Salvation Army Campaign Starts Here This Week

Glynn Collier, campaign chairman for the Salvation Army drive in Mills County this year, states that good progress is being made throughout the county.

Goldthwaite phase of the campaign started with a kick-off coffee meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Collier stated that 25 are serving as workers in town. Every effort is being made to complete this part of the drive by Friday.

In the rural areas of the county there is at least one worker in every community and 25 persons are helping this campaign.

Welfare work by the Salvation Army in Mills County is carried on by a local committee with Warren Duren Chairman. According to Duren there is no "red tape" to Salvation Army work and only a minimum of investigation is necessary before needy persons and families can receive emergency help. In addition to the local program, the committee has access to all of the many state services of the Salvation Army as they are needed.

Collier and the local committee urge all citizens of Mills County to support this campaign generously to help continue and strengthen Salvation Army work at home and throughout the state.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weathers of Brownwood were guests of his mother, Mrs. J. W. Weathers Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hodges and son, Joe Charles of Austin were guests of friends here Sunday and attended the revival at the Church of Christ.

Local Boy Scouts And Scouters Have Great Week At Camp Billy Gibbons

BY FLOYD LANGFORD

Nineteen members of Troop 77 and Post 77 sponsored by the Methodist Church, left Goldthwaite Monday morning for Camp Billy Gibbons. We arrived about 9:30 and proceeded to set up camp. Our first activities were a medical recheck and swim check. Each boy turned in all his money to the "banks" and received a canteen card in exchange.

The creek was up some Monday morning but dropped in the afternoon and remained at a nice level the balance of the week. Many happy hours were spent by the boys (and men) swimming, boating and canoeing.

Each day's activities included swimming, rowing, lifesaving, canoeing, marksmanship, archery, Indian Lore, where many beautiful items of Indian Craft were fashioned, handicrafts of various kinds, such as bracelets, lanyards, leathercrafts and some metalwork, and in the skill yard, second and first class requirements were taught and practiced. Many boys returned home much closer to these ranks and a number completed and received their advancements at camp.

The Order of the Arrow inducted several new members. This is an organization of Scout Campers who are elected by their fellow Scouts, as candidates, and then pass a number of Ordeals proving their ability as real Scout Campers. The aim of the O. A. is service to other Scouts, always willing to lend a helping hand.

Troop and Post 77, along with Troop 26, Lometa, spent several pleasant hours in "Blue Hole" trying to hook "Ole Blue," a legendary blue cat of some 60 to 85 pounds. He wasn't hungry however and we came home empty handed in the fish department. Several of the fellows did catch some nice drum, one or two catfish of nice size, on rods and reels but they left them staked out too long and the turtles and Gar fish had a feast.

Saturday night, which is stunt night, the Troop and Post once again won first place. This is the fourth consecutive year for the boys to attain this honor. Following these activities Saturday night, the Order of the Arrow completed its week's work and a party was held honoring the new members. (Our party started at about 12:30 a.m. and lasted into the wee hours.)

Sunday morning a nice church service was attended by all in camp. The rest of the morning was spent in receiving and entertaining visitors, and putting on a water carnival which was won by Troop 26 of Lometa. Their prize was a gallon jug of very muddy Brady Creek Water.

A very large number of visitors ate Sunday lunch in camp. Many parents and friends from Goldthwaite were present and immediately after lunch a Court of Honor was held, presided over by Carl Anspiger of Brownwood.

Immediately after the Court of Honor, the camp was officially closed and we finished our packing and returned home to arrive tired but happy about 6:30 Sunday afternoon.

Awards and rank received were:

Second Class—Don Barnett and Philip Auldridge.

First Class—Jerry Duren

Star—Mike Hoover.

THE PROPOSED 23rd AMENDMENT

A proposed 23rd amendment to the Constitution of the United States, known as the Gwinn amendment, consists of one clear sentence: "The government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial, or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution."

The possibilities within that simple statement of principle are literally enormous.

The government has billions upon billions of dollars invested in business enterprises of many kinds, all of which are performing functions that can and should be handled by private enterprise. These socialized businesses could be sold, and the money used to reduce the national debt, or to cut taxes, or both.

But that is only the beginning. Government business enterprises are tax-free, in an age in which private business corporations pay up to 52 per cent of all their profits in federal taxes alone. On top of that, it is common for government business enterprises to operate at a loss, which means that they must be subsidized by all the taxpayers. Once they were sold to private enterprise, the subsidies would end and they would become major taxpayers. The gain to the nation over the years would run into tens of billions.

One big reason for the government's financial plight today is that it has gone for beyond Constitutional provisions, and into fields where it does not belong and where its presence is wasteful and destructive. This is not just a matter of economics—super-government is the greatest enemy of human freedom that exists. The proposed amendment would give us the kind of government envisaged by the founders.

INFLATION NOTE: The Wall Street Journal reports that a company decided to tear down an unused smokestack built in 1921. The original cost of the structure was $8,740—but it cost $13,470 to dismantle it.

WALTER REUTHER SAYS: "When you find a crooked labor leader who took a bribe from a crooked employer, put them both in jail for about fifteen years and give them plenty of time to talk it over among themselves." Secretary of Labor Mitchell says: "There are two types of labor hoodlums—the corrupted apostle of labor's cause and the committed criminal who, after a life of crime, attaches himself to the labor movement. The second invariably depends upon the first to gain access to the movement."

WHERE ADVERTISING IS WELCOMED

An impressive evaluation of the merits of newspaper advertising as compared with television advertising has been provided by Robert J. McBride, director of Research for the Detroit Free Press. He says: "People watch television because of the entertainment—commercials actually are intruders. A survey by Northwestern University shows that 61% of housewives would prefer TV without commercials."

"At the same time, advertising is an integral part of the newspaper. Readers buy the paper for the ads as much as for the editorial matter. Both men and women readers plan their shopping from the newspaper. The Northwestern survey shows that 92% of the respondents want their newspapers with advertising."

This brings Mr. McBride to his completely logical conclusion: "The advertiser gets the best results when his message is welcomed and desired."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Representative Whitten of Mississippi recently engaged in a rather heated debate on farm policy. It ended, however, in a lighter note. Secretary Benson: "When we get on the other side, if you and I meet, we will probably still discuss the farm problem." Mr. Whitten: "Mr. Secretary, where I hope to go and I trust you will go, I understand there are no problems."

From Prime Minister MacMillan of Great Britain: "There is no difference between Socialism and Communism except this: Socialism is soft, Communism is hard; Socialism is pink, Communism is Red. Socialism gets you down bit by bit by a kind of anesthetic process. It might be called mercy-killing. Communism just knocks you on the head."

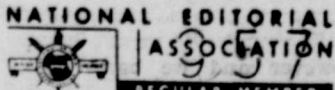

The people that economists used to say were underprivileged are now described as overfinanced.—CHANGING TIMES.

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Why Is Lewis So Quiet On the Drive-Back Case? Guess Is John L. He May Absorb Teamsters

Special to Central Press Association

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis, outspoken president of the Independent Mine Workers union, is maintaining a silence on the problems besetting Teamsters Chief Dave Beck. There may be something behind it.

Labor insiders are convinced that Lewis may move in to take control of the giant Teamsters union if an opportunity presents itself and he doesn't want to jeopardize his chances by speaking out now.

John L. Lewis

Lewis reportedly is holding his fire in a bitter fight might result within the AF of L hierarchy that could lead to the Teamsters being absorbed into the labor federation to be independent.

In such a case, Lewis undoubtedly would make every effort to lure the Teamsters to join with his Mine Workers under the cover of a catch-all District 50 setup.

● THAT BUDGET, AGAIN!—Congress may be actually cutting President Eisenhower's $800,000,000 budget as much as it appears merely to be postponing the day of reckoning.

The public will have to wait until next year when they will face the issue of whether to provide appropriations.

This is the way it works: Congress now is acting on money for the next fiscal year. Should any agencies run short of money before the end of that year, they will come back to Congress for extra money.

These supplemental requests will be showing up next spring in House and Senate might very well vote additional appropriations for some agencies slashed heavily in the pending budget.

By next year, Congress won't particularly mind putting the blame back because its budget-cutting record will have been established and it will be able to cut income taxes—the goal it really wants.

● AID SEGREGATED SCHOOLS?—Anti-segregation forces in Congress are working up support for a new device to the federal school construction legislation.

The plan for the civil rights advocates is to offer a provision denying funds to those states or school districts which have been in contempt of court for failing to integrate their schools.

The administration is dead set against this or any similar measure. It takes the view that the issues of aid-to-education and segregation should not be tied together.

Administration leaders are convinced that any anti-segregation "rider" would kill the school bill, pointing out that the measure failed last year because of such an amendment.

● A 'BATTLE OF GIANTS'—Senate Republican Leader William Knowland has quietly passed the word to his friends that he is serious about running for governor of California next year—toward his ultimate goal, the White House.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has countered this by letting it be known that he has no intention of withdrawing in Knowland's favor. This means a head-on collision between Knowland and Knight in the June, 1958, primary election.

Meanwhile, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, now far in the lead for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination, is reported to be urging his California backers to support Knight in the hope that Knowland can be killed off politically.

Knowland, in the great power struggle, is the spearhead of the "line" Republican forces. Nixon, once a conservative, now appears as the heir apparent of President Eisenhower's "modern Republican" leadership.

These Forty Years!

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.

er Bids On er Tracts t's Land Sale

(Spec)—Higher bids for tracts of land were made in the June 6 sale of land by the Veterans' Land Board. These higher figures are a result of many things, the primary factor, and Commissioner Earl terest. "Recent rains filled up nearby Medina Lake, however, and we experienced vigorous bidding on seven of the nine tracts," Commissioner Rudder says. For the first time, the Veterans' Land Board in the June 6 sale, named the minimum amount acceptable on any tract. "This eliminated many small bids from speculators," the land commissioner notes. The sale brought in 164 bids on 37 tracts. Total bids amounted to $919,846.63. The total of high bids was $228,702.52. Highest bidder was Elmo S. Irby of Fort Worth, who bid $8,237.56 on 147 acres in Hamilton County. An excess in high bids over the previous principle invested amounted to $8,036.25.

HOME LAWNS

A beautiful, well-kept lawn adds to the material value of a home and is a basic requirement for an attractive yard. Basic fundamentals, such as the choice of adapted grasses, good drainage, proper watering, fertilizing and mowing, insure success in building and maintaining good turf.

Very few of the 500 species of grasses in Texas are suitable for turf. Turf grasses are not permitted to mature normally and produce seed.

Food materials essential for growth and development of roots and stems are manufactured in the leaves; yet, through the growing season, the leaves are clipped one to two times a week, only a few grasses are able to stand such treatment and still produce a desirable turf. Choice of a turfgrass depends on the location, the amount of water available for irrigation, the degree of shade present, the time and money the home owner is willing to spend for establishment and the kind of usage expected.

Turf grasses are classified as warm-season (growing in late spring, summer and early fall) and cool season (growing in late fall, winter and early spring).

Common Bermuda and St. Augustine are the most practical, widely used and recommended warm-season grasses for lawns. Buffalo is occasionally used where irrigation is not available. Zoysia grasses are good lawn grasses also but they take longer to get established.

Bermuda is the turf-grass most widely adapted in Texas. It is drought tolerant and spreads rapidly. Bermuda is resistant to most turf diseases, it makes a dense turf when mowed as needed at a height of 1 to 1½ inches.

St. Augustine is a broad-leaved perennial with stolons creeping on the surface, but it is not as cold hardy as Bermuda. This grass grows in shade and in open areas when adequate moisture and fertility are available. St. Augustine remains green after frosts that kill Bermuda above the ground, it also forms a dense, thick turf, usually crowding out all other grasses and weeds if growing conditions are favorable. It should be cut at a height of 1 to 2 inches. Because the plant spreads from surface runners only, it is easily controlled in flower beds and gardens.

St. Augustine as a turfgrass; (1) is susceptible to certain diseases, notably large brown patch and leaf spot; (2) is more susceptible to iron chlorosis than Bermuda; (3) is attacked by insects (chinch bugs and leaf hoppers); (4) needs more water for survival than Bermuda.

Success with established lawns depends on four major factors—feeding, watering, aerating and mowing. No one factor is more important than the other. Proper attention to each is necessary if the best possible lawn is to be maintained. Plant food elements required in largest amounts by grass plants are nitrogen phosphorus potassium, but these must be applied in the right proportion to give satisfactory results. Nitrogen is the key element in turf production, it produces vegetative growth and gives the plant a deep green color. Phosphorus stimulates development of a good root system. Potassium affects the physiological processes of the plant.

Watering is the maintenance practice that most often is done incorrectly, light frequent sprinklings produce shallow weak root systems which encourage weed invasion. Shallow rooting does not allow efficient utilization of plant food or moisture in the soil. The turf should be watered to a depth of 6 inches or more to encourage the development of a deep root system.

Soil compaction is a major turf problem where the turf is subject to wear, this condition may be corrected by aeration, this can be done by the use of a spading fork. Loosening the soil allows air to get into the soil, water to move into and through the soil and the soil to hold more water. Improper mowing is responsible for the deterioration of many lawns, mowing too close encourages thinning of the turf and shallow rooting and also allows excessive soil drying and baking and heat damage to grass during the summer.

TURKEY BUSINESS

Probably many of you readers have noticed the large building that is under construction on Don Geeslin's turkey farm North of town.

This is a turkey laying house 304 x 50 feet that is built to hold 1000 laying turkey hens. Don says he plans to control the light on his turkeys and by this method keep the hens from coming into production before they are 32 weeks of age. This plan has been used with success in the North but he states this is probably the first time this method has been tried in Texas.

He will use the center of the building (4,000 sq. feet) as a dark room where controlled light will be used on the hens. He says that he plans to use 4 coolers of 4,000 unit capacity to cool the dark room, during the summer.

This house and coolers are a means whereby Don plans to keep his hens on a year around laying program, this will provide a 12 months market for his turkey eggs, and he says he plans to operate with 6,000 layers this year.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

BY HUBERT L. BERRY

In spite of wet weather and late plantings, many Soil Conservation District cooperators have secured good stands of perennial grasses. Warm season grasses are ordinarily planted in late winter or early spring; however how they are planted is usually more important than when they are planted.

Many of these grasses have been put on acres which are no longer suited for intensive cultivation and will be turned out to rangeland.

Other farmers and ranchers are planting grass in a crop rotation for hay or pasture. Grasses such as switch or blue panic work well in a rotation. They are deep rooted, fast growing, and produce abundant forage for livestock. Their extensive root systems loosen up sub-soil and the top growth adds humus to the top soil preventing crusting and excessive evaporation. These grasses are extremely drought hardy and have a long growing season. They come quickly after frost and last until frost in the fall. Livestock are ordinarily grazing these grasses when sudan grass is being planted. A good acreage of these grasses will provide the opportunity to defer rangeland during the growing season.

Farmers who have planted blue panic grass are I. T. Howell, Mrs. W. T. Moreland, David Watters, Oran Carothers, J. A. Williams, Edgar Burkett, F. R. Baird, John Parker and possibly others. D. T. Singletary had planted several acres of side oats gramma and Moler Simpson has planted some sorghum alnum.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold K. Kelly and children spent last weekend in Fort Worth with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Olney Kelly and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haensch and children, Barry and Jo Lynn of Eden visited with friends here Saturday.

to right are: Mrs. Virgil Reed, her son, Gary, a Star Scout, Rev. Gilbert, Steve Oleson, Star Scout, and his mother, Mrs. A. O. Oleson.

This was the first time that the God and Country awards have been presented in Belle Plain. The two boys are also nearing their required achievements towards the Life Scout ranks. Gary is the grandson of Mrs. H. C. Ezzell of Goldthwaite.

Wednesday, the day for our Auld Lang Syne Reunion, dawned with a gray streak in the east and a rainy look. Once the sun came out early and I thought it might clear off, but the thought was short-lived. Soon great clouds came up from the north to the southwest, and it seemed that it might come a deluge. The radio kept saying that it was raining at Brownwood. Hope rose in my heart when I noticed clear places in the sky toward Fort Worth. "Maybe," I thought, "the folks will come from Fort Worth."

First arrivals were the Stanley Reeves, Mrs. Effie Egger, and Mrs. Edna Dwyer. Later Mr. and Mrs. Luther Jernigan of Goldthwaite arrived, bringing with them Miss Cora Posey of Indian Creek. Roscoe Reeves of Gorman and his sister, Mrs. Stella Reeves Pinette of Houston, picked up Mrs. Brownie Reeves White of Los Angeles at Brownwood. Stella said rain poured on them on the other side of Brownwood. Jim Wilmeth was to bring us some of his nice, tender roasting ears for dinner, but when he came he said it had rained so hard at Brownwood that he couldn't get in his garden to get them. Frank Crowder arrived a little late. He had tried to come the near way and had bogged down the hill on the other side of the creek. After dinner the men went with him and helped push his car back up the bank where he left it till time to go home.

The last arrivals were Mrs. Mildred Crawford and her daughter-in-law, Madge (Mrs. Charles Roberts), and her children, Cathy and Rannie, of San Antonio. These last, of the younger generation, were appreciated very much, for they came through the rain from San Antonio just to be with us. Mildred took pictures for us. They returned to San Antonio that evening.

Eighteen sat down to dinner. And it was a feast. All had contributed to it. My sister Grace and Dr. John Robert hadn't come. Later my brother told me she had called him the night before to tell him they couldn't come. Roscoe Reeves, the true-hearted, offered a beautiful prayer of thanksgiving. Mrs. Roscoe Reeves and Mrs. Jim Wilmeth couldn't tion from Mr. and Mrs. Willis Bedford of Winters to attend the wedding of their daughter, Mary Margaret and Glynn Hill. Both Mary Margaret and Glynn were recent visitors of his uncle, and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Evans. Glynn is the grandson of Will Hill of Goldthwaite.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Humphries and Dannie are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karnes of San Saba and Mrs. B. F. Humphries of Goldthwaite. Danny is the proud owner of a fine colt and unable to find a suitable name for the colt.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Shipman visited Mr. and Mrs. Stone Shipman and daughters last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Evans visited Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Elms last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Stevens, Mrs. Verda Price and children were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crawford and William G.

The Pony League ball game played by Priddy and Pottsville last Monday night was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Albert Hopper of Priddy was a business visitor at Goldthwaite Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Elms, Mrs. Carl Evans and children were recent guests of the W. W. Rattliff.

It was nice visiting with Mrs. Jerry Davis. She told me of the death of Mr. Davis the 5th of June and the death of Mrs. Davis Thursday the 13th. We extend our sympathy to the Davis family.

Our community was made sad when we received the news of the death of Charlie T. Wilson. Mr. Wilson was a former editor of the Eagle. It was a pleasure to be associated with him in business and as friend and neighbor. We extend our sympathy to his loved ones.

Both are nurses, and each had a patient she couldn't leave. Luther Jernigan brought the biggest and best steaks I ever saw. After Mrs. Jernigan fried steak till everything ran over, she contributed some beautiful numbers on the piano. By afternoon the sun had come out. It never did rain here. Just a little sprinkle. After dinner we looked at old pictures and talked. Later we gathered around the piano and sang. Luther sang some hymns, and all of us joined in singing Auld Lang Syne and God Be With You Till We Meet Again.

Stella, my girlhood friend, stayed with us till Friday. The next day we were invited to have dinner with Miss Cora Posey. It is always a joy to visit Miss Cora in her lovely home. When we arrived, she said dinner was already done and the pilots would keep it warm, so we sat out on the porch and visited till dinner time. Miss Cora had known Stella's mother and had taken music from her. She had a picture of her which she gave to Stella.

We stopped first to see Mrs. Effie Egger. She says her nephew, Dr. Seal Tippen Cutbirth, and his family are at the Cutbirth ranch this week, and has been visiting her some. We next went on to see the Stanley Reeves and Brownie. The daisies and the wild zinnias along the Kelly Lane are gorgeous. We stayed till the lateness of the evening drove us home. Next morning we took Stella to the bus station and she left for Houston.

Mrs. Clayton Egger and Mrs. Hubert Reeves are attending the Teachers' workshop at Howard Payne College.

Everyone in this community is using these fair days for combining their oats. Jehn has done a good job cutting the weeds from our yard, but it looks like a hay field full of shocks.

GROWING IMPORTANCE OF IRRIGATION

Irrigation plays a much bigger part in Lone Star agriculture than most Texans realize.

Nearly a half billion acres of Texas land are now irrigated. About one-fifth of the crop land harvested in the state is irrigated land.

Although many centuries old, the practice of irrigation is relatively new in the state. There were no definite reports on the amount of irrigated Texas acreages until 1940, when less than 895,000 acres were irrigated.

But with the advent of larger, more mechanized farms in recent years, irrigation systems have spread to all corners of the state.

Irrigation has fit well into the ever-changing agricultural picture. It has been the answer to problems of drought, low yields and cost-price squeeze. And there probably isn't a farmer in Texas today who hasn't given some thought to irrigation.

This is no wishful thinking on the farmer's part—to want "rain" at the right time in the right amount. Many farmers in the heavier rainfall sections of Texas are setting up irrigation systems for small tracts and increasing yields up to 200 percent.

State Highway Map, With Additional Towns, Is Now Out

The official map of Texas, drawn to include shown in previous editions just been revised by C. Greer, State Engineer, announced that the new maps are being prepared as rapidly as possible and new requests are being handled daily, Greer inch for inch, the map—which is possibly one of the most widely known travelogues of the state—gives more travel guidance about the largest state in the Union than any comparable printed matter of such handy size. A new cartographic system employed to produce the 1957 map made possible the addition of thirty per cent more information. Multi-lane highways, farm-to-market highways and state and federal highways are indicated. Key altitudes also are noted, and roadside parks as well as state parks are indicated. The new map contains more detailed information than its predecessors.

All streams and public lakes of major size are shown, and cities with a population of fifty thousand or more are mapped as a city inset. Color photographs on the back side of the map picture Texas, recreational, industrial and landscape attractions. A running account of Texas history and the state's natural resources, climate, size, recreational facilities and industries are included in the backside information.

Greer estimated that approximately one-half of the map requests each year come from prospective out-of-state tourists. "Maps are available free," the State Highway Engineer commented, "and they may be secured either by writing direct to the Texas Highway Department.

ment. Austin, or to any of the Department's district offices or to the Travel Information Bureaus maintained by the state."

LAKE WHITNEY STATE PARK is one of the nation's recreation areas pioneering in facilities for the air traveler. A landing strip 4,000 feet long ends in a turn-around at Fishermen's Inn, the park cafe. A cross strip of 3,000 feet ends at the park beach. The road into the park parallels the long airstrip. PARK OF THE WEEK—LAKE WHITNEY STATE PARK receives its visitors by land, air and water. It is known popularly as the air-minded park. In cooperation with the Texas Aeronautics Commission, Park Concessioner C. E. Long has provided airstrips capable of handling airplanes of any size. One of the strips is 4,000 feet long; the other 3,000 feet. From either, pilots can taxi right up to Fisherman's Inn or to the edge of the 1,000 foot sand beach of the lake.

Road traffic into the park follows a marked route from the town of Whitney and enters the recreation area parallel to the longer of the two air strips.

Boats find a docking place on Frazier Creek. This is particularly convenient for fishermen because the best of the celebrated fishing flats of Lake Whitney lies right off the mouth of Frazier Creek.

Lake Whitney State Park is second largest of four recreational areas assigned to the Texas State Parks Board on reservoirs created by dams of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, and the International Boundary Commission. Not yet fully developed they provide the room for meeting the expanding park needs of Texas.

Overnight housing is not provided in Lake Whitney State Park, but the timbered land along the lake is provided with attractive camp sites fanned by cool breezes from off the lake. A fine network of gravelled roads reaches these campsites and picnic spots throughout the park.

A thousand-foot sandbeach is one of the popular attractions of Lake Whitney State Park. Access to the beach is made easy by road approaches at numerous places.

The park is probably most notable for its excellent black bass fishing. The large bass here have been found by anglers to offer sport which some declare superior to the joys of trout fishing in northern streams.

Lake Whitney State Park is within two and a half hours, driving time for 1,500,000 Texans. More than a million of them, including residents of the Fort Worth-Dallas metropolitan area, can reach the park in two hours. Waco is but a short distance away.

Mrs. Clarence Elder and Don returned last week from a two-week's visit with her sister, Mrs. C. A. Jordan and Mr. Jordan at Lamesa. Mrs. Jordan has been ill for some time but is improving at this time. They also visited their daughter and sister, Mrs. T. L. Gillette and Mr. Gillette at McCamey before returning home.
