REV. WALTER J. CARTWRIGHT PRESENTING "GOD AND COUNTRY" SCOUTING AWARDS TO CHARLES ROY WILKINS AND TOM CODY GRAVES.

Charles Wilkins And Tom Graves Receive "God And Country" Awards

The Scouting "God and Country" Award was presented to Charles Roy Wilkins and Tom Cody Graves at the First Methodist Church of Goldthwaite on June 23. The ceremony highlighted the Morning Worship service and was under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Walter J. Cartwright, who had personally guided the two young men for more than a year as they worked on the Award. Involved were participation in every part of the Church's life plus special study in the Bible, Church history, and Beliefs and a series of service projects in which they contributed their services to worthwhile causes within and through the Church.

Others participating in the service were Ray Duren, Chairman of Post 77, Scoutmaster Floyd Langford, who presented Tom and Charlie, and Ushers Terry Pribble and John Burdette who escorted Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Graves and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilkins to stand with their sons.

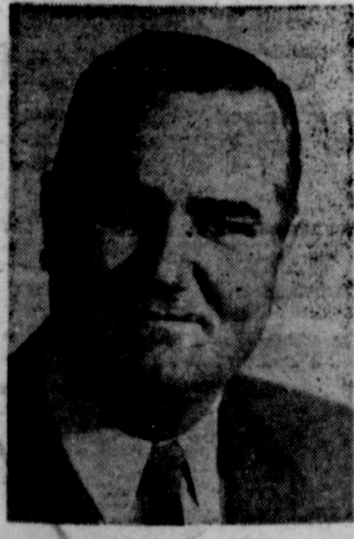

The Christian Flag and the United States Flag were presented by a special honor guard of Scouts Jerry Duren and Cecil Campbell and Explorers Rickey Leinweber and Mike Hoover during the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers." The entire congregation joined in the Pledge to each flag. Following awarding of the badge of the "God and Country" Award, which is worn over the heart beside or in place of the Eagle Badge, each young man presented a miniature of the badge to his mother.

The pastor's message for the morning was taken from that phrase of the Pledge to the American flag which reads "One nation under God." This together with the Scout Oath or Promise ("On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my Country") provides the name for the award which assumes that no man can be the highest type of citizen without having a greater loyalty to God. The special study and service these two young men have given is the kind of expression of that loyalty we all need to take as an example.

SOLILOQUY

You wonder sometimes how things travel around. For the last two years we have published a special soil conservation issue. We have received considerable comment from readers, advertisers and individuals from other areas who are interested in soil conservation practices.

Now comes a letter which reads as follows:

"The chief of our Soil Conservation Service at Washington, D. C., Mr. Dale Williams, has notified us that your publishing company has produced some excellent Soil Conservation editions. May we have a copy for our Soil Conservation Service library?"

The letter came from Milford E. Schmidt, Work Unit Conservationist, Hancock Soil Conservation District, Findlay, Ohio.

Naturally we have forwarded a copy of our special Soil Conservation issue from the past two years with our compliments.

Have you ever been through a Hurricane? Or even been close enough to one to learn something about what it might feel like to go through a storm of that type?

We read about such storms and the damage that is done by them but seldom have contact with parties who have first hand experience and are in position to tell us just how bad they really are.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hodges of Goldthwaite spent a few days in Port Arthur with their son Marvin Jr., and family during the time Hurricane Audrey was coming towards that area and suddenly turned and ripped it's way through Cameron and Lake Charles, La.

Just ask Mr. Hodges how it feels when the wind starts blowing at 84 miles per hour and rain falling in sheets to where you can't see a thing but water when looking out your car windshield.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges and Marvin Jr.'s family were gathered in a strong brick buildings with many others while the storm was at it's worst. When they returned to their house they found only minor damage with the TV Antena down and some shingles torn from the house. Many Port Arthur residences didn't get by that well.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges were in Houston on Wednesday where Mr. Hodges attended a Gulf Oil Sales conference and drove to Port Arthur that evening only to find themselves right in the path of the storm at 5 o'clock Thursday morning.

In commenting on the situation Mr. Hodges said: "Boy, that was one time when we drove right into something."

WHY FARM PROGRAMS HAVE FAILED

Secretary of Agriculture Benson points out that over a period of 25 years we have spent something like $12 billion on the federal farm-aid program. He then says, "These costs undoubtedly would be borne willingly if the program solved the problems, but the problems have not been solved." Furthermore, he continues, all that spending has made "little or no contribution to the problem of low-income farmers. . . ."

The Wall Street Journal, in a lengthy editorial based on the Secretary's statement, sums up the varied reasons why federal intervention in agriculture has been a failure. The most basic of those reasons, in its view, ". . . is the assumption of farm legislators and administrators over the years that they could defy, indefinitely and with impunity, the laws of the market place." The classic example of this was the continuation of rigid 90 per cent of parity price supports for basic crops long after the emergency conditions brought on by World War II had passed, with the vast surpluses that resulted. Summing up, the Journal says, ". . . the goal must be a gradual return to a free market in agriculture. No other conclusion, indeed, is possible."

Even in this period of arbitrary and unrealistic price supports for the basic field crops, other major crops have moved in the free market to the advantage of all concerned. The outstanding example is livestock. There have been seasons and years when livestock prices were lower than producers liked—just as there have been seasons and years when meat prices were higher than consumers thought reasonable. But the prices, whether high or low, were determined by the natural law of supply and demand—not by fallible human beings. The meat moved into the channels of consumption and was eaten—instead of moving into storage. And the meat industry is on a sound and healthy basis.

The late Chief Justice Hughes said: "It requires no argument to show that the right to work for a living in the common occupations of the community is of the very essence of the personal freedom and opportunity that it was the purpose of the (Fourteenth) Amendment to secure." Associate Justice Douglas said: "The right to work, I had assumed, was the most precious liberty that man possesses. . . . To work means to eat. It also means to live."

Doubt Postal Rate Boost OK in 1957

WASHINGTON—While chances look brighter for the administration's bill to increase the nation's postal rates than a year ago, there still is considerable doubt that it will be enacted by Congress this year.

The legislation, already approved by the House post office committee, probably will go through the House successfully even though a number of members are embittered at Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's tactics of curtailing mail services.

P. O. Chief Summerfield

The big hurdle is the Senate, where time is months remaining in the current session, and strong opposition to enactment this year could kill the measure.

If the bill doesn't pass this year, the road ahead will be even rockier next year because congressional elections are coming up and politicians are hesitant to go before the voters with a rate increase fresh in the public mind.

The bill, unsuccessfully demanded by President Eisenhower since he took office, is designed to net an additional $500 million annually for the debt-burdened Post Office department. Rate letters would go up from three to four cents, mail from six to seven cents and postcards from two to three cents. Second and third class mail rates would also increase.

● GIFT GIVING—Senator Kerr Scott (D), North Carolina, mentioned to Senator Frederick Payne (R), Maine, that he had hankering for Maine sardines, thereby setting off a friendly exchange of gifts between the two.

Payne promptly contacted the Maine sardine industry bankers and a case of their product was soon delivered to Scott. In return, Scott sent Payne a present from North Carolina—some of the finest peach and honey-flavored chewing tobacco.

Payne himself has been reticent about whether he sampled chewing tobacco but in telling his constituents of the gift that Scott is "one of the few members of Congress who still chews."

● GI DEHYDRATED DIET—In World War II, American combat rations included dehydrated milk and eggs. In the future GI's will eat complete pre-cooked dehydrated meals.

Samples were shown recently to a House appropriations subcommittee. Reflecting the feelings of many doughboys, Rep. Dan P. (D), Pennsylvania, cracked that wartime dehydrated eggs taste like something prepared by German spies.

Army officials didn't take any exception to his statement. However, they maintained that the present egg is "really a very good product." On the current menu are such items as chili and beef which, officials promised, will be "palatable."

The Army said the experiment is designed to keep combat troops well fed while reducing the weight of their rations.

● ROCKET MISSILES PRIORITY—The Defense department placing top priority on development of rocket-propelled ballistic missiles, while cutting back its original schedules on jet-propelled missiles with a much shorter range.

The step-up in the Intercontinental Ballistics Missile (ICBM) program comes in the wake of reports of Russian progress along the same line. The ICBM is designed to carry an H-bomb warhead and travel upward of 1,500 miles.

British intelligence sources say the Soviets may be two or three years ahead in the development of intermediate missiles (800 to 1,500 miles). Experts say the accuracy of the Russian weapon isn't known.

However, the United States, taking no chances, is embarked on a development program, with the cost of three projects approaching the billion-dollar-a-year mark. The three weapons are the Atlas and Titan and the intermediate Thor.

CONTROLLING COTTON INSECTS

Cotton insects can be controlled economically by the use of the proper poisons at the correct time. Poisons must cover the plants to kill insects. Plants usually are not protected from insect attack on new growth or if the poisons are washed off by rain.

The control program for 1957 includes three phases; early season control; late season control; and early stalk destruction and farm cleanup.

For the early season insects such as Thrips, cotton flea hoppers, and boll weevils begin treatment when cotton is in the 4-leaf stage or earlier if necessary. Two to four applications may be needed, but regardless of number, stop treatment at least 30 days before boll worm usually appears, unless flea hopper or boll weevil infestations are extremely heavy—this time allows sufficient time for beneficial insects to build up as an aid to bollworm control.

Spray applications may be made during wind velocities up to 12 miles per hour. Apply spray when leaves are dry. Poison "run-off" may occur if leaves are wet. For early season treatment with ground equipment, one to two cone-type nozzles per row, placed six to nine inches above the tops of the plants, are sufficient. The number of nozzles should be increased to a maximum of three per row as plants increase in size. Sprays should be applied at approximately 60 pounds pressure and two to eight gallons per acre. As a safety measure, mount spray booms on the rear of the tractor. For complete information on what insecticides to use and amounts to apply, get Leaflet-218 Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects from my office.

If used in excessive amounts or if handled carelessly most cotton insecticides are harmful to man and animals. They can be handled and applied safely if common sense precautions are followed. Special care should be exercised and recommendations strictly followed in handling and using all insecticides. Demeton, EPN, Guthion, methyl parathion and parathion are much more toxic to warm-blooded animals than most insecticides used in cotton insect control and should be handled with extreme caution.

Injurious insects pose a threat to stone fruit production in Mills County, but effective control program can be used to lessen damage and improve fruit quality. In a recently released Experiment Station and Extension Service publication, "Peach and Plum Insects and Their Control," research workers have made available much information and the nature of damage caused by various peach and plum insects and their control. The types of insects discussed include those feeding externally on the fruit causing gnarling and distortion, insects whose larvae tunnel and feed inside the fruit, insects attack-pencil thickness.

Long known as the Beacon of the Rio Grande, the old lighthouse was once at the hub of activity. Vessels guided by the light unloaded cargoes that were carried by ox cart into far parts of South Texas and Northern Mexico. Adventurers hurrying to California in the Gold Rush went to the head of navigation on the Rio Grande to shorten their overland trip to the Pacific. General Zachary Taylor made Port Isabel the supply base for his campaign into Mexico and fought the first battle near the lighthouse site. The last pitched battle of Civil War also was fought nearby. Both sites are marked and can be visited. Confederates seized the reflectors of the lighthouse and buried them in the Civil War. Re-instated after the war, the lighthouse was operated until 1888. It then was closed and again re-instated in 1895 and again discontinued in 1905. It now appears on Coast Guard charts as a private aid to navigation. It is reached by turning off State Highway 83 onto State Highway 100 at Russelltown. There is also a road to it from Brownsville.

L. H. Bunting Gets Promotion In U. S. Air Force

REESE AFB, Tex., (Spec)—Airman Lawrence H. Bunting has taken another step upward in the U. S. Air Force. Airman Bunting, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bunting, Indian Gap, Texas, has been promoted to the grade of Staff Sergeant in the June promotion quota allotted this base.

A 1953 graduate of Goldthwaite High School, Goldthwaite, Texas, Sergeant Bunting also attended Tarleton State College, Stephenville, Texas, before entering the Air Force in December, 1954. In the service he has attended the aircraft engine maintenance school.

Mrs. Tom Henry and daughter, Rebecca of Burnet were guests of Miss Abbie Ervin Friday morning of last week.

ISABEL LIGHTHOUSE, in a small state park of the same name beckons motor travelers as they approach the terminus of Highway 100 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The lighthouse restored on its hundredth anniversary in 1952. It is open to the public Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays between one o'clock and five o'clock. On Saturdays and Sundays it is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. except for the keeper's dinner hour. It is closed on Mondays and Tuesdays.—Photo Courtesy Texas Highway Department.

OF THE WEEK—From the platform at the top of the Isabel Lighthouse glass-enclosed viewing area within view a considerable part of Padre Island, Laguna Madre, and the southern coast of Texas. There can also be seen the site of the first battle of the War with Mexico at Alto and of the last battle between the Blue and Gray of the Civil War at San Antonio Hill.

A small park surrounds the lighthouse which has been restored and is open to visitors from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays and on Mondays and Tuesdays. It is also open on Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. except for the keeper's dinner hour. It is closed on Mondays and Tuesdays. Regular interest attaches to the lighthouse restoration because it conforms to the plans of structure as it was built in 1852. The original brick walls of the 72-foot tower are covered with new plaster surface. The walls are four feet thick at the bottom, tapering to the top. Inside there is the original iron winding stair with hollow center core. Broken steps and gaps in the stair railing have been replaced. There is minor deviation from original construction. This glass housing of the top has been heightened to afford more head room for visitors. A concrete platform has replaced a metal platform with slatted metal floor. This change makes it safe for more people to be on the platform and combats the sea-air erosion that in a century had eaten rods of three inch square dimension to county inspired one guest, Miss Martha Ann Turner to become a teacher.

Martha Ann is a sophomore student at Jonesboro High School. She was undecided about her future until she attended the breakfast, she then said "my mind is definitely made up; I want to be a teacher."

Miss Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Turner formerly of Mullin, where Mrs. Turner taught school for five years. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Short of Goldthwaite.

ing the trunk and larger limbs, stationary insects on the trunk and branches, larvae feeding inside the twigs and insects feeding externally on the foliage and twigs. This bulletin gives individual control for each of these insects as well as a general control to be used on a monthly basis.

Copies of the new bulletin are available from my office. Ask for MP-190.

There will be a meeting at Temple, on July 19th., at 1:30 P.M. at the Fair Grounds, for the purpose of informing the general public on the provisions of the new egg grading law.

Mr. F. Z. Beanblossom of the Extension Service and Mr. Cal T. Wallace of the State Department of Agriculture will give a detailed explanation of the law. All people connected with the trade are invited to attend. I will be going and can take 4 or 5 people with me. If you are interested in going to the meeting please contact me.

2. All eggs sold to consumers must be graded; or, if not graded, the word "ungraded" must appear on the carton.

C. Be labelled "cold storage eggs" if the eggs have been under refrigeration for 30 or more days.

5. Where eggs are uncartoned, a sign must be displayed showing size and grade.

6. The Commissioner of Agriculture, administrator of the law, and his agent, may take samples of eggs for inspection and may enforce a "stop sale" order on eggs held in violation of the act.

7. Licensing: Retailers, dealers, wholesalers, processors and brokers must be licensed to buy and sell eggs. The retailer pays no fee. Dealers, wholesalers and processors pay fees according to their volume of business. A broker's fee is $5. Producers, hatcheries, restaurants, hotels and food manufacturers are exempt from licensing.

8. Licensees must keep on file for two years a record of all eggs purchased or sold, excluding retailers in purchases of less than case lots. Licensees also must deliver signed invoices with each transaction.

9. Violation constitutes a misdemeanor and carries penalties of from $50 to $1,000 in fines.

10. The act creates a nine-member Egg Marketing Advisory Board appointed by the Governor with the Commissioner of Agriculture as Chairman.

Exemptions: Producers selling only the production of their flocks are exempt from the act unless they claim some kind of grade. If a grade is claimed, producers must conform fully with the act.

Nubian Milk Goats Join Other Commodities In C. R. O. P. Program

BY RALPH E. MASSEY

Nubian milk goats are the latest U. S. good-will ambassadors to the Central American Republic of El Salvador.

The Christian Rural Overseas Program, nondenominational branch of the National Council of Churches, has recently announced the arrival of 31 Nubian goats in El Salvador.

CROP provides church direct-relief throughout the world by collecting cotton, rice, wheat, and other commodities such as the Nubian goats for overseas shipment to help improve the agricultural programs in foreign countries. It is known as the food and fiber program of Church World Services.

The goats were purchased from H. F. Feight, Rochelle; Grover Dalton, Mullin, and Keith Randle, Granbury.

Nubian improved milk goats might be termed the goats of Biblical times. Their outstanding characteristics include convex faces and long ears, often reaching as much as two inches below the chin. Their color ranges from black to white, and they are sometimes spotted. One color seldom predominates any one herd.

The goats will provide a basic dairy herd for three pioneer farm communities. Nubians were chosen because of their high milk yield. The doe's milk is high in butter fat. Although she does not produce as much milk as some other breeds, one official record shows a Nubian producing 1945.8 pounds of milk and 103.046 pounds of butter fat during a 10-year period.

The Nubian breed usually beds down with the kids in a compact group. The does then lie down, with their heads pointed outward, surrounding the kids. The king of the herd then circles the group and acts as sentinel by giving a snort as a signal for intruders.

A mature buck stands approximately 35 inches high at the withers and weighs 175 pounds. The doe stands about 30 inches high and weighs 130.

Nubians are said to be more generally hornless, and ardent admirers even go to the extreme of claiming that the Nubian buck is free from odors.

AUSTIN, Tex.—"Summertime and the livin' is easy" says the song. But under the State Capitol dome there's quite a bit to keep folks uneasy, even in this summer lull.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr stirred things up by saying he was afraid the state couldn't afford the possible half-million-dollar tab for a special session in the fall. It might mean new taxes, said Carr, since the last Legislature appropriated nearly every cent now in sight for the next two years.

Gov. Price Daniel, who is considering the special session, hastened to say that he had "no idea" of submitting a new tax request. He pointed to his recent effort to get foreign oil imports limited so Texas production could be increased. Much of Texas' tax revenue comes from oil production, so this move, if successful, could improve the state's financial outlook.

Another source of uneasiness is the Travis County grand jury—hard at work, despite the heat. Insiders predict six or seven indictments resulting from the ICT and bribery investigations begun by the Legislature.

If true, this means more people are in trouble than outsiders can as yet account for.

Others are critical of the State Water Board's inaction. Plagued by internal disagreements, the board has delayed a year in ruling on the Canyon Dam squabble. In this case the City of San Antonio and the Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority locked horns over whether San Antonio could get water from the proposed dam.

Governor Daniel will be able to make a new appointment to this board in August.

COX TRIAL DUE—Trial of Ex-Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe is set to open Monday (July 15), but there are good indications it'll be delayed.

Cox was indicted last spring on charges of consenting to accept a bribe. Dist. Atty. Les Procter says the state is "ready to go." But defense attorneys admit they'd rather wait until publicity dies out and the weather cools off. They spoke of probable postponement moves.

Reporters, recalling the sweltering weeks spent covering the trail of Former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles two summers ago, admit they're not eager to see this one start now.

INSURANCE STUDY ON—An overall survey of the Texas Insurance Commission's operations by a private outside agency is going forward with official approval from all sides.

First action of the new Insurance Board was to request a Texas Research League study of the department. Actually, the League already had begun the task after requests last spring by then-Comm. Chmn. John Osorio and by a House investigating committee.

Reorganized board took the reins after swearing-in of new members David B. Irons and Joe P. Gibbs, who had served "temporarily" for the past few months. Former Dist. Judge Penn Jackson was installed earlier.

Governor Daniel expressed confidence the board would soon get rid of the few "rotten apples" still remaining in the insurance industry. None of the men sought the jobs, said the governor; they were "drafted."

50-50 PLAN LAUNCHED—A new era in Texas highway building opened when the state executed its first contracts to help counties with right of way costs.

Until now, law required local governments to by the land and the State Highway Department to pay construction costs. A new law passed last spring allows the state to share 50-50 in land costs.

Highway Engineer D. C. Greer says that the highway department is working ahead of the effective date of the bill (Aug. 22), "in order to get the program under way."

Counties with which contracts were negotiated are Jefferson, Falls, Cherokee, Wood and Hill. SCHOOL STANDARDS UPPED—More money and more study are in prospect for Texas public school children.

State Board of Education voted to hike state aid to schools by $4 per pupil. It means $82 per pupil for roughly two million pupils in the 1957-58 year.

Board also gave final confirmation to a plan to raise accreditation requirements for high schools. Future graduates will have to have 16 units of study, one more than before. Health and physical education won't count, but credits must include four in English, two in math, two in laboratory science.

Beginning in 1959 accredited high schools must have four, instead of three, full time teachers.

UT SALARIES RAISED—Teachers in the University of Texas system can look forward to raises averaging $800 a year for the coming school year.

Due to bigger Legislative appropriations, new budget adopted by UT regents is 16 per cent higher than this year's. Faculty members will get $500 to $2,500 raises, depending on rank. For the average prof, it means a jump from $6,009 to $6,815 per year.

RAIN NEEDED AGAIN—Almost a month of dry sunny weather has many Texas farmers returning to an old refrain—"more rain."

U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that most of the state, except that touched by the hurricane, needs showers.

Range growth has slowed, said USDA, and cotton is running very late. But it predicted good feed crops, possibly one of the largest sorghum harvests on record.

SHORT SNORTS—Texas construction contract awards in June were up $34,000,000 over last year, reports the Texas Contractor magazine. A billion-dollar construction year is foreseen. Truck freight rates will go up five per cent beginning July 10, announced the Railroad Commission. It will cost shippers an estimated $2,500,000 per year. Texas' draft quota for August is down slightly, 547 compared to 661 in July. Col. Morris Schwartz, State Selective Service director, also announced new regulation giving draft exemption to members of Ready Reserve units.

C. C. Crutchfield of Austin has been named director of the League of Texas Municipalities. He succeeds E. E. McAdams who served as director for 22 years. Governor Daniel has asked the federal government to approve flood control projects for Hudson, Bell, Guadalupe, Comal and Hays Counties. Work would be financed jointly by the U. S. government, local water and soil conservation districts and the affected land owners.

R. L. Phinney, district director, Internal Revenue Service, has announced that farmers may obtain refunds of federal excise tax on gasoline used for farming purposes during the fiscal year ending June 30. Claims must be filed before Oct. 1 on Form 2240 which may be obtained at county agents' offices.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Turner and their son, Syd of Abilene, and their daughter, Mrs. R. L. Bates of Mexico and a friend, Mrs. Ruby McEwen of Abilene visited Sunday with Mr. Turner's sister, Mrs. E. L. Pass and Mr. Pass.

Mrs. Florene Renfro accompanied Mrs. Bertha Weathers and her niece Miss Kay Taschinger to Llano where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Dew Weathers and daughters, from there they met Kay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Taschinger of Houston and Kay returned home with them.

Old Bayou Bridge Has Been Moved

The old steel bridge crossing the Bayou which has been replaced with a new steel and concrete bridge has been moved from the old location County Judge John L. Patterson announced.

Denhart and Martin, Bangs, Texas were awarded the contract by the Commissioners' Court to move and dismantle the bridge at a cost of $5,000. The bridge was taken down in three sections with two sections going to new locations and the third section being dismantled.

One section was moved to Regency over a dip near the Willard Edgington place in precinct four. One section was used to replace an old bridge on Pompey Creek near Sleepy Hollow Ranch in precinct three and the third section was dismantled with material being stockpiled for the county.

Lake Merritt Again Proves Popular Recreation Spot For Club Members

BY RALPH MASSEY

Lake Merritt, a dry hole two years ago, is once again Mills County's recreation spot.

The lake is owned by the Santa Fe railroad. Its purpose was to provide water for its steam engines at the water tank at Bozar as long as steam engines were in use.

Lake Merritt is leased by the Mills County hunting and fishing club, and shares have tripled in value recently.

Ten years ago Lake Merritt was a lively recreation site. It was a place for picnics, swimming, and water skiing.

Then the drought came, and the lake dried up. The fish began to die, and people deserted their cabins. Piers rotted, trees began to grow in the lake bed, and car tracks were common where boating had been done.

In 1955 Lake Merritt was filled

after a heavy downpour. The club restocked its fish.

This spring tournament sent the lake over the top for the first time in ten years.

Now, Lake Merritt has 100 skis and 100 fishing boats being built and more boats are once again where the car tracks were.

Piers are being rebuilt. Mills County hunting and fishing club members are again enjoying the fishing.
