Red Sox Win Three Out Of Four; To Play Comfort There Sunday

The best ball game of the season was played on the Red Sox Diamond Sunday. The Red Sox had to come from behind twice to beat the strong Stonewall team 7-3. Stonewall scored 2 runs in the 3rd inning and held that lead until the Red Sox were able to tie it up in the 7th. Then Maenius, Stonewall pitcher, quickly untied the score with a home run over the center field fence, in the first of the 8th, to make the score 3-2 in favor of Stonewall. The Red Sox were not to be denied as they came back for a big inning in the last of the 8th. Conradt led off with a single to center field, Kerby was then hit with a pitched ball which put runners on first and 2nd. Johnson and McLean flew out in that order. Clifton then slammed a pitch out of the park which gave the Red Sox a 5-3 advantage, but that was not all for the big 8th. inning. McCasland, next batter singled and Johanson doubled, sending McCasland to third. Then Westerfield, leading Red Sox hitter, hit a single that scored both McCasland and Johanson. Doggett flew out to retire the side. Y. B. Johnson, who pitched the entire game, gave up 7 hits, struck out 7 and allowed 3 runs. Maenius pitching for Stonewall gave up 10 hits, struck out 2 and allowed 7 runs.

Junior Legion Team is sponsored by the local American Legion Post, with LeRoy Stacy and Lee Doggett as managers.

1953 Football Squad Defeats Seniors, 60-12

On Monday night, May 4th., the 1953 football team took their first victory with a win over the senior class that is graduating next week. It was a very decisive victory with the score at the end of the game reading 60-12. It was a nip and tuck battle at the first, but after the game progressed the picture began to change. The senior team made only one first down during the night.

Bob Parker and Wayne Wicker shared the honors for the Exes by making one touchdown each. Joe, Hammond, Charlie Head, Ruben Lippe, and John Gilliam all made two touchdowns. C. D. Lindsay was credited with making one touchdown. Credit cannot be given to just one boy since all the boys played one of their best if not their best games of their football career.

Coach Akins very seldom passes out compliments but he stated that the boys have made lots of improvement, their blocking was good, and they played as a team, which can either make or break a team. With this word of encouragement we have great hopes for a winning team next year. Mr. Akins stated that the blocking and tackling of Ray Robinson was outstanding in the line. Other stalwarts in line play was Ray Campbell Hudson at center, and James Petty at guard. Football fans can look forward next season to seeing a mixture of aerial and ground plays hidden behind much deception.

Even though we are playing a tough schedule next season, our wins should be much higher than last season.

Lions Club Honors Mills County 4-H And FFA Members

Pictured here are members of the Mills County 4-H Club Work who were especially honored, along with all steer feeders and exhibitors who brought back honors from the various shows during the past year, representing both the 4-H and FFA organizations of the county, at a special banquet meeting of the Lions Club on Tuesday night of last week.

In the background on the large bulletin board is a display of all the 4-H awards received by all Mills County 4-H members during the past year.

The annual banquet meeting was attended by a large group of FFA and 4-H members as well as a group of Mills County Livestock Association Officials, Vocational Agriculture teachers, and others, as guests of the Lions Club.

Breakers' Freedom Shortlived; Are Captured In Short Order

Ray Foster and David Hewitt, who broke out of County jail Wednesday last week, about nine enjoyed their freedom short time when they were picked up in Odessa at 2:20 Thursday in a car stolen here. Hewitt was arrested at 11:00 a. m. Thursday when he had stolen at Odessa after their escape.

Both men were brought here, according to announcement by C. F. "Stub" Stubblefield, Mills County sheriff.

Foster was indicted here in connection with burglaries of local business houses some weeks ago. He had previously served prison terms in other states and had escaped from Granite, Oklahoma, when he came here and committed the burglaries. He was tried and received a ten year sentence.

Hewitt was facing indictment of armed robbery when he was brought here on Tuesday, the day before their escape. He was tried and sentenced to 20 years.

Both prisoners were taken to Huntsville to the state prison by Sheriff Stubblefield last Saturday afternoon.

Stubblefield was on his way from Fort Worth to Goldthwaite where he had picked up a man wanted here in connection with a grand jury indictment when the jail break occurred. He was on duty rounding up those scheduled to appear in district court on Thursday morning.

The prisoners were checked in the local jail every hour and sometimes between the hour by undersheriff Clyde Cockrum and the city night watchman, and had been checked only a short time before the break was discovered.

prisoners made their way from the local jail when they broke through the iron bar compound, and a piece of electrical cord, within which they had hidden a steel bar, worked their way

DISTURBING PHILOSOPHY

Retail clerks in a New England state don't want to work after six at night. So their union asked the legislature to pass a law making it illegal for any store in a town of more than 5,000 and with over nine employees to keep open after that hour.

The Wall Street Journal made this the subject of an editorial. It said that it could understand and sympathize with the positions of all involved -- the clerks, the storekeepers, and the consumers. It then pointed to some of the absurd complexities that would crop up in an attempt to draft the demanded law, saying, "A rational argument could be made for both sides of every position and so, no matter what the result, the law would be arbitrary, capricious and confusing."

Then the paper made this significant observation: "Yet what is disturbing goes deeper than the difficulties of draftmanship. For this little squabble is a reflection of a general philosophy that the government's role is to jump in as an arbiter and judge in every labor matter. It must take sides."

That goes to the heart of the matter. There are all kinds of conflicting arguments as to the merits and demerits of retail stores staying open at night. But these arguments are dwarfed by the incontrovertible fact that when we run to government to solve every problem, we are undermining the basic responsibilities, rights, and freedoms of individuals, businesses and organizations.

"The plain fact is that good government comes from good men." -- The Wall Street Journal.

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Hall as New GOP Chief 1953's Total Construction Hailed by House Leaders To Reach 33 1/2 Billions Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON--House Republican leaders are elated over the selection of Leonard W. Hall as the new GOP national chairman. Hall, an ex-congressman himself, is widely heralded as the party member best qualified to unite all factions in the fight to maintain and strengthen the Republican hold on Congress in 1954's elections.

Led by Speaker Joseph W. Martin, House GOP leaders were largely responsible for the boom that resulted in Hall's selection. A frequent complaint by House Republicans in the past has been that the national committee was not so aware as it should be of the financial situation confronting the party's aspirants for office.

Hall is expected to do much to clear up this situation. During his last term in Congress, he served as chairman of the House Republican campaign committee and became completely conversant with candidates' problems on a nationwide scale.

He is expected to do more than any recent GOP national chieftain in correlating all party activities with the main objective of clinging to congressional majorities in the crucial off-year elections.

HAMMER AND SAW--Despite Eisenhower administration cut-backs in federal building, government experts expect total construction in 1953 to reach the $33.5 billion total the Commerce and Labor departments previously predicted for 1953.

That is contingent, of course, upon general business activity continuing about at the present level. Prime reason for the prediction is that privately-financed industrial construction is running considerably ahead of earlier expectations. Government economy, however, is expected to trim $400 to $450 million from federal building programs.

The post-steel strike boom is still a powerful factor. The Commerce and Labor departments predicted in December that industrial building this year would total $1,850,000,000. This has now been revised to two billions or better.

NEW WRINKLE--Military spokesmen constantly insist the day of "push-button warfare" is far off and they're probably right. However, just as undoubtedly, the day is a lot closer than it used to be.

Consider, for instance, the latest wrinkle in Air Force "fighter planes." Within a few years, it has been disclosed, a pilotless craft traveling 1,500 miles an hour with a destructive charge in its nose will be able to track down attacking enemy bombers and crash into them. The automatically-operated missile is to be called the Boeing XP-99 Bomarc.

Powering the missile will be two ramjet engines. Then there will be an auxiliary rocket enabling the Bomarc to double the speed of sound. Because each scoring Bomarc will be destroyed, the weapons will have to be turned out in sufficient numbers to bring their cost down before they can be considered truly worthwhile weapons.

FREE ENTERPRISE--American ingenuity shows up in some of the strangest parts of the world and, too, American free enterprise takes no backseat.

While the United Nations is fighting its "truce and go" war, American free enterprise is in their pitching, not only with war materiel but the principle of commerce itself.

This ad in a recent Tokyo newspaper best illustrates American desire for trade: "American company desires experienced beverage salesman to work in Korea. Good financial opportunity for an aggressive salesman."

VIC'S... SOLILOQUY

A salesman stopping at the Barnes & McCullough Lumber company a few days ago handed W. P. (Uncle Prock) McCullough a bit of interesting philosophy that may well be heeded by a good many folks over the country these days.

W. P. in turn gave it to Mrs. Alva Dalton, who passed it along to us and we are going right on along to our readers, so it will get before a good many folks in short order.

It is a story about "The Little Black Hen, or How To Whip The Drouth." One may say it is easy for some one who may not even be effected or know anything about drouth conditions, to dream up something of this sort, and with that we agree, though it is also quite possible that the someone who got up this little piece may have been right in the big middle of a situation that caused him to dream it up as an answer to his problem. At any rate we are presenting it here just as it was handed to us.

THE OLD BLACK HEN

Or "How To Whip The Drouth"

Said the little Red Rooster, "Gosh, all hemlock, things are tough. Seems that worms are getting scarcer and I just can't find enough."

for Mr. Raul and a calf for A. H. Estep. The hail left the fields and woods perfectly bare, beating all the leaves off the trees and leaving the fields entirely naked of vegetation. The hail is there yet in great drifts. The roof of A. H. Estep's house was so badly damaged that members of the family had to hold a table over the mother, who was sick in bed, to protect her. --San Saba News.

Mrs. W. C. Dew of Mullin was a passenger on Monday night's train enroute to Pine Bluff, Arkansas, to visit her brother. Mrs. Jackson of Mullin was on the same train and was enroute to Alvarado, Texas.

J. M. Robinson has sold his place in the Cryer settlement to Charlie Bramlett and bought from F. A. Nixon his old home place south of town, on the Big Valley road. Mr. Robinson says he likes the Cryer people, but the sun seems to set in the wrong place over there.

W. W. Witty of Star was here this week and stated the rain and hail did great damage in his neighborhood.

Information reached here the first of the week that Mrs. Matt Roach, Jr., was dangerously sick at her home in Brady. Her mother, Mrs. F. M. Karnes, was summoned to her bedside and left here on Monday night's train.

There were thousands thru' the rainy spell, but now where can they be? What's become of all those fat ones is a mystery to me!"

The Old Black Hen who heard him didn't grumble or complain. She'd been thru' lots of dry spells, she'd lived thru' floods of rain.

She hopped upon a grindstone and gave her claws a whet. As she said, I've never seen the time there weren't worms to get.

She picked a new undug spot, the earth was hard and firm. New ground! The little Rooster jeered, that's no place for worms!

But the Old Black Hen just spread her feet, she dug both fast and free. I must go to the worms, she said, the worms won't come to me!

The Rooster vainly spent his day, thru' habit, by the ways. Where fat round worms had crawled in squads back in the rainy days. When nightfall found him supperless he growled in accents rough: "I'm hungry as a fowl can be, conditions sure are tough!"

He turned then to the Old Black Hen and said, "It's worse with you."

For you're not only hungry. You must be tired too. I rested while I watched for worms, so I feel fairly perk. But how are you, without worms, too, and after all that work?"

The Old Black Hen hopped to her perch and drooped her eyes in sleep. And murmured in a drowsy tone, "Young man, hear this and woe. 'I'm full of worms and happy for I've dined both long and well'. The worms were there as usual but I had to dig like H.!"

Our friend and former neighbor of local residents who is now making his home at Cleveland, Texas, one John L. Bolland, writes to us and gives us a little "going over" on a point. Says he: "I read somewhere, it must have been in the funny paper, that you would send out notices when our subscriptions expire, but I have not received said notice, and I see by the label on my Eagle the time is up. Well, I am enclosing a check which will save you some postage. Best regards to all the force and especially Miss Ruth Ervin." You know, we did say something in this corner a few weeks back, (didn't know it was considered the funny paper of the Eagle) about sending notices when subscriptions have expired. Seems as though we stated that we would send notices before subscriptions are to be cut off because their subscription had not been renewed. So in the meantime a good many of our readers are getting right on and sending in their renewal when they notice the address label of their paper that their subscription has expired. And we appreciate that, too, since it does save not only postage but a good bit of extra work in addressing and mailing notices to all when their paper runs out.

Take the case of Mrs. Charley Hoover of Adrian, Texas, here is what she writes: "I am sending check to renew my subscription. I am not sure just when it is out. I sure don't want to miss a copy--It's just like making a visit back home to read the Eagle. I can always find out what you folks are doing."

Boned, Rolled Lamb Shoulder Makes a Very Fine Pot Roast

By ALICE DENOFF
ANSWER day today, dealing with requests that we feel may be of general interest.

To begin, one reader wanted to know if there was such a thing as Lamb Pot Roast. Said a friend had told her there was, but that she couldn't find a recipe for it. Yes, there is, but an accompaniment is needed, one who will trim away every last smidgin of fat. A four-pound shoulder of lamb should be boned and all fat removed, then rolled and bound in a compact mass.

Lamb Pot Roast
Brown in butter until a rich, deep brown. Place in kettle and surround with one c. celery, 2 sliced onions, 2 sliced tomatoes, 4 minced carrots and a thin slice of garlic. Add 2 c. water to the pan the meat was browned in; pour over vegetables, adding more hot water if necessary to make the water half-cover the pot roast. Cook slowly for 2 hours. Remove meat. Make a sauce of the vegetables and liquid in the pan by adding 2 tsp. flour mixed with 4 tsp. water. Serve with broiled eggplant, says the friend who gave us the recipe.

Another request is for a good veal kidney recipe. Here's one that is really wonderful, given us by a fine restaurant chef.

To serve 4, 2 kidneys are required. Cut kidneys in small pieces and pour boiling water over. Drain and dust with flour, salt and pepper. Cook 3 minutes in hot water. Remove to hot casserole that has been oven-heated.

Orange Juice and Stock
In 3 tsp. butter in frying pan, cook 4 oz. sliced mushrooms, one slice onion, tsp. minced parsley, salt and pepper to taste. When this has cooked a minute and is hot, add juice of one orange and one c. soup stock. When boiling, pour into casserole. Bake, covered, 20 minutes. Add thick slices toasted bread to the casserole, dust with grated cheese. Heat a moment, then serve.

And here is the answer to a request for a cookie called Cry Babies (a cousin to Hush Puppies, perhaps?).

Melt 1/2 c. butter with 1/2 c. strong hot coffee. Add 1/2 c. each sugar and molasses and 2 eggs, well beaten. Sift tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. baking soda, 4 c. sifted flour, tsp. each ginger and nutmeg. Add to liquid ingredients. Beat well, then chill. Drop in tablespoonfuls on well-buttered baking sheet or pan. Bake 10 minutes in 350° F. oven. Frost while hot. Makes 4 dozen Cry Babies.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Finley and daughters, Patricia and Debbie, of Coleman, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Womack Saturday.

Control The Casebearer Now For Better Pecan Crop This Fall

College Station, May 14—The pecan nut casebearer is no friend of the pecan grower. This small olive green worm annually takes a heavy cut from the state's pecan crop when left to its destructive way of living. Now is the time, says N. M. Randolph, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, for producers in most areas of the state to start the control program.

After the insects hatch, explains the specialist, the small worms move down the twigs to the nut clusters and begin feeding on the buds below the cluster. This feeding process continues for four or five days and then the insect bores a hole into the pecan case and moves inside to destroy the kernel. To be effective, points out Randolph, control measures must be applied during a 10 to 12 day period. Once the worm enters the pecan, control is impossible.

The use of three pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder and six to eight pounds of wettable sulphur in 100 gallons of water is the spray recommended by Randolph. He says a thorough job of wetting every limb from top to bottom with the spray must be done. A power sprayer which will put out 20 to 35 gallons of the spray per minute at a pressure of from 200 to 600 pounds should be used.

Paul Under Guard in Rome

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 25—28; Philippians 1:12-14.

Arrested at the Jews' demand, Paul defended himself before Festus at Caesarea. Festus asked him if he would go to Jerusalem to be tried, but Paul said he should be tried by Caesar. Festus answered, "Unto Caesar thou shalt go."

Festus told King Agrippa that Paul had done nothing worthy of death, but he had appealed to Caesar. Agrippa listened to Paul's review of his life and conversion, then said, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian."

Paul was taken in chains aboard a ship bound for Italy. Terrible storms tossed the vessel about. Paul told all on board that God had promised that no one would lose his life, but the ship was wrecked on an island, but all saved.

In Rome Paul was given a house of his own and a soldier to guard him. He was also allowed to receive his friends, and many came to see him and to be taught, some believing, others not. MEMORY VERSE—Romans 8:28.

FARM SAFETY MEASURES

Farming is a dangerous job. The risks are physical as well as financial. In the last year of records, about 15,000 U. S. farm residents were killed in agricultural accidents. Another 1,200,000 were injured.

Each farm is a separate sphere of management and operation which involves a wide variety of activities and working conditions. The heavy toll of accidents caused by these different farm tasks wipes out some 17 million man days of labor every year.

Texas farmers may face one of the major accident creating situations this year — labor shortages. When hired help is scarce, the farmer takes on more of the work load. He toils longer hours and becomes tired long before the job is done. As a result, he is tempted to take risky short cuts or postpone needed repairs on machinery and buildings. This sets the stage for crippling accidents.

Farm machinery is the big killer. Careless handling of equipment causes many mishaps but even a careful operator may be hurt if he is running broken or worn machines. A good maintenance program for machinery could do much to keep down farm tragedies.

Another common cause of injuries is farm animals. Some accidents with animals are unavoidable. Still, many result from impatience on the farmer's part or an underestimation of the animal's dangerous traits. An ill-tempered bull not properly confined can errily kill or maim the farmer, worker, or member of the family.

Fires are a greater hazard on the farm than in the city. They cause 3,500 of the 15,000 farm deaths each year—not counting the millions lost in valuable food, domestic animals, clothing, buildings and equipment. These fires occur at the rate of 300 per day and most can be traced to defective heating units, flammable roofing materials, over-loaded electrical wires and lack of protection from lightning.

But the farmer and city dweller share equal risks right in the home. Four thousand farm residents die each year from accidents inside the house. Thus, home safety is a prime starting point in eliminating accidents which rob families of their livelihood.

Now that another season is underway, a little more caution and advance planning may help assure you of being around when the time comes to reap the harvest from seeds you're planting today.

With reference to God, the Bible says: "For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are My ways higher than your ways, and My thoughts." Isaiah 55:9. Some things in the Bible we do not understand because of ignorance of God's Laws; some things we do not understand, because we are so small in His estimation we are not supposed to understand them, so God's Word tells us: "Trust in The Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding." Proverbs 3:5.

Local Representatives With Sponsor Attend San Antonio FHA Meeting

By MARTHA CAROLYN GRAVES

Sarita Howard, Peggy Jones and I, accompanied by our sponsor, Miss Louise Irvine, left Goldthwaite early Thursday morning, April 30, to attend the annual Future Homemakers of America meeting in San Antonio.

We arrived just in time for my Music Committee Meeting in the Plaza Hotel. In this meeting I was chosen to play for the second general session in the Municipal Auditorium.

The theme of our meeting was, "Preserving Our American Heritage." The Honorable Judge Sarah T. Hughes, judge of the 14th Judicial District of Dallas, was the speaker for the occasion. Out of her broad experience, Judge Hughes reviewed the heritage of the American people. Through Dr. Bernice Moore, and Dr. John McFarland, consultants from the Texas Education Agency, Austin, we discussed our responsibilities toward preserving this heritage.

We had as our guests all of the State Officers of the Future Farmers of America, contrary to preceding years when only the State President has attended.

Sarita Howard, our local F. H. A. President '52-'53, acted as voting delegate from our chapter.

Saturday morning at the general session, the State Future Homemakers Degree was conferred upon Peggy Jones. Only 200 girls from this state received this honor.

The culminating event of the meeting was the Mardi-Gras

Super held on Friday night. The ten Texas F. H. A. Areas provided the evening's entertainment.

Throughout the meeting we were inspired by the talks of our sister F. H. A. members. Among the most outstanding were the talks given by our State President, Barbara Bradford, of Weatherford, and our National Secretary, Marilyn Davis, of Corpus Christi.

We hope, through attendance at this meeting, we will be able to better our local F. H. A. Chapter.

Mrs. C. T. Wilson accompanied her mother, Mrs. L. R. Hendry, and sisters, Mmes. J. R. Eudy, B. Close and daughter, Carolyn, all of Coleman, to Austin Saturday for a visit.

Mrs. Millard E. Collier and daughter, Benita, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Collier and sons, Richard and Jerry, over the weekend.

PARENT PROBLEMS

The Younger Child Who Tries To Keep Up with Big Brother

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

OFTEN in this column I have pointed out the tragedy to many an older child who sees a younger brother or sister overtaking or surpassing him at books, play skills or social achievements.

To the opposite extreme is the younger child who strives hard to keep up with an older brother or sister in physical activity, or in doing as well in books as the older one did in the same grade. If this younger child lags at school, he may have to hear his teacher say, "Now when your brother was in this grade..." Teachers should know better.

In writing this mother I urged her to try to set the stage so the little daughter might not strive so hard to keep up with her big brother; to encourage each child to play with other children of his own age, so the competition by the younger might not be so strenuous. Nor is it good for the older one to set the pace so easily. He needs more adequate competition for his own good, lest he find normal competition by-and-by very hard for him.

As for the bedwetting, I advised about like this: Since your daughter occasionally wakens dry, your continuing to celebrate her successes might suffice, especially when you help her have a less strenuous day.

May Succeed

You know the youngster of four, seven or ten who tries to keep up at play with an older child, tries to run as fast or play as skillfully. Sometimes this younger child tries so desperately that he succeeds, but in doing so uses up a tremendous amount of energy, always fearful he might not quite make it. Often the younger contestant is only a year or two younger.

But in a letter from the mother of a girl, four and a half, who keeps dry by day but wets the bed at night, this mother writes: "She has a brother who is four years older and they get along together fine. As a matter of fact, she keeps right up to him in playing, and so forth."

Gradually Recover

I hope you don't rebuke her or shame her or feel unduly concerned over the matter. Lots of children still wet the bed after entering school and gradually recover. If, as the time approaches for her entering school, she has shown no marked improvement, set the clock to get you up about two or three a.m. In the meanwhile, armor her bed with an impervious sheet and assure her she need have no worries. Also, have her checked by your physician. (My bulletins, "Some Psychology of Bedwetting," and "Celebrate Successes," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

Ebony News

By Clementine Wilmet Briley
(Written For Last Week.)

Rains fell here Tuesday evening of last week, April 28, amounting to 1.1 inches, making the total rainfall on the Briley farm for April this year 1.6 inches. Last year it was 8.2 inches. A fierce wind accompanied the rain. When it hit the house, it tumbled a framed picture off the piano onto the floor. It also broke off some mesquite limbs on the outside. Monday night of this week we had 4.5 inch of rain.

Mrs. Eugene Egger says her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ketchum, of Brownwood has been in the hospital all this past week. Mrs. Bob Egger fell and cut her hand one night last week when she got up to close a door. It bled so much she has been confined to her bed for several days on account of weakness from loss of blood.

John Briley called on Charlie Griffin Monday and found that Charley has been sick for a week. He said his daughter, Mrs. Gladys LaRue visited them Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Egger announced the arrival of a daughter, Katherine, born April 27 at a Brownwood hospital.

Dayton Boreu of the Buck Richards Ranch near Brady came by for his sister, Mrs. Taylor Duncan, Saturday evening and took her and Annette with him to Lubbock to see their sister, Mrs. Joyce Houser. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Slate and their son, Clifton Slate, of Odessa, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Egger.

Mrs. Taylor Duncan came Thursday afternoon to help John Briley hunt for a young calf that shot through a sheep-proof barbed wire fence and disappeared into the Wilmet pasture that awful windy, sandy Wednesday. She said she had to shoe her mare's hind feet before she came. But she said it was very easy. The mare stood perfectly still. They didn't find the calf, but he showed up close to home that evening. He had to be doctored. We put him in a lot next to the one his mother was in, but he was out and gone next morning. A fence seems to be no barrier to him.

Something good comes from even the worst disaster and we are glad to have found you and your good, generous friends and neighbors like you, who are helping us in our time of need.

Household Hint

Kitchen lighting should be arranged so that clear, direct light falls on the sink, range and work surfaces. Light also should shine on cupboards. Light-colored walls and ceilings help visibility. To prevent glare, a semi-gloss finish is better than a high gloss.

Words of the Wise

Large enterprises make the few rich, but the majority prosper only through the carefulness and detail of thrift.

Rain or Shine

By VERA WINSTON
TODAY'S raincoat is a real all-weather job, a shining success in the sun, a good protector in the rain. This nice one is of gray and pink shadow plaid with a solid gray corduroy collar, the fabric water-repellent. It has an insulated lining making it right for all but very warm or very cold days. Slit pockets and turned back cuffs are other details. A good choice for the traveler since it goes nicely over suits and dresses.

What Makes One Job Better Than Another?

What if the tables were turned... and college graduates stopped filling out job applications, and instead, submitted questionnaires for companies to fill out? It might be they would ask:

"Why should I work for your company? ... Is your bank balance healthy? ... Are you expanding fast? ... Will I get responsibility in a hurry? ... Can I pick the type of work I like? ... Are you fun to work with? ... Do you have smart men I can learn from? ... Free schooling to train me further? ... Research and know-how? ... Money for the finest equipment? ... Will you recognize and utilize my talents?"

Isn't it a sign of a pretty good job when young men with talent can have a clear road ahead, can learn from people they respect and admire, and can work on projects of national importance?

From where we sit, we've been watching this happen. Teams of people at General Electric—in their twenties most often—are solving problems of jet plane engines, new chemicals, home appliances, guided missiles... everything from atomic power to air conditioning. And they're working in responsible jobs, with experts of recognized authority.

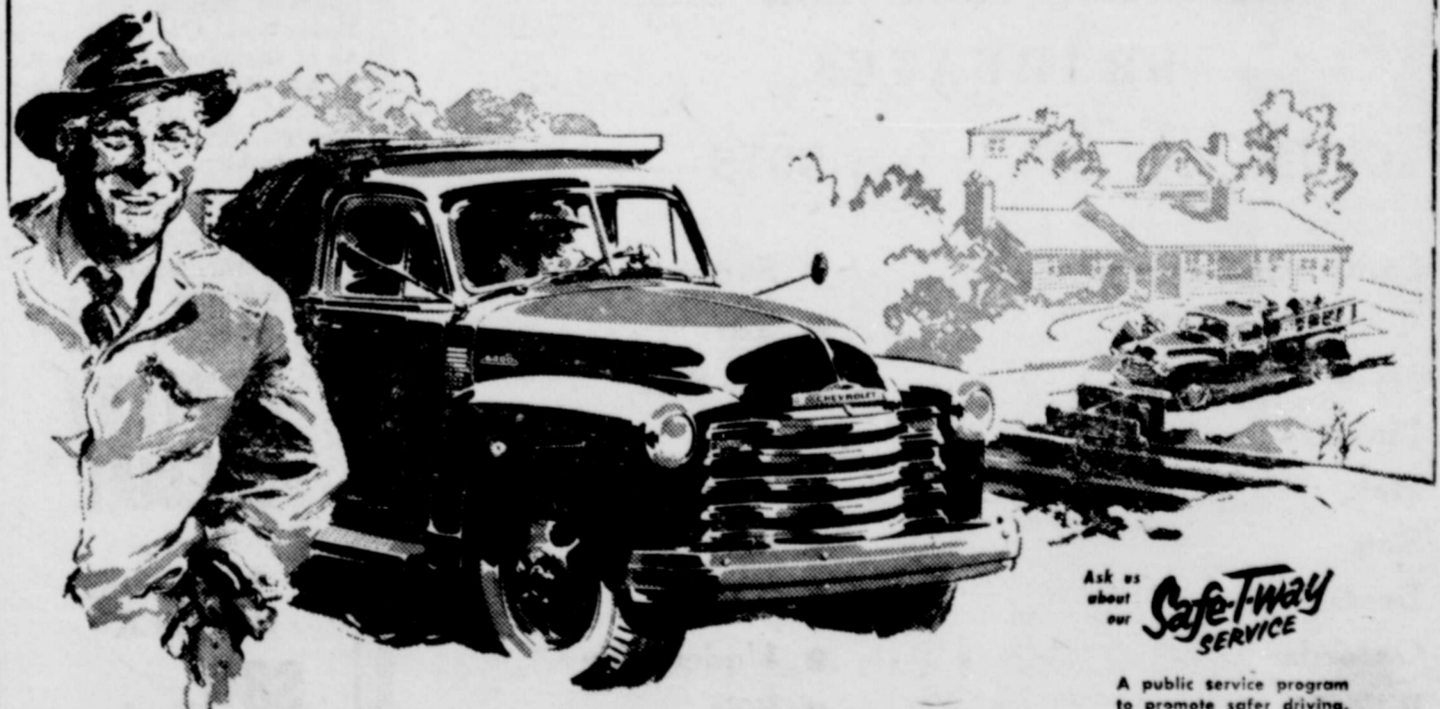

Maybe it's because we're growing fast that young men move into new and bigger jobs. Or because we've been lucky enough to hire the type of men who grab responsibility and work hard to achieve success. Whatever single factor or combination it is, young men and success do go together at General Electric.

You can put your confidence in—

GENERAL ELECTRIC

No doubt about it...

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

Ask us about our Safe-T-Way SERVICE

A public service program to promote safer driving.

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

Mills County Farmers Are Urged To Supply PMA Office With Wheat Data

Wheat growers have been asked to come to the County Production and Marketing Administration office at their earliest convenience. Their help is urgently needed to bring farm-program records up to date, in preparation for possible acreage allotments and marketing quotas on the 1954 wheat crop.

This appeal follows a recent announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that the U. S. Department of Agriculture would immediately start the preliminary work necessary in case production and marketing controls are required for the next wheat crop.

According to Luther Soules, Chairman of the County PMA Committee, certain information from farmers is absolutely necessary in order to do a sound administrative job of setting equitable acreage allotments for individual farms. Farm allotments will be determined by the County PMA Committee, with the assistance of the community committees.

Data needed includes the farm's wheat acreage and production data for the 3 years 1951, 1952 and 1953; the legal description of the land and other pertinent information. If the farmer operates a rented farm, he should be able to supply such additional information as the name and address of the owner.

Mr. Soules emphasizes that the final decision has not yet been made as to whether acreage allotments or marketing quotas will be used for the 1954 crop of wheat. That decision will be made later, when more is known about the supply and prospective demand situations. However, the indicated wheat supply is such that production controls will probably be necessary, as directed by law.

Proclamation of a national wheat acreage allotment is mandatory unless dispensed with by the Secretary because of a national emergency or a material increase in exports. Proclamation of quotas is mandatory when supplies reach a certain point specified in the legislation, except under emergency conditions.

An early start on the necessary advance work is particularly urgent, Mr. Soules explained, because the decision and proclamation must be made not later than July 1 for marketing quotas and July 15 for acreage allotments without quotas. If quotas are proclaimed, a national referendum among growers must be held by July 25.
