ROOSEVELT KEPT HIS POKER FACE

CHICAGO.—There was only one other person present when the President heard the first speech at the convention nominating him for a third term.

The visitor was Mrs. Hattie Caraway, Arkansas' witty, motherly U. S. senator, who entered his White House office for a conference just as Mayor Ed Kelly was starting his address of welcome. In this, Kelly declared that he knew Roosevelt did not want to run, but that he should be drafted anyway.

The President was getting the speech from a small portable radio on his desk. As Mrs. Caraway entered he greeted her with a smile, motioned to a chair and toned down the radio.

From then on he listened in grave silence. When Kelly declared that Roosevelt had to be drafted to "save the heart of humanity," the President's face became solemn. Then as Kelly continued, Roosevelt seemed to sink deeper and deeper into himself.

Once or twice he glanced at Mrs. Caraway, but his face was inscrutable. It was impossible to tell what he was thinking.

But as Kelly drew to a close, the President's mood lifted and when the Chicago mayor finished, Roosevelt smiled, threw back his head and said, "Well, the mayor is getting to be quite an orator."

That was all. Mrs. Caraway asked no questions about the convention and the President volunteered nothing.

Note.—The day the convention opened, Mrs. Roosevelt told an old friend that she was reconciled to the President running again. "If he has to do it," she said, "then there is nothing else to do. I know he doesn't want to run, but there seems to be no alternative."

WHITE HOUSE PIPE-LINE

From the moment Harry Hopkins landed here last week and that open wire was set up between his suite 308-10 in the Blackstone hotel and the White House, the President has been minutely informed of everything that has happened. From early morning until late at night the wire has buzzed with reports from Washington.

Roosevelt leaders have kept him informed of what was being said and rumored in the hotel lobbies.

And some of the politicians are in for a shock when they learn that certain cracks they thought they were making in private are tucked away in Roosevelt's retentive memory. Whatever else the third-term organization may have lacked, it was good on "intelligence." Every delegation and headquarters was "covered" by a friendly contact who

Fairman Co. Sponsors Life Insurance Policy

Earl Fairman made an announcement in The Eagle under the date of July 12, that he could see and feel the need of every family in Mills county and adjacent counties to have a certain amount of insurance protection for every member of the family at a small cost that would not be prohibitive.

He says that after checking over policies of several of the better Texas life insurance companies, he decided to sponsor and recommend the Temple Life Insurance Company for family group policies. Due to the fact that in addition to the natural death insurance contained in the policy, it also carried accidental features which pay for loss of different members of the body, hospitalization, and nursing benefits.

Ben P. Hurdle has been appointed district agent of the Temple Life Insurance Company, and at the end of the first weeks business, week ending July 20, he says that he and his men have insured approximately 150 thrifty bearers of insurance in Mills county. Both Mr. Hurdle and Mr. Fairman are to be congratulated on this community service.

O'DANIEL CLAIMS 75 PERCENT OF VOTE IN HIS ADDRESS HERE

By Travis Foster

Opening his remarks with a facetious apology to the voters for not having "any more opponents than are in the race this year," Governor W. Lee O'Daniel brought his speaking campaign to Goldthwaite this week in an address downtown Monday afternoon heard by approximately 2000 persons.

Mills county voters were given an opportunity to hear the wisecracking flour salesman, but were deprived of entertainment by the notorious hillbilly band, whose special bus arrived here some 20 minutes after the governor began his talk.

Another item in the governors campaign paraphernalia which escaped the notice of the Goldthwaite audience was the controversial "$15,000 sound truck" which is built in the form of the capitol building and which has been the center of a storm of protest and denial for the past month. The truck arrived in town even later than the musicians, and detoured around the crowd to proceed to Brownwood.

'Independent Oligarchies'

O'Daniel's talk here consisted largely of brief passages from the main campaign barrage he has been firing at voters in larger cities during his current road trip. He repeated his willingness to sign any "better tax bill" which the legislature may pass following their defeat of his last proposal, and mentioned in passing that he had apparently erroneously assumed that "at least some members of the legislature had gone as far as the fourth grade in school."

The governor emphasized that the "professional politicians" have wrested the powers of government from the people and placed them in the hands of independent boards and departments in Austin. Two of these boards, he called them "independent oligarchies," which he brought into his talk were the Department of Public Safety and the Board of Control. He pointed out sinister implications resulting from the existence of such governing bodies whose actions cannot be controlled by the governor nor the Legislature.

Toward the end of his talk the governor sent two or three young members of his entourage, including his winsome daughter, Molly, into the crowd to collect donations toward paying the expenses of his campaign. It is recalled that this almost incredible campaign artifice was used by him two years ago.

He closed his talk with the prediction that he would poll "seventy-five per cent" of the vote in tomorrow's primary election.

He spoke in Coggin Park at Brownwood Monday night after his appearance in Goldthwaite, and appeared the next morning in Cisco.

Postmaster Stokes Injured in Collision

M. Y. Stokes, Jr., Goldthwaite Postmaster, was painfully injured Friday morning when his car was wrecked and over turned in a collision at the W. H. Linkenhoe corner on Reynolds street, last Friday morning.

He was given first aid by Drs. J. M. Campbell and J. J. Stephen and sent to King's Daughters Hospital in Temple in Fairman's ambulance.

He has a broken collar bone and three ribs broken near the spine, which may keep in bed for several weeks.

He appreciates very much the many kind expressions of sympathy he has received.

Tom Connally Says America Wants Peace But Wants Defenses

Declaring "the United States and its people are lovers of peace," and "we want no part in any European war," Senator Tom Connally of Texas in a radio broadcast by electrical transcription from Washington Tuesday night, July 23, asserted: "The most imperative duty of the American people and of their servants in Congress is to adequately arm and prepare our nation in self defense that our security may be secured."

"We have treasure that may well attract the ambition and the greed and the avarice of military masters and conquerors, who may see to dominate the world," Senator Connally stressed, adding: "We are determined that none of them dominates the United States of America."

"Our security requires defense within as well as with," Senator Connally continued, saying: "All un-American activities must be stamped out. The fifth column must go."

Explaining inability to return to Texas this summer as has been his custom, Senator Connally said:

"My post of duty is in Washington. Congress is in session. The most important and vital concerns of the American people are being considered. I think Congress should remain on duty. I shall remain on duty as long as the emergency requires."

Civil Service Exams

The Goldthwaite post office has received notice of the following Civil Service examinations paying from $1620 a year up which will be held in the near future:

Teacher in Indian Field Service including Alaska, Glass blower, Cotton technologists, Cook, Prison Service.

Further information may be obtained from the Secretary of the Board of Civil Service Examiners at any first or second-class post office, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

RURAL AID PAYMENT TO BE 100 PERCENT AGAIN

State Superintendent L. A. Woods announced today that Rural Aid Schools can expect 100 percent payment on Salary Aid grants for the coming year on the same basis as was paid for the past year. Thus, the 4023 schools participating in this Fund will be able to determine before the opening of the 1940-41 term how much to budget for the approved items of expense in order to pay the teachers in full.

The forms to be used in making application for Equalization Funds will reach the county superintendents within a week, Woods stated.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Galveston.—Santa Fe system carloadings for the week ending July 20 were 22,118 compared with 20,470 for the same week in 1939.

Cars received from connections totaled 5,269 compared with 5,424 for the same week in 1939. Total cars moved were 27,387 compared with 25,894 for the same week last year.

Santa Fe handled a total of 29,563 cars in the preceding week this year.

FFA Meeting to Be Held July 27

M. B. Coffey, vocational agriculture teacher, in the local high school, has called a meeting of all FFA boys who are planning to attend the Lampasas encampment, requesting them to meet in the Vocational Agriculture Building at the high school at 2:45 Saturday, July 27.

The Lampasas encampment, the annual play period for V. A. students, will be held Aug. 1, 2 and 3 of this year, and will sponsor such games as softball, water polo, basketball, swimming and diving, track events, tennis, and horseshoe and washer pitching. A good attendance is expected, both from her and elsewhere.

Last year six boys from the Goldthwaite FFA chapter attended the encampment and brought back three banners. It is hoped that more will find it possible to attend this year.

Claims O'Daniel's Crowds Made Up Of Boys and Girls

Austin.—The crowds which have listened to the addresses of James E. Ferguson and his wife, Miriam A. Ferguson, candidate for governor, have been largely adult voters while those who have come out to the O'Daniel meetings have been composed of young boys and girls, who came in a holiday spirit to see his show and listen to his hill billy band.

This opinion was expressed by former Governor Ferguson on his return to Austin for a brief interval before going to San Antonio where he and Mrs. Ferguson spoke Monday night and then to Fort Worth and other north Texas points for closing rallies of the campaign.

"The newspapers which he has attacked with such venom gave him more than a square deal in estimating his Houston crowd at ten thousand when he claimed it was sixty thousand," Ferguson stated.

"His exaggeration in estimating the attendance at his meetings is in keeping with most of his statements, including his promise to pay pensions which he has utterly failed to keep.

"The people like the truth from a candidate for high office in Texas and I predict that the voters will register their disapproval of his constant effort to mislead them and pull the wool over their eyes since he took office two years ago." The Fergusons never failed to get in a run-off.

Marvin Hodges Receives Award

Marvin Hodges, Gulf Oil commission representative in this area with headquarters in Goldthwaite, was presented with a beautiful hand-lettered award last week, commemorating his 17 years business association with his company.

The certificate was signed by Colonel J. Frank Drake, President of the Gulf companies; and was personally presented to Mr. Hodges by G. O. Markins, District Sales Manager for Gulf.

In making the presentation, Mr. Markins also handed Mr. Hodges a letter from O. H. Carlisle, pioneer Texas oil man and for many years Gulf's Division Sales Manager. In his letter, Mr. Carlisle expressed his regrets at not being able to accompany Mr. Markins in making the personal presentation.

HEAVY VOTE SEEN ON BASIS OF BIG POLL TAX PAYMENT

Candidates Will Make Last Appeals Here Tonight, 8 P.M.

Interest in the Democratic primary election Saturday will come to a noisy climax here tonight at 8:00 o'clock when precinct, county, district and state candidates and their representatives converge on the courthouse lawn for a final big vote-getting rally—the only countywide meeting of the sort scheduled in Mills county during the entire first primary campaign.

In addition to precinct and county races which have commanded the interest of Goldthwaite people, there has, in the past few weeks, been increased activity in several district and state races. Foremost in this group are the State Representative, 104th district, contest; the race for District Judge of Mills, Lampasas and Bell counties; the wide-open fight for state railroad commissioner; and the always-juicy and unpredictable governor's race.

The last two contests mentioned have been brought close to Mills county people recently with frequent appearances here of representatives of Pierce Brooks and Ross Hardin, apparent leaders in the railroad commissioner race, and the speech here Monday by Governor O'Daniel.

Final appeals of many of the candidates in tomorrow's balloting appear in this issue of The Eagle.

Woods Claims No Bundster Employed By Department

Austin, July 25.—No member of any bund is employed by the State Department of Education, nor has one ever been employed by the department, State Supt. L. A. Woods declared today.

Supt. Woods condemned his opponent's tactics of trying to destroy public confidence in the schools and teachers in a desperate effort to get into office.

"My opponent, in a mud-slinging campaign, has tried to connect me with a Mr. H. Koetter, who is supposed to be the head of some kind of German society in Houston," Supt. Woods said. "He was never hired by me or any of my assistants."

"Koetter was employed by the Houston school system several years ago as a vocational education instructor in painting and decorating. A year and a half ago he did two months' work in organizing apprentice schools in other cities. The state department reimbursed the Houston schools for this two months' work out of funds set aside for this purpose, which are half federal and half state.

"That is the extent of Koetter's connection with the department."

Supt. Woods, who is the head of the national emergency training program in Texas, said the federal government has turned over the training of hundreds of defense workers to his vocational education department.

"While my department is straining every effort to help this nation get ready for an emergency, it is being cowardly attacked from behind by sniping politicians," he charged. "The defense of America means nothing to these men—they are interested only in getting on the State payroll, even if they have to wreck the work of every school in Texas to do it."

"I believe the people want action, not politics, at a time like this," he concluded.

With an increase of 245 in total voting strength in Mills county this year over 1938, and the largest absentee vote recorded in recent years, county Democratic officials foresee an extremely heavy vote in the first 1940 primary election tomorrow.

Figures in the tax collector's office show the county voting strength this year to be 2242, of which 57 are registered exemptions. The corresponding figure in 1938 was 1997, and in 1936 it was 1990. Exemptions listed two years ago were 53 and four years ago were 69.

In 1938 the total vote cast was 1821, or only 176 short of the listed balloting strength. Judged on this excellent ratio, the vote tomorrow can be estimated to exceed 2000 by a good margin. Acute interest in several county races as well as district and state contests is thought more than sufficient incentive to keep the county's Democratic voting average on this high level.

The voting strength by boxes this year is as follows:

Precinct 1 (Goldthwaite) 337, Nabors Creek 14, Center City 147, Priddy 205, Star 117, Fisher 52, Rye Valley 17, Mt. Olive 35, Pompey 47, Mullin 356, Scallorn 51, Caradan 107, Payne Gap 75, Big Valley 71, Rock Springs 42, Rattler 18, Regency 38, Ebony 78, Ridge 40, Box 19 (Goldthwaite), 395. Total, 2242.

Returns from tomorrow's voting will be posted on the courthouse lawn beginning as soon as the booths close. A special bulletin board will be erected, sponsored by Goldthwaite merchants, for the receipt and publication of complete county and precinct returns, as well as flash returns on district and state races.

ABSENTEE VOTE SETS RECORD

With the receipt of 105 absentee ballots up to Wednesday night by County Clerk L. B. Porter, a new record for the July primary was established this year. The vote two years ago was 75, and the highest previous record was 83. It was pointed out that a few more of the ballots will probably be recorded to swell the figure already received.

Letter Received From Ellis Mahan

The following letter was received by the Editor from Ellis Mahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mahan, who is attending an aeronautical school in Los Angeles, California:

Los Angeles, Calif. July 22, 1940

Dear Editor: I have just been reading the Eagle and I want you to know that I certainly enjoy getting the home town paper.

I have been going to school here three weeks and I like it better each day. In six weeks I expect to have my course completed then I will be qualified for a job in any one of several different aircraft factories here in Los Angeles and they are all short of men, but I've heard that they are building some factories in Texas and if they are, I'm coming back there to work.

There is certainly some beautiful country out here, but the people aren't like Texans.

There are over five hundred boys attending school here at this one training school and the factories still can't get enough trained men. I think this is a wonderful opportunity for boys over 18 years old. No aircraft worker gets less than 50c per hour.

Sincerely, ELLIS MAHAN.

Regency

By Mary Ellen Moore

A mistake in last week's Regency column was that Loyt Roberts was under the care of Dr. Campbell. It is Loyt Aaron, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyt Roberts, and we are glad to report he is improving.

Those from here who were seen at the singing at Ridge Sunday afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Reid and children, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Egger, Mr. and Mrs. Loyt Roberts and children, Mmes Charles Roberts, Claude Rowlett and Mearie Danner.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gilbert were shopping in Brownwood Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Egger attended the Primitive Baptist Association held at Doss, from Friday to Sunday.

Those who were in Goldthwaite Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Guy Calder, Mr. and Mrs. Otho Calder, Mr. and Mrs. Loyt Roberts, Charles and Wayne Roberts, J. G. Egger and E. K. Wood.

Miss Floyd Massey of Lake Merritt was a guest in Mrs. Claude Rowlett's home Friday night.

Charles and Wayne Roberts were transacting business in San Saba Thursday.

Otho Calder has been employed some during the past month by J. G. Egger on the road with I. A. Hollis and B. I. Lee.

Quite an unusual stunt took place last week when Mrs. Claude Rowlett strolled from her home to the field, a short distance away, to talk to her sons, Butch and Andy, who were cutting their cane. The cane is about nine feet tall. She could not see her sons but could only hear the tractor. She walked out into the cane a little ways and could not see anything but daylight above her head, the tractor sounded nearer and nearer. The thought came to Mrs. Rowlett that they could not see her in time to stop and was afraid the binder might cut her lower limbs off, so she turned and started running. Believe it or not—she got lost—but was found in the cane patch.

If you know a better one on any of the old settlers of this community, let me know about it.

Mrs. Andy Rowlett has been quite sick with a cold for several days, but glad to report she is improving.

TEXAS OUT-O'-DOORS

Lead In Game Projects.

Game restoration in Texas is moving at a more rapid rate than at any time in the history of the state. The Texas Game Commission is taking many steps to restock areas now depleted of game and too, by improving habitat, increase game on many other areas.

That Texas is among the leaders in game restoration is attested by a recent report of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which shows there are now 196 federal aid projects underway in 43 of the 48 states. That is an advantage of four to a state. Texas is using federal aid funds under terms of the Pittman-Robertson act to finance six big projects. Several others have been submitted to the federal bureau for approval and probably will be inaugurated soon, it is announced by the executive secretary of the Game Department.

Federal funds finance three-fourths of Pittman-Robertson projects and the state provides the other one-fourth. Texas' projects include state-wide survey of game, state-wide improvement of quail habitat areas, trapping and transplanting of antelope, turkey and deer trapping and transplanting. Javelina trapping and transplanting and a survey of the big-horn mountain sheep.

Whitewing Dove Strays.

A whitewing dove is reported by F. L. Roark of Cleveland, Texas, as sighted in Liberty county near the Trinity River. That is a long way from the natural habitat of whitewings in Texas, which is the Rio Grande Valley. That bird strayed farther than any other reported to the State Game Department, but whitewings are being forced to increase their nesting areas primarily due to the fact that much of their nesting area in the Valley is being cleared of vegetation, Game Department biologists study the birds believe.

Whitewings were observed last year nesting as far north as Medina county, which is near San Antonio. Hunting was good in that section last fall.

Due to the fact that much of the brush native to the Valley is being uprooted to make for agricultural practices, whitewings are not only expanding their nesting areas, but many have taken to nesting in the citrus trees of the Valley. Some fruit growers have feared that the whitewings would damage their oranges, lemons and grapefruit by pecking holes in them. However, Game Department biologists point out that this would be difficult for doves due to the fact they have extremely soft bills and weak feet. They are almost entirely ground feeders and it is not likely they could pierce the citrus fruit during its green stage, which is at the time whitewings are in the Valley. The birds migrate in October and early November.

Hunters addicted to whitewing shooting will be glad to know that reports to the Game Department indicate a better nesting season for whitewings this spring than at any time in several years.

Destroying Illegal Trotlines.

Game wardens in many sections of Texas are campaigning vigorously against illegal trotlines and scores of them, 500 to 1,000 feet long and equipped with illegal hooks have been found and destroyed by wardens. Many game fish as well as catfish are caught on trotlines. One outfit found recently had 2,000 expensive, needle-point hooks on it and probably cost $50. The hooks were not baited, but the line was set in zig-zag style across a channel and hundreds of fish were caught in the sides by these "daggers."

Two wardens had a terrific battle with a 43-pound catfish caught on one of these "dagger-point hook" equipped lines, but finally subdued the cat and took it to an orphanage. All illegal game and fish confiscated by the Game Department representatives is donated to charitable organizations in various parts of the state.

About Fish Sanctuaries.

Waters which have been declared fish sanctuaries by the State Game Department are closed to all activities connected with fishing, the executive secretary of the Department warns and pointed out specifically that it is illegal to seine for minnows in the sanctuaries.

It is unlawful for any person to fish in any sanctuary with nets, trotlines, seines, hook and lines, artificial bait or otherwise in any manner take or catch or remove any fish from a sanctuary under penalty of a minimum fine of $25 and a maximum fine of $200.

ANSWER TO # 289

Take a Tip From Mohammed

Said Mohammed to the mountain: "Come unto me and hear my sales talk." Mohammed soon discovered that the mountain would not budge an inch, so he very wisely changed his tactics and went to the mountain.

Today there are many executives who have cut their advertising appropriations to the bone, called in many of their salesmen, and now sit with long faces waiting for business to come to them.

In good times they went after business—and got it. Now, in these times with business harder to get, they sit waiting for it to come to them. And it just doesn't come.

On the other hand, when, in spite of hell and high water, we see business men making successes today, we can rest assured that they have taken a tip from Mohammed.

They are going after business! They are putting more fire and dynamite into their sales and advertising efforts.—Silver Lining.

Or as John Wanamaker, the first man to make millions of dollars by advertising, used to say: "When business is good, advertise SOME for MORE business; when business is bad, advertise MORE for SOME business."

Firemen's Training School Opens July 28

Austin.—The importance of having a well-trained crew to man fire apparatus in each Texas city was stressed today by Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, as he directed an appeal to all mayors and fire chiefs in the state to send representatives to the Firemen's Training School at College Station, July 28-August 2.

The efficiency of fire departments will be materially improved by the knowledge gained at this training school, the Commissioner declared.

Dr. H. R. Brayton will be director of the eleventh annual school which will offer primary and advanced courses for firemen, course for fire marshals, a detailed study for pump operators and apparatus men, and instruction in first aid work.

and vitality. "In short, the physical examination to discover possible physical defects, and a non-fanatical adherence to fundamental requirements in food, rest, exercise, and other essentials are points that should not be overlooked by an adult who has at heart not only his own personal happiness and health, but the interest of the beneficent nation in which he lives.

3 GOOD REASONS WHY

You Should Own Your Own Home

If you're an average business man, you have a wife and two children—and you can afford to live in a home that's your own. Did you know that you can give your family a home to live in for what you're now paying out month after month in rent? Randolph's has a long-term financing proposition that will surely interest you.

FARM PROBLEM

Another reason why the nation has a farm problem is the change from horse to mechanical power that has come since the World War.

Gasoline has reduced the market for corn, oats and hay. This change has destroyed the market for feed products from about 36 million acres which were formerly used for workstock and has released this acreage for the production of other crops.

The Railroads Serve

Back in 1926, Herbert Hoover said: "Probably the most outstanding single industrial accomplishment since the war has been in the reorganization of our American railroads."

Fourteen eventful years have gone by since then. We have seen the greatest boom in our history turn into the greatest depression. We have seen a world peace which many of us believed would last forever change in to a world at war. New figures have come upon the ever-changing stage of history; old ones have spoken their lines and disappeared.

But one thing has been constant—and that is the progressive spirit of the American railroads.

Few industries have had a more difficult economic row to hoe in the past decade. Few have been more unfairly treated by regulatory law. And, in spite of all the obstacles, few have done so much to better their services to the nation.

One freight congestion coupled with car shortages, was the bane of shippers. Today car shortages are virtually unknown. Record crops are moved swiftly to market, without delay or spoilage.

The speed of freight trains has been greatly increased—in 1939, for the first time, the average distance traveled per freight train per day passed the 400-mile mark.

The industry, ever awake to the possibility of suddenly increased demand for its services, has spent gigantic sums to purchase new equipment, and to modernize old. In many cases, it has gone into debt to do this—because it was necessary to the stability and safety of the nation.

The industry has co-operated to the limit with the War Department, in making preparations against the possibility of an emergency. War Department officials have expressed enthusiastically their entire satisfaction with this work.

Many pages would be needed to even briefly list the late achievements of the railroads. And every one of those achievements has been in the interest of American individuals, American industry—and, what is in all our minds these days, American security.—I. N. R.

There Shall Be No Hunger Here

Since the dawn of history hunger and the fear of hunger have driven men to war. And nations have had to have food to defend themselves. No nation has ever been so secure in its supply of food and fiber as America is today. Never has a nation been given such a guarantee of abundance as that assured the United States by the American farmer.

America's granaries are full to overflowing with food and fiber.

2 TYPICAL EXPERIENCES WITH THE FREE MILE-DIAL

CAREFUL SHOPPER type tells you:

"I'm driving the car all day while my husband's at work, so I really buy most of the family gasoline out of my own budget. If I can get even 2 or 3 miles more to a gallon I want to know it. That's why I went to a Conoco station for my Mile-Dial—not just because it's free, but because it really lets you know your true mileage, exactly as a woman wants to really know about anything she pays for. I like buying tested things—the same as any up-to-date consumer—and this certified Mile-Dial is like giving us consumers our own easy way of testing Conoco Bronz-z-z for mileage.

"Anyway, it's almost like a game, dialing your correct mileage on the Mile-Dial—awfully clever. My husband says so, too. By the way, my driving is just as economical as his, the way it proves out on our Mile-Dial. Isn't that interesting? And we're keeping on dialing to make sure of our average in all different driving. Right now, after 61 gallons of Bronz-z-z in all, we're a good 200 miles ahead of what we used to expect from that much gasoline."

"DIDN'T CARE" type of driver says:

"I didn't much care what gasoline I bought as I went along. But this Mile-Dial being free, and really daring you to keep your own close tabs on Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline, I went for it. And now I know why they've got the gimp to let the Mile-Dial tell all. For you can see by my Mile-Dial right on the dash that I've gone 633 miles on 37 gallons of Conoco Bronz-z-z.

"Now if you'll watch this smart Mile-Dial work—next to automatic—you'll see it giving the answer: . . . above 17 miles to the gallon of Bronz-z-z in this big eight, around town here. But I'm leaving for about a 700-mile trip—mostly open country. So don't be surprised if I even get better mileage. And don't say that's a brag, because you can't help believing the Mile-Dial. Besides setting the economy of Conoco Bronz-z-z it's sort of swell fun dialing your honest mileage. The Conoco boys must know what their gasoline's got to give you a Mile-Dial free. I'll bet you would like one yourself and they're free as air, around a Conoco station. You ought to go quick and get yours."

FOR STATE SCHOOL SUPT.

L. A. WOODS

Mr. Woods is asking the people to return him to office upon his record. In his first campaign he promised the people of Texas that he would:

1. Bridge the chasm between urban and rural schools.

Training in an accredited high school has been made available to every boy and girl, in every district with a 50¢ maintenance tax, by providing for the payment of tuition and transportation.

2. Provide more supervision and less inspection.

A more professional, more efficient, and more economical plan of supervision has been created through the organization of districts with resident deputy state superintendents.

Therefore, we ask that you reelect Mr. Woods on the basis of what he has done and what we believe he will do for the State of Texas through the public school system.

RE-ELECTION

—As—

SHERIFF and TAX ASSESSOR and COLLECTOR

—Of—

MILLS COUNTY

TO THE VOTERS OF MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS:—

During the past several weeks of my campaign for re-election I have attempted to see as many of the voters of this county as I could, however, I have felt that I could not, in fairness to the people of this county, neglect the duties of this office in order to make my race and I realize that there are still a great many of you people whom I have not seen. I would like to take this means of saying to you, whom I have not been able to see personally, that I will appreciate your vote and your influence and that any consideration which you may give me in the coming primary will be greatly appreciated by me.

I have no promises to make to you, other than this, that I will continue to discharge the duties of my office without partiality, and that I will, if elected, make you the same kind of an officer in the future that I have in the past.

Based upon my past record as Sheriff, Tax Collector and Assessor of Mills County, I respectfully solicit your VOTE, YOUR INFLUENCE and YOUR CONSIDERATION.

J. H. HARRIS,

Candidate for re-election as Sheriff and Tax-Collector and Assessor of Mills County, Texas.

VOTE, TALK AND WORK FOR THE ELECTION

OF

For District Judge

I MAKE FINAL APPEAL TO THE VOTERS OF BELL, LAMPASAS AND MILLS COUNTIES. I am fighting for my political life. I appeal to your fairness. For twenty-one years Judge Brewster has held this and the office leading to it, without a break. In an effort to get your thoughts away from the long tenure he says the sole issue is one of fitness. Well, I stand six feet on that basis with him. I have met him in combat, and have taken a drubbing or two at his hands and have administered several to him. I am a Mason, and a member of the Baptist Church. I am old fashioned enough to believe my mother's Bible from lid to lid. I make no low appeal for votes. Demagoguery and the arts of the charlatan are too high a price for me to pay for office. I do not have to win this race, but I MUST BE RIGHT.

Elect me Saturday and a new day and a new deal will be yours in your courts. You have lost confidence in your courts. Your confidence must be restored. I will take over your office in January, 1941, under obligation to no man. I have paid every penny of my expenses. In January the doors to your court will swing wide open to the humblest man in the three counties, and his rights protected and guarded as a sacred trust. Shams, perjury and fraud must go. Work, talk and vote for J. W. Thomas today and Saturday.

"America's ideal and objective is still peace — peace at home and peace abroad. Our security is not a matter of weapons alone. The arm that wields them must be strong, the eye that guides them clear, the will that directs them indomitable.

"These are the characteristics of a free people, a people devoted to the institutions they themselves have built, a people willing to defend a way of life that is precious to them all, a people who put their faith in God."

—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT
In his defense speech to Congress May 16, 1940.

BIBLE THOUGHT

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."—Ps. 23: 4.

THE MEANING OF DEMOCRACY

Today this country stands unified, devoted to the proposition that here, if nowhere else in the world, democracy shall be preserved and made secure.

And the people are coming to realize that the preservation of the democratic system involves more than merely spending billions for military weapons, important as that is. The preservation of democracy means that we must again analyze the meaning of democracy—and again return to those principles on which the nation was founded.

Those principles are simple and basic. Certain powers were given to government—the power over currency, over national defense, over foreign policy, and so on. The balance of powers were reserved to the people. The founders realized that government is a non-producer—that all production and creation must come from the individual. And they realized that strict limitation of the activities of government was necessary if freedom was to live.

In recent years we have been drifting away from true democratic government. We have put government into business. We have all but destroyed the rights of the states. We have gone a long way toward the ruinous theory that government owes everyone a living. We have destroyed local independence, local pride, local self-sufficiency. We have become a nation of beggars, feeding at the public trough.

This has cost us tens of billions in taxes and increased Federal debt. Yet, serious as that problem is, it is the least important phase of the trend. Vitally important has been the change for the worse in the American character—the loss of those traditional characteristics of independence and self-reliance. Dependence always breeds dictatorship. Dependence always menaces liberty, and the democratic way of life.

If democracy is to live, the democratic virtues of self-reliance and independence must come back into their own. Government must again be confined to those duties given it by the Constitution. Industry and individuals must realize again that they can no longer expect manna from Washington for sustenance. Then that democracy of which we talk so much in idle phrases will really survive. Then we shall be strong and secure.

A. A Spanish law book printed in 1554. It is in an excellent state of preservation, and Bascom Giles, Land Commissioner, invites the public to inspect the book.

FACTUAL: George R. Vaughan publisher of the Harris County News, in discussing the name of his home town, Tomball, states that the old T. and B. V. (now the B-RI) "ran its first train over these tracks on January 29, 1907, and named the town Peck. The name Tomball was then given to another station which is now known as North Houston." Q. When was Lamb County organized?

A. The County Wide News of Littlefield replies to this question by stating that Lamb County was organized in 1908, and that the county seat was named in honor of Major George Washington Littlefield of Austin.

Q. How much Public Free School land was there originally in Texas?

Market Sales Increase

College Station.—Sales in Texas' 12 homemaker markets operated by rural home demonstration club women during May increased 23 per cent over aggregate sales for the previous month according to reports tabulated this week by Myrtle Murray, specialist in home industries for the A&M College Extension Service.

An increased demand for dressed poultry was one trend reported in practically all reports, and most markets experienced large sales for fresh vegetables. Believing that a sufficient supply of quality products is essential to keep and to increase large numbers of satisfied customers, sellers on the Victoria County market have made plans for continuous planting of vegetables in frame gardens during the hot summer months. This will provide ample supplies of fresh vegetables for marketing. Market producers have also made plans to secure baby chicks at regular intervals to meet the demand for fryers during the fall and winter months.

Third area in which the cotton stamp program of the department of agriculture is to be tested is the Minnesota county embracing Minneapolis and St. Paul. The plan is designed to move surplus cotton goods to public assistance families thru the normal channels of trade.

Studies made by the Bureau of Home Economics indicate that from $85 to $100 per person per year is required for a "good" diet.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNQUIST, D. D., Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for July 28

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

WEIGHING CONSEQUENCES A Principle of Temperate Living

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 1:7-10; Isaiah 5:11, 12, 18-23; Galatians 6:7-9. GOLDEN TEXT—Godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come.—1 Timothy 4:8.

An intelligent approach to life calls for an understanding of principles governing thought and action. Our lesson for today recognizes that every act and thought of man brings consequences, either good or bad. Man himself must make the decisions of life, and what he sows he must also reap.

Matters of crucial importance to modern young people are involved in our lesson. They are asking these days, "Shall I listen to God's voice, or is that just old-fashioned nonsense? What about obeying parents? Should I drink intoxicants? 'Everybody' does—why should I be different? Of course, I don't want to be a drunkard or ruin my future life, but I'd like to have 'my fling'—can't I have it and still avoid disastrous consequences?"

The answers to these questions are in our lesson. May God help young people to find the right answers, and enable every teacher to present the truth clearly and effectively.

I. Safe Counsel (Prov. 1:7-10). No sane person wants to make a fool of himself. He is looking for the right way and will lend his ear to good counsel. Here it is—"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge" (R. V., "wisdom"). Fear of God is not a cringing terror, but a sincere appreciation of His wisdom and a desire to do His will.

The best counselors a boy or girl has are father and mother. Only a fool will pass up the golden opportunity of profiting by their experiences and avoiding their mistakes, and will miss the opportunity of carrying forward their high hopes. Those who fear God and honor their parents will not be misled by the enticement of sinners (v. 10). They just will not "consent," and that settles it.

II. Steps to Ruin (Isa. 5:11, 12, 18-23).

Isaiah lived and ministered in a time of prosperity, which led to drunkenness and immorality. This in time led, as it always does, to the decay and destruction of the nation. We face similar moral conditions today. Let us not shut our eyes to the lesson so oft-repeated in history and in false security go on to national ruin.

We need outspoken and determined opposition in civic, social and religious circles to the liquor traffic and to all the vices that follow inevitably in its train. The portion of our lesson from Isaiah vividly portrays the downward path of the drinker of intoxicants. Ponder it well, young man and young woman.

III. Seedtime and Harvest (Gal. 6:7-9).

Everywhere about him man sees the inexorable operation of the law of cause and effect, of sowing and reaping, and yet he listens to the lies of Satan and of his own lustful heart and tries to convince himself that the law may be suspended in the realm of the moral and spiritual.

Sowing to the flesh always brings corruption. No matter how well educated, no matter what his position in life, or his family connection, the man who takes his first drink has started on the road to a drunkard's grave. Statistics reveal that the victims of drink come from every strata of society and every circumstance of life. Young people, the sure way to avoid the consequences is to not take the first drink.

Sowing to the Spirit brings "life everlasting." That, too, is always true. There is also another precious truth; namely, that by turning to Christ the one who has begun on the downward path may stay the ruinous hand of sin upon his life. Taking Christ as his Saviour, he finds regeneration and renewal of life.

The Works of the Lord

Praise ye the Lord. I will praise the Lord with my whole heart, in the assembly of the upright, and in the congregation. The works of the Lord are great, sought out of all them that have pleasure therein.—Psalm 111: 1, 2.

As Lambs Among Wolves

Go your ways; behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves. Carry neither purse, nor scrip, nor shoes; and salute no man by the way. And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be unto this house.—Luke 10: 3-5.

One Point of View

If we can not hope that life will be all happiness we may, at least, secure a heavy balance on the right side.

The God Within

"God worketh in you." This implies the actual presence of God at the center of our being.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Stepmother's Duty Is to—Wait

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

The little thing seems to have an uncanny instinct for making trouble; if her father starts to talk to me, she must go around the table and climb into his lap.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

EVERY marriage is a separate problem and a separate lifework. June brides might as well get that truth through their exquisitely waved young heads right here and now.

If wedding vows were for six months or one year nothing in the new life would seem so serious. Jean would remind her dear old friends in a laughing aside that "after Christmas" she would be free for bridge and lunches and long evenings of gossip again! John would be more over-ly-like than even in engagement days because so soon he must lose this dear little affectionate companion.

But both know that marriage is a long-term contract. Unless things really go wrong Jean and John will be together when Jean is a wrinkled little old lady, and John's teeth and hair and eyes have all been artificially reinforced. Fifty years! At any age that seems a long, long time, and at 27 and 22 it sounds like a clang of a jail door.

Right Start Important.
That's why it is so important to start right, with a good heroic mixture of unselfishness, silence, self-control, humor. That's why it pays to sacrifice a good many things, to put the family into second place, to give up intimate chattering old friends, and girlhood's habits of reading books until the dinner is actually announced, or nibbling candy so that one doesn't want dinner, or coming in late of an afternoon, or yawning at breakfast, or forgetting toast until it burns, or making mild jokes at John's expense. These things don't sound important, but like every other business, marriage has got to be built upon a sound foundation of mutual respect and consideration, as well as upon young love, and like every other trifle in the beginning, these trifles have a horrifying fashion of growing strong and menacing if they are let grow.

Jean Davis, married last Christmas, writes me of her special problem, and spatters the beautifully written and expressed letter with tears.

A Five-Year-Old Problem.
"I'm 24 and Rod's 37," says the letter. "He's stunning, and I'm not pretty. He's rich, and I was his office secretary. His people all have homes on the lake, in summer; my father has an agency for a patent oven device. She did pretty well for herself," everyone said, when I married Rod.

"And so I did, in everything that affects him and myself. We are really mated, ideally happy. Or we would be, except for Doris. Doris is daughter, five years old. Her mother died when she was born, and her father and grandmother have been her since. Rod wants her with us now, and for his sake I am glad to have her.

"I've always liked children, always—then along with them. But I never saw a child like this one. She is a pale, determined little girl, completely spoiled. Everything causes a fight, everything causes a scene. She will wear a blue dress; she won't wear her white shoes; she won't take a bath, or when she's in the tub she won't get out.

A Constant Battle.
"The little thing seems to have an uncanny instinct for making trouble; if her father starts to talk to me, she must go around the table and climb into his lap. She isn't affectionate, but she can stir him so with wistful references to 'my own Mummy' that his heart melts toward her. Every week-end she spends with her grandmother and aunts, and every Monday she comes back completely demoralized, with some good reason for not going to school.

"My own hope has always been for a houseful of children. But yesterday Rod said that it hurt him to think of anyone ever making Doris feel second. If ours could be a boy, he said, it might be different. But if it was a little sister it might upset her psychologically. At least, he said, that's what one of his sisters told him.
"I honestly think Rod would be happier if we left the child with his mother. But he hates to admit it. And so the screaming and crying go on. If I dress her, 'Jean hurt me!' If I fix her lunch 'it tastes horrid!' When the aunts come she flies to them and clings panting, and of course Rod and casual visitors draw their own conclusions. I want to do my duty by her, and see that she's decently dressed for school, does her homework, eats at least a part of what she should, gets to bed at some reasonable hour. Can you help me see the right way?"
Jean, perhaps I can. For you're not the first stepmother who contradicts all the old fairy-stories by being a gentle and well-disposed human being who wants to give a beloved husband's children a break.

Go Indifferent.
And first of all, I think you must abandon any idea of controlling or influencing Doris at present. Just suddenly go good-natured and completely indifferent. If she asks you for help dressing, make no comment. If she refuses her normal food and demands specialties, leave it to her father and the cook. If her nurse—supposing her to have one, you don't say,—appeals to you, pass the appeal straight on to father, grandmother, aunts. If she's rude, smile. If she demands her father's attention, concede it amiably. If he questions you about her, say leniently that she's only a small girl after all, and she'll grow wiser.

This course cannot fail. It removes you entirely from the scene of combat and places responsibility where it belongs. Once you adopt it, the more outrageously Doris acts the better for you. Her best clothes will be speedily destroyed, her grandmother and aunts will grow tired of a more-spoiled-than-ever child who visits them at odd hours with all sorts of demands. And of the whole distracted circle you will be the only one still smiling and remote.

Order Out of Chaos.
By all means have children. Go straight ahead and fill your nursery with girls and boys. With every one of them you strengthen your own position and rationalize hers.

At 10 Doris will be an orderly little creature, perhaps silent and jealous and embittered in her small soul, but grown out of her baby nonsense. If you can wait for that hour, and befriend her in the meanwhile in steady, gentle, patient ways, you will reap a rich reward. It seems too bad for grown-ups to have to scheme against a small girl in this fashion. But the mischief is not of your choosing, and Doris must learn common sense sooner or later.

As a matter of fact, she will. Spoiled children may grow into discontented and twisted childhood, but they sooner or later stop the teasing, tantrums, spilling of clothes and scorning of food. They must, if they are to live at all. I've known a great many tyrants of five who like Doris have been spoiled by a series of circumstances.

Buffaloes Roamed All Over Texas

The great black buffalo which were once the pride of the Great Plains roamed in Texas, too, in the old days—even as far south as the Gulf coast itself, records in the University of Texas Library show.

Until the 1840's, large herds seem to have wandered across the land. Most of the time they stayed inland, away from the settlements near the coast; and the settlers did not venture out to hunt for fear of Indians. The daughter of one settler, however,

Mrs. Dilue Harris, later wrote of a herd's passing three or four thousand strong through her family's land one night in 1836.

"We could see only a dark cloud of dust, which looked like a sand storm," she wrote. "We were terribly frightened, for it was supposed that the Indians were following the herd. The buffaloes passed and went on to the coast, and the prairie looked afterwards as if it had been plowed."

During the days of the Republic of Texas, the Library's records show, the buffalo gradually disappeared to the north. In the 1840's, Mrs. Harris wrote, the last few remaining in the territory ran with the herds of various cattle ranchers.

Eastern truck growers are waxing such vegetables as peppers, tomatoes, eggplants, cucumbers, and squash. A wax emulsion for that purpose costs three to four cents a bushel and results in premiums of from 20 to 30 cents. Leafy vegetables and bunched root crops cannot be waxed satisfactorily.

ELECTED HEAD COACH

WILLIAM LEDBETTER

STAGNANT CONVENTION
It was a good thing that they were, too. For with time dragging on their hands, delegates seized every rumor and promptly spilled it to the press.

If administration leaders could have had their way, they would have condensed the convention into three days and wound it up by Wednesday. They even discussed doing this, but when it got to Jim Farley he promptly put down his foot. Bent on forcing a roll-call in order to have himself placed in nomination, Jim warned that he would fight any attempt to short-circuit the convention.

The administrationites couldn't risk an open row, so they had to absorb the opposition's brickbats and make the best of it. But it burned them up, and there are a lot of private scores to be settled later. Note—One Roosevelt leader, urging Farley to forget his grievances and remain as national chairman, said: "Jim, if you quit, the public will forget all about you in six months."

"That's okay with me," shot back Farley. "When I quit as chairman, I want to be forgotten." In addition to heading the Yankee ball club, Farley also will take an executive position with a nationally known advertising firm.

MERRY GO ROUND

Chinese Ambassador Hu Shih says blitzkrieg methods won't work in China, "because our spaces are broad and our peoples too many."

While Washington warmly debates the question, "Will we or won't we?" the old war-time song, "Mademoiselle From Armentieres," is coming back.

A group of 35 Latin American ladies of the diplomatic circle put on white costumes and gather at the Red Cross building to make bandages.

Beautiful Mrs. Harry Woodring, who has spent all her life in Massachusetts and Washington, is being kidded about going out to live on the prairies of Kansas. But Helen says she loves Kansas, intends to have a swell time and do a lot of painting there.

Washington irony: When the cabinet group met to plan for disposal of surpluses of the Western hemisphere, the plan's author, Dudley Wood, prepared to leave government service because congress failed to appropriate funds to continue Secretary Hopkins' "brain trust."

ma school system. Bill, as he is better known, went to school in Goldthwaite until he finished high school, then moving to Dallas, attended Oak Cliff High school, finishing there, went to S. M. U. where he obtained his B. A. degree and almost completed his Masters degree.

Bill was an all-round athlete in high school and also in the university. He is head coach of the Blackwell schools with three assistant coaches.

Bill and his father, Marvin Attrip, were in Goldthwaite the past week end and Bill visited several of his former teachers, including Mrs. Mamie Palmer. He will visit his mother on the M&J Stock Farm for a week before leaving for his duties at Blackwell.

Bill, like other boys, enjoys getting back on the old home place on the W. N. Sullivan estate, hunting and riding over the grounds of his boyhood days.

Airplane flights over Louisiana recently detected cotton boll moths 2,000 feet high. Pilots also spotted cucumber beetles 3,000 feet high and mosquitoes at five thousand feet—nearly a mile. Experimenters said the insects were blown to these heights by the wind.

Thirty-nine great rainstorms have occurred in Texas since 1891. Probably the greatest in Texas history occurred from September 6 to 10, 1920 at Taylor, where 17 inches were recorded the first day and 13 the second day, for a total of 30 inches in two days.

VOTE FOR GEORGE MATTHEWS FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I have lived in this district 40 years and never ran for office before.

I am 50 years old, educated and experienced. Old enough to know our problems and young enough to solve them.

Honesty, integrity, efficiency, and common sense make up my platform.

I believe we want to pay our social security debts at once. I will vote and work for every measure to pay same as quickly as possible.

I am opposed to the way our old age assistance laws are being administered. I am for a more common-sense way of administering same.

I know the truckers problems from experience. I am for a load limit to the limit that our roads will bear.

I am a truck farmer living 11 miles north of Comanche. No one would appreciate your vote more than I.
