Martyrs To The Cause Of Free Education Pearl Hardman and Jesse L. By GEORGE C. HESTER

From the little country of Norway comes news that 90 per cent of its school teachers are vigorously and courageously opposing the Nazi doctrines in the public schools. The teachers have stood up boldly for the right to educate the children according to the laws of justice and the principles of a democratic society. For many months they have combatted the attempts of Quisling and the Nazi school inspectors to corrupt the thought of first to buy a Liberty Bond in the youth and to indoctrinate their minds with the ideas of Hit-

Because of their opposition many hundreds of these teachers and their families have been sent to Arctic concentration camps. Even school children who stood by their teachers and refused to submit to the Nazi authorities have been sent to reformatory schools, just another name for concentration camps.

The struggle between those who would regiment the thinking of the youth and those who believe in free education follows a pattern as old as history. It is ancient despotism in its modern form. Over much of the earth today the same struggle goes The issues involved are clear. They go to the very roots of democratic civilization everywhere in the world. It is a revolt of the human spirit against the stifling standardization and the stulifying regimentation of self-imposed autocrats. The purpose behind such a program is to remake the faith and character of men and women that they may stand as mere automitons in the assembly lines of drab conformity, submissive and servile to their masters. All dictators know that the quickest and safest way to build such a society is to take over the educational systems. Here plastic wills of youth an be molded before their minds have en formed for discriminating thinking.

The teachers of Norway and other conquered countries will go down in history as martyrs to the sacred cause of free education. That cause, however, can survive only in case it is defended and perpetuated in other countries. It is here that the issue comes to America

One of the glories of our country is its free schools. What is important for Americans to realize is that these free schools must be kept going.

From tragic experience the world has learned that in the vanguard of totalitarianism certain definite means to wreck democracy are always employed. Invariably the attacks are directed at undermining and destroying the influence of democracy's two most potent institutions. These are free education and the churches. After all other institutions and organizations have succumbed, these two great agencies of a free society still strive to carry on. Long after labor has surrendered its life for a bread card, after the business men have been regimented and their voices hushed, when the politicians have either abdicated for become Quislings, the schools and the churches still resist. The fact that the defiant voices of the clerics and educators are still heard above the storms of oppression, bears tragic testimony to

How To Safeguard Your Motor When Using 'Saved' Anti-Freeze

A warning to car owners who intend to save their anti-freeze for use again next winter is being issued by automotive service authorities, following the Office of Price Administration's appeal for conservation. "Saved" anti-freeze, these authorities point out, helps conserve chemicals needed for war materials. But such saving can seriously damage a car's motor and cooling system unless the followrules are observed, in the absence of any special instructions from

1. Drain the old anti-freeze from the car as soon as cold weather is past. Rust protection ingredients in the solution are used up by summer driving, and the anti-freeze itself often is lost by leakage or by over-filling the radiator with

Discard all anti-freeze that is brown or rusty unless, after standing, it clears up practically water-white or retains some of its original color. There is little value in saving anti-freeze that, when tested, proves badly diluted or weak-

Store saved solution in sealed and labeled glass or then containers. Thin steel cans often rust through from outside.

4. If fresh anti-freeze has to be added in the fall to bring solution up to full protective strength, be sure that this ranti-freeze is of the same brand as the saved solution.

5. Anti-freeze solution used more than one winter uld be frequently tested and inspected during use, and en it becomes brown or rusty in the radiator and does not up on standing, it should be discarded immediately in though a satisfactory test can be obtained on freezing these rules, a car owner can be assured, the experts minimum of trouble from corrosion, freezing damage, , radiator clogging and overheating difficulties. This erve our automobiles, which are an important wartime

LESSON TEXT-Luke 23:33-46; Mark I.E.S. 34.

GOLDEN TEXT—But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.—Isaiah 53:5.

Dark and distressing days have often come upon the earth, but the darkest day of all history was that day when cruel men with wicked hearts laid unholy hands upon the Son of God and crucified Him. And yet, by the grace of God, it was a day of bright hope for the sinful sons of men, for on that day complete redemption was wrought out. The veil was rent and the new and living way into the holy presence of God (Heb. 10:20) was opened for you and for me.

The cross is popular as an ornament on a church or on a golden chain, but it is far more than that. It speaks of the black hour of the Saviour's cry, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" and it also tells us of the One who became sin for us that we might know the righteousness of God (II Cor.

Three thoughts emerge from our

I. Crucifixion - Bringing Life (Luke 23:33, 34a).

"There they crucified him"-four words summing up the almost un-believable thing that took place on Calvary. He died; but in that death life and immortality were brought to light (II Tim. 1:10). As believers in Christ, we are in the crucifixion, for we know that as we contemplate Him on the cross we can say with Luther, "For me, for me!' And yet it was not for us alone that He died-it was for all mankind. So we turn to our unconverted friends and direct them to "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1: He was crucified that they might live eternally. He who had only a plea for the forgiveness of His persecutors (v. 34a) tenderly offers His forgiveness to men today.

II. Rejection-Bringing Accept ance (Luke 23:34b-43).

Those who appear around the cross afford an interesting and striking picture of humanity. There were the indifferent ones, those not interested at all in who was being crucified, but only eager to share in the division of His garments. There stood the people "behold-

-perplexed, unable to believe that the miracle-working Christ was about to die. Verily, they were as sheep without a shepherd.

Then we see those who scoffed. They knew His claim to be the Son of God and hated Him for it. Now at last they had their chance to rail at Him, to ridicule and taunt. More ignorant and yet equally derisive, we see the mocking soldiers.

Even one of the thieves by His culing His claim. But here is the marvelous thing-the other thief, rough and wicked person that he whom he turned in faith, which was quickly and fully honored (vv. 42,

The picture is thus complete. The Rejected One is "the way" to acceptance for all who believe (John 14:6). He said, "I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved" (John 10:9).

III. Darkness - Bringing Light (Luke 23-44, 45; Mark 15:33, 34).

Physical darkness fell over the scene at the cross, as though all nature would go into mourning, or sought to shield the suffering Saviour from the curious and hateful eyes of men. Then, too, it was God's sign that this was not the death of any ordinary man, even as it spoke of the judgment of those who had laid violent, sinful hands on His

But deeper yet was the spiritual darkness into which Jesus went, as bearing the horrible load of the sins of the world He "was made sin for us" (II Cor. 5:21), and God the Father turned away from Him. We cannot fathom the full meaning of that hour, and we dare not attempt to explain it. We can only accept it and thank God that because He was made sin for us we may by faith be "made the right-

Out of the darkness of that hour shone forth the one light which nothing in time or eternity can dim.

lives, proven over and over again by hard actual experience, is that life "Here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come." Rightfully pursued, it in no way inter-feres with the intensest enjoyment of our time here on earth. We have but to see that we do God's will in
