Seed Harvest Of Scientific Value Depends On Rain

Members of the class in vocational agriculture at the Mills County Vocational School, which is taught by T. F. White, are keeping an anxious eye on the weather these days in hope of being able to produce Mustang oat seeds and Quannah wheat seeds for which there is a crying demand throughout the State of Texas.

If there is no more severe cold and IF there is rain soon, Mr. White said this week, both the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College and the United States Department of Agriculture will be able to look to Mills County for the Mustang oats and Quannah wheat seeds that have become precious.

Mustang oats represent the latest variety to have been produced in Texas. Characterized by more resistance to winter, by high resistance to rust and by adaptability to dry weather, Mustang oats are expected to mean a great deal to the agricultural economy of this state, Mr. White said. Last September members of the class in vocational agriculture at the GI school planted 40 bushels of Mustang oats. A survey this week showed that 20 acres had come through the winter. The seeds are so scarce, according to Mr. White, that if only a quarter of a stand survived, then clover should be planted with it so the stand can be saved and combined for the precious seeds. It is known now that the Mustang oats that were planted last September came through a winter of unusual cold and drought and hope is high that there will be a valuable harvest of seeds worth at least $5.00 per bushel.

Curtis Lawson Wins Scholarship In Judging Contest At Tarleton

Curtis Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lawson, last Saturday won a scholarship to Tarleton State College at Stephenville where, as a representative of the Eagles Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, the Goldthwaite High School, he scored as high point man in poultry judging in a livestock, dairy animal and poultry judging con-(Eagle Photo by Wicker.) test that was preliminary to the Texas State Contest at A. & M. College on May 5.

In last Saturday's contest, the Goldthwaite F. F. A. livestock judging team took second place in Area IV, thereby qualifying for the competition at College Station on May 5. Harvey Parker emerged from the Stephenville contest as third high point man in livestock judging. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parker.

Redistricting Puts Mills County In 16th With Sen. Carlos Ashley

Redistricting by the Texas Legislature has placed Mills County in the 16th Senatorial District with the result that Carlos Ashley of Llano is to be this County's State Senator in place of Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo.

In a letter to the Eagle this week from Austin Senator Ashley wrote as follows:

"I am happy, indeed, that the Senate saw fit to create a district whose people have so many common interests, and where folks talk and trade in the same language.

"You will observe that there

Other members of the Goldthwaite livestock judging team at Stephenville were Bill Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Parker, and John Carothers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Carothers.

The Goldthwaite contestants were accompanied to Stephenville by Y. B. Johnson, Jr., Advisor to the Eagles Chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

The Goldthwaite livestock judging team came home with a blue and gold banner that was awarded to the second place winners and Curtis Lawson came home with a scholarship certificate which he won as the very top man in poultry judging in all of Area IV, a plaque will be awarded to Harvey Parker in recognition of his accomplishment in placing third in Area IV in livestock judging.

So far this year the Goldthwaite F.F.A. judging teams have acquitted themselves well in competition at the Fitzsimmons Ranch near Llano, at Coleman and in the contest at Stephenville last Saturday. Now, Mr. Johnson said, the livestock judging team is pointing for the May 5 competition at College Station, where the very best talent from all of Texas will vie for honors.

In the competition at Stephenville last Saturday there were approximately 1,250 boys from 53 Counties.

Last year the Goldthwaite livestock judging team placed first in Area IV in the competition at Stephenville. The members of the team last year were James Kemp, Kenneth Wesson and James Tnppen.

is no large city in the area composing the 16th Senatorial District; therefore, each County will have an important voice in its affairs.

"I want you and the people of Mills County to know that my desires were expressed to the Senate, and I personally appreciate the friendship of the members who so graciously carved out the 16th Senatorial District in its new form.

"Hoping that the new District is equally pleasing to the citizens of Mills County, and with kindest personal regards, I am

Window Washing At Court House

"Guests" from the Mills County jail this week washed windows at the Court House. The window washing, of course, was started in the office of Sheriff C. F. Stubblefield. So far as the records show the current effort to make the Court House windows gleam is the first since away back last year when Precinct 1 Commissioner Jess Y. Tullos gallantly relieved Mrs. V. A. Hudson from the perilous chore of letting light come through the glass over the north entrance to the Court House.

After the window washing Deputy Sheriff Clyde Cockrum presented the "guests" from the jail with paint brushes and paint. They went to work on some Court House painting, starting, of course, in the Sheriff's office.

Sheriff Requests Early Renditions At Court House

Sheriff-Tax Assessor-Collector C. F. Stubblefield this week emphasized the necessity of prompt renditions to his office at the Mills County Court House.

Many assessment blanks have been delivered personally by Deputy Sheriff Clyde Cockrum and in cases where he failed to locate those from whom he sought renditions, Sheriff Stubblefield sent a letter asking for the listing of personal property and for notations of any changes in real estate holdings since last assessments.

Office Deputy John L. Patterson pointed out the importance of making renditions personally at the office of the Sheriff-Tax Assessor-Collector for those who wish to protect their homestead exemptions.

"In such cases renditions must be made personally at the Sheriff's office at the Court House," Mr. Patterson said. All property should be listed as of January 1 of this year, he added.

Representatives of the Tax Assessor-Collector's office who will aid in obtaining assessments in various communities throughout Mills County have been or will be appointed, Sheriff Stubblefield said.

Trent State Bank Has Good Statement

A bank call last week showed that at the close of business on April 9, deposits in the Trent State Bank of Goldthwaite were $2,625,747.17 — a figure which Vice President Warren P. Duren said was higher than it had been for a considerable time. The statement of the financial condition of the Trent State Bank showed loans and undivided profits of $59,898.44. The bank's complete statement of its financial condition as of April 9 as published in an advertisement elsewhere in this week's Eagle.

Central Texas Telephone Co-op Now Ready For Engineers' Work

President Willis A. Hill of the Central Texas Telephone Cooperative said this week that an engineering survey of the nine-County area that is to be served by the newly-created organization is imminent and may, in fact, be started before the end of this month.

Mr. Hill said that the officers and directors of the Co-op, which is to provide dial telephone service in a vast rural area from headquarters in Goldthwaite, have received most encouraging communications from the telephone division of the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington.

Following the sending of completed maps and charts to Washington, the R. E. A. ordered its engineers to make their survey in the area that is to be served by the Central Texas Telephone Cooperative as quickly as possible.

"We believe that the engineering survey will actually get started any day now," Secretary Ernest E. Wilson of the Co-op said.

Mr. Wilson said that the office of the Co-op on Fourth Street, east of Fisher Street in Goldthwaite, has been opened for a limited number of hours every business day with Mrs. Delton Barnett in charge. He said that a number of persons had worked with Mrs. Barnett on the task of preparing maps and charts for the R. E. A., and that their efforts were responsible for recent orders which, in effect, have served to speed up the engineering survey.

Mr. Wilson gave grateful recognition to the following:

County Judge Lewis B. Porter, Mrs. V. A. Hudson, Mrs. Everett Holland, Linouise Dellis, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Ford, Charles Ford, and Mr. Sanders of the Hamilton County R. E. A.

More than 50 detailed maps of the area to be served by the Co-op were prepared in triplicate and were checked and doubled-checked, Mr. Wilson said. He recently made a trip to Abilene, where he conferred with General Electric officials to make certain that equipment for the Central Texas Telephone Cooperative would be available. Assurances of availability were given to Mr. Wilson.

Also recently, officers and directors of the Co-op conferred in San Saba and reached an agreement in principle with the United Telephone Company, a Bell subsidiary, thereby considerably advancing the planning for the Co-op.

Preparatory to the engineering survey, maps that have been prepared show every house in the area to be served by the Co-op. They show power lines, telephone stations and existing telephone lines.

Mr. Wilson added that a survey of the type of service to be involved in the future operations of the Central Texas Telephone Cooperative already has been completed and has met with the approval of representatives of the telephone division of the Rural Electrification Administration.

Cowgirl Band Presents Big Show At Goldthwaite School Gym May 1

Some of the best entertainment ever to come to Goldthwaite will be available to everybody at one o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday, May 1, when the Cowgirl Band of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene will present a variety program at the School Gymnasium for the benefit of the Treasury of the Goldthwaite School Band.

Admission will be 15 cents for school children and 25 cents for adults. Superintendent of Schools H. E. Patton said this week.

The band has a membership of 45 girl musicians. Featured attractions include accordion music by Mary Jane Smith, an exhibition of twirling by Norma Kniffen, who holds two national championships; and a trombone trio. The western costumes of the Cowgirl Band include purple skirts and blouses with gold ties and the girls wear cowboy boots. The band is under the direction of H. Boyce Jordan.

One of the most spectacular acts of the entire program will be twirling by Miss Kniffen, who can twirl one baton or two with equal facility. She is noted for uncanny precision, speed, originality and showmanship. She does Swiss flag routines and performs fire drills in which the ends of her baton are padded, soaked with kerosene, and ignited.

Everybody will be welcome to the big show at the School Gymnasium at one o'clock on the afternoon of May 1, Mr. Patton said.

There will be a Singing next Sunday afternoon at the Littleville Baptist Church in Hamilton.

GENERAL MacARTHUR COMES HOME

We believe that again this week General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur will render distinguished service to his country when, in response to an invitation to address the members of Congress, he will deal with the grave crisis in the Far East—where the continuing menace of defiant, imperialistic Communism cannot be countered by the vague generalizations and contradictory floundering of both the White House and the Department of State.

The outburst of anger that followed President Truman's summary dismissal of General MacArthur last week was not only a tribute to a clear-thinking, high-minded American—it was also a spontaneous signal by literally millions of our people that they want to hear about the confusion in Asia from a man who knows the score. He is, of course, General MacArthur.

President Truman has spoken about American "policy" in the Far East. If there is any such thing, then it appears to many of us as a policy of appeasement and a willingness to be led around by the nose by the British Foreign Office, India and other selfish interests that do not represent American interests. In his own speech to the nation the President did not deal with the issues in Asia. He charged General MacArthur with starting World War III in the Far East, but he did not back up his charges. In fact, he ignored the White House and State Department actions of last June when General MacArthur, without having been consulted, was ordered to fight a war with limitations upon his resources so strict that even now, ten months afterward, there are all too many signs that if the United Nations stands for anything it stands for granting rewards to the very aggressors it was organized to combat.

During the past week or ten days there has been a flood of nonsense in the United States. It has included demands for the impeachment of the President, who was entirely within his constitutional rights in firing General MacArthur. In this country a President cannot be impeached either for lack of judgment or for steps that make vast segments of the public lose confidence in him. Some of the nonsense has included the pious statements that the policies of the United States ought not to be shaped by military men. They overlook the fact that our Secretary of National Defense, General of the Armies George C. Marshall, is and always has been purely and simply a military man throughout his mature years. Much of the nonsense to which the American people have been treated by the Administration in Washington has sought to avoid responsibility for the Red conquest of China—which was brought about by policies that were shaped by Henry A. Wallace when, as Vice President, he was sent to China by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, and by General Marshall who, for a solid year, stayed the hand of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek against the Communists. Many lesser but pro-Communist State Department employees and advisors to the White House played effective parts in creating in the Far East a situation so advantageous to the aggressive program of the Kremlin that the record makes it impossible for Americans to avoid facing facts any longer.

The facts of the crisis in Asia are known to General MacArthur, who never has been motivated by other than a desire to serve the best interests of his country. Although the outcry by those who have faith in him has been noisier than anything that has been heard by most of us in a long time, there still are those who follow the Administration blindly and supinely. They, above all, should be the ones to listen carefully and honestly to General MacArthur this week so that out of the existing confusion there may come understanding and awareness that he was not talking out of his hat when former Ambassador to Russia William C. Bullitt said that if China became engulfed by Communist imperialism "we may as well count our sons as dead." The Chinese Reds have killed young Americans by the thousands since they became aggressors in Korea and this country is in a tizzy now because General MacArthur, as an acknowledged military authority, offered a plan to win a war that obviously those who disagree with him do not know how to end except by rewarding aggression.

During many years of residence in the Far East in the course of which his business was the recording of living history day by day, the writer of this editorial saw brewing the storm in which we now are caught up. He prays this week that the opponents, as well as the supporters, of General MacArthur will listen and learn as a great man speaks from his mind and heart.

NEWS OF WASHINGTON

(Editor's Note: The following editorial was written for the Scripps Howard newspapers, which are published north, south, east and west in the United States, following the speech that was broadcast by President Truman on Wednesday night of last week. We reprint the editorial, entitled, "Truman Defends Appeasement, a Policy Without Hope," as a contribution toward sound public thinking on the facts of the crisis that confronts us.)

President Truman last night called the war in Korea "a struggle for peace." But his speech was in fact a defense of appeasement.

He said the Communists in the Kremlin are engaged "in a monstrous conspiracy to stamp out freedom all over the world."

But his only answer to that threat was a limited war in which a ruthless enemy will continue to enjoy all the advantages of initiative.

He implied that the peace-loving nations had united to defeat aggression in Korea. But that it not the case. The United States has 250,000 ground troops in Korea. No other member of the United Nations has more than 5 per cent of that number there. Most members have contributed nothing.

This is not collective action against aggression. It is little more than the action of a single nation—the United States. And our own part has been less than wholehearted, for our troops have been sent into battle with restraints on their freedom of action.

That is no way to win a war, and nothing Mr. Truman said offered any hope of winning the war.

Mr. Truman said the whole Communist imperialism, headed by the Soviet Union, was behind the attack on the peace in the Far East.

There can be little doubt about that.

The best chance of stopping this aggression without what he termed a "general war," the President said, "is to meet the attack in Korea and defeat it there."

That was General MacArthur's position, too.

But our limited military efforts are not calculated to defeat this attack, and that is where Mr. Truman and General MacArthur parted.

There are signs that the enemy is building up his ground forces for a new mass offensive," Mr. Truman acknowledged. But he did not say that the United Nations forces are being reinforced to meet this attack, for that is not being done.

Because of this neglect, the UN forces, awaiting enemy attack, are like sitting ducks.

This was one of the major issues between the President and General MacArthur.

Nothing the President said last night offered any alternatives to any of General MacArthur's recommendations.

Meanwhile, quite contrary to Mr. Truman's view that "men all over the world who want to

The Eagle's Aery By The Editor

Where is the geographical center of Texas? The question is raised this week because E. H. "Old Hap" Hapgood of Rancho Nueces in Big Valley either has, or is about to, claim that the geographic center of Texas is down among his pecan trees on Rancho Nueces. If he has not already done so, Old Hap is going to drive a stob into the land on his ranch and then point to it as the exact center of Texas.

Forgetting that the editor is only on his second year in Texas, Mr. Hapgood asked the Eagle's Aery for information on this controversial issue. The editor does not know so, in behalf of Old Hap, he intends to ask Governor Shivers to settle the matter. It will at least take the Governor's mind inland and away from the tidelands.

The editor has been told that Center City in Mills County is the true center of Texas. He has been told, also, that the geographic center of this fabulous State is between Lometa and Lampasas. He has been told, further, that the exact center of Texas is at or near Brady. It all seemed to be very confusing until Old Hap decided that he would drive a stob on Rancho Nueces and make his claim with a blithe disregard for any other claims. "Anyway," said Old Hap, "what's a hundred miles or so down here? I can be just as right as those people at Center City, Lampasas or Brady."

If the word "stob" above is not spelled properly, please don't blame the editor. Old Hap told him that stob was the way to spell stob and that it means a stake. If anybody else has ideas either as to how to spell stob or where the geographic center of Texas is located the editor will be glad to receive all claims and then submit them to Governor Shivers so that the decks may be cleared, once and for all, of at least one more controversy.

Speaking of decks, the Eagle has heard directly from our Franklin Dew Weathers for the first time since he arrived on March 25 at the U.S. Navy's Training Center at San Diego, California. On note paper that is adorned with the crossed anchors and the winging eagle of the Navy, our Franklin wrote as follows:

"I am getting the Eagles and they are really a lot of company. Thanks a lot for that write-up. It was a killer. Life in the Navy is not too hard all the time—just at times. I had to march today. I thought it was seven or eight miles. But it wasn't. We will go to advanced training in about a week. I received a letter from Pearl Crawford. I didn't know what to think. She asked me out to her house to eat watermelon this summer. Tell the whole crew hello for me and tell that sweet little girl Earlene to write. (Signed) A. Hand, Franklin Dew Weathers."

Okay, Franklin, the message has duly been delivered to Miss Nix. But how about Myrlene? Her father, Fred D. Reynolds, was in the Eagle office the other day and he said that Miss Myrlene was hearing from San Diego two or three times a day. The Eagle staff held a hurried and informal conference on the statement by Mr. Reynolds and came to the conclusion that either he was exaggerating or you, Franklin, had changed.

Mr. And Mrs. Mark Fairman Make Kermit Their Home After Wedding

Miss Jeanne Thomas and Mark Fairman were married at 6:00 p. m., Saturday, April 7, at the home of the bride's parents in Lockney. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. J. Cobb, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lockney.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sid B. Thomas, Sr.,

MR. AND MRS. FAIRMAN of Lockney. Mr. Fairman, who resided at Pecos, is the son of Mrs. Lucile Fairman of Goldthwaite.

Vows were exchanged before an altar banked with tall baskets of white and yellow gladioli, stock and greenery. Candelabra flanked either side of the altar. Two baskets of lilies, adorned with yellow bows, were placed on the mantle, and a basket of greenery helped form the background at the fireplace. A blue satin bench was used for kneeling.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organza and lace over blue satin. The fitted bodice with puffed sleeves and low neckline was attached to a gathered skirt, ending in a wide ruffle edged with nylon lace. Lace also decorated the sleeves, neck and a panel at the front of the skirt. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion edged in lace fell from a band of orange blossoms. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of white gladioli, centered with baby orchids on top of a white Bible, flowing with satin streamers.

Her "something old" was the orange blossoms which held her mother's wedding veil. Something new were pearls, a gift from the groom, and something borrowed were pearl earrings belonging to the matron of honor.

Reba Burleson of Pecos, roommate of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Bill Wesley of Lockney was matron of honor. They wore yellow organdy gowns fashioned with a fitted bodice, full skirt and wide sash bows. Jonita Ferguson, flower girl, wore a pink organdy frock. The attendants carried fan shaped bouquets of yellow and orchid gladioli on green maline with satin streamers.

Mary Jones and Sid B. Thomas, brother of the bride, of Lockney, lighted the candles. Miss Jones wore orchid organdy with a corsage of yellow and orchid gladioli.

Mrs. E. G. Ross of Goodlett, first music teacher of the bride, played Schubert's Serenade as a prelude. Bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the processional. She accompanied Sid B. Thomas, Jr., who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Traumerl by Schumann was played during the ceremony.

Bill Carrico of Pecos served as best man and Bill Wesley ushered.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Ross secured names for the register.

The bride's table, laid with a white cut-work cloth over blue, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked by blue tapers in crystal holders. Arrangements of gladioli completed the dining room decorations. Blue napkins lettered in silver bore the names Jeanne and Mark. Mrs. F. A. Zedrow, aunt of the bride, served cake. Miss Burleson and Mrs. Wesley poured.

For going away the bride chose a natural colored shantung suit trimmed with navy and navy accessories. Her corsage was baby orchids. The couple is at home at Kermit. She is a graduate of Lockney High School and of Baylor University and is now employed as teacher in Pecos schools. Mr. Fairman is a graduate of Goldthwaite High School and attended Texas University and A. & I. He is connected with the Department of Public Safety.

Out of town guests included the groom's mother, Mrs. Lucile Fairman, Goldthwaite.

Goldthwaite Lions Give Lometa Very Big Time On Monday Night

Returning a recent visit, 23 members of the Goldthwaite Lions Club last Monday night met at Lometa with the Lions Club there and from all accounts there was a riotous time, in the course of which the Goldthwaite delegation made matters completely square with their Lometa hosts. Present also for the big night were 28 Lometa Lions and six visitors.

Lion Tamer Shorty Burris and Tail Twister Leonard Archer of the Goldthwaite Club did a fine job of work during the breaking of bread, with the result that some neckties no longer are fit for wear and some Lometa Lions are poorer than they were.

Norman Duren was Toastmaster for the evening. The program on which he rode herd included some group singing, led by Ben R. Day, but even the Toastmaster confessed there was not much music to it. Songs also were presented by the "Smelly Creek Boys" of Goldthwaite. Their individual titles ran into censorship but it can be recorded that the songsters were the Rev. Ed H. Lovelace, Dr. T. C. Graves, Ben R. Day, Dennis D. Tate, Leonard Archer, John L. Gwin, John Jackson, and President Charles Conrad of the Goldthwaite Lions Club.

With tricks of legerdemain, Howard Campbell was the headliner of the program. He demonstrated remarkable prowess at reading Lometa minds and for some time he had a neighboring citizen deeply worried as Mr. Campbell beat broken eggs in a Lometa hat. Only when the stunt was all over did Magician Campbell disclose a cellophane lining which, unseen by the audience, he had slipped into the hat.

Truck Driver Sydney Brooks Tells Pat, 2, About Life In Army

Sydney Brooks, 20, son of Mrs. George D. Brooks of Valley, has been in the army for two months and, with a few words rhyme, given expression to the able right of the G. I. truck driver at Fort Jackson, Carolina, Sydney is re-educating from the Goldthwaite High School in 1949, has read some verses to his father, to Mrs. Horace, the former Hazel Tippen, their daughter Pat, who is writing his rhyming about the Army, Sydney is re-educating his Dad as a cheerful at Fort Jackson he has a 35 ton tank, which a crew of five. He wrote Hazel and Pat that he got sweated up a lot in and out of my tank. It is supposed to get in five seconds — and again in five seconds." In latest letter he added "has qualified as an ex- marksman with a sub-ma- gun and a carbine and is a sharp-shooter with pistol. There is the poetry from written on April 10 to Hazel and Pat." The it comes to a title is, author's own words, is what I think of this just across the Ohio

Fort Jackson is the spot, Where we are doomed to spend our time In the land that God forgot. Down where there's snakes and lizards, Down where a man gets blue, Right in the middle of nowhere, A thousand miles from you. We sweat and freeze and shiver, It's more than a man can stand. We are not supposed to be convicts; Just defenders of our land. We are statistics of the Third Army, Earning our measly pay, Guarding our people's millions For two and a half a day. Living with our memories, And waiting for our gals, Hoping that while we're waiting That they won't marry our pals. Nobody knows we are living, Nobody gives a damn. At home we are forgotten, We belong to Uncle Sam. The time we spend in the Army, The time of our lives we have missed. Boys, don't let the Draft Board get you And for God's sake, don't enlist. But when we pass through the Pearly Gates You will hear St. Peter yell: Fall out, you boys from Fort Jackson, You have served your time in hell!

 he held, might lead
 al war."

If the war in which we are now engaged is not a "general war," it is at least a major war. Our casualty lists prove that.
 But if it is a third world war the President is thinking about, would not a defeat in Korea, which we are inviting, be more likely to lead to such a war than a show of determination and strength? Weakness usually prompts attack. That was General MacArthur's view when he urged that we hit Red China so hard it would stop asking for trouble.

"What would suit the ambitions of the Kremlin better than for our military forces to be committed to a full-scale war with Red China?" Mr. Truman asked. We would say, an appeasement policy which would give the Kremlin what it wants without fighting, as the British are eager to do in the case of Formosa.

But bombing enemy bases in Manchuria need not lead to a full-scale war. The moment Red China backed out of the war our bombers could be recalled. No one, and certainly not General MacArthur, has urged use of American ground troops in Manchuria.

See L. A. Sparkman About Postal Work

L. A. Sparkman, Civil Service Secretary at the Goldthwaite Post Office, announced this week that examinations will be offered soon for a substitute postal transportation clerk. Full information on the examinations to be given by the U. S. Civil Service Commission may be obtained from Mr. Sparkman.

Mr. Truman said our major objective is to achieve a settlement in Korea which will not "compromise the principles and purposes of the United Nations." What principles?

The United Nations has a standing offer to discuss paying blackmail to buy peace with Red China. What kind of settlement would be more immoral?

This cowardly proposal cannot be defended in the name of peace, nothing could be better calculated to encourage Red aggression than a policy of rewarding aggression.

Finally, Mr. Truman reverted to the subject of collective security. The fighting in Korea, he said, is proving that "collective action among nations is not only a high principle but a workable means of resisting aggression."

Any soldier in Korea knows better.

No nation but our own has given more than token assistance in this war. A roll call of the troops in Korea will show that. And because of that, public confidence in the principle of collective security is being destroyed.

Yet the President's speech gave the impression that he actually believes the war in Korea has the united support of the United Nations!

Social Security Card And Record Questions Asked

James B. Marley, Manager of the Austin office of the Federal Security Agency, this week sent the following questions and answers to Mills County residents. Here is what Mr. Marley wants you to read:

Lost your social security card? Changed your name since you got your card?

Is your card worn out? Do you have more than one number?

A "yes" answer to any of these questions may mean loss of wage credits unless you notify your nearest social security office or the personnel office.

Your name on the payroll should be the same as the one on your social security card. If your name has changed since you got your card simply fill out a "Request for Change in Records" form. You can get this form at the social security office or from the personnel office. A new card will be furnished free. It will show your correct name with your original number.

If your card has been lost or worn out mail the stub to the social security office and a duplicate card will be sent you. If you don't have the stub, you can still get a new card just by filling out an application.

Don't ask for more than one number. If you should have more than one number you might have trouble getting all of the social security benefit payments that will be due to you and your family when you retire at or after age 65. Moreover, your dependent survivors might have trouble getting all of their payments in case of your death.

If you have more than one account number get in touch with your social security office and they will put all your wage credits in one account.

Ralph Nowell of Tarleton State College at Stephenville spent the weekend in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nowell.

Miss Betty Williford moved this week to Waco where she will be employed by the Amicable Life Insurance Company.

Services Sunday At North Bennett

Services will be held next Sunday, starting at ten o'clock in the morning, at the North Bennett Baptist Church with preaching by Brother Bedford Renfro. Following luncheon on the Church grounds services, including a Singing, will continue throughout the day, Brother Renfro said.

Air Force Choice

T/Sgt. D. D. Christensen of the Brownwood Recruiting Station this week advised men contemplating enlistment to act before May, to insure obtaining their choice of service. He based his statement upon information released this week by the Defense Department in Washington which will restrict volunteers in their selection.
