William A. Keller, Studebaker general sales manager, told Shelton Brothers and other dealers that Studebaker produced more cars in the first five months of this year than in the first nine months of 1954, and that constantly rising sales have reached a volume more than 50 per cent higher than the comparable period in 1954.

Producers Of Wool, Sheep And Lambs To Ballot On Promotion Referendum

There will be held a "Referendum on Approval of Agreement Between the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. and the United States Secretary of Agriculture", between now and August 19.

The American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., is an organization which has been chartered under the law of the State of Illinois for the purpose of developing and conducting advertising and sales promotion programs on a national basis for wool, sheep and lambs, and the producers thereof. Its membership is confined to individuals engaged in the production for marketing of lambs and wool, and to organizations who engage in or have members who are engaged in the production, marketing, or handling of lambs and wool. It is governed by a delegate body and board of directors representing the membership.

As of June 15, 1955, the following organizations were members of the Council: National Wool Growers Association, National Wool Marketing Corporation, National Grange, National Farmers Union, National Livestock Producers Association, The Ohio Sheep Improvement Association, and Pacific Wool Growers. Provision is made for other organizations to become members of the council.

If this agreement becomes effective following this referendum, a deduction will be made from all payments for the 1955 marketing year at the rate of 1 cent per pound on shorn wool and at the rate of 5 cents per hundred weight on lambs and yearlings moved to slaughter with the wool on.

In each of the three subse-won by their son Joe Proctor when he exhibited some chickens to the championship while he was still living at home.

Mrs. Alva Dalton who went to Fort Worth the last day of the filming as a visitor "just to see what was going on" was cast as one of the "Rebels" when one of their members was on the sick list and unable to take part. Mrs. Joe Bailey Karnes didn't get into the actual filming but according to observers she "did a mighty good job of baby sitting, looking after some of the small fry whose parents were in the cast."

quent marketing years, the deductions shall be at such rates as the Secretary and the Council may agree upon but not to exceed a rate of 1 cent per pound in the case of shorn wool and a comparable rate there to in the case of lambs and yearlings. These funds will be available to defray costs of the advertising and sales promotion programs of the Council.

The ASC Office is mailing all wool producers of whom they have record, a ballot on which they may cast a vote for or against this agreement. Any individual, corporation, partnership or legal entity which had an interest as owner or partial owner in one or more sheep six months of age or older continuously for any one period of 30 consecutive days between the beginning of the current calendar year and the day on which his ballot is cast is an eligible voter.

It will be noted that ownership of Mohair or Angora goats will not qualify a producer to vote in the referendum.

This agreement will not become effective unless approved, on a national basis, by producers voting in this referendum who own at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs owned by all producers voting in this referendum.

The referendum is from June 27 or from the time you receive your ballot until August 19, 1955. Completed ballots may be returned to the ASC Office by mail or by person. A voter may cast his ballot in the ASC Office.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ross of Corpus Christi spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Moreland.

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Molotov Blast at U. S. Foreign Minister's Attacks Surprises Our Diplomats

WASHINGTON—American diplomats were surprised that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was so vehement in his blast at the United States during the United Nations meeting in San Francisco, particularly with the Big Four "at-the-summit" meeting upcoming.

They point out, however, that should the Big Four session fail, it will be plain to most of the world that impossible Soviet demands were responsible.

As they view it, if the Soviets expect at the Geneva conference to have Formosa handed over to Red China and the Peiping regime seated in the UN, the Communists are being unrealistically naive in their approach to the top level talks.

Molotov's bristling demands coupled with sharp attacks on the United States cast a shadow on the outlook for any firm results from the Big Four meeting and, unless the Soviet position changes, nothing much can be expected. However, the burden of blame now leans on the Red negotiators and not on the spokesmen of the free world.

SENATE SPEED—House members in the past have annually criticized the Senate about this time of year for delaying adjournment but this year the shoe is on the other foot.

House members themselves concede that this session, if there is any delay, it will be their responsibility rather than that of the customarily longer-winded Senate.

They take solace, however, from the fact that the main reason for the fast paced Senate progress stems from the skillful leadership of Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D), Texas, an alumnus of the House himself.

One House member commented: "The Senate usually slows down the legislative machinery. This year, it's different. Two key problems—the military reserve bill and the minimum wage issue—are bogged down in the House while the Senate has already completed action on them."

Another paid tribute to Johnson. He said: "The leaders are shooting for a July 15 adjournment. That means, if the past is any yardstick, that we can expect to quit sometime between Aug. 1 and Aug. 10. But with the job Johnson's doing, maybe we'll be heading for home in late July."

ATOMIC COLD WAR TRIUMPH—President Eisenhower's momentous "atoms for peace" program is emerging as one of America's solid diplomatic triumphs in the cold war.

More than a score of nations have already signed mutual agreements with the United States to share atomic know-how and peaceful developments.

VIC'S . . . SOLILOQUY

Mrs. J. L. Chancellor, of Mullin writes as follows: "I have been away for a few days and am late in sending in my renewal for the paper. Please keep the home town paper coming for another year. I enjoy the many personal news items which I find in the Eagle each week."

The Hollis Blackwells report a wonderful trip which took them through several states and into Canada. Among some of the notes of interest that Hollis reported when they returned were these:

One is on their little son Bill. It is said that they would be driving along through some really beautiful scenery with mountains, trees, flowers and everything that goes with it and there was Bill in the back of the car reading a comic book. When they called his attention to the surroundings he said: "Huh, nothing but hills and rocks," and with that he went back to his funny book.

Hollis also reported on his luck at trout fishing. Being a rather keen fisherman when it comes to deep sea fishing in the Gulf of Mexico one would gather that he had a big time. But as he reports: "Boy I'm no good at that mountain stream trout fishing." When asked about a game of golf in the Canadian Rockies he had a good report. "Played on one of the most beautiful courses I've ever seen," he said.

"I find that I am missing my home paper, so am sending my check. Please send me the Eagle for the next twelve months," writes Mrs. L. J. Rothwell of Dallas, Texas.

If you want to know what it feels like to take a swim in the Pacific Ocean, especially a fellow from sunny Texas, just ask R. T. Padgett. He tried it and while he liked it—after a fashion—it was almost more than he could take. In reporting on this phase of their experiences while vacationing on the west coast R. T. said: "Man, do you know how cold the Pacific Ocean is? Well, I found out. I went swimming and it was only a matter of moments and I thought I would freeze to death. Brother, I turned as purple as a turnip."

Texas who don't own an interest in a real oil well may soon become as rare as jackrabbits that can't jump.

And all because 16 Hollywood stars decided to invest $150,000 in Texas oil.

Jane Russell, Frank Sinatra, Dinah Shore, Henry King, Dorothy Lamour, Edgar Bergen and others took a flyer in 1950 on Glenn McCarthy's venture into the New Ulm field of Austin County.

As in that case, getting into the oil business usually costs plenty—but not any more.

Real legal assignments of royalty interest in one of the wells drilled for the film folk are now going on sale across the counter in Texas for one dollar.

Though it's just as legal as the deed on a house, the oil well assignment has been designed chiefly as a souvenir. It conveys a fractional interest to The Mark No. 1, west of Bellville, Texas. The well is currently producing about 25 barrels of oil and 500,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The souvenir document assigns all proceeds from the sale of oil and gas from the interest to a Texas charity. Buyers of the souvenir may designate the charity that benefits each year.

Houston newspapermen who developed the souvenir out of the Hollywood Syndicate's oil well took cognizance of the grandiose ideas out-of-staters have about Texas oil-men. They named their concern "The Texas Millionaires Oil Co."

It is being distributed by John Randolph of Tomball, the Texan who created a nation-wide stir with his books "Texas Brags" and "The Jokes on Texas."

Governor Allan Shivers received the first copy of the oil well assignment. "It gives one a great feeling of security," the governor wrote (with obvious tongue in cheek), "to know that he owns a 1/100,000th part of an undivided 3/3084th interest in an oil well. The size of the interest in the well is the only thing un-true about it. It is a trifle small. But it's a brand new souvenir that many Texans and tourists will be latching onto this summer," opined Randolph.

The Exiles in Babylon

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalm 137:1-6; Jeremiah 29:1-14; Daniel 2.

When the Jews' captors in Babylon asked them to sing a song of Zion as they sat forlornly by the river, they hung their harps on the trees and wept. How could they sing of Zion in a strange land?

King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon built a great golden image and told all the people to fall down and worship it when they heard the sound of the cornet, the flute, the harp, the dulcimer and the other musical instruments.

Those who did not worship the idol were to be thrown into a fiery furnace, the king ordered. Men told Nebuchadnezzar that three Jews, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, did not bow down and they were dragged before the king.

The three Jews still refused to worship the king's idol, so, furious, Nebuchadnezzar ordered the furnace heated and the men were bound and cast in. They came out unharmed.

MEMORY VERSE—Daniel 3:17-18.

Control Program For West Texas Federal Cost-Sharing Wind Erosion

Waco (Spec) — Farmers in drouth-stricken West Texas counties will be able to take advantage of a federal cost-sharing wind erosion control program again this year, a spokesman for the Texas Farm Bureau said here today.

Gene Leach, TFB legislative director, revealed that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has approved recommended improvements in the program authorizing payments for special cover crop practices.

Recommendations for improving the conservation program were made at a meeting of county Farm Bureau and chamber of commerce leaders from 12 West Texas counties July 2 in Lamesa. The Texas Farm Bureau presented the recommendations to the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee earlier this week.

The federal government will pay from $1.20 to $2.00 per acre for special cover crops planted to control wind erosion. For sorghums, the payments are $1.20 per acre for normal width rows, $1.90 per acre for rows 16 to 24 inches in width and for drilling and broadcasting. Millet payments are $1.75 per acre. The government will pay $2.00 for small grains (rye, oats and barley). Triple dwarf grain sorghum and volunteer crops will not qualify for Federal cost-sharing. Grazing, consistent with good management, is permitted, but a crop will not qualify if harvested for any purpose. The crop must be left on the land until the soil is plowed in preparation for seeding a crop in the spring or summer of 1956.

Leach and other Farm Bureau officials met with the State ASC Committee Tuesday to discuss the program. Presenting the West Texans' recommendations were C. H. DeVaney of Coahoma, vice-president of the Texas Farm Bureau; H. L. King of Brownfield, District 2 director; and Fred Raney of Lamesa, Dawson County Farm Bureau president.

Hillside Mission

By LIDA BYRNE

Why is it that we do not have the right season at the right time? The Bible says: "But this people hath a revolting and a rebellious heart; they are revolted and gone. Neither say they in their heart, Let us now fear the Lord our God that giveth rain, both the former and the latter, in his season: he reserveth unto us the appointed weeks of the harvest." Jeremiah 5:23, 24.

Change In Dates For Drivers' Exams

The Driver's License Examiner will not be in Goldthwaite next Wednesday July 27, 1955, but will be here on Wednesday August 10, which is the next regular date for taking examinations.

News About Social Security

Clergymen and Christian Science practitioners may now provide for their own retirement by voluntarily coming under the Federal social security program, Mr. James B. Marley, district manager of the Austin Social Security Office, announced today.

Recent amendments to the social security law permit ministers and members of religious orders who have not taken vows of poverty and Christian Science practitioners to afford social security protection to themselves and their families, Mr. Marley explained.

This choice of coverage is on an individual basis and does not apply to earnings before 1955. Coverage will be extended only to those individuals who file an affidavit expressing their desire to come under the program. The minister who elects coverage is considered self-employed, and, if from the practice of his ministry, his net earnings exceed $400 a year, he will pay the social security self-employment tax at the time he files his income tax return.

Each minister has until April 15, 1957, to file an affidavit requesting coverage; however, if he wants credit for his 1955 earnings, he must file his affidavit by April 15, 1956. Once an affidavit is filed, the minister must continue under social security every year thereafter.

He cannot revoke his affidavit.

ence practitioners who desire Ministers and Christian Science further information regarding the social security program are urged to write or visit the Austin Social Security Office. A leaflet, OASI-10, is available for interested clergymen and Christian Science practitioners.

These cattle are a part of my Charollaise herd of 110 head. I started three years ago with a registered Charollaise bull and black Angus cows. These long yearling heifers are 5/8 and 3/4 Charollaise blood. Since January I have been feeding Moorman's self-feeding 36% protein mineralized block to 24 cows and heifers and one bull. They have had no other kind of feed except grass. They have consumed 1200 pounds of the blocks—one fourth of a pound per head per day. They have done better on less feed than any cattle I have ever fed. Because of the results that I have been getting and the convenience of feeding Moorman's mintrate range block I have booked with Mr. Bryant for November delivery.

Signed: W. C. SHERWOOD GOLDTHWAITE, TEXAS

Moorman's range mintrate blocks are designed for cattle, sheep and goats. They are the newest, fastest selling mineralized protein feed in the range country. ### Brown-Mills Soil Conservation News

By CHARLES HAENISCH

Conservation of moisture is important on pasture land. R. J. Henry of Elkins can show the effects of moisture conservation on his pastures. Bob's ranch has been a portion of the district that some of the rains last year missed completely. As a result, Bob had a lot of turf die out because of the drought, Bob says, "I knew that when the rains did come something had to be done to these bare spots or all of the water would run off and I would get no moisture in the ground to grow grass."

"In order to help nature get a cover back on the land, Bob has gone into the bare areas and done pitting and chiseling. He favors the chiseling on his place. He has found that the spots fill up and soon seal over. During January and February of this year Bob did quite a bit of chiseling. He says he has learned one thing now and that is not to wait too long to start. He has found on his pastures that where he did have some grass left it has made a rapid recovery and where the cover was completely gone there are only weeds.

Bob is keeping all of the stock out of his pastures where he has done any chiseling. "Pitting or chiseling is a temporary measure. It can't take the place of cover on the ground. I believe that a lot of my grass has been lost because of the high temperature last summer. Under the trees where the grass was shaded and protected from the high temperatures I still have some grass. Where there was cover on the ground to protect it from the high temperatures, I still have grass too."

Good cover to protect the soil and conserve the rain is essential to the production of grass. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, the past week checked completed terraces for D. V. Westerman, S. M. McCasland, W. H. Wasserman, and Lee Roy Warren.

Technicians have also checked diversion terraces for H. W. Boykin, E. R. Tuberville, and Gary Gaines.

REVOLUTIONARY, LOW-COST FERTILIZER IN PROSPECT FOR TEXAS FARMERS

Texas farmers may soon be growing crops on tired, overworked soil by using a revolutionary new fertilizer. If the formula proves successful, it could be produced 80 per cent cheaper than present commercial fertilizers.

Now in Experimental stages, the fertilizer is said to be unique in its ability to extract nitrogen from the air and place it in the soil. This would enrich soil vitally, since all crops with the exception of legumes extract nitrogen, essential to plant growth, from the soil.

Much of our land has become practically barren through a vicious cycle of planting and re-planting of nitrogen-draining crops. Resultant deficient crops then pass on the nitrogen deficiency to animals and humans consuming the plants.

The actual formula contains no nitrogen itself. It extracts nitrogen from the air by use of a chemical compound which includes cobalt, a tough, metallic element similar to nickel. The fertilizer is spread over the ground where fertilizer is needed. From there the chemical action begins which attracts the nitrogen to the ground where it is utilized by plant roots.

The compounder of the formula, chemist P. W. Mader, says he discovered the fertilizer through accident when an overdose of cobalt and barium, a non volatile element, got mixed into another formula. A small amount of this mixture was spilled on a glass and within 72 hours nitrogen crystals had formed.

The chemist explained his formula works somewhat on the reverse principle of the nitrogen bomb.

All research on the project is being done in Texas, where experimental stations are being set up in the Panhandle, the Rio Grande Valley, near Houston and in Central Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Williams and children, Jerry Wayne and Margie Ann of Houston spent several days this week with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Miller and children, Melanie, Dan and Mary Elizabeth of College Station spent a ten days vacation with his mother, Mrs. Annie Miller.

News Of The Ebony Community

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

O wonderful rain! How it gladdens the heart. After a week of clouds and threatening and nearby showers, we finally got a goodly share. Altogether 2.4 inches. Most of it fell on Saturday and Sunday. Already the grass and weeds are greening up.

Mrs. Brownie Reeves White visited a few days at the Briley home last week. She also spent some time with her girlhood chum, Mrs. Edna Dwyer. Just now Mrs. Dwyer's blooming crepe myrtles make her home a bower of beauty.

As we went to town Friday we saw Charm Whittenburg, Clint Whittenburg, Ezelle Thompson, and Johney Griffin helping Clayton Egger cut and shock his big crop of feed on the George Tippen place. Rain interfered, so some of it is still standing.

When we got home last spring the wax leaf ligustrums, the pyracantha, the violets, and one of my native redbuds were dead, and the east half of our front yard was as bare as a floor. Water ran off of it like water off of a duck's back. I began jabbing it with the prongs of my spading fork so that water might penetrate it a little.

Little by little I got it so I could spade up part of it. Now we have it dotted with grass, but it takes constant jabbing and watering. My beautiful pink cannas that had so long grown on either side of the small concrete porch at the front of the house had entirely disappeared. I keep wondering, "When do they plant cannas?"

Could I get them started again?

It would add so much to my pleasure to come home next spring to a yard with pyracanthas, nandinas, lavender crepe myrtles, more native redbuds, and roses. How I want roses. The July number of the Progressive Farmer tells of Mrs. Mullins who planted roses around her pioneer home. When time came to name their post office, neighbors suggested the name Mullins. But Texas already had a town named Mullin, so they named it Rosebud. Its slogan became "A Rosebush in Every Yard." Today it is termed "City of Roses" because of the many roses that grow there.

I am almost envious. I have planted many roses and have had them grow and bloom. But where are they now? What can a person do through the three summer months, that might last through the nine months of absence? I think sometime when I go to town, I'll slip around to the greenhouse, find the man who knows the answers, ask him for the know-how, and maybe he could furnish me with little plants from pots that I might get started now. Or am I just dreaming of the impossible?

I deeply regretted to hear Saturday morning of the passing of Mr. R. H. Porter of May. I never met him, but I liked to read what he wrote and I felt that he was my good friend. It was my mother who first discovered and pointed out to me his complimentary remarks on my letters to the Banner. When I described the Colorado River Flood in 1936, he said it was the best thing he had read in many moons. He won my heart when he wrote of school teachers who came to him (a trustee) applying for jobs. He said they were so appealing, so eager for a chance to try to do a good job. He seemed to love them all. I had so often been a troubled little country school teacher so in need of an understanding, helpful trustee.

He wrote me last November after I went to El Paso. He mentioned the river story and said, at that time, he thought it was the best piece of descriptive writing he had ever read. Since then he said he had always read my letters and he wished to thank me for them. "I wish to show you," he said, "how much I appreciate your unselfish efforts in behalf of the public. You are able to grasp the idea of human interest in the commonplace events of life." He mentioned our mutual friend, the late Jim White. He said Mr. White designated him "Correspondent Emeritus" and he got the Banner for life.

AMERICA'S NEW RAILROAD

Santa Fe

Quarter-mile lengths of welded steel rail curve around a foothill like wire cable.

Not a "clickety-clack" in a carload

It's Santa Fe's new continuous welded rail... Fewer joints mean a smoother ride for you with new improvements here, too. For instance, our own specially-devised ballast "dry cleaner." This unique machine cleans our ballast, keeps it more resilient so the track lies flat and even.

And today we're replacing old ties with longer and stronger new ones—specially treated to stay strong and sturdy for 30 years and more.

Day after day, something new is being done to make "America's New Railroad" even newer and better. Santa Fe is spending many millions of earned dollars every year for new roadway and new equipment. And not one penny comes from the taxes you pay.

SANTA FE SYSTEM LINES

What about expansion in these quarter-mile rails?

Near Newton, Kansas, where yearly temperatures vary from 20° below to 114° above, we laid a 5-mile experimental stretch of welded rail. Here we found that anchoring the rail to every other tie restricted expansion to the area between anchors. Thus, overall expansion was reduced to the merest fraction of an inch between rail ends. In other words, expansion is no problem whatsoever.

Highlights And Sidelights On The U. S. Development Of Atomic Energy

(The following is the third of a series of seven articles disclosing the highlights and sidelights which have accompanied the nation's development of atomic energy. Prepared at the Hanford atomic energy plant, the series deals with the human things which followed in the wake of the first historic announcement that man had harnessed the atom. It touches upon the things which lie ahead.)

BY BILL JURY
General Electric News Bureau Hanford Atomic Plant
 Atomic energy and its development has been pictured as a vast and mysterious operation, imagined run by groups of bushy-haired little men who carry pocketfuls of gamma rays and drag behind them long chain reactions.

But misconceptions of this new phase of development in America's industrial and scientific history rapidly is being dispelled as official facts and information are reported to help shed light into the shadows of the unknown.

Atomic energy was developed in time of war, and as long as we live in a world of war and under threats of war, secrecy must guard those phases that are important to the security of the nation. But much of the atomic story can be reported to the public, and much of it is being told today through congressional and Atomic Energy Commission representatives.

Researchers at the General Electric Company-operated Hanford atomic energy plant foresee the day when workmen will handle radiation problems as routine. They predict farmers will utilize atomic isotopes in their crop planning, just as they now employ types of fertilizer, and terms like "fission," "reactor," and "neutrons" will become household words.

Industrial nuclear power points toward the use of atomic energy in much the same way that energy from the burning of coal is utilized in an electric power plant. The difference is that one pound of uranium-235, completely fissioned, yields energy equivalent to that obtained from burning 15 tons of coal, or 300,000 gallons of gasoline.

The practical means of direct conversion of atomic energy to electricity so far has escaped achievement, although if the promise of the new atomic battery is fulfilled on a large scale, the power plant of tomorrow will need only an atomic generator and direct cables to connect power straight to far-flung communities. Boilers, engines and cumbersome electric generators conceivably could become as obsolete as the candle.

Atomic isotopes, for example, can affect our everyday lives in almost every field of endeavor. They play a major role in diagnosis and treatment for health. They are used in agriculture to increase the bounties of the farms. They can be employed to separate ions in the water treatment, metals recovery, antibiotics, and numerous other phases of industry.

Transportation systems could be revolutionized. The first atomic-powered submarine already has been tested satisfactorily. Atomic-powered ocean liners are seen as a definite possibility for the future. Scientists now are working to find the key to atomic-propelled aircraft.

Atomic energy is so new, so big, so revolutionary and so full of commercial possibilities for the future that many American corporations have been attracted to the field. These com-

Fowl Ticks Are Unnecessary Drain On Poultry Flocks

College station, — Poultry heavily infested with fowl ticks becomes unthrifty and may lose weight during the summer months if proper control measures are not followed.

Also commonly known as blue bugs and chicken ticks, these blood sucking insects pose a problem for turkey and chicken raisers during July, August and September, says Ben R. Wormell, extension poultry specialist.

They hide in cracks and crevices of the poultry house during the day and appear at night to suck the blood of poultry. On the range ticks repose under the bark of fence posts and trees and in old lumber.

"It's easier to discover the ticks by looking for masses of them in cracks and under loose planks in the poultry house," Wormell says. "Usually you don't know they are around until the flock shows marked symptoms of attack."

A spray containing .5 percent indane, toxaphene or chlordane is recommended for fowl tick control. A small power or hand sprayer is effective in making application.

Apply the spray to the roosts and interior of poultry houses and coups. Pay particular attention, Wormell adds, to cracks, crevices, fence posts and trees where ticks may be hiding. Repeated treatments may be necessary.

panies are engaged in engineering studies, spending their own money in attempts to produce answers to the foremost question of economical nuclear power.

Nuclear physics is an infant science; the things that are known are as nothing compared to the things unknown. Locked up in the atom is practically all the energy of the universe, an energy in such fantastic quantities that it defies comprehension.

Physical Handicaps Of Soil May Show As "Trace Mineral" Deficiency

College Station, — Attention of farmers has been drawn in recent months to the possible deficiency of "trace minerals" in crop growing soils of Texas.

M. K. Thornton, Extension agricultural chemist, says that apparent deficiency symptoms appearing on growing plants suggests rather that most of them are suffering from poor drainage, nematodes or other soil-borne troubles such as compacted layers, absence of organic matter and lack of major nutrients — nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

"In practically every case of this type," Thornton explains, "deficiency symptoms disappeared after the physical troubles had been corrected and plants fed adequate supplies of nutrients."

The common trace minerals include molybdenum, boron, zinc, iron, manganese, sulphur, calcium and magnesium.

This is not to say, the chemist adds, that there are no trace element deficiencies in Texas soils, but rather to emphasize that before dosing the soil with various chemicals operators should understand clearly the purpose of the treatment. Some trace minerals are toxic and too hazardous to play around with.

There is more evidence of iron deficiency in Texas than of other trace minerals. Iron is necessary to give plants a dark green color. Iron shortage is responsible for the chlorosis seen in plants in many areas, but the use of large amounts of organic matter in the soil usually will enable plants to pick up the iron needed.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Teaching Your Child How To Avoid Dangers

GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

YOUR little child is precious. You want to keep him alive and well. You want to train him not to play in the street.

You can build a fence, but he won't be happy very long if he is locked in. Then there's always the chance that somebody will open the gate. Besides, you only keep him safe while he's in the fence. He still has to get outside. Your problem is to build an invisible fence around him.

Run Wild received the following letter from one mother who seeks advice about such a situation involving her son:

There are only three other children in this neighborhood who have small children, ranging from 18 months to 5 years. Every morning the mothers dress their children and put them outside the house.

They are not allowed back in the house except at mealtime, since their mothers never look out once in a while to where they are, the children wander. When they aren't pestering other neighbors, they are in the middle of the street practically every day, drivers come to a complete stop to let the kids get their toys and selves out of harm's way.

"When people tell the mothers about cars having to stop to avoid hitting their children, they act as though it is the driver's fault. 'We can't keep our eyes on our kids and get our housework done, too,' they'll say and go back to their housework."

"We have our back yard fenced in for Tony and he isn't allowed to roam. Up until this spring, he didn't mind; but now he sees the other kids running around and he wants to do the same. Sometimes these kids come up to the gate and ask to be let in to play with Tony. Then he is very happy, but when they leave after an hour or so, he stands at the fence and screams to go with them."

Train Him to Obey
 Here is my advice to this mother: It is certainly not easy to train a little child to stay out of the street, when all his playmates run wild; but it can be done.

Don't try to reason with the child about it. Just be firm; make him understand that he is not allowed in the street. If you are going to train him, you will have to spend a lot of time with him. Make sure that the moment he disobediently steps off the curb, he will get a spanking where it really hurts.

It may take several weeks until he learns to stay out of the street, regardless of what the other children do.
