Swimming Pool Bonds Are Sold During First Day

The $15,000.00 issue of revenue bonds for constructing swimming pool-park for Mills County was sold in one day, according to announcement by the Lions Club committee composed of Ray Duren, Dr. T. C. Graves and Warren P. Duren.

A kick-off breakfast was held at The Hangar on Friday morning which was attended by 43 interested parties from the county, when bond sales got underway.

The committee reported that thirty-five of those attending the breakfast bought seventy-three bonds out of a total of 100 bonds in the amount of $50,000 each which the committee hoped to sell to the group. This amounted to $3,650.00. The balance of the $5,000.00, 27 bonds in the amount of $1,350.00, which the committee planned to sell to individuals, was taken up by persons who were unable to attend the breakfast, and the job was completed within the day.

Out of the $15,000.00 in bonds issued the Mills County State Bank purchased $5,000.00 and City Utilities took $5,000.00, with $5,000.00 going to about 60 individuals interested in the project.

Work on construction is now going ahead on schedule and the committee hopes to have the job completed and the pool ready for use within about six weeks.

Blue Panic Growth Examined

Growth made by Blue Panic was examined on April 8 of this year, by John Lee, left, of the Soil Conservation Service and A. M. Goss of Rising Star, after it was planted in May, 1952.

Our first visit was on October 9, 1952 when 113 pints of blood was donated and the 97 pints collected May 1st, gave Mills County 210 pints donated for the 12 month period. Mills County was short 60 pints of blood for the 12 month period.

We are scheduled for 2 visits in the 12 month period beginning July 1, 1953 and ending June 30, 1954.

Typewriters and desk were furnished the Chapter locally by Clements and Head, San Saba Production Credit and Judge John L. Patterson, J. Y. Tullos delivered the local equipment to the church.

The Mobile Unit equipment was relocated by R. D. Baker, D. W. Arnold, John Straley and Bill Eckert.

Mrs. Warren P. Duren had in addition to the Volunteers previously listed, Mrs. George W. Reed, Mrs. Dutch Smith, Mrs. Raymond Williams, Mrs. Hollis Blackwell and Mrs. F. M. Stephens. Miss Martha Ogilvie, Chief Nurse with the Mobile Unit, stated that Mills County had the best location at the First Baptist Church for the bloodmobile and the most efficient Volunteers of any county the Unit had visited.

The Mills County Chapter wishes to thank every one that had a part in the Mobile Unit's visit and the patients of Dr. Childress whose cooperation permitted the Doctor to do a National Service. Also John Long, Master Coffee Maker, for the fine job he did in making coffee throughout the day.

Dawmen Newton Elected Primary School Principal

In a called meeting on Tuesday night of last week, several applicants appeared before the school board asking for various positions. Only two were selected thus leaving only three places yet unfilled with several favorable applications on file.

Dawmen Newton was elected principal of the elementary school. Mr. Newton has been teaching near Hamilton for the past several years and comes highly recommended. During the war he was a technician or medical aid and followed this occupation for a few years following the war before coming to Hamilton. Mr. Newton's original home was near Star and Indian Gap. He will bring with him a family of three children, ages 5, 8, and 11 and his wife. He expects to move to our community in August.

Many of the Goldthwaite people know Mr. Newton as he has a brother, Otto Newton and other relatives living here.

THE MULLIN ENTERPRISE

Growth made by Blue Panic was examined on April 8 of this year, by John Lee, left, of the Soil Conservation Service and A. M. Goss of Rising Star, after it was planted in May, 1952.

By BOB CROSSLAND

"Blue Panic is going to be planted instead of sudan on my farm," reports A. M. Goss of the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District. "Blue Panic that I planted last year is already knee high and will soon be ready to graze."

Goss is not worried much about drought on his Blue Panic, either. During the growing season last year his Blue Panic had a total of 7.41 inches of rain on it. He combined a light seed crop in July and in October there was another crop almost ready but he grazed it with his cattle. He grazed 16 head for 14 days on seven acres. The last grazing was produced by 1.82 inches of rain in September.

There are several reasons why he likes Blue Panic so well.

James W. Bowman Is Appointed Science Teacher

- (1). It costs less than sudan to sow.
- (2). It is a permanent grass and does not have to be planted every year and only requires cultivation.
- (3). Once the grass is established it greens up so early in the spring that it will supply grazing long before sudan is ready to graze.
- (4). It will be ready to graze when the cattle come off the rye and vetch and also when they have to be out of the pasture because of oak buds.
- (5). It can stand a lot of dry weather.
- (6). It will take advantage of moisture whenever it falls.

David Watters reports that the Supervisors have been able to secure some Blue Panic seed. He says they were able to buy it at a good price. It will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. Mr. Watters says to contact him or to see Robert Priddy at Priddy, W. M. Hancock at Zeohyr, Anson Oden at Brownwood, or G. G. Goss at Rising Star. The District also has seeders available with which to plant the seed.

Jim Soules of Star, planted some Blue Panic on a caliche hill site in May of 1952 and despite the dry weather the planting made a good growth and produced seed. Mr. Soules said, "If Blue Panic produces as much more accordingly on my bottom land fields as it produced on the shallow caliche hill site, I'll plant all my fields in Blue Panic."

Several plantings have been made in the Goldthwaite Work Unit area this year. When it rains enough to get the Blue Panic up these plantings can be seen at Sherwood Owens, Rolley Collier, P. R. Jordan, Hugh Nowell, George Lippe, and Pete Smith.

"PROSPERITY IS THE FRUIT OF LABOR"

Every left-winger is adept in catch phrases. One standard example is the cry that "human rights" must be superior to "property rights."

This appeal to the unthinking evades the fact that the right to own property is one of the most basic and important of the human rights. That idea was powerfully expressed by Abraham Lincoln, as great a humanitarian as ever lived, in these words: "Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; it is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprises. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

SALUTE TO COMPETITION

A businessman has a plaque on a wall above his desk which reads as follows:

"My competitors do more for me than my friends do; my friends are too polite to point out my weaknesses, but my competitors go to expense to advertise them.

"My competitors are efficient, diligent and attentive; they make me search for ways to improve my products and services.

"My competitors would take my business away from me, if they could; this keeps me alert to hold what I have.

"If I had no competitors I would be lazy, incompetent, inattentive; I need the discipline they enforce upon me.

"I salute my competitors; they have been good to me. God Bless them all!"

Business competition takes many forms. Sometimes it is in price. Other times it is in the quality of service. Other times still it is in some innovation which people find interesting and attractive. Whatever the form, competition — which exists in its true state only in a free economy — is the greatest force for progress that exists.

VIC'S... SOLILOQUY

Mrs. J. E. Williams, of Hamilton, writes as follows: "I am sending herewith renewal for our favorite paper. I was born and raised about half way between Star and Center City and the news from those two communities is just like a letter from home besides all the other news that I get in our home paper. We don't think we could do without it."

Folks who have been keeping up with President Eisenhower and some of his recreational activities will know what Alfred Carter was talking about the other day when he said: "The only difference between the President and us folks down here is that he goes to Georgia once in a while to play golf and in doing so he tries to break 90, while we are going about our business of trying to break even." Alfred is quite right, although while most of the folks in a small community are trying to break even there are nevertheless a few golfers who are in the same boat as the chief executive in trying to break 90. I could name a few—including yours truly—who would be happy with such accomplishment—who probably give the matter some thought, though most of their thoughts go towards the recreational phase of the game, they play because they like it.

"Just fifty years ago today and tonight this county had one of the biggest freezes in the history of this territory," said Chester Frazier last week

Treasurer W. H. Trent and Alderman J. D. Urquhart were those who entered into the services of the city.

Dr. W. W. Fowler has decided to locate here and has formed a partnership with Dr. J. D. Calaway, one of the best known and most successful physicians in Mills County.

The newly elected trustees of the Goldthwaite public school qualified Wednesday and the board held a meeting on the afternoon of the same day. Judge Matt Roach was elected president; Dr. M. L. Brown secretary; W. G. Welch, assessor and collector; B. Lammers, treasurer.

Mr. Lammers will soon have his hotel and opera house building completed and he will then have the opera house fitted up in modern style. He will build a stage 22 x 28 feet and will arrange 350 seats in the room. He has arranged with Mr. Curran to paint the scenery for the stage settings, while the drop curtain will be covered upon the advertisements of enterprising business men of this and other towns.

Thursday in commenting on yesterday. He said further: "I don't expect you are old enough to remember that time, but, how well I remember, we were farming in those days and our cotton and corn crops were up and going strong. The corn was frozen 'way back, but, it came out and boy did we ever make a corn crop that year, best you ever saw." In commenting on the historical event he said it was quite a coincidence that it happened fifty years ago on April 30 and May 1, with the big freeze hitting here during the night of April 30 and morning of May 1, and it so happened that it was also on Thursday and Friday the same as this year. Y. E. Hoover was listening quite intently while this was being related.

Here is a young man after my own heart, and I dare say after the heart of many a man. The story is something along this line. Last Sunday a week ago when a group of folks from the Methodist Church took part in ground breaking ceremonies Mrs. Billie (Tab) Ledbetter was one of the group representing the women's organization of the church. During the ceremony she took part in moving a shovel full of dirt in the process while picture were being made of the affair. After she got home she was telling her husband and their son Jamie about the matter. When she came to the point of telling about digging, she was stopped short in her tracks by Jamie when he countered with: "Did you find any worms?" So you see looks like either Billie or quite a fisherwoman or Tab has done an excellent job of concealing worms. After we heard the story from other sources it was mentioned to Tab and he told us that you should have seen him when he asked that question, said Tab: "His eyes got as big as moons and he looked right up in his mother's face and asked whether she found any worms?" Tab informed us further that every time someone around the place picks up a shovel or hoe to do any work in the yard, here comes Jamie with the worm can. If that is any indication about the future, one guess is that Mamma will have a hard time keeping up with two fellows, unless, of course, she likes to go fishing, too.

Mrs. Grover Dalton does her bit to help keep members of the family informed about news happenings of the home town. She called the office and had a subscription sent to her daughter, Mrs. Glenn Dunn who with her husband are teachers in Manila. She stated that Mr. and Mrs. Dunn and their daughter, Rena Detb, are well and that they enjoy living on the Islands.

You will notice elsewhere in this issue of the paper that the sale of Swimming Pool-Park bonds went over the top with a bang last Friday when a group of folks met for an early morning kick-off breakfast, to see the drive underway and at the same time over with. That is what you can well consider the right community spirit and a job that speaks well for the citizens of Mills County.

Mrs. O. R. Ervin of Ranger spent last week with her sister, Mrs. W. M. Johnson and other relatives.

Baseball Anti-Trust Probe | See Clean Bill of Health Awaiting Football Decision | For U. S. National Pastime Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Washington observers believe the Justice department will not launch an anti-trust investigation into organized baseball until a federal court in Philadelphia hands down a decision in the National Football league case next autumn.

Observers are also convinced that the baseball industry will be cleared even if an investigation is launched. Two years ago a monopoly subcommittee of the House judiciary committee investigated the sport for possible law violations and gave it a clean bill of health.

It is believed the sport would get the same treatment from the Justice department now, because the structure of the industry has not changed in the past two years.

A demand for a new investigation was made by Reps. Emanuel Celler (D), New York, James P. Devereux (R) and Samuel N. Friedel (D), Maryland, who branded the refusal of the American league to allow Bill Veck to move his St. Louis Browns to Baltimore "an outrage."

Bill Veck • JET TRANSPORTS—American aircraft manufacturers have jumped into the jet transport field with both feet. Three major companies, Douglas, Lockheed and Boeing, all have projects underway and hope to test their planes by early 1955.

British refusal to deliver Comet III types quickly enough for United States airlines has given them a good chance to catch up with the English lead in the field.

Until the British put their Comet I planes in the air, American manufacturers and airlines had been lagging in their jet transport designs.

However, the proven Comet airliners have pushed all the plane builders to the wall as far as their prestige is concerned and each is trying its best to get jet transports in the air first.

• NARROW MARGIN—Usually, the "out" party picks up strength in off-year elections, but it may be tougher for the Democrats to accomplish this in 1954 than expected.

The off-year elections—those that take place mid-way between presidential elections—virtually always see the minority party gain strength in the House and pick up a seat or two in the Senate. Such an event in 1954 would give the Democrats control of Congress.

However, statistics show that of the 25 House members who won election last November by margins of less than 5,000 votes, 15 are Democrats. And of the 53 who won by less than 10,000 votes, 34 are Democrats. That means more Democrats than Republicans can expect a tough fight—and possible defeat—next year.

Plight of the Gifted Child

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IN this column I have warned parents against exploiting the preschool child they consider precocious; against encouraging him in formal learning and exhibition of book knowledge for the amusement of doting relatives and friends.

But I have urged these parents to stimulate imagination in this bright child by reading to him and showing appreciation of his creations with things or words; to cultivate, moreover, self-reliance and responsibility in this youngster, and help him enjoy normal fun with others of his age. It's the gifted child and youth of school and college age whose learning talents have been most neglected.

Recent Booklet

"Helping the Gifted Child" is a recent booklet by Dr. Paul Witty, Professor of Education and Director of the Psycho-educational Clinic, Northwestern University, published by Science Research Associates of Chicago (to be had therefrom for 40 cents).

Dr. Witty, who has published many researches on gifted children, estimates that of the 30 million school children in the United States today, from one to two per cent have I.Q.'s of 130 or more (from 90 to 110 is considered the "normal" intelligence range). This means our nation has from 300,000 to 600,000 children "who may be considered moderately or highly gifted."

While talent and intelligence know no boundary line of race, class or nationality, gifted children from the upper social and economic levels, observes Dr. Witty, stand a better chance of being discovered and developed than those whose parents are poorer.

Big and Healthy

Citing the classic studies of Dr. Lewis Terman, Witty points out that, contrary to popular notions, the gifted child is not puny but big for his age, and he's healthy. "He's not a social misfit and he's not twisted emotionally. . . . Most gifted children start out ahead of their average friends; and with proper care they maintain their lead throughout their lives."

Dr. Witty does say that the gifted child has his problems, too, which are caused not by his superiority "but by the reactions of other people to his special endowments and by his feelings about being gifted"—frequent home indifference, over-emphasis on his gifts, economic handicaps, lack of adequate challenge at school and of making friends among average children. He needs "our patient help and guidance, love and understanding."

Dr. Witty notes the long controversy over letting the gifted child skip grades, being thrown into a group physically and emotionally more mature; also that most educators agree that "the majority of gifted youngsters, if they are emotionally stable, will not be harmed by skipping a grade or two," especially in the early grades.

Building the Church at Ephesus

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

St. Paul asked the Christians in Ephesus if they had received the Holy Ghost? They said no. Asked by what baptism they were baptized, they answered, "John's." Paul baptized them in Jesus' name and they received the Holy Ghost.

Paul preached boldly in the synagogue at Ephesus and then in the school of Tryannus. God wrought many miracles by his hands, so that even pieces of his wearing apparel were taken to the sick and they received healing.

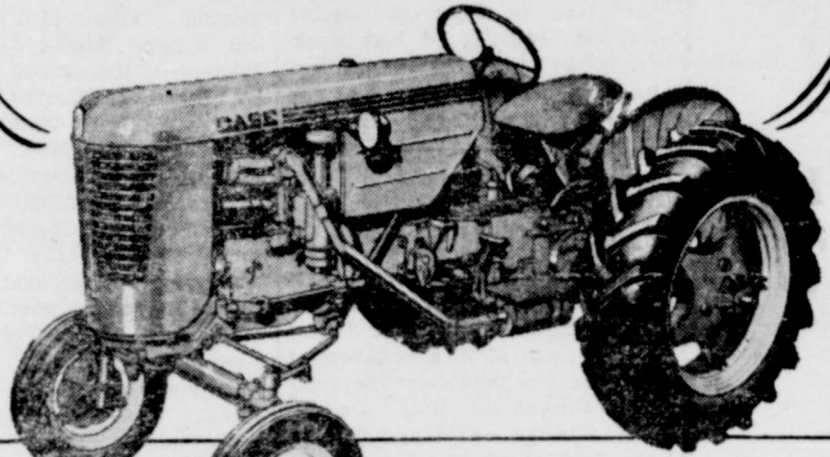

So powerful was Paul's preaching that all Asia heard of Jesus, and those that practiced magic arts brought their books and burned them publicly, counting the price as 50,000 pieces of silver. "So mighty grew the word of God."

Paul felt he was directed to go to Jerusalem. He warned his followers that they would probably never see his face again. He knelt and prayed with them, then tearfully they kissed him goodbye. MEMORY VERSE—I Corinthians 3:11.

Faithful Workers Hear Book Review

The Faithful Workers Class held their regular monthly meeting at the Mills County Youth Center, last Tuesday night, with Mrs. Ira Aldredge and Mrs. A. L. Reese as hostesses.

Mrs. Katie Weatherby, president of the class, presided at the business meeting which was opened with a song, followed with a prayer and the reports of the committees.

Guest speaker, Mrs. V. A. Hudson, was introduced by the president. She, in a most enarming way, reviewed the book, "Behold Your Queen," by Gladys Malvern, which was enjoyed by all present. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

News About Social Security

Eighty per cent of all workers in the United States are engaged in employment covered by social security and are building an insured status under the old-age and survivors insurance program, James B. Marley, manager of the Austin social security office, announced today.

About twenty-five million workers have been in jobs under social security long enough to be assured of retirement benefits for themselves at 65 and survivor benefits for their families. Four out of every five mothers and children are protected under the program in the event of the death of the family breadwinner.

For the workers over 65 who retire and for the survivors of workers who die at any age, the old-age and survivors insurance program provides substantial monthly benefits. In those cases where benefits may be based on the average earnings since 1950, the average monthly payment for a retired worker without dependents is about $85; for an aged couple, somewhat more than $100; and for a widow with two children, about $150.

Since these benefit payments provide much important income for the retired worker and his family and for his survivors in case of his death, each worker owes it to himself and to his family to know just what his status is in this insurance program; to know what, if any, protection he is providing for himself and for his family through old-age and survivors insurance. He can best get this information by discussing his own personal case at the social security office located at Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunt and son, Jack Earl, of West Palm Beach, Florida, were guests last week of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Britain and son, of Cisco were Goldthwaite visitors Sunday.

AGRICULTURE

By John C. White, Commissioner

INSECTICIDE EFFECTS ON SOIL

How often and for how long can some of the new chemical insecticides be applied to the land without damaging crop yields?

The answer to this serious question is being sought by both Texas and federal plant pathologists. Their eventual conclusions may bring about a rearrangement of crop spraying procedures.

After five years of working with a wide range and amount of insecticides, including some excessive dosages, some chemicals have been found to remain surprisingly toxic in the soil. The effects of others were relatively mild. An unusually heavy dosage of a popular brand was applied on a test plot of one acre in 1945. To date, the insecticide has lost very little of its toxic effect. We also know now that smaller amounts applied to crops as needed to control insects accumulate in the soil over the years.

The crops found most sensitive to this build-up in the soil are truck garden produce. Growth of some of these crops was reduced as repeated heavy dosages accumulated in the soil, or as increasingly larger amounts were applied.

These research findings indicate that heavy, continuous use on the same land of the more stable insecticides may not be a good practice. The farmer should be especially careful to avoid careless, excessive, or improper use of chemicals.

DDT, the first and most widely used of the post-war insecticides, was studied more extensively than others. It was found that an application of about 30 pounds per acre per year could build up soil accumulations in 5 years that would damage the more sensitive plants.

Limited trials showed technical BHC to be less stable and lasting than DDT, but because of its high toxicity to plants in the soil, it is capable of forming damaging accumulations if used too frequently at heavy rates. Toxaphene and parathion, however, were found to be so unstable in the soil that they are not expected to accumulate to a harmful degree if recommended practices are followed.

Until further tests are completed, farmers are strongly urged to strictly follow instructions set forth by manufacturers of insecticides. Any chemical can be a boon or curse to agriculture, depending upon how it is used.

In a double ring ceremony held in the First Baptist Church parlors in Pampa, April 15th, Miss Gladys Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Jones, became the bride of Mack Robertson, USAF, son of Oma Robertson and the late Mrs. Robertson. Rev. E. Douglas Carver officiated during the exchange of vows.

Two large baskets of white stock and daisies formed the background for the candlelight ceremony.

Miss Doris Jean Qualls, maid of honor, wore a light blue organza ballerina length dress with floral design. Her head-dress was of white carnations with blue and white streamers.

Toni Martinelli of Weirton, W. V., served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white organza dress etched with a floral design. The full gathered skirt was ballerina length; and the bodice had a rounded neckline with cap sleeves. Her head-dress was a crown of white carnations with a nylon veil extending from the crown to the waist. Her bouquet of white carnations and satin streamers topped a white Bible.

Mrs. Jones, mother of the bride, chose a grey suit for her daughter's wedding with pink accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson left immediately following the ceremony for a trip to Tulsa and Oklahoma City. On their return they will be at home in Amarillo where the groom is stationed.
