Mills County War Board Is To Start Bond Pledge Drive

Committees To Be At Sugar Rationing Places On Monday

A meeting of Mills County War Board was held in County Agent John Wright's office April 28 to formulate plans for a campaign to contact every person in Mills County for the purpose of getting every one in Mills County to sign a pledge for regular investment in War Bonds and Stamps.

A committee will be at each station when Sugar Rationing Cards are issued to give every one an opportunity to sign this pledge.

If you do not understand this fully, ask the committee.

FROM STATE CHAIRMAN

Grover Dalton, Chairman of the Mills County War Savings Committee, has received the following letter from the state chairman:

Dear Mr. Dalton:

We are now faced with the Herculean task of raising the quota given Mills County by the Treasurer of the United States for the month of May.

I know you realize as well as I do the seriousness of the situation that is facing America today—a situation unparalleled in the world's history. America must do one of two things—Fight, Buy Bonds until it hurts, endure hardships, and maintain the American Way of Life for our children and our children's children—or stand idly by and lose everything that our forefathers pioneered, endured, yes, many of them died that you and I might enjoy what we are happy to call the American Way of Life.

I do not believe for one minute that Texas and its citizens will choose but one course—they will Fight, Buy Bonds until it hurts, endure hardships, and maintain the American Way of Life for their children and their children's children—we must have liberty and the pursuit of happiness for America and Americans of the future.

I am taking the privilege of writing you this personal, confidential letter to ask you to do as much in this task as you have shown by your ability to do in the past. You have been doing a swell job, and I know you are going to straighten those shoulders as you take on this additional burden and do just as good a job or even a better one in the months to come as you have been able to do in the past.

I thank you and give you my sincere wish for the best of health that you in turn can do your part to instill in the minds of the good citizens of Mills County what they owe to their sons who are carrying the flag and fighting for the Democracy for which it stands.

In conclusion, I wish to quote our Commander-in-Chief:

IT CAN BE DONE, IT WILL BE DONE, IT MUST BE DONE.

—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Sincerely,

FRANK SCOTFIELD,

State Administrator.

NATIONAL RESTAURANT WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson has proclaimed next week, May 4 to 10, "National Restaurant Week in Texas," as he pointed out the necessity for substantial, balanced diet for all persons during national emergency as in normal times.

Goldthwaite has several first-class restaurants ready to serve patrons at all times—and they invite you to eat at a restaurant at least part of the time during National Restaurant Week. Read their ads in this Eagle.

BUDDY ARMSTRONG GRADUATES

Staff Sergeant Glendon L. (Buddy) Armstrong, above, of Goldthwaite, is a member of Class 42-D, the largest class of flying fighters every to graduate from a U. S. training center. Sgt. Armstrong, now one of the Army's famous flying sergeants, enlisted in the army as a buck private and was graduated from Kelly Field, San Antonio, in services held Wednesday morning and received his wings. A total of 46 Texans received advanced training at six Gulf Coast Air Training Center Schools in Class 42-D. From the training centers the class will go, after a short vacation to visit home, to combat units and instruction tasks.

Buddy enlisted in the Army at Corpus Christi last May 31, and was sent to March Field in California, where he took a four-months' regular enlisted pilot's training ground course. He then was transferred to Quero, Texas, where he finished his primary aviation students' course. He concluded a 10-weeks' basic training course at Brady on Feb. 21, and went to Kelly Field for finishing touches.

Buddy wrote his mother, Mrs. Annie Armstrong, that his class at Kelly Field had recently been undergoing extensive dog-fight training and was now ready for the

County's Naval Relief Campaign Quota Is $210

Kelly Saylor Made Chairman For Two-Week's Fund Drive

Mills County's quota in the Texas drive for $210,000 for the Navy Relief Society was announced this week as $210 by Kelly Saylor, Mills County chairman.

Mr. Saylor was recently named chairman of the Navy Relief Society for Mills County by Attorney-General Gerald C. Mann, chairman of the Texas Citizens Committee of the Navy Relief Society.

Governor Coke Stevenson has proclaimed the week beginning April 19 as "Navy Appreciation Week" in Texas, and during this period the solicitation of funds will be made. A chairman has been named in every county in Texas in order that the entire state may be afforded an opportunity to contribute to this war effort.

"The Navy Relief Society is the substitute for the head of the family when a man is in the Navy, Coast Guard or Marines and is fighting our battles on the high seas or battlefronts," County Chairman Saylor stated. "The Navy Relief Society relieves our navy men of the anxiety concerning the welfare of their loved ones at home, in contributing to this fund we are sharpening the fighting edge of the fighting men."

"Since the beginning of American Naval history, the men of our Navy have banded together to be assured that their families back home would be cared for in time of need. This is the first time these men have asked the public to assist them in their relief fund. But since Pearl Harbor the burden has been too great for them to carry alone.

"I know that the citizens of Mills County can be counted on to gladly do their part, and I am confident that our quota shall be reached, if not exceeded, during the next two weeks."

Committees will be at the different sugar registration places Monday to receive donations.

THE METHODIST REVIVAL

The Methodist Revival that is being conducted by Evangelist and Mrs. R. L. Flowers is now well into the middle of it. The crowds have increased daily. People from every church are in attendance.

One of the attractive features of the Flowers services is the special meeting conducted for the older youth and for the boys and girls. Daily large groups of boys and girls from the grade school have been in the Story Hour that is held at 4:10 daily. The boys and girls have a happiness club choir and will sing Saturday night. The older youth are meeting the Flowers each evening at 7:45 in a special service. The general theme of these youths' meetings is Youth Learning to Live.

For three days this week large crowds of women heard Mrs. Flowers in a special series of talks on women's problems. These groups grow in numbers daily.

Next Sunday morning the evangelist will speak to the church school and also will speak at the Sunday morning hour. Sunday night Mrs. Flowers will bring the last message of the meeting.

MILLS COUNTY SUGAR RATIONING SIGN-UP AT SCHOOLS MON.

Sugar rationing registration will begin next week on Monday, May 4, and may continue through May 5, 6 and 7. This registration is taking place at the elementary schools and, in order to save as much time as possible and interfere as little as possible with school work, all the schools are trying to accomplish the job of registering all the people in the respective districts on Monday, May 4. Every person is requested to co-operate with school authorities in every way possible. Teachers and other citizens are doing the work without pay and are entitled to as much help as can be afforded them. Here are some suggestions which may expedite the work if practiced by registrants:

1. Have all the information ready for the registration.
2. Keep away from the Registrar's desk except when you are registering.
3. Remember that others are waiting to register.

A meeting will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon, May 2, in the District Court room for the purpose of distributing supplies and discussing any question which may be brought up at the time.

SMITH ASKS CO-OPERATION To the People of Goldthwaite and Surrounding Territory:

We are again calling your attention to the sugar rationing. Again we ask you to co-operate with us in getting the job done in one day, MONDAY, May 4. Our teachers will be available that day to assist every one in the matter of registration. The hours set for this stupendous task are from 8:30 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. We sincerely hope that everyone may be registered in that time. We are suggesting that people from the country register in the forenoon and people living in town register in the afternoon.

One person, preferably the housewife, should register for the entire family. It will be necessary that this person give the following information about each member of the family: Full name, weight, height, age, color of hair, color of eyes, sex, and finally the amount of sugar owned by the family.

The trade registration, including grocery stores, cafes and boarding houses, was conducted Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, and may we pause here to express our appreciation for the co-operation and fine spirit shown during this part of the registration.

As we enter upon this, the greatest task we have ever been called on to do, we beg your co-operation and promise you our very best efforts.

Yours truly,

A. H. SMITH,

Supt. Schools.

Dr. C. L. Smith and Mr. C. B. Nickels are offering the facilities of their stations for the day to pecan growers of West Texas. Among the subjects to be discussed during the meeting will be the following:

1. Pecan propagation—a. New grafting method, b. Bark graft, c. Patch budding, d. Cut and wash budding.
2. Insect and Disease Control—Case bearer, b. Weevil, c. Aphids, d. Obscure scale, e. Rosette.
3. Spraying demonstration.
4. Demonstration and results of breeding up pecans.
5. Demonstration of use of hormone in transplanting pecan trees.
6. Three minute report on pecan situation by county agents or vocational teachers.

Among the speakers on the program will be the following well-known pecan specialists and growers:

J. F. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist, A. & M. College; W. S. Price, Pecan Specialist, State Department of Agriculture, Austin; J. L. Rainey, pecan grower and nurseryman, San Angelo; Dr. C. L. Smith, in charge U. S. Pecan Station, Brownwood; and C. B. Nickels, associate Entomologist U. S. Pecan Station, Brownwood.

An interesting feature of the field day will be an inspection tour of the U. S. Pecan Station and the Lucas Pecan orchard to observe some of the splendid results in pecan improvement work in this part of Texas.

Pecan growers, county agents, vocational teachers and others interested in pecan improvement work are invited to attend the Pecan Field Day at Brownwood, May 15.

THE INSECTICIDE SITUATION

Agriculture has a call for increased production on one hand and a shortage of several standard insecticides on the other. Here's about the way the insecticide situation shapes up:

First, the cotton farmer is faced with a decrease of from 25 to 40 per cent in the available supply of calcium arsenate.

No shortage in lead arsenate is anticipated, but the supply will be used principally in the control of fruit and vegetable insects; therefore we cannot count on this material as a substitute for calcium arsenate.

Other substitutes, such as Paris Green and white arsenic, will be unavailable for all practical purposes except for stocks carried over from last year.

Pentiful supplies of both natural and synthetic cryolite should be available, but the effectiveness of this material in controlling cotton insects is limited.

There will be no shortage of dusting sulphur to control the cotton fleahopper.

Vegetable growers will face a shortage of the rotenone insecticides, which have grown increasingly popular in recent years.

Some manufacturers of commercial rotenone mixtures (made from the rotenone bearing roots such as Derris, Cube or Timbo with carriers of sulphur or inert materials), report that supplies have been depleted and that much delay is anticipated in re-newing stocks.

If there are supplies of Derris, Cube or Timbo in storage at local points, these may be mixed with sulphur, clay or talc. If the sulphur on hand is of the wettable type, this may be used in lieu of dusting sulphur and can be applied either as a dust or spray.

No shortage is anticipated in the available supplies of the pyrethrum or of the tobacco in-secticides, such as tobacco extract, free nicotine and nicotine sulphate.

The supply of lead arsenate is apparently sufficient to take care of vegetable growers' needs and this insecticide will again come into use to control chewing insects, a purpose for which it has been largely replaced by the non-toxic-to-humans rotenone insecticides. Use of lead arsenate on vegetables should be followed by the usual precautions.

Fruit growers will find enough lead arsenate on the market for normal use and the ingredients for lime-sulphur are in plentiful supply. There is no shortage of oil for oil emulsion sprays in Texas.

Stockmen will find that the shortage of rotenone bearing roots—Derris, Cube and Timbo, will tend to curtail the program for control of ox warble or cattle grub and of cattle lice.

All applications of insecticides should be held to the minimum to conserve our supplies.

Insecticides are more effective in holding down insect infestations if applied before the infestation reaches the danger point.

Insecticides should be applied only when needed. The amount of insecticides used should not exceed that which will actually be required to obtain control of insects.

POINTERS FOR AGRICULTURE

Fertilizer a year old is as good as that newly made, say Extension agronomists. It may cake in storage and have to be broken before use.

Bait mixture of 2 1-2 pounds bran, two ounces paris green, cupful molasses, one orange or lemon, and about two quarts of water should be scattered in areas infested by cutworms as soon as they appear. If the bait dries make three applications at four-day intervals.

To preserve rubber-insulated electric cord, lay it flat in storage and out of the sunshine. Avoid sharp kinks and bends.

As a preventive to coccidiosis, add 2 1-2 pounds of dusting sulphur to 100 pounds of mash and keep it before chicks until they are about 16 weeks old. Begin when chicks are three weeks old and have had access to sunlight (six hours of sunlight weekly is sufficient).

The 1942 Texas goal for peanuts is 1,056,000 acres, or more than three times the acreage planted the previous year.

Lespedeza will grow on some soils too poor for any clover and on fertile soils too acid for either alfalfa or sweet clover, extension specialists say.

In summer pastures when grass is dry and dormant, lespedeza increases total yield from 25 to 100 per cent.

KEEPING FAMILIES HEALTHY AND HAPPY

By FRANCES BRAMMER
County H-D Agent

Keeping families healthy and happy so they can do their share of work is one way to help win the war.

Keeping up family spirits is a part of the war-time pledge thousands of victory demonstrators in Texas are signing. Plan for good times for the family. Don't make life stern and drab, but try to find ways of having fun without spending much money or using precious automobile tires.

Even though transportation families should not give up community meetings. Meetings of organizations of farm men, home demonstration clubs, 4-H clubs have meant much in broadening horizons, in providing recreation, and in promoting better family living.

Here are some other tips: Keep the radio and phonograph in repair. Don't buy new models unless it is absolutely necessary. Encourage children to mend their toys and sports equipment. Do not sacrifice the education of the children, for the post-war world will need trained people, able to adapt to new conditions. Provide newspapers and periodicals for the family and time for reading and news broadcasts. Remember, "Well informed citizens are the bulwark of a democracy."

The U. S. Navy makes leaders of men.

MISS BRAMMER TO GIVE A KRAUTING DEMONSTRATION

All persons interested in kraut-ing are invited to attend a demonstration to be given by Miss Brammer in her office on Wednesday, May 6, at 10:30 a. m. All home food supply demonstrators are urged to come.

Cabbage is cheap and plentiful. This is an ideal time to make sauerkraut. First of all, there's plenty of cabbage available. Second, cabbage can be bought almost anywhere in Texas for from one to two cents per pound. And then, too, the weather is about right. Temperature around 80 degrees Fahrenheit is just right for curing sauerkraut, research workers have found.

Caution! Much cabbage on the market lately has been found deficient in moisture which necessitates some changes in the making and storing of kraut. General directions can be found in the Texas Extension Service leaflet, "Starring Kraut," C-149, but homemakers will encounter difficulties unless they alter somewhat the regular procedure when cabbage is too dry.

Sauerkraut is made from shredded cabbage fermented in its own brine, and there must be a sufficient quantity of brine to cover the cabbage at all times during the curing process. This year some homemakers have discovered that their cabbage does not contain enough water to cover the kraut on the second day of the curing process.

If the liquid doesn't cover the kraut, cooled boiled water should be added until it rises above the top of the weight which holds the shredded cabbage down in the brine. If it is necessary to add more liquid later, a five per cent brine should be made. This five per cent brine is made by adding four level tablespoons of salt to a quart of cooled boiled water. The quality of the kraut will be improved if soft water is used.

Save Containers This Way: It's so important this year to save containers that kraut should be stored in the containers in which it was made. After the kraut is completely cured (usually 10 days to three weeks are required), the dark, discolored kraut on the surface of the container should be removed. Clean paraffin should then be melted and poured in a thin layer over the top of the kraut.

The paraffin layer should not be so heavy that it will break away the sides of the stone jar or keg in which the kraut is made, for this will break the seal. When the paraffin seal is broken, the kraut should be used in a short time. Then the container may be used again.

If the seal is broken and the kraut cannot be consumed within a short time, the paraffin should be removed, washed, and remelted. Then the kraut can be re-sealed in the keg or jar with a thin layer of paraffin.

Kraut will keep better longer if it is stored in a clean, cool, dark, dry, well-ventilated place.

SOME NEW VICTORY DEMONSTRATORS

By FRANCES BRAMMER
County H-D Agent

New Victory Demonstrators are as follows: Inez Ferguson, Mrs. J. D. Berry, Mrs. Arthur Wilcox, Mrs. E. D. Ferguson, Vera Mae Bell, Mrs. O. B. Bell, Mrs. Geo. D. Brooks, Mrs. Otto Singleton, Syble Woods, Katherine Lennard, Melba McConal, Mary Lena Flores, Romona Martines, Okey Flores, Rita Lou Dennard, Elisa Flores, Valley Beth Oglesby.

Mrs. Lila Crawford, Mrs. Ben Davis, Bess Hutchings, Mrs. Ray Berry, Mrs. Beula Sauters, Mrs. Curtis Long, Mrs. John Edlin, Mrs. Harvey Hals, Anna Gene Hale, Mrs. George Shady, Mrs. L. W. Wigley, Mrs. David Waters, Minnie Crawford, Mrs. O. Z. Berry and Mrs. W. W. Berry.

Every Victory Demonstrator has pledged to repair and take care of all equipment, buildings, and furnishings. That's one way to help win the war.

This is clean-up season. During the war time, spring house cleaning means much more than ordinary years. It will help you salvage materials needed for the war effort, reduce fire hazards in your home, eliminate hiding places of insects and rodents, increase space needed for other uses and make your home and grounds more attractive.

Use a fine tooth comb. Go into every nook and corner of your home. Take stock of everything you have stored in closets, attics and garages. Many homemakers will find broken furniture, discarded clothing, old magazines and papers, and many odds and ends which are not in use.

Examine them and decide what can be given to the government to help win the war. Many scarce materials are needed. Decide if the furniture can be repaired and put into use, if the clothing can be renovated, and worn, if articles can be used if articles which you no longer need can be given to someone who will use them. Remember, a Victory Demonstrator's home and farmstead should be as orderly as an army camp and as clean as the deck of a battleship.

FORMER MILLS COUNTIAN DIES AT MAVERICK

(Mullin Enterprise)
Bert Fletcher, age 60, died at his home Saturday morning after months of declining health.

Bert was reared here and married Miss Cora Curb back about 1904. They established their home in Runnels County and he was recognized as an expert orchardist. Pecans were his specialty. This happy couple was blessed with two sons and five grandchildren. Mr. Fletcher was a Christian liberal and helpful to others.

Funeral rites were held at Maverick and he was laid away at Ballinger. Survivors are the widow, sons and grandchildren, one brother, G. M. Fletcher of this city, and the following sisters: Mrs. T. A. Crockett, Mrs. M. E. Casey, Mrs. R. D. Martin, all present at the last rites except Mrs. Martin, who has been ill.

VEGETABLE INSECT CONTROL EXPLAINED

Follow a few simple rules and control of vegetable insects is not difficult, according to Cameron Siddall, A. & M. College Extension Service entomologist.

A duster may be obtained for a dollar up, but one may be made with a tin can, a stick and a piece of cheese cloth. Ask the county extension agents how it's done. Next, have ready a supply of insecticides for use at the first sign of insect injury. These are cryolite for control of bean beetles, cucumber beetles, cabbage worms and other insects which feed upon the fruit and foliage of the plants; rotenone and sulphur to control tomato fruit worm, flea beetles, plant lice and leaf hoppers; and concentrated pyrethrum dust for squash bugs, stink bugs, and harlequin cabbage bugs. Watch the garden for the first sign of injury and dust both sides of leaves.

Apply poison bait late in the afternoon for control of cut worms, grasshoppers and adult wingless May beetle or June bug. Poison bait will also control mole crickets which frequent sandy soils.

A bait made of cryolite, finely chopped carrots or turnips and wheat bran will control the adult vegetable weevil which attacks roots and foliage of carrots, turnips, radishes and beets, together with cabbage, mustard and other leafy vegetables. This pest prevails in 30 to 40 counties adjacent to College Station.

To control the bluish-gray pill bugs, or sow bugs which damage young tomato plants, sprinkle a mixture of two parts flour, two parts sugar and one part paris green throughout the beds. Flea beetles, also dangerous to these plants, may be controlled by dusting plants with rotenone and sulphur each seven to 10 days.

Cantaloupes, now coming up in southern areas, may be protected from the striped cucumber beetle, which feeds beneath the first small leaves, by dusting with cube or derris powder of four per cent rotenone content, or with cryolite at ten day intervals as long as beetles are present.

Earl Tullos returned from Oklahoma last Friday after several weeks' work there.

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. PALMER TO BECOME MAYOR OF BANGS WED. NIGHT

Charles B. Palmer, druggist, will be sworn in Wednesday night as mayor of Bangs. He is succeeding Earl A. Medcalf. The retiring mayor said canvassed returns showed Palmer elected by a plurality of eight votes, 68 to 60.

An aldermanic board was also chosen in the election.

Mr. Palmer is a former district supervisor of the Texas Department of Public Welfare with offices in Brownwood, before entering the drug business at Bangs.—Brownwood Bulletin.

It was just my dog!

I miss him a lot, it's hard not to cry—
 Brownie has gone away; I know it's good-bye.
 He's dead, but I'll never forget.
 We were great buddies, now there's only regret—
 He was just my dog!

UNCLE SAM CHANGES EVERYTHING

Mother's little darling had always been petted.
 He sat around home, and he fumed and he fretted.
 And never did work—he had breakfast in bed,
 So lazy he seemed he might have been dead.
 He might still be a pampered little scamp,
 But Uncle Sam called him and he's off to the camp.
 He doesn't get breakfast in bed, it is true;
 He had to get up when the bugle first blew.
 He drills and he marches from morning till night—
 He thinks it is crazy—he's too lazy to fight.
 So instead of a sergeant—on k.p. you'll find him,
 In a starched little apron and potatoes behind him.

THE CHATTER CORNER

We may be having lots of rain, but it surely doesn't dampen the spirits or HEARTS of the students. No, there's still flutterings and goo-goo eyes and notes and—chee! Yes, we still have that. Seems like the center of interest last week-end was the carnival at Brownwood. Everybody had a soldier and took a spin on the tilta-whirl or something of the like. Even Louise S. was driving around with a dashing nephew of Uncle Sammie, and their interest in each other was so profound they spent last Sunday with each other, too.

JUST MY DOG

Eloise Slaughter
 Brownie was his name.
 Oh no, he didn't have a pedigree or fame.
 Nor was he of the finest breed,
 To his ancestry I paid no heed—
 He was just my dog!

The love of a master for his dog you may not understand,
 But let me tell you no greater love has any man.

It was sorter comforting to find
 How the nudge of a nose or the wag of a tail brought peace of mind—

BURNS SAYS EAGLE ADVERTISING PAYS

Goldthwaite, Texas, April 27. Goldthwaite Eagle, Goldthwaite, Texas.

Gentlemen: I am thoroughly convinced that the EAGLE is read by the banker, the baker and the candlestick manufacturer; as well as the poet, the peasant and the little boy that lives in the lane.

Last week I put a small ad in the Eagle stating that I desired to buy some chickens, eggs, etc., and the results were way beyond our expectations. About noon Saturday those ivory colored pullet pellets, from our fine feathered friends began to drop in, like hail in Oklahoma. They came in baskets, boxes and buckets. I never saw so many eggs in my life. Honestly I am ashamed to look a conscientious hard-working hen in the face.

We ran out of cases, out of money, and almost out of alibies. But before Old Sol had silently settled in the not too golden west, we had everybody paid off and they were happy and homeward bound.

Well, I asked for it and I got it. The Eagle can always depend on me for advertising. That's Eggactly what I want—more eggs!
 Yolkingly yours,
 JACK BURNS.

FRED SCHRADER, IN INDIA, WRITES HOME

The following letter has been received by Mrs. C. Janiver of Priddy from her son, Pvt. Fred W. Schrader, now in Signal Team "K," ready to fight against the Japs in India should they invade that country. Young Schrader volunteered in 1940, as Radio Operator.

Dearest Mother:
 It has been some time since I wrote you. I am somewhere in India now. I don't like here in India, there are too many black people, and the weather is too hot here. The days are hot and the nights are cold as it can be. I have to sleep under blankets to keep warm.

The people here are way behind us in times. People there don't know how much to be thankful for—for being in the States—if they ever travel the world over. If I ever get back I am not about to leave the good old U.S.A.

I guess the trees are getting green now at home, for spring is just around the corner, or it will be spring when you get this. I hope the Easter will be o.k. this year with you. I don't guess there will be much Easter for me here.

I don't guess I'll be home for my birthday this year. I have bought you a nice birthday present, but don't think I can send it to you now. I will bring it to you some day, so don't worry about anything.

Did you get that allotment I made out to you? You should have gotten it the first or about the tenth of the month. Write me and tell me whether you received the money.

Tell everybody hello for me. I am fine, as usual. Tell Leroy that I will come back to see him some time in the near future. I guess he has forgotten me by now, and guess he will be plenty big when I get back.

If anything should happen there at home, if you should move, you can give my radio station to Martha to keep for me, but don't have the receiver torn to pieces.

Well, I have to quit this time. I'll write again sometime in the near future. Tell Charlie to write to me sometime, also Hilda should write. I can write to but one and that will be you.

So good-bye until then. Your son,
 FRED.

Arthur Cline has opened and is establishing a livestock commission house in Goldthwaite, in connection with his real estate business in his office next door to the post office, where people can list for sale or buy anything in the livestock line. He will have a clerk in the office during business hours to take listings on livestock as well as real estate.

Surrounding towns in this section have had livestock commission houses in operation for several years, and Goldthwaite is keeping up with the times.

All club presidents will make a report on the progress of the work done in their community. Plans will be made for a Victory Day Demonstration. Please come. Visitors are welcome.

Seallorn H-D Club

Thursday of last week the H. D. Club met in the home of Mrs. C. S. Smith for an all-day meeting. Miss Brammer appeared on the scene very early in order to demonstrate to the club different ways of preparing our every-day or common foods. Each member contributed to the noon meal by bringing a specific portion of the menu to be served for the occasion.

After all the different kinds of food had been prepared and arranged, the guests were invited to the dining room where each was served buffet style. After spending an hour eating and in social conversation, each returned to the living room to finish Red Cross sewing which had been started before noon.

At the appointed time for business of the club to be transacted, the president took charge, after which Miss Brammer discussed the value of different kinds of vitamins and their essentials to food health. Refreshments were served by the hostess to twelve members, two visitors and Miss Brammer.

Report From Red Cross Volunteer Service Institute

Four members of the Mills County Chapter attended the Red Cross Volunteer Service Institute in San Antonio Tuesday, April 28. Two representatives of the Midwestern Area from St. Louis were present, Mrs. Swigart and Mrs. Parry, and these women together with workers from various chapters presented a program on Chapter Organization and Production.

From reports given, the Mills County Chapter is doing work equal to and surpassing many of the Chapters of this size. The entire program stressed the need for Red Cross work, especially in the months to come. Many women have not yet joined in the volunteer service, and each woman has a definite place and a definite duty to perform in order to bring victory to our country. When the new quota arrives many cutters and sewers will be needed. It is the hope of the chapter officials that we will have many more volunteers to actively participate in this program.

To the women who have given so generously to their time and energy, the committee would like to give you this message—you have done a great work for which suffering humanity is grateful, and we know that you will diligently perform whatever task is given to us in the future. We need your friends and neighbors to help us. Won't you invite others to come? Every American woman has a duty and the privilege of participating in the work of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Whittaker, Mrs. Steen and Miss Coleman returned Tuesday night. Brian Smith, Chapter Chairman, remained for the entire three-day program.

Note—Please bring finished garments to Red Cross Sewing Room as soon as possible.

W.S.C.S. Meeting

Self Culture Club

The Self Culture Club met with Mrs. Walter Weatherby and Mrs. Sam Sullivan in the Sullivan home Thursday, April 23.

A musical program was presented by members of the Schubert Club, which was enjoyed by everyone.

Tea dainties were served to 14 members and Schubert Club members.

RED CROSS NUTRITION COURSE TO BE TAUGHT

A Red Cross Nutrition Course will be taught by Miss Evelyn Hoting, Goldthwaite Homemaking teacher, and Miss Frances Brammer, Mills County Home Demonstration Agent, in the Goldthwaite Homemaking Department. The class will begin on next Tuesday night, May 5, at eight o'clock and will continue on every Tuesday and Thursday night for five weeks.

The Standard Nutrition Course consists of 20 hours of practical training in the conservation of food values and the selection and preparation of foods which will meet the nutrition needs of the individual and the family.

The Red Cross nutrition program today has a vital double significance in the total war effort of our nation. It will help build civilian power behind military power by providing men and women throughout the country with the knowledge of food needs and food values upon which their health and working efficiency depend; and it will train men and women in every community in the preparation and serving of food in large quantities under emergency conditions, in readiness for the disaster situations that might arise through enemy action.

The textbooks will cost 25 cents. All persons interested may register at Clements' Drug Store.

DO YOU WANT TO BE ENTERTAINED?

Then see the Grammar School Operetta "Taffy Ann". It is the story of another "Tom Sawyer" who is always getting into trouble, but never knows any way to get out of it.

Gallie, played by James Ralph McKee, makes the life of Taffy Ann, played by Glenna Venable, a hectic one for she has promised to keep him until his uncle, a minister, comes for him. She tries, in vain, to get Gallie to act as the minister would want him to act.

The story concerns Gallie and his misdoings and Taffy Ann and her friends trying to get him and keep him out of mischief.

Other characters include Ollie, played by James Smith. He is a great showman and his troop is made up of boys of the neighborhood. You'll see the 'Knights' and their steeds in a tournament. The Candy Clowns will be there with their stunts and fun. Imps will be seen in their black capes representing some of the big lies that Gallie tells.

Gallie has a time trying to be good because of the neighborhood gang who is always teasing him about being a minister's son. Those in his gang are Johnny, played by Beryl Robertson; Neil, Jim Bob Steen; Pesky Stone, Lewis Bird; and Pete is played by Vernon Marshall.

The girls also make it difficult for him to be a good boy because they don't believe he can be a very good boy. Among the girls there are Elizabeth Stockton, who plays the part of a crippled child; Annis, the pessimist, Mari-alyce Smith; Lovey, who is always in the way, Janet Soules; Dorothy, a wealthy but very snobbish neighbor, Nelda Rhea Head; Serunchy, a girl of the slums, Paula Ann Tullis. Bina Beth Casbeer, Nona Faye Campbell and Janie Ruth Simpson are the ones who always see the bright side of life.

The cast is made up of about 100 boys and girls from the fifth through the eighth grades. It is under the direction of Miss Juanita Stinnett and Mrs. Iber Hummel. The admission will be 15c and 30c and it will start at 8:30, May the fourth at the Grammar School Auditorium.

EBONY NEWS—

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Rain has been our theme this past week. Deluges of it, day after day, until we wondered, Could we get to town for the baby turkeys before the hatchery sold them for charges? Could the seeds ever get through the washed and beaten fields? When would static let us hear programs again? But then came Saturday a perfect day, sun-kissed and cloudless, an answer to our fears, with stands of corn and maize and garden truck, with cattle grazing hard in grassy pastures lovely as a city park.

Church was well attended Sunday. We were happy to have Grandmother Ivy with us again. She is spending a few days with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowder. Grandmother Douglas Aircraft Factory there.

After you have had your Pullets on MID-TEX STARTER for 6 or 8 weeks they are ready for MID-TEX GROWING MASH.

The idea that Pullets can be "coasted" along through the growing season on just grain is a bad one. In order for pullets to develop properly, they must have a balanced ration right through the summer. You will reap bigger returns by feeding MID-TEX GROWING MASH.

DIFFICULTIES IN PRICE FIXING

By GEORGE C. HESTER

More rigid priorities, increased rationing, and general price freezing seem to be the order of the day for Americans. In addition, increased taxes and perhaps forced savings are sure to come. Most realistic Americans today are taking these things for granted. On the other hand, few realize the difficulties involved in such policies. We have already witnessed, for example, the crack-up of many small non-defense industries due to their inability to secure essential materials under the priority rulings.

Take rationing as another illustration. This is going to be one of the worst and most unpopular jobs in the United States during the next few years. In the first place, Americans have never learned how to live under rationing. As a matter of fact, they have always lived in a land of plenty. The goods were always available for anyone who could buy them. Moreover, we have been educated in the economic philosophy that we should buy and make use of everything possible. For ten years the government itself has taught us the theory of the more abundant life. Moreover, if we could not secure things through individual resources, we would call upon the government to come to our aid. This was the real basis of deficit spending over the past decade.

No one doubts the urgent need of rationing, but it must be carefully and scientifically done. At best there will be plenty of chiseling and irritation. If administered in fairness and effectiveness, however, the people in the end will accept what the government thinks best.

Again there is the vital and complicated problem of price fixing. The continued upward spiral of prices will bring misery to any people sooner or later. A loose system of price fixing can be tremendously detrimental to many phases of American life. Imagine the pinch which awaits the many thousands of small merchants if retail prices are fixed, while wages and farm prices are allowed to increase. For many of them, there would be no possibility of recovering costs nor repaying debts because they would be faced with the gradual but inevitable shrinkage of profit margins.

It is plainly a fundamental axiom of economics that you cannot set and maintain rigid price ceilings and at the same time permit operating costs, such as wages and raw materials to continue to rise. To do so is simply to pronounce the death sentence of the middle man.

Yet that is exactly the situation confronting over ten million small business men in America today if the government attempts to freeze price ceilings without, at the same time, freezing wages, farm prices, and commodities.

The problem of freezing wages is going to be a difficult task because of the organized political power of the labor block. Contrary to the general opinion, the present parity provisions for farm prices do not, in any real sense, constitute price ceilings for farm prices. They are merely elastic provisions that permit farm prices to rise on a ratio with other prices that affect the farmer's purchasing power. In other words, parity prices merely mean that farm commodities can follow along with the general upward spiral.

While the whole question is primarily a war problem, its implications extend far into the ramifications of the domestic economy. It concerns the basic welfare and ultimately the morale of the vast majority of the civilian population. In a very real sense, it involves the general economic health of the entire nation. The far-reaching possibilities of such policies should be considered carefully in framing the program.

HOW TO SAVE LARD IN WARM WEATHER

Many Texas farm families have large quantities of sweet, high quality lard on hand, and with a little extra work and ingenuity they can save it for use during the fall and summer.

Hot weather causes lard stored in big containers, such as five or 10-gallon vats, to become rancid. Grace I. Neely, Extension Service specialist in food preservation, says the solution is to pack the lard in small containers so full they will be airtight when sealed.

For example, lard may be stored in syrup buckets, and the friction lids may be completely sealed with paraffin or sealing wax. No larger than gallon buckets are recommended, and No. 3 cans or quart jars are even better, the specialist says. Lard packed in jars should be kept in a dark place.

Since lard containers do not have to be processed in pressure cookers, it is possible to re-sterilize tin containers for this purpose. In fact, it is safer to put lard in used tin than fruits, vegetables, meats and other products which must be processed to keep well, Miss Neely says.

Families who have on hand large quantities of oil or beer cans may use these as lard containers if they are of a size that can be sealed with their home-owned equipment. Their salvage can be valuable to the family, since oil or beer cans cannot be used for preserving foods which must be processed.

State Department Health Notes

If you have not been vaccinated against Typhoid fever within the last two or three years, Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises you to go to your doctor or the nearest health officer and have him give you the three "shots" that will protect you against the disease.

"The three shots that will protect against typhoid are given at intervals of one week apart," Dr. Cox stated. "As it takes some time for the protective treatment to be established throughout the system, it is wise not to delay in having it done. My advice is, have it done now so that immunization may be complete before summer arrives."

This advice was addressed particularly to Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and other youngsters who are looking forward to spring and summer hikes and trips. It is, however, meant also for others, young or old, whose business or pleasure during the summer will take them to places where there may be doubt as to the purity or safety of the water supply, or as to the care with which food is handled.

Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Vann Are Pioneers

The Brownwood Banner recently carried the picture and the following write-up about Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Vann, Mills County pioneers:

Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Vann of Mullin, former residents of Brown County and who have many friends and relatives in this county, are pictured above. They have been married almost 51 years, having observed their golden wedding anniversary last September. Rev. and Mrs. Vann were married September 16, 1891, at Zephyr, by Rev. U. D. Bullock, who is now living in San Antonio.

Rev. Mr. Vann, son of a farmer and rancher, is one of the two living children out of a large family. He was born in Brown County March 20, 1868, and has lived in Brown and the adjoining county of Mills all his life. He was called to the ministry 48 years ago, but on account of keeping his children, four daughters, in school, he served mostly the churches closely around him, including both the Mullin and Zephyr congregations. In his early preaching days Rev. Mr. Vann filled the important ministry of County Missionary in Mills County, and served in that capacity for several years, forming a large acquaintance and making many lifetime friends. He retired from active work as a minister a few years ago, but is still counted as one of the most widely popular and best-loved "Marrying Parsons" in that section of the state. During the World War, Rev. Mr. Vann attained to considerable notoriety by donning his derby and cravat and going to work in the fields, or serving in any other way open for giving aid to sorely pressed farmers when the shortage of men was at the highest peak.

Mrs. Vann is a daughter of an old-time merchant. She was born January 17, 1874, at Cylva, North Carolina, and came to Texas with her parents when she was only seven years of age. Since that time her home has been in Brown and Mills Counties. She has been a member of the Baptist Missionary Church for 51 years, and has always been rated as one who "does good," for she spends a great portion of her time reading to the blind and sick, and ministering to those who need help or are in sorrow. The people of Mullin look forward with great anticipation to the "pop" calls of one whose presence always brings good cheer, and leaves hope, comfort and sunshine wherever she goes, especially among the very poor, needy and sick.

Daughters of Rev. and Mrs. Vann are Mrs. George B. G. Lightly of Hamilton, Mrs. S. J. Casey and Mrs. Jewell Ivey of Mullin; and Mrs. Ralph W. Hull, of Tolar, Texas. They have one granddaughter and four grandsons.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for May 3

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE DAY OF ACCLAM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 11:1-11; Luke 19:41-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.—Mark 11:9.

The last week of our Lord's earthly life had come. "Normally, in fact almost universally, the last week of a man's life is of practically no significance. In many cases he is too sick to speak with any clear intelligence, and, of course, when ill, is incapable of doing any noteworthy deeds. In our Lord's life, the last week was the most important of all, and to it more space is given in Scripture than to any one whole year of Jesus' ministry" (Dr. Wilbur M. Smith).

The first day of that week found our Lord riding into Jerusalem in humility, and yet in royal majesty, to present Himself as Israel's King and Messiah. We find

I. The King Seeking Man's Help (Mark 11:1-7).

How surprising that the One who made and upholds all things (Col. 1: 16, 17) should have to say, "The Lord hath need of him," in sending for a humble beast of burden. Yet therein lies a marvelous truth. He has graciously so ordered the universe that He has need of us and of our possessions. That was true in the days of His flesh, when He had voluntarily become poor for our sakes. In a somewhat different sense, but nonetheless precious, it is true today.

To be needed by anyone—to have that which can be used—is always encouraging, but to find that the Master needs us and what we have to give, is truly inspiring. Let us learn to give as readily as the owner of the colt (vv. 5, 6), and let us also learn the important lesson of unquestioning obedience taught in verse 4. "They went their way" to do what the Lord told them to do. How greatly simplified and glorified would be the lives of Christian people if they would thus obey Christ.

II. The King Receiving Man's Homage (Mark 11:8-11).

Presenting Himself as their Messiah, Jesus received the enthusiastic acclaim of His disciples and friends, who were probably joined by others who were drawn by the excitement. But the Pharisees did not join in (see Luke 19:39, 40) nor did the city, not even knowing who He was (Matt. 21:10, 11). So it is today; some love and praise Him, some hate Him, others just ignore Him. Of which class are you?

He gave Jerusalem and the nation a final opportunity to receive Him. It was not yet too late, but it was their last chance. Such a time comes in the life of everyone of us. They rejected Him. What do we do?

But let us not forget that there were those who shouted, "Hosanna," who cast their garments down before Him and waved palms of victory and joy. Thank God that their holy enthusiasm. Pray God that we may have a little more of it. We have come to the place where nobody shouts "Hosanna" or "Hallelujah" except the church choir—and they do it only in carefully modulated tones. We cheer at ball games or at a political rally, and while we surely do not want that same kind of confusion in the church, it would be quite appropriate to bring some real enthusiasm into our Christianity.

Our Lord knew that it would not be long ere the multitude would be changing their cry to "Crucify Him," for He knew their sinful hearts. So in the midst of His day of acclaim we see

III. The King Weeping Over Man's Sin (Luke 19:41-44).

In times of great joy or under unusual circumstances we are prone to think only of our own pleasure or our own need. But with Christ the need of the souls of men was never for a moment forgotten. He might well have gone on to Bethany to rest and rejoice with His friends over His triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

This constant and tenderhearted concern which Christ had for the city which hated and was soon to crucify Him; this remembrance of their need even in His brief hour of public acclaim, may well teach the church a much needed lesson. Many churches are prosperous, well cared for, and even popular. They are prone to rest back and ride the crest of the wave of popularity, forgetting the souls of men and women in need, many of whom live under the very shadow of the church. Shame on us for such callous indifference in the light of our Lord's agonized weeping—for such is the meaning of the word in Luke 19:41.

Others may observe that their city or community is hostile to the gospel, that men would rather crucify the Christ than receive Him. And so they are content to have their snug little spiritual retreat where they meet to comfort one another and to congratulate themselves on their spiritual haven. Again we say, shame on us!

PILOT SWARM GRADUATES FROM SIX ADVANCED 'HIVES'

HDQS. GULF COAST TRAINING CENTER, April 29.—From six hive-busy advanced pilot training schools—two more than were in production last graduation day five weeks ago—the largest class of flying fighters ever graduated from a U. S. training center Wednesday swarmed forth to combat units and instructing tasks.

Officers at training center headquarters, Randolph Field, looked at the roster of Class 42-D, which included 46 men from Texas, and with typical Army reticence smiled broadly: "Encouraging."

Even before Pearl Harbor the goal was 30,000 pilots a year.

Equipped with the newest pairs of silver "wings" in America, this record-breaking class of flying officers and staff-sergeants included:

Staff Sgt. Glendon L. (Buddy) Armstrong of Goldthwaite, who graduated from Kelly Field.

A boon to the nation's bombardment squadrons was the output of multi-engine pilot schools at Ellington Field, near Houston, and at Lubbock, Texas. These pilots made each training flight with the thought: "This is a bombing mission."

Snug cockpits in the Air Forces' super-fast, lead-spitting pursuit planes were the prospects for graduates from single-engine pilot schools at Kelly Field, Brooks Field, both near San Antonio; Foster Field, Victoria; Moore Field, Mission.

Out to obscure villages and big cities of America went a silver stream of miniature wings to mothers and girl friends named honorary members of Class 42-D. This custom, first begun at Kelly Field, with this class had spread to all advanced schools.

OLDEST NATIVE OF MILLS COUNTY SUCCEUMBS

(Mullin Enterprise)
W. E. Jenkins, oldest native of Mills County, passed away at his home near Mullin on April 24, 1942, at the age of 83 years, 10 months and 17 days. He was born June 7, 1858, at Center City, in what is now Mills County. At that time, it was a part of Hamilton County. His father was killed by Indians at Center City about 1865. "Uncle Ed," as he was familarly known to his friends, was an old-time trail-driver, driving cattle up the old Chisholm Trail into Kansas.

On January 1, 1889, Mr. Jenkins was married to Louisa Lattisha Smith, at which time they established their home on Pompey Creek, near Mullin, where he had resided during their fifty-three years of married life.

Besides his wife, he is survived by the following children: W. A. Jenkins, Stephenville, Texas; Mrs. W. B. Black, Mullin, Texas;

Sam Jenkins, Brownwood; D. T. Jenkins, Mullin, and Kirk Jenkins, Mullin. One son, Lawrence Jenkins, preceded his father in death on Nov. 28, 1933. He is also survived by 17 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at Duren Saturday afternoon, April 25, at 3:30 p. m. Pallbearers were Edward Black, Ivy Jenkins, Arthur Jenkins, Leonard Jenkins, Clarence Jenkins, and Marvin Bowden.

STATE SCHOOL HEAD PROPOSES TEACHING RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

AUSTIN, April 21.—The teaching of religion in all public schools of Texas for the first time was advocated Monday by the State Department of Education and plans were outlined in a booklet issued by the office of L. A. Woods, state superintendent.

It was pointed out that during the last few years moral ethics and religion have suffered a serious set-back throughout the world and the opinion was expressed that the public schools of Texas and the nation can accomplish much in preventing any abridgment of the freedom of worship.

"The challenge of the public schools in the future is one of improved social organization with greater emphasis on the fundamentals of Christian citizenship," the report stated. It is of pre-eminent importance that the teaching of Biblical standards be fully recognized as an essential factor in the development of citizenship.

"The teaching of ethics and place of religion in our civilization should be considered seriously, taught and given credit for, especially in the public schools of those communities in which ministers, parents and school officials agree to co-operate in setting up and bringing about worthwhile programs."

Four plans for the teaching of religion in the schools were suggested. They are:

1. The churches and civic organizations of the community raise the money for the salary of a competent teacher of religion for work in the schools of the district. An acceptable teacher is found and he becomes a member of the faculty of the public school with an opportunity to hold classes regularly for pupils who select the study of religion.

2. All children desiring to study religion are allowed to go to the churches of their choice on specified schedule to be taught by persons provided by the church and approved by the superintendent and school board. The schools allow credit for work passed and certified by the special teachers and governing officers of the church in which the work is done.

3. The ministerial association of the community may work up a plan and course satisfactory to superintendent and school board for the teaching of religion in the public schools by the ministers themselves co-operating.

4. The instruction in Bible and religion is given by a member of the regular teaching force. This member is required to have a minimum of twelve semester hours in Bible in addition to his regular academic degree. It is understood in all such cases that the teacher giving Bible instruction must do so without compensation by the local school board employing him.

The Bible has been taught in a few public schools in Texas.

Comanche—

Information was received this week from Major Joseph F. Gibson, VIII Army Corps Headquarters, Camp Bowie, that army engineers would start work on a thirty-five foot crescent pile and timber bridge over Stag Creek thirteen miles from Comanche on April 27 and have it completed May 2.

E. R. Eudaly, head of the Dairy Division of the Extension Department of Texas A&M College called the Dairy Day in Comanche Wednesday one of the best in the entire State and a decided improvement over the unofficial show held here last year. A total of 56 animals were entered in Wednesday's show.

B. G. Combs resigned this week as principal of the Comanche Grammar School and left Monday for Denton where he will take advanced work in the Teachers College and will receive his Master's degree in September.

District Court got underway here Monday morning when the grand jury was empaneled and Judge R. B. Cross delivered his charge.—Chief.

MELBA THEATRE NEWS

"I WAKE UP SCREAMING"
 So great is the spectator interest in "I Wake Up Screaming," the current 20th Century-Fox film starring Betty Grable, Victor Mature and Carole Landis, coming to the Melba Theatre,
 that even the latest news headline are crowded out of mind.

Thus was the prophecy of Producer Milton Sperling, who had great confidence in "I Wake Up Screaming," even while it was in the planning stage—and the critics have borne him out.
 "I Wake Up Screaming" is laid against a background that holds a great fascination to almost everyone, Sperling said.
 "Its locales are Manhattan's Great White Way and the gay cafe society crowd that frequents such famous clubs as
 The Stork, Twenty-One and the Rainbow Room. The characters are those one meets in the newspapers—and would like to know in person."

Shows Saturday prevue, Sunday and Monday at the Melba.

"NEW YORK TOWN"

Mary Martin who scored her biggest hit as the singing star in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," climbs to new dramatic heights when she kisses Fred MacMurray and Robert Preston hello in Para-mount's gay comedy romance,
 "New York Town," which shows
 Friday night and Saturday matinee at the Melba Theatre.
 Miss Martin, a singer and dancer in her previous pictures, all on the comedy side, plays a straight dramatic part, sprinkled here and there with a few light moments.

"New York Town" is delightful romantic drama about a small-town girl and her big-town love affair.
 Down to the last run in her stocking, Mary is rescued by Fred MacMurray, a snappy Manhattan knight who makes his living as a sidewalk photographer. After talking himself into becoming Mary's hero, he almost talks himself out of her life when he sells her on the idea of marrying Robert Preston, wealthy young man about town.
 But Mary is one small-town girl who's out to make good—at least where romance is concerned.

Although Fred teaches her plenty about how to get along in the Big Town, he has a lot to learn about love, and Mary's the girl who opens his eyes. All of

SUGAR RATIONING—

taining the information and instructions for those who will conduct this registration have been mailed to the different counties. The 56-page pamphlet contains instructions for the state and county ration administrators, local ration boards, city and county superintendents of schools, and instructions for the school site administrators and for the registrars.

Retailers, wholesalers, institutions and industrial users of sugar were registered at high schools Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Household sugar users will register on May 4, 5, 6, and 7 in elementary schools. All Mills County families are requested to register and get their sugar ration books on next Monday, May 4.

The book of instructions, called officially "The Plan for Distributing War Ration Book One" has been sent to county courts throughout the country. From the courthouses, these books will be distributed to public elementary and high schools, and there will be placed in the hands of registrars. It is estimated that 1,250,000 elementary school teachers in the United States will serve as registrars, and they will be assisted by volunteers, working under supervision of
 "school site administrators" appointed by local school superintendents.

"The importance to the public of the May 4 to 7 registration,"
 Mr. McCullough pointed out,
 is that a person who fails to obtain War Ration Book Number One not only will not be able to buy sugar, but also will be deprived of other commodities that may be rationed later."
