 of new ordinary life insurance, exclusive of group insurance, went into force in this country. Sales were 8 per cent higher than in the same period in 1936.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL

By MAX BERNIS

Our Federal Courts

Why does our Constitution provide for a system of federal courts?

"There are in the Constitution," says Daniel Webster, "grants of powers to Congress, and restrictions on those powers. There are also prohibitions on the States. Some authority must, therefore, necessarily exist, having ultimate jurisdiction."

"The Constitution has itself established that authority... by declaring that 'the Constitution and the laws of the United States, made in pursuance thereof, shall be the supreme law of the land...'"

"But who shall decide this question of interference? To whom lies the last appeal? This the Constitution itself decides also, declaring [Article III] that 'the judicial power [of the Court] shall extend to all cases arising under the Constitution and laws of the United States.'"

"These two provisions cover the whole ground," concludes Webster. "They are, in truth, the keystone of the arch..."

In pursuance of these clear and express provisions, Congress established at its very first session, in the Judicial Act, a mode for carrying them into full effect and for bringing all questions of constitutional power to the final decision of the Supreme Court.

It then, became a Government. It then had the means of self-protection; and, but for this, it would in all probability have been now [1832] among the things which are past."

'SAFE' DRIVERS CAUSE ACCIDENTS

Ninety per cent of traffic accidents are caused by experienced supposedly safe drivers, not by the inexperienced motorist, said Ralph Lee, safety expert, at the recent Western Safety Conference. He cited a California survey which showed that 75 per cent of traffic fatalities in that state were chargeable to drivers with an average of eight years experience, who had never had a previous accident.

Finally, he said, before accidents can be prevented, the popular belief that great bulk of them are caused by a relatively congenitally reckless or incompetent persons, must be corrected. It is no longer true.

Over estimating safety factors has turned many a driver who used to be careful, into a dangerous menace on the highways. Where the cars of a few years ago gave you a thrill at 40, the cars of today do 60 and 70 with ease. That makes for comfortable motoring when all goes well—but lack of vibration, and motor smoothness doesn't help when you careen head-on into another car at a mile a minute clip.

It is the average experienced, "safe" driver who is causing today's accidents. This is the driver who must be reached by law enforcement agencies, and who must be appealed to by safety campaigns that are to get results.—Industrial News Review.

MANANA, MANANA, MANANA!

Congress has left behind it another new "high" in the national debt of more than $36,000,000,000. During the entire session no concrete move was made in the direction of economy. Instead, another mortgage was laid on the future, heavier shackles placed on the opportunities and welfare of coming generations.

The pity is that our contemporary log-rolling, pork-barreling politicians will not be in office when the day of reckoning arrives, to be scorned and hated for the spineless profligates that they are for squandering today the as-yet-uneared savings of the citizens of tomorrow. No, luckily for them, they will not be around—and they know it. That is why they are living in luxurious dissipation now, and doing their level best to educate the entire American public to the idea that extravagance is a virtue.

For seven years now the country has been rolling in a drunken welter of spending. For seven years staggering public deficits have been incurred annually. No one seems to care, and few seem to care, where this mad orgy is leading the nation. Nothing is more insidiously deadly than a national spendthrift policy. Before it, the heritage of high character, freedom and protection for the individual citizen can ultimately be swept away.—Ex.

TEXAS STILL A GREAT LUMBER STATE

That Texas is still a great timber state is proven by the report of the Southern Forest Experiment Station and published by the Texas Forest Service. The report covers 36 counties of East Texas, where the principal commercial timber belt is located.

It shows the 36 counties have 17,750,000,000 feet of pine, measuring nine inches in diameter and over, 4 and a half feet above the ground. Hardwood 13 inches and over in diameter, 4 and a half feet from ground amounts to approximately 6,250,000,000 feet.

The annual growth of pine timber, 9 inches in diameter and up, will approximate one and a quarter billion board feet, it was stated. It is expected to raise the annual growth to more than two billion feet by the development of better cutting practices and the continuance of organized fire protection.

Taking the lead in developing better lumbering methods, the Texas Forest Service, which has headquarters at College Station, constantly surveys conditions, makes experiments and issues bulletins of information and advice. By doing so, with the cooperation of lumber firms, landowners and others, the service has greatly increased the value of one of the state's most important resources.—Houston Chronicle.

COTTON PRODUCTION

Contrary to general expectations, the government's second forecast of the 1937 cotton crop added half a million bales to the figure given in the first report, and the market was depressed about a dollar per bale. As a rule, the first crop forecast of each season is higher than succeeding reports because it is issued before the deterioration of the crop begins. This year, however, the general condition was improved after the first report and a total of approximately 16,000,000 bales is indicated.

Primary cause for the contemplated bumper crop is not an acreage increase, as is usually the case, but a heavier per acre yield. This, at least, is a good omen, despite the reaction of the market. Cotton farmers have been doing some constructive thinking and have discovered that during the past several years the quality of their staple and the per acre yield have both steadily declined. If they are to hold their own in the spirited competition with growers all over the world, they must check this cultivation is clearly reflected in tendency, and more intensive the government's report.

Further market reaction is problematical. The government is seeking to stabilize it with loans and subsidy agreements covering next year's production, and this may have the effect of preventing a decline below the current quotations. A sixteen million bale crop, however, is a distinct liability, regardless of the market that may be maintained through this year, because it has a direct bearing upon the available surplus and loans or other extraordinary aid by the government will not elim-

Pecan crop in Brown county this year may bring growers more than $35,000 income, according to dealers who are predicting a crop of 350,000 pounds this season, or a 35 per cent normal crop. Prices will range from 8 to 11 cents per pound, according to present market reading. W. S. Price, Gustine, president of the Texas Pecan Growers' Association, forecasts the state's crop will bring growers about $3,000,000 in revenue, and provide some families of pickers with as much as $40 a day in wages.

Pecan growers of the Central Texas area will meet Friday for a discussion of a national advertising plan to promote increased consumption of pecans in the United States, cooperative systems of marketing in the northwestern states, and urging AAA assistance to pecan raisers.

going to be later gathering than for many years. It is hard to estimate just what the crop will amount to. Some farmers figure on a fair crop and feel that recent rains will be of benefit to the cotton.—Leader.

Personal Mention

We were glad to see two of our pioneers, who have been sick for a long time, out on the streets again this week, and looking fine. M. McGirk and Henry Rahl.

Rob E. Downey, editor and publisher of the Smiley Sun at Smiley, Texas, passed through Goldthwaite last Saturday and stopped by to visit the Eagle edition. Mr. Downey came to work on the Eagle when he was just 20 years old, but we will not state how long that has been. He made many friends here and will be remembered by many. His wife, Mrs. Downey, was with him.

A PARAPHRASE — MAUD MULLER

"Maud Muller on a summer's day,
Raked the meadow, sweet with hay."
For olden times that sounds O-kay.
But modern Mauds don't work that way.

"Neath her torn hat glowed the wealth
Of simple beauty and rustic health."
Now, modern Mauds use lots of paint
Makes 'em look like what they ain't.

"The judge rode slowly down the lane
Smoothing his horse's chestnut mane."
Our modern judges all drive flivvers
Sight of horses gives 'em shivers.

"He drew his bridle in the shade
Of the apple trees to greet the maid."
A modern judge could hardly wait
To ask the maiden for a date.

"An Maud forgot her briar-torn gown
And her graceful ankles bare and brown."
To a modern judge, that seems not rude
He'd rather see her in the nude. —ROG.

AAA Explains Cotton Plan

Washington.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced Friday that cotton producers who wish to share in the $130,000,000 Congress provided for payments on this year's crop must file regional sales certificates or receipts with county AAA associations.

AAA officials said these must cover "all cotton sold from the 1937 crop" and show "the date of sale, name and address of producer, number and gross weight of bales and signature and address of buyers."

If cotton already has been sold, the AAA said producers must obtain sales certificates or receipts, and file them with secretaries of county AAA associations "not later than Sept. 30."

If cotton is sold in the seed, the AAA said the receipt must show "number of pounds of seed cotton and number of pounds expressed in terms of lint cotton rather than number of bales and gross weight."

Receipts for lint cotton sold but not bales must "show pounds of lint, rather than number of bales and gross weight"

On the cotton sold after Sept. 15 the AAA said receipts must be filed "not later than 15 days after date of sale."

Evidence of sales may be mailed to the secretary of the county AAA association, or delivered in person. Producers were advised to retain duplicate sales certificates, or receipts.

The AAA said payments would be made "on 65 per cent of a grower's 1937 base production, providing the cotton is sold prior to July 1, 1938."

If funds remain from the $130,000,000, officials said, a payment will be made on a larger per-
