Based on preliminary surveys, the board entered a finding, and anticipated benefits will be realized through the project.

Governor Allen Shivers Designates May 22-28 Defense Saving Bond Week

AUSTIN, Tex. (Spec.) — Governor Shivers today proclaimed the week of May 22-28 as "U. S. Defense Savings Bonds Week" in Texas, and called upon all Texans to do their part toward national defense by increasing their purchases of United States Saving Bonds.

"It is the earnest desire of every American," the Governor said, "that our country maintain an impregnable defense for the protection of our democratic ideals and free way of life. One way to insure this is through increased sale of Defense Savings Bonds. Therefore, I call upon every Texan to join wholeheartedly in this campaign."

More than 1200 volunteer workers representing every Texas county will devote their time and efforts to this drive during the week of May 22. Their goal will be: (1) to double the number of people buying bonds regularly on the Payroll Savings Plan, and (2) to ask those already on the Plan to increase the amount of purchases each payday.

"Texas ranked only 38th in the nation in 1954 in the percentage of the state sales goal attained," the Governor said. "This is far short of Texas standards. I think we can lead the nation in 1955 if every Texan will give this matter serious thought and action!"

New National Capitol Building Being Urged | Historic Old Edifice Would Become Museum

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Tourists visiting Washington will agree readily with Senator Styles Bridges (R), New Hampshire, in his contention that the nation needs a new Capitol building. Visitors must see up and wait patiently—and seemingly endlessly—to get from the street floor to the galleries of the Capitol because the building has so few elevators.

The service, or lack of it, is a dramatic example of how the historic Capitol, in Bridges' words, is rapidly becoming obsolete. It is just too small for the mushroomed business Congress has taken upon itself.

Bridges predicts, with at least some support, that the present building will be replaced eventually by a much larger and more modern structure. He says the present Capitol, with its much-photographed dome, should become a national museum. The senator wants Congress to start shopping for additional land right now.

Part of the present Capitol building dates back to 1803 when the cornerstone was laid by President George Washington. Interior of both wings was destroyed by fire in 1814 when British troops set the original structure ablaze. The wings housing the Senate and the House of Representatives, and the great dome were added between 1851 and 1865.

The Capitol is a really big building. Its overall length is 751 feet 4 inches. The structure varies in width from 121 to 350 feet. The dome which dominates the Washington scene towers to a height of 287 feet 5 inches, or about as high as a 28-story building.

The Capitol, incidentally, like the White House, occupies the site indicated for it on the original plan of the federal city drawn up by Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, a French engineer, who had served in the Revolutionary war.

● JOHNSON IN MIDDLE?—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D), Texas, has done a remarkable job in holding his party members together on key issues. However, he may soon run into a buzz-saw on foreign policy issues.

Senator Walter F. George (D), Georgia, dean of the Senate and chairman of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee, is solidly behind President Eisenhower's decision to keep the issue of whether the United States will defend Quemoy and Matsu in the balance.

On the other hand, Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic party's titular head and 1952 presidential nominee, disagrees and says the United States cannot afford to go to war over the offshore islands.

Stevenson has strong Senate support within Democratic ranks for his stand, writing off, in effect, Quemoy and Matsu. If the question becomes explosive in the near future, Johnson will find himself in the middle of an issue which may have an important bearing on world history.

● IKE IN 1956?—There are increasing reports on Capitol Hill that the President has decided to call it quits at the end of his present term and will not seek another in 1956.

However, despite the growing reports the odds are increasing that the Republicans will tell Mr. Eisenhower he will have to be their standard bearer next year.

Adding to this speculation was the announcement by Chief Justice Earl Warren that he will not be a presidential candidate under any circumstances or conditions.

There had been some talk in high circles that Warren would head up the GOP ticket in place of Mr. Eisenhower. The situation now is that Ike definitely intends to ward off pressure attempts by his Republican colleagues that he run again.

A small world it is. I received a letter from Bob Gresham of the Tourist Court Journal, with offices in Temple, Texas, a few days ago which is of interest to many of our readers, especially those who like to keep up with the 50 years ago column. He wrote:

"Good Morning Mr. Koleber:

One of your good subscribers, Mr. Nolan Horton, 1309 South 7th Street, Ponca City, Oklahoma, sent a tear sheet of page 2 of the April 14 issue of The Goldthwaite Eagle to the writer. Here he circled an item out of the 50 years ago column in which it stated, 'R. O. Gresham came in Tuesday morning from Temple, etc.' This was my father, no doubt, since actually I am R. O. Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Last we see spring even in El Paso. Grassy yards are green, many flowers are blooming. In an old, low part of El Paso where yards are flooded with irrigation ditches, large elm trees interlace their branches across shady streets. Where we must depend on the water hose for watering, growth is not so rank.

On Almagordo Street there is a large cemetery we pass each time we go to church that hurts me like a blow. There are great stretches of crosses and modest tombstones, but not one sprig of growth. Just as bare as a desert. While beyond, separated by only a high fence, and facing on Alameda Ave. is a beautiful cemetery lush with evergreens, shrubs, grass, and flowers.

Bill has sowed our back yard in Bermuda grass. For weeks John has watered diligently each day trying to bring it up. At last it is peeping through in places, but watering must go on each day, or it will die. Bill's water bill for April was $17.60.

Last week there were four days of the International Arid Lands Meetings in Albuquerque, N. M. About 100 scientist and other conferees from the 25 nations represented in the Arid Land Symposium came on to El Paso Saturday, April 30, and were at the Del Camino Saturday night for a press conference and banquet. While here they made a field trip through Estancia Valley and White Sands.

Dr. A. N. Sayre of the Department of the Interior, chairman of a symposium on problems of the Rio Grande, said El Paso area farmers may face more than 10 years future drouth. He says the Rio Grande Area is in one of the worst drouths of the past 600 years. He believes that in the 11th century there was a drouth as severe as this which lasted 25 years. The present drouth has lasted 12 years. He estimates that if normal precipitation returned now, it would take three years for the land to be free from drouth conditions.

At the El Paso Herald-Post and Fort Worth Press Save-the-Soil and Save Texas Conservation Awards program held in Fort Worth Saturday night, April 30, farmers agreed that if you treat the land right it will produce in spite of dust and drouth.

One man told how his district, despite the state's all-time record in drouth, husbanded over 1,000,000 acres of land with deferred grazing, brush eradication, the use of gully plugs and other small dams, buying equipment needed by cooperators, and range pitting. Another man said he believes farmers might as well get used to the idea that we can't always get all the rain we want, but we can make better use of what we do get. We must learn how to put our land in condition to make the best possible use of the moisture that falls.

The Churches of Christ of El Paso have this week been conducting a four days training school at the Montana Street Church. We have heard many interesting things discussed. Gayle Oler, superintendent of Boles Orphan Home near Greenville, speaking on Juvenile Delinquency, said not long ago he talked with Tom Pinnock, who is with Family Service in Denver. Mr. Pinnock said that in the past three years they have had not one case of juvenile delinquency from a normal home. All are from broken or insecure homes.

But back to our drouth. The May number of the Farmer-Stockman forecasts plenty of rainfall for Okla., Kans., and Texas this year, but not so good for 1955 through 1959. It suggests that we plant lots of good seed for feed, fertilize well, fill lots of silos for the lean years ahead.

What about all these lean years behind us? I have been dreaming of fruitful years ahead like 1919 that ended the severe drouth of 1917-1918. When the wild flowers bloomed so beautifully and so abundantly that Valeta Lindsey, who went home on vacation, wrote me at Dallas, "The half has not been told." When the orchards broke with their loads of beautiful peaches. When loads of big, smooth, red-ripe tomatoes wasted in the gardens. When P. R. Reid leased the 70 acre Singleton place for about $150 and made enough cotton to buy outright the King place, now owned by R. D. Egger.

Here's hoping these prophets don't know what they're talking about. But if it come to that we'll have to take Ella Wheeler Wilcox's philosophy and say, "If we can't have what we like, we'll like what we have."

O. H. Yarborough, who has been confined to his bed, by doctors orders the past six weeks was greeting friends down town Monday of this week.

Census Supervisor Urges Business Men To File Reports To Complete Job

Collection of reports in the 1954 Censuses of Business, Manufactures and Mineral Industries, which are being conducted nationwide by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, now is moving into the home stretch.

Thirty-eight temporary field offices, established early this year to conduct these Censuses, are concentrating on the task of working themselves out of a job. These offices will be closed as soon as all business men have filed their reports and these reports have been checked and relayed to Washington. Among these field offices the one covering this area is that of Census Supervisor Joe Henry, located at Dallas, Texas. Here 16 employees are at work processing reports received to date from 41,000 establishments. They are aiming for completion of the job in the next few weeks when reports from a remaining 8,500 establishments have been received.

Registered letters are being sent to establishments which have not filed their reports in compliance with Census law, formally notifying them that their reports have not been received despite several previous reminders and that these reports must be returned promptly in accordance with the law.

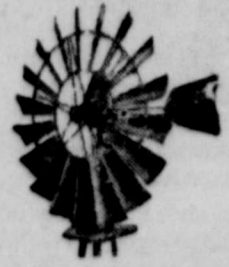

In a statement addressed to heads of business establishments in this area, Census Supervisor Joe Henry pointed out that the Census Bureau, like any well-conducted business is trying to avoid unnecessary delays and added expense arising from such delays.

"Delays are costly both in terms of added expense and the loss of time that cannot be recovered," Supervisor Joe Henry said.

Mrs. Freddie Marshall of Lubbock arrived here last Friday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Laughlin.

Mrs. A. C. Langlitz of Priddy is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. Luther Ward and family.

Manasseh's Sin and Repentance

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scriptures—II Chronicles 33.

Manasseh did not follow in the footsteps of his good father, Hezekiah. He built altars to heathen gods, even in the house of the Lord, although the Lord had said, "In Jerusalem shall be My Name forever."

The Lord spoke to the people of Judah but they would not listen. To punish them He allowed the Assyrian hosts to overcome them. They made Manasseh prisoner, binding him with fetters, and taking him to Babylon.

Manasseh then began to see how wicked he had been. He bitterly repented of his evil deeds. He sought out the Lord and humbly sought forgiveness. And the Lord listened and brought him back to Jerusalem.

After the restoration of his kingdom, Manasseh took away the idols from the holy temple. He built up the altar of Jehovah and commanded his people to serve only the Lord.

Many Uses for Apples

By ALICE DENHOFF

CANNED apple juice, applesauce and canned apple slices, fine as they are on their own, add a delicious touch when used in other dishes.

Try, for instance, the following fruit juice cocktail for a festive dinner starter. Chill 2 c. apple juice, 1 c. cranberry juice and 1 c. carbonated water. Just before serving, combine and pour into cocktail glasses to serve 6-8. Garnish with lime or lemon slice. Serve at once.

Apple Ham Ring

Then, for a main dish, there's Upside Down Apple Ham Ring. To serve 6-8, drain 1 can sliced apples; add ¼ c. brown sugar. Mix ½ tsp. mustard and 2 tsp. vinegar to smooth paste; add to apples. Mix well. Place in bottom of a large ring mold.

Line Bottom of Mold

Beat 2 eggs, add 2 lb. ground smoked ham, ½ c. cracker crumbs and tsp. Worcestershire sauce. Stir ½ tsp. mustard into ½ c. milk; add to ham mixture. Mix well.

Pack into ring mold on top of apples. Bake at 350° F. for 1½ hours.

Turn out upside down on serving platter. Fill center of mold with candied sweet potatoes and garnish with parsley and radish roses.

Serve with cold slaw and hot rolls.

Jellied Fruit Salad

For a fine jellied fruit salad, soften 2 env. plain gelatin in 1 c.

orange juice; dissolve over boiling water. Add tsp. grated orange rind, 1 c. orange sections, ½ c. each diced dates, diced celery, tsp. lemon juice and 2 c. canned applesauce. Mix well.

Pour into 1-qt. mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm.

Unmold on lettuce. Serve 4 to 6 with mayonnaise or other salad dressing.

Applesauce Parfait Pie will be a real addition to any homemaker's pie filling collection.

Start With Crust

Starting with the crust, use either a pastry mix or make your own as follows:

Sift together 1½ c. flour, ¼ c. sugar, tsp. cinnamon and ½ tsp. salt. Cut in ½ c. shortening with 2 knives or pastry blenders. Sprinkle about ¼ c. cold water over mixture, lightly tossing with fork until dough is moist enough to hold together.

Form into ball. Roll out on floured board. Fit into 9-in. pie plate; make fluted edge. Bake at 425° F., 15 min. or until brown.

Preparing the Filling

For filling, add package lemon-flavored gelatin to 1½ c. boiling water; stir until dissolved. Cut 1 pint vanilla ice cream into fourths; add to hot gelatin mixture, stirring until ice cream has melted. Add 2 c. canned apple sauce; mix well.

Put filling in refrigerator until slightly set. Stir; pour into pie shell; sprinkle top with nutmeg. Chill until set. A real party pie!

Girl Scouts And Leaders Tour San Marcos On Annual Trip

MRS. IMA JEAN MCNIEL, seventy seven intermediates, leaders and mothers met on the courthouse lawn at 10 o'clock last Saturday morning. After last minute preparations and words of caution from the mothers who were not going, the expected trip to San Marcos began. Chatter, chewing gum, crackers and singing occupied the girls for some time. A short stop was made for gas and snacks.

San Marcos was reached with only minutes to spare before the ten o'clock show opened in the Aquarena. After entering a partly submerged submarine, we pulled down to enjoy an under water show. At first the ducks and performers could be seen both above and below the water line. As the boat slowly sank the view was totally under water. The fish attracted almost as much attention as the actors. It is hard to believe how those girls swam, dived, danced a ballet and even ate celery and drank Grapettes under water. The clowns humped and bumped through their acts. One even took Mr. Jones' picture under water, it was a good likeness, too.

After leaving the Aquarena, we stepped aboard glass bottomed boats for a ride over the bubbling springs that form the head of the San Marcos River. A fairland of aquatic life can be seen as the boats move slowly along. Flowers bloom under water; various kinds of fish swim along the side. The water is so clear that anything thirty or forty feet deep can be seen clearly.

Next stop was the souvenir shops, where everything from shell dolls and turtles to straw hats and cameras (?) were bought. Then came lunch and how good those sandwiches and drinks were.

During our rest period, Mrs. Benningfield made arrangements for a visit to Gary Airfield Base, the largest helicopter base in the United States. There we inspected a fire house, the mess hall and the helicopter field. It was quite thrilling to sit in a real helicopter and imagine flying up and up. Watching them land and take-off was interesting also. Our last stop at the Base was the Weather Bureau office where the girls were told how weather is forecast and how shown the instruments used.

Then, a little after four we turned toward home. In all too short a time Goldthwaite heard us coming. Another successful Girl Scout Trip ended with no accidents, very little car sickness, a happy group of girls and tired leaders and mothers.

We wish to extend our thanks to the Leaders, mothers, our bus drivers, Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Stokes and to Mr. L. J. Ward, who furnished our water can and drinking cups.

Those who accompanied the girls were: Troop 8: Mrs. Floy Burns— Leader, Lawana Benningfield, Co-leader; Mrs. How-

PARENT PROBLEMS

If You'd Like to Teach

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D. AS you know, there's a shortage of teachers in our elementary schools—75,000 more trained ones needed; and this shortage is creeping to the high school.

Hopeful Development

There's a hopeful development in progress, furthered by the Committee on New Teachers for the Nation's Classrooms, under the leadership of the director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor and the U.S. Commissioner of Education. The plan is to provide accelerated and high-standard training for mature, qualified persons who now hold bachelor's degrees but who have not had professional preparation or experience as teachers. This program would be held for candidates in or near their own areas and prepare new teachers for posts in their own local school districts.

Local Candidates

Most women who received the baccalaureate degree some years ago and then devoted themselves to the important task of home-making and rearing children are ideal candidates for this program. Other candidates may be drawn from college graduates, both men and women, who wish to change their vocations to teaching.

For some years in scattered places of the nation, a few such programs have been in progress.

But the idea bids fair to spread to practically all areas.

Recruiting Candidates

Civic organizations can be called upon to help recruit the teaching candidates and promote the program. Already the P.T.A. and American Association of University Women have shown effective interest.

Let us hope that many of you mothers who read this column will look into this matter. Why not talk to your local superintendent of schools about it? If you have a college degree and your children are attending school or are pretty much grown up, you might want to make yourself available. While doing a fine service for your community, you might also find a wholesome means for cultivating your talents and widening and enriching your interests, with the result that you might actually contribute more to your family.

Another Advantage

In case your children are in school, you would usually leave for work and return, about the time your children did. Otherwise, you could afford to hire a responsible person to be in your home when you are not there.

OUR FARMING INDUSTRY NEEDS A GOOD PRESS AGENT

The term "publicity man" had a bad ring to the ears of the average farmer. Nevertheless, no other segment of our economy has had such adverse publicity in the past two years as our farm people.

Most farmers would be repelled by the idea that an "outsider" should champion his cause with the people of the nation. A farmer prides himself on being a rugged individualist—the man supporting the basic structure of our national economy. He prefers to make his own way, grow his crops, care for his land and make a little money, without outside interference.

But in these days of complex interdependence of one industry on another, rugged individualism is slowing becoming a thing of the past. The farmer needs someone to tell his story to the city people. He needs someone to explain that high prices today don't necessarily start on the farm. They are largely the result of increased cost in transportation, processing and marketing of farm goods.

Even some of our national farm leaders have contributed to the distorted idea that high farm prices are the main factor in the present high cost of living. What is the true story?

During the past four years, the price the farmer has received for his produce has decreased 24 percent. Yet the cost of foodstuffs has not decreased in a like amount. A loaf of bread still costs the same although wheat prices have dropped drastically. This fact is true of most commodities which originated on the land.

City people have been sold the idea that the farmer is responsible. They have been told that high support prices mean burdensome demands on their salaries for needed foodstuffs. Yet how much of this 24 percent drop in farm prices was past on to them in food dollar savings? About 1/2 of one percent.

The difference came out of the farmers pocket. He has had to cut back by one-fourth the amount of goods and services he needs to maintain his living standard. His buying power has suffered a similar blow.

This is the story that needs to be told. The farmer isn't a gouger of the salaried dollar. He is the victim of bad publicity. The result has been the end of a guaranteed price program for his goods by the federal government which once served as a kind of "minimum wage law" for the farm population.

Miss Marsalette Summy of San Angelo visited friends in Goldthwaite last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Jones and William W. spent Sunday afternoon Mother's Day with their daughter and sister, Joan Jones in Temple.

Gasoline Is Still Family's Best Shopping Bargain Says Mike Johnson

Competition, research and the public's price-conscious buying habits are the reasons "gasoline continues to be the family's best shopping bargain," according to Mr. Mike Johnson of the Goldthwaite Oil Industry Information Committee.

Speaking as a representative of the oil industry nation-wide as well as a local businessman, Mr. Johnson, who is a partner of Johnson Brothers, Texaco Dealer, said the U. S. Consumer Price Index substantiated these facts.

"Clothing prices, for example, have gone up 63 per cent since 1925," he said. "House furnishing increased 65.8% and food costs rose 71.1%."

"In contrast, gasoline prices have risen very little. If you discount federal, state, and local taxes, over which neither oilmen nor competition have any control, records show that the increase in gasoline prices since 1925 — the year gasoline improvement really began — is only 7.3 per cent."

The spokesman added that, even with taxes included, the average increase in U. S. gasoline prices since 1925 is 30.8%. "That is below other basic commodities and below the average for all items, which is 53.1%. Gasoline taxes, incidentally, have increased 250% since 1925."

Mr. Johnson credited competition among the nation's 200,000 service stations and 42,000 other oil companies for keeping gasoline prices low. He pointed out that American people spend their dollars "where they can get the most or the best." This, he said, keeps their buying habits so flexible that businesses and industries must constantly raise quality and lower costs "to woo and win consumer dollars."

"At the same time," he added, "competition among oil companies to develop better products has brought about remarkable improvements in gasoline quality — two gallons of today's gasoline will do the work that required three gallons in 1925."

Mr. Johnson said recently-compiled American Petroleum Institute information upon which he based his statements was issued to supply answers to five questions most frequently asked about gasoline and the petroleum industry. In addition to clarifying the factors that determine gasoline prices, he said this data deals with the variety of branded gasolines, adequate supply, the future of oil as affected by atomic energy and "myths about a so-called 100-mile-per-gallon carburetor."

Brown-Mills Soil Conservation News

By CHARLES HAENISCH

Grass cover is improving on rangeland of cooperators of the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District who have been deferring their rangeland this spring.

While developing a conservation plan with technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, Mr. W. O. Kemp found seedlings of Little bluestem and Sideoats grama on rangeland that had received seventy five days of complete rest. Mr. Kemp states that these grasses were not visible when the deferment was started.

The amount of cover on the pasture has almost doubled since the deferment started.

Most of Olen's rangeland will be deferred for another seventy five days. One 142 acre pasture will not be grazed until November to allow the grasses to seed.

Other cooperators deferring rangeland in this area are: Lowell Burkes, A. G. Wasserman, LeRoy Johnson, W. B. Black, Geo. L. Walton, Wilfred Schuster, and Hubert Reeves.

W. A. Triplett, north of Mullin, has been using an offset disc on the flat areas of his pastures. This plow makes small pits which catch rainfall and allows it to soak into the ground, giving the pitted area additional moisture.

Cooperators of this District in the Brownwood area have found moisture penetrating as deep as eighteen inches on pitted areas in contrast to only three or four inches on adjacent areas not pitted.

Mr. Triplett believes this prac... tice to be worth the time and effort during these drought years.

Reports from the churches of the District indicate a large participation in the tenth annual Soil Stewardship Sunday observance. The supervisors feel that many of the people are better informed of the conservation problems of this area by having this observance in their church.

The supervisors urge those churches not participating in this observance to plan now to set this special day aside next year.

AUSTIN, Texas—This may be the final week of the 1955

Legislative session.
Gov. Allan Shivers' guess for final adjournment, made two weeks ago, was May 25. It appears now that the Legislature may beat that date by a few days.
Overshadowing everything in the past several weeks has been the big tax bill. But it is reaching its final form. Only a long hassle in the House, over acceptance or rejection of Senate changes in the $100,000,000 new tax measure will cause further delay in adjournment.

MIAMI JUDGE RULES TED WILLIAMS OUT AT HOME

MRS. DORIS WILLIAMS leaves Dade County Courthouse in Miami, Fla., with her lawyer after obtaining a divorce from Ted Williams (right), former star of the Boston Red Sox. The decree was believed to clear the way financially for the famous outfielder to return to baseball but Ted insisted he "has no definite plans." Judge George E. Holt said he was taking financial arrangements under advisement.

Optimists thought final agreement might be reached by Friday on the tax bill. This would unblock the big billion and a half dollar, two-year appropriation bill on which conferees already have agreed. If and when that is done the Legislators will go home. They have been serving since May 10 without pay.
Final agreement on the constitutional amendment reviving the veterans land program — passed in different form by the two chambers — and on the $100,000,000 bond issue to aid water districts — amended in the House to change the form of taxation — would round up major business.

Both branches virtually abandoned efforts to pass any more of the untouched calendar bills.
A final vote on San George Parkhouse's "Port Arthur Strike Bill" in the House, early this week left it awaiting only Senate concurrence or conference action. The bill prohibits picketing to force an employer to recognize a union, or to force workers to join it, unless the union represents a majority of the employees. It authorizes a court to order an election to see if the union has the majority.
Already passed was Parkhouse's "Ford Motor Bill" to deny unemployment benefits to workers idled because of a strike of their union in some other plant of their employer.

Hanging fire in the House was the third of Parkhouse's labor bills, authorizing suits for injunctions and damages in picketing or strikes contravening the "Port Arthur bill."

INSURANCE REMEDY
One of the major jobs that faced the legislature has been completed, says Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, by the passage of four insurance bills. This is what the measures do:

Plug up legal loopholes that permitted promoters in the last four years to sell $100,000,000 in worthless insurance stocks.

Require fire and casualty insurance companies to have capital of at least $150,000.

Require stock life companies to have $100,000 capital and $100,000 surplus and prohibit future organization of $25,000 limited capital stock companies. Limit investment in home office buildings to one-third of a company's assets.

Define the authority of the State Insurance Commission to act as a board and authorize it to make stricter and more frequent examination of insurance companies. Provide for the commission to review the management operations and financial plans of proposed new companies.

SHIVERS, SHEPPERD TALK
Governor Shivers and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd appeared before the House investigating committee to talk about the veterans land problem.

Shivers remarked that he had been criticized because, as a member of the Veterans Land Board, he had not discovered any of the irregularities.

"Regular checking by the state auditor failed to uncover any wrongdoing," Shivers said, "and it is well known that irregularities were discovered outside the land board's records."

assured the committee that no change has been made or ordered in the minutes of the Veterans Land Board.

Where errors occurred, it was pointed out, the original minutes of the April 27 meeting.

LAND BILL DEBATED
On the Senate floor, there was debate on a bill which the House has passed and which is aimed at preventing future villainy in the veterans land program.

Rep. Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde is author of the bill which would more strictly regulate land sales and introduce new safeguards into administration of the program.

SURPRISE DEVELOPMENT
Biggest development was the surprise call by Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee of a court of inquiry, at the request of Attorney General Shepperd, to start a six-week check of the operation of the entire billion-dollar General Land Office under former Commissioner Bascom Giles.

This involves money of state land sales, the leasing and sales by the Board for School Land Leasing, the Board for Mineral Development of University lands. The tidelands leasing is in the school program.

Shepperd said other VLB members, Gov. Shivers and new Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder, joined him in requesting the court of inquiry.

Sen. Jimmy Phillips charged it was a publicity gimmick to head off a legislative investigation of the Land Office, proposed in pending House resolutions.

District Judge J. Harris Gardner rendered judgement in the first civil suit by the state to forfeit a block veterans land deal and recover the money. This verdict was against Sam R. Ward, involving a $33,000 sale of Zavala County land to eight veterans.
