Scouting Movement Celebrates 48th Anniversary, February 7-13

Activities among Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, and their leaders will be at an "all-time high" as the Boy Scouts of America celebrate their 48th Anniversary Feb. 7-13.

The Scouts are taking part in a five-point program which will include display of handicrafts and camping equipment in up-town windows, attending church services on Scout Sunday, February 9, conducting open house with parents as guests at the regular meeting, going on hikes and camps, and giving goodwill and engaging in a safety project of their own choosing which will stress safety among all the people.

Local leaders are completing plans for the boys to participate in the activities. Each Pack, Troop, and Post that completes four or more of the events will receive a ribbon award.

The theme is "Onward for God and My Country."

"We are grateful to eighty-one churches and organizations that sponsor and give leadership to the Scouting program year-round for boys ages 8 through 16," stated L. M. Stephens of Lometa who is President of the Council.

VIC'S . . .

SOLILOQUY

The electric blanket, or sheet, has come a long way in bringing comfort to the American public during recent years. There are times though when that same article can bring discomfort, should one of the twin controls go out of order during a cold spell or when the controls get accidentally switched around.

Such was the case in the recent experience of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. "Mac" Horton.

They retired the other evening and Mrs. Horton wanted more warmth so she turned her twin control of the blanket up. Mac said he was too warm and turned his control down. Things went on for several hours until Mrs. Horton had her control turned up to six while he had turned his down to low. About 4 a. m. Mrs. Horton began to laugh—she realized she had turned the blanket without moving the controls—so while she was turning up the heat she was roasting Mac and he in turn was turning down the heat and freezing her.

SAFETY EDUCATION

The techniques of safety education for children is in no wise different from their education in any other remote or similar field. Instruction must proceed in a step by step manner at such a pace as to present the likelihood of success (offering understanding and a sense of achievement to the child), and frequently enhanced with the conquest of minor milestones. To attempt to teach a boy of six the principles of water safety that are set up for a nine-year-old, would be as discouraging to the child as trying to teach him algebra before he had been introduced to simple arithmetic.

To develop good safety habits and teach the proper safety attitude, adults must be aware of the prime role of parental example in influencing juvenile behavior. Most parents are pleased to hear their sons and daughters say, "I want to grow up and be like mommy — or daddy." But they often overlook the vital responsibility that such juvenile ambitions impose on them, the parents. It means that the little boy will imitate his father in the handling of tools or driving a car. And, of course, the little girl will try to mimic her mother in the performance of household chores. Perhaps this is too obvious, but how many parents realize when they take their two-year-old for a walk, that they are starting the child's instruction in permanent pedestrian habits? And how many are aware that when they take the same child for an automobile ride that they are starting a fourteen-year course in driver education?

Educators agree that student or group participation is one of the most effective educational devices. How does this apply to safety education in the home? It simply suggests that, under parental supervision, children should be taught to do all the things they want to and are capable of doing. The boy of six is going to light matches just as sure as his feminine counterpart is going to turn on the stove. In both cases these children need to be taught how to do these things safely and, for the next few years, only when mother or daddy is present. The same teaching principles apply in other adventuresome and hazardous areas of youthful learning.

It should be pointed out that the everyday experiences of a child that inevitably result in minor bumps, bruises and burns can be of great educational value. However, this is true only so long as the parent capitalizes on the event by explaining the cause and effect relationship of the incident. Sometimes these explanations seem ridiculously simple and obvious, but to a small child they form the safety-nucleus of his future life.

While children learn best by parental example and supervised experience, they can learn much by rote. This is possible, however, only when they have the background of supervised experience, the continuing example of parental safe behavior, and a well-founded confidence in the reasonableness and veracity of the parents.

J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association and one of the Southwest's leading safety-experts, recently stated: "The ultimate responsibility for juvenile accident prevention falls on the parents. But this should be conveyed to them in a non-frightening manner and with an assurance of a more rewarding future."

Thus, the thinking parent knows that he cannot teach a boy NOT to climb a tree, but HOW to climb it safely.

WHEN THE OLD BIRD WAS YOUNGER

10 YEARS AGO—

(Taken from Eagle Files of February 6, 1948)

It was Mills County night—by judges' decision—at the Houston Rodeo Arena Tuesday night when Robert Henry Johnson of Goldthwaite, presented to the rodeo audience his Grand Champion of the entire show.

Also presented was Marion Reynolds, 15-year-old 4-H Club boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Reynolds, of Caradan, and his Reserve Champion of the entire show, and his prize winning steer, Butch, 1,025 pounds.

L. V. Benningfield is now operating the Magnolia Service Station located on the east side of the square in Goldthwaite.

Mills County officials have been notified that county roads in the Camp Bowie maneuver area are being returned to the county for $1.00, the price charged the government at the out break of the war.

Miss Nina Beth Robertson of Goldthwaite and Frank William Cobb of Durenville were united in marriage Thursday evening at seven o'clock at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Vann in Mullin, Rev. Vann officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Robertson of Goldthwaite.

The year 1948 got off to a good start as far as marriage licenses are concerned. The County Clerk's office recorded eight couples for the month of January. They were issued to Ernest O. Hopper and Katherine Wetzche; Charles H. Ince and Blanch Chaney; Walter H. Smith and Melva D. Harris; Louvell W. Sides and Miss Ruth Whitt; Donald Humphries and Geraldine Karnes; Frank W. Cobb and Nina Beth Robertson; Charles A. Hamilton and Mary Josephine Carter; Gaylon O. Geslin and Grace Starks.

Mrs. Christine Fessler was born October 17, 1855 in New York City. She died January 29, 1948 at her home on Parker Street. She was 92 years, 3 months and 12 days of age and was perhaps the oldest citizen of Mills County at the time of her death.

25 YEARS AGO—

(Taken from Eagle Files of February 3, 1933)

The Rev. R. D. Moon, former Methodist pastor at Goldthwaite and other charges near here, died last week at his home at Gilmer, at the age of 85.

Mr. John W. Long, 64, died at his home in the Lake Merritt community yesterday afternoon after a long illness. He will be buried this afternoon at three o'clock in the North Brown Cemetery.

Mrs. D. A. Weems suffered a hard fall in her yard Friday of last week and was badly bruised but fortunately no bones were broken. Her daughters, Mrs. J. Hicks of the Big Valley community and Mrs. Willard Wooden of Ballinger are with her.

Miss Fannie Jackson, a member of the faculty of Baylor College, Belton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jackson here this week.

Dr. B. A. Fowler and W. H. Thompson of Brownwood were in Goldthwaite the first of the week.

Friends of G. W. Jackson will be glad to know he is recovering from a severe case of flu.

50 YEARS AGO—

(Taken from Eagle Files of February 8, 1908)

R. H. Murrah and Miss Lois Burrows were married at the home of the bride's father in this city Sunday evening and

The schoolhouse at Long Cove was burned Monday night. The cause was supposed to have been a defective flue. The building was just over the line in Lampasas County and was an old building.

Ernest Allen who now has a position with W. J. Richmond in the drug business at Blanket, this week ordered the Eagle sent to his address.

George Martin, son of Henry Martin, was thrown from a wagon in a run-away accident Monday and pretty badly hurt.

Miss Vera Salyer died at the family home in this city last Sunday afternoon after a lingering illness, and her remains were interred in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery Monday afternoon.

The sad news reached this city Saturday that Dr. F. L. Stephens had died at one o'clock that afternoon at the home of his brother in Mexico, where he had been visiting for several days. Dr. Stephens moved here from Mart several months ago and engaged with his son in the livery stable business, the condition of his health having forced him to retire from the practice of medicine.

Henry Martin and wife went to the residence of Mr. Hiller in the eastern part of the county last Thursday to attend a reception.

T. H. House was here one day this week from Center City.

MARCH OF EVENTS

All Indications Point To Exit of Dulles Soon

Foreign Policy Leader To Quit "While Even"

By HENRY CATHCART

Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Speculation is growing that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will leave President Eisenhower's Cabinet soon.

Thinking is that Dulles can now claim a final achievement in results of the Paris "summit" conference of NATO nations—the agreement of Atlantic allies to put U. S. atomic missile launching stations inside their borders.

But a better reason for Dulles leaving, it is said, is that the foreign policy leader has yielded his usefulness. No official in the State Department will say as much, but it is heard that both Dulles and President Eisenhower were prepared for an end to the cold war spirit and the sentiment that Dulles' intransigence toward Russian peace proposals is preventing some kind of agreement with Soviet leaders.

And there is a feeling that Dulles can no longer put a program over with either Congress or the American public.

Dulles is scheduled to have a checkup soon on the cancer condition he suffered some time ago. It is not unlikely that the doctors may recommend a regimen of rest and quiet for the statesman and offer him a good opportunity to quit while he is even.

FRANCO VISIT—The recent talks in Madrid between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Generalissimo Francisco Franco revived speculation that the Spanish leader might visit the United States next year.

There had been talk in the past of a possible trip but such plans fell through. Now that U. S.-Spanish relations appear at their best a Franco visit is a possibility.

United States officials point out that Spain is playing an increasingly important role in Western European defense planning and an invitation to Franco would help emphasize the friendly contact with his government.

On the other hand, a U. S. visit by Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia now appears to be definitely out. The Yugoslav president's recent decision to cut off American military aid has strengthened opposition to him in the U. S. Congress.

CONGRESS MOODY—Congress is convening for the new session in a nasty mood. Washington observers foresee a great deal of acrimonious debate but very little important legislation in the next few weeks.

Legislators drifting back from the home districts report a growing discontent. They say the public is tired of high taxes and fearful of Soviet technical advances.

MISSILE SQUABBLE—Despite the outward calm, the Air Force is very unhappy over Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy's decision to place the Army Jupiter 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile into production along with the Air Force Thor.

The McElroy order was a direct slap at the Air Force and at former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson—both of whom felt the Army had no business in the missile business, at least when they are going to travel more than 200 miles.

Now, Air Force leaders are quietly letting it be known that they think putting two missiles into production will result in fewer rockets for the money spent because of separate facilities for manufacturing the weapons.

And they have one powerful argument on this score—plants are already tooled for producing the Thor, in fact they have been at the rate of two a month, while the Army has no such facilities and can only put out enough Jupiters at present for test purposes.

With the emphasis now on getting the missiles operational to supply the European allies, the Air Force may yet win out in this controversy.

SOLILOQUY

The electric blanket, or sheet, has come a long way in bringing comfort to the American public during recent years. There are times though when that same article can bring discomfort, should one of the twin controls go out of order during a cold spell or when the controls get accidentally switched around.

Such was the case in the recent experience of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. "Mac" Horton.

They retired the other evening and Mrs. Horton wanted more warmth so she turned her twin control of the blanket up. Mac said he was too warm and turned his control down. Things went on for several hours until Mrs. Horton had her control turned up to six while he had turned his down to low. About 4 a. m. Mrs. Horton began to laugh—she realized she had turned the blanket without moving the controls—so while she was turning up the heat she was roasting Mac and he in turn was turning down the heat and freezing her.

SAFETY EDUCATION

The techniques of safety education for children is in no wise different from their education in any other remote or similar field. Instruction must proceed in a step by step manner at such a pace as to present the likelihood of success (offering understanding and a sense of achievement to the child), and frequently enhanced with the conquest of minor milestones. To attempt to teach a boy of six the principles of water safety that are set up for a nine-year-old, would be as discouraging to the child as trying to teach him algebra before he had been introduced to simple arithmetic.

To develop good safety habits and teach the proper safety attitude, adults must be aware of the prime role of parental example in influencing juvenile behavior. Most parents are pleased to hear their sons and daughters say, "I want to grow up and be like mommy — or daddy." But they often overlook the vital responsibility that such juvenile ambitions impose on them, the parents. It means that the little boy will imitate his father in the handling of tools or driving a car. And, of course, the little girl will try to mimic her mother in the performance of household chores. Perhaps this is too obvious, but how many parents realize when they take their two-year-old for a walk, that they are starting the child's instruction in permanent pedestrian habits? And how many are aware that when they take the same child for an automobile ride that they are starting a fourteen-year course in driver education?

Educators agree that student or group participation is one of the most effective educational devices. How does this apply to safety education in the home? It simply suggests that, under parental supervision, children should be taught to do all the things they want to and are capable of doing. The boy of six is going to light matches just as sure as his feminine counterpart is going to turn on the stove. In both cases these children need to be taught how to do these things safely and, for the next few years, only when mother or daddy is present. The same teaching principles apply in other adventuresome and hazardous areas of youthful learning.

It should be pointed out that the everyday experiences of a child that inevitably result in minor bumps, bruises and burns can be of great educational value. However, this is true only so long as the parent capitalizes on the event by explaining the cause and effect relationship of the incident. Sometimes these explanations seem ridiculously simple and obvious, but to a small child they form the safety-nucleus of his future life.

While children learn best by parental example and supervised experience, they can learn much by rote. This is possible, however, only when they have the background of supervised experience, the continuing example of parental safe behavior, and a well-founded confidence in the reasonableness and veracity of the parents.

J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association and one of the Southwest's leading safety-experts, recently stated: "The ultimate responsibility for juvenile accident prevention falls on the parents. But this should be conveyed to them in a non-frightening manner and with an assurance of a more rewarding future."

Thus, the thinking parent knows that he cannot teach a boy NOT to climb a tree, but HOW to climb it safely.

WHEN THE OLD BIRD WAS YOUNGER

10 YEARS AGO—

(Taken from Eagle Files of February 6, 1948)

It was Mills County night—by judges' decision—at the Houston Rodeo Arena Tuesday night when Robert Henry Johnson of Goldthwaite, presented to the rodeo audience his Grand Champion of the entire show.

Also presented was Marion Reynolds, 15-year-old 4-H Club boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Reynolds, of Caradan, and his Reserve Champion of the entire show, and his prize winning steer, Butch, 1,025 pounds.

L. V. Benningfield is now operating the Magnolia Service Station located on the east side of the square in Goldthwaite.

Mills County officials have been notified that county roads in the Camp Bowie maneuver area are being returned to the county for $1.00, the price charged the government at the out break of the war.

Miss Nina Beth Robertson of Goldthwaite and Frank William Cobb of Durenville were united in marriage Thursday evening at seven o'clock at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Vann in Mullin. Rev. Vann officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Robertson of Goldthwaite.

The year 1948 got off to a good start as far as marriage licenses are concerned. The County Clerk's office recorded eight couples for the month of January. They were issued to Ernest O. Hopper and Katherine Wetzche; Charles H. Ince and Blanch Chaney; Walter H. Smith and Melva D. Harris; Louvell W. Sides and Miss Ruth Whitt; Donald Humphries and Geraldine Karnes; Frank W. Cobb and Nina Beth Robertson; Charles A. Hamilton and Mary Josephine Carter; Gaylon O. Geeslin and Grace Starks.

Mrs. Christine Pessler was born October 17, 1855 in New York City. She died January 29, 1948 at her home on Parker Street. She was 92 years, 3 months and 12 days of age and was perhaps the oldest citizen of Mills County at the time of her death.

25 YEARS AGO—

(Taken from Eagle Files of February 3, 1933)

The Rev. R. D. Moon, former Methodist pastor at Goldthwaite and other charges near here, died last week at his home at Gilmer, at the age of 85.

Mr. John W. Long, 64, died at his home in the Lake Merritt community yesterday afternoon after a long illness. He will be buried this afternoon at three o'clock in the North Brown Cemetery.

Mrs. D. A. Weems suffered a hard fall in her yard Friday of last week and was badly bruised but fortunately no bones were broken. Her daughters, Mrs. J. Hicks of the Big Valley community and Mrs. Willard Wooden of Ballinger are with her.

Miss Fannie Jackson, a member of the faculty of Baylor College, Belton, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jackson here this week.

Dr. B. A. Fowler and W. H. Thompson of Brownwood were in Goldthwaite the first of the week.

Friends of G. W. Jackson will be glad to know he is recovering from a severe case of flu.

Dr. J. C. Hardy, president of Baylor College, Belton, will speak at the Baptist Church Sunday night on Education. Monday morning he will address the high school pupils.

J. H. Dixon, who lives on Route 4, was in town last week.

Mrs. Haskell Smith and son, Trenton, of Austin were visitors Saturday and Sunday in the home of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. J. H. Randolph.

Joseph Bowles of Southwest-ern University visited homefolks Sunday and Monday.

W. B. Black, Route 1, Mullin, transacted business here the first of the week.

50 YEARS AGO—

(Taken from Eagle Files of February 8, 1908)

R. H. Murrah and Miss Lois Burrows were married at the home of the bride's father in this city Sunday evening and

The schoolhouse at Long Cove was burned Monday night. The cause was supposed to have been a defective flue. The building was just over the line in Lampasas County and was an old building.

Ernest Allen who now has a position with W. J. Richmond in the drug business at Blanket, this week ordered the Eagle sent to his address.

George Martin, son of Henry Martin, was thrown from a wagon in a run-away accident Monday and pretty badly hurt.

Miss Vera Salyer died at the family home in this city last Sunday afternoon after a lingering illness, and her remains were interred in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery Monday afternoon.

The sad news reached this city Saturday that Dr. F. L. Stephens had died at one o'clock that afternoon at the home of his brother in Mexico, where he had been visiting for several days. Dr. Stephens moved here from Mart several months ago and engaged with his son in the livery stable business, the condition of his health having forced him to retire from the practice of medicine.

Henry Martin and wife went to the residence of Mr. Hiller in the eastern part of the county last Thursday to attend a reception.

T. H. House was here one day this week from Center City.

Mrs. Jackson of Ballinger, who visited Mrs. Skaggs in this city the first of the week returned to her home Tuesday.

Inside WASHINGTON

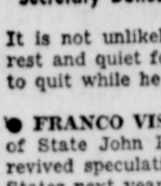

MARCH OF EVENTS

All Indications Point To Exit of Dulles Soon Foreign Policy Leader To Quit "While Events"

By HENRY CATHCART Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Speculation is growing that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will leave President Eisenhower's Cabinet soon.

Thinking is that Dulles can now claim a final achievement in results of the Paris "summit" conference of NATO nations—the agreement of Atlantic allies to put U. S. atomic missile launching sites inside their borders.

But a better reason for Dulles leaving, it is said, is that the foreign policy leader has outlived his usefulness. No official in the State Department will say as much, but it is heard that both Dulles and President Eisenhower were unprepared for the surge of feeling among world leaders for an end to the cold war spirit and the sentiment that Dulles' intransigence toward Russian peace proposals is preventing some kind of agreement with Soviet leaders.

And there is a feeling that Dulles can no longer put a program over with either Congress or the American public.

Dulles is scheduled to have a checkup soon on the cancer condition he suffered some time ago. It is not unlikely that the doctors may recommend a regimen of rest and quiet for the statesman and offer him a good opportunity to quit while he is even.

FRANCO VISIT—The recent talks in Madrid between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Generalissimo Francisco Franco revived speculation that the Spanish leader might visit the United States next year.

There had been talk in the past of a possible trip but such plans fell through. Now that U. S.-Spanish relations appear at their best a Franco visit is a possibility.

United States officials point out that Spain is playing an increasingly important role in Western European defense planning and an invitation to Franco would help emphasize the friendly contact with his government.

On the other hand, a U. S. visit by Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia now appears to be definitely out. The Yugoslav president's recent decision to cut off American military aid has strengthened opposition to him in the U. S. Congress.

CONGRESS MOODY—Congress is convening for the new session in a nasty mood. Washington observers foresee a great deal of acrimonious debate but very little important legislation in the next few weeks.

Legislators drifting back from the home districts report a growing discontent. They say the public is tired of high taxes and fearful of Soviet technical advances.

MISSILE SQUABBLE—Despite the outward calm, the Air Force is very unhappy over Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy's decision to place the Army Jupiter 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile into production along with the Air Force Thor.

The McElroy order was a direct slap at the Air Force and at former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson—both of whom felt the Army had no business in the missile business, at least when they are going to travel more than 200 miles.

Now, Air Force leaders are quietly letting it be known that they think putting two missiles into production will result in fewer rockets for the money spent because of separate facilities for manufacturing the weapons.

And they have one powerful argument on this score—plants are already tooled for producing the Thor, in fact they have been at the rate of two a month, while the Army has no such facilities and can only put out enough Jupiters at present for test purposes.

With the emphasis now on getting the missiles operational to supply the European allies, the Air Force may yet win out in this controversy.

Sunday was a beautiful day, the sun shining warm and it seemed like spring. Brother McBride, the new pastor, preached for us. Those of you that haven't heard this man of God, have missed a treat. If you do not have a church home come worship with us, you are always welcome.

Young Fred McBride, the 12-year-old son of the pastor, brought a short message Sunday night, which was enjoyed by those present.

There has been quite a bit of sickness this past week and some were unable to attend church Sunday. We hope each one is feeling much better by this time.

Mrs. Lula Hobbs ate dinner with her son, Billy, and wife and son Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Duren and family went to the Fat Stock Show Saturday. Their sons, Eugene and Brady Wayne, have entered fat calves in the show. We are proud of these boys and all the other FFA and 4-H boys and girls, keep up the good work. It is wonderful to attend these shows and see the nice fat stock and see what our young people are doing.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Green have returned to Abilene after spending a few weeks at their home in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Stanley of Bangs visited in the Bill Daniel home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alford Brown, Mrs. Joy Williams and Ann visited Mr. Whitstone in Brownwood Monday of last week. He is a heart patient in the hospital there and seems to be improving. We hope he will soon be well and back at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Mutt Gandy and family of Crane visited his mother, Mrs. Gandy the past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Pyburn were guests of his brother, Gail and family at Abilene last

Little Bobby Zane Duren visited Jimmie Dan Cox Saturday while his parents attended the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.

Answer: If you are going to apply for social security benefits before July 1, 1958, you should bring in either your withholding statement, Form W-2, for the year 1957 or a signed statement of earnings from your employer. If you had more than one employer during 1957, you should furnish the information from all employers. This will help speed the processing of your claim.

Question: I am 40 years old and have not been working for the past six months. As I must care for a member of my family who is ill, can I freeze my social security account?

Answer: A wage earner can file application to establish a period of disability, thereby "freezing" his or her social security account only if he or she is the disabled person. Not working in order to care for someone who is ill or disabled cannot be the basis of a freeze.

WHAT ABOUT THE MAN OVERBOARD?

Ever so often I wonder just what I'd do if a sudden and wholly unexpected need for a life preserver existed. This thought hits me whether I'm just plain fishing or pleasure-boating. And I'm not afraid of the water either.

Fact of the matter is, my concern is over what I'd be able to do to help someone else. Chances are I'd be paralyzed with fear. Apparently that's why I always carry a surplus of buoyant cushions, in addition to the familiar old-style, round shaped life preserver, with a long rope attached.

In my book, you can't overdo the safety angle. The law requires one approved life preserver for every passenger in your boat. Don't forget it! Better yet, see to it that your guests wear life preservers. Insist that children do. The wise outdoorsman will never take a chance, especially on or near rough waters.

Speaking of life preservers, now comes the Muter Company of Chicago with a Res-Q-Pak that's an easy addition to any safety kit. This inflatable emergency life preserver comes in a pocket-sized package, no larger than a pack of cigarettes. Should be a part of every tackle box.

Res-Q-Pak inflates instantly. A gentle squeeze on the package . . . and presto, you have a two-foot float, shaped very much like the old-style water wings. Manufacturers say it will support a 250-pound man for hours in the water.

LEARNING TO CAST

To spin cast or bait cast with accuracy takes practice. An old-timer's method of mastering the trick is to place an empty beer can under the casting arm, then practice casting without dropping the can. This makes it necessary to use only the wrist for action which is the secret of successful casting.

And, by the way—if you have trouble dis-assembling your casting rod, at the end of a day of fishing, here's an idea. Next time you get ready to put your gear together, wipe the male ferrule against your nose a few times, rolling the ferrule over and over as you rub. That will put a base of oil from your skin onto the ferrule and make the connection easy to assemble, and most important of all, easy to dis-assemble.

CAUGHT THE WIFE'S EYE

Finally got the wife interested in fishing.

Actually, South Bend's colorful, green Spin Cast 2320 Rod and matching "77" reel did the trick. Cooperation on the part of some nice black bass cinched the deal.

Now we got a fishing partner—partner—anytime, anywhere.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Ever build a brush cover in your favorite fishing lake? Right now is just about the best time of the year to do it.

If you like crappie or bream fishing, then a brush cover has great deal to offer.

Biologists are agreed that a brush cover offers a definite advantage in catching fish. And a good one can be built in a couple of hours. It is hard work, however, especially if you are a desk man.

Generally brush covers don't work too well in a running stream. They must be firmly anchored. In relatively still lakes they can be tied down with heavy rocks. However, if they can be built around an old tree trunk it is even better.

To build a brush shelter you will need a sharp axe, a pair of pliers, and plenty of baling twine. A good tow-rope will be helpful too. It is best to work with two boats, or a boat and a type of barge or raft.

The process of building the shelter is in itself relatively simple. Cut an armful of brush, such as willow, tie it together, and attach a stone so that it will sink to the bottom of the lake. Select a suitable spot where the shelter will not be a hazard to navigation, or get in the way of deep trollers.

It doesn't have to be too far from shore. At least a dozen large bundles of brush should be transported to the spot. Some of it should consist of fair-sized brush, such as mesquite trees.

In lowering the brush into the water, it is well that the brush be stacked, so that it will be in a pile at the bottom of the lake. A brush shelter a dozen feet around and some five or six feet through is ideal.

Some builders find it profitable also to anchor a bale of alfalfa hay in the center of the pile.

To be most effective the brush should not be matted together. Fish must be able to swim around freely among the branches. At the same time, some shelter builders prefer a brush pile that big fish cannot get into . . . one that furnishes a refuge for smaller fish.

When big fish chase the little ones into the brush pile, they'll hang around nearby. That's a pretty good time to lower a minnow in the vicinity. For that reason the perimeter should be well marked. Plenty of hooks can be lost fishing in brush shelters, if its bounds are not known.

Some fishermen use poultry netting to hold the brush together. In that event the entire project must be completed on land and then towed to its resting place.

We once heard of a fisherman who made an unusual, yet ideal, shelter in a lake that had just been lowered. He found a couple of old outhouses, filled them with heavy brush, then hauled them to a spot that would be just the right depth when the lake was refilled. There he anchored them down to stay. They were left flat on their sides, with the door open.

Needless to say, he had an ideal cover for fishing and caught more than his share of crappie and bream.

Another good plan is to build the shelter directly under the end of the boat dock or pier. In this instance it is necessary to use heavy wire to keep the brush from washing out, and to keep hooks from snagging.

Anyway, now is a good time to build you a brush shelter. Just be careful where you cut your brush and where you put it. Do the job right and you'll have a good fishing spot.

For thousands of years the Bible has been telling of what has happened and what will happen. A child can understand much of it. Instruction is there and we ought to take heed to what is just ahead. Our iniquities have caused it all. How we need to plead with God to protect those innocent ones who are not guilty of bringing about conditions that appear to be inevitable! Bombs contain fire and brimstone and we are told in the Bible and by scientists that the cities will be targets.

God's Word says in Isaiah 33:12-13: "And the people shall be as the burning of lime: as thorns cut up shall they be burned in the fire. Hear, ye that are far off, what I have done; and ye that are near, acknowledge my might."

L. B. Porter, Mills Co. Service Officer, Receives Commendation

L. B. Porter, County Service Officer, received the following letter from Charles L. Morris, Executive Director of the Veterans Affairs Commission at Austin:

"In compiling our annual report, our attention has been brought to the fact that through your efforts, $39,032.00, was paid to veterans and their families in your area the past year. Please bear in mind that this amount of money only represents the cases that were handled through organizations that this department is accredited with.

"This Commission realizes that practically none of these awards were automatic in any sense of the word. The benefits that are available to disabled veterans and their families from the Veterans Administration and other agencies administering veterans benefits, must be properly applied for and the claims properly developed by you in order for awards to be made. Practically none are made otherwise.

Eaglettes In Close Race For District 9-A Championship

Freedom of the Press, Here and Now

Everywhere that a tyrant's heel has ground most brutally, there has sprung up an "underground" movement. And its heart always is a printing press. For the urge that dwells deep in a freedom-loving people to know the truth is hard to kill. In fact it cannot be killed - not even by the best-organized despotism in history.

The many stories of underground presses that have come down through the ages of trial and error by many dictators is an inspiration to the men and women of America's press.

We know that the truth can actually be printed and circulated under the very heel of a tyrant's boot. But a far better way of keeping people informed is through their own free press which operates not in some dark cellar, but on main street, right next door to the grocer, the postoffice, the drug store.  To preserve that freedom is the first obligation of the American people and the American Press. It is our only hope of maintaining our other cherished freedoms.

figures compiled by The Outdoor Boating Club of America show that there are more than a million pleasure craft in the United States today. Of these seven million, over 6,000,000 are outboard motorboats.

You can find a goodly number of boats on any lake in Texas on any sunny Sunday afternoon. That's one of the joys of Texas. Actually, boat-riding goes on in the Lone Star State practically every day of the year.

Another advantage of the wonderful Texas climate is that boat owners don't have to get to dry docks and winterize. Very few Texas lakes freeze over.

You don't believe that boat-riding has become big business? Just ask your local boat dealer. He can give you plenty of facts and figures. Also the eyes of many persons whom you know who right now are enjoying the great outdoors.

Can you tell you, too, that in 1937 Americans pumped 397,000 gallons of gasoline and 30,000 gallons of lubricating oil into their outboards.

Furthermore, he can tell you these same Americans had 9,800,000 gallons of marine paint and varnishes during the same time. Also that they had 149,000,000 square feet of wood; 45,000,000 pounds of aluminum; 20,000,000 pounds of glass; 6,600,000 pounds of steel; and 8,000,000 square feet of fabric.

Sound, isn't it? And there'll be more of it in 1938. So, if you don't have a boat, better get in the swim. It's a popular thing to do.

Buying A New Rod? buying a new rod this year will be impressed with the number of popular brands now being made in two pieces. They also have medium size guides. Generally they are known as "spincasters" because you can use either a conventional reel or one of the new enclosed models.

Pfueger has just announced a new enclosed reel, the 88, with immediate line control. The company has solved one of the troubles with enclosed reels. By limiting the free flow of line from the cone, smoother operation is had. Pfueger is one of the old-line tackle manufacturers, being famous for its Supreme reel for many years.

I don't know why tackle manufacturers were slow to get around to the two piece rods with large guides. For a number of years I've been fishing with a home-made one. Really there is nothing new in the idea. Nearly all of our original steel rods were two or more pieces. I still have the old Bristol rod I learned to cast with. It is a 4 1/2 foot three piece rod. While it wasn't much for casting, it was easy to take along and it has caught plenty of fine bass.

Nowadays these new two piece rods can be cased easily and transported without danger of breakage. With a light action rod, a smooth operating reel, monofilament line, and light lures, you have just about the ultimate in tackle.

In buying one of these spincast rods I'd suggest you look for one where the two sections are about the same length. Then you are less likely to break a tip, either in the case or in transporting the equipment.

It's Crow Killing Time This is the time of the year when you can do a lot about protecting next season's quail, young turkeys, peacocks and roasting ears.

Familiar Vegetables Given New Interest

By ALICE DENHOFF

BROCCOLI, that highly developed member of the cabbage family, is one of our best protective foods. A half-cup of this green vegetable provides 70 per cent of the entire daily adult requirement of vitamin C and half that of vitamin A, in addition to other important elements.

Broccoli is good whether it is served plain, with all sorts of imaginative sauces or as part of a casserole.

Broccoli in Sauce Plain Broccoli with Browned Mushroom Sauce is a real treat.

To serve 6, wash and trim 1 large bunch fresh broccoli (about 2 lbs. as purchased.) Cut large stalks into halves or quarters.

Cook uncovered in a saucepan containing 1 in. boiling water and 1/2 tsp. salt for 5 min. Cover and continue cooking until broccoli is just crisp-tender, about 15 min.

Meantime, lightly brown 3 tbs. butter in a skillet. Add 1/2 c. chopped fresh mushrooms and saute quickly until just tender. Add 1 1/2 tsp. fresh lemon juice and 1/4 tsp. black pepper. Drain broccoli. Arrange on warm serving dish and top with mushroom sauce.

Sweet potatoes are plentiful now, too. Serve them frequently for their vital health properties as well as their fine flavor.

For example, try these Sweet Potato Patties.

To serve 8, combine 3 c. mashed sweet potatoes, 3 tbs. butter, tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. black pepper and 2 tbs. sugar. Shape into 8 patties. Roll in 1 c. crushed cornflakes.

Bake on buttered cookie sheet in a preheated, moderate oven (350°) 15 min. or until brown.

Delicate Dessert

Here is a fluffy, delicate Cranberry Custard that goes well after a hearty meal.

To serve 6-8, cook 1/2 c. sugar, 2 tbs. cornstarch, 2 tbs. water and 3/4 c. whole fresh cranberries together in a saucepan over low heat until very thick, about 15 min. Gradually stir in 4 egg yolks. Cool. Just before serving, add 1/4 tsp. salt to 4 egg whites and beat until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat in 1/2 c. sugar and 1/2 tsp. grated orange rind. Fold into the custard mixture. Serve in sherbet glasses. Top with a dab of whipped cream and a sprig of mint.

would kill a half-dozen crows it would mean a great deal to the protection of game birds and crops.

I don't think I ever have seen more crows in Texas than there are right now. In driving across the state I have seen hundreds following the plows in the field or squawking about their looting. In the late evenings great hordes of them can be seen flying from fresh plowed fields back to their roosts in river bottom tree tops.

In some areas game wardens have assisted in dynamiting crow roosts. In others, crow shoots have been arranged.

Crow shooting offers a very good practice for shotguns.

Two or more gunners can stack up a big pile of crows in a short time of good shooting, in a very simple way.

For shotgun shooting it is desirable that the shooters find a good clump of trees near a freshly plowed field, or where corn or peanuts have been left in the field. With a crow call, which sells for a dollar or two, you can call them in quickly. Crow calling is much simpler than calling ducks or geese. Almost anyone can attract crows with just a few minutes practice.

If you have a stuffed owl and will mount it on a fence post, then use your crow call like a crying call for help, crows will flock in to you. That's the time to get in some real shooting.

You don't have to have any particular size shot or load for crows. You can shoot them with duck loads, or bird loads. Either is very effective.

One of the nicest shooting guns I've seen lately for this work is that over-under double-barrel Marlin. This fine o/u is equipped with anti-doubling single trigger mechanism. For a shooter who is partial to a double gun, but still likes to sight down a single tube, this is the answer.

Somehow I have a tender spot in my heart for Marlin guns. They are the oldtimers. The company has been making rifles and shotguns for many years. Currently it is the only American company making the o/u shotgun, which I think is a real beauty.

Of course you don't have to use a shotgun on crows. They afford wonderful targets for rifle shooting. There is more danger, however, in rifle shooting. Bullets from rifles, even the modest .22, will travel a long way. For that reason, utmost care should be used. In fact, if anything larger than a .22 rim fire is used, the caliber should be limited to one of the high speed varmint loads. They are less likely to kill someone in the break up on contact and are next county.

THE FARMER TAKES A BOARDER—AND MAKES A PROFIT

A new kind of farm diversification has arrived. It's called the "Farm Vacation" and for many farmers whose grown-up and gone children have left them with roomy, semi-empty farmhouses it could well prove to be a profitable sideline enterprise.

In fact, so feasible and successful has the idea been that it has spread all the way from New York's Fifth Avenue where it was first conceived to the heart of Texas and the open spaces of Montana.

Operation of the "Farm Vacation" plan is a simple one: The farmer who has spare room and facilities and a wife who likes to cook becomes a sort of inn-keeper. For a fair but profitable fee he invites some city folk to spend their vacation down on the farm. Judging from the annual growth of this new type of tourist industry, it is here to stay.

The commercial organization most responsible for development of the farm vacation program was started in 1949 by an ex-farm boy from Delaware, Bill Wolfe, who saw in America's booming and bulging tourist industry a new vacation possibility which could accomplish several important things. First of all, the farm vacation could bring together farmers and city folks so that they might learn one another's problems and profit by the association; also, this could provide the city dweller with relief from the tedium of his existence without high cost and strenuous travel; and, finally, it could help raise the income of some farmers over the country.

Mr. Wolfe's organization, Farm Vacations and Holidays, Incorporated, last year printed and distributed some 250,000 catalogs listing about 300 farms in 28 states and Ontario. They hope eventually to list 5,000 farms which would be catalogued by sections of the coun-

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Here we are in February. Spring can't be far away. I notice that the Balm of Gilead trees and the elms are full of buds. A letter from Mrs. Alvin Hanna of Oakland today said all indications are for an early spring at home. She has shrubs in full bloom, and the agartas (algeritas) are just ready to burst into bloom. How good it is to hear from home. How I wish I could see the robins in the woods and the few bluebirds that pass our way each spring.

Perhaps the shrubs Mrs. Hanna mentions are the Japan Quince and the forsythia. I love them because they bloom in January. All through January I kept thinking, "I'm going to Mrs. Gore's and get some bedding plants—phlox, stocks, snap dragons, carnations, delphiniums, and petunias." But everyday the weather would be bad, or something would happen to make me put it off for another day.

At last, Friday, the last day, came. I made a special effort. We went, but it was so late Mrs. Gore had already covered all the outside plants. So I had to wait for another day.

The postman has been slighting us all week. One day he brought nothing at all. And on the other days there would be only a circular or a bill. But today he brought me three letters—Mrs. Hanna, Otie Willson of Brookesmith, and Stella Reeves Pinette of Houston. My heart sings with happiness.

Otie said she had recently visited over the phone with my sister-in-law, Mrs. Jim Wilmeth, at Brownwood. She and her brother, Clarence, had a happy visit with Dolly Hawthorne at Indian Creek Sunday afternoon. They went from there to see Miss Cora Posey. Otie says she is a "marvelous and precious person." Otie also spoke of the passing of our one-time school superintendent at

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—From the Panhandle to the Valley, a good, safe topic for a rousing speech right now is "The Tidelands—They're All Ours."

Texans haven't been stirred up on this issue since 1953. That was the year Congress passed the Submerged Lands Act which recognized the coastal states' ownership of off-shore lands to their "historic boundaries."

Texas won title to land three leagues (10½ miles) from shore in its independence treaty with Mexico. Texans, at least, were convinced, this was the "historic boundary." Hence, the state began operating in the three-league territory, leasing tracts to oil, gas and sulphur companies to gain money for the public school fund.

Now the fat's in the fire again. Last year outgoing U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell filed suit in the U. S. Supreme Court contesting Texas' claim to more than three miles of tidelands. Other 7½ miles, he said, belong to the federal government.

Of this claim, Texas officials have this to say:

ATTY. GEN. WILL WILSON: "It was Louisiana who knocked over the coffee pot."

Things were going along fine after passage of the 1953 law, explained Wilson, until Louisianians (limited to three miles of tidelands) decided that if Texans could have three leagues, so should they. Louisiana filed suit for the extra land. Federal government replied that "no state" owned more than three miles out.

"This," observed Wilson, "struck a tender spot."

But neither Louisiana nor other coastal states have the same sort of case as Texas, he emphasized. At the time Louisiana entered the Union, the commonly accepted boundary of a country was the distance a cannon could fire from shore—or three miles.

Texas, however, said Wilson, won right to three leagues in 1836 War for Independence, and U. S. officials recognized this when the state entered the Union.

Today the value of the contested lands is estimated at $500,000,000. Ruefully, Wilson noted he's been allotted only one hour before the court to argue for it.

LAND COMM. EARL RUDDER: If U. S. court knocks down Texas' claim to the 10½-mile shoreline, then "Russia, Mexico or anybody else can claim it."

Rudder took note of reported discussion among Mexican attorneys. Their view: if Texas did not get title to the territory from Mexico in 1836, then Mexico still owns it.

Urging that the title not be clouded, Rudder pointed out that the land is not only valuable for its minerals, but vital to defense.

GOV. PRICE DANIEL: "This lawsuit is another step in the process of chipping away the authority of the states. It seeks not only to repudiate solemn treaties by which Texas entered the Union, but to destroy the legislative intent of Congress."

"The President has by every public act acknowledged this boundary. Yet his own attorney general has sued . . ."

Governor Daniel has expressed the belief that Brownell, who filed the Texas suit on his last day as attorney general, acted out of pure spite.

READY FOR BUSINESS—A new state board has opened up. Its business: to lend money for dams and reservoirs to hold some of the water that has been rushing wastefully into the Gulf.

Water Development Board instructed its executive secretary to notify some 1,000 cities and water districts that it's ready to start considering applications for funds. Board can lend up to one-third the cost (with $5,000,000 limit) of a water conservation project.

Newly-organized Development Board met jointly with an older group, the State Board of Water Engineers. Members of the two boards promised to work harmoniously with no trespassing on each other's territory. Development Board will pass on the legal and financial angles of a proposed project; Board of Water Engineers will study from the engineering viewpoint.

NEW "TRAFFIC DIRECTOR"—Brad H. Smith, Rio Grande Valley newspaperman, and past president of the Texas Press Association, becomes Texas' first state traffic safety director on Feb. 1.

Governor Daniel said that Smith will spearhead one of the most intensive traffic safety campaigns in the state's history. Daniel has made war on road deaths one of the prime goals of his administration.

Smith will work with the Texas Traffic Safety Council created by the Legislature last spring to coordinate the safety activities of state agencies.

He has been doing volunteer safety work for 18 years.

"WAKEST LINK"—Bearing on the same problem, speakers at a traffic courts conference in Austin said the courts must command respect for the law.

Traffic courts conducted by laymen or part-time judges in ill-housed courtrooms may be partly responsible for the casual attitude many have toward traffic offenses, said one speaker. Such courts, it was charged, are the "weakest link in the traffic enforcement chain."

SMALL FRY NOT WANTED—Texas Board of Insurance has problem of deciding whether to grant permission to charge lower rates to casualty companies which avoid the "little business."

Five companies are requesting the special rates. They said they plan to insure only more expensive homes. Loss ratios are higher in the $5,000 and under bracket, they explained, and cost of handling offsets commissions.

Board recognized this, but asked, "Who is going to take care of the $5,000 home owner?"

CREDIT RULING CONTESTED—An Amarillo insurance firm has filed suit to prevent new, lower credit insurance rules from going into effect March 1.

State Board of Insurance had issued an order that would bring an estimated 50 per cent slash in credit insurance charges.

Attorneys for Cosmo Life Insurance Co. contend the Board exceeded its authority. Credit insurers say the order would wreck their business.

Numerous state officials had urged the change on the premise that excessive insurance charges were being used as a means to charge borrowers exorbitant rates.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—By 1962 the first wave of the state's "war babies"—probably hundreds of thousands of them—will be seeking a college education in Texas.

Time to get ready for them is now, says the Commission on Higher Education.

Created by the Legislature in 1955, the Commission has spent some two years getting organized and gathering facts. Now, says the Commission's director, Dr. Ralph T. Green, it is ready to start making some "firm recommendations," beginning with its meeting Feb. 10 in Denton.

Commission has the responsibility for studying the needs and problems of all 18 state supported colleges and universities and making recommendations and appropriation requests for them to the Legislature.

Commission staff has done extensive research in areas of professor's salaries, how many students take what courses and possible need for more branches and courses in certain areas.

Several cities have been actively demanding senior college status for their junior colleges. Commission is to have recommendations on this later.

At present, says Dr. Green, Texas' 18 state colleges have some 77,913 students. By 1962, he predicted, they will have 102,000.

Statewide, the possibilities are even more overwhelming. There are some 160,000 students in both state and private colleges now, said Dr. Green, but by '62 there will be an estimated 320,000 prospective college students.

Exact figures are not possible, of course, he said, but "there's no getting around it, the kids are there. It's almost frightening to foresee this tremendous volume and know, too, that standards must be raised to meet demands for improved scientific and technical training. But with good planning, we can do it."

POLIO PLUMMETS — Best news from the State Health Department recently is the 1957 polio figures—lowest in a decade.

Total for 1957 was 734 cases, just a little over half the 1956 total 1,307 and less than one-fourth the peak year of 1952 (3,984).

Department officials said they expect a continued, but more gradual decline, as more people take the vaccine. Shots are not likely ever to stamp out the disease completely, they said, since the vaccine does not prevent non-paralytic polio.

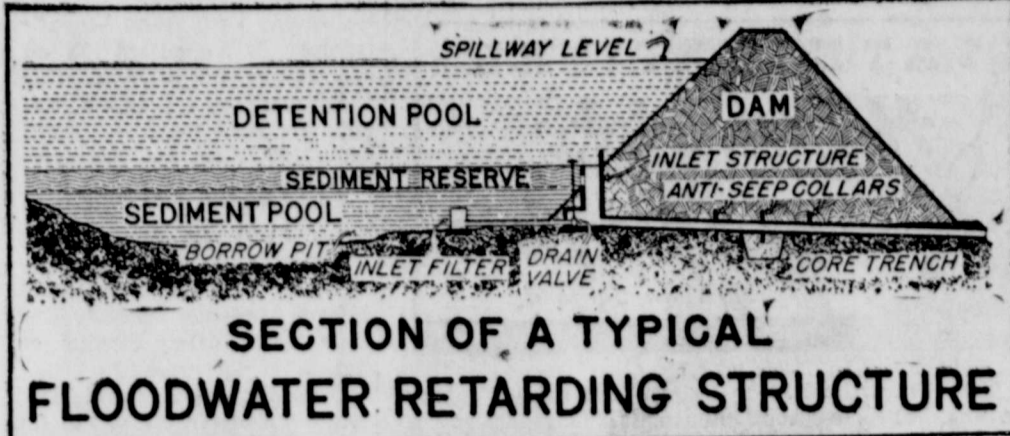

COME AND SEE US—Texans can garner many millions in out-of-state dollars by learning to be good hosts to tourists.

Said Tom Taylor, manager of information and statistics for the State Highway Department, "The tourist industry is one of the easiest in the world to promote. Every community has something to offer. But many Texans don't know enough about their own communities to give directions."

Considering the scarcity of promotion, said Taylor in a speech to the Texas Motor Transportation Association, it was surprising to note that Texas is fifth among the states in number of tourists. It was a $500,000,000 industry in 1957, he said, bringing Texans more income than cotton, cattle and wheat combined.

But, Taylor noted, competition from other states is getting stiffer, and Texans will have to work harder to get out-of-staters to spend their vacation money here.

SCHOOL QUESTIONS TO GO OUT—Some 25,000 manuals are to be mailed to counties by Feb.

WHY? Bennett Creek Watershed Election

By H. L. BERRY

Next Tuesday, Feb. 11, residents of precinct 2 will have a chance to confirm or reject the creation of a water control and improvement district on Bennett Creek. The election will be held on the first floor of the Masonic Hall at Center City.

The amount of interest shown will, to a large extent, determine the priority which the watershed will receive on the state and national level.

Watershed projects must be approved by Congress after they have received favorable consideration from the State Board of Soil Conservation Districts.

Dams on various other watersheds have eliminated considerable damage to roads, bridges, cropland, fences and rangeland. Proper land treatment on these watersheds has virtually eliminated floods.

The Federal Government pays all construction costs on such projects and the local people provide any costs incurred in securing easements, rights-of-way, operation and maintenance of the dams. It is expected that all easements will be given cost free by the landowners. With good cooperation from local people, operation and maintenance is expected to cost very little.

The chances of anyone getting a dam just because he wants one are small. An impartial survey party will locate the dams geographically to provide the most flood protection possible. Every effort will be made, however, to relocate a dam which falls on a place where it is not wanted by the landowner.

It is possible for individuals or groups, who will receive no benefit, to get out of the District after it has been confirmed, preliminary planning is completed, and the Board of Directors adopts the plans for construction. By state law, no one can be excluded until this time.

Panhandle grain farmers need sunshine to prepare for spring planting and Valley vegetable growers to harvest the winter crop.

FLU UP AGAIN—Number of flu cases in Texas climbed in January, but was no where near the October peak.

According to State Health Department officials, estimated number of cases at end of December was 3,411. In successive weeks totals went up to 4,301, 4,820 and 8,800.

But during the October outbreak the total reached 40,000. Gov. Price Daniel was among the recent victims.

SHORT SNORTS — Texans salted away $94,382,837 more in their bank savings accounts in 1957 than the year before, according to the State Banking Commission. Increase was from $288,703,258 to $383,086,095, a jump of approximately 24 per cent. . . Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has been asked for an opinion as to constitutionality of the new law prohibiting an insurance company official's making a gift to an Insurance Department employee. Opinion was asked by the district attorney of Randall County, locale of Estate Life Insurance Co. Estate's president, John L. McCarty, was recently deposed after testimony concerning a $2,000 gift to a state employee.

Mrs. Ruth Churchwell and Mrs. Earlene Brookshire of Abilene spent the weekend with their mothers, Mrs. McWhorter and Mrs. Eula Nickols.

Final Rites For Mrs. D. V. Henderson Held Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Darr V. Henderson were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Goldthwaite Church of Christ. Burial was in Goldthwaite Memorial Cemetery.

Mrs. Henderson passed away at her home Tuesday morning after a long illness.

A more detailed obituary will be carried in next week's Eagle.

Knight, Diane, Ronnie, Kathy and Randy of Duncanville; Mr. and Mrs. James Westlake, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Hawley Jernigan, Harlan, Brenda and Carroll, Jones Valley; Mrs. J. C.
