Call Made Renewal Or Subscriptions

Newsprint Rationing Effect Demands Cutting Off Names

As has been announced several times in these columns, newsprint rationing for newspapers went into effect on January 1 this year, reducing consumption an estimated ten per cent. Probably two more reductions will take place this year, according to OPA announcement.

The Eagle is forced to adopt a policy of cutting off delinquent subscribers to make room for any new names being added this week. As this is the critical time of the war for the United States, with hundreds of Mills County young men fighting all over the world, the Eagle wants everybody in this trade territory to have the paper, and asks all to do not have their names on a list in a paid-in-advance batch to place it there at once. We want every Mills County soldier who wants it to have the paper. The Eagle is extending two weeks—until Feb. 15—old rate of $1.50 per year to subscribers, either new or renewal, in Mills and the five surrounding counties. After February 15, the price will go up to $2.00 per year, and all names then be taken off unless their date is ahead of February 15.

There are still a few subscribers who have not paid their subscriptions ahead, so please look at the date stamped after your name on the Eagle today to see that it is not in arrears. Although a great majority of (Continued on page 8)

WHEREAS: The Salvage Committee has set up adequate methods of collection; and

AMONG THE VICTORY DEMONSTRATORS

Lois Bullard, Victory Clothing Demonstrator of the Mt. Olive 4-H Club, has just finished making a skirt, blouse, dresser scarf, several dish towels, potholders, and other articles as part of her 1943 Victory Demonstration.

Virgelene Wicker, Victory Bedroom Demonstrator of the Midway 4-H Club, has refinished her dresser, and is now planning curtains and bedspreads for the bedroom. Virgelene, who is just 13, makes most of her clothes, and helps her mother with the family sewing.

WHY MORE EGGS AND POULTRY

Mills County Farm and Ranch people should be planning right now for their 1943 poultry setup, because the goal of egg production in 1943 is likely to call for nearly 4,800,000 dozen. That is six per cent more than production in 1942 and far more eggs than we ever produced in this country before.

The same situation is true of poultry. We will need millions of meat chickens in 1943, probably 28 per cent more than we produced this year because poultry and turkey meat is readily available for civilian use. Extra meat chickens produced in 1943 can make up for the "red meat"—the beef, veal, pork and lamb—which likely will be rationed to civilians so that our fighting men and our Allies can have all they need.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard was thinking of civilian requirements when he called for the production of 200 million extra meat chickens during the fall and winter. Production this year will help supply the same need.

But that is only part of the story. Why do we need so many eggs? Well, first there are our fighting men and those of our Allies to keep well fed if they are to win battles for us on the many fronts they are fighting. We need eggs for our war workers in this country, and eggs for the war workers in other countries where the battle against aggressor nations is being fought on the home fronts.

All must have food, or the machines of war which roll out of our great American factories will be of no use. It takes strong men to endure the hardships of battle and it takes plenty of food to keep them strong.

There is certainly a profit in poultry and eggs now if handled correctly, but in order to realize a clear profit one must be prepared to raise chickens. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sykes of the Big Valley Community kept a complete record on their flock of 150 layers during 1942. From that record I give you these figures. Monthly egg receipts were: January, $57.34; February, $69.32; March, $75.95; April, $87.25; May, $70.70; June, $64.64; July, $50.25; August, $37.14; September, $31.97; October, $19.65; November, $27.76; December, $33.05. Total: $604.96. Expenses include bought feed, home grown feed, pills, fountains, feeders, baby chick and salts which amounted to $392.71. Thus giving a clear profit of $250.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Sykes are proud of the progress that they have made. Says Mrs. Sykes: "Poultry raising really requires a lot of work, and that is every day of the year. However, if one is equipped, there is a profit in chickens. We have enjoyed keeping a day-by-day account of our chickens for we can see just exactly where every penny goes." Continuing, she said: "Why, I almost know each one by a name. Take that one over there. She is four years old, and she still lays nearly every day."

HOME MEAT CURING IN MILLS COUNTY

Many people in Mills County are butchering hogs at the present time. There are certain definite principles that should be observed when doing every part of the job. Meat is a highly perishable product and unless it is properly handled beginning with the live animal straight through until the time the meat is cooked a low-grade cured product may be the result when it would have been just as easy to have turned out a high quality product.

The following points are of real importance in turning out high quality cured meat:

1. Be sure that the hogs or other meat animals are quiet and in proper condition when butchered or otherwise the meat may be feverish before it is ever put in cure.
2. Handle the job of butchering, bleeding and cleaning efficiently and promptly because the natural bacteria action that causes decomposition and spoilage sets in immediately after the animal is killed.
3. See that the meat is chilled as quickly and as thoroughly as possible. Thorough chilling of meat arrests the natural bacterial action and holds it in check until the curing ingredients have a chance to offset further bacteria multiplication.
4. Do a good job of trimming and curing and test the meat while it is in cure. Use high quality curing ingredients that are especially prepared for the purpose.

There are two methods of curing: The Dry Cure and the Sweet Pickle or Brine cure. Most people in this county are using the Dry Cure. If any information on the two cures is needed please consult County Agent Joe Glover or Geraldine Summers, H. D. Agent. Meat that is properly cured will keep for many months, the exact time depending on the strength of the cure, the kind and cut of meat, and the care with which it is wrapped and stored. Where it is desired to use meat shortly after it comes from the cure it should not be given as heavy a cure as meat that is to be kept for a long time.

Very often someone will state that the meat they have just cured is too salty. This should be controlled by the individual when putting the meat in cure. Meat that is to be used up soon should have a light cure and should not remain in the cure longer than the necessary curing time. Weather conditions help control the length of time meat should cure for best results, as it requires longer for meat to take the salt if the weather remains real cold than it does during favorable curing weather.

Bacon is usually at its best shortly after it comes from the cure and for this reason most people prefer to use up the bacon during the spring and early summer. When properly cured and wrapped, however, bacon can be kept over for a good while but should not be kept longer than a year. Bacon has a high per cent of fat meat and fat meat turns yellow and gets rancid quicker than lean meat.

Shoulders should be used up before the hams as shoulders are more apt to crack open and allow mold to penetrate.

Hams usually improve with age, being at their best after they are about a year old.

Beef and mutton do not keep as well as pork and, therefore, should be used up sooner. Regardless of the way the meat is cured, or the kind of meat, proper care when storing the meat is necessary if it is to be kept in good condition for any length of time. Following are some of the main points to observe for keeping meat:

Keep meat dry. The moisture in the air of the room where meat is stored will condense on the meat and favor bacterial growth. Moisture will also cause mold to develop more rapidly. Keep meat cool. Heat also encourages bacterial activity, causing decay.

Keep well ventilated. Meat absorbs flavors and odors very rapidly. Ventilation will keep the air free from taints, as well as prevent the condensation of moisture on the meat. Keep away from direct light. Direct sunlight discolors meat, therefore, the place where meat is stored should be kept dark and this will also help keep flies away. Keep each piece separate. If the pieces of meat touch or hang too close together, it will prevent free air circulation and sweating will often take place at the point of contact.

Keep meat storage room screened. Flies, rats, and mice should never be allowed to get in the room where meat is stored, and flies should not be allowed to light on the meat as they carry bacteria which can cause decay and actual spoilage.

Watch the paper next week for a continuation of this article. It is something that each person who cures meat will need to know.

EBONY NEWS—By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

The last landmark of the place that once was Ebony faded from the landscape this past week when Faust and Patterson of Lubbock bought the old gin. It had stood like a lone sentinel ever since the purchase of the maneuver area moved the inhabitants and their houses from Ebony. Most of the men of the community, including Herbert Reeves, Alvin Ketchum, Charlie Griffin, Dewey Smith, Edward Egger, Dale Reid, Cecil Egger, and P. R. Reid were employed to help with the wrecking, which took most of the week. During which time the women say they had to keep store, feed the cattle, and do all the chores. Mrs. Alvin Ketchum even hitched up the wagon and hauled fertilizer for her garden. And Mrs. Charlie Griffin had to milk her small dairy single-handed.

Fire raged through the woods of the old Day place Saturday, but no damage was done as there were no houses to burn and no livestock to be inconvenienced.

But we were sure sorry to hear about the Butch Rowlett house at Regency which was destroyed by fire early Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilmeth and their children, Lucy Gale and Nancy Jim, of Brooksmith got away from their busy ranch long enough to spend the weekend at the Wilmeth home. They also attended church here Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ketchum and June and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Reid and Benna Von and Judy went to Moline Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mashburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts returned to Mullin over the week-end after spending last week with Mr. and Mrs. Loyt Roberts.

Hubert Reeves stuck a nail in his foot while working on the gin Saturday.

John Briley, who has been under the weather for some time seems to be slightly improved this week.

Mrs. Reids Haynes called on Mrs. Nellie Malone Wednesday. She says Reide is not feeling well at all lately.

Wayne Roberts writes often from California. Says he is doing all right and likes his work. Wayne is making an airplane mechanic.

Bill Ketchum writes again that he is all right in South Africa.

A letter from Gene Wilmeth written Christmas Day came last week. He said he was all right, but wished he could hear more from home. He had received only one letter, though letters have been sent him every week.

We were glad to have the Misses Sykes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Sykes, who accom-

Charm Whittenburg got busy and fixed up his phone line and now has connection with the store. Wish some of the rest of us had that much energy.

Frozen pipes from last week's severe weather caused some damage to our water systems. The Briley home was left almost waterless when ice caused the leak in the concrete tank to drain out most of the water and the spring on the windmill broke. Cecil Egger, trouble shooter for the community, was called on, but he was hard at work on the gin-wrecking. However, when Mr. and Mrs. Briley returned from church Sunday, the windmill was in good working order. Cecil had been there. Such is the helpful spirit of the country.

A farm woman talking over the radio on Farm Monday made a heartening contribution to the attitude of the soldier. She said he was in South Africa had a comet saying, "Mother, so many would like miss this home, I wouldn't miss this home for anything."

WHEAT IN THE RATION FOR LIVESTOCK, POULTRY AND SWINE

Feeding Wheat to Dairy Cows
Wheat contains almost twice as much total crude protein as corn. It is also higher in total digestible nutrients. This difference in protein must be taken into consideration in figuring rations using wheat. For all practical purposes wheat is a little more than equal to corn pound for pound. Wheat can be used to make up one-third of the grain mixture.

For dairy cows wheat should be ground, preferably coarse. Since wheat is a heavy feed, it is best to mix it with a bulky concentrate such as ground ear corn or ground grain sorghum heads.

Rations
(In all rations peanut and soybean meal may be substituted for cottonseed meal in equal quantities if the protein content is the same).

When dairy cows are getting a low protein roughage (dry grass, cane hay, bermuda grass hay, prairie hay, Johnson grass hay, etc.) the following grain mixture is suggested:

- 100 lbs. ground ear corn or grain sorghum heads
- 100 lbs. ground wheat
- 100 lbs. cottonseed meal
- 6 lbs. oyster shell flour
- 3 lbs. salt.

When cows are getting a medium protein roughage (mature grasses showing mostly green, such as bermuda grass, buffalo grass, sudan grass, Johnson grass, and also when feeding a mixture of high protein hay and low protein hay such as cowpea hay and cane hay) the following mixture is suggested:

- 150 lbs. ground ear corn or grain sorghum heads
- 100 lbs. ground wheat
- 100 lbs. cottonseed meal
- 7 lbs. oyster shell flour
- 3 lbs. salt.

When cows are getting a high protein roughage (medium height green sudan grass or Johnson grass, green wheat, oats or barley which has stood out, and also when feeding alfalfa hay, cowpea hay, clover hay, peanut hay, etc.) the following mixture is suggested:

- 300 lbs. ground ear corn or grain sorghum heads
- 100 lbs. ground wheat
- 100 lbs. cottonseed meal
- 10 lbs. oyster shell flour
- 5 lbs. salt.

How to Feed Wheat to Beef Cattle

It is difficult to feed wheat alone to steers. But it can be fed with safety when ground and mixed with corn or grain sorghum in equal proportions—50 per cent of wheat to 50 per cent of corn or sorghum. Gains then will be about equal to those obtained with corn.

When wheat is fed, steers should be put on feed slowly in order to prevent, as far as possible, bloat and scours and other digestive disturbances. Unsatisfactory results in getting and keeping cattle on feed are not so likely to occur if some other grains are mixed with the wheat during the early part of the feeding period.

Ground wheat fed to fattening steers as the only substitute for corn or grain sorghum usually produces gain on a little less feed, but the animals have less finish and sell for less than those finished on corn or grain sorghum.

Steers finished by feeding ground wheat with legume hay and a protein supplement usually have sold for slightly less, and yielded a lower percentage of dressed beef than similar steers which were fed corn. Steers fed a grain mixture containing wheat up to one-half the total grain ration produced steers which dressed and sold with comparative steers which were fed corn.

In feeding wheat, as well as in feeding corn and grain sorghum, it is important also to feed those products which will furnish the portion of nutritive material lacking in the grain.

Wheat in Poultry Rations

Whole wheat and wheat by-products make up a valuable portion of poultry rashes. The following rations are recommended for feeding wheat:

Ration No. 1:
(Mash)
100 lbs. 32-36 per cent protein concentrate

100 lbs. ground yellow corn meal or milo meal

70 pounds ground wheat

30 pounds wheat bran.

This mash can be fed with a scratch grain mixed as follows: (Scratch Grain)

100 pounds cracked yellow corn or milo

100 pounds wheat.

Keep mash before laying hens and feed scratch grain at the rate of one gallon per 100 birds daily.

Ration No. II:
(All Mash Ration)

100 pounds 32-36 per cent concentrate

200 pounds ground yellow corn meal or milo meal

200 pounds ground wheat

50 pounds wheat bran.

Fattening Turkeys

For fattening turkeys, mash ration No. 1 and grain ration No. 1 may be fed free choice, allowing turkeys full access to mash and grain during the fattening period.

Feeding Wheat to Hogs

Ninety-five pounds of ground wheat or 99 pounds of wheat not ground is equal to about one hundred pounds of No. 2 shelled corn or No. 2 threshed grain sorghums, when properly fed to fattening hogs.

Wheat like other grain feeds always should be balanced with a protein supplement and mineral. It is higher in protein than corn or grain sorghums, but is not as high in fat. It is deficient in vitamins A and D and these deficiencies must be made up by green grazing or the addition of alfalfa meal or hay to the ration.

If other grains are available the best way to feed wheat is to grind it with the other grains. This mixture may be either hand fed or fed in a self-feeder.

A good ration for fattening hogs on pasture is:

- 40 lbs. ground wheat
- 40 lbs. ground corn or grain sorghum
- 4 lbs. tankage
- 4 lbs. cottonseed meal

If pasture is not available add 5 pounds of alfalfa meal to the above mixture or feed pea green alfalfa hay in racks.

If corn or grain sorghums are not available to mix in the ration with wheat, the next best thing is to feed just wheat and a protein supplement. For fattening hogs fairly good results can be obtained by feeding unground wheat in a self feeder with a protein supplement by the free choice method.

If hogs have access to pasture, a good protein supplement mixture is:

- 50 lbs. cottonseed meal
- 50 lbs. tankage.

If green grazing is not available use the following protein supplement:

- 40 lbs. cottonseed meal
- 40 lbs. tankage
- 20 lbs. alfalfa meal.

A mineral mixture should be made available free choice at all times, consisting of:

- 40 lbs. steam bone meal
- 40 pounds ground limestone or oyster shell flour
- 20 lbs. salt.

SPENDS $75 ON SUBSCRIPTION TO KEEP UP WITH FRIENDS OF 54 YEARS AGO

J. F. B. Wigley of Caradan was an appreciated caller at the Eagle Office Wednesday. Mr. Wigley renewed his subscription to the paper for the 54th time, having started taking it when it was the Mountaineer, under ownership of W. H. Thompson. Mr. Wigley is one of the earliest settlers of this section, and he told two of his friends 54 years ago that he was subscribing to the Mountaineer in order to find out when they died. Recently he told one of them—still alive—that he had paid about $75 during the years on subscriptions to the paper and his friend had not died yet.

MELBA THEATRE NEWS

"WINGS FOR THE EAGLE" For the first time in the history of films, a motion picture troupe was allowed to shoot the production line of an airplane company.

The highly prized and valuable footage, gained by permission of the U. S. government, is used in Warner Bros. "Wings For The Eagle," a story of the men who make our fighting planes. The scenes were shot at the Lockheed Aircraft Plant in Burbank, Calif., now engaged in turning out bombers to blast the Axis. It was only after the government read and approved the script for "Wings For The Eagle" that permission was granted.

Ann Sheridan, Dennis Morgan, Jack Carson, George Tobias and Russell Arms head the cast of the film. Lloyd Bacon directed from a story by Byron Morgan and B. H. Orkwo with additional dialogue by Richard Macaulay.

WILL THE PRESENT LEGISLATURE BE A VICTORY SESSION?

Governor Coke R. Stevenson, ranchman, former speaker of the House and recent lieutenant governor, delivered a brief message to the Legislature recommending strict economy and no new taxes. Stevenson does not look nor act like an accident governor. He has a fine record as a lawmaker and presiding officer. He is capable, tactful, fearless and universally popular. Texas is fortunate to have him at the helm at this time of emergency.

Lieutenant Governor John Lee Smith, ex-county judge, ex-State Senator, planned much preliminary organization before the opening of the session which started the Senate off in high gear. Mr. Smith is a tireless worker, is enthusiastic, fearless and is popular with the members of both houses and with people throughout the state. He has the courage to tell Washington where he stands and is well worthy to fill the office recently held by Coke Stevenson. One hundred men like him in Congress would enact labor control legislation, a work or fight bill to control strikes, laws to eliminate needless and overlapping bureaus, and clean out other bureaus, all in spite of the powers that be.

This session has safe, sound, sane leadership. It is now up to the members to make it a victory session. All members were elected on economy platforms, they know the need for economy, and they went to Austin in the proper frame of mind. But special interests are ready to exert pressure for big appropriations for this or that interest or department. The pressure groups will contend that increased funds are needed for their group ("to win the war.") They will use the same tactics heretofore so successful, hand-shaking, back-slapping, flattery, wine and dining. But sensible members will keep in mind that lobbyists and pressure groups do not reject or defeat members, but the folks back home will do that next year on merits of service rendered this session.

Shall we have a Victory Session? SAPP HEAD.

1942 WAS BANNER YEAR FOR TEXANS IN PAYING OFF DEBTS

Houston, Jan. 27.—The year 1942 was a banner year for Texas farmers and ranchmen in paying off debts, declared President Sterling C. Evans of the Federal Land Bank of Houston in connection with the bank's annual statement.

A total of 9,835 land bank and commissioner loans were paid off in full during 1942. "During the year," he said, "land bank and commissioner loans outstanding in Texas decreased from $225,634,583 to $206,437,302. This net decrease was in spite of the fact that approximately $12,050,000 in new loans were closed."

"Future Payment Funds," created to provide a way member-borrowers can pay in advance on their loans, now total $2,126,000 the end report reveals. Future payment funds draw interest at the same rate charged on the loans. In addition to this cushion, member-borrowers are accumulating reserves in War Bonds to make their future secure, Mr. Evans said.

"The Land Bank was started 25 years ago in the midst of the first World War. Its primary objective was to help farm and ranch families own their homes and businesses free of debt. Since then, Texas agriculture has been through some rough and changing times but the records show that more than a third of the 146,000 land bank and commissioner loans—made to run up to 34 1-2 years—have been retired."

MISS JUANELLE BURKETT WED TO ALTON CURTIS IN CANDLE LIGHT CEREMONY

Miss Beryl Juanelle Burkett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Burkett of Mullin, became the bride of Alton Floyd Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Curtis of Goliad, on January 20 at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. G. Chambers, of Mullin in a beautiful candle light wedding. Elder Moore Eubanks, pastor of the Mullin Church of Christ, read the ceremony.

White shasta daisies and fern formed the altar which was lighted by white tapers, where the impressive double-ring ceremony was read.

The bride wore a victory blue suit with white accessories and carried a white Bible with a shower of white sweet peas which hung to the hem of her skirt. For something old the bride wore ear screws belonging to her mother. For something borrowed she carried her sister's wedding handkerchief. The bride was a 1940 graduate of the Mullin High School, later attending Draughon's Business College at Fort Worth. The groom is a former student of A. & M. College, and is now in training at the air base located at Marfa, Texas.

The maid of honor, Miss Vivian Fulbright of Ranger, wore a beautiful rose crepe suit with black accessories; her corsage was white gladiolas. The groom's attendant was Cash Curtis of Goldthwaite.

Immediately after the ceremony, the members of the wedding party were invited to the candle-light dining room where the bride cut the two-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Eula Harky, a former teacher of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and the bride's mother, Mrs. E. L. Burkett, served the wedding cake. The table was laid with a hand-made linen tablecloth and lighted by tapers in crystal candelabras.

Miss Gladys Sadler presided over the bride's book in which each guest registered and wished for the young couple a wealth of happiness. They left at once for Goliad and other points in Texas. They will be at home after February 1 at Alpine, Texas.

The guests included: Elder and Mrs. Moore Eubanks, Mercury; Miss Vivian Fulbright, Ranger; Cash Curtis, Goldthwaite; Mrs. Blanche Barton, Goldthwaite, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burkett, Mullin; Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Curtis, Goldthwaite; Miss Gladys Sadler, Goldthwaite; Miss Norene Grissom, Goldthwaite; Miss Margaret Barton, Goldthwaite; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Patterson, Mrs. Eula Harky, Mrs. B. C. Wicker, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. G. Chambers.

More game and fish are in Texas fields and streams today as result of restoration and protective efforts of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, and the Commission itself is in better position to protect wildlife resources during wartime than was its predecessor following the last World War, according to the agency's 1942 Annual Report.

The Commission dedicated itself to a program of conservation that will stand up in time of war so that fighting men and their children will be deprived of no recreational advantages. The Commission recalled that "twenty-five years ago many Americans regarded this country's declaration of war as the 'go ahead' sign for unwise and uncalled for waste of wild game and fish, soils, surface and ground water supplies, forests and many other natural resources."

"Today," the report continues, "Americans do not intend to return from battlefields to other dust bowls, to polluted and fishless streams, or to deer ranges inhabited principally by rattlesnakes."

The conservation program will go on despite any adverse factors. "Even if additional game and fish wardens and biologists should resign to enter the armed forces and even if hunting and fishing and other license sales should decrease as they inevitably will so long as the war lasts, the Commission still would be better equipped to carry on its assigned duties than it was 25 years ago," according to the report.

The report point out that public sentiment for conservation measures is stronger now than it was a quarter century ago. The Texas agency has grown since the last war as the result of this sentiment and despite the fact that it is a self-supporting public institution that draws no funds from the general revenue of the state treasury but depends entirely on the sale of fishing, hunting and related licenses.

Restoration work accomplished during the 1942 period included trapping of game birds and animals in areas where these species are abundant, and their release in sections of the state not so fortunate although habitat conditions are suitable.

Of 1,594 deer trapped, 1,270 were moved to 35 restoration sites comprising 1,573,648 acres in 35 counties. A total of 1,005 wild turkey were trapped and of this number 904 were transplanted to 39 restoration areas embracing

TEMPORARY TRANSPORT RATION DEADLINE IS EXTENDED

College Station, Jan. 27.—The deadline date for obtaining temporary transport rations has been stepped up to April 1, the Texas USDA War Board was advised by the Office of Defense Transportation this week.

Previous closing date already had been set for January 31 by ODT.

The extended date will benefit many Texas farmers who have not applied for Certificates of War Necessity or who have been unable to operate with gasoline obtained under present certificate, the War Board said.

Temporary transport rations in no way relieve farmers of applying for corrected certificates or applying for certificates immediately, B. F. Vance, chairman of the board, said in pointing out that all temporary rations would be discontinued March 31.

He added that farmers who do not have final certificates by the closing date will be unable to operate their trucks.

Vance said the ODT order affects farm truck operators as follows:

(1) If no appeals have been filed, farmers must apply to local county farm transportation committees and secure a permit to obtain gasoline for a period of one month or until April 1, whichever period is shorter;

(2) Applicants who have filed appeals after January 15 automatically will be sent forms which allow them to obtain gasoline until final certificates are issued;

(3) Final certificates will be issued and issued by ODT for appeals from farm truck operators on hand January 15 are recommended by the farm transportation committee.

King Arthur Childress, 926 Sunset Avenue, Dallas, was found dead at his desk just as he was beginning his day's work at North American Aviation, Inc., at six o'clock Friday morning, Jan. 22, 1943. Death came as a result of a heart attack and was a complete shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Childress, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Childress of Carlton, was born Feb. 27, 1890 at Carlton. On October 5, 1916, he was married to Miss Ada Morris of Goldthwaite. ALL PERSONS WITH PHYSICAL HANDICAP WANTED FOR CS JOBS

Full utilization of manpower in the present emergency requires that every effort be made to encourage persons with a physical handicap to apply for civil service positions where the handicap will not prevent satisfactory performance of duty, C. F. Moore, local civil service secretary, announced this week.

Mr. Moore pointed out that the U. S. Civil Service Commission's procedures makes provision for the appointing officer to determine whether an appointee meets the physical requirements for the particular position to be filled.

Complex problems connected with the war have created in federal agencies a demand for economists, accounting assistants, statisticians, and transportation specialists, Mr. Moore said. Accounting and auditing assistants must file their applications with the Commission before Feb. 23.

Civilian radio intercept officers to work with the Army Air Forces in affecting radio silence during air alarms are sought by the Commission. Positions in the Federal Communications Commission are located throughout the United States.

Marked urgent on the list of federal employment opportunities received this week by Mr. Moore were the positions of stenographer and typist.

To replace its enlisted military personnel who can qualify for combat duty, the army seeks high school graduates with technical or skilled trade experience or one year of college work to fill the position of instructor at $2,000 a year plus overtime compensation.

Information and forms for applying for any of these positions may be obtained from Mr. Moore at the Goldthwaite Post Office. Persons engaged in war work of equal skill need not apply.

In looking over the contents of last week's Eagle, I see very few communities represented over the county, which causes me to wonder why you get by without a community write-up each week. If I ever fail to send in our items, the first time I venture out I get an ear chewed for non-report. Not that what might be said is of very much importance, but we all like publicity even if it's only to see our own names in the home paper. Then, too, another reason is we have friends and relatives in other states and some who have crossed the pond that look forward to a few lines from their home place. So keep your letters rolling.

GOD SPEED THE DAY:

(Exchange)

When a "Ceiling" means nothing more than a roof over our head.
When "Freezing" applies only to the weather or ice cream.
When "Orders" refer to something a traveling salesman gets from his customers.
When "Priority" is only a word in the dictionary meaning preference.
When "Stabilization" will be given less consideration and "Stability" more.
When "Rations" is only a term applied to the "grub" of a harvest crew or road gang.
In short, GOD SPEED THE DAY when we shall obliterate Hitler and his totalitarian ideas and return to simple every-day Americanism in the operation of our business and in the conduct of our personal lives.

THE STORY OF A MERCHANT PRINCE

There was an old geezer who had a lot of sense; He started up in business with a dollar-eighty cents. The dollar for stock and the eighty for an ad Brought him three lovely dollars in a day, by dad; Well, he bought more goods and a little more space And he played that system with a smile on his face. The customers flocked to his two-by-four And soon he had to hustle for a regular store. Up on the square where the people pass, He gobbled up a corner that was all plate glass. He fixed up the windows with the best that he had And he told 'em about it in a half-page ad. He soon had 'em coming and he never, never quit, And he wouldn't cut down his ads one bit. Well, he's kept things humming in the town ever since, And everybody calls him the Merchant Prince. Some say it's his luck, but that's all bunk— Why, he was doing business when the times were punk. People have to purchase and the geezer was wise— For he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise. —Exchange.

Big Mack Goes To Town

(Boyce House)

Everybody in the little town knew and liked Big Mack. He was a hard-working, thrifty farmer who was close to 50 years old, a bachelor. And then he decided to get married, so he joined a matrimonial bureau and got into correspondence with a widow who lived up north. At last, he proposed (sight unseen), was accepted and sent his bride-to-be her railroad fare. Everybody in town knew about the mail-order romance and when the train rolled in, the platform was crowded. Well, nobody got off except one traveling man and the train was about to pull out when, out of the coach near the baggage car, off stepped a negro woman, clutching a picture in her hand. She caught sight of Big Mack, ran up to him, threw her arms around him and gave him a great big kiss. He kissed her right back because, you see, Big Mack was colored, too!

State Department Health Notes

STERILIZED MATTRESSES

In an effort to prevent the spread of disease through bedding, 5,863 second-hand mattresses and other articles of bedding were sterilized during the month of November, 1942, according to a report issued this week by Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Since it is estimated that the average individual spends one-third of his life in a sleeping or reclining position, each individual is certainly entitled to sanitation in any used article of bedding that he may purchase," Dr. Cox asserted.

The Texas State Sanitary Bedding Law prohibits the sale of second-hand bedding that has not been sterilized. There are 59 privately owned sterilization vaults in the state that have been approved by the State Health Department, and these sterilization vaults operate under the inspection and supervision of the State Health Department.

Before buying a second-hand mattress, pillow, featherbed, studio couch, or any other used article of bedding, Dr. Cox declared the purchaser should demand to see the sterilization tag that is required by law to be affixed to all such articles offered for sale. This sterilization tag bears a statement that the bedding has been germicidally treated by a method approved by the State Health Department, and is the public's guarantee of health protection in the purchase of used bedding.

Let us—all of us—have confidence, let us redouble our efforts. A tremendous, costly, long-enduring task in peace as well as in war is still ahead of us. But as we face that continuing task, we may know that the state of this nation is good—the heart of this nation is sound—the spirit of this nation is strong—the faith of this nation is eternal." — President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jan. 7, 1943.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for January 31

JESUS THE BREAD OF LIFE

LESSON TEXT—John 6:3-14, 30-35. GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life.—John 6:35.

Spiritual truth becomes understandable to us as it is put in the language of our daily life. Jesus was the Master Teacher of all times, and made use of graphic figures to present the message of salvation.

He spoke of the wind, of water, and in this lesson of bread. Even a child knows about such things and understands the good news. Bread is still the staff of life. It speaks of life and health, of satisfaction and strength.

Beginning with the five small barley cakes (and two fishes) which a provident little boy had taken with him into the wilderness, Jesus preaches by miracle and by precept of eternal things. One is glad that a bright lad was more thoughtful than all the adults that day, for he provided the occasion for the miracle and the message.

I. Daily Bread (vv. 6-13).

The great multitude had followed Jesus to the other side of Galilee where He had gone to rest. They sought Him out and He had compassion on them—these sheep without a shepherd (Matt. 9:36). That interest was first spiritual, for "he began to teach them many things," but it was also practical in the realm of daily life, for He saw that they were physically hungry.

His appeal to Philip revealed the lack of faith which at times afflicted the disciples. They knew they had the Son of God in their midst, and yet they were bound by the matter of dollars and cents, of portions and—well, they just wished Jesus would send these people away. That would solve the problem. Oh, yes, "there is a lad here," but what he has amounts to nothing.

All this was perfectly natural. They talked just like most of us do when we are up against a similar problem. But the point is that they (and we too) ought to realize that "little is much when God is in it." If we let Christ have all that we have and are, it will be adequate for every need.

Are you worrying about your lack of money; your inability to do things for Him? Are you limiting God when He would like to take what you have and multiply it by His blessing?

Notice that though there was plenty, there was none to waste. What was over was gathered up. God never encourages waste. Perhaps we in America may learn that lesson the hard way in these days—but having learned it let us not forget it.

II. Heavenly Bread (vv. 14, 30, 31).

The people (probably incited by the religious leaders) after their first surprise at the miracle, sought Him out in the temple and demanded a greater miracle. Jesus never put much dependence on those whose faith rested on miracles, and we do well to be careful of those who must have something spectacular going on all the time if they are to be interested.

They contrasted His miracle of one meal with the repeated miracle of the daily manna—the bread from heaven—under Moses. Jesus makes it clear that He is not in competition with Moses, for the manna came not from Moses but from God. Those who seek signs and wonders had better get their eyes off such things and get them on God who is the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

Their plea for heavenly bread gave Jesus the opportunity to tell them about the true bread from heaven.

III. The Bread of Life (vv. 32-35).

Feeding the body is important, but the real need of men is for spiritual food. Daily bread is a food that perisheth (see v. 27), but the "meat that endureth unto eternal life" is received by faith in Christ (v. 29).

Instead of a sign, or the passing blessing of daily sustenance, Jesus presents Himself as the bread of life which will eternally satisfy the deepest hunger and thirst of the human soul.

Those who teach that Christ is but our example, giving Himself as the spiritual bread to those who by development of character are seeking to be like Him, should read verses 47 to 51 of this same chapter. Here He makes clear that by the giving of His flesh in the death of the cross everlasting life comes to the believer.

It is only the man who eats of this bread, who by faith makes himself partaker of the death of our Lord, that can have eternal life.

This must be done in the right way—the way of faith. The people said, "Lord, evermore give us this bread" (v. 34). One wonders whether some of them did not say it scoffingly, and others perhaps still with the thought of daily bread for their bodies. Among them, however, were surely some earnest souls who that day saw the light of eternity through His wonderful words about the bread of life.

Your Income Tax Explained

(No. 4 of a series)

CREDIT FOR DEPENDENTS

A taxpayer is entitled to a credit for each person other than husband or wife, whether related to him or not, and whether living with him or not, who during the taxable year was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer, provided the dependent was either (a) under 18 years of age, or (b) incapable of self support because mentally or physically defective.

The credit for dependents is based upon actual financial dependency and not mere legal dependency. It is not necessary that the dependent be related to the taxpayer, but the taxpayer must have provided more than one-half of the support, or there is no dependency.

The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only those who are mentally afflicted and physically crippled, but also persons who, by reason of old age or impaired health, are incapable of self-support. The state of mental or physical defect need not be of a permanent nature, but if it existed for only a portion of the year, then the credit for dependent can be claimed only for that portion of the year during which the dependent was supported by the taxpayer.

A person may not acquire a credit for dependent by reason of support of a person qualifying as a dependent if, as a result of such support, he acquires a head of family exemption, but may acquire a credit for dependent by reason of additional persons qualifying as dependents, whom he supports. Thus, if a person claims head of a family exemption on account of an aged mother or father incapable of self-support, or a child he would not be entitled to a credit for such dependent; but if he supported more than one such person he could claim credit for such additional persons provided they were under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support.

Credit for dependents may not be divided between two persons filing separate returns, but must be taken by the one contributing the chief support. A credit for dependents may be claimed by a father who provides the support for his children living with his divorced wife, if the support is provided as a result of a court decree or as the result of an agreement between husband and wife.

The credit for dependent, allowable to a taxpayer filing on Form 1040, is $350, and is proportionate with the number of months of dependency. Thus, for a child born on July 1 the credit allowable would be $175. One-half a month or less is not counted as a month; more than one-half a month is counted as a month in calculating the credit.

A credit of $385 for each dependent on July 1 of the year is allowable to a taxpayer using Simplified Form 1040A.

U. S. Pilot Trades Pack Of Fags For South Sea Island

A news story from Oklahoma City reads:

When the war is over, Capt. Charles Nissen, Oklahoma City, can retire in kingly splendor to the South Pacific Island he bought for a package of cigarettes.

Nissen, 26-year-old bomber commander, wrote his father he has a deed to prove ownership of the island, one mile wide and two miles long.

The flier's letter described the purchase:

"We were being entertained by a native chief with a mandate over many islands near a secret United States base. He saw my supply of cigarettes and his interpreter said he wanted to trade for a pack.

"I asked him what he would give. He said an island. I jokingly handed him a pack, figuring if he wanted them that bad he ought to have 'em free."

papers which learned of the transaction from air force headquarters, related how the chief had his secretary to make out the deed. It included a map showing the island's location and gave the island and everything on it to the American.

"Later we flew over the place," Nissen's letter said. "It should be a fine place to live after the war—coconut groves and crystal blue lagoons all over the place.

"And do you know what! I saw three native girls sunning themselves on the beach. The chief thought of everything—and the cigarettes only cost me 11 cents a package."

Denver, Colorado.
January 14, 1943.
Dear Folks: How does this and you all? Hope you are all well. I am o. k. I guess I will write to school Saturday. I haven't seen Buddy Lee yet. I wrote him a letter yesterday and he told me he stayed. I hope I find him. I sure would like to see you all.
There sure are a lot of pretty mountains around here and there is snow on top of them.
I had, are you and Marlin still in the air? I sure wish I was there to help you, but we have got a war to win. Has Rachael ever come in? I wrote her a letter the other day. Joe, what are you and Butch doing? Mom, don't whip the little rascals too much.
This sure is a big camp, but
I don't like to go to school.
I guess you all know that. Ha,
ha. Girls, how are you making out? Well, your old Bud is going to make a mess sergeant, ha, ha.
Be sure and write me a long letter and ask all the questions you want for, for I like to read and answer questions. Mother, that birthday cake was sure good. How do you like the pillow case I sent you. I hope when I finish school they will send me back to Texas. Have you seen Kylene lately? Does she still come to see you? Tell everyone in old Goldthwaite hello for me, and that I am in the Army now.
I will sign off for this time.
Answer soon. Love, Oren.

MT- OLIVE MOUNTAIN-EAR SCHOOL NEWS

Assistant Editor Freddie Poer

Jean and Daphne Wilcox of Dublin, former pupils here, visited school last Friday afternoon.

We are proud to have another new pupil from Mullin. He entered school here last Friday and is John Boyd, a second grader.

Some of the girls have built a very pretty playhouse and invited the teachers up to lunch with them. Miss Manning and Miss Smith were treated royally and had a fine time.

We had such cold weather and such few pupils that school was turned off early Monday and Tuesday. Tuesday we all collected in Miss Smith's room for class. Miss Smith's room is smaller and is easier to keep warm.

The English Club had its meeting last Wednesday and everyone enjoyed it. Every pupil in school participated in the program.

The president, Doyce Vone Poer, was absent so Jimmy Poer, the vice-president, acted in his absence. The minutes were read by the secretary, Daisy Poer. Program committees consisting of Loys Bullard, chairman, and Dalton Lee took charge. The committee chosen for this week is Loys Bullard and Shirley Scott.

Miss Manning seems to be the unluckiest one of all of us. When she isn't scratched or bruised, she's burned. She has a terrible burn on her leg that is causing her much misery. With her knee socks over the huge bandage her leg looks as though it has a growth on it.

THE NEWS BEHIND THE TEACHERS' BACK

By the looks of Miss Manning's face, she fell in a berry jar and some flour and did not wash her face.

Why does Arnold S. look so downcast? Could it be because Virginia is mad at him? Maybe it's about over, because she sent him a package today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Kemp and Merylene visited Mrs. Kemp's sister, Mrs. L. R. Truitt, and family at Winters last week-end.

Virginia Manning, Mollie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Benningfield and Earl McCrary enjoyed a party at Howington's at Indian Gap Thursday night. Wayland Howington, T. V. Harris, and Hilda Mayfield came after the Mt. Olive group and brought them back.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mannings of Stephenville, parents of Miss Virginia Manning, came after Miss Manning at Mt. Olive Sunday morning. Miss Manning accompanied her parents to Goldthwaite where they visited in the home of their other daughter, Mrs. Phillip Nickols.

Miss Smith and Miss Manning went in to Goldthwaite Friday afternoon with Miss Smith's aunt, Mrs. Walter Weatherby. They came back Saturday evening with Glendon Benningfield, Hubert Berry, and Earl McCrary.

J. H. Roberts killed a rattlesnake with ten rattlers last Saturday. It must have been the grandfather of them all.

Elmer Cody has been having a well dug by Burnice Wicker of Mullin. It is 38 feet deep.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Benningfield have bought a blue 1937 Pontiac. They visited Mrs. C. A. Faulkner, Route 2, Hazel Wilkerson, Dallas, C. E. Faulkner, Goldsmith, Cecil G. Faulkner, Denver City, Mrs. Victor Moore, Dallas.

Every time Miss Smith eats dinner at Benningfield's Earl does too.

We wonder why Dale Crawford stays at Warren Cody's house so much? Must be because Warren has a sister.

Loys, it seems you are having a good time in Goldthwaite on Saturday night. Is it because Bobby comes to town, too?

June, why did you hate to let your mother read the Goldthwaite Eagle? Was it because your mother objects to your letter writing? How about that Doyce?

Well, well, what was the matter with Saturday night, teachers? Was it too cold to go to the show?

June, why were you so proud to start back to school Wednesday? Could it be because Doyce had promised to write you a long letter?

We wonder why Dalton likes to go home with Warren. Could it be because of Susie? What about that, Susie?

It seems Orbie D. Lee is receiving a lot of mail these days. We wonder who it is from. It couldn't be from a girl. What about that, Orbie D?

It seems that a fifth-grade girl and a sixth-grade girl are having heart throbs over Dalton Lee.

Loys, how did you enjoy that horseback ride Saturday night? It seems you were having a good time!

Miss Manning, who was it that you wanted to meet at Goldthwaite? Let's see, his name is Hamilton. We wish you good-luck.

Doyce, you really look happy. Could it be because June came back to school.

Well, Miss Manning not only has a new good-looking boyfriend, and that 1942 convertible Buick coupe isn't bad-looking, either.

Well, Miss Manning and Miss Smith, did you have a good time Sunday? After all, you don't get the opportunity to ride in a convertible every day.

return to camp Wednesday.
Florence Kemp spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kemp. She is Mr. Kemp's niece.
Mr. and Mrs. Tulley Lee and family visited in Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Scott's home Sunday afternoon. Dalton Lee also visited Warren Cody that afternoon. Mrs. Lee is the daughter of Mr. Scott.

Mrs. Cecil Scott's sister, Mrs. Nina Hale, returned to her home at Winters last Saturday.

Mrs. J. J. Wilcox almost passed away Tuesday night. She had been ill quite a considerable length of time. However, her condition was improved Wednesday morning.
