Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Bigger Water Demands Posing Major Problem Interior Department Seeking New Sources

Special to Central Press Association

WASHINGTON—Increasing demands for water by industry and agriculture pose a major national problem. One anticipated result is that future presidential budgets will contain requests for increased appropriations for experiments in desalting water sponsored by the Interior department.

Washington

Most experts regard the $400,000 a year appropriated over the past several years as piddling. However, Interior Secretary Douglas McKay said recently that progress so far has been very encouraging. He said the administration will press the program vigorously.

The need for finding new sources of useable water is urgent. There are two reasons: the decline in water tables in many areas, and recurring droughts in the great plains.

Between now and next June a special advisory committee on weather control will report on the feasibility of rain-making. But the administration is likely to put its principal reliance in solving the national water shortage on more prosaic methods.

SCIENTIFIC SWAP—The development of man-made satellites to be hurled into space may provide a test of whether the United States and the Soviet Union should be encouraged to exchange more scientific information. Both Washington and Moscow have indicated a willingness to co-operate on the satellite project even though no hard and firm agreement has been reached.

However, there is a growing sentiment in both countries for a better interchange of scientific knowledge and data. Firm proof of this may be evidenced by a greater willingness on the part of Russia to permit United States scientists to visit the Soviet Union and vice versa.

United States scientists have long advocated greater freedom in exchanging theories and ideas with their colleagues in Iron Curtain laboratories, particularly in the fields of pure science.

The development of this may be a major outcome of President Eisenhower's suggestion at Geneva that ideas be given more opportunity to flow back and forth between the East and West.

OUTER SPACE—And speaking of earth satellites, the President's announcement had the effect of promising reality of what has heretofore been science fiction.

The announcement also gave new impetus to old speculations about outer space. One, as every one well knows, dealt with "flying saucers." There has been some speculation that flying saucers are due to past Russian experiments in connection with launching a satellite.

But scientific experts rule this out. The only explanation plausible, according to them, is that "flying saucers" were, and remain, mere unexciting weather phenomena.

CONTROL THAT BOOM—Economists expect the Eisenhower administration to take additional steps to prevent the business boom from kicking off a new round of inflation in 1956.

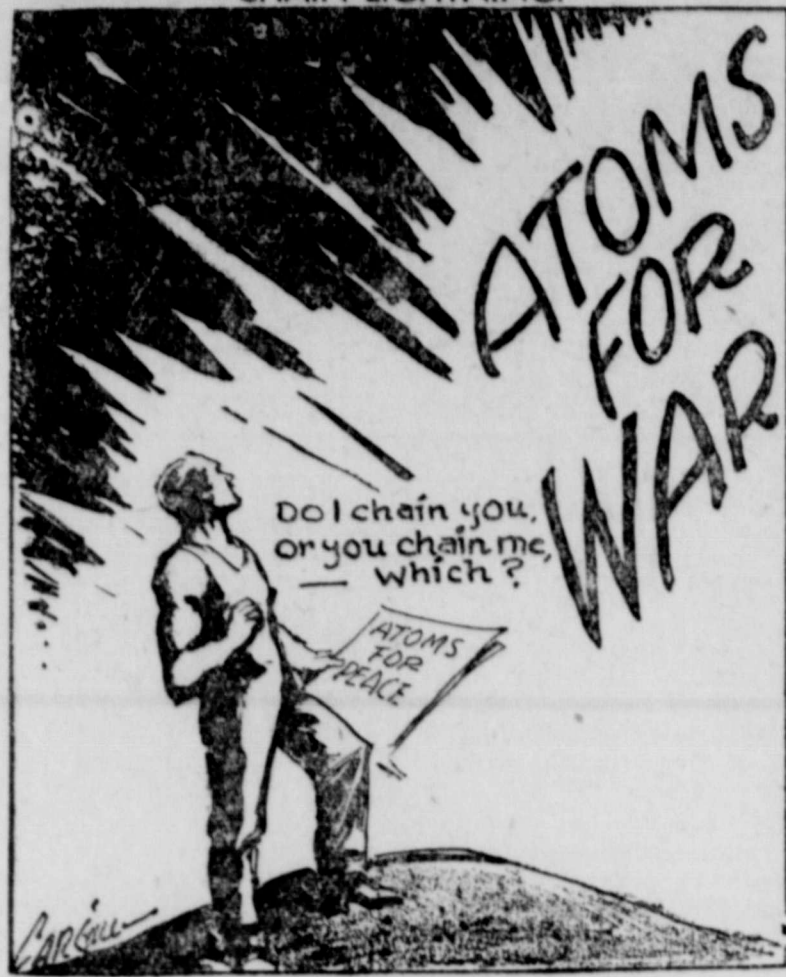

The reason: unemployment in the fall is expected to drop to the irreducible minimum—with almost every eligible worker on the job. This could put terrific pressure on prices.

The administration has already moved to curb the boom by tighter restrictions on home buying credit, and increasing the cost of borrowing money.

The crucial test will come after the vacation season when United States industry normally experiences a production pickup. More workers on more payrolls mean more demand for more goods.

This could mean increasing inflationary pressures. Economists feel the administration is prepared to take further indirect actions to curb easy credit. It might also require more cash from stock buyers if the stock market should take another sharp swing up.

THE FACTS OF DEATH

The facts of death, like the facts of life, are everybody's business—and a serious business, too, says the Texas Safety Association! Once people were resigned to death as the one inevitable calamity. They trudged along praying that the typhoon, the flood, or the plague would miss them. But fortunately man is always seeking to better his human condition, to conquer the unseen enemies that surround him, to understand and to control the workings of natural law.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

A card from Mrs. Edna Dwyer, written Saturday, Sept. 3, reached us Tuesday. She said they had gone to Houston the day before and she had had her first day at the Anderson Hospital Clinic. They told her it might take a week to get her through the clinic as they are so crowded. She said a card from Mrs. J. R. Wilmeth at Brownwood told her that Grandmother Reeves was very low. We have had no further word.

School opened Sept. 6 in El Paso. A total of 31,176 students were enrolled the first day. A. O. Wynn, director of the record department of the El Paso public schools, predicts an enrollment of 33,500 by Oct. 1. Included in the enrollment are 641 negro students. Of this number 334 are enrolled at Douglas, the school formerly segregated for negroes. The remaining 307 are enrolled in 23 other City Schools. According to school officials there was no trouble in connection with integration. No objections raised by either students or parents.

Billy was very eager for school to begin. Last year he went to a Cooley Cottage school just three doors from his home. But now he rides his bicycle and goes to Clardy, a large, new school much farther away. He likes his teacher and is pleased with everything.

Grace takes her Daddy's car and is off early for Cooley School where she teaches public school music to the six grades left there. Not much later Bill takes his car and is off for Five Points to Western Auto Store No. 2. That leaves John and Johnny and me at home to take care of the house and the yard—to wash the dishes, do the washing, straighten the house, get dinner, and work in the yard. In the afternoon, if I dare, or if I'm not overwhelmed with sleepiness or tiredness, I get out my music and spend a delightful hour practicing on the piano. On Fridays Genaviva, the maid, comes to do the ironing and clean the house. She is a beautiful ironer and she leaves the house all waxed and shining. She and I are quite good friends. When she came this Friday, she

"dirty case" to be washed and gets himself a clean one. Last year we had an awful time getting to wash the dirty thing. He would say, "I yike it dirty." If we washed it anyway, he would throw himself on the floor and kick and scream. Last year I had an awful time getting his clothes on him. This year he dresses himself.

He and his little girl friend next door, Sherry Ann, have wonderful times playing together. Lately they have been playing going on vacation. They pack their things in large grocery paper sacks, then climb in Sherry Ann's station wagon and pretend they're traveling. A MASTER WATER PLAN FOR TEXAS

Fifty years ago, the Texas Legislature foresaw that the rapidly developing state would eventually come face to face with an obstacle that could block further expansion—a water shortage.

That prediction has become a reality after four years of statewide drought, broken only recently by rains. But the problem is still with us—and the Legislature still has not found a solution.

Part of the blame rests on the fact that opposite political views block attempts to draft a master water plan. Yet, the public, too, must share some of the responsibility for this failure. When financial plans are proposed, people fear burdensome taxes will be imposed in areas which will receive only nominal benefits from such a program.

As it now stands, the problem will never be solved until political factions and the public are willing to assume a rightful share of responsibility—both administrative and financial.

The water problem is twofold. Our largest supplies lie in underground reservoirs. Most of our municipal and irrigation supplies come from wells. Yet, surface water impounded behind dams will become increasingly important in future years.

A great deal of progress already has been made in conserving underground water supplies. Water districts were created, giving local authorities the power to regulate and control water usage, to a certain extent. This type of conservation has been particularly effective in the High Plains district where board members estimate they have saved farmers some $20 million by regulating the spacing of irrigation wells. This money might otherwise have been wasted by drilling wells too close together, thereby diminishing the effectiveness of water production in the immediate area.

Any future legislation must recognize that underground and surface water supplies constitute two separate problems—each must be treated differently. However, both must be integrated into a master plan which will assure Texas of adequate water in years to come.

Its 80-horsepower motor can make 60 miles an hour. The ship was an outstanding attraction when flown at the Kitty Hawk, N. Part-Time Work Questions Are Asked In Current Population Survey Questions on part-time work will be asked along with inquiries covering employment and unemployment in the September Current Population Survey, according to Supervisor Charles E. Fay of the Census Bureau's district office at Dallas, Texas.

Similar questions asked in the July Current Population Survey revealed that 7,113,000 persons worked part time in the United States during the week of July 10-16 in nonagricultural industries while 1,836,000 worked part time in agriculture. Of the 7,113,000 persons in nonagricultural industries who worked part time during the week of July 10-16, 2,361,000 usually work full time at their present job while 4,752,000 regularly work part time. The latter figure includes persons who could only find part-time work. In agriculture, 589,000 of the 1,836,000 persons reported as working part time during the week of July 10-16 usually work full time at their present job while 1,247,000 usually work part time.

Information will be collected locally in the Current Population Survey by Mrs. Nella P. Casbeer of Lampasas. The Current Population Survey will be conducted here and in 229 other areas of the country during the week of September 19-24.

Young Men Needed For Repair and Maintenance Of Army Aviation

Army aviation, which has some of the latest developments in the field, is in need of qualified young men to fill vacancies in the repair and maintenance sections. Technical training in four-year courses is available for high school graduates who meet the rigid qualifications for the Army aviation field.

Included among the Army aviation equipment is the new helicopter type, a helicopter type with rotors on the wings. In flight, the rotors will lift from a vertical to a horizontal position, converting the helicopter to a regulation airplane. Commercial aviation has been interested in the Army experiments with the convertiplane since aircraft of this type may be the answer to the landing problems of airfields with limited runway space. Recent test flights proved the capability of the aircraft, which was developed at Fort Worth, Texas.

Information on a career in Army aviation may be obtained from the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 102 North Center in Brownwood, Texas.

Social Security Information As Effecting Farmers And Farmhands

This is the fifth in a series of articles on social security for farm operators answering new questions.

BY JAMES B. MARLEY
District Manager of the Austin, Texas social security office. In my last article I described conditions under which a family arrangement for the operation of a farm could be an actual partnership or joint venture, where husband and wife, or father and child, could each be considered self-employed farmers for social security purposes.

There are other family farm enterprises that are also agricultural self-employment. I shall describe two of them widely prevalent in farm areas throughout the country.

From time immemorial, farm wives, and other members of farm households, have engaged in farm enterprises on the side. "Egg money" is a term sometimes used to describe the income from such a business because raising chickens and selling eggs is often the source of this special income.

If a special activity like that is really part of the general farm enterprise, and feeding, housing, and tending the chickens or other farm animals are merely part of the overall work of operating the farm, there's no separate business or enterprise. In such case, the member of the family who engages in such work is not self-employed but is merely helping out the actual farm operator.

On the other hand, if the farm wife, or other member of the farm family, conducts a separate business wholly on her own, pays the expenses involved, and keeps all the income separate from that derived from the other farm operations, she is self-employed in her own right for social security purposes. However, merely doing the chores, helping with the harvesting, etc., doesn't make the wife or other member of the family either the farmer's employee or self-employed person.

By the same token, a farmer's son who engages in some special farm work on a farm otherwise managed and controlled by his parent, this work being his own individual enterprise, is a self-employed farmer. This does not mean that a son whose father gives him a calf or other livestock to tend and raise is necessarily engaged in a special farm enterprise. However, if the son undertakes a 4H or FFA project entirely on his own, keeps separate records, pays the expenses and keeps the profits, he is a self-employed farmer. The fact that his father may give him all kinds of free advice would not change the situation so long as the son has the right to make his own decisions and act on them.

If the son has net earnings of $400 or more in a year from activity he runs, such earnings will count toward his social security. Under the law, he must file an income tax return and pay the self-employment tax regardless of how young he is and even if his earnings are so low that he doesn't have to pay any income tax.

Some may ask what use social security is to a youngster. It has two early values. First, as soon as a young farmer has worked for two "crop years" under social security, he is insured, which means that in case of his untimely death, a modest lump-sum payment would be made toward burial expenses. More importantly, as soon as the young man has a family, his wife and baby would have substantial insurance protection, which would pay monthly cash benefits to the young mother and child if the head of the family were to die.

Fish Fry At Bill Daniels

bertson, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Zieschang; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kirby, Mrs. Mary Winsor and Miss Lucile Conro of Goldth-

Chappell Hill

By PEARL CRAWFORD

We received .7 inches of rain Saturday night. The wind was very high. I haven't learned of any damage from the wind except to some cotton which was open.

Friday night was a gay time for the Long Hunting Club members at the farm of O. A. Evans. Al Langford and a few guests joined the club.

Pearl Shipman and Victor Weiderbusch sheared goats for Floyd Daniel last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Conner gathered corn last week. Woodrow Ratliff broke land for W. A. Elms during last week. Bill Yeager took Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bramblett to town Saturday. Mr. Bramblett reported a nice rain at his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Fisher and children visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Stevens during last week.

Mrs. Maud Parker went to California Sunday. She said she would do a lot of visiting with relatives and pick some cotton. O. A. Evans called at the A. L. Crawford home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Elms visited Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Shipman last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Burdett of Alice spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burdett.

We will miss Mr. and Mrs. Don Humphries and Danny who have moved to Waco. We wish them good health and success in their new home.

Mrs. B. F. Humphries and Charles visited Mr. and Mrs. Don Humphries and Danny and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Humphries at Waco Friday.

Pleasant Grove

By Mrs. W. B. Wilkey

We received a light shower and are enjoying the cooler weather.

There are some new houses going up in our community. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kelly have their new home about completed and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilcox are building a new home.

Wallace Wilkey of Odessa is spending this week with his parents. He says there are a number of Mills County people living at Odessa.

Doyle Miles spent last week with his parents. He brought Clinton Miles home so he could enter school.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry D. Burks and children were home last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dyas, Loy Dean and E. L. visited the Wilkeys last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Watson were also guests of the Wilkeys.

L. C. Covington is a patient in the Lampasas hospital. We hope he will soon be back home.

Mrs. Pete Miles called in the Wilkey home Monday morning. We heard in a news broadcast Monday Morning that Mrs. Pearl Howard was injured in a bus and truck collision. We hope her condition is not serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Covington are staying at the Covington home and looking after the stock for L. C.

Brown-Mills Soil Conservation News

By CHARLES HAENISCH
Supervisors of the Brown-Mills Conservation District are showing two films during the week of September 15-22. These films "Water For A Nation" and "Where the Floods Begin" will be scheduled for showing at various points throughout the district.

"Water For A Nation" tells the story of the importance of water to all the people in this nation — landowner, businessman, professional man, or housewife. "Where the Floods Begin" is the history of the Washita watershed in Oklahoma. This film shows how people working together, developed, with the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service, a flood prevention program and solved their flooding problems. The structures and the land treatment that composed the flood prevention program are shown.

Plans are being made to show this film to the landowners in the Bennett Creek watershed and other interested groups.

Farmers in the district are making plans for sowing fall cover crops of vetch and Austrian winterpeas. The district has just purchased a special drill which will enable farmers to make deep placement of fertilizer under these legumes cover crops. Delivery of this drill is to be made in the next few days. If you are interested in using this drill, contact your Soil Conservation District Supervisor or the equipment manager.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service checked ponds for completion last week on the Arnold Head farm and the C. E. Turbiville farm.

A diversion terrace was checked on Mr. Turbiville's farm also. This diversion will divert pasture water away from one of his cultivated fields.

Ponds were laid out last week for C. W. Lawson of Big Valley, Jim Soules of Star, Otis Carothers south of Goldthwaite, and Bob Kerby east of Goldthwaite.

Mrs. C. T. Wilson went to Coleman Sunday night to be with her mother and sister, Mrs. L. R. Hendry and Mrs. J. R. Eudy who are ill.

Texas Farm Income Shows 3% Decline For First Seven Months This Year

AUSTIN, (Spec.) A Decline of 3% in income was registered by Texas farmers during the seven-month period of January-July 1955, compared with the same period of last year. Decreases were recorded in practically every major money crop or commodity, with income from cotton dropping 6% and wheat and oats falling 27% and 18%, respectively. Income from calves was down 12%, return from hogs dropped 13%, and poultry revenue slipped 7%.

Return from some farm commodities showed increases, however, and helped to offset the downward trend in farm income. Fruit and vegetables increased farmer's income by 18%, while peanuts added 21%, grain sorghums 12%, corn 5%, and cattle 5%. Milk and milk products for the period remained fairly stable, showing a slight rise of 1%.

Prices received by farmers fell 2% during July from June but remained about the same when compared with prices received during July 1954. In the month-to-month comparison, decreases in prices received during July from June were recorded in truck crops (-13%), meat animals (-7%), feed grain and hay (-5%), and food grains (-2%). Prices rose during the month on such commodities as potatoes and sweet potatoes (plus 12%), poultry and eggs (plus 5%), dairy products (plus 3%), and cotton (plus 1%).

Carload shipments of livestock jumped 49% during July compared with July 1954. However, shipments were down 29% during July from June of this year since prospects for early fall and winter pasturing are better than they have been in years. A bumper crop of hay also helped curtail shipments of livestock, and most cattlemen feel they can see their herds safely through the coming winter season.

Texas will produce more than half of the nation's grain sorghum crop this year, according to a forecast made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in August. The bumper crop is expected to beat last year's yield by more than 20%. The increase in production of grain sorghums can be attributed to a 15% increase in acreage and generally more rainfall in most areas.

Although a million fewer acres were planted in cotton this year than in 1954, production is expected to be down only about

1%. Remarkably high yields are in prospect for most of the cotton producing areas due to improved soil moisture supplemented by irrigation of about 25% of the state's crop. Insect infestation in the form of the boll weevil is somewhat worse this year than last, but damage has not been excessive.

GOOD COOKS IN THIS AREA

Cook with GAS!

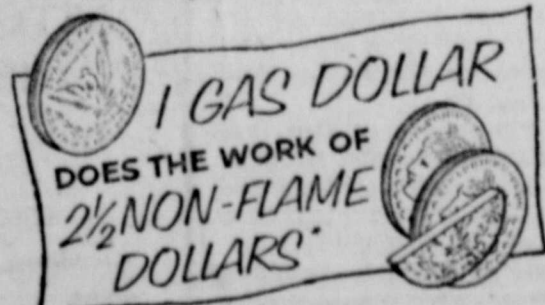

"I found it so easy to clean, especially the surface burners," says Mrs. E. D. Gatliff, San Saba, of her new Universal automatic gas range. "Anytime I wash dishes, I can include the range burners just as easily."

Mrs. Gatliff was busy preparing a Sunday turkey for roasting, the first on her new range. The Universal "recipe" gave her exact temperature and baking time, measured with the temperature controlled oven and automatic timer.

See for yourself — just as Mrs. Gatliff has, how easy it is to cook and bake with an automatic gas range. Investigate the new automatic gas ranges at your dealers or Lone Star Gas Company. Find out why gas cooking is so much better — cleaner, cooler, faster, and more dependable. Learn how much easier a gas range is to keep clean — how it gives you perfect baking every time — how you keep a cooler, cleaner kitchen, because you broil with the oven door closed — how you have the flexibility only gas offers, more than 100 different heats — and how a gas range operates for so much less than other types. You can count on gas — ALL WAYS!

*For cooking, refrigeration, water heating and home heating (average use during heating season). Proportionately cheaper than all other fuels, too!

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association

Austin, Texas— There is an election coming up next week—in which the "candidates" are not known.

It is the election of Texas' new Democratic national committeeman—to replace ousted Wright Morrow.

A nominating committee will make a recommendation on Sept. 21. Its choice will be revealed at a meeting of the State Executive Committee in Fort Worth on Sept. 22.

Discussed for the place have been former Cong. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of McAllen; Cong. Joe Kilgore, also of McAllen; Rep. J. O. Gillham of Brownfield; and James E. Wheat of Woodville. Wheat now is secretary of the State Executive Committee.

Possibility that State Chairman George W. Sandlin might get the nod also has been discussed.

Gov. Allan Shivers has indicated his desire that the new committeeman be someone who will work with the National Committee.

National Chairman Paul M. Butler said that the new member must have voted for Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and be acceptable to Governor Shivers, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, and U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

State Chairman Sandlin will address a meeting of the Democratic Club of Fort Worth on the same date the committee meets. He will reply to the speech made to the same group by Morrow just before the state committee voted Morrow out. Morrow has severely criticized Sandlin. The invitation to speak was extended Sandlin in order to show that the club, while conservative, was not dominated by the ultra-ultra conservative backers of Morrow.

CANDIDATES ACTIVE Friends of Agri. Commr. John White met in Austin over the week-end to encourage his entry into the governor's race. White is one of several under consideration by the Loyalist forces.

Brown Bailey, Midland attorney and leader in the effort, said the group conferring with White was not allied with any political faction. "We simply want White to run," he said.

Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba is the only announced candidate for governor so far. He's busy building his fences. Active also is State Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, although as yet unannounced. Another possible is James P. Hart, former chancellor of the University of Texas. And Will Wilson, associate justice of the supreme court.

Not to be overlooked is Coke Stevenson, former governor. It appears there may be a build-up urging him to enter. Stevenson has been inactive politically since his 87-vote defeat by Lyndon Johnson in the Senate race seven years ago.

Look for House Speaker Jim Lindsey of Texarkana—in the attorney general's race. Also being talked for that job, if Hart runs for governor, is Will Wilson. He would not run against Hart.

TEXAS' VETERANS LAND PLAN Texas' veterans land program is off to a fresh start.

Under new laws the board places responsibility for administration squarely on the shoulders of the land commissioner. Ex-officio members, the governor and attorney general, are charged only with policy-making functions.

Commr. J. Earl Rudder said he was ready to accept the responsibility.

Local advisory committees, blueprinted in the 54th Legislature's reform laws, are already being formed. These committees, appointed by commissioners will provide a check on findings of state appraisers.

Land purchasers who are delinquent in their payments, have been notified to pay up or forfeit their land. Many delinquencies involve block deals believed to be of questionable nature.

Rudder indicated the board should be able to start considering loan applications again soon. All the original $100,000,000 was exhausted under the administration of his predecessor, Bascon Giles. Some, however, has been recovered by court action.

Giles has been sentenced to the state penitentiary on charges of accomplice to theft and consenting to accept a bribe.

Representatives Appointed

Ten appointments to the Texas Legislative Council, an interim research group, have been made by House Speaker Jim Lindsey. Named were Reps. Ben Glusing of Kingsville, Tom King of Dallas, James W. Yancy of Houston, Joe Burkett Jr. of Kerrville, E. F. Crim of Henderson, Pearce Johnson of Austin, Obie Bristow of Big Spring, Gustin Garrett of Raymondville, W. G. Kirklind of Odessa and William S. Heatly of Paducah.

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey will select five senators to complete the council. Its duty will be to study pressing legislative needs prior to the next session.

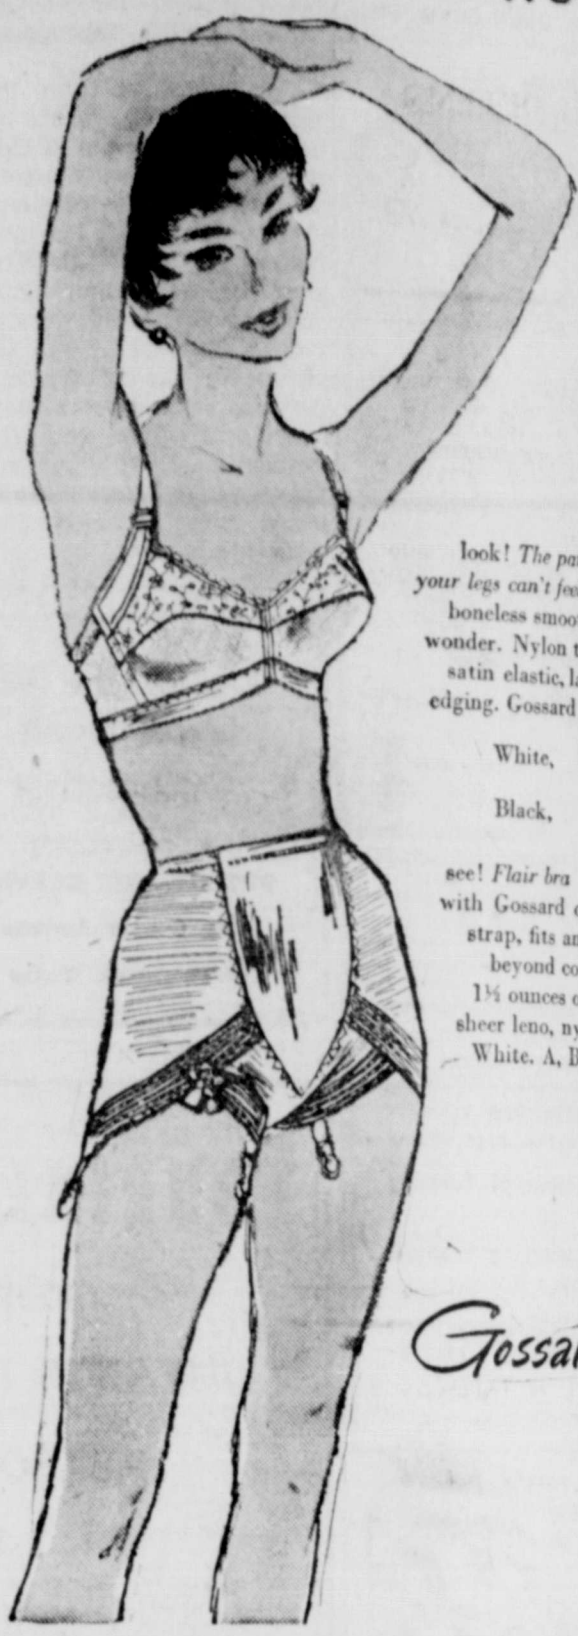

Lindsey also appointed Wade F. Spillman chairman of the house investigating committee. Its tasks include further land office inquiry.

Other members are Reps. Reagan R. Huffman of Marshall, Jesse M. Osborn of Muleshoe, Jack Welch of Marlin and Scott McDonald of Fort Worth.

Named to the water resources committee were Reps. Stanley Banks Jr. of San Antonio, Leroy Saul of Kress and Bill Wood of Tyler.
