'SOILS AND SOULS' SUNDAY AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. M. D. Lowry has announced that the 10:50 service at the First Methodist Church will be devoted to the observance of "Soils and Souls Sunday."

The setting aside of one Sunday each year as a special day for remembering our God-given responsibilities as "Stewards of the Soil" was first observed throughout the Southwest last year. Farm and Ranch magazine, cooperating with the local pastors throughout this part of the nation, has been instrumental in the establishment of this observance, both through its editorial support and the personal actions of its editor, A. B. Kennerly.

As a result of these combined efforts, "Soils and Souls Sunday" was designated by proclamation of several governors of the Southwestern States and churches throughout this entire area participated individually. Even wider observance this year has been evidenced.

MOST OF COUNTY GETS GOOD RAINS DURING PAST WEEK

Readers of The Eagle here in Goldthwaite may not believe this—but it has rained good rains over most all of Mills County during the past week. Only sprinkles have fallen in Goldthwaite and Mullin up to the time the Eagle was put to press Thursday afternoon.

The rains, coming in many different showers at different places over the county are the first of any consequence since the few-end of May 8, when 1.39 inches of rain knocked attendance at the Rodeo here. The rain will be very beneficial to corn and grass in pastures where it fell.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

JULY 4TH

...This day will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival... It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other—from this time forward forever more...

OLD MAN 100

BOSS IS NOT RESPONSIBLE AT OLD MAN 100 SAYS IN COLUMN - NEITHER IS THE OLD MAN YOU GET MAD, GOINT AT THOUGHTS BEFORE YOU BRAT HIM UP—THE BOSS)

MENY, MINEY—

ADERS WANTED—

Old Man has been out in the woods for MO readers' column. Here's what he said: Now the Big Eagle Boss ain't never read the 100 column until last week taking the 11 dullers he pays the Old Man off some tax as "charitable pens." Last week was the he'd spoke to the Old Man six months; he jest over with an Eagle in d and told the Old Man: for sure that for the year you wrote your Silly you didn't have ENY readers. Last week you wrote some about skip MINEY and come with MO readers or weekly pension will be cut from your bel-stomach. The Old Man made one mistake—the Old Man's pension ain't even a PENY MO. P. S.—The Old Man figures Mr. ME has writ offering to write this for 10 dullers, and the so stingy he'd cut off the end of his left hand for the if he hadn't already had a cut off for 4-bits during the ee—R.

WANTED—

jest this week the 7th ideal idea, and figuring they would be anyway, she told him very from "Honey, I want a maid. Have you any ideas about what I should get?" (That was his first big mistake). The man said: "I think a mid-red, about the 17 and 18, would be about right." (That was the Old Man's first big mistake). The 7th has spent the whole week looking for a maid older and uglier than she is, but without success. You guessed it—the 7th is still washin' 'em and the Old Man is still dryin' 'em.

TEY YOUR IQ—

Get out your watch and time yourself for ten minutes. If you can figure out in that time what President Truman's first name is, your IQ should be around 3-plus. If you can't rate that much IQ, then try for another 10 minutes to see if you can guess what Henry Wallace's first name is. If anybody in Mills County does figure what the Pres. Pres's first name is, write it in to the Old Man, as he wants to write the president a letter and advise him to advise his advisers to advise him better than they done the past two weeks, and wants to start the letter off with "Dear Tom," or something, like them Big Shots alius do.

DERN DUMB DOINGS—

Although the shooting is long past over and US taxpayers are bending down in the back, it seems like some of our national leaders who don't pay no taxes now are stepping out on a world-wide donation campaign to help our good neighbor policy, if any—with us taxpayers having to cash in our War Bonds to pay the bill. Nearly every nation in the world instead of getting down to work is putting their experts on the job to find out how much they are going to want us USes to donate to them so they can keep on offering $500 each more than we will for our new cars which by this time ought to be coming off the assembly lines. It looks to the Old Man like maybe they aim to fort a world government and that Truman, Marshall and Wallace are all in the running to be elected the Wonderful World Wizard, or whatever they call this kind guy, as they are all in a talking contest now to see who can give away the most of our money—which we lack 250 billion dollars of having any of at all. If we are paying voters don't say something quick, it looks like this worldwide bee they are putting on us of Lease-Lend, Give-Give, Borrow-Borrow, Steal-Steal, is going to Completely Clean US Bucks Sure. If they write for the Old Man's advice, he'll jest wire them two words, Don't-Donate.

Here's one Judge John heard about. Knew about or maybe was there: The negroes in a community were having a big beer drinking. One negro went around inviting every negro he saw, when one told him; "Naw, I can't go; I've got diabetes." The other negro said: "That's all right; bring it along with you—them damn niggers will get anything." (Continued on last page)

'BE ALIVE ON THE FIFTH' IT MAY BE YOUR LIFE YOU SAVE

The biggest traffic jam in the nation's history will occur during the Fourth of July week-end holiday this year, the National Safety Council predicted this week.

To meet the threat of a record-breaking traffic toll, the Council appealed to motorists and pedestrians to "Be Alive On the Fifth" as the keynote of a nationwide campaign against accidents during the holiday.

Close to 30,000,000 vehicles are expected to pack the highways over the Fourth of July, the Council said, and their speedometers are expected to clock nearly four billion miles during the three day holiday. This estimate is based on gasoline consumption, which shows mileage this year exceeding even the previous record level of pre-war 1941.

One hundred and thirty other national organizations have joined with the Council in a united effort to prevent a jam-boree of carelessness over the Fourth.

The campaign is designed to help public officials, traffic officers and safety leaders in their efforts to curb the holiday death toll.

In asking for public support of the campaign, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council, pointed out that a similar coordinated effort last year helped to reduce the July traffic toll 23 per cent below the previous high in 1941.

"Nevertheless," he said, "8,300 persons died from accidents of all kinds in July last year, and as usual the Fourth of July celebration contributed substantially to that figure."

"This year we may have many dangerous factors—a three day holiday, increased mileage, relative prosperity. It adds up to a big celebration—and a big pile-up of dead and injured—unless we all make it our business to do something about it."

"We can do something about it, because these tragedies result from things we can control—haste, selfishness, thoughtlessness, the desire to show off."

"Take it easy on the Fourth. Be alive on the Fifth!"

$114 FINES PAID BY 3 MEN FOR SEINING CATFISH ON BAYOU

(Brownwood Bulletin)
Game Wardens V. G. Grady of San Saba and John R. Wood of 36th Division State Park filed charges at Goldthwaite last week against three men for seining catfish on Pecan Bayou near Mullin.

The three paid fines totalling $114 at Goldthwaite. Those charged were from Comanche County.

A 35-pound catfish which figured in the case was donated to the Brown county jail to feed prisoners, Wood announced.

The game wardens also charged a fourth man in Mills county with dynamiting fish in Pecan Bayou. The case has not yet been disposed of.

Elder I. A. Dyches

Preceding him in death are his wife, a son, Carl, a son-in-law, R. R. Lindsey, and a grandchild, Byrl Dyches. He is survived by three sons, Hillard, Don, and Dale Dyches; three daughters, Mrs. Edith Lindsey, Mrs. E. B. Dearson and Mrs. Bernice Lively; twelve grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Pall bearers were: Wiley Mahan, Dave Shaw, Andy Weston, Clyde Estep, C. C. Blackman and C. S. Horton.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Frank O'Brien of Mullin, and the song was administered by a Breckenridge.

Elder Dyches at one time Tax Assessor for Mills County and during his ministry as pastor for the Church of God, preached in practically every community of the county. He was pastor of that church at Mullin.

BROWN AND CARNEY PLAY RADIO HIGH-JINXED DETECTIVES

WALLY BROWN AND ALAN CARNEY PLAY RADIO SHOWS HIGH-JINXED DETECTIVES 24 Hailed as a lively blend of fun and thrills, RKO Radio's "Genius at Work" stars Wally Brown and Alan Carney as a couple of radio detectives who always get their man. Anne Jeffreys as the writer of the radio program has enough brains to compensate for that lack in her two headliners.

The story revolves around the sensational radio program, THE CRIME OF THE WEEK, which reconstructs actual crimes and sometimes scoops the police in solving them. A maniac killer, "The Cobra," is at large, and Miss Jeffreys works him into her radio scripts. She is helped by a well-known criminologist Lionel ... whose interest in their efforts are myserious, especially when the broadcasting trio are dogged by a murderer.

A dramatic climax is reached when it is announced over the radio that "The Cobra's" identity will be revealed later in the program, with "The Cobra" at loose in the radio studio. When the police close in there is an exciting gun battle in which the two chicken-hearted radio detectives get caught in the cross fire.

At the Melba Saturday night only.

THE RAZORS EDGE

The gazelle-eyed lure of the lithe classic beauty of Gene Tierney is pitted against the evasive, darkling romanticism of handsome Tyrone Power thru two hours and twenty six minutes of speeding adventure in "The Razor's Edge."

The production is a presentation of sex-and-society, set in splendors, with appeal to all of the audiences. It is readily with-in the understanding of the naive and the simple in heart; but yet is pervaded with elements of interest to sophisticates. It is melodrama; often intense; it is laden with beauty and charm and graced with humour; it runs the gamut of emotions from fear and jealousy and avareice to abiding faith.

"The Razor's Edge," by reason of its complexes of motives and action will keep the customers in their seats and send them away talking, to send others to see.

It is of course from Somerset Maughan's famous novel and bears the silken impress of his facile telling, his sharp but never quite acid observation and commentary. As in the book, he is part of the picture play, with unique and important effect.

The components of the story are all of the traits and impulses of men and women, now and forever. To those long familiar with the penetrations of Mr. Maughan in his works for stage and printed page, there will be pleasant reminiscence, and an enjoyment of style. To those without literary sensitivity there will be nonetheless the impact of incisive enactment.

STAR'S FICKLE FRECKLES ARE MOVIE PROBLEM

In Hollywood, even such small items as "Butch" Jenkins' freckles are problems requiring the attention of a whole battery of experts.

"Butch's" sunspots are as much a part of his personality as his mop of unruly hair. To screen fans they are a child-like and loveable asset to his appearance. To make-up and cameramen, however, they're just a headache.

For, it seems, "Butch's" freckles fade and bloom with the amount of sunshine he receives. When he spends too many hours in the sun, his freckles grow and darken like a Kansas thunderstorm. When he spends long hours indoors, they fade like a sunflower in a cellar.

During the filming of "Butch's" latest M-G-M movie, "Little Mr. Jim," at the Melba Saturday night, Sunday and Monday, the inconstancy of the boy star's

But is wonderful how crops have held up in spite of the drouth. And the apricot tree has filled 65 quarts and still has some fruits on its boughs.

Mrs. Cecil Crowder and children, Norma Sue and Cecil Jr., who have been staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffin, have returned to Port Worth. Betty Lou Crowder, who broke her shoulder a few weeks ago remained with her grandparents. The shoulder is still bandaged tight, but is thought to be getting along all right.

Mrs. Nellie Malone spent Thursday with Mrs. Blue Thompson while her folks went to town.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Egger seem to be doing pretty well back at their home again.

freckles was the bane of the make-up man's existence. Some days he had to enlarge and multiply "Butch's" freckles with the aid of an eyebrow pencil. Other days he used pancake make-up to cover a new crop of the solar spots. This appeared the only solution until Director Fred Zinnemann thought of putting "Butch" on a sun diet.

A granddaughter of Mrs. Charlie Welch was buried in the Ebony cemetery Saturday. When we first came to this country in 1888, my father preached the first Sunday at the old Buffalo schoolhouse, and we went home with Uncle Arch Ratliff for dinner. The place is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egger. Mr. and Mrs. Ratliff were then taking care of four of their motherless grandchildren, John, Ida, Gertrude and Belva Welch, children of Charlie Welch. Ida was my own age, and we played together that day. The next Saturday Ben Ratliff came after my father to preach the funeral for Ida. Years later, one by one, the other Welch children joined Ida and her mother in the cemetery, also the father. Now all six of them lie side by side in the Ebony cemetery.

Mr. Welch was married the second time to Miss Charlie Russell, and they have several children. The oldest one, Mrs. Josh Philen, was buried here a few years ago. And now this granddaughter who is the daughter of Ora Welch.

I am also reminded of another interesting incident in connection with the Welch family. Belva the youngest of the first family was a crippled and could not walk. She had something wrong with her knee. When Dr. G. W. Hutchison came here, a young doctor from Georgia, he won a good reputation for himself when he operated on Belva's knee and enabled her to walk.

OAKLAND

BY MRS. E. T. CROWDER

We have a really good fish story to report this week: Marvin McMullen with his father-in-law, Ben Duncan and Mr. Blanton, of Owens, caught a 30-lb. yellow cat here Thursday morning. Besides they caught a 12-pounder, which most of us would consider pretty big, and a smaller fish. The head of the big yellow-cat is on display on a fence post in front of the Marvin McMullen home. They gave a big fish dinner in the homes of Ernest Duncan and Claud Wheat in Brownwood Sunday. There were 28 present and lots of fish left over. Those of fish left over. Those of fish left over.

Thomas Elmsy spent Saturday night with F. L. Crowder Jr. They with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Crowder and Harold Sikes had Sunday dinner with the Truman Crowder family. Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Crowder and Mrs. F. L. Crowder went to Brooksmith Sunday afternoon to visit Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Year and Grandma Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Sikes report that their daughter, Billie Mae Elmsy, and new granddaughter, Shanna Jean, born the 13th, are doing just fine and will be home this week. Mr. and Mrs. DeFoe Lawler of Mexico, stated here with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jake McMullen Sunday. Also visiting in the Hubert McMullen household were Mr. Rains and Mr. Franks of San Angelo. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hanna and nephew, Neal McCullen. Mrs. W. M. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hanna, Irene Reeves, Harold Sikes, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Crowder and family attended the Children's Day Program at the Methodist Church in Indian Creek Sunday night.

The crowding of farm animals into inadequate quarters favors the spread of disease. Mechanized farming has enabled United States farmers to produce a third more with 10 per cent less total labor than during World War I.

TWO MEN HELD FOR THEFT OF CATTLE IN AREA

(Brownwood Bulletin) Sheriff Otis F. Shaw announced today that two men are in jail here and will be charged with theft of cattle which were shot and butchered on the Camp Bowie maneuver area in Mills county Friday and Saturday nights.

The two were identified as F. L. (Pete) King, 24, Mills county, who is out on bond under a Brown county grand jury indictment for swindling a local used car dealer with a $1,100 check; and Albert L. (Pete) Lee, 35, of Zephyr.

Highway Patrolmen Johnny Marion and Noel Wilson arrested the two at 2 a. m. Sunday on the highway between Bangs and Santa Anna for having no tail light. The men were said to have had blood on their clothing, and the patrolmen, investigating, found the carcass of a calf in the Plymouth four-door sedan in which the two were riding.

The two were turned over to Sheriff Shaw, who immediately began an investigation.

They found a calf hide in Mills county, but it had been killed too long to be the hide of the calf whose carcass was in the car. Finally, a second calf hide was found a mile from the first, and this proved to be one butchered more recently.

The hides, Sheriff Shaw said, have been positively identified through brands and markings as the property of Luther Jernigan, Mills county, and D. B. Aldridge, Comanche county. Each had lost a calf, it was stated. The calves had been butchered in the maneuver area. The car, officers learned, belonged to E. A. Robinson, Zephyr, and was listed as stolen. The right time to do something about the future is NOW.

The right thing to do about the future is to buy U. S. Savings Bonds.

SQUIRE EDGEGATE — We Leave You to Imagine What the Heavy Lady Had to Say About It!

BY LOUIS RICHARD

Inter-nat'l Cartoon Co., N. Y.

In the face of threats from labor bosses like CIO's Phil Murray, who said: "Let us return to private life the backers of this ugly measure," the House veto of the labor bill by a vote of 331 to 83. The veto of the tax bill fared better, many who voted to override admitting privately that in view of failure to make a bigger cut in the budget and recent foreign aid demands, tax reduction must wait until early 1948.

If a sheep could file a suit for libel, Mary's Little Lamb would be in big money. The lowly sheep has been kicked around and blasphemed no end lately. Politicians, diplomats, and unfriendly newsmen have vied with each other for ugly things to say about those gentle creatures that figured in Bible history.

But last week, as friend and foe passed through the cutting chutes, the House favored the sheepman 191 to 166 and over in the Senate the round-up gave him a victory margin of 48 to 38. It was the bill to continue through 1948 government purchase of wool at 1946 prices.

It was the first wool bill in history, and the real issue was whether tariff protection for domestic wool is to be maintained or probably reduced. The vote was not on that issue directly but it was clearly an expression of sentiment on that score.

The measure includes wool under section 22 of the 1935 AAA law. That section, already applicable to wheat, cotton and 25 other farm products, permits the President, after a Tariff Commission hearing, to impose import fees or quotas on government supported products where necessary to protect the support program against excessive dumping of competitive imports. President Truman imposed import quotas on cotton last February first to protect the domestic cotton market.

Obviously, with the present huge stockpile on hand, it would be inconsistent for the State Department to reduce tariff protection for wool under present conditions if the Government is supporting wool and it is under section 22.

Will Clayton, representing the U. S. in trade negotiations at Geneva, declined last week to admit or deny he plans to go back over there and reduce wool tariff. But he did claim that putting wool under section 22 would wreck the trade conference. Observers say this could mean only one thing—that plans are afoot to reduce the tariff and that putting wool under section 22 would deter that move. Hence, Clayton wanted section 22 stricken from the bill so he would be free to negotiate a reduction in the tariff on wool imported into this country.

Texas, the biggest sheep State in the union, saw its Congressmen divided on giving the same treatment to wool as is already given to wheat, cotton, etc., and thereby opposing a tariff reduction. Oddly enough, Steve Pace of Georgia, with not one sheep in his district and very few in his State, was a leader in the fight for the Democrats in behavior of the bill. Without his help the measure would have been defeated. Texans found supporting the sheepmen were: Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, George Mahon of Colorado City, Paul Kilday of San Antonio, Gene Worley of Amarillo, Omar Burleson of Anson, Olin Teague of Bryan and myself. Both Senators voted for the measure.

Among our visitors last week were Captain and Mrs. Gerald D. Fairbanks, M. E. Bailey, Mrs. Jode Grant, H. U. Stoneham, Jr., Faye Harris, all of San Angelo; Z. T. Lindsey of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Stephens and sons of Lometa; Mr. and Mrs. Estes M. Lynn of Ballinger; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Graham, Jr. and son, John Allen Graham, of Del Rio; Bert Striegler and Miss Ouita Moseley of Brady.

WCS Sponsors VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL PICNIC

The Vacation Church School at the Methodist Church closed Friday afternoon with a picnic at the Mullin Park sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Sunday morning at the regular Sunday School hour the children gave a very interesting program about some of the many things they learned during the school.

There was a total enrollment of 107 children and 19 workers. It was the largest school we have ever had due to the hard work and enthusiasm of the teachers. There was between 90 and 95 per cent attendance.

Thanks to all who made this school the success that it was and especially to the Eagle for the publicity given.

MODERN CONVENIENCES—
The Old Man lived in the country all his life until he married the 5th when they moved to town. The first morning the 5th woke him up and said: "Honey, it's about time you started the fire." "Not me!" the Old Man replied, nestling down deeper in bed. "We might as well start right now getting used to all them city conveniences. Call the fire department."

Here's some signs the Old Man has read recently:
"It's all right to drink like a fish. If you drink what a fish drinks."

FREAK STORMS—
There have been lots of tales about what cyclones would do at times, but this here'un that Bill Roberts heard a man from Oklahoma tell at the Veterans Hospital in Dallas takes the cornbread for being freakish: The Oklahoma man said when he was a boy his dad sent him to the mill with a sack of corn to be ground into meal. When he got home a storm was coming up and he hung the sack of meal on the back porch and beat it with the rest to the storm house. After the storm had passed they came out and found lots of damage, with only one sack left to hold up the back porch—and the wind had blown the sack from around the meal and left the meal hanging there!

INQUISITIVE CUSS—
Old Man—Who is that letter from?
Old Man—What do you want to know for?
7th—There you are! What do I want to know for? You're the most inquisitive person I ever met.

After a hunker, the Old Man spends most of his time looking into the past—his future can be taken in one short glance.

Women, Wine and Song—The Old Man admits that wine and song improve with age, but do women?

When the doctor heard a voice excitedly say over the phone, "Doctor, come at once—the baby swallowed my fountain pen," he said: "I'll be right over; what are you doing in the meantime?" Voice: "Using my pencil."

And every time the Old Man tries to fool the 7th about the night before, he knows just how the defendant feels who takes the witness stand in his own behalf.

And here's positively the last joke that'll be told on this absent-minded professor—yesterday he slammed his wife and kissed the door.

And when a bunch of the old girls get together, the Lord pity the first one who leaves.

Once when the Old Man run for office, in his very first important speech he got excited and shouted: "Let the best man win!" Sure was a bunch of voters took him at his word—he only got two votes and got accused of voting twice.

Girls used to dress well with their means—but now they mean well within their dress.

The 7th says that some dentists ought to take more pains and give less.

The Old Man wants to salute all his friends in adversity—and may he never be in the same fix.

Intensive And Continuous Efforts Needed To Curtail Traffic Deaths

By MAJOR GENERAL PHILIP B. FLEMING
Administrator of the Federal Works Agency and General Chairman of the President's Highway Safety Conference

Last year 33,500 persons died in automobile accidents in the United States.

That fact may not register very strongly. After all 33,500 is just a figure.

Maybe you can visualize the extent of the slaughter a little better if you will imagine that many people lined up in parade formation and marching from noon to sundown to pass a reviewing stand.

Or, suppose all those people had been killed at the same place—in front of your home, say. Then you could have stood on your front porch day and night, week in and week out, and witnessed a death on the average every 13 minutes.

That's as many people as live in such a city of Elkhart, Indiana, or Paducah, Kentucky, or Watertown, Massachusetts. They are all dead now, killed in accidents that could easily have been avoided. Hundreds of thousands of orphans, widows and bereaved parents are left to mourn in every city in the land.

Even so, 1946 was not our worst year for traffic fatalities. All things considered, the record for that year was pretty good. The most tragic year in motoring history was 1941 when 37,512 persons were killed. That was the high point to which traffic fatalities had steadily climbed over a 30-year period beginning about 1912 when 1,758 died. After 1912, the popularity of the automobile grew, and so did the number of deaths. Year by year the number killed increased, with a few exceptions—notably during the war when gasoline rationing drastically curtailed driving.

After Japan surrendered and gasoline rationing was abandoned, fatal accidents shot upward. In the first four or five months of last year, people were being done to death in such staggering numbers that it was confidently predicted the fatality list would exceed that for 1941. So when I say that the record for 1946 was "pretty good," what I mean is that it might have been much worse, that the rising curve of fatalities was turned downward, and that the number killed in proportion to miles driven was substantially less than in the year before. The improvement seems to be continuing into 1947.

It is significant that the tide turned last year following the President's Highway Safety Conference held at Washington early in May. Alarmed by the senseless and inexcusable slaughter, President Truman called together the Governors of States, mayors of the larger cities, legislators, engineers, judges, educators, and other outstanding citizens to see if some means could not be devised to put an end to it.

The Conference adopted an Action Program which contained recommendations of experts on various phases of the problem. Engineers, for example, showed how safer highways could be built. Lawyers stressed the importance of uniform traffic regulations. Judges and police officials drew up a list of the best techniques for traffic law enforcement. Educators drafted a program for teaching safety in the schools.

The 2,000 delegates to the Conference took the Action Program to their home communities, determined to put it into effect among their own friends and neighbors. Some 20 of the Governors called safety conferences of their own to supplement the President's Conference. So did the mayors of some of the larger cities.

Everywhere it was agreed that brief "spasm" campaigns for traffic safety, which run for a few weeks and are then forgotten, bring no lasting benefits. Rather, the need is for intensive effort on the part of police, judges, educators, engineers, and the general public every day of the year. Each one of us, as driver or pedestrian, must not only support the efforts of our public officials, but we must accept in good faith our own individual responsibility. Each man, woman and child must accept in his own conscience, as before the law, the responsibility for the consequences of his own acts.

Where the Action Program has been put into effect and backed up by intensive effort, you will find traffic fatalities declining. Where public officials are conducting only occasional "spasm" crusades and the public is indifferent, you will find such fatalities rising.

This is the first of thirteen articles dealing with the subject of traffic safety. Other articles to follow in the Eagle by authoritative spokesmen in the safety field, will show concretely how accidents are caused, how they can be prevented, what they cost in property damage as well as in lives lost, and what them.

SAFETY TIP OF THE WEEK

A TUNE FOR JUNE

What is so rare as a day in June — when at least 90 Americans aren't killed, 3,000 injured, in highway accidents?

June is the first month of crowded holiday traffic — long bumper-to-bumper lines of cars on the move to the mountains, the beaches, the lakes. It is a month when daytime smashups increase sharply. National Conservation Bureau safety specialists say one out of every five happens when a driver gets tired of looking at the same old jalopy in front of him and pulls out of line to make a dash for the first free space he can find ahead. Too often he slams head-on into another out-o-liner; or in trying to squeeze by, he sideswipes the car ahead.

The center line of a highway is a safety line; crossing or straddling it, except when the road is clear and straight, may be courting disaster.

June days are perfect days — for the careful driver to live and let live.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES: "The problem of lowering the highway death rate remains one of the nation's most serious problems. It is an appalling fact that 33,500 American citizens were killed in automobile accidents in 1946. I therefore call upon every State and every community in the land to work unceasingly through 1947 to promote highway safety.

"Laws and regulations will be of little avail unless the individual driver holds himself strictly accountable to his own conscience."

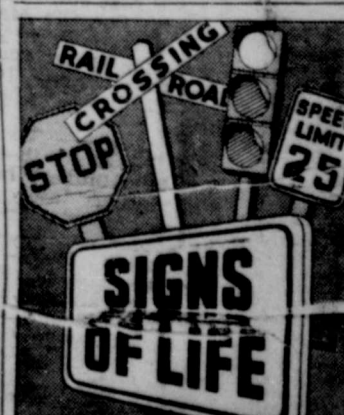

That call is to you personally to cooperate as a citizen of the United States in helping reduce highway accidents. It is a shameful record when in one year 33,500 lives are sacrificed; 1,150,000 persons are injured and $750,000,000 in property destroyed, resulting in an economic cost to the nation of $2,000,000,000 because of careless, reckless driving.

It is a national problem, but essentially the solution is in your hands. Drive safely — live and let live!

This is the first of a series of advertisements presented in the public interest by the President's Highway Safety Conference and the daily and weekly newspapers of the nation through their Press and Publisher Associations.

Plenty of spending money, but nothing much to spend it on. 1947—Plenty things to spend it on, but not much money. 1948—(Just a little, of course: None of either, everybody digging deep and listening for Big Boss.) 1949—(Censored by Boss, who says the Old Man don't know his atom from a hole in the ground. The Old Man will dig his hole in the ground and leave the Boss have his old atom.)

It's going to be hard to prove to the Old Man now that the reason it rained all over the country before it did in Goldthwaite was because we didn't pay our preachers here—but, when it got dry enough for us to think about paying the preacher so it'd rain, they wasn't any preachers here in town to pay. However, now we have half the churches supplied, we should get our half the rain.

She'll be the kind of woman who can't answer every time. Why, just last week she was at a big swell dinner and tagged to the man next to her and asked: "Doctor, can you tell me who that terrible looking man is over there?" Doctor said, "That is my brother." "Oh, I beg your pardon. Possibly of me not to have seen his resemblance." "And once when the Old Man was going to Gold, Gram. Schlage teacher asked him what three words were used the most among the students of this class. When the Old Man said, "I don't know," the teacher said, "Exactly right."

The Old Man knows the big airline companies could not help the many airplane accidents recently—it wasn't their fault—but listening to some of their radio announcements lately, they must be trying to make it right with the dead by hiring their ghosts to do the announcing.

The Old Man read so much lately about Inflation, Deflation, Recession, and Depression, and not understanding what they meant, like most others, he decided to be smarter than most others and look them up in his Webster's. Here's what he found they meant, in every-day English: Boom — Bust — Busted — Bankrupted. (Now the Old Man is hunting a high-faluting word—beginning with B that will describe his feelings—Disgusted.)

And, also, if your slogan is like the Old Man's, you won't believe too awful many of them big windies somebody has been starting around town here lately. Take Monday, they had the Old Man hunting all over town for a man walking around with his throat cut, which he didn't find. The Old Man's slogan is: Believe nothing you hear and only half what you see. P. S.—The Boss says not to believe near half you see in this column.

Old Man Hunnert has been very ambitious lately, hoping maybe he could get lucky and make a pass at one of them "Depreciation Days"—but has decided them WW2 vets have a monopoly on all the luck. Take Jesse Moreland and Jesse Saeger—last Jesse only missed it one, and first Jesse hit it smack dab in the nose at the San Saba Rodeo last Saturday night. Jesse has already tried it out for capacity. It will hold him as driver and six girls. The Old Man tried to borrow it, but couldn't find a girl—anyway another man had it borrowed to gather up eggs with; he said he would just drive it under the barn and pull the eggs in without getting out.

Swing Of Southwest Farm Markets

SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS By USDA

Many southwest farm markets showed considerable easiness last week, but some held firm and corn and milo rose to even higher levels, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Eggs held firm last week, but poultry showed slight easiness at some places. Eggs brought 37 cents per dozen at Denver, Amarillo, and Austin. Dallas brought fryers at 35 cents per pound, and heavy hens at 24 to 25. Fort Worth paid 33 to 35 for fryers, and 21 to 23 for heavy hens.

Corn values rose rapidly last week in response to unfavorable planting weather in the corn belt states. Total advances of around 30 cents per bushel brought No. 1 white to $2.62 Friday, and yellow to $2.40 at Fort Worth and Galveston. Wheat and oats eased down another nickel or so, and sorghums gained about the same amount.

Most feeds held fully steady; bran gained $6 per ton, and shorts lost $4. Trade expects prairie hay movement from North Texas and Oklahoma next week. Peanut exports through April 1947 neared ten times the volume for the same period in 1946. Texas 12-months combing wools and the finer territory wools continued in good demand.

Cotton prices fluctuated widely, but closed a little lower. Extremely light offerings and demand for only special qualities sharply restricted trading. Lambs dropped from 50 cents to $1.00 at San Antonio to around $3.00 at Wichita last week. Aged sheep and feeder lambs remained steady at Fort Worth, but sold generally lower at other markets. Good spring lambs closed at $20 to $21.50 at Fort Worth.

Cattle markets weakened materially on practically all classes with the better grades of cows, steers and yearlings holding up best. Good cows closed the week at $15.50 to $16.50 at Houston and up to $18 at Oklahoma City. Medium to good cows brought $17 to $18 at San Antonio.

Butcher Hogs closed the week steady at Oklahoma City, but fell mostly 25 to 50 cents or more at other southwest terminals. Sows sold generally 50 cents to $1.50 lower, and feeder pigs dropped at San Antonio.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGES

Adoption by certain near relatives will no longer bar a child from receiving monthly social security benefits. This change was made in the 1946 amendments to the Social Security Act, according to a statement made today by David S. Pruitt, manager of the Austin office of the Social Security Administration.

Under previous provisions of the law, a child's monthly payments were stopped upon the child's adoption. Under the amendments, the child may continue to receive his monthly payments if he is adopted by a step-parent, grandparent, aunt or uncle. Any child whose benefits have been terminated because of an adoption by a relative in one of these classes may begin getting his monthly benefits again provided a new application is filed. This is true if the child is still under 18 years of age and is otherwise eligible. Relatives should get in touch with the nearest Social Security Administration field office.

Another change eliminating the school attendance requirements for eligibility for social security was also made. Under previous provisions, a child's payments were suspended after the child became 16 years of age if he was not in regular attendance at school. This provision was repealed by the 1946 amendments. While school attendance is desirable, the Social Security Administration found this provision to be unworkable in actual practices. Children may now receive their monthly benefits up to age 18, provided they are otherwise eligible, regardless of whether they are in attendance at school.

CANNING SEASON

"How many pounds should I process this vegetable and that vegetable" seems to be the question of the day.

We find our vegetables are processed at 10 pound pressure and that the time table has been changed. The minutes for pints have been cut down and more time is needed for quarts in most cases. You may wonder why the additional time is required for processing some vegetables in quart jars. Quart jars filled with hot food are generally less hot than pints when processing starts—one factor important in computing the processing time. The new recommendations on canning low-acid vegetables offer important advantages to the families that annually can some of their own food supply. Using steam pressure canners for low-acid foods, these home canners may turn out a product which combines safety with better flavor, better texture, and more vitamin value than in the past, and the job may be done with a saving of time and fuel.

New time table for some of the vegetables are:

Use 10 Lb. Pressure.		No. 2	No. 3
Pts.	Qts.
Beets	25	55	30
Greens	45	70	60
Okra	25	40	25
Summer Squash	30	40	20
Snap Beans	30	40	20
Snap and Peas	20	25	30
Shelled Beans and Peas	35	60	40

The time table for some meats and poultry has been changed. If you need further information concerning the canning of fruits and vegetables call at the Home Demonstration Office or the bulletins "Can Vegetables in a Pressure Cooker" and "Can Fruits in a Water Bath."

of wheat with Madrid sweet clover in the early spring. He removed the sweeps and used open plows for furrows and has his clover in rows so he can cultivate it after the wheat is harvested.

Some cooperators in all conservation groups have begun vetch harvest. Some very good yields have been reported along with some low yields, but not enough has been separated to determine the average yield. Most cooperators in the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District have realized the value of vetch as a soil holding and improving crop as well as for grazing and a cash crop and plan to continue its use as part of a normal rotation.

Jim Soules, whose farm is located in the Star Conservation Group, has 70 acres of Madrid and Hubam clover in rows overplanted on oats. The oats have been harvested and the clover is now 8 and 10 inches tall.

HAY BALER
 The hay baler, which is operated by one man and which bales round bales without the need of a driver, is making a hit in its early days in Pecos County. Mr. Clint, is the first county farmer to buy a baler, and according to County Agricultural Agent S. Foster, he is more than satisfied with the machine. He has also purchased several shorthorn breeders that the wireless bale is really an advantage, as many cattlemen in West Texas have lost a lot of stock due to baling wire. He is making 50 to 55 pound bales which handle very easily.

Recently a trucker, hauling a load of round alfalfa bales belonging to Carr, dumped the entire load and not a bale was broken, and that's something," says the stockman. He also believes there is a much smaller loss of alfalfa leaves in round baling.

 CONFERENCE

Recommendations of the Action Program have been adopted and the reports were studied and evaluated by a group of conference experts. The summary shows little progress in improving motor vehicle administration throughout the country during the last year, although two of the three States without driver licensing laws prior to the 1946 Conference, have since adopted such legislation. The summary revealed: Lack of greater legislative progress was attributed to lack of aggressive leadership and to public apathy. Travel by motor vehicle reached an all-time high in 1946, yet deaths on the highways were reduced by 6,500 as compared with 1941, the year which had held the previous record for motor vehicle miles traveled. In 1946 there were 9.8 deaths per million miles traveled. Total killed on the highways in 1946 — 33,590. Approximately 1.2 million persons were injured. Approximate economic loss from traffic accidents — 1.5 billion dollars. The nation-wide inventory of highway safety conditions as they exist today revealed improvement in many sections in the matter of traffic laws and ordinances, "but the goal is far from accomplished." Other data on the brighter side of the ledger indicated increases in the completeness of accident reporting but a deficiency in the selective of the accident facts. An increase in special studies of particular phases of the traffic problem was cited as beneficial.

CHEVROLET TRUCK

DETROIT—A nationwide search to find the oldest Chevrolet truck still in active service in the United States was announced here today by J. W. Burke, manager, commercial and truck department, Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Corporation. Owner of the oldest vehicle will be presented with a new truck from the "Advance-Design" line of trucks which will be introduced by Chevrolet in the near future.

"We expect old truck entries from every section of the country," said Burke, "and may find the vehicle in farm service or doing a hauling job on a city street. Owners are urged to enter their oldest truck as it may be the winning vehicle."

Rules of the contest provide that the truck must carry 1947 license plates, and be driven to a Chevrolet dealership for official registration. Age of the trucks will be determined by the serial number of the vehicle. The search will begin May 10 and conclude June 15.

COMBINATION COVER CROP

Hayry vetch and rye give long-time benefit to cropland of the West Cross Timbers area, says Eastland County Agricultural Agent J. M. Cooper.

Both as a forage crop and a fertility builder, the vetch and rye combination is hard to beat in the West Cross Timbers, Cooper says.

On the grazing side of the ledger, he relates a story about Cecil Shultz, Rising Star farmer. Shultz has just grazed 350 head of sheep and goats all winter on 30 acres of vetch and rye. He fed the stock no supplemental rations. Recently he turned 60 head of cows on the patch, and told County Agent Cooper that "in spite of the cows, sheep and goats, it looks like the vetch and rye are going to stay ahead of them."

Aside from the fact that the legumes make good grazing and a cash crop in seed, probably their best feature is that they put fertility into the West Cross Timbers soil. Cooper reports that about 25,000 acres of vetch and rye are now growing in Eastland County.

A NATIONAL HIGHWAY SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Through the combined efforts of thousands of daily and weekly newspapers throughout the United States, a National Highway Safety Program was launched this week throughout the nation.

Any effort to reduce or eliminate the tragic toll of traffic accidents which annually account for thousands of needless deaths is worthy of wholehearted support.

Last year 33,500 persons were accidentally killed on our streets and highways. The staggering total of 1,150,000 were injured and an economic loss of over two billion dollars resulted.

What makes those lost lives, the pain and suffering, and the economic loss more tragic is the realization that, with proper care and precaution, they could have been avoided.

Now, as a result of the President's Highway Safety Conference last year and the second meeting of the Conference last week, an intensive effort is being made to prevent traffic accidents in the future.

But it has been significantly pointed out by Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, general chairman of the President's Highway Safety Conference, that brief, spasmodic campaigns will not bring lasting results.

Each one of us, as driver or pedestrian, says General Fleming, "must accept in good faith our own individual responsibility. Each man, woman and child must accept in his own conscience, as before the law, the responsibility for the consequences of his own acts."

That can mean only one thing. We must all, by our own individual efforts, strive constantly for the improvement of the public attitude toward safety.

JUST A PUSH —By Sam Say

That old word "Brotherhood" is still full of fascination. We need to keep the phrase "Brotherhood of Man" at all times ready for cheerful and constant use.

The world is in direct need of the principles of applied brotherhood. It would settle a thousand ills at home and in foreign lands. We talk of brotherhood—we write of brotherhood and sing about it—but we are not doing much about it.

The first question is not whether you or I are recipients of an earnest patient brotherhood—but are we exercising the qualities toward others—Not are we receiving—but are we giving.

We'd rather of course others could see eye to eye with us about matters of interest but they do not nor will not but that is no reason to fail them a manly spirit of brotherhood.

Most of us do not know enough about our tangled foreign policy to judge Ex-Vice-President Wallace as all wrong. At least we must not forget the time honored doctrine of free speech.

I am thinking of some of those in the past who made surprising innovations and became marvelous benefactors. The public did not agree with them and failed to treat them brotherly which ultimately reduced the critics to shame.

Many times a single man has quited the beaten path of many years and sought new achievements, as we might have had no progress. Man is determined to see things on the other side of the hill.

Everyone remembers how Samuel Morse was ridiculed and put to humility when he was perfecting telegraphy. He was poor and needed financing but authorities phooed the idea of people communicating on a wire.

Elias Howe, the inventor of the sewing machine, was a poor crippled man. The public surrounded him with a storm of criticism, saying among other things, if he produced for the public, it would drive every seamstress to starvation, and burned his first little factory to the ground.

Our Heritage From Ancient Israel

LESSON TEXT FOR JUNE 29—Psalm 119:100; Isaiah 2:2-4; Micah 6:1-8. MEMORY SELECTION—He will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths.—Isaiah 2:3.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

AT THE end of the road the Hebrew nation may have—yes, should have—stopped to look back and see what it had accomplished. Israel was now in exile, to return only in part, and with greatly limited greatness and glory.

What was God's purpose for Israel? It was threefold:

- (1) To be a repository for his truth in the earth.
(2) To be a channel for the coming of the personal Redeemer to the earth.
(3) To be a national witness to the one true God to the other nations of the earth.

The first two they fulfilled. They kept for us the Word of God as revealed in the Old Testament, and from their nation came most of the men through whom the Holy Spirit wrote the New Testament. It was through their nation that the Son of God came as Jesus of Nazareth, our Saviour and Lord.

But they failed to be the witness that God had meant them to be—and for this they came under his judgment.

Were they then a complete failure? Certainly not—our lesson makes that clear in three ways. Teachers will find the scriptures not too well selected, but they do serve as a background for these thoughts. The nation Israel showed us:

I. The Enlightening Word of God (Ps. 119:105).

LET us never forget that the precious Word of God, which is our light on the way through this dark world, came to us through Jewish hands.

The Old Testament, which we come to appreciate more and more as we grow in grace and knowledge of the Lord, was committed to Israel by inspiration of the Holy Spirit, and preserved by the Jewish nation even at the cost of their own lives. Nothing was more precious to them than the sacred Scripture. We owe them a great debt of gratitude, and ought to honor them for their service to God and man.

We may say then that the Bible, unsurpassed in all the world of literature, and beyond comparison as the guiding light for man's heart and life, was given to us through Israel. We could well say a hearty "Thank you" for that right now if we have never done it before!

II. The Exalted Worship of God (Isa. 2:2-4).

THE prophet looks into the future to that glorious and blessed day when the nations shall have learned to live in peace and righteousness, when war shall be no more, and the worship of God shall be the desire and the joy of men.

When will that day come? Will it be brought in by the efforts of the church, or by conferences of national leaders? Not for a moment would we minimize the value of every true effort to spread peace and righteousness through the earth. We honor those who faithfully try to bring concord in the affairs of men.

But the clear teaching of Scripture, which has been so abundantly proved by experience, is that we can expect the delightful condition of which Isaiah speaks only when the Prince of Peace himself has returned to reign, namely, our Lord and Saviour and coming King, Jesus Christ. We look for that day!

In that blessed time Israel shall worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness, even as their history under the hand of God in days past was one of true worship of the Lord.

Here again they made an enduring contribution to the life of the world. Then note their witness to

III. The Effective Work of God (Mic. 6:1-8).

WE HAVE here words of another Hebrew prophet. He speaks of God's plain dealings with his people, his judgment upon their sin, and the need of a careful and a worthy walk before him.

Back of all the admonition and appeal is the remembrance of how God had worked on behalf of Israel, delivering them from bondage, giving them effective leaders, going before them in battle, in fact, proving his goodness and love by his mighty works.

Israel's service for God and man is an example of what God can and will do for those who obey him and walk with him. It is equally true that they thus reveal the inevitable judgment which comes upon a sinful and disobedient nation. Let us not miss that lesson, for we need it today. vance of June as National Dairy Month, today released a statement congratulating Texas dairymen on the remarkable progress they have made in the past few years.

"It is gratifying to note that where 20 years ago there were no evaporated milk, powdered milk, or cheese plants in Texas, now this State produces all 6 of the major dairy products; buttermilk, ice cream, butter, evaporated milk, cheese, and powdered milk."

Dr. Cox pointed out that last year Texas made 25,396,000 pounds of cheddar cheese, and over 30,000,000 gallons of ice cream.

"The State Health Department is indeed glad to join with the Texas dairymen in celebrating June as Dairy Month," Dr. Cox said, "and to urge that from a health protection angle, at least a pint of milk be included in the daily diet of all adults and an even larger amount provided for children."

MUSIC FOR BREAKFAST
The Charles El Wylie, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Wylie of Goldthwaite, whose head almost touches the counter (when sitting on a stool) went to his wife's cafe for breakfast of cakes one morning of last week. His older brother, Ernest, deposited the little tot on the waiter and left a few dollars for pay. While waiting for hot cake order, young Ernest decided music would go good, and he dropped one in the counter box. Then came the completion of the music and still no hot-cakes—Just another nickel will "fix it up" he said and there went another until his money was in one coin and a small one at that. When this reporter left, Ed was gleefully listening to music with no hot cakes, but we're inclined to believe he got them anyway.

Uncle Sam Says

Everybody knows it pays to buy U. S. Bonds. But not everybody knows how much it pays. By investing as small a sum as $2.50 a week in U. S. Bonds, your savings will be $1,440.84 in ten years. Take savings of $3.75 a week; by 1957, you will have $2,163.45. There are two easy ways to save automatically. Set a regular amount of money set aside from your pay each week for bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. Or, if you're not on a payroll, but you do have a checking account, you can have your bank automatically charge your account for the purchase price of a bond each month.

GOLDEN KEY TO TEXAS TREASURE CHEST

Paul M. Fulks of Wolfe City, newly-elected president of the Texas Press Association, is shown at left receiving from Walter Humphrey of Fort Worth, retiring president, the golden diamond-studded key to the Texas Treasure Chest at the State Fair of Texas upon his election by the press group last week in Amarillo. The golden key, which is being passed down from president to president, will be used 39 years hence to open the treasure chest on the 100th anniversary of the State Fair. Embedded in 1938 in a monument to the founders of the State Fair, the chest contains historical documents and copies of more than 100 Texas newspapers. Mr. Fulks is publisher of the Wolfe City Sun and Mr. Humphrey is editor of the Fort Worth Press.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
With 36 different ways of spelling the name of Baer, 29 spellings of the name Snyder, 22 spellings of the name Bailey and various spellings of other names, David S. Pruitt, Manager of the Social Security Administration field office in Austin, urges employers in industry and commerce to keep complete and accurate payroll records of the names and account numbers of all workers, which they are required to report in the next quarterly tax returns, to be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue at the end of June.
Since the names and account numbers of workers are so closely linked with the future monthly benefits that are due them under the old-age and survivors insurance system, employers should copy down in their permanent records the worker's social security cards, Pruitt said. Employers will need these names and numbers when they make their quarterly reports to the Collector of Internal Revenue. The names and numbers are used by the Social Security Administration to identify the accounts of workers under the old-age and survivors insurance system.
A great proportion of the errors in the wage reports made to the Social Security Administration are due to inaccuracy—such as errors in the spelling of names or transposing of digits in account numbers. Many unidentified wage items result from the fact that a worker is on the job only one or two days, and the employer does not get his social security account number.
Another source of difficulty in maintaining correct records, Pruitt said, is the fact that brides, divorcees and other workers, who have changed their names, do not report to the Social Security Administration field office their new name, and so they are apt to have their wage records kept under two names, it was stated. A form OAAAN-7003, "Employee's Request for Change in Records," can be obtained at any Social Security Administration office.
