County Agent Reese Warns That Now Is Time To Spray Pecan Worms

May Rain Total 3.5 Inches Here Up To Wednesday

Officially, 3 1/2 inches of rain fell on Goldthwaite during the month of May up to Wednesday afternoon of this week, but actually some parts of both the City and Mills County fared better than that because the heaviest precipitation was not over Harry Allen's Government gauge.

Here is how such anomalies come about: On Monday night of this week, Mr. Allen said, there was an inch of rain in downtown Goldthwaite. But at his home, where the Government gauge sits officially, the Monday night rainfall was measured at .88 of an inch by Mr. Allen. In the C. H. Evans back yard on Fisher Street, Monday night's precipitation totaled 1.25 inches—but on a Sam Henry Rahl gauge!

On Wednesday of last week there were showers but they were recorded only as traces of rain. And on Tuesday night of this week there was another shower but it, too, went into the books only as a trace that was not measured on the gauges.

Mrs. Clementine Wilmet Briley reports that Monday night's rain at Ebony was 1.3 inches. There was even more than that across the line in Brown County, where they really needed all the precipitation they could get.

Roy Lee Hill measured Monday night's rain at .75 of an inch 3 1/2 miles west of Star. He described Tuesday night's rain as a "sprinkle," and then went on to explain that "I got four drops of rain on my back when I went for a walk." Why Mr. Hill was taking a walk so Right now and through Wednesday of next week is the time to spray for the control of nut casebearers or the Pecan borer worm, County Agriculture Agent George G. Reese said this week.

Mr. Reese has been advised by Federal Entomologist C. B. Nickels that May 23 through May 30 is the period this year in which pecan worms are laying eggs and feeding on buds.

"This is when the spray should be applied and at no other time," Mr. Reese said. He made the following spray recommendations:

For control of a severe infestation of the nut casebearer: Benzene hexachloride six per cent (or DDT) three pounds, nicotine sulfate (40 per cent) one pint, plus two quarts of summer oil to 100 gallons of water.

For a medium infestation, omit the benzene hexachloride. In case of rosette or curling of the leaves on the pecan trees, use two to three pounds of zinc sulfate to each 100 gallons of the above casebearer spray solution.

Mr. Reese pointed out that while proper timing of the spray between now and May 30 is essential, it also is important to spray properly. Each limb from the bottom to the top must be wet thoroughly with the spray, he said.

Judge Varnishes

The office of County Judge Lewis B. Porter and the Commissioners Court Room at the Mills County Court House look all slicked up as result of varnish that was applied this week to furniture by none other than His Honor Himself. Ther. W. C. Henry moved in with his vacuum cleaner and really made the quarters worthy of Mrs. V. A. Hudson, Assistant County School Superintendent.

Jennie Trent Dew Library Checks Out 2,033 Volumes Since October

Since the Jennie Trent Dew Library was opened in Goldthwaite last October to serve all of Mills County, the circulation of books has totaled 2,033, according to the first annual report of Mrs. George G. Reese, Librarian. The peak circulation was reached last February when 363 books were drawn from the Library. Last month, April, was Dorothy Weatherby, Hollis P. Ford, Mrs. T. F. Sansom, Virginia Shelton, D. A. Darroch, Ray Holman of Hutto, Mrs. I. Z. Woodard of Brady, the Tuesday Study Club of Goldthwaite, the Goldthwaite Garden Club, Mrs. E. B. Gilliam, Jr., Mrs. J. N. Keese, Mrs. Hope D. Schulze, Mrs. H. R. Ekins, Mary Nichols Hoyle of Graham, Bobby Booker, and Norma Lee Robertson.

The report by Mrs. Reese contained announcement of a decision to permit readers to draw books for a period of two weeks rather than for one week, as in the past. If desired, the report said, books drawn for two weeks may be extended for an additional two weeks upon notification to the Librarian.

On April 10, Mrs. Jim Weatherby, Chairman of the Library Committee, and Mrs. Reese attended a Library Workshop in Burnet to study cataloging and to discuss other library problems with experts and State officials. Other meetings were attended from time to time by members of the local Library Committee, including Mrs. L. E. Miller and County Judge Lewis B. Porter.

A list of new books that are available to Library readers, including those for both adults and children, may be obtained from Mrs. Reese. The Library is open every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoon from 2:30 o'clock until 5:30 o'clock.

Cost Of Football Shown In Report By School Board

Ray Duren, Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Goldthwaite Independent School District, this week released for publication a financial report on the cost of football.

The report, in fact, is a series of reports which include an accounting of funds that were donated by public-spirited citizens, expenditures from the activity fund for football, from the local maintenance fund, football expenses that were paid from the sale of surplus equipment, and receipts and expenses from gridiron games at home and away from home.

In all, the reports show a grand total of receipts adding up to $7,780.83. The net deficit is shown as $2,695.74.

The receipts accounted for by Mr. Duren's reports came from the following sources:

Donated by Football Boosters, $1,351.80.

Received from home games, games away from home and from advertising, $3,257.26.

Cash on hand at the beginning of the 1950-1951 school year, $405.16.

Received from sale of equipment that was surplus after construction of the school gymnasium, $362.34.

Expenditures paid out of Local Maintenance Fund, which receives no proceeds from football games, $1,449.53.

Expenditures from Activity Fund for football, which also receives no proceeds from gridiron games, $954.74.

The above figures add up to total receipts of $7,780.83.

Mr. Duren, Coach Carl Knox and Harmon Frazier, who raised a total of $1,351.80 among Football Boosters late last summer accounted for expenditure

Red Sox To Play Gatesville Here Saturday Night

Mills County baseball fans have proved in the past that they like to see the Goldthwaite Red Sox play Gatesville and they will have another chance to prove it all over again tomorrow night, Saturday, when the Red Sox will take on Gatesville at eight o'clock at the Municipal Ball Park.

So far this season and despite the loss of a number of good players to the Armed Services, the Red Sox have won from Evant by a score of 6 to 5 and from the colorful Austin Palominos by a score of 7 to 2. Now they are set to keep their score in the win column when they take on the visiting ball players from Gatesville on Saturday night.

Red Sox Manager Howard Hoover said that Y. B. Johnson, Jr., will start the game on the mound for Goldthwaite, with Bill Shipp behind the plate.

"Everybody out, it will be a good game," according to Charlie McLean, who was batting as spokesman for Manager Hoover.

Car Wreck Hurts Two Seriously At 3:30 AM Monday

Sheriff C. F. Stubblefield this week urged caution in driving, observance of traffic regulations and respect for rules of the road after a Brownwood trio suffered injuries on north Fisher Street in Goldthwaite in the early hours of last Monday morning. A car, driven by Mrs. R. E. Baldwin of Brownwood, apparently at a high rate of speed, went out of control at the approach to the Arthur Cline home.

It caromed off the curb stone to the west side of Fisher Street, capized on the lawn of the Tom Miller residence, rolled over a couple of times and came to rest, turned turtle, between the Miller and C. A. Womack residences. Dr. M. A. Childress, who was summoned about 3:30 a. m., treated Mrs. Baldwin and Gertrude Bolton for serious injuries and then accompanied them in a Fair-

If A Bird Says "Pretty Baby" To You, Return It To Ira O. Harvey

If a pretty little bird sits on your shoulder, your head or even on your out-stretched finger and startles you by saying "Good morning, Precious," or "Pretty Baby," then please take the little scoundrel without delay to Mr. and Mrs. Ira O. Harvey of Fisher Street in Goldthwaite. The bird, a Budgerigar or Australian parakeet, went A.W.O.L. last week. It was perched on Mr. Harvey's head when he went out of doors and before Mr. Harvey could say "Pretty Baby, Yourself," the bird, named Pat, had soared off in the general direction of Bozar to see what was going on up that way.

About the size of a sparrow, the predominant color of Pat is blue. Its wing feathers are dove-colored and it has white feathers atop its head. Its bill is like that of a parrot only, of course, much smaller.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey acquired Pat while they were in Chicago last winter. It became a beloved member of their household and doted on such callers as Mrs. L. E. Miller. Without Pat, the Harveys are desolate and they have offered a reward for the return of the bird—which really can talk and which delights in human company.

Pat will peck at human ears and otherwise show signs of affection for human-kind. If you find Pat and return him/her to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, you will be making them happier and you will be doing a service to the bird who, by this time, must be thoroughly fed up with fending for itself and with having to put up with the impudence of Texas mocking birds.

4-H Club Boys Awarded Sears Hogs In Contest

This week Mr. Reese also announced the distribution of hogs that were awarded by the Sears Foundation to winners of 4-H Club essay writing contests.

A Sears boar has been awarded to Davis Owens of the Star Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, Mr. Reese said. Gilts were distributed among Armand Zoe Clary of Star, Van Wilson McCasland of Star, Billy Mac Newton of Star, Jack Whittenburg of Mullin, and Leo Reynolds of Goldthwaite.

"WHO'S LOONEY NOW?"

If, as he said at his news conference last Thursday, President Truman had contemplated firing General Douglas MacArthur for a year or so before he actually got around to doing it then why, within that period of a year, did the man in the White House appoint General MacArthur to be Commander-in-Chief of United Nations Forces in Korea?

If President Truman had been thinking about firing General MacArthur for about a year, he must have started thinking about it a year ago. Accordingly, it was while he was making up his mind that President Truman designated General MacArthur to assume the first post of its kind in all history. What kind of leadership is that?

The task of commanding United Nations Forces in Korea carried grave responsibilities. It was handed to General MacArthur in addition to his also very responsible job of being the Proconsul of the Allied Powers in Japan. The command in Korea meant that General MacArthur had to strip Japan of American forces. It meant the planning and execution of military campaigns on the shortest possible notice. It involved the expenditure of young American lives and a tax on the resources of the United States. It was described as a determined effort to stop Red Communist aggression in its tracks. In the face of all that, we now are told by President Truman himself that at the time he placed on the shoulders of General MacArthur responsibility so great that we rarely have asked any man to carry so much—he the President—was thinking of firing the General.

In the course of this month's to-do over American policy in foreign affairs, there was released a letter that President Truman wrote to General MacArthur last January and in which he thanked the General for his services and praised him highly for the way he was doing his job.

On the basis of the President's own statements at his White House news conference last Thursday, it can be accepted that when Mr. Truman wrote his letter of last January to General MacArthur, he still was thinking about firing him. What kind of leadership is that?

Either the President is confident of his ability to kid the customers some more, or the long habits of thinking in Administration circles that have resulted from so many New Deal and Fair Deal years have made it easy to think of "los pobres" as being just so many dopes. The late Franklin Delano Roosevelt was patronizing enough to take the attitude of "Papa knows best," but Harry S. Truman apparently feels that he can ride out any storm on a load of schmalz or malarkey.

Verily, things are tough all over, but the least the American people deserve is to be treated like so many boobs whose intelligences can be insulted at will and by whom. Last Thursday's performance by President Truman at his news conference was a reflection not only on the minds of the American people but it was an affront to the dignity of the office of the highest public servant on the American payroll.

The stories persist that Mr. Truman is dreaming up another of his "whistle stop" campaigns across the country. If so, let the citizens brace themselves against being fed some more of the sort of the pap that was handed out to the news correspondents at the White House last Thursday. Either it was pure hokum or it convicted Mr. Truman, by his own words, of being the sort of executive who would go ahead and hand the most responsible assignment imaginable to a man who was being considered for summary discharge.

When we were young, there was popular the slang expression, "Who's looney now?" Memory keeps bringing that old expression all the way up into the present.

FOOTNOTE TO DAFFYNESS

Last Friday, the day after Mr. Truman had sounded off at his news conference, White House Press Secretary Joseph Short said that the President had not meant what he said. What Mr. Truman meant to have said, according to Mr. Short, was that the President had been thinking of firing General MacArthur after he had made him Commander-in-Chief of United Nations Forces in Korea. Having pondered Mr. Short's back-tracking in behalf of the President, we decided to let our editorial, "Who's Looney Now?" stand as written. We would like to add only H. V. Kaltenborn's recollection of the Biblical quotation: "Set a watch, oh Lord, on my mouth."

GUEST
EDITORIAL

(Editor's Note: Of late, the columnists and commentators have been engaging enthusiastically in speculation over President Truman's political future. Peter Molyneux, writing recently in the Dallas Morning News, had some witty comments on why the machine politicians want Mr. Truman to remain in the White House—indefinitely. Here is the article that is well worth reading.)

BY PETER MOLYNEUX

It may seem surprising that William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and a majority of "Democratic Party leaders" should want President Truman to run again in 1952, but there are good reasons to believe they really do. As a matter of course, they would like Harry Truman to remain in the White House indefinitely, because there have been very few Presidents who have believed so completely in the spoils system and who have put that system into effect so thoroughly.

Chairman Boyle is top man in the "sweetest racket" now operating in this country. Short of the President himself, Boyle has the final say on all Federal jobs, except those strictly under civil service, and he has a big influence over most other Government favors at the disposal of the President. Donald Dawson's place in the setup is little more than that of messenger boy between Boyle and Truman. And "the Democratic Party leaders," to whom Boyle refers, are the national network of politicians who are fellow participants in this super racket.

It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that on the occasion of Mr. Truman's sixty-seventh anniversary Tuesday Boyle should tell him that the "party leaders" want him to run again in 1952. And there is no reason to doubt their sincerity, nor to suspect that Boyle was simply saying what the political chief of the Democrats would be expected to say at this stage of the game.

Boyle told newsmen, after a long conference with Mr. Truman, that the President has not indicated what he will do in 1952. But, he said: "A majority of Democratic leaders have told me that they would like to have him run again. They regard him as the Democratic Party's best bet to win in 1952."

The occasion of Boyle's visit to Mr. Truman suggests one such consideration. It was Mr. Truman's sixty-seventh anniversary. If he should run again he will be older on election day than any successful candidate for the Presidency in this country's history.

William Henry Harrison was 67 years and 9 months old the day he was elected and he died when he was in the office only one month. Andrew Jackson was 65 years and 8 months old the day he was elected to his second term, and James Buchanan was 65 years and 7 months old the day he was elected. There are no others in this class.

Washington Letter

(Editor's Note: Space limitations prevented the publication of Congressman C. C. Fisher's usual Washington Letter last week. The letter, which tells of the death of the Congressman's former Secretary in Korea, follows herewith in full.)

By O. C. FISHER

In late July of last year my assistant, Latham Ables, came in one morning with a teletype message from the Marine Corps. It was orders for active duty and he had but five days to report.

On April 29, on the threshold of a bright and useful career, 2nd Lt. Ables gave his life for his country as he led a Marine platoon against the Communist hordes in Korea.

I last saw Latham in December after he had received orders to report to the West Coast for debarkation. He was happy when it turned out that the trip west would enable him and his charming and lovely wife, Beverly, to stop over in Brownwood for a visit with his mother and also with Beverly's mother in Corpus Christi. Besides, there was the Cotton Bowl game being played in Dallas on January 1st, and he hoped to be able to see that before leaving for the war front.

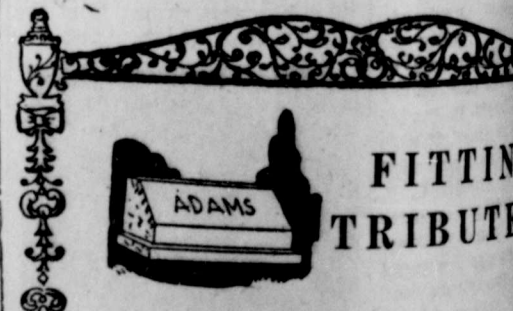

He had been training at Quantico, the home base of the fighting Marines whose achievements on the field of battle have become interwoven with the finest traditions of bravery and gallantry in American military history. "From the Halls of Montezuma to the shores of Tripoli", the dauntless Leathernecks have carried the banner of freedom on scores of battlefields where American interests and the cause of freedom have been challenged. Another chapter in that glorious record has been written by them in the hills and rice paddies of far-away Korea.

Only the writers of history, recording the Korean war from their vantage point can properly appraise the wisdom of our intervention in that conflict. We have all been disturbed by reports of foreign policy bungling in the Far East and possible military blunders there. In a speech to Parliament last December 14, Winston Churchill said: "War is little more than a catalogue of mistakes and misfortunes."

General Ridgway says the Korean conflict may well turn out to be the turning point in the upsurge and challenge of world communism to enslave the free world. If that should turn out to be true, then the supreme sacrifice of Lt. Ables, and the others who have died

"Aunt Maria" Stark To Celebrate 81st Birthday Anniversary May 29

Mrs. J. C. Stark, who was one of the pioneer settlers of what now is Mills County, will celebrate her 81st birthday anniversary on Tuesday of next week at the home of Mrs. Ray Davis in Goldthwaite, where she lives.

"Aunt Maria," as she is known

"AUNT MARIA" STARK

EAGLE PHOTO BY WICKER STUDIO to her friends and neighbors, was born on a farm in Red River, eight miles east of Clarksville. With her parents, the late Terrell and Mattie Roberts, she moved to what now is Mills County in 1876, settling on Brown's Creek at the site where her son-in-law, Joe Davis, lives now. Later her father bought a ranch five miles below Indian Creek, where the family remained until the railroad came through Goldthwaite. At the time only a log cabin marked the site on which Goldthwaite was built.

Many episodes of pioneer days are recalled vividly by Mrs. Stark. One of her uncles, Houston Robert, was killed in strife between cattlemen and thieves, and her own life was threatened. On another occasion her father's life was threatened. Mrs. Stark is a first cousin of the famous Dan Roberts of the Texas Rangers.

Mrs. Stark was one of the first school teachers in Mills County. She recalls that when she taught at the Kelley School her salary was $20.00 a month. She boarded with the W. W. Saylor family.

In 1890 "Aunt Maria" was married to Charlie Stark, who died 13 years ago. They lived in Goldthwaite for 12 years before moving to the Rock Springs community, where Mrs. Stark made her home for 47 years. She lived with her son, J. T., on the family farm until 1949. Then, when her health failed, Mrs. Stark moved into Goldthwaite to live with Mrs. Davis.

Deliver Meadolake End Flaps To Mrs. Weatherby May 30

Mrs. Jim Weatherby, Chairman of the Library Committee of the Goldthwaite Garden Club, is out with a request that all end flaps from Mrs. Tucker's Meadolake margarine be delivered to her by Wednesday of next week at the very latest. Mrs. Weatherby reminded everybody that for each Meadolake end flap the Garden Club will receive five cents. Incidentally, those Meadolake end flaps can be cashed only by an organization such as the Garden Club so, please deliver them promptly to Mrs. Weatherby. Buy all the Meadolake margarine you can use from your grocer and, if you wish, he will deliver the end flaps to Mrs. Weatherby.

Rog Contributes Poem To Help Big Party At Library Night Of June 1

As a contribution to the canasta domino and 42 party that will be held at the Jennie Trent Dew Library on the night of Friday, June 1, R. E. Clements—Rog—has written a poem.

Mr. Clements is an enthusiastic canasta player and, along with Mrs. Jim Weatherby, Chairman of the Library Committee, he hopes that all persons who enjoy not only canasta but other games as well will come from all parts of Mills County for the June 1 party—the proceeds of which will be used for the benefit of the Library.

Bridge players also will be welcomed with open arms at the June 1 party. Persons who may be interested in organizing tables of bridge were asked by Mrs. Weatherby to communicate with Mrs. A. L. Whittaker.

Details of the June 1 party, to which everybody in Mills County has been invited, will be announced by Mrs. Weatherby and the other members of her committee in next week's

Eagle. Meanwhile, here is Rog's poem, written especially for the occasion:

"Goodnight Irene"

(A-LA-CANASTA)

Oftimes we play Canasta
Sometimes we stroll thru'
the town,
If we couldn't play Canasta
We'd jump in the river and drown.

Chorus

Irene goodnight
Irene goodnight
Goodnight Irene
Goodnight Irene
We'll meet you in our dreams.

Some folks don't play Canasta
Don't know the reason why.
If we couldn't play Canasta
We'd likely be drinkin' Rye.

We're ageful yet we're playful
We don't know when to stop.
If we quit playin' Canasta
We'd miss our Soda Pop.

We're sorry we hate to leave you
'Tis sad to part so soon.
But we must be strolling homeward
By the light of the silv'ry moon.

—Rog.

Keep On Saving Waste Paper For Garden Club Cemetery Committee

Start right in all over again to save your old newspapers and magazines for the Cemetery Committee of the Goldthwaite Garden Club. Store them in your garage, sheds or any other convenient and dry places—because soon there will be another paper drive.

Mrs. John G. Berry, Chairman of the Cemetery Committee of the Garden Club, said this week that last week Jesse C. Moreland, without charge, trucked 11,000 pounds of waste paper to Waco and brought home $40.93 to help the Garden Club in its fine work of enclosing the east side of the Goldthwaite Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Moreland, James Nickols and a group of Goldthwaite Boy Scouts worked hard and long to tie up the papers and magazines that were trucked to Waco by Mr. Jesse, Mrs. Berry said. In behalf of the Garden Club she expressed gratitude to them and then asked that everybody get set for another collection—which will be made by the Boy Scouts at a date to be announced later.

On his return from Waco, Mr. Moreland said that the waste paper buyers there had complimented the manner in which the delivery from Goldthwaite was made to them.

Editorial

From Editorial Page.) Truman will be 63 days and 26 days old the day of November, and no man ever been elected the United States. The plan is actually about things like something that has been before. Consideration is the thirty-seven of the States of the Union amendment to the limiting all future to a maximum of ten years in the White House. Mr. Truman is exempt from this limitation. But the sentiment against an indefinite tenure in the White House, which the ratification of this amendment disclosed, might express itself again by saying "no" to Mr. Truman's request that he be kept in the office for nearly twelve years.

There are other such considerations, including those that have caused Mr. Truman's present unpopularity.

However, when you look around for the candidate who would have a better chance to win as the Democratic nominee than Mr. Truman (or rather than "President" Truman), and who also would be acceptable to Chairman Boyle and his "party leaders," it becomes altogether believable that they honestly regard Mr. Truman as their "best bet" to win.

Also, there is the circumstance that the full influence of the Presidency can be exercised in an election only when the President himself is the nominee, and there is no other influence equal to that of the Presidency.

All of which must not be taken to mean that, assuming his own willingness, Mr. Truman is certain to be the Democratic nominee in 1952. Judging by the present attitude of the left-wingers of the CIO Political Action Committee, the Americans for Democratic Action, and similar groups, they may have much different ideas about the ticket from those of Chairman Boyle and his "party leaders." They are among the most severe critics of Chairman Boyle and of the "spoils" system, and it is just possible they may undertake to renovate the party, and even to "purify" it in preparation for a crusade under the leadership of some such plumed knight as Associate Justice William O. Douglas, instead of accepting Mr. Truman and all that goes with him.

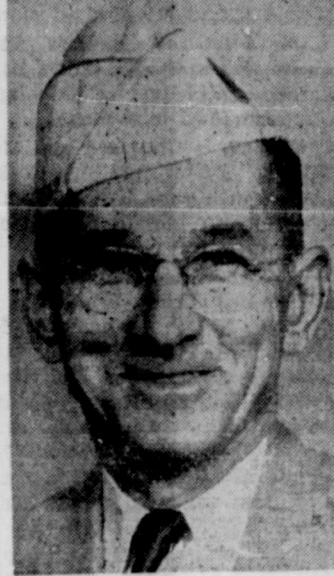

But it remains to be proved that a man occupying the President's office can be refused nomination by his party. As a matter of fact, it remains to be proved that a man occupying the office can be defeated for re-election. It hasn't happened since 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Moreland of Austin were here last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Moreland and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moreland and family.

Glenn And Pauline Dalton Dunn Return For Leave From Far East

The Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Dunn, who have been in missionary work for many years in China and the Philippines, returned last week for a year's furlough. At present they are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dalton at the "Heart o' Texas" farm between Goldthwaite and Mullin, with their daughter "Cherry." Mrs. Dunn is the former Pauline Dalton.

During their year on leave in Texas, Brother Dunn will make his headquarters in Greenville, which is his home. As missionaries of the Assembly of God, Brother and Mrs. Dunn first went to China in 1935. They left in August of 1949, just ahead of the advancing Communists, and then went to the Philippines, where Brother Dunn is Principal of the Bethel Bible Institute at Polo, near Manila. At the Institute, Mrs. Dunn is Head of the English Department and Dormitory Girls' Advisor. Brother and Mrs. Dunn met when they were students together at Howard Payne College in Brownwood nearly 20 years ago.

For a man who was supposed to be resting on vacation, Brother Dunn was exceedingly busy this week, distributing by the hundreds copies of "The Trumpet," the year book of the Class of 1951 of the Bethel Bible Institute.

The book indicates that a splendid work is being done by the Institute among Filipinos, who receive both a general education and preparation to work as Christians among their own people.

There are 12 members of the faculty at the Bethel Bible Institute and nearly 75 students.

The evening services were called off in order that all who cared might go to Lometa for the Baccalaureate service. We're proud to know that two of our young men, Thurman and Herman, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Johnson, will be among the graduating class of 1951.

As George and I drove to Priddy, we visited with Mrs. F. H. Tiemann and sons. We found the Tiemanns doing a lot of things. We saw the calf that Mrs. Tiemann won at the 4-H club show at Priddy last January. It surely is getting fat, and prospects look good for this calf to attend some more shows. The Tiemanns are feeding a calf for the 4-H and F.F.A. club show.

Most all the farmers were busy last week. We didn't have much rain, just cloudy and sunshine and mist along.

Mrs. A. L. Crawford and Mrs. O. A. Evans presented this scribe with some tomato plants, so now my tomato patch looks pretty again.

Conner, Mary and Dorothy; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Horton and children and Mrs. Martin Heath and children.

Mrs. Mary Huffman visited Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Conner and Mrs. Florence Conner during last week. I think that Grannie Conner and Grannie Huffman played hooky as they weren't found near the potato patch.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Partin, Tom and Jim visited Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Partin and Jay Friday.

Star Gives Fine Barbecue To 700 As School Closes

School closed with a feast at Star last Saturday when more than 700 persons, including many from Goldthwaite and elsewhere in Mills County, stoked up at a mid-day barbecue and then had their choice of attending a fiddlers contest, a baseball game and a Singing.

A feature of the day was a livestock exhibit by Star members of the Future Farmers of America. Davis and John Howard Owens exhibited Amos and Andy, two Aberdeen-Angus calves, and Robert L. Steen, President of the Mills County Livestock Raisers Association, went on record in the presence of witnesses with an expression of considered opinion that at future shows Amos would finish ahead of Andy. Hereford calves were exhibited by W. V. Horton, Jr., J. L. Carroll and Wesley Woodard, while hogs were shown by Bill Beard, J. L. Carroll, LaRoy Clary, W. Lee Watson and James V. Kincheloe.

In the domestic science department, pupils of Miss Tommie Ann Booker exhibited dresses, household linen and other examples of the seamstress art—including practically the whole hope chest of Miss Freda Soules—who may NOT be "Miss Freda" any longer. Other exhibits were by Melba Miller, Merline Woodard, LaJoy Clary, Max Bell Cox, Mary Whitehead, and Ann Wright. Several of them looked like more hope chests in the making.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oltrogge and little son J. E. visited his mother, Mrs. Emma Oltrogge. They all had Mother's Day dinner in the F. K. Jones home. Mrs. Walter Jones was a dinner guest. In the afternoon, callers were Mr. and Mrs. H. Beck and daughter of Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Geeslin received a phone call last week from the Kennedy Veterans Administration Hospital at Memphis, Tenn., from Mrs. O. R. Kendall, stating Mr. Kendall had undergone major nerve surgery and was doing as well as could be expected.

W. H. Linkenhoger At 77 Goes In
For New Investment In Machinery

If you were to go looking for a man who has passed the age of 77 and who not only was working diligently but who also was game enough to make a capital investment in new machinery, you would inevitably meet up with W. H. Linkenhoger of Goldthwaite.

A few weeks ago Mr. Linkenhoger sold his business establishment to Carl Letbetter. But he kept right on working as a machinist. Mr. Linkenhoger passed his 77th birthday anniversary on May 12, but instead of even considering retirement, he equipped himself with a brand new Foley "electrakeen" system of machinery for sharpening lawn mowers. It is quite a contraption. The system sharpens all blades and cutter bar automatically in one operation by spinning them electrically in perfect balance in fine abrasive dust. It is the same system that manufacturers use on brand new mowers.

Impressed by the fact that a man of 77 was making a capital investment in new machinery, this reporter went in to see Mr. Linkenhoger's new equipment at work. For many years Mr. Linkenhoger has been sharpening lawn mowers in the manner of a master craftsman. Right beside his new Foley "electrakeen" system was his previous equipment—a large, power-driven gadget that used a whetstone to sharpen blades and cutter bars.

"What was the matter with the old equipment?" the reporter asked.

"Nothing," Mr. Linkenhoger said. "It works perfectly—good equipment, too."

"Then, for goodness sake, why have you bought new equipment at your age?" the reporter asked.

"The Foley is the latest and most modern system and so I bought it," Mr. Linkenhoger replied in matter-of-fact fashion. "I have always tried to keep up to date."

This reporter went home, picked up his own lawn mower and took it to Mr. Linkenhoger. Now it works so perfectly that even an old wreck 27 years younger than Mr. Linkenhoger can cut grass with it.

Although Carl Letbetter owns and operates what formerly was the Linkenhoger Machine Shop, Mr. Linkenhoger still is very much in evidence around the place. A master machinist, he still works at his lathes. He has just completed work on some wonderful power transmission machinery for the press of the Goldthwaite Eagle. The Eagle is proud of that equipment—but even more proud that Goldthwaite has a citizen such as W. H. Linkenhoger who, at 77 goes in for new capital expenditure.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Gwin and their children, Dale and Patricia Nell, visited friends and relatives in Austin last weekend. Mrs. Gwin also attended "home-coming" activities at Breckenridge Hospital, where she was "capped."

News Of The Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District

A deferred pasture this summer can mean more grass this winter. This is what many farmers and ranchers cooperating with the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District have experienced in the past.

For the past four years, Emil Schuster of Priddy has been well pleased with this amount of grazing he received during the winter months from the pastures he deferred. Mr. Schuster also noticed that during his deferments Little bluestem, Indiangrass, and Sideoats grama had a chance to grow and increase in vigor. This is important because as the plants are allowed to grow, the roots go deeper into the soil. There they get moisture which enables the grass to survive through the dry spells.

P. L. Hancock, after deferring a pasture, was agreeably surprised by the amount of litter present from his deferment. The dead grass that was present during the late fall and winter made a natural sponge on his pasture. During the rainy season that followed much of the rainfall was soaked up by the litter. Little or no erosion took place and there was a good crop of cured hay in his pasture. It is a good practice to watch the litter after the livestock have been turned in on the pasture. The pasture should be stocked so that not more than half of a year's growth of litter is taken to insure a good protective cover on the pasture.

V. C. Segelquist, of Payne Gap was in the market for some native grass seed until he deferred a pasture three years ago. Until that time he could identify only a few stalks of native grasses in the pasture. After a one year deferment, he noticed a larger number of native grass clumps appearing. The grass plants began making good seed heads the second year of the deferment and all notions of buying native grass seed were gone. With the assistance of Carl Casbeer, Soil Conservation Technician, he mounted a grass seed harvester on the front of his tractor and harvested some native grass seed to be scattered on the bare areas to hasten the cover. A field of King Ranch bluestem was also harvested. There is one important rule to remember if a seed crop is to be expected from a deferred pasture. All livestock must be taken from the pasture. One saddle horse in a pasture during the seeding period will eat every seed head that can be found.

Those planning to defer a pasture this summer should remove all stock from the pasture by the middle of June or not later than the first of July. The pasture should not be grazed again until after frost. This allows time for the seed to mature and scatter over the pasture.

Water Pipe Job Is Done In Jig Time

Replacement of water pipe on Weaver, Fairman and north Fisher Streets was completed in jig time this week as employees of City Utilities worked with a contractor's crew from San Angelo, using some wonderful machines and gadgets which made it unnecessary to shut off water supplies to residences in the benefited areas.

City Utilities Manager W. C. Barnett said that the replacement and maintenance job would be completed this week. In fact, as the Eagle went to press, East Front Street was dug up and the crews were preparing to move in on the final leg of their task.

Howard Campbell Receives Report On Chest X-Rays

Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, this week reported to Howard Campbell on the results of free chest X-ray examinations that were given to nearly 1,300 Mills County citizens at the Central Pontiac Company in Goldthwaite early this month. Mr. Campbell was Chairman of the Citizens Committee that sponsored the project in cooperation with the Texas State Department of Health. In his letter to Mr. Campbell, Dr. Cox wrote as follows:

I wish to express my appreciation to you for acting as Chairman of a recent x-ray survey in your County. Likewise, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the volunteer workers, the various civic groups, public service employees, and the physicians of your County who contributed their time and service in a combined effort to make the mass x-ray survey successful in Mills County.

The films have been processed and read and the reports have been mailed. The following results were found: a total of 1,292 x-rays were made in Mills County; there were 9 films suggestive of tuberculosis which will require further evaluation to determine the significance of the disease, and 15 films showing evidence of nontuberculous conditions involving the chest.

I cannot thank each participant individually for their effort in the survey; therefore, I am writing you, as Chairman, our thanks for the cooperation and interest that was shown by all.
