Swing Of Southwest Farm Markets

By USDA

Many southwest farm products set lower trends last week, but grains and cotton continued to climb, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reports.

Despite current grain saving efforts, corn and milo advanced 13 to 26 cents, and wheat and barley followed with gains of 5 to 6 cents. Large world requirements remained the principal strengthening factor.

Favorable weather spurred peanut digging, but most sales went at government support prices. Buying of fall clip wool for private interests continued in Texas. Mohair remained generally slow.

Cotton harvesting made good progress but car shortage hampered movement to market. Spot sales scored a record volume for the season, although some farmers still held for higher prices. Prices advanced around $3 for the week.

Poultry showed considerable weakness off and on during the week, but most markets steadied somewhat toward the close. Eggs held mostly unchanged. Dallas and Fort Worth bought select eggs at 55 cents per dozen. Heavy hens turned generally at 24 to 28 cents per pound, and fryers 32 to 37.

Texas hog markets closed steady for the week, while other southwest terminals suffered losses up to 50 cents or more. Top hogs sold late in the week at $28.50 at San Antonio and $29 at Fort Worth.

Most cattle markets lost 25 cents to $1 compared with a week earlier. One exception was Houston, where common to medium cows sold steady at $12 to $14.50. Cutter and common cows turned at $11.25 to $13.50 at Fort Worth.

Most lamb prices weakened by 50 cents to $1.50, and ewes 25 to 50 cents per hundred pounds for the week. However, lambs sold 50 to 75 cents higher at Denver, where choice range Colorados closed at the week's top of $23.50.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. M. Hicks of Cameron visited his mother, Mrs. J. M. Hicks, and other relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Kelly and Mrs. Joe Palmer made a short visit to Brownwood Saturday.

THREE GOLDTHWAITE SENIORS TO TRY FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Three Seniors from Goldthwaite High School have been elected by their classmates to compete with students from other high schools throughout the United States and territories for the 119 Pepsi-Cola Four-year College Scholarships and more than 550 fifty-dollar College Entrance Awards being offered again this year by the Pepsi-Cola Scholarship Board.

The contestants chosen were: Geraldine Laughlin, Norma Sue Ross and John Garner.

According to Mr. Faith, principal of Goldthwaite High, it is both a scholastic and a personal honor to be selected as a contestant for one of these scholarships, since a student so selected must be one who is in the opinion of his classmates "most likely to make an important contribution to human progress." The election, which was held at a senior class meeting on October 8, was in itself an exercise in practical American democracy, Mr. Faith said.

If one of the students from Goldthwaite wins a Pepsi-Cola Scholarship, he or she will have full tuition and certain incidental fees paid for four years at any accredited academic college he wishes to attend in the United States, its territories, or Canada. In addition, he will receive an allowance of $25 a month during the four academic years plus traveling expenses at the rate of three cents a mile for one round trip between home and college each school year. There will be five runners-up for every Scholarship to be given, and each will receive a College Entrance Award which carries a grant of $50 payable if the winner enters college by the fall of 1948.

These scholarship awards are financed by the Pepsi-Cola Company as a part of its public service program.

At 9:00 a. m. on Friday, November 21, these seniors who have been elected will take a two-hour specially prepared scholastic aptitude test in the high school. Immediately following the examination, the test papers will be collected, placed in an envelope provided for that purpose, and sent at once for scoring to the College Entrance Examination Board, which is an independent testing board composed of representatives of America's most distinguished colleges and universities.

The students in each state who receives the highest scores on this preliminary test will then take a second examination on January 24.

We've Come a Long Way from the Longhorns

Longhorns by the millions ranging the western grasslands from the Gulf Coast to Montana... building empires... making history and legend on the great cattle trails! That was sixty and more years ago. Then the railroads came, much of the range was fenced and the fate of the longhorn was sealed. Shorthorn, Angus and Hereford bulls came in from the east. Gradually, the longhorns were bred out of existence, until today only a few isolated "museum" herds are left.

This is one story of continuing livestock progress, of better animals developed to meet changing conditions and needs. Who knows but that in another fifty years today's "best" may look as old fashioned as longhorns do now.

With hogs, one amazing change is in the increased speed and efficiency of producing pork. Three years once was needed to raise a hog to market weight. Today, pigs often weigh 200 to 250 pounds at six months or less. Straight line and cross-bred breeding experiments seek even more efficient hogs to make weight in the same short time, but produce more meat.

In lambs, development is directed toward "dual-purpose" breeds. Certain breeds have been best for wool but not best for meat. Others produced the meat but were lacking in wool. Researchers have made progress on breeds of lambs to produce both meat and good wool economically.

A first step in the improvement of any animals or any herd is to use proven sires on dams of known productive ability. The eye alone is not enough. To know production records and ancestry is vital. Bull grading programs offer greater certainty in choosing a sire. Weighing young animals at weaning time and marking them is important, especially in the selection of gilts. A "touch system" of sheep grading is proving helpful in culling large bands in little time.

On any matter pertaining to livestock breeds or breeding, Swift & Company has no favorites. We serve the interests of producers of all breeds, in all parts of the country. We urge you to watch carefully

Track Down the Facts

These are the tracks of the coyote. They look like dog tracks, but there are differences which the expert tracker can see.

In the livestock business, too, sometimes things are not as they seem to be. For example, some people say we waste our grain by feeding it to animals. Instead, they think we should eat the grain ourselves. They do not realize that the millions of head of cattle and lambs that are marketed every year are little more than grass turned into meat. It is true that many of these animals are fed a certain amount of grain and other concentrates to turn them into finished meat animals. However, if it were not for cattle and lambs, 779,000,000 acres of land in the United States would produce little, if any, food for humans. To put it another way, about 51% of the total land of our nation consists of grazing land which cannot be used for producing other feeds and food.

Will It Pay Me to Specialize?

by M. T. Buchanan
State College of Washington

"Should I specialize in some crop or enterprise, or should I diversify my operations?" Many farmers and ranchers have to find the answer to this question. For instance, in the state of Washington there are 63 distinct types of farming in this one state alone. And they should consider that the types of products which come from farms in different areas of the United States are not accidental. They are caused by the inter-action of physical and economic factors. The operation of these two forces has been hastened by mechanization, development of better crop varieties, breeds and disease-resistant strains.

Specialization, of course, leads to increased efficiency in the use of labor, equipment, capital and buildings.

Marketing is an easier task and more time is available for maintenance of equipment and for planning new and better methods. A great deal of the increase in production of agricultural products has resulted from specialization. Farms have increased in size. Proportionately, the amount of labor needed has decreased, allowing more labor for use in other ways.

Specialize or diversify? There's plenty of "real life" evidence to help you in reaching a decision. Go visiting. See how your neighbor does it. It's your problem and even if you decide to make no changes from your present plan, you'll get a lot of ideas on how you can do your work better.

Packers do not make livestock prices

In their day, the hardy, self-sufficient longhorns were the best breed for the open, unfenced ranges. In a land without transportation they actually took themselves to market. But the tough longhorns couldn't match newer breeds in beef production. Calves from Hereford, Shorthorn and Angus bulls and from thrifty longhorn dams grew faster. They produced more and better meat from less feed. Blockier and of heavier frame, they yielded more of the more popular meat cuts. They were better money makers for farmers and ranchers. Such results encouraged selection of better foundation stock.

Each improvement in meat production has been met by increased demand for popular cuts on America's dinner tables. Livestock producers and meat packers have worked hand-in-hand to encourage greater demand for meat. But Swift & Company plays no favorites among breeds of beef producing animals. We do not make markets ::: we find them. In our buying of livestock we transmit to producers the knowledge of the kinds of meat that are preferred in various sections of the country.

The price producers receive for their livestock is governed by what the packer can get for the meat and by-products.

FARM AND RANCH CHATTER

WITH LAYNE BEATY WBAP
6:30 AM Week Days—10:15 AM Sunday

Another angle to the increased growing of legume crops for soil conservation—production of honey in Texas increased twenty per cent this year.

Some enterprising people live in Hansford county, one of the wheat and cattle producing counties in the top tier of the Texas Panhandle. Each year the county provides funds for the construction and maintenance of an exhibit at the State Fair of Texas. This year it is the only county agricultural exhibit at the Fair. To keep it well-manned, citizens of Spearman and the surrounding county shuttle back and forth from their homes to Dallas, many of them using their own light airplanes.

The S. J. Meadors and Sons big meadow of native grasses near Saint Jo in Montague county was cut for hay as usual this fall, after a dry summer wrecked plans to reap a seed crop from it for the first time. The Soil Conservation Service had encouraged the seed harvest to ease the shortage of good native grass seed. This particular grassland has never been cultivated.

The unusual thing about a 1200-foot diversion ditch across two farms near Burleson is that it was planned and financed by three other farmers farther down the slope to keep waters from taking their topsoil. It is a flood control measure, a part of the Trinity watershed program.

Those six new barns, concrete and steel, 100 x 400 feet, are going up on schedule on the Will Rogers Memorial coliseum grounds at Fort Worth. They'll be ready for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show January 30 to February 8.

The Southwestern Turkey Breeders Exposition is set up for November 20, 21 and 22 at the Coliseum grounds. It's the third annual such show in Fort Worth, now attracting national attention.

John Hendrix, Fort Worth, famous cattle country writer, tells of resting himself near the Brangus (half Brahman, half Angus) cattle at the State Fair, when one citizen, after lengthy and silent examination of the animals, inquired "Mister, are these buffalo?" Well, they're about as big, all right, but much more economical.

TURKEY DEMONSTRATION LAST FRIDAY

The Turkey Steak Demonstration held last Friday at the American Legion Hall was a huge success.

There were 120 Mills County turkey raisers and Goldthwaite citizens present.

F. Z. Beanblossom who gave the demonstration really let the citizens of Goldthwaite see key steak minded, as they are already being sold across the counter in one of our local grocery stores.

We want to thank all concerned who had a part in making this demonstration a success.

We want to thank the G. I. School for the chairs they furnished. We appreciate the use of the steak tenderizer which was supplied by Piggly Wiggly and would like to thank the Locking Corporation for their part in dressing the turkeys which were supplied by the Welch Turkey Farm.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

One Book—indispensable

Our forefathers depended on the Bible, often the only book in the family, for spiritual guidance and religious worship. Children were taught to read from it; from its pages people of all ages learned to appreciate the power and dignity of great poetry and prose.

Today as we seek guidance in meeting the serious problems before us, the Bible—with its words of wisdom, courage, solace and beauty—holds particular significance as THE ONE BOOK INDISPENSABLE IN AMERICA.

WHAT DO YOU GAIN FROM READING?

There has been much discussion lately about our reading habits. What do we gain from reading? It seems to me that too much time is spent interpreting, analyzing and criticizing, and not enough time in actually enjoying what we read.

For instance, a poet is supposed to be a carefree, inspired person who writes down the beautiful thoughts that come to him. By the time we have finished reading the critics' opinion we sometimes lose the original thought.

It is difficult for the average high school student to study ponderous historical works, yet we will read or listen avidly to legends concerning historical characters. In answer to the question "What do we gain from reading?" we usually answer knowledge. Let us add the word enjoyment.

THE FRESHMEN OF 1937

We, the Freshman Class of Priddy High School of 1947 are proud to say "We are in High School now."

We have a class of 18. The girls are taking four subjects: Math, English I, World History, and Homemaking.

The boys are also taking four subjects, substituting V. A. for H. M.

In our math we are trying to absorb a little knowledge on fractions, decimals and percents. In English we have studied sharing experiences through story telling, letter writing, value of courtesy, doing business by different ways of communication, and the dictionary.

In World History we are studying of Rome and her provinces, and in H. M. I we have for the past six weeks been studying the styles of fashions and the care of clothing.

We were initiated into the F. H. A. Club.

Although it was embarrassing to us, we had fun and will get our revenge next year.

This week we have started our Home Project and with our sewing we are progressing nicely. The Freshmen boys are now well started in their first year in V. A. I.

We have passed all requirements for becoming "Greenhands" with flying colors. We have learned of soil erosion and its effects. We ran terraces with out any trouble.

We, the Freshman Class as a whole, are paying small dues each month and are planning to have some fun at parties in the future. We plan to have the Crazy House for Halloween and there will be an auction for the boxes that the girls bring.

THE UNMASKED EYE

Dora, everybody thought you went with Mr. Hook last night, but it happens that you didn't, who, then?

Helen, it's pretty steady with Jimmy, isn't it?

Robert Lee, why didn't you nominate Rubeline yourself—nobody would have minded.

Charline, what's the matter with you? You don't even speak to us like you did last week.

self even if you don't have a date self even if you don't have a date.

Alma Jean, you seem happy—maybe it's love???

Howard W., you don't have to go with Ruth every night. She will wait for you.

Bernice, did you get angry because your boy friend took you in early?

Charline S., it seems Sunday is the date you have been waiting for, isn't it?

Zona, do you like to carry the cake to Mr. Hook? Will it help?

Boys, boys! New trailer house came to town Sunday, and I saw a girl.

Joyce Mae, what are you so happy about? Everybody wants to know.

Gladys B., why wouldn't you let Clarence put his arm around you? Are you bashful?

eo, since you saw that Ramona wasn't around last night why didn't you go after her?

Eugene, it seems you still haven't given up hope that you want Helen.

I believe Geneva should not miss school. Rosie really misses her.

Skinny, don't keep Lee out so late; he can't keep his eyes open on Mondays.

Edeline, what happened Sunday afternoon to you, Bettie, Willie Mae, Bernice, and Gladys when a blue pick-up pinned you all in Sunday afternoon? Was it two boys?

Eighty-Six Candles Honor Native Texan

(Amarillo News-Globe)

In her childhood Mrs. Elizabeth Collier, 1414 Washington, suffered more than one rude awakening as her parents grabbed her up from bed to hide her from marauding Indians.

Occasionally they would scamper from their home near Huntsville to the safety of Fort Sam Houston.

Mrs. Collier's parents firmly believed the Redskins would take a liking to their little "papoose" and carry her off.

Nowadays Mrs. Collier has nothing more strenuous to do than rock a bit on her front porch or walk a few steps down the street to visit with neighbors.

Mrs. Collier was 86 years old last week.

But in two generations of her family, the entire modern history of Texas has been unfurled.

Her father, W. W. Mills, early-day Lone Star cattleman, was born in 1826—when the state was still a province of Old Mexico.

When a lad of 10 years, he saw the Republic of Texas come into existence. When he was 20 years old, Texas was admitted as a state.

A few years later he saw service in the Civil War as a member of the Confederate Army.

Mrs. Collier has seen no mean chunk of Texas history herself.

She was born Sept. 4, 1861, on the family ranch near Huntsville. And she is a pioneer resident of the Panhandle having lived in this area since 1902.

When she celebrated her 86th birthday last Thursday, she primly reported, "I don't feel a day over 70."

Joining in the birthday's festivities were three daughter and a son. Augmenting their parents were a number of grandchildren.

The party was held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Hodges, with whom Mrs. Collier has resided since 1942.

Mrs. Collier is an aunt of Mrs.

Everett Evans, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Collier made their home in Star about 55 years ago, and she has visited Mrs. Evans and other relatives in Mills County several times.

QUILTING

There will be an all-day quilting at Mrs. Carl Perry's Tuesday, October 28. Everyone is invited to come and quilt and enjoy the day.

Midway H. D. Club

Midway H. D. Club met Oct. 17th with Mrs. Lester Kerby and her mother, Mrs. Raymond Horton. There were 7 ladies present. Mrs. Elton Horton and Mrs. Kerby gave a demonstration and directions on removing old paint and varnish from furniture, so it could be repainted and new varnish used. These demonstrations are very useful to home makers since old pieces of furniture are very valuable and can be made very useful when remodeled. Even the chair rounds can be glued in place and made more substantial.

We elected new officers for the new year. They are as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Flouy Burns; Sec. and Treas. Mrs. Ima Wicker; Reporter, Mrs. Ida Sevier. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Doyle Wright, Nov. 7th. We decided on what we would like to study for 1948 in the year book.

Our hostess served delicious punch and muffins with chocolate icing.

There will be a quilting at Mrs. Elton Hortons home Nov. 12th, Wednesday. Everyone in the community is asked to be present.—Reporter.

B. A. HOWINGTON MOVES WEST FOR HIS HEALTH

B. A. Howington, who lived on a farm near Indian Gap for 56 years, selling it last summer, is on a trip for his health. He first went to a Comanche hospital suffering with asthma, then his daughter, Leona Leutwiler from Beaumont, Calif., came here and took him by auto on a trip west. He stopped off two days for a rest with his daughter, Ethel Bolin, at Vega, Texas, then went on to Prescott, Ariz., and is now staying with his son, A. E. Howington. His asthma has left him and he is gaining strength.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gilliam and family took Mrs. E. B. Anderson to the Brady Hospital last Sunday.

Everitt Faulkner and Clyde Faulkner returned Saturday night from McAllen, where they spent a week visiting their brother, Harry Faulkner.
