Cake Walk at Camp Bowie Sponsored by Mills Co. Ladies

Mrs. Stevenson Says This The Greatest Tribute Paid Soldiers Since Coming To The Local Camp; All Receive Cake

An outstanding event was provided for the Camp Bowie soldiers by the Mills County Women's Recreational Defense League on Tuesday evening, May 6, at the Hostess House at Camp Bowie. The entertainment was planned and carried out by Mills county women (not by any means as a publicity stunt) for the benefit of all the boys and men who have left their homes and families to go into training perhaps to fight our battles and protect our fair land from a merciless onslaught by the bitter enemy ever known.

Mrs. Callie Hill Stevenson, senior hostess, said to the Eagle reporter that the cakes (home-made) and the friendliness of the Mills County visitors was the greatest tribute the soldiers have received since coming to Camp Bowie.

The cake walk was something new to the boys and was by far the most popular affair ever staged at the service club.

Miss Annie Coleman and Mrs. Floyd Blair were in charge of the cake walk and Mrs. Earl Fairman, general chairman of the Defense League, one of the first such defense leagues to be organized in Texas, spoke to the audience and said that Mills County residents had been wanting to visit the camp and welcome the soldiers to this part of Texas, and she said, "Every section of the county is cooperating in this cake walk, and remember, we have faith in you boys."

In the brief informal program after Mrs. Fairman's talk, Mrs. Marsh Johnson sang "God Bless America" with the audience joining in on the chorus. Goldthwaite's mayor, H. G. Boddin, was proud and happy over the work of the Mills county women and the splendid cooperation of the entire county in preparing the cakes and entertainment for the boys at the camp.

Mr. A. Ware of Ware's Bakery presented the most beautifully decorated cake, with the flag and colors of red, white and blue and Mills county in very artistic lettering.

All the cakes were not distributed by the cake walk. Scores were saved, taken to the cafeteria and cut, so that every soldier in the club got some cake.

Two More Men Leave For Army Camp Wednesday

According to selective service secretary, O. H. Shaw, Arnold Jeske and Arnold Head left Wednesday morning for Fort Sam Houston as the Mills County selectees for the May 7 call. The next call for selectees will be on May 27, when one man will be called for service.

Farmers In This Area Using Land Bank Facilities

490 Mills County Families Take Part In System To Pay Off Debts

Mills County has approximately 490 farm and ranch families using the Federal Land Bank and the National Farm Loan Association system of cooperative, low-cost, long-term farm mortgage credit, according to F. P. Bowman, Secretary-Treasurer of the Mills County National Farm Loan Association.

Use of this system has enabled approximately thirty families in the county to pay out of debt already, Bowman said.

Outstanding on December 31, 1940, in Mills county were 431 Land Bank loans totaling $992,429. From May 1933 to date, 60 Land Bank loans amounting to $140,700 were closed. The seven-year period had 165 Commissioner loans supplementing the normal Land Bank services for a total of $230,050. Of these, 146 loans for $205,450 remain.

"This system," said Bowman, "was founded to finance farm mortgage debts on terms to fit the needs of the farmer and ranchman. While the family is in debt, striving to attain independent ownership, there is need for safe financing to protect the home investment. Credit from a dependable source, repaid in small, regular amounts on principal and interest, frees the family from worry and cost of frequent renewals."

He said that "farmers and ranchers who own this credit service feel that it is an asset to the community in general. It has made more money available for better farm and home conditions. During the depression and following, its services have permitted many farm families to retain their homes. It has further offered deferments in worthy cases during lean years and encouraged conditional payments to build up reserves in good years."

Crockett Hotel Ideal For Visitors

The Eagle Editor had the pleasure of staying at the Crockett Hotel in San Antonio on a recent visit to that city, and found it a most desirable stopping place. Now that San Antonio streets are overcrowded with automobiles, the problem of parking is one of the most worrisome that confronts out of town visitors. Guests at most of the hotels find it necessary to patronize expensive garages, but the Crockett has its own roomy parking lot which is available to all guests without extra expense.

The picturesque location of the Crockett overlooking the beautiful Alamo gardens and in easy walking distance of the downtown shopping district is also a great convenience. Finally the personal interest in the welfare of Crockett guests that is shown by manager Wm. Nagel and his friendly staff adds to the satisfaction of stopping there.

A modern coffee shop in the hotel serves appetizing meals at modest prices.

Leo Ehlinger Writes About Beautifying The Highways

We feel that your newspaper and citizens are vitally interested in efforts to beautify your city or town just as we of the Texas Highway Department are in improving and making more attractive the highways leading into it. It is with this thought that I am writing you to describe briefly and in a broad, general way what we have found to be a most effective method of making the highways more attractive throughout Texas and one which I believe would help your community solve the problem of unattractiveness.

The principle we discovered is that by eliminating rather than by adding to we accomplish our purpose. For example, we eliminated deep borrow ditches along the highways. We also eliminated tall weeds on the roadsides by planting Bermuda grass. We eliminated wire mesh fences tacked to guard posts as we found that the guard posts without the fence did a better job than with one. We also eliminated many other things which at one time we thought were essentials.

Your community can do the same thing. For instance, a cafe or drive-in stand which sells cold drinks, beer and cigarettes need not have signs on the outside of the building of each and every brand sold. People know that such establishments sell standard brands. One small, attractive sign saying "Cold Drinks and Beer" or "Cold Drinks, Beer and Cigarettes" is sufficient. If something unusual is sold, a simple neat sign saying so can be displayed. But obviously, everyone knows what articles a filling station handles, what to expect to buy at a roadside stand, the items handled by a drug store, etc. without the numerous signs stating that such and such a brand is sold there. These signs are unnecessary, and their elimination will make the establishments and the city more attractive. Thinking along this line no doubt will reveal other unnecessary and unattractive things around the city.

We are passing this information on to you as we learned that the process of elimination not only resulted in beauty and attractiveness, but also contributed much to efficiency and safety.

Respectfully,
Leo Ehlinger,
District Engineer.

A representative group of Mills county women met at the Melba Theatre on April 25th for the purpose of organizing a Defense Recreational League. Miss Carrie Reeves of Brownwood explained the Recreational Program, for Camp Bowie.

Red Cross Seeks 1,000 U. S. Doctors To Aid Britain on Far-flung Front

Above, Britain's long lines of defense, crosses marking points where American doctors will serve. Right, a Royal Army Medical Corps physician, treating an emergency case, wears the uniform which American doctors may choose to wear in serving Britain.

Washington, D. C.—Out of the agony of bomb-wracked Britain has come an appeal for American doctors.

Britain's request is being met. Already the American Red Cross, acting for her sister society in England, has carried the appeal to the nation's medical profession. Up to 1,000 American doctors will be needed by the British Red Cross to supplement the hard-pressed corps of doctors engaged in saving British lives from London to Singapore.

American Red Cross workers who have been in England since the outset of hostilities report the need is acute. Formerly a nation at war needed doctors to treat the sick and wounded on the battle front. Today, with aerial bombardment of civilians, Britain finds her doctors fighting against desperate odds.

American doctors will report to the British Red Cross where they will be allowed to choose service either in the Royal Army Medical Corps or in the civilian Emergency Medical Service, the valiant corps of physicians assigned to home defense.

Their service will be for one year, but if at the end of that period they where they will serve—whether it be in London, Rangoon, the Middle East or any point of emergency along the far-stretched lines of British defense.

The appeal of the British Red Cross has the endorsement of the President of the United States, the Secretary of War and the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. Those doctors subject to military training under our own flag are being given special consideration by the Selective Service.

American doctors, as far as possible, will be allowed to choose

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

Across the Nation

The sun shone when we reached Peoria, Ill., from Washington en route to Chicago and then, after a press conference, I went out to see one of the housing projects built under the U. S. housing authority. Everyone with whom I talked, had the highest praise for Mr. Nathan Straus and the work which has been accomplished under his leadership. The particular project which I saw was practically completed, except for the landscaping.

There are two types of buildings, three story apartment houses and two story small houses. The rents are remarkably reasonable, far below the average for substandard housing in Peoria. I am sure all the officials are very pleased with what has been accomplished.

Later, I met the staff of the WPA for the district. I was very much interested to hear an account of the Workers Service project, which has just been operating during the past two months. They have set up centers of information for the workers, and they seem to have been able to make these centers very useful in the short time they have been open.

A number of the British Relief people, among them two small girls dressed in Scotch kilts, came at five o'clock to shake hands with me. I was glad to see Mrs. Johnson, who remembered having entertained the President and me in the 1920 campaign.

After the lecture in the evening, I attended a small reception. We boarded the train a little before midnight, arriving in Chicago early in the morning.

At noon, we started across the continent, bound for Los Angeles.

'WIDE OPEN SPACES'

We awoke the next morning to find ourselves some 7,000 feet up in the mountains, where the state of Colorado and the state of New Mexico join. A driving rainstorm, at times turning into snow, was with us all day and in places really deep snows covered the ground. We saw miles of prairie powdered with snow and have passed many, many cattle and sheep; none of them looking too happy at this last burst of winter.

The houses are so far apart in this part of our country, one cannot help but think that it requires a different quality to live and to be happy where so much of the time must be spent alone. Even the immediate family of a woman must leave her many lonely hours, for they go to work or to school. The man who earns a living out here must spend much time alone. Even the youngsters must have occasions when they know what it is like to see no other human being anywhere in sight.

It must be hard sometimes, and yet I think it must give one a sense of self-reliance. Perhaps the nearness to the soil and the great outdoors puts iron into their souls.

RECENT READING

I have read the American Red Cross report on war relief, and I think we can be proud of the record that the help made available by and through the Red Cross up to March 1 totaled in value $22,981,942. I was glad to note that relief to Finland had increased last month, but I was extremely sorry to note in the papers that a shipload of Red Cross supplies bound for Greece had come to grief on its voyage. Somehow, one feels that no Red Cross supplies should be war casualties.

There is a new quarterly magazine called "The Land," published by "Friends of the Land," which should be on everybody's table. It is a magazine which hopes to make us all conservation conscious, because people go down and come up with their land, and ours needs to be conserved.

Finally, I read a pamphlet called "Britain Under Fire." It is a collection of articles written by John Cowles, president of the Minneapolis Star Journal. I have read some before but gathered together in this way, they make impressive reading. One of them in particular interested me. It is called "What Will The Peace Terms Be?" I think these two paragraphs are worth much thought on our part:

"English trades unions and labor party leaders, who are co-operating completely with the Churchill government, have as one of their basic aims the re-establishment of strong, free trades unions in Germany as a bulwark against future militarism.

"To attain this end, they say Britain must help build a sound and thriving national economy in post-war Germany."

'TRUE COMICS'

There is a comic magazine, which everyone of us with youngsters who like to read the comics, should have. It is "True Comics," published by the Parents Institute. Its quality is assured by the fact that Mr. George J. Hecht is the president and publisher, while the editor is Mr. David Marke. Junior advisory editors Janet Cantor, Gloria Jean, Mickey Rooney, Shirley Temple and Virginia Weidner ought to be able to help make this a really good comic magazine.

PAYING FOR DEFENSE AND WHAT IT MEANS

At last the public officials in Washington are facing the realities of government finance. The cautious, timid policy under which we have drifted for several years shows signs of reversal. The political kid gloves with which our public finances have been handled, must now come off. The good old days of "cream and gravy democracy" under which we have enjoyed the very delightful diversion of "high spending" with "little paying" are coming to an end. Of course, it could not have lasted much longer anyway.—I mean this sweet illusion of getting so much for nothing, by spending three billions a year more than our income for governmental purposes.

The Situation Now:

Now, we are facing a real emergency, the most crucial dilemma in the history of this republic. Errors of the past are now "water over the wheel" and are to be forgotten in the face of the task ahead. That task is to equip and feed the Moloch of war, upon which our very future, our safety, and all the things we hold dearest and best, depend.

There are but two normal ways to raise money for an emergency. These are "taxation" and "borrowing." When these fail, the usual alternative is to print fiat money, which, when carried to any major extent means bankruptcy and repudiation.

America, today, must tax and borrow. The defense taxes are coming good and heavy. The new levy of $3,500,000,000 now pending before Congress, means an additional annual tax load of over $100 for the average family. These taxes will reach us in every way, on automobile accessories, radios, furs, jewelry, clocks watches, utility services, drinks of all kinds, candy, virtually everything bought in a drug store, except perhaps medicine, and maybe even a 5c tax per pound on coffee and cocoa, and 10c per pound on tea.

Added to these will be the new income taxes, probably increasing the present 24 percent rate on corporations to 30 percent, and on personal incomes from three to four times the present rates. A few figures will illustrate.

A married man earning $2500 and now paying an income tax of $11.00, would pay $72.00 under the new rates. Similarly a $3,000 income now paying $31.00, would pay $152; a $4000 income now paying $70.00 would be increased to $310, and the taxes on a $5000 income, now paying $110 would rise to $506. The $6000 income would pay $700 instead of the present $150. While these tax increases may appear stiff, they are absolutely necessary if this country is to meet its defense burdens and maintain solvency. They would still be much lower than similar taxes in England and about equal to those in Canada. But remember, England's total tax burden before the war was about equal to ours. Since then the English income taxes have been stepped up to 50 percent of all personal income above $660 annually.

New Borrowings

But no system of taxation can possibly pay such emergency expenses. The nation must resort to increased borrowing. With a national debt already headed toward 75 billions, it is absolutely necessary that the people generally support the defense borrowings. It was by that method that we financed World War No. 1. We must do likewise in this struggle. It is just as important that a citizen, with a small income, purchase a $100.00 bond, as it is for a rich man to purchase a large bond, because in each case it is an expression of one's faith in his country and its future. With that wide-spread faith, expressed in such works no country can fail and our future is safe. Without it the future of any country is uncertain and our own safety is imperiled.

As Cartwright worked so hard for a perfect score on all his work, I think it only fair to his memory to correct a sentence in his obituary which might have been a misprint or a miscopy. The sentence should read: "He faced life with courage and determination to win a great, high, and noble goal. In death he won that goal when he heard the Master Say, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant!'"

Maybe you've often wondered what kind of teachers we have up here in high school. Well, we'll give you an idea by giving you some sayings that we, the pupils, hear most often.

Mr. Cloninger (with a wave of the hand): See what I mean?

Mr. Peterson: All cows are animals, but all animals aren't cows.

Mr. Coffey: All right, let's have no more sitting together.

Miss Gilmer: Keep your marbles in your pocket if you want to keep them.

Mr. Lowe: I think we can find sufficient time to proceed with the lesson discussion now.

Mr. Stephen: Before you pay for your caps and gowns you'd better come down and see me.

Miss Welch: If you don't want your marbles in my collection, don't let them rattle.

MONEY in the ground

Billions of barrels of Texas oil reserves mean money in the bank for you as a Texan.

On constant deposit in underground vaults, they assure continued wages for Texas workers, lease and royalty payments for Texas farmers and ranchers, and tax revenues for our State and local governments.

Nearly 11 billion barrels of known oil reserves are on tap in 161 counties of our State. Texas oil men are now searching for new fields in 90 additional counties. They discovered last year almost three times as much oil as they produced.

These oil reserves can be cashed only through their production and processing by Texas workers.

As a means of safeguarding this backlog of economic security, you as a Texas citizen can and should expect:

(a) Sound conservation practices, (b) A reasonable leasing policy by State and local governments to permit healthy development without loss of employment through abandonment of properties, (c) Increased use of this great fuel source through creation of new Texas industries.

These oil reserves provide security for you and every other Texan

Art and Civic Club Holds Last Meeting

Thursday, May 1, Mrs. L. J. Gartman entertained the Art and Civic Club at her home for the last meeting of the year. At the business meeting, new officers for the coming year were installed. Club members also presented Mrs. Gartman, the retiring president, with a federation pin.

Mrs. V. C. Bradford, program leader, gave some outstanding facts about the author Robert Sherwood, whose play, "There Shall Be No Night," has been shown on Broadway for many months. This drama was chosen by Mrs. Maston Pribble, and was presented in review by her in a very capable manner.

After serving the refreshments Mrs. Gartman presented Mrs. L. R. Conro, honorary member, with a pioneer pin to honor her part in the early organization of the club. Those present besides club members were Meses. Omar Weatherby, Robert Littlepage, Henry Martin, Elza Johnson, Hern Harris, Dow Hudson, J. H. Randolph, S. E. Cloninger, and George Shady—Reporter.

Stephens as co-hostesses. Mrs. Sullivan presented Mrs. Jack Kilgore of Corpus Christi as guest artist of a musical tea for all the clubs of the town and a few other guests.

As guests arrived they were received at the door by the hostesses, guest artist, out-going and in-coming club officers. They were directed to a daintily laden tea table with sandwiches, and tarts, macaroons, salted nuts, mints, and punch, featuring lavender and white. The centerpiece was made of pansies, gracefully arranged into a huge bow.

The drawing room was filled with guests who marveled and listened with pride at the music which came from the piano as Mrs. Kilgore, a product of Mrs. John Berry, of our own town, played "Orientale, Op. 50 No. 9" by Cesar Antonovich Ari and "Fantasia No. 1 in D minor" by M. cart. Later she played "Cradle Song" by Ilytsky and "Sonata Pathetique" by Beethoven. Likewise, this group welcomed "Blossom Time" by Lerman sung by Mrs. Marsh Johnson and Mrs. Kilgore, accompanied by Mrs. John Berry. Mrs. Johnson also sang "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer.

James Smith, accompanied by his mother added variety to the program with a clarinet solo "Mighty Like a Rose" by Nevin.

Mrs. Harmon Frazier and Mrs. Sullivan's duet "My Little Star" by Ponce was followed by Mrs. F. P. Bowman's solo "Irish Love Song" by Lang. "Silvia" by Speaks and "Sparkling Sunlight" by Arditi were harmoniously presented by the Schubert Club.

No lover of music could have failed to appreciate this program arranged by Mrs. Sullivan.

Regency Home Demonstration Club Met

Mrs. Charles Roberts was hostess to the Regency home demonstration club on May 2, at 1 p. m. Mrs. H. L. Egger, president, had charge of the business meeting. Songs were sung, club motto, pledge, and prayer repeated by those present. Roll call was answered with "My Favorite Flower." The contest scores were tallied (except on goals) and to date the Reds are 50 points in the lead. (Or the Blues are in the red.) Three members had baked several varieties of yeast bread and was well pleased with the results. Quite a bit of work has been done on bed room goals by several members and others will start soon.

Because of bad weather Miss Scott could not be with us to cut waist patterns. We cut two foundation skirt patterns for members who were not present when Miss Scott cut our patterns. Refreshments were served to eight members. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. L. Egger on May 30, at 2 p. m. Miss Scott will be with us.

Dr. Geo. W. Truett Addresses Baylor Students Last Week

WACO, May 8.—Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, introduced by President Pat M. Neff as "Baylor's most gifted and most beloved son," told Baylor University students that they stand on the watershed of all history.

"These are grave times" the foremost Baptist leader said. "Civilization does not record a more crucial or more important period than that which the world faces today."

"You, as students, are going to be needed. You're going to be needed more than your fathers and mothers were needed. Get a 'good ready.' Tomorrow's battles will be won by those young people who are prepared. Waterloo was won not as much on the battlefield as on the campuses of Cambridge, Oxford and Eton."

The audience of students cheered enthusiastically as the minister exclaimed "The liberty and freedom of America is worth dying for. And if it's worth dying for, it's worth living for."

"Great days are ahead. Face them resolutely, in harmony with the will of God."

Dr. Truett was on the campus for a meeting of the Baylor board of trustees, of which he is a member.

A Training Program For Unemployed Young Men

The Federal Government, through the Civilian Conservation Corps, is making available to all unemployed young men of good character between the ages of 17 and 23½, who fulfill certain eligibility requirements, opportunities for job training in various types of work in connection with the conservation of the nation's natural resources.

Preliminary physical examinations are given to all men to make sure that no conditions exist which would make it inadvisable for any man to accept vigorous outdoor labor, and to guard against communicable diseases. Those in camp receive free medical care, and hospital care if needed. In case of accident in the line of duty, enrollees are covered by the United States Employees Compensation Law.

Work projects, under the supervision of forestry, park, and conservation representatives of the Federal and State Government, include forest improvement and protection, trail making, soil erosion control, flood control, landscaping and development of recreational areas, and many other similar projects. Except in emergencies, working hours are forty each week.

In return for this work enrollees receive complete maintenance and $30 per month. Applicants from families needing additional income to permit them to maintain an adequate standard of living are required to make an allotment of $15 and a deposit of $7 per month. Applicants from families not needing the allotment to permit them to maintain an adequate standard of living are allowed to make a deposit of $22 per month which the Government will hold for them until they are discharged or leave the Corps. Spending money in the amount of $3 is allowed in either case.

Camp life consists of a balanced program of work and leisure time activities. For those who wish supplementary instruction in subjects of practical value, there is a worthwhile educational program. Recreation and sport are likewise well organized. There are opportunities for advancement to positions of leadership with corresponding increases in pay status to $36 or $45 per month.

When a man enrolls he is expected to stay in camp at least six months. Otherwise the Government incurs excessive expenditure for clothing, transportation, and other items, and the enrollee does not fulfill his part of the enrollment agreement.

In case of any extraordinary circumstance developing or if a man receives an offer of permanent employment he may be discharged before the end of his six months' term. After an enrollee has remained for a full term of service he is given the opportunity of reenrolling at his camp or of accepting a discharge and returning at Government expense to his place of selection.

Any unemployed youth, who is interested in securing CCC training, should make application to the County Welfare Board.

Legislative Activities

The Legislature has been making real progress and things have been moving very rapidly for the past several weeks. This week the Senate finally passed the omnibus tax bill which practically everyone agrees will raise plenty of money to meet adequately the needs of the old folks, the needy blind, the dependent children, teacher retirement, and for the immediate operating expenses of the State.

During the passage of this bill through the Senate, I offered an amendment which would levy a tax of two per cent on NET incomes, of individuals and corporations, above one thousand dollars. This Article closely followed the Federal income tax law as to exemptions and deductions, but did NOT carry any graduations or surtaxes. It was limited to a two-year period by a floor amendment, which would have meant that it would have lapsed unless re-enacted by a subsequent legislature. The stiffest fight of the whole tax bill consideration came on this amendment, but it was finally defeated by a 14-13 vote. I introduced this proposal because I felt that it was necessary at this time to raise adequate revenue to meet the needs of the situation and to get the State, on a sound financial basis, and this method would not work a hardship on anyone, because of the fact that it was based wholly on NET incomes, and if one did not make any profit he would not have to pay any of this tax.

House Bill No. 8, as finally passed, allocates $3,350,000 a year for teacher retirement, $400,000 a year to the needy blind, $1,500,000 a year to dependent children, and $21,000,000 a year to the old folks. This latter is an increase of more than one hundred per cent, and, with Federal matching of funds, means there will be available for this purpose some $42,000,000 a year, which should be plenty to pay a liberal pension to all those in need.

The Governor approved my bill revising the license fees on commercial motor vehicles to conform to the increased load limit; also, my bill authorizing the appointment of a commissioner to serve on the courts of civil appeals if any of their members are absent from duty serving in the armed forces; also, my bill extending for three years more the time under which the Upper Colorado River Authority will have to secure Federal funds in order to protect state grants. Penrose B. Metcalfe, State Senator.

Tribute To Newspaper Editors Given By Firestone April 21

Today, few factors in our daily lives exert such a profound influence upon our thoughts and actions as the newspapers, especially here in the United States where freedom of the press is a priceless heritage guaranteed by the Constitution.

Through more than 10 thousand daily and weekly newspapers the world-wide march of events in government, in industry, in education, in social philosophy and in the arts and sciences is brought to 130 million people. And in these uncertain days, when events of vital importance occur with lightning speed and strike whole nations with terrific impact, the responsibilities of those who gather, edit and publish the news have been greatly multiplied. In many respects, the annual convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, which just ended in Washington, D. C. and the meeting of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association, which begins tomorrow in New York City, will go down in history as two of the most important meetings of these organizations. And Firestone pays tribute to those engaged in this vital keeping the people of the United States so well informed of the course of history in the Mexico City, reposed the camouflaged observation plane that was to pick him up on the second night thereafter at a secret rendezvous south of Chapultepec. These final plans, as he checked them over, seemed coldly academic in detail, like the laying of a field gun for indirect fire upon an unseen human target. But Benning did not minimize the dangerous complications that lay ahead.

Midnight brought the lights of Mexico City into view. From the observer's cockpit Benning caught the toss of the pilot's arm in signal and bon voyage. His heart was pumping as he lifted himself erect and climbed out of the cockpit. Into the starlit void he plunged, falling in a backward arc and tolling off three seconds before his hand tore at the ripcord handle of his parachute. Shortly the straps gripped at armpits and legs to tell him the parachute had fed safely out. Above the rush of air he could hear the plane roaring on its way. There came to him a moment's envy of the pilot who would flash back along the friendly route to a safe landing at Albright Field.

The moon had not yet risen, but the capital's masses were outlined in myriad light clusters, which told Benning the American air service was still too busy at home to strike at Mexico City. Through the starlight he presently caught the black earth toward which he was rushing.

He freed himself of straps, and floated and secreted the silken chute. Half an hour's brisk walk brought him to the dark little Calle del Nogal, which told him he had landed to the north of Chapultepec. He found a sleepy cabman to drive him direct to Jesus Maria.

Benning's plan was set as he reached the street on which he had lived with Mile. Ducos.

There was a light in the little Ducos apartment when he reached there shortly after one o'clock. He walked resolutely up to the door and knocked. The immutable law of averages, he argued hopefully as he waited, dictated an occasional bit of luck in his operations.

In a moment the door opened and Benning saw the French girl's diminutive figure framed against the lighted room. But at recognizing Benning, terror flashed into her eyes and she stepped quickly back.

"But no, senor!" she exclaimed. "No such person as you mentioned lives here."

Before she could close the door, a figure strode up from behind her, a gaunt man with shaggy, unkempt beard and bloodshot, haunted eyes in which there was now the gleam of mingled terror and jealous suspicion.

The man's disheveled aspect and wasted face did not rob Benning of instant recognition. It was Bromlitz, the American renegade and murderer, the man in whose shoes Benning had masqueraded in Mexico.

A snarl told Benning that Bromlitz had recognized him. Benning sprang past the French girl to the attack, reaching Bromlitz before the man from Luxembourg could extricate himself from the shock of surprise. Benning drove his fist against the Bromlitz jaw, but did not floor him. A knife flashed from Bromlitz' belt, Benning dove in and pinned his antagonist's arms to his sides.

Bromlitz shook himself with a frenzied strength. Benning clung through one spasm of resistance after another until he felt that his own endurance could not last much longer. With a carefully co-ordinated movement he released his hold and caught Bromlitz' knife hand, twisted it suddenly, and tripped the fellow to the floor.

There was a howl of pain from Bromlitz' throat as the sharp blade crept through his shirt into the flesh of his breast. Benning cast the weight of his body into the lunge. There followed the rasping cry of a mortal wound. Bromlitz' strength relaxed.

Benning stood up. The French operative's face was chalky white, but her blue eyes were cold and unmoved as she observed Bromlitz in the convulsions of his last breath.

"I'm sorry this had to happen here, mademoiselle," Benning told her.

She said with calm indifference: "You've only done me a service, monsieur. Bromlitz has been very difficult of late and I did not dare let him show himself at the palace. Of course, you'll dispose of his body as soon as he is dead."

"Is Bromlitz now in Mexico City?" Benning interrupted.

"That needn't matter to you. You are leaving Mexico City immediately."

"Of course, as soon as I get the information I came here to get."

"Impossible! I can't play the danger of having you here now. In a few days I hope to be ready to leave for France. Nothing must interfere with my success now."

"I'll make a bargain with you, mademoiselle. I'll leave at once if you can find out when Van Hassek attacks from Guaymas. Also anything you can learn about what is going to happen in the Orient."

Her face lighted up and she gave a gasp of relief. "If that is what you want to know, I can tell you, monsieur. Van Hassek's Guaymas force will move up the Gulf within the present week to attack north with his mechanized and motorized regiments through California. Their objective is to freeze your fleet out of its great bases on the Pacific coast."

Benning's brows knotted. "But such an attack doesn't make sense unless Van Hassek is to have prompt reinforcements."

"To be sure, monsieur. But Van Hassek's whole plan is working out right close to pattern. Denied its bases, a heavy part of your Navy will have to sail at once around the Horn to protect your Atlantic coast from the Mediterranean fleet. At the same time with Van Hassek's attack will come the invasion from the Orient, which is already moving east."

Benning gasped. "Do you know those things for fact?"

"I know that Van Hassek expects me in San Francisco within the next few weeks when he is to take supreme command over your Pacific coast. But by then I will be in France—if only I can learn when the attack upon my own country is to launch itself. In a few days I am to meet Van Hassek at San Antonio—in the meantime, I gather what straws I can from his man Boggio."

"Foggio, you say!"

The words drove fiercely from Benning's throat. He felt the bristling of his hair under the surge of feeling aroused by that name, for the instant lost the thread of portentous disclosure that Mile. Ducos made. Promptly he recovered his composure and attempted to cover his show with a smile.

He said, in an easier voice, "So Boggio is here in Mexico City?"

"You should learn, in this business, to conceal your feelings," Mile. Ducos said with a thin smile, and added: "But I can feel on the understand just how you feel on the subject of Boggio. Boggio has done nothing but boast of the bombing of the White House, ever since—"

"Mademoiselle, I can't leave Mexico until I've seen Boggio. A minute alone with him will be enough—and I'll promise to be very discreet as far as your interests are concerned."

New Bus Service To San Antonio

Extra bus service each way between San Antonio and Eastland via Goldthwaite is proving a great convenience to many travelers along the route, according to W. W. Farmer, general manager of the Creamer Stage Line. It is now possible to leave Goldthwaite at 6:25 p. m. and reach San Antonio at 10:30 p. m. spend most of the following day there and returning leave at 3:15 p. m. and arrive at Goldthwaite at 7:20 p. m. The former schedule which calls for departure from Goldthwaite at 11:35 a. m. for San Antonio and arrival from the south at 11:20 a. m. is still in effect.
 The schedule is equally convenient for northbound passengers as all busses make direct connections at Comanche and Eastland for all points. Roomy, comfortable busses and safe and courteous drivers add to the pleasure of traveling the Creamer Stage route.

Tyson Sheep Turn Out Good Yield

This past week Mr. V. D. Tyson was in the Eagle office and while here stated that he had just sheared his flock of registered sheep and that over the flock of nearly two hundred head they averaged almost 11 pounds of wool each. This is a very good average and shows what the registered sheep will do in comparison with grade sheep.
 He also stated that Mr. M. B. Coffee of the local school came out and bought two registered lambs and will put them on demonstration for one year as a comparison of the grade sheep.

 (Matt. 16:13-19) When Jesus came into the coast of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples saying, who do men say that the Son of man is? And they said, some say John the Baptist; some, Elijah; and others, Jeremiah or one of the prophets.
 He asked, who say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said unto him, thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God, etc. Read the rest. (Acts 4:12) Neither is there salvation in any other for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.

My Mothers Day High Resolve

Moses, the man who was chosen of God to give to the world the first code of moral ethics; commands us to honor our Fathers and our Mothers promising a blessing to all who will do so. Christ, the only begotten Son of God, when questioned by some critics gave us all the law in a condensed form, by saying "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul with all thy mind and love thy neighbor as thyself. The Apostle Paul admonished Timothy, the young preacher, to treat the Elder women as mothers and the younger women as sisters in all purity.
 Taking the above statements as being of divine origin, acceptable to God and profitable to men, I make it MY MOTHERS DAY HIGH RESOLVE to honor my mother and to treat every mother with the same courtesy and respect that I would like to have my mother receive, and show the same respect to the younger women that I would have other men show to my sisters.
