DRILLING RESUMED ON ELLENBERGER TEST SOUTHEAST

O. C. Proffitt of San Angelo, driller of the oil test on the Segilquist Ranch about ten miles southeast of Goldthwaite, said yesterday that drilling was resumed Wednesday at 1,690 feet.

Considerable delay had been encountered when machinery broke down and had to be replaced. Water was cut off at 1,650 feet when the 8 1-4 inch casing was set.

Mr. Proffitt said the test was going down about 80 feet every 24 hours. The well will be drilled to 3,500 feet, or 250 feet into the Ellenberger, should it be struck first. Geologists think the Ellenberger there will be reached around 2,400 feet.

This is the first oil test to be drilled in this section of the county, and Mr. Proffitt thinks it looks good for a producer.

Natural Gas To Be In Goldthwaite By Next Week District Manager Says

Lone Star Gas Company, in all probability, will turn on natural gas in Goldthwaite by Tuesday of next week, J. B. Knowles of San Saba, district manager, and E. E. Madding, sub-district manager of the Goldthwaite office, said.

They suggested to the people of Goldthwaite that they prepare their house piping at earliest time, and make arrangements for any anticipated heating equipment they may need.

Mr. Knowles was a visitor to Goldthwaite yesterday, and said the Lone Star would have at hand at the people's request trained personnel, engineers and representatives to help the people of Goldthwaite to determine their needs for heating equipment without any obligation to the customers.

In the near future a permanent sub-district office will be established in Goldthwaite to be under supervision of Sub-District Manager E. E. Madding, who will make his home here.

Temporary offices are now located on Front Street, and the telephone number is 317. Here people of Goldthwaite can get any information needed or make known their requests. The Lone Star will have within a few days a display of modern gas appliances.

FINE DOG POISONED AT COLLIER DAIRY

Dog poisoners are busy again in Mills County!

Claude Collier's fine 3-year-old Border Collie pet dog, "Bo-Bo" died last Thursday night from poison somebody had thrown on the dairy property. The dog was well trained in handling sheep, cows and calves, and was an expert watch dog, besides being a family pet. Mr. Collier said the dog had never been off his land except when some one was with him.

"I had rather lost a fine cow than Bo-Bo," Mr. Collier said. Several other dogs in the county have died from poison lately.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

During the next twenty-four hours, the chances are that fire will take 30 lives—and destroy $2,000,000 worth of property. And that will happen during every ensuing day and night, if fire waste continues at the present rate.

That is why public officials and civic groups in some 10,000 communities are now organizing in preparation for the 1949 Fire prevention Week observance, which will take place from October 9 to 15.

Fire Prevention Week has been an annual event since 1920, when President Wilson issued the first Presidential proclamation authorizing it. It has only one purpose—to show us the simple precautions that will prevent most fires. To achieve that goal, thousands of experts contribute freely of their knowledge, time and energy. Nothing is left undone that might serve the cause. Practically every American, unless he be a hermit in the hills, has the chance to gain knowledge that may save his life, his home, his job.

However, this fine work is of small value without public cooperation. The experts are ready to teach us, but they cannot make us learn unless we wish to. They are offering an opportunity—and it is up to us to take it.

The point is plain and simple. Listen, read, and learn during the week—and put into constant practice what you learn. If we do that, fire's horrible and unnecessary harvest of death and destruction will be sharply reduced.

WHEN THE FORESTS BURN

One match, one smoldering cigarette butt, one spark from a camp fire, can be the cause of the destruction of thousands of acres of timber that it took Nature centuries to create. And when the forests burn, the cruellest of deaths comes to the wildlife that live in their shelter.

This year, the country has witnessed a number of very serious forest fires. The hazard does not end with the summer months. There has been unusually dry weather in various sections of the country. Trees and woodlands will be ripe for destruction by fire for some time to come.

There seems to be a rather widespread idea that most fires are started by natural causes beyond the ability of man to prevent or control. That is not true. As the New York Times has said, "Some fires, of course are set by lightning, but authorities are agreed that nine out of ten are due entirely to human carelessness with matches, cigarettes or camp fires. Annually they cause direct losses running into many millions of dollars and equally serious indirect losses in the destruction of our dwindling forest reserves."

The human factor, in fact, is responsible for almost all fires, whether they take place in a forest, in a home, or in a factory. Carelessness, ignorance, indifference to redimentary precautions—there are fire's friends. When we replace them with care and watchfulness, fire will be beaten.

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 6
DEVOTIONAL READING: Hosea 14

What is a Call of God?

Lesson for October 2, 1949

IF YOU knew exactly what God wanted you to do, would you do it? Of course you would. The trouble is: How does any one know what God's will is?

For example, a young man is thinking about his life's work; what shall he choose? Most young men would do what they were sure God called them to do, but what is a call?

The story of Isaiah throws some light on this problem. (We are beginning this week a three months' study of the great prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah.) True, he lived some 2700 years ago, and half way to the other side of the world; but human nature has not changed in 2700 years.

From Man about Town To Man of God

ISAIAH was a young man about town, in the small but wealthy city of Jerusalem, about 700 years before Christ. He was a personal friend of all the important people, a man of good education, with wide horizons of interest, of independent means, eloquent, polished, the sort of man who makes a good career diplomat.

He tells in some detail the story of how he came to be a prophet. The story is in Isaiah 6. Perhaps if we had been there with a camera and a wire recorder we might have been able to photograph the seraphim and take down their cries, just as Isaiah saw and heard them.

What we do know is that that experience changed Isaiah's life. Up to that time (on his own showing) he had been a "man of unclean lips;" from that time on he began to be a spokesman for the Lord. Let us try to say what the story of that life-changing vision, that call, means in terms of our own experience.

The Flame of God

FIRST there was the overwhelming sense of God's reality and power and holy majesty. No one can ever experience a call who does not take God seriously.

A God "afar off," a God who is only a problem, an idea, a hypothesis, never called any one. God alone can make himself real to man; and only a man with a real sense of a living God is going to hear his call.

Next came Isaiah's realization of his own unworthiness and sin. A man who feels equal to a great task is probably not equal to it. "Them as knows nawthin' fears nawthin'," as the Irish say. A man who feels good enough to serve God, just as he is, is not good enough. A man without a sense of sin is too full of it.

Then comes the burning coal from the altar; Isaiah feels that his guilt is gone. No one can fully do God's will with an unforgiven heart. Isaiah was not sinless at one stroke, of course, yet it is possible to turn from all known sin; it is possible to devote one's loyalty to God; and this Isaiah did.

It was only then that he heard the call: Whom shall I send? In modern and less picturesque language, Isaiah was conscious of a need he had not felt before—that is, of God's need, of his people's need.

What those needs were will come out in later studies. The point is that young Isaiah, who hitherto had lived only for himself, now saw the need of the city and the people among whom he lived.

"Here Am I; Send Me."

THEN comes the last stage—Isaiah's willing offer of himself. His great talent was the ability to use language. He could make words march and sing as few men of any race have done. But up to that time, it seems, his gift of eloquence had been used chiefly in telling dirty stories.

Now he has repented, and been forgiven, and he says to God: Use me. His voice, his knowledge, his eloquence, which he had been using against God (or at best, only for Isaiah) he was now to use for God and man.

So there is a call: A sense of God, near and commanding and holy; repentance; forgiveness; a sense of need; willingness to devote all one's gifts to fill that need.

NUMBER CAN AT MELBA

Years has Clark Gable as tailor-made and a role as that of the gambler in "Any Number Can Play" stellar attraction at the Melba Saturday night Prevue, and Monday. A story taut, moving at a pace, packing a wallop in almost every scene with Gable in the virginal type of character which has kept him at the top of box-office lists. He has been a star. "Any Number Can Play" as Charley King who, gambling luck, has risked everything to become the spectacularly successful and who is now with his wife and college Paul, every luxury. Give a sucker an even with a code of honor. Charley is able to everyone with whom into contact. His only failure is in his son who despises his father's profession and cannot conceive him to be an honest man. It takes a series of engrossingly dramatic circumstances and a thrill-packed climax before Charley can prove to his wife and son that there can be nobility and integrity even in gambling.

"MA AND PA KETTLE"
Homespun comedy delivered by the quaint Kettle family featured in "The Egg and I" sparkles in Universal-International's "Ma and Pa Kettle" now playing at the Melba Theatre.

The same down-to-earth couple, Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride, handle the Ma and Pa roles, ably abetted by fifteen progeny, half a dozen of whom appeared as Kettle kids in "The Egg and I."

The "Ma and Pa Kettle" story stars in the same setting in which they were seen in "The Egg and I."

The happy-go-lucky Kettles then are lifted from the squalor of their tumbledown shack to push button living in an ultra electronic house of the future which Pa wins in a tobacco slogan contest. The antics of the elderly couple and their offspring in the dazzling new surroundings provide countless laughs sprinkled liberally with suspense and excitement.

Romance is provided by the meeting of Tom Kettle, eldest of the offspring, and Kim Parker, comedy magazine writer assigned to do a story on the Cinderella family.

TEXAS TAKES A HOLIDAY

Two million Texans can't be wrong—not in taking their holiday at the 1949 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8-23.

That's a lot of Texans, but the total is not surprising in view of the amazing array of attractions assembled for this greatest of all state fairs on earth. Piling climax on climax, this year's exposition promises to be the grandest ever—a fitting milestone for an autumn when Texas farmers expect to make their second biggest harvest in history.

Since its birth 64 years ago, the State Fair of Texas has compiled an impressive list of contributions to better living in Texas. Down through the years it has grown, developing with the times—often, as in the case of its dramatic atomic energy exhibit this year, ahead of the times—to chart new courses, new methods and better ways of living.

The State Fair has spurred the tremendous progress of the Texas livestock industry from a day when the scrawny Longhorn steer was king of the range to a time when the state has more purebred beef cattle than any other state.

Giant strides made by the state's New Agriculture stem in a large measure from the Fair. In the field of home-making, it has been instrumental in inspiring finer domestic arts.

One of the most outstanding contributions the State Fair has made in recent years lies in its ambitious program for rural youth. This year, more than 75,000 farm boys and girls will have the time of their lives as guests of the Fair—and they'll go away better citizens.

The "fun" side of the Fair is never neglected. This year the hours of relaxation, which are needed to forget the cares of the workaday world, will be well filled as the carnival atmos-

MRS. C. A. EACOTT WINS FOURTH PRIZE EGG LAYING CONTEST

One of Goldthwaite's prominent women, Mrs. C. A. Eacott, has just completed a very outstanding performance with what might well be termed a "back-yard" flock of white Leghorn and white rock hens. Mrs. Eacott has just been awarded the fourth place prize in the Texas Farm and Home Egg Laying Contest, sponsored by the Texas Poultry Council and conducted by the poultry Extension Service at A. & M. College.

During the ten month period of the contest Mrs. Eacott's record of egg production averaged just a little more than 25 eggs per hen per month. During only one month of the contest did Mrs. Eacott's production per hen drop below 20 eggs. During four months of the contest her daily average production per hen ran above 28 eggs and during two months her production ran 29 eggs or more per hen.

Mrs. Eacott kept some very accurate records during the contest which reveal some very interesting figures. During the contest she maintained an average flock of 87 hens and her monthly income from the sale of eggs averaged $86.52, thus she had a gross income of just a little less than $1.00 per hen per month. Mrs. Eacott's feed cost for the duration of the contest totaled $378.94 leaving her a net profit for the ten months of $486.30. This figures out a net income of 55 cents per hen per month.

For winning fourth place Mrs. Eacott received a check for $35.00 from the sponsors of the contest and she also received a check for $100.00 from Universal Mills of Fort Worth for having made such a splendid record on the Red Chain feeding program. If these winnings are added to Mrs. Eacott's income, the net per hen per month will be increased to 68.5 cents.

STEEN HARDWARE BURGLARIZED HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Gaining entrance into Steen Hardware by opening a skylight on top of the back of the building and letting himself down by a rope, a buglar helped himself to about $40 or $50 worth of horse riding materials, opened the back door and walked out.

He got nothing else — which was probably the reason the finger of suspicion pointed directly to a wild horse rider who lives here. The sheriff's department recovered the materials early Wednesday morning, the man confessing. He also said he had broken into the hardware store several weeks ago.

Listed among items taken Tuesday night were a bride, spurs, saddle cinch, bits, etc.

WILDLIFE UNIT STUDYING DOVES

College Station, Sept. 23 (SpI)—An appeal is being made to Texas hunters to send mourning dove wings to the Texas Cooperative Wildlife Unit, Texas A. and M. College, College Station. From these wings it is possible for wildlife technicians to determine how many of the birds were hatched this past summer, and thereby know if a successful nesting season occurred.

Texans Want Annual Session By Legislature With No Pay Raise

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll
Austin, Sept. 12—A storm is brewing over the double-barreled proposal for higher pay and annual sessions for the Texas Legislature.

This proposal is one of ten constitutional amendments to be voted on in a special election November 8.

A group of Dallas businessmen is fighting the amendment because, among other reasons, it includes two questions instead of one. They argue voters should have the right to ballot separately on the two questions. They have vowed to spend $50,000, if necessary, in a campaign against its adoption.

If voters did ballot separately on the two questions, the likelihood is that annual sessions would be approved and the pay raise would be defeated. This was indicated by a statewide survey by The Texas Poll last May, which showed eight out of every ten voters tended to favor annual sessions, while only two out of every ten felt members of the legislature were underpaid.

What about both questions together?

The Texas Poll has just completed a statewide survey in which the following two-pronged question was put to a cross section of the adult population:

"One of the constitutional amendments to be voted on in November would raise the pay of state legislators to $3,600 a year and make the legislature meet every year. Does this sound to you like a good idea, or not?"

Qualified	All
Voters	Adults
Good idea	56% 50%
Not such a good idea	30 30
No opinion	14 20
	100% 100%

The fact that a majority of voters say the annual-session-and-higher-pay proposal sounds like a good idea does not necessarily mean it will win approval in the November election. Campaigning will probably have a decisive effect, because not many people now have strong opinions on the amendment. As a matter of fact, a statewide poll completed in early July showed less than one per cent of the voters could recall this as one of the amendments that had been submitted by the Legislature.

Two other important factors should be considered:

1. In a special election, statewide turnout is usually very small. One or two counties, because of a well-directed local campaign for or against a proposal, may make their votes count way out of proportion to their potential in the total electorate. For example, in the 1947 election on the college building amendment, Lubbock County had more weight in the election than Travis, a county with more than three times as many qualified voters. What happened was that the turnout in Lubbock was 53 per cent, while in Travis it was only 11 per cent. Lubbock was strongly—and actively—opposed to the amendment, while Travis was strongly in favor.

2. Many persons vote blindly, at least on some issues in an election, according to other surveys by The Texas Poll.

The official ballot in the November election does not explain the annual-sessions-and-higher-pay amendment, thus increasing the chances of blind voting. On the official ballot, the proposal is merely identified as "the constitutional amendments relative to sessions of the Legislature and to compensation of its members." Any voter may mark the ballot "for" or "against" the proposal even though he doesn't know its provisions.

This point is made here because in the latest survey, interviewers for The Texas Poll explained to each person interviewed that the amendment would raise legislators' salaries to $3,600 a year and would require annual sessions. The Poll, therefore, does not take into account the possible effect of blind voting in the election.

Mrs. Olney Kelly and baby of Brownwood visited here recently with her mother, Mrs. Woodard and her brother, Billie and Mr. and Mrs. Kelly out at Pleasant Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Allen Jr. and sons of Houston were here over the week end as guests of Walter Fairman.

TRADE SCHOOLS OPEN TO MARINES

Although the quota for a three year enlistment has been limited for the month of September, Marine Master Sergeant M. D. Free, in charge of the Waco Office stated today his office has been assured that all qualified applicants may be enlisted without any delay or being placed on a waiting list. For the past two months the quotas for first enlistments have been filled the early part of the month and applicants were placed on a waiting list for enlistment the following month.

The sergeant stated that military instruction is only one phase of Marine training. In addition to learning military duties thoroughly, a Marine may select one of the 60 trade schools to learn a specialty. Trade schools such as aviation, diesel engines, radio, telephony, telegraphy and stenography are but a few of schools available to Marines.

The Marine Corps in following its traditional policy of taking care of its own, continues to maintain an unlimited quota for eligible Marine reenlistees.

paid experts and are padded with large slush funds. Kiplinger estimates the LLPE will have five million dollars to use next year to "educate" the voters on why they should support certain candidates for Congress to their liking. And the CIO-PAC is in a drive for an even bigger fund for use in the 1950 Congressional campaigns.

This Big Labor activity has caused some veteran observers here to speculate that the 1950 Congressional elections may furnish the big test of whether we are moving in the near future to a real Labor-Socialist government in this country.

While some measures advocated by the Union business agents are very desirable, at the same time it is pointed out many of them veer strongly toward the present British system. Most of them advocate socialized medicine, more and more socialized housing, anti-segregation laws, higher taxes, a return of OPA, the passage of civil rights legislation, and more Government in business.

The proposed repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act was put on the top of "must" legislation at the beginning of this year, but the advocates of no control over labor union activities took a sound licking in the first skirmishes in the House and Senate. Earlier in the year the House by a rather close margin of 217-to-203 voted against the repeal, while the Senate passed a slightly watered-down substitute for the Taft-Hartley law.

Now the union leaders have announced an all-out campaign to defeat what they term "reactionary die-hards" who have dared vote to retain any control or regulation over labor unions.

In this all-out drive for control of Congress, labor's political experts are already choosing their candidates and oiling their guns for the 1950 election battles. Speaking of the strategy to be followed, one authority says: "Over and above all will be the technique of printed propaganda. Millions of leaflets will be distributed. Labor's pamphleteers are expert, able to turn out punchy prose in smart simple fashion. . . . Aside from such hoopla, labor plans a further big step—to hand-pick its candidates wherever possible."

Much of such activity in the past has been behind the scenes. Rarely do they come out in the open. In some non-industrial districts, to sponsor a candidate openly might actually do more harm than good and they are smart enough to know that. It is all a matter of modernized political strategy.

IN MEMORY

Josar Jackson Casbeer, better known to all of us as "Uncle Joe" was born at Lampasas, Texas, January 31, 1863 and died in the hospital at Brownwood, Sunday, Sept. 18, 1949, at the age of 86 years, 7 months and 17 days.

Funeral services were conducted at the Church of the Nazarene here, Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock by the Rev. R. M. Hocker, the pastor, assisted by Rev. B. F. Renfro. Interment was in Center City Cemetery. Songs sung at the services were: "No Disappointment in Heaven," "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be," "Empty Mansions," and "I'll Live On," "Uncle Joe" since young manhood had lived a Christian life every day.

Uncle Joe moved to Center City when he was about 14 years of age, where he lived until 1939, when he moved to Goldthwaite.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. A. M. Casbeer and daughter, Zella, also by his second wife, Mollie A. Casbeer, an infant and two other daughters, Susie Evelyn and Ora.

He leaves 10 children: Mrs. Dollie Letbetter of Kingman, Arizona, Clayton Casbeer of Victoria; Mrs. Chester Ford of Florence, Mrs. H. E. Long of Sildell, Mrs. Mark Holland, San Saba, Mrs. Tas Renfro, Goldthwaite, Olen Casbeer, Corpus Christi, Tot Casbeer of Goldthwaite; Mrs. Buddy Shelton, Goldthwaite; Mrs. Rose Dell Roche, Petrolia, Pa.; one step son, Jack Jones of Galveston; twenty-six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren and a host of friends to mourn his departure.

You cannot say, you must not say
That he is dead—he is just away!
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
So think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
Think of him still as the same and say:
He is not dead—he is just away!

Gov. Allan Shivers Has Big Lead Now In Next Year's Governor's Race

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

Austin, Sept. 26—Even if ex-governor Coke Stevenson and W. Lee O'Daniel were to enter the race, Texas voters today believe youthful Governor Allan Shivers should be elected next year to continue in the office he assumed when Beauford Jester died.

In a statewide survey of qualified voters, The Texas Poll finds that Shivers is favored over eight other possible candidates combined, including Stevenson and O'Daniel. The survey was completed before Shivers announced, while on a recent trip to Mexico, that he would be in the 1950 race for governor.

Stevenson has said he might run. O'Daniel hasn't said, but some observers think he might be planning to try a comeback next year.

In a trial heat between Shivers and Stevenson alone, The Texas Poll finds Shivers now is a better than two to one favorite. Against O'Daniel, Shivers does even better than that. He polled a 78 per cent majority over O'Daniel in this survey.

Voters' opinions on the governor's race were sounded out by trained interviewers in all parts of the state, with these questions:

1. "These men may run for governor of Texas next year. Which one do you think would make the best governor?"

Qualified Voters	Percentage
Allan Shivers	48%
Coke Stevenson	13%
W. Lee O'Daniel	10%
Caso March	4%
Olin Culbertson	3%
Price Daniel	3%
L. A. Woods	3%
Bascom Giles	2%
Charles B. Hutchison	1%
No opinion	13%

2. "Suppose Allan Shivers and Coke Stevenson were the only ones running for governor, which one would you favor?"

Qualified Voters	Percentage
Favor Shivers	66%
Favor Stevenson	24%
Favor neither	2%
No opinion	8%

3. "Well, Suppose Allan Shivers and W. Lee O'Daniel were the only ones running for governor, which one would you favor?"

Qualified Voters	Percentage
Favor Shivers	78%
Favor O'Daniel	16%
Favor neither	1%
No opinion	5%

In asking the first question, interviewers showed each voter a card listing the names of the nine prospective candidates. Order of the names was rotated so that no candidate would have a preferred position on the ballot-like card.

The 48 per cent received by Shivers against the field is more than twice the strength he polled in a comparable survey before he was elevated from lieutenant-governor to governor.

The earlier poll, taken just one week before Governor Jester's death, showed Shivers with 21 per cent, Attorney General Daniel in second place with 13, Railroad Commissioner Culbertson with 10, State Superintendent Woods with 8, Land Commissioner Giles with 8, State Senator Carlos Ashley with 1 and March making his third race for governor, with 5. The remaining 37 per cent had no opinion.

The names of Stevenson and O'Daniel were not included in the earlier poll because at that time they were not being publicly discussed as prospective candidates.

Had O'Daniel's name been added in the earlier survey, it is indicated he will run again. He was a minor candidate in the 1948 Democratic primary for governor. The name of Senator Ashley was removed since he is no longer considered a candidate for governor.

NOT THE ADVERTISER, because advertising always returns a profit when it is used correctly and consistently.

Every line of advertising in our paper is paid for by the FELLOW WHO DOESN'T ADVERTISE! The business which the non-advertiser loses pays the cost of advertising, and ALSO returns a nice profit to the fellow who DOES ADVERTISE!

The merchant who does not advertise IS THE MAN WHO PAYS for advertising. He pays for it in the volume of business he loses—in the number of customers who buy elsewhere.

Good advertising does not cost. GOOD ADVERTISING PAYS! It brings back the original investment and profit dollars, too. Almost every store wants more business than it is getting. Hoping for more business is not as effective as inviting more business.

Advertising SAVES Money

Every once in a while somebody comes into our office and starts a discussion about the COST of advertising... not only in the but in newspapers, magazines and the radio generally... but, honestly, in our humble opinion advertising, particularly WEEKLY newspaper advertising, used intelligently and frequently, doesn't cost money at all.

(Rather it helps move merchandise faster, permits distribution economies, provides for mass production and mass sales and ultimately lower prices, with savings both for the consumers, sellers, distributors, wholesalers and manufacturers.)

Take for example the classic case of the nationally-advertised light bulb. It costs only one-fourth as much now as it did for an inferior one in 1923. Again, in 1929 the average radio set cost $135 and only a few thousand people were proud owners. Now an average set sells for about $40 with ownership in the millions. And so it goes. Mass production, spurred on by judicious advertising, has brought prices down.

Advertising pays... pays large dividends in your WEEKLY

"I have some good reports to tles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Nelson, San

Calling at the Jim Wilmeth home in Brownwood Friday, we found Mrs. Wilmeth still quite seriously ill. Since the Sunday before it had been necessary to have a nurse with her day and night, Friday the doctor thought she might be able to get along without a nurse. She has neighbors who never let her lack for attention.

The turkeys belonging to Charlie Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Egger, true to their turkey characteristics, are dealing miserably to their owners. They have a tryst at the Briley place every evening where they meet and mix up together and dare anyone to separate them and get them back to their respective homes.

At a popular eating place in Brownwood last week we met our good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Parks from Locker. Mrs. Parks told me that about three Sundays ago her daughter, Mrs. Sam Boynton, of San Antonio, who used to be my prized pupil, brought her family and her aunt, Miss Velma Lindsey, and their dinner and came to see them. When the Parks got back from Sunday School they were there, and had dinner ready for them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Briley and Mrs. Edna Dwyer had dinner and a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reeves Sunday after church. Stanley said that though they were about through with fruit harvesting and corn hauling, there is still no let up in work in sight. For next comes peanut harvest, and after that pecan gathering will keep him busy the rest of the year. He went down in the river bottom a few days ago to see about the pecans. He found the natives lapping their branches with their loads. He also said their cattle look like they are corn fed since they turned them in on the Bermuda pasture in the river bottom.

In that brief journey from the school house to the Reeves home, about two miles, we were reminded, rather pathetically, of the changes in our community. There was the old Crowder house, built in 1889 where the four Crowder boys grew up, standing desolate and forlorn. A little farther on was another house that had housed the younger Crowders, used now to house feed. Upon the hill was the Griffin house, where grew up a family of nine, now vacant and unused. Farther down the lane was the Kelly house that had sheltered a house full of children with half brothers and you 'u' uouqj squared puzs standing battered and empty and unlivable. And besides these in this same distance there used to be the Ed Crowder house on the hill and the Frank Dyer house by the side of the road, each with its half dozen children. The Hawthorne tank brought memories of the crowds who used to gather there for Saturday evening ball games. For years our schoolhouse has stood silent and vacant, bereft of the "feet who once went storming out to playing." And where are the crowds who used to meet for church on Sunday? How pitifully few are those who meet today.

I suppose our higher standard of living has been a factor in these changes. In those days many of us had only shells for houses, no cars, and no conveniences. Now most of us have good houses with almost all city conveniences. But we that remember have a pathetic feeling of bereavement and loneliness.

VET INSURANCE DIVIDEND TO BE PAID BY JUNE 30

Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., disclosed in Washington last week that the top dividend checks to be sent to World War II veterans on their National Life Insurance will be $528. Dividends will start going out in January. He released the formula to be used in distributing the $2,800,000,000 dividend among some 16,000,000 veterans and their dependents and heirs.

The dividend, to be paid before next June 30, is not subject to income tax. Veterans must apply for it, and about three-fourths of them have already done so.

The formula, Gray said, is calculated on the basis of a dividend of 55 cents for each $1,000 of insurance, for each month the policy was in force before its anniversary date in 1948, for all policy-holders who were aged 40 or younger at the time the policy was issued.

For older veterans, the dividend declines gradually until it is 20 cents a month, for each $1,000 of insurance, for veterans 55 and over when the policy was issued.

BURKS ELECTED FFA PRESIDENT 1949-50

Jackie Burks, Goldthwaite High School senior, was elected president of the Goldthwaite Chapter Future Farmers of America in a meeting held Sept. 14, in the newly completed Vocational Agriculture Building.

Burks was elected during a very close runoff between him and his nearest opponent, Jimmy Hays. After his election he received the gavel from retiring vice-president, "Red" Miller, and presided over the rest of the meeting. President Burks has received three years of training in vocational agriculture, during which time he has had some exceptional projects.

Other officers elected were: Jimmy Hays, first vice-president; Vergil Terry, secretary; Billy Harrell Anderson, Treasurer; Fred Smart, Reporter.

All of the necessary committees will be organized in the near future.

Members of the Goldthwaite F. F. A. chapter expect to have some outstanding livestock projects this year. A number of projects were started during the summer, and others will be begun soon. Many of the boys will show their animals in the various live stock shows over the state. Some of them have already won statewide fame for their accomplishments in showing fine animals.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shorn and son, Lorry, and Mrs. Dorothy Crowder attended the Cen-Tex Fair and Rodeo at Temple last Friday night.

"MARINE CORPS BAND"

(Reprinted in Part from July, 1948 Issue "Leatherneck").

When the act of Congress on July 11th, 1798, created the United States Marine Corps, its personnel included a drum major, a fife major, and 32 drummers and fifers. This was the foundation of the present Marine Corps Band, which has continued in unbroken line for 150 years.

One of the finest drummers of that day, William Fair, was appointed drum major, and the recruiting of musicians was given priority by the first commandant, William Ward Burrows.

The Band's first outdoor concert for President John Adams on August 21, 1800, began its reputation of the "President's Own." President Lincoln took the band with him to Gettysburg where he made his immortal address. On October 1, 1880, John Phillip Sousa took over the leadership of the Marine Band and modernized it according to the standards of the day. Under his 12 year guidance much of the reputation for musical excellence was earned. Sousa took the band on for the first time, and his own stirring marches made the name of Sousa and the Marine Band synonymous for fine military music.

William H. Santelmann, father of the present leader, headed the band, when Congress increased the pay and authorized a commission officer to lead the band for the first time on 3 March, 1899. He set a record for term of office—more than 29 years.

In 1927, the elder Santelmann placed the baton in the hands of Captain Taylor Branson, a member of the band from 1898.

The present leader, William F. Santelmann, grew up in the Marine Band and determined to follow in his father's footsteps. He enlisted in the band in 1923 after a thorough schooling in music and advanced through the ranks to the position of leader and captain when Branson retired in 1940. In 1947, by another act of Congress, he was given the rank of major, the highest ever held by a leader of the Marine Band.

The annual tours, except in time of war, have become a national tradition and the Marine Band has played in every state in the Union. Its music has been heard by thousands at every great exposition and world fair since 1893. Every visiting notable and foreign member of royalty has been honored by the appearance of the Marine musicians.

With the emphasis again on the band is appearing more often in their dress and full dress uniforms, providing one of the most spectacular shows of the Marine Corps.

'ROLL CALL' MEETING ADDS 45 MEMBERS

The special "Roll Call" meeting of Boy Scout Troop 45 was held last Monday night at the Educational Building of the Baptist Church and around fifteen new boys were added to the Troop.

Scoutmaster Charles Conradt began the meeting by recognizing the visitors. Nearly all the boys and leaders of Cub Pack 5 were present at the meeting and Pack Master Ben R. Day introduced the Den Mothers and members of the Pack Committee. They were Mrs. Day, Mrs. V. D. Knight, Mrs. Lee Long, Mrs. Beckham, Mr. James Nichols, and Mr. Beckham.

Two members of the Troop Committee Mr. J. A. Hester, and Dr. T. C. Graves and field executive Brantly Hudson conducted the Roll Call and Uniform Inspection of the Troop and Cub Pack. The purpose of the Roll Call was to aid the Local Council office and the National Office of the Boy Scouts to determine just how each Troop stands with regards to its program, membership, and leadership. The Roll Call of the Cub Pack brought out the fact that every boy in the Pack has advanced in rank since the first of the year. The Troop Roll Call indicated that there had been good program activities in the Troop; but that it was low on membership to participate in the program.

However, we feel that this problem was largely solved by the new members recruited Monday night. After the "Roll Call" program Scoutmaster Conradt made a short talk on the activities of the Troop and some of the things he has planned for the Troop this fall. Then he called for any boys who were interested in joining the Troop to raise their hands. There were at least fifteen of the boys who wanted to join. Mr. Conradt then gave out applications to each of these boys and ask that they take them home and have their parents sign them and then return them next Monday night at the regular Troop meeting at the Boy Scout Hut.

After the business portion of the meeting the rest of the evening program was devoted to games and a showing of the Camp Billy Gibbons Movie. The movie was well received by every one and especially by the boys. After the movie, refreshments were served and the boys of the Troop and Cub Pack held a closing Ceremony.

Eagle want ads get results—

Approximately eighty new memberships were welcomed into the Eagle Booster Club recently at a meeting and barbecue supper held at the football field last week. Barbecue was prepared and served by members of the club to two hundred and fifty people. Following the supper several short talks were made by Freddie Marshall, president of the club, W. C. Barnett, Delton Barnett, and Supt. H. E. Patton, after which a demonstration explaining details of football fundamentals, signals, plays, etc., was presented by Coach Wilson Lucas and illustrated by boys of both A and B teams.

The following names are new members of the Club:

OLD MAN 100

now—he's just read where it takes a lot of horse sense to make a stable government. We've got lots Jack-ashes in Congress—so why worry any?

A beautiful girl was being tried in a certain town for killing her husband. The jurors have retired. They know the defendant was guilty but they didn't want to sentence her because of her beauty—yet they feared to face their wives if they didn't. Finally one of the jurors happened to recall that the dead man was an Elk. They brought in this sentence: "Twenty dollar fine for shooting an Elk out of season."

LETTER TO CONGRESS—
One thing it seems Should be tax-free— Alarm clocks are No luxury.

A little girl was telling a new neighbor: "My mother goes to the Baptist Church," when the NN asked, "What denomination does your father belong to?" L. G. "I don't know exactly. He doesn't go to church with mother. Uncle Robert says daddy must be a Seven Day Absentist."

A Swiss minister one Sunday jolted his congregation with this graphic close-up of Hades: "Did you ever see molten iron in a smelting furnace?" The congregation nodded. "Well," roared the minister, "in Hell it's served as ice cream."

Wild oats and old rye usually produce the same kind of crop. It's a mighty good thing for the kinty that most political promises are never kept.
