FARLEY PLANS A SHOW-DOWN

WASHINGTON.—It is no longer any secret that Jim Farley is definitely lined up with the anti-third termers. But not generally known is the fact that Jim actually plans a show-down with Roosevelt regarding the President's own plans, and this show-down will come before the Democratic convention at Chicago.

Jim made up his mind to do this about the same time he issued his Massachusetts bombshell labeled, "My name will be presented to the national convention."

Democratic insiders had known for some time that Farley was cold to the idea of the President running again, but he sidestepped a positive commitment. He always declared that he was confident the President had no intention to seek re-election.

In the past month, with Roosevelt slated being entered in various states under obvious White House guidance, Farley's alibi has hardened to out-and-out hostility. From being on the fence he has slid over definitely to the anti-third term group.

Not only will Jim aggressively fight a third term, but he is prepared to denounce it publicly. However, he will not talk until he has had a showdown with Roosevelt, at which time he will insist on a categorical "yes" or "no" answer.

If there is no reply, or an unsatisfactory one, then Jim is prepared to express his opposition publicly. He is aware that such a statement would play into the hands of the G. O. P., and that it may mean inale for him politically, but he feels that he owes it to the Democratic party and the country frankly to state his views.

Highway Engineer Addresses Lions

Bob Millican, assistant division highway engineer from Brownwood, was the principal speaker at the Lions Club Tuesday evening.

Following supper, L. B. Porter, who had charge of the program, introduced J. D. Berry and Pat Benhaus who played several very merry numbers on their jukebox.

Mr. Millican recalled that the highway department had spent $60,000 for construction in Mills county in the past five years and $17,000 for maintenance. He stated that $40,000 had been appropriated for paving the highway south towards San Saba and $30,000 would be spent on a highway north to the Comanche county line.

He displayed samples of various soils found in Mills county and discussed their characteristics for roadbuilding. He concluded with a strong plea for better driving on the highways.

Mayor H. G. Bodkin, City Secretary F. P. Bowman and Alderman Bob Steen, Jr., each of whom had been re-elected in the city election, were introduced and applauded.

Mayor Bodkin and John A. Steer were named to prepare a program for the next meeting.

1939 AAA Checks Total $110,729.48

All Mills county farmers and ranchmen cooperating with the AAA who have not filed applications for payment under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program (and 1939 Range Conservation Program if it was in effect in your county in 1939) should execute applications immediately, advises G. R. Goosby, Secretary of Mills County A. C. A. committee.

Applications must be filed in the county office on or before May 31, closing date for the 1939 program.

Only 5 applications remain unsighed, the secretary pointed out. The county office has forwarded 1,115 applications, representing 99 1/2 per cent of the farmers (and ranchmen) in the county who were eligible for payments. Checks under the 1939 program have been received here amounting to $110,729.48 since payments began.

The secretary called attention of farmers and ranchmen, also, to the May 1 deadline for filing applications to cooperate with the program in 1940. This applies only to those who did not participate in 1939.

Father's Night to Be Only 33 Votes In City Election Sponsored by P.-T. A.

The regular meeting of the Goldthwaite P.-T. A. will be held on Tuesday night, April 9th, at 7:30 o'clock in honor of the fathers of our school children. This is the first "Father's Night" our organization has ever had and we are anxious for every man in this town and community to be a guest of the P.-T. A. that night.

A splendid program is arranged—one all men will enjoy. Refreshments will be served and a good time is in store for all who come. Ladies, bring your husbands to this night meeting and enjoy the entertainment for this occasion.

Admission absolutely free! Remember your husband may be the one man who can win $2.00 for your child's class room simply by being present. Spring is here! That means class picnics—and class picnics call for money. The P.-T. A. will give $2.00 to the class who has the most fathers present at this meeting. Everyone interested in the school is invited.

$5000 School Funds Received Here

County Judge R. J. Gerald, who is ex-officio County School Superintendent, this week received $5000 in transportation funds from the State Department of Education for Mills county schools. He also received a per capita payment of $2, which brings payments for the current year up to $13.

Mills county has paid 50c per capita or $980 back to the schools to replace a like amount withdrawn for county administration. According to recently published figures, Mills county is exceptionally economical in its administrative expenditures. There are 211 Texas counties which withdraw a greater per capita allowance for administrative expense. Lampasas county, for instance, allots $1.15 of the per capita payment from the state to administrative expense and only refunds 35c.

Census Taking Begins This Week

The 1940 population census began Tuesday of this week, and thousands of enumerators and supervisors are now busy taking down the facts of life of some 130,000,000 Americans.

John L. Boland, and James W. Booker, Goldthwaite; Starling J. Casey, Warren P. Duren, and Joe F. Ivy, Mullin; Morgan D. McNeil, Caradan; and Mrs. Hubert Reeves, Ebony, Texas, have been sworn in to take the census in Mills county.

The enumerators have been assigned as follows:

Mrs. Warren Duren, City of Goldthwaite, John L. Boland, precinct 1, except Goldthwaite, James W. Booker, south half of Precinct 2, Morgan McNeil, north of Precinct 2, Mrs. Frank Peer, north half of Precinct 3, S. J. Casey, south half of Precinct 3, Joe F. Ivy, City of Mullin and part of Precinct 4, Mrs. Reeves, remainder of Precinct 4.

Elsewhere on this page are printed in full the questions that will be asked the head of each family. The census of business and manufactures for this section has been completed. The farm census will be taken at the same time as the population census. A sample farm census questionnaire may be seen at the post office in Goldthwaite.

It is to the interest of every citizen of Mills county that every one be counted so that the population that will be published for the next 10 years will be accurate.

Car Licenses Top Last Year's Total

When the last 1940 car license was issued Monday night, Sheriff Hern Harris had issued 1270 passenger car licenses and 350 commercial and truck licenses.

Last year the figures were 1271 and 344, making the total just five more than at the same time last year.

The work of issuing licenses this year was considerably retarded by the new certificate of title provisions. One car which had changed hands four times since March 21, was one of the last to be registered.

San Saba Students Barely Escape Death

San Saba, April 2.—Four hundred high school students shortly before noon Tuesday, barely escaped death in the main auditorium, when the plastered steel late foundation collapsed crushing desks and chairs. It struck with such force that ceilings on classrooms below were loosened and classes had to be dismissed. The damage to the building constructed in 1925, has not yet been estimated.

CONTRACTS TO BE LET AT ONCE FOR CONSTRUCTION IN COUNTY

At a meeting of the Directors of the Hamilton County Rural Electrification Co-operative Association last week, plans were concluded for the local association to join with the Comanche and Stephenville associations in letting one contract for construction of 120 miles of line in all three counties. Forty miles will be constructed for the local association.

Willis Hill, Mills county director, states that the extension of the power line north to Lake Merritt is included and that it should be completed within 60 to 90 days. An extension to Center City has been approved and will be included in the contract if sufficient users are signed up before the deadline.

After July 1, when money appropriated for the next fiscal year becomes available, a line will be built through Big Valley and across the Colorado River into San Saba county. Another line will be built from Pleasant Grove through Long Cove towards Lometa.

REA authorities state that while all of the lines mentioned above have been definitely approved, they recommend that wiring of the houses be delayed until the line has been staked and the houses tagged.

Garden Club Urges All to Support Clean-Up Week

Every citizen of Goldthwaite is nominated, requested, invited and urged to fall in line and let this movement gather momentum from yard to yard and street to street until it becomes an invincible force that sweeps the entire town. Then and then only, will we actually have a clean town—a town free of rubbish, disease containers and unsightly land marks, says an announcement from the Goldthwaite Garden Club which is co-operating with the city in the spring clean-up campaign.

Civic pride can be fostered only to the extent personal pride expresses itself. Are you willing to join hands with your neighbors and make your block show that it is one hundred per cent back (and in front) of this movement?

We are asking you to pledge yourself to do everything possible to make the grounds around the place where you live and work free from all rubbish, to decrease its disorder and to increase its beauty as far as you are able.

If you live up to your pledge you will be expected to burn all waste matter in the form of paper, boxes, tree branches, old Christmas trees, feathers rags, etc.

Karakul Sheep Are A Texas Opportunity

Weatherford, Texas, April 4.—"Texas has the finest climatic and range conditions in the world for Karakul sheep raising," declared J. E. McDonald, State Commissioner of Agriculture, on a recent visit to George H. Kiosseff's Parker county Karakul sheep ranch where successful experiments have proved that Texans have a new three million dollar industry awaiting simple and easy development.

Mr. Kiosseff (pronounced Key-o-seff) a native Bulgarian whose grandfathers and one great-grandfather were killed by the Turks and who himself had to wear a fez until he was 12 years old, has shown, through four years of experimentations in cooperation with the State Department of Agriculture, that this fur, wool and mutton producing sheep gives better quality pelts than have been obtained in the native habitat, West Central Asia.

Mr. McDonald said statistics show that the United States imports annually three million dollars worth of Karakul and Persian lambskins, and this country, which consumes eighty-five per cent of the world's production, produces less than ten thousand skins a year, whereas German Southwest Africa last year produced one million two hundred thousand lambskins.

Of course, women know that the soft, tightly curled, tar-black Persian lamb is born of the Karakul sheep, and from a number of these lovely little pelts are made the beautiful coats and wraps so desired by women.

Right now, with the world trade conditions as they are and the country's foreign source of fur supply cut drastically, Texans stand an unusual opportunity to cop the world market in Karakul, believes Mr. Kiosseff who comes of the third generation of Karakul raisers and has spent his life in the fur trade.

He also claims the sheep will do as well on damp lowlands, as on hilly semi-arid lands. With the exception of our milder winters the climate throughout Texas is much like that of Bokhara, in the heart of Central Asia, where the breed originated. "Over there," he says "the sheep are raised on the hilly country as well as on the lowlands. They will lamb twice a year if their lambs are taken when a few days old, and have been known to produce at this rate for fourteen years. No special season is required for the production of fine pelts."

The pelts taken from Karakul lambs which have been still-born within 20 days of the end of gestation period are of extra texture and value, therefore saving the owner the great loss which occurs in most breeds of sheep by what is generally known as "lamb slinking."

Mr. Kiosseff thinks they are a hospital there. Mr. and Mrs. Will Schuman and son, Paul at Eola spent the week end in Priddy.

Hobart Priddy, who is in a Brownwood hospital is reported to be doing nicely at this writing.

NEWS NOTES

The school luck held Monday night the county one-act play tournament, held in the Grammar School Auditorium, when the Goldthwaite one-act players took top honors. Mullin placed second in the contest and Star third.

Goldthwaite's play was "Blue Teapot," a royalty play with four characters: Pa, Lacy Thompson; Ma, Lucille Taylor; Cynthia, Catherine Miller; Jimmy, Glynn Collier.

Mullin's entrance was, "Be Home By Midnight," a comedy of five characters.

The play entered by Star was, "Luncheon For Six," with a cast of six.

In regard to individual achievements, Lacy Thompson was selected the best actor for his portrayal of Pa; and Catherine Miller was chosen for her part as Cynthia.

The plays were judged by Miss Dabney, critic and teacher of dramatics in Comanche High School.

SENIOR CLASS REPORT

The orders for the Senior invitations is being sent off this week, with Saturday as the last day. Most of the members will be placing orders. The invitations are white with a gold eagle on the front and the inscription, "Class of '40." Leather invitations come in the same type.

The class is making plans for the annual Senior Trip, which will probably be taken this month. Most of the former classes have traveled to San Antonio to the Battle of Flowers.

The class is looking forward to the Junior-Senior banquet, also to be held this month.

JUNIOR REPORT

We urge all Junior mothers to keep P.-T. A. in mind, which is held the second Wednesday of April.

GLEE CLUB REPORT

The club is going to enter a contest at Waco on April 19 and 20. There are about 15 girls in the club who expect to get to go.

Three very pretty numbers are being worked on which are: "Birnad Syphony," "Norwegian Child" and "A Song of Joy."

FRESHMAN REPORT

If somebody called you up last Monday and said to call Mr. Black-Well or called you to find out if you washed or chewed, don't blame it on a freshman. We feel sure that no freshman would be so crude as to do a silly thing like this. The fact is that last Monday was April Pools Day.

The thing that interest the Freshmen are: there is a skating rink at Priddy; a night track meet Tuesday night, and the girls from Star High School.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NEWS

At a certain party on a certain night last week, a certain boy entertained the girls by playing his guitar on the porch of a certain girl's house. What a mystery! Some people could solve it very well if I don't miss my guess. Eh, Dorothy Nell?

We hear a certain young lady has been visiting relatives, or a group of mighty cute boys, away from home during the week end. Eh, Diddle?

You know Orpha was nuts about something a night last week. What are you blushing for, Ward?

How was the party Mary Ann, or were you there enough to know? The very idea, Cleo, keeping a young grammar school girl out like that.

Some people like darkness but personally I prefer light on account of certain dangers of the dark, especially outside with a certain boy. Are you afraid of the dark, Edwin?

SOPHOMORE REPORT

The Sophomores have just been through the second six weeks of the second semester. Here's hoping everyone passes, because this is a very important time.

"Old Man Measles" has been taking his toll in the Sophomore class. William Glenn Rose is sick with them. We want to wish him a speedy recovery and hope he will soon be back with us.

LIGHT THRU A KEYHOLE

We don't know whether they like to walk, watch the moon, or waste shoe leather, but Adelaide and Lewis turned down all rides.

Sam G. is just cr-r-r-razy about apples. Remember—"An Apple A Day Keeps the Doctor Away." We feel so sorry for Pat, Moonlight shimmering on the lake, a pretty girl by his side—then someone (guess who) yelled "Come over here."

Wanda and Sam are no longer walking—they've taken up water transportation.

Kenneth Morris is planning to enter the bike races. He's been training with ten miles of bicycling every Sunday.

There were a number of vacant seats in some of the classrooms on Monday. We wonder who was fooled—them or April. It's your guess.

It's quite a puzzle, quite a tragedy, an elation. Sam has accomplished in two nights what Pat labored for six months trying to do and never did.

These Freshmen have troubles of their own. While Kate was busy staging her love scenes, Larry was roped by another girl.

While we're on the subject of Freshmen, Buren is still quite interested in one. P. S. Where did he go after he took her home?

Buddy likes the prices in San Antonio—such bargains! Beers, 3 for 10c, wine, 24c quart. Every silver cloud has another lining—he didn't get any.

Better hold these Seniors down when they take their annual jaunt.

Roberta won't talk. Silence may be golden, but not to Cartwright's curiosity. Dividends will be paid for details about Big Valley's weiner roast.

Question of the week: Why do Sam and L. B. have such a liking for seats in the choir? —S.S.S.S.

FFA REPORT

The livestock judging team went on two trips last week. We went to Mr. Fox's and judged some fine sheep and goats and then went to Ellis Mahan's and judged some Hampshire sows.

Then on Friday afternoon we took another trip out to Mr. Horton's and judged some good beef cattle. We had two hard classes of heifers to judge and most of the boys made a pretty good score on all of the judging, so we expect to do pretty good at Stephenville next Saturday.

This will probably be our last chance to practice before the contest, and all the boys are really working.

DEBATE REPORT

Tuesday night the debate teams went to Brownwood and debated the Central Texas School of Oratory teams. We have only one more week before district meet. We hope we will be ready by then and can take away highest honors.

BLUE BONNET CLUB

The Blue Bonnet Club of South Bennett met with Mrs. Willis Hill, Tuesday afternoon with nine members present. One new member, Mrs. Bullard, eight visitors who were, Mrs. Fred Sheldon and Mrs. Rex Clifton from Star, Mrs. Ed Obenhaus, Mrs. Myrtle Steward, Mrs. Fannie Brim, Mrs. Freeman Mason, Mrs. Fred Perry

LOCAL GIRL SINGS WITH TARLETON CHORUS

Like a regular trooper Laura Helen Saylor of this city will start on a four-day tour of West Texas with the Tarleton Singers, a mixed chorus of John Tarleton College students. Under the direction of R. Berton Coffin, professor of Voice, the group will travel over a thousand miles and sing in approximately 20 West Texas towns. This tour is an annual affair.

Pet Pelican Is Popular.

A rarity in pets are pelicans, but Dolf Rogers, veteran Galveston oysterman, has one which is gaining considerable renown. The ungainly white bird was rescued by Rogers during the last hunting season after being wounded by shotgun pellets. Nursed back to health the bird, while free to go whenever it chooses, stays rather close to Rodgers' home on the Gulf near Galveston. The bird is probably one of the most unusual watch-dogs in the United States. Whenever it gets aboard Rogers' boat no one but the owner can come on board.

The bird has been photographed by a newsreel company and even Hollywood is interested in the unusual pet. However, Rogers is worried concerning the well being of the pelican. Since he saved it last fall he has treated it again for gunshot wounds and has upon four occasions removed fish hooks from its body and legs. Fishermen throw the hooks at it in an attempt to catch the big-billed bird.

Delicate Rio Grande Perch.

One of the reasons why the State Game Department makes no effort to stock the waters of Texas with the huge Rio Grande perch was demonstrated during the severe cold spell which hit the Valley. The perch died by the thousands. They cannot stand a water temperature lower than 50 degrees. They are a tropical fish belonging to the cichlidae family.

Another reason the Game Department does not encourage the spread of Rio Grande perch are that they are so prolific and such voracious feeders that they compete with bass and few lakes or streams can support many bass after the Rio Grande perch move in.

Big Valley H. D. Club

"Teaching the child to avoid constipation and the results of constipation, for there are many whose ill health has been caused by not having the proper training regarding it," replied Mrs. Bob Robertson as she answered the roll call of "How I May Train My Child for Greater Health," the Big Valley Home Demonstration Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. Woodrow Long, Thursday, March 28, at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Marion Robertson, our Council delegate, gave a report on the last council meeting, giving us information on the matresses to be obtained by those who can qualify.

Plans for the 4-H Club banquet were discussed. A program on "Social Diseases," was given. Mrs. Floyd Sykes demonstrated the making of cottage cheese and cooked cheese.

Those members present were: Mmes. B. C. Colvin, Marion Robertson, Charles Miller, Harvey Hale, Floyd Sykes, Bob Robertson, Landy Ellis, E. L. Pass, Eric D. Roberson, Alvin Oglesby, Bedford Renfro, Homer Weaver and hostess, Mrs. Woodrow Long.

Our next meeting will be with Miss Scott in her office, April 11, at 2 p. m. Miss Scott is to demonstrate the making of feather quilts and there will be two made that evening. All club members attend if possible.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Clyde Featherston April 9th. —Reporter.

Star

By Mrs. Dora Goode

Howdy, everybody! Well, it is still very dry, very windy, and very buggy. Now I mean by "buggy" that all early garden stuff is really getting it in the neck by the dirty demons of the dirt. There is quite a lot of fruit left on the trees yet, in spite of the recent cold, and we are looking forward to a lot of good eats which have yet to face drouths and prospective hailstorms. The grass is green and stock faring well enough on pastures not over stocked. The mocking birds and scissortails have arrived, and things are lining up for the grand summer parade with a few hot days already leading the procession.

The Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Dave Thompson Thursday with the agent, Miss Scott, in attendance. The last meeting was at the home of Mrs. Charlie Stephan, with cheese-making as the special project. There was singing at the Methodist church Sunday night. The class hopes to reorganize and all are invited to come.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Hamilton, of Ewart, were visitors in Star Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Wall and little daughter, Mildred, of Goldthwaite, visited with her mother, Mrs. Dave Thompson, a few hours Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Soules, who is attending Daniel Baker, visited home folks over the week end.

Oran Soules, of John Tarleton, spent the week end last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Soules.

Supt. and Mrs. W. Y. Scott, and Miss Margaret Strachke spent Sunday afternoon in Goldthwaite.

Robert nad Donald Goode visited with their grandfather, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Brooking, of Goldthwaite, last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Lee have invested in a start of sheep. It won't be long now until we'll be thinking of the old rhyme, "Baa, baa, black sheep, have you any wool?"

Graham Wall and daughter, Clara, and little son, Culver, visited Mrs. Wall in Austin, Sunday. Mrs. Wall has been sick for some time.

Mrs. Fred Langford, who is in the Medical Arts hospital in Brownwood, is reported doing nicely after a very serious appendicitis operation last week. Fred visited her over the week end.

Mrs. Mary Soules who has been confined to her bed since last summer, is now able to walk to the dining room and oversee the cooking of the roast.

HUDSON BROS.

ENJOY YOUR WORK

While written primarily for farm boys, the following advice is worth the attention of boys in town and city also—not to mention the girls. We quote from a recent issue of the Progressive Farmer:

"The first thing is to respect your job on the farm. It may be just a little farm and at times it may get pretty monotonous. But it is important that you do the job well. Little jobs, done well, open up into bigger opportunities surprisingly often. Jesus once told a parable about it. The fellow who had done a little job well heard somebody say, 'Thou hast been faithful over a few things; I will make thee ruler over many things.' That wasn't just a parable, either. Everybody who holds a big job had a little one first, and learned to do it well.

"Hold your shoulders up, and keep your chin up, too. Personal appearance is not just a matter of having shoes that are shined. Your posture, the tilt of your chin, eyes that look interested in people and farming, the way you walk about, your general demeanor—all combine to show the public whether you take pride in yourself and your farm. It makes a great deal of difference to you, too. No matter what your farming job is, don't look as though you feel apologetic about it. Look as if you are saying to yourself 'Farming is my work. I do it well.'

Rock Springs

By Mrs. Eula Nickols

There wasn't any Sunday school Sunday morning, and they didn't have BYPU Sunday night as Rev. Bedford Renfro preached. There was a huge crowd out. There were visitors from Goldthwaite, Center Point and Ridge. Several from this community attended the fifth Sunday meeting at Ridge Sunday. There were many people there. Just two Baptist pastors present. Rev. Wade brought a good sermon. Rev. Dyches also spoke. Rev. Renfro was the main speaker. The morning service was fine with lots of singing. Mrs. Tommie Dennis really can play the piano. I am sure they are very proud of her. She is lots of help in the church.

Mack Egger is the choir leader; he does his part well too. Then comes the lunch hour, well it couldn't be called lunch for they had too much to eat. Flat Hollis and wife barbecued a goat and two nice turkeys and they understood just how to cook it all. Besides all of that nice meat there was fish, chicken and fried ham. To say nothing about the other nice food and ice tea and hot coffee. The next fifth Sunday meeting will meet at Ridge again. When you miss these meetings, you miss a treat.

We were sorry to read last week in our county paper about Charlie Bayley's car shed and car burning up.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Webb on celebrating their 50th anniversary. It must be very nice to live with your companion so long.

How many of you scribes got April fooled? I didn't.

Some of the men have been fishing lately but you can't find out if they are catching any or not. Maybe when the onions get large enough to eat they will have a feast. You know onions go good with fish and light bread. I'll be listening for the call so I can tell the crowd.

James Nickols is working with John Dellis and Luther Ward down close to Pleasant Grove, building a house for John Berry.

Roth Robertson is staying with his grandmother Robertson and his Aunt, Mrs. Dunkle, this week.

Charley Frank Davis was sick and missed school Monday. His teacher hopes that her four pupils miss getting the measles. It might break up the school if they all get them.

Well it is time to retire. I feel sure I have missed some of the news. My letter was so short last week it was hard to find, so several asked me in town Saturday why didn't I write. So I hope it will be easier to find this week. I enjoyed all of your letters last week.

Walker—Geeslin

Miss Louise Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walker, and Mr. Ben Davis Geeslin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Geeslin, were married Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the First Methodist church by Rev. E. P. Neal, pastor, with the church being filled by relatives and friends who witnessed the beautiful rites.

The church altar was decorated with two tiers of candelabras, white baskets of Easter and calla lilies, white gladioli and ferns, and the kneeling bench was covered with white satin pillows, decorated with orange blossoms. On either side of the bench were white baskets of lilies, and orange blossoms also decorated the seats along the aisles.

Preceded by Little Annalu Coggin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Coggin, who acted as flower girl, the bride with her father who gave her in marriage, entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. J. W. Ragsdale, at the electric organ, played "Ave Maria," and "Only You," and as the recessional, she played Mendelssohn's Wedding March. Rev. Mr. Neal read the single ring ceremony.

Mrs. Geeslin was gowned in an over-all Chantilly lace dress with full-length train. She wore a finger-tip veil, hand embroidered and held in place by a seeded pearl halo. She carried a white prayer book with an orchid, and a shower of lilies of the valley. As her something old, she wore a pearl necklace presented by her maternal grandmother, and as her something new, a gift from the bridegroom's aunt.

The bride's going-away costume was a navy blue sheer creation with white accessories, and an orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walker, following the wedding, with approximately 250 persons registering for the affair, and to see the bridal couple depart for a few days' wedding trip, their destination unannounced. Upon their return, they will make their home at Mason, where the bridegroom is engaged in the practice of law.

In the reception receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Geeslin, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, and the bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Norman Lawler presided at the bride's book. Mrs. Cecil Coggin and Mrs. R. T. Trail cut the beautiful cake, with Miss June Jordan, Mrs. T. Gray, Mrs. Wilson D. Jordan and Mrs. Harry L. Curtis serving.

Texas Press and Radio Good Enough For Harry Hines

San Antonio.—Asserting he would not build up "straw men" to knock down, but would talk about realities, Harry Hines, candidate for Governor, said in an address broadcast from here Monday night he would make his pledges to the people as the campaign progresses and that "as Governor you will not find me throwing them overboard afterwards."

Hines, who is completing a six year appointive term as State Highway Commissioner, said he would discuss the issues facing Texas in a series of broadcasts every Monday night in a frank, plain manner and that he would not try to create false or manufactured issues, nor hedge, or camouflage.

Declaring that "the recognized press and radio stations of Texas are good enough for me," Hines said "I want it clearly understood now that I will not use any radio stations in a foreign country to bring these messages to Texas people, nor will I publish a house organ, or political newspaper."

"Also, if I find it necessary to talk about so-called 'professional politicians,' I will have the honesty and the courage to call them by name, and tell you what I mean by a professional politician," Hines said. "If I think any newspaper, or any newspapers, are subsidized or controlled by harmful special interests, and are being used against the public good, then I will have the honesty and the courage to tell you which one, or ones I am talking about, and why."

TALK ABOUT DECEIVING

Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, that great Republican statesman who is devoting his tongue and talents to the unappreciated task of saving the people from the locust horde of census enumerators, relieved himself of a mighty bellow over the radio last Monday evening.

The Senator who hails from the great State of New Hampshire, which state, by the way, is just about the size of the back lot of a good sized Texas ranch, charged right and left that the American people were being deceived by the census officials, and his talk was filled with smirking innuendos.

But one thing the vociferous solon failed to do: He did not read the questions to which he referred.

Why didn't he quote these questions verbatim? Would he deceive his listeners into believing that the questions were far worse than they really are?

Why did he quote the Bill of Rights? Would he deceive the people into believing that the Census, which is as old as our government itself, is really a search and seizure?

Fee, fi fo fum! Senator Tobey smells a rat. But he gave himself away when he boasted of his long stay at the public feed trough. It must be pretty tough to be a Republican Senator from a big state like New Hampshire when all the political jobs are going to the Democrats. How nice it would be if the Republicans could win the next election with the stalwart viewer-with-alarm from New Hampshire in the imposing post of vice-president!

Or would it?

NAZI BALONEY

Of all the sizzling silly propaganda stories that have so far been released, that German "white paper" which claims that the United States, through its ambassadors, promised assistance to Poland in case Germany attacked, takes the prize.

That anyone in America should seriously believe it is past comprehension. On its face the story was designed to injure the growing prestige of the United States in neutral European capitals.

Even if such aid had been promised by the ambassadors mentioned, not even the Poles could have seriously believed it.

In the first place, this government is a Democracy, not a dictatorship, consequently such a vital step as a declaration of war is not in the hands of one man or even a small group of men. Congress alone has that right, and Congress was not even in session at the time the promises are said to have been given.

Secondly, the United States is not prepared to fight a foreign war. It took from April 1917 till September 1918 for us to land our first effective blows against Germany in the World War, and we are little more, if any, prepared for war now than we were in 1917.

Thirdly, take a look at a map of Europe and try to figure out how Poland could be helped or Germany hurt. Prime Minister Chamberlain would give a good many million pounds for a workable answer.

No. Nazi Germany is simply trying to create a suspicion in the minds of Europeans that Uncle Samuel is trying to get mixed up in their affairs and that, at the same time, the promises he makes will not be kept.

Pure baloney, and pretty raw at that!

IMAGINARY DIARY OF SUMNER WELLES

MON.—Arrived in Italy okay. Was notified that Mussolini was busy reviewing a new goose step but that Count Ciano would see me. Nearly started a new war by absent-mindedly asking hotel manager if he knew where I could get a good Italian dinner.

TUES.—Was late reaching parley with Ciano because of streets being blocked by parades. Found Ciano so peaceful he dispensed with the usual Italian custom of starting to argue before hearing the subject announced.

The count says Mussolini wants peace as soon as he is sufficiently armed for it.

WED.—Traveling through Switzerland. The Swiss are so peaceful I am wondering if other countries would be less belligerent if they yodelled.

THURS.—I see Goering and Hitler soon. The prospect is quite unnering.

FRI.—Saw General Goering. Both of him. He wanted to know if I was H. G. Wells or Orson Welles. It was hard to get down to peace talk as he wanted to discuss spring styles in men's military coats. He said Germany was not opposed to peace unless it meant she would have to get along without quarreling with everybody. I asked him if he thought Hitler might retire to the background. He said, "Can you imagine any prima donna retiring to any background?" I had an uncomfortable feeling that was something under my chair. It turned out to be Goebbels. As I left Goering he said, "Remember us to Roosevelt and tell him not to get discouraged; he'll get into this mess yet."

LATER.—Met Hitler in the Rumors Room. He asked me how America was and said he was sorry to hear it.

He then asked for an explanation of the peace idea. I told him Mr. Roosevelt felt peace would be a good thing. He replied, "When I've been in as many fights as Roosevelt I'll think so, too."

He suggested that we carry on our discussions in Russian. I said I did not understand Russian. He said, "Neither do I but a peace conference is a conference." One word from me led to another. In fact it led to a dozen others. Hitler said Germany was always for peace and that if her artillery held out she would get it.

He kept fumbling with a microphone during the entire talk and once remarked, "If television was here I could conquer the world in six weeks."

MON.—Arrived in Paris. Daladier said France was not only for peace now, but had been hoping for it for centuries.

TUES.—In London. Saw Chamberlain. He suggested that we hold discussions in English. I said this might commit us to a clear understanding of what we were saying. He saw the danger of this at once. I am to see him again tomorrow. I can't escape the conclusion that everybody in Europe is in favor of peace up to the point where peace is proposed.

We note that Franklin is represented in the Smithsonian by the Muraenidae (morays), a Sphyracidae (baracuda), an Acanthocephalus petus and, honestly, one Haemulidae or grunt, as most fishermen call 'em

Modernize With Paint

Whether we run our homes on a close budget or a liberal one, most of us like to get our hands on a paint brush, during this spring season, and do over some of our old furniture. There is much more than economic satisfaction in these refinishing jobs, if you go at them wholeheartedly. Bringing the old-timers up-to-date with fresh, modern colors gives you such a nice glow of personal gratification. For you have really made something new, and had a lot of fun, as well. Refinishing furniture need not be a laborious task, now that we have synthetic enamels, such as "Duco," which brush on more easily and dry far more quickly than the old-time paints. The job is completed so rapidly that you can often paint a piece in the morning and have it back in service again by nightfall.

The choice of color is usually your first consideration. Alice E. Riley, Director of the Du Pont Style News Service, offers the following suggestions, which may solve your color problems: For small pieces like wall cabinets, tea tables, and occasional chairs, Miss Riley selects a tone that picks up a color from the curtains and upholstery. If you're going to paint dinette furniture, she advises something very gay and cheerful—such as lettuce green with yellow trim or buff with tangerine. For a feminine bedroom, pastel colors are now much in vogue. On the furniture in a young girl's room a soft blue with white edging is suggested. You can give it a French effect by antiquing the freshly enameled surface with a glaze coating of raw umber mixed with raw sienna. Immediately after applying this glaze, wipe off most of it with a wad of cheesecloth, and you are ready to go ahead with the painting.

If the article you are going to paint is a chair, the work will be simplified if you place it on a table, turn it upside down and start on the legs. Then you can proceed without leaving fingerprints on the fresh paint. To protect your table from drippings and smears, spread newspapers underneath the chair.

Perhaps some of the pieces can be improved by a little carpentry work. Dressers with attached mirrors will look more modern if the mirror is removed and hung separately. Ugly applied carvings can be pried off, the old drawer knobs replaced with modern ones.

If the old finish is in good condition, one coat of synthetic enamel may be sufficient, as the new paints have remarkable hiding powers. When two or more coats are used, allow ample time for drying between coats. On furniture that is scarred or marred, first brush on the undercoating that is made especially for use with the enamel. Then apply the enamel.

It's important to stir the enamel thoroughly in the can, with a wooden or metal stick, so the pigment will be smoothly mixed. Provide yourself with a new soft-bristle brush and dip it deep into the can, filling the bristles each time. The paint will flow on smoothly and may be gone over without danger of leaving brush marks. Should sags or runs occur, they can be corrected with a full brush, but never with a dry one.

In fact, modern paint formulas have so simplified the once tedious job of refinishing furniture that there is now no excuse for harboring pieces that are out of step with present-day styles in decoration. It has been found, too, that the new finishes are more lasting and are easier to keep clean—practical values that mean much to all good housekeepers.

He Didn't Want Praise

AMONG THE GREEN HILLS OF VERMONT, in the farmhouse, where, by the light of an oil lamp Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office which made him the 30th President of the United States, there hangs a framed letter. The letter bears the signature of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of the President, who died while his father was in the White House. Here is an inspiring letter written by a boy still in his teens which should be read by all boys everywhere:

Someone had written to Calvin, Jr., calling him "the first boy of the land." In his answer, the son of the President in substance said: "I have earned no right to be called 'the first boy of the land.' My father deserves all the credit. I deserve and want no recognition until I have earned it by my own actions."

One takes off his hat to any boy who refuses to bask in the reflected glory of a father's richness or greatness—who jumps into the arena of life and says, "I'll stand on my own feet. I'll fight my own fight. I want no credit for the deeds of other men—judge me by my own." America needs more boys like that!

AMOS PLEADS FOR JUSTICE

LESSON TEXT—Amos 5:1, 10-15, 21-24. GOLDEN TEXT—Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgment in the gate.—Amos 5:15.

Social justice, though much spoken about in recent times, has been the concern of right thinking men ever since sin entered the world and started man's inhumanity toward man. In the prophet Amos we find the eloquent and plain-spoken voice of one crying out against such conditions almost 800 years before Christ.

This lesson is one which is of utmost importance because in our present-day struggle with social injustice we have come to assume that it is primarily a political or economic question. Amos and all other Scripture rightly gets at "the focus of infection," which is sin. Sin in the heart leads to sinful actions, and these inevitably involve others, and thus bring about social problems. Let us learn from Amos to cure our social ills by bringing man to God.

I. Lamentation—in the Midst of Prosperity (v. 1).

From the little village of Tekoa and out of the wilderness in which he had been a herdsman came Amos, the man of God, to hurl his prophecy of disaster upon the heads of the complacent people of Israel and to take up a lamentation over those in Israel living in luxury and prosperity.

True it was that the common people were being ground under the heel of cruel oppression, but who cared about the poor as long as they could be squeezed for taxes to support the luxurious comforts and pleasures of the rich? A prosperity which does not reach the homes of the poor is not a real prosperity at all. When in addition thereto it encourages the "haves" to oppress the "have-nots" it becomes a grave danger, a real cause for lamentation.

II. The Reason—Sin Which Hates Reproof (vv. 10-13).

Sin is always a horrible thing, but when men who have fallen into sin are responsive to correction and ready to repent and forsake their sin, there is hope. The thing which made Israel's state so serious in the sight of God and of His prophet was that they had only hatred for those who were bold enough to reprove them or to live among them according to God's standards (vv. 10, 13). "They who will endure no criticism have slammed the door in the face of truth. When we get to the place where we cannot endure having our faults pointed out, we are on the way to moral collapse" (Douglass).

The sin which had thus hardened their hearts showed itself in social inequality and injustice which was built upon greed, oppression, corruption in the courts, etc. The shocking picture which Amos paints bears a surprising similarity to conditions in our world today. Let us face the problem and seek its solution.

III. The Cure—Seek Good Not Evil (vv. 14, 15).

God's Word condemns sin, but it always presents a remedy. In Christ we have the perfect, final, and complete answer to the sin question. Amos, speaking centuries before Christ, admonished Israel to repent and to turn away from the evil which they had cultivated with such assiduity and to be equally zealous about doing good, in the hope that "it may be that the Lord God of hosts will be gracious" (v. 15). How favored we are to be permitted not only to urge people to turn from evil to good, but to offer them the One who is the way, the truth, and the life.

Israel did not repent, but in folly depended on their religious ceremonies to satisfy an offended God. The prophet therefore declares that

IV. Religion Is Not a Substitute for Justice (vv. 21-24).

God had no pleasure in their religious observances and rites, because they were presented with unrepentant hearts and by hands which were soiled by the oppression of their fellow man.

Mark it well, God has no delight in the attendance upon church services, beautiful though they may be, does not listen to the sweet strains of sacred music, nor does He accept the rich "offerings" of those who live in unrepentant sin and who pay for magnificent church buildings and beautiful church services with money gotten by crooked dealings and social injustice. God is righteous and God's Word always cuts right through the hypocrisy of men. Let us heed the plea of Amos, that righteousness should run through our personal and national life "as a mighty stream," and then we shall be ready both as individuals and as a people to worship Him aright.

A Gracious Lord His work is honorable and glorious; and his righteousness endureth forever. He hath made his wonderful works to be remembered; the Lord is gracious and full of compassion.—Psalm 111:3-4.

PLANES FOR THE ALLIES

THE policy of the President to permit the allies to buy our most advanced type of military and naval planes is 100 per cent correct.

A principal problem in our preparation for defense is productive capacity. Time is "of the essence in war. Napoleon used to say: "I may lose a battle but I will never lose a minute—and hence few wars." We have the best industrial plant in the world. But in our modern system of manufacture, the best plant in the world can't get into production without first going through a slow and complicated effort called "tooling-up."

This means the arrangement of buildings and machine tools to provide a continuous flow from one operation to another without backtracking or lost motion. It means the making of the working points of those tools to insure absolute uniformity in all the thousands of separate parts that go into the assembly of any such complex and wonderful thing as a modern war plane.

"Once the original tooling is done fewer . . . experts are needed."

The scarcity, due to the depression, of sufficiently skilled pattern and tool-makers is one of the great "bottle-necks" retarding production. Once the original tooling is done fewer of those experts are needed.

Everybody who is old enough will remember that preparation to build the radically different successor to the old Model T tin Lizzie, paralyzed the production of even the great Ford plants for the better part of two years. It is believed in the motor industry that a single last minute change in arrangement and design cost the Ford company millions of dollars and months of time.

When this great preparation work is done, increase in speed and reduction in cost are very great.

To put the American airplane industry on this kind of mass production basis would give us something that hasn't existed and, under conservative plans for our own equipment, might never have been completely attained. But a billion dollars worth of allies business coupled with our own requirements on basic designs identical with our own, will do exactly that. This result of giving the allies our most advanced designs is the most fortunate thing that could happen to us from the angle of our own defense.

TAX ON MACHINES

Senator O'Mahoney's proposal to tax machines has had a panning from every editorial that I read—and I have to read a good many. One recurring note is that Joe hails from the great open spaces of Wyoming, which hints that he can't know anything about machinery. I happen to hail from the great open spaces of Oklahoma, but that isn't going to prevent me from horning in on this argument.

I can't recommend the senator's bill. In the first place, although I have studied it, I don't understand it. I have a dim idea that it taxes the producer who makes more than average use of machines and from the avails, (correct avails) subsidizes the producer who uses less than the average machine and hence employs more power.

I can't go for that. It is not taxing for revenue. It is using the power to tax as a power to punish one group and reward another in proportion to their degree of departure from or compliance with a government rule as to how they should run their business. It is both "punitive" and "incentive" taxation and both are dangerous ground.

Furthermore, it would be utterly impossible to apply. The average element in the cost of various products varies from 10 per cent to 30 per cent and is largely caused by forces entirely beyond the producer's power to control.

Nevertheless, there is something very valuable in part of what the senator has at the back of his thought. We ought to re-examine this idea of financing all social legislation by taxes on payrolls or give more thought to taxes on machines or machine hours.

The rush toward machine production and away from employment isn't altogether caused by advances in science and invention. Every time a manufacturer installs a new machine operation displacing labor, he makes a certain logical calculation.

Kathleen Norris Says:

There Are Ways of Holding Your Husband

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

Don't be a nervous, suspicious, sensitive, injured shadow of Ted. Be a person yourself. That's the way you won him and that's the way you'll win him back.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

WHEN a woman of 31, married eight years and mother of a small daughter, begins to be afraid she is losing her husband's love, what can she do?

"Perhaps I'm not very well," writes Elinor Baker from a big Illinois city, "but lately I seem to be afraid all the time that Ted will get tired of me and turn somewhere else. Our life and home and relationship seem suddenly to have lost luster, to have gone dull. I had a long bout with flu in November; I don't seem to have gotten back strength or spirits.

"Ted has formed the habit of going out a good deal without me. It's all pleasant and affectionate enough, but the result is that I feel left out. My mother lives with us, and Ted is really fond of her, I know. She is a wonderful mother; the only one, he says, that he has ever known. The care of Ann and the housework are not too much for the two of us, whereas I really could not handle it all alone. And for several years Ted seemed to be one of us, putting about, planning things, doing his share.

"But for the past few months it is different. I can't deceive myself any longer. His interests and amusements are elsewhere. He enjoys his late breakfast Sunday morning, his paper and his romp with Ann in the old way. But at about noon he always has something to do. He must 'see a man,' or take someone somewhere. He and the car disappear, and the next thing I hear is from the telephone. Ted and 'some of the others' are out at Billy Carey's. They want him to stay for dinner. What do I think?

Do As You Like.
"Of course I can only think one thing. But what I say is not what I think. I say 'do as you like, dear.' Then he begins to explain. Well, you see, if he comes home now, then there's nobody to bring the Browns home. He'll be early; it isn't a party. And he comes in at about midnight.

"This Billy Carey is a woman 40 years old at least; she isn't a flirt. It isn't that. She has a nice husband and two grown boys, and a sort of farm, where everyone cooks and loafs about, playing dominoes or listening to the radio. It's all safe enough, so far. But I hate Ted to find so much pleasure away from home, I hate it to disturb Mother, as it does, and we all miss him. Yet couldn't very well take Ann to see Saturday and Sunday affairs, and if I did it would leave my mother all alone.

"It gives me a hopeless sort of feeling, for Ted is a very attractive man, and even if some other woman doesn't get him now, there are all the years ahead, when I simply don't feel equal to holding him, or rather, winning him over and over again. If I try to give an informal buffet supper here, somewhat on the order of the Billy Carey plan, it goes flat. If I go along with Ted I have a horrible feeling that they don't want me. I'm always thinking that Mother and Ann are at home, missing me, and that I'm not making any hit with Ted by going along with him. Worrying about it is making me lose sleep, and look 10 years older than I am, so if you have any suggestion do please send it to me, and I'll be forever grateful."

Be Yourself.
My suggestion, Elinor, would be that you stop trying to lead two lives. One is your own happy home life with a mother and daughter, which you are doing your best to ruin with fretted thoughts that Ted is having a better time than you are, and that you are losing Ted, and that you have to make yourself different if you hope to hold Ted. The other life is the life you try to share with him so halfheartedly.

Hold That Man!

It really isn't the task it might seem, this "holding" your husband, according to Kathleen Norris.

The main reason that men seek "the other woman" is that wives become so tied up with home and household duties that they forget friend husband. And if they do remember him they take time to live only "half a life" with him.

But if the wife finds herself really neglected because some "charmer" has led her husband astray, she has two avenues of escape.

First, she can ignore and forget all about this phase of her husband's life, that is, let him go his way and wake up for himself some day, or she can go with him on his pleasure trips and throw herself into the spirit of things. This usually shows the erring husband that "the little wife" can be just as charming as anyone else.

You go out to Billy Carey's in body, but not in spirit. You watch Ted, rather than watching yourself. You secretly wish that you were back at home, where everything is comfortable, and you and Mother and Ann have so harmonious a time.

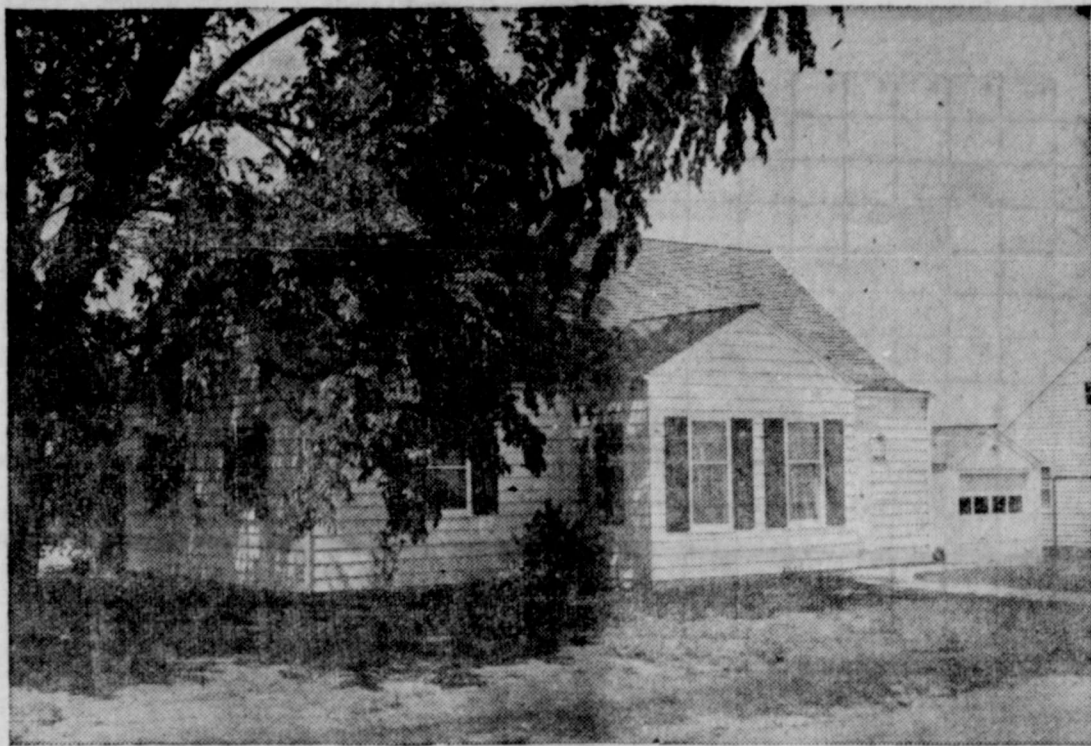

Now, you'll have to make up your mind to do one thing or another. One way would be to abandon all thought of Ted and his friends, as far as you are personally concerned. Rejoice that he has good times with them, and devote yourself completely to Ann and your mother—and, above all, to yourself. Get some simple, becoming frocks, do your hair a new way, read along some directed line of study or take up a language; develop your own personality so that everyone, and Ted included, will notice a change in you. A brightening and quickening; a new interest in life and a new content. In other words, don't be nervous, suspicious, sensitive, injured shadow of Ted. Be a person yourself. That's the way you won him, and that's the way you'll win him back.

The second course, and to me the wiser one, would be to suggest to Ted some day that you go with him when he leaves on Saturday or Sunday. Go to Billy's, or wherever he goes, and instead of sitting mute and unhappy and ignored in a corner, pick out some one person in the group to whom to pay special attention. Be sure it is a neglected person. Find a game you two like to play. Or, if it is Billy's mother, who is getting lunch ready for the crowd, just make yourself quietly useful, draw her into talk with you; forget yourself, and especially forget Ted, as much as you can.

A New Course.
Some years ago a quiet little neglected wife on a noisy house party entered into conversation with the 12-year-old son of the house, who was equally overlooked. He had been given a rather elaborate game that he didn't understand; she got him to bring it down, and studied the rules with him. Presently they began playing it, and a casual onlooker joined them. The onlooker was the Ted type, and presently the group was gathered about watching. It wasn't much, but it carried the mousey wife through one evening.

She and the boy had planned a picnic for the next day. Lonely and shy, he was wild with excitement over the idea of a beach lunch, a fire, chops to be broiled. One or two other guests asked if they might go; in the end they all went, and the quiet little woman managed the whole thing and gave orders and forgot that she had ever been anything but the ringleader. This was the end of her "mousey" career.

NYA to Establish Mechanic Schools

Austin.—Youth in Texas will have a chance to learn the fundamentals of an industry fast becoming one of the foremost in the country when the National Youth Administration establishes six Junior Aeronautical Mechanics Units April 15, according to J. C. Kellam, State NYA Administrator. These units will be located at Waco, Marshall, Fort Worth, Canyon, Houston, and Ranger.

In keeping with the exploratory character of NYA, this basic course will include the elementary phases of nine types of aviation training, theory of flight (aerodynamics), mechanical drawing, sheet metal work, welding, fabric work surface finishes, plating, foundry practice, and radio. The State Administrator said the program is designed to be flexible enough to allow the qualified youth an extra measure of training in any one of the specialties in which he shows interest and proficiency.

"It is conceded by employment experts," said Kellam, "that three industries—aviation, air conditioning, and radio—will, during the next decade, assist materially in relieving unemployment in the United States. Aviation alone has an immediate and enormous demand for many kinds of skilled workers. In addition to the element of national defense, commercial airlines will require replacements and additions. According to a survey made by a National Aeronautical Group, U. S. airlines are carrying only a fraction of their potential passenger transportation demand."

Borah Statue.

The state of Idaho plans to enshrine the memory of its late great Sen. William E. Borah under the lofty dome of the national Capitol, where he served for more than 30 years.

The state will fill its quota of statues in Statuary hall (the original chamber of the house of representatives, where each state is allowed to place two statues). The sculptor has not yet been chosen.

Borah will be the second senator elected by Idaho for this honor. Its other statue is that of Sen. George L. Shoup, a pioneer who was the first governor of Idaho when the territory was admitted to statehood in July, 1890. The Shoup statue is the tallest in Statuary hall, standing 13 feet.

Note—Mrs. Borah, accompanied by one of her sisters, soon will sail for Hawaii for a rest. Her plans after returning are indefinite.

Farm-Diplomat Wallace.

Following publication of a poll showing increased farm support for Henry Wallace, a newsman asked him: "Does this have any effect on your personal political ambitions, Mr. Secretary?"

Wallace evaded: "I noticed the poll indicated Pennsylvania was 51 per cent Republican."

"Mr. Secretary," persisted the newsman, "did you hear my question?"

"No," said Wallace, grinning. Then he added, "I'm trying to give you something of real interest."

T. R. Dempsey

Mr. Thomas Ross Dempsey or (T. R.) as he was called by his friends, was born August 6, 1875, in Marshall county, Tenn., and departed this life March 27, 1940. He was 64 years, seven months and 22 days old.

He was married to Miss Annie Brantley February 18, 1900. They moved to this county March, 1923, to the place where he was called to Heavenly home.

Since he lived in Goldthwaite so long, he had a lot of friends here who visited him while sick and sought to help make his last days as comfortable as possible.

Though taken to various doctors and hospitals, it seemed not best for him to remain here. He was reclaimed Feb. 15, 1940, and seemed to enjoy victory until the end.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Pearl Keeton, pastor of The Church of the Nazarene, assisted by Rev. M. P. Burton, pastor of the Methodist church. Mr. L. B. Porter had charge of the music.

He leaves to mourn his going, his wife, Mrs. T. R. Dempsey, six children, nine grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Dempsey and daughter of Center City, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Dempsey and daughter of Goldthwaite, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Dempsey and daughter of Goldthwaite, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Eddy and son and daughter of Seagoville, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Smith and daughter of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lawson and two sons and daughter of Dallas.

He was loved by those who knew him. As a proof of the love of his people, following are the names of the out-of-town people who were here for his funeral:

Kitty Edwards of Corsicana, Texas, Willie Davidson of Corsicana, Texas, Virgal Matthews of Spring Hill, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Doyal Barbor of Dawson, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dickson and daughter and granddaughter of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Dempsey of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lawrence and daughter of Hubbard City, Texas, Ola Lankford of Waco, Texas, Lewis Savage of Dallas, Texas, Mrs. Carl Savage and son and daughter of Bridgeport, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brantley and two daughters of Burgas, La., Mr. C. C. Smith of Comanche, Miss Emma Smith of Comanche, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson and family of Caradan.

He was laid to rest in the Odd Fellows Cemetery to await the resurrection morn, where we shall meet to part no more.

Tho we miss him more than words can express, we look forward to meeting him in that land where they need no sun.

MILLS COUNTY YOUTH WILL WORK AT NEW YORK FAIR

The Texas A&M College Dairy Department recently announced that Ebert L. Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Pierce, has been selected by the Borden Company as an operator on the Borden Rotolactor at the New York World's Fair.

It has been the policy of that Company to select two outstanding dairy students from each of thirty top-ranking agricultural colleges of the United States for demonstration work in the Borden Exhibit. Selection of the students is based on scholastic rating and extra-curricular activities.

In 1938, Pierce was a high man in the freshman livestock judging contest and also the freshman crops contest. In 1939, he won second place in the sophomore dairy judging contest, and was second high individual at the Southwestern States Judging contest held at Fort Worth on March 11, 1940.

Mrs. S. F. Harper

During my ministry I have had the privilege of contacting many noble, Christian women. Their lives are a benediction to everybody, especially to God's ministers. Fitting memorials have been erected to them in various forms and suitable places, but the great good that they have done toward humanity and to God's glory will be memorialized in the lives of their children, their children's children and their many friends. I have never found one that was as gripping and as unusual in so many respects as dear sister Harper.

What time I have known her she had to make the best of life without the encouragement, the assistance and the love of a husband. Mr. Harper preceded her in death many years. It made life much harder for her, but she found all she had lost and more in the companionship of Jesus Christ whom she had accepted many years before. She was saved when young and after God had blessed her with a family, she endeavored to live in such a way before her husband and children as would merit their confidence in her religion as a Christian. She established an altar of worship in her home and nothing ever interfered with this daily worship. She became a student of the Word of God. It could be said about her Bible what the song writer wrote when he said, "Blessed book, precious book. On thy dear old tear-stained leaves I love to look. Thou art sweeter day by day, as I walk the narrow way, that leads at last to that bright home above." Her favorite scripture was the twenty third Psalm. The Bible was her daily companion.

She maintained a room in her home as her "preacher's room." This room was hallowed by memories of many preachers who occupied it across the years. She loved God's ministers.

Mrs. Harper's devotion to the dear Lord was well expressed in the choice of her favorite hymn, "Amazing Grace." She never thought so much of self, but of others. She was a tireless church worker. Her life was one of personal piety, spiritual living, unstained character and missionary zeal. She loved the gifts that God had entrusted to her. One of the greatest of these is her family. God blessed the simplicity and the sincerity of her faith in Christ by giving her a family of "like precious faith." All who know the family will agree with me when I say, "she hath done a good work on ME"—these are the words of Jesus concerning Mary.—A Friend.

VICTIMS OF HIJACKERS

Henry Argabright and Collie Gilcrease of Oglesby were held up and robbed of about $10 at Cameron Park, Waco, last week. The men were accosted by two men and forced to surrender their money at the threat of being stabbed. Waco police later made an arrest and are holding two suspects, former inmates of the state penitentiary and reform school. Argabright is a brother of L. E. Argabright, of the Regency community.
