1957 Wool Price Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the average farm price for wool for the 1957 marketing year is 53.7 cents, according to report received here by Blackwell Wool and Mohair Company from the National Wool Growers Association.

This means that shorn wool payments to be made this summer (commencing on or shortly after July 1st) will amount to 15.5 per cent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of shorn wool during the 1957 marketing year. That would be an incentive payment of $15.50 for every $100 received from the sale of shorn wool, the report stated.

U. S. D. A. also announced that the payment rate on sales of unshorn lambs to compensate for the wool on them will be 33 cents per hundredweight.

Howard Campbell, local businessman, last Friday night completed a special American Red Cross water safety and instructor's course which was conducted at Camp Bowie Pool in Brownwood.

He attended sessions which were held five nights per week over a two week period.

Covered in the 30 hour course were swimming, diving, small craft, basic survival and life saving.

Having successfully completed the course qualifies him for a Red Cross water safety instructor's certificate.

Mr. Campbell donated his time and energy to take this course in order that the community might have someone who is qualified to teach classes in water safety in Goldthwaite.

A number of other citizens donated their time to the project and took time out to furnish transportation for Mr. Campbell to Brownwood for the ten night course. Those taking part in the project are: W. C. Barnett, Raymond Little, Ray Duren, Norman Duren, Harold Yarborough, Glyn Collier, Jesse Moreland, J. T. Jones, C. D. McLean and Lewis T. Hudson.

Payment Does Not End Acreage Reserve Responsibility

Even though a Mills County farmer receives his Acreage Reserve payment, his responsibility under the Acreage Retirement agreement continues until the end of calendar 1958, E. L. Burkett, Chairman of the Mills County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, pointed out this week.

Under the agreement, no crop may be harvested from the Acreage Reserve in 1958. No crop may be planted on it except certain crops for harvest in 1959 or later as approved by the State ASC Committee.

Also, the Acreage Reserve may not be grazed in 1958 except under certain emergency conditions upon written permission of the Secretary of Agriculture.

A farmer who willfully and knowingly violates any of these terms may be required to return his payment and also be subject to a civil penalty of 50 per cent of the amount of the payment, Mr. Burkett said.

A NEW EXPERIENCE

You have all heard it said: "You are never too old to learn, or have new experiences." Brother, all I can say about that at this time is, that's putting it mildly. I could add, when it comes to new experiences, we've had it.

We had a fire at our house, Saturday, June 21, a day that will stand out in our memories.

I have seen many homes where there had been a fire and witnessed many fires. Now I have had the experience of having a fire at our home. And some experience it is.

We left home that Saturday morning at five o'clock to go to Teague to help our children for the day. We returned that night about eight o'clock.

While driving home we noticed as we came along that the farther west we came the more it had apparently rained. When we got here we drove up to the house and looked in the driveway and over the yard to survey the rain. Everything looked good and in order so we went to the office to see if there was any water damage. After checking over the office and plant we looked at some of the wind damage in town and asked the boys at the service station how much it rained and then went home—that's when we found the house was on fire and from all indications it had been burning about four hours.

The house was closed up tight with the air-conditioner going, and even though one of our good neighbors, Charles Conradt, said he thought he smelled something burning there apparently wasn't enough smoke escaping for anyone to notice it.

From all indications the fire started as a result of lightning striking about 4 p. m. during the worst part of the thunder storm. It started in the TV set which along with a chair, lamp and a number of other items in that area were burned up completely as well as the floor, floor joists, sill, etc.

As a result of about four hours of fire with the smoke and heat penned up inside everything in the house was a pretty charcoal color, including closets, cabinets, inside, outside, underneath and overtop—in fact, the works.

So, for the present and some little while we are at home at number six, Mauney Courts.

GOOD ENGINEERING

When we installed the air-conditioning system in our home some time ago we were informed by the company that their engineering department would adjust and engineer the distribution of heat and cold air as near perfect as is humanly possible.

Since the fire one can readily see how true such a statement can be.

While the air-conditioning system helped some to distribute the smoke to all parts of the house, many who have inspected it feel that the refrigerated air going into every room kept the house from blowing up and burning completely.

REAL CONCERN

Something of the nature such as a fire with all the excitement and conversation among adults leaves some lasting impressions among the younger set. They have real concern about such things and it is interesting to note in what directions their concern travels.

On Tuesday morning, after the fire Saturday night, little Mac Rowlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rowlett, and one of his friends called on Mrs. K. When she answered the door bell, they asked if they might see THE FIRE. She showed them through the house and she is sure that that inspection trip will leave a pretty lasting impression. When they surveyed the hole in the floor where the TV had been Mac asked her this question: "Mrs. Koleber, Can the TV be repaired?" She told them she would let them be the judge, to go out to the driveway and look at it. They lost no time going out there to see. In about two minutes they came back to the house and as Mom puts it: "They had the blankest look on their little faces."

A crowd estimated at 2,500 assembled at the old baseball park just west of the Auction Barn at noon Monday to see Lyndon Johnson, candidate for Junior United States Senator, land his helicopter, make an off-the-record talk and then partake of an old fashioned barbecue bean luncheon that had been prepared by Mills County Johnson supporters.

Miss Mauricelene Raines, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice L. Raines of Fort Worth, became the bride of Mr. Barton Head at the First Methodist Church in Fort Worth, on June 18, at 8 p. m. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barton Head of Arlington, formerly of Goldthwaite.

An army release received by The Eagle Wednesday says the body of Pvt. Estel A. Spinks, Army, son of W. F. Spinks of Mullin, is on the United States Army Transport Lawrence Victory, which was expected to land July 1, bringing the bodies of 5,374 World War II men who lost their lives in action in Europe. Two hundred and sixty of this number will be returned to Texas for reburial.

Miss Barbara Dell Porter and Earl Martin Harkney were united in marriage Monday, June 28, 1948, in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church of Brownwood, with Rev. Loyd

Failure of the city officials of Mullin to secure right-of-way for Highway 7 through the city may result in a new survey being made by which the paved highway will miss Mullin altogether, it was learned yesterday. For several months all the necessary right-of-way from Goldthwaite to the Brown County line has been in the hands of the highway department with the exception of a small strip through the city of Mullin.

Mr. R. R. Collins, son-in-law of John H. Chesser of this city, was killed by coming in contact with an electric current from a highline near Royalty, in the Big Spring section of West Texas, last Friday.

Tom Sebolt was the victim of a bad wreck at Waurika, Oklahoma, Wednesday morning, when a trailer in which he was riding wrecked.

Work has proceeded rapidly this week in the laying of curbs and gutters along the west side of Fisher Street in preparation for its paving as a state highway. Work on the east side may begin next week.

The housewives in all parts of the county are busy with their canners and have been so occupied for several weeks. Most every home is liberally supplied with canned vegetables, fowls and fruits.

North America's Finest Physical Specimens? Smithsonian Institution Soys Senecas War

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Despite their bloody exploits of the past, we hardly think of an Indian as an especially hardy specimen of manhood. In fact, most remaining Indians are limited to reservations, suffer poor health and are largely dependent on government aid.

Yet The Smithsonian Institution recently reported that a small tribe of Indians "were possibly the finest physical specimens ever to have lived on the American continent." Who were these skinned supermen?

Not the Sioux, who wiped out Gen. Custer's Army and his men. Nor even the Seminoles of the Sunshine State, Florida, according to Dr. Marshall T. Newman, anthropologist at the Smithsonian, they were an eastern tribe, the Senecas.

A branch of the Iroquois family, the Senecas "were probably the strongest race to inhabit America," Dr. Newman believes. According to measurements of Seneca adults, the average man was over 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighed about 163 pounds.

Living in upper New York State and Ontario the Senecas in their heyday numbered about 5,000. They were very warlike—and apparently they didn't care whom they fought. Before the white man became their chief enemy, the Senecas "were largely responsible" for wiping out the neighboring Huron and Erie Indians. They sided with the British against the French in the Eighteenth Century struggles for power over non-Spanish North America, and later they fought against the American Revolutionists.

Today there are about 3,000 Senecas left on New York and Ontario reservations. They are the last weak remnant of what was one of the mightiest clans of men north of the Rio Grande.

● HIGH COST OF FLYING—A Pentagon report has placed the $635,180 replacement value on each man who pilots a B-47 bomber in the Strategic Air Command. The cost to sharpen to a combat edge the pilots who operate the bombers on which the United States has placed its hope of delivering a knockout blow against any aggressor includes: Flying school, pay and allowances and a pro rata share of the craft operating expense, equipment replacement, base operating and command overhead. Combat ready pilots of the type who are on constant alert to carry nuclear weapons over an aggressor's homeland must have at least 450 hours of flying time as a co-pilot and 100 hours as first pilot in a B-47.

● TAX CUT PROSPECTS DIM—The chances of an anti-inflation tax cut this year are becoming increasingly slimmer. Top administration officials, including President Eisenhower, himself, have made it abundantly clear in recent statements that they do not favor any major tax reduction.

Mr. Eisenhower feels that taxes should not be cut because (1) he feels that most of the "adjustment" in the economy has already occurred and a "change for the better" is in the making; and (2) he feels that the nation cannot afford a tax cut with the budget soaring.

The clincher in the administration's anti-tax cut stand appears to be Budget Director Maurice Stans' prediction that government spending will total about $80 billion in fiscal 1959, and there will be a deficit of up to $5 billion.

With the administration and conservative Democrats opposed to a tax cut, it appears extremely unlikely any such measure will pass through Congress.

College Station, (Spec.)—Insect activity usually increases as the weather becomes warmer. Flies, ants, mosquitoes, moths and other insects endanger health, feed on fabrics, contaminate food and are general nuisances. Up-to-date control measures are needed to fight these insects. A leaflet compiled by extension entomologists offer directions for choosing and applying insecticides.

The bulletin, "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects," classifies all major pests except the termite into specific categories relating to type of damage. Insects are illustrated for easy identification, and concise control measures are given for each insect. Also listed are some important cautions to observe in using insecticides. Copies of the "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects" are available in my office.

PREVENT SPOILAGE AND POOR QUALITY IN HOME CANNED FOODS
You lose time, labor and money when your canned food spoils. If quality is poor, the food may lose appeal and nutritive value.

- Three main causes of food spoilage are under-processing, faulty seals and improper handling. Work for top quality in your canned products by following these suggestions:
- Use young tender products.
  - Gather and can in the cool of the morning.
  - Can in small amounts.
  - Clean food thoroughly. Keep all utensils and containers clean.
  - Use aluminum, unchipped enamel or glass for holding or precooking food.
  - Aim for speed in preparation—"One hour from the garden to can is ideal."
  - Use proper type of can or jar for food being canned.
  - Have food hot when sealed unless canning vegetables by one-step cold-pack method.
  - Get a good seal.
  - Do not overcook or under-process.
  - Cool quickly.
  - Store in a dark, dry place.
  - Store in a cool place—50-70 degrees F.

Get latest information on canning from your county home demonstration agent. Also ask for the material on how to prevent spoilage and poor quality in home canned food given in Extension Leaflet 276.

TEXAS—TOPS IN SOUTHERN FARM PROTECTION

In the few years since 1951, Texas has moved from seventh to first place among 12 southern states in the amount and enforcement of protective farm legislation.

Our state is no longer regarded as an agricultural dumping ground. Today, Texas has come into its own both as a producer and consumer of high-quality farm products.

We have asked for and received from the Texas Legislature the necessary weapons to clean up many of our farm problems. Ten years ago, we were a convenient, inviting garbage pail for the nation, serving as a wide-open disposal point for bad seed, unhealthy nursery plants, poor quality eggs and a host of other inferior products.

Until the necessary laws were passed and put into effect, the old saying was "If you can't sell it here, send it to Texas." Now this picture has changed. We can put more trust in our own production and know, too, that farm goods shipped into the state must meet certain standards of quality.

The clean-up of the grain scandals through the Texas Grain Warehouse Law is a case in point. Texas was one of the first states to strengthen grain legislation after the national scandals of 1952, and no major outbreak of public defraudment has occurred since that time.

Through the Texas Seed Act, seed buyers have learned that testing and inspection protects them from fraud and deceit which earlier ran rampant.

Our nursery industry was offered greater protection by the revamping of the Texas Nursery Law in 1953. Strict inspections and impartial enforcement have prevented any major outbreaks of plant diseases and have protected unknowing homeowners from being defrauded by misrepresented stock.

The Texas Legislature five years ago approved a modernization plan which gave the Texas Department of Agriculture its first major overhaul in 47 years. As a result, many departmental programs offer greater services and yet are on a self-supporting basis, bringing the need for tax money to a bare minimum.

We are now leaders in the South. But we must look to the day when Texas will find its rightful place at the top of all the 48 states in providing protection to producers and consumers alike.

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: Neither my sister nor I ever married, and we have made our home together since our parents died many years ago. I am employed and I pay all the household expenses. I also give my sister a regular allowance to meet her personal needs. Would it be possible for me to consider her as my employee and pay social security taxes on her, so that she will have an income in her old age if she outlives me?

Answer: This question must be answered in light of all the facts in the case. The determination will be based upon such factors as: whether you have a contract of employment with your sister, whether you have the right to control her services, whether she would likely be working for someone else if she were not living with you, whether you would hire a housekeeper in your home if your sister were not doing the housework, and whether your arrangement is a result of dependence upon each other, etc.

Question: Is a delayed birth certificate acceptable as proof of age?

Answer: Yes, if the birth was registered not less than 5 years before the applicant applies for his benefits.

world's biggest crop is Not only does it cover than a fifth of the land of the globe, but it is widely distributed of plants. It is either depend on grass for food or feed for grass-eating animals. Pastures is one of the methods to increase the yield of the grass for in connection with the weeds it allows more moisture, sunlight, food and air. Buffalo spread from 10 per cent per cent at the Spur under experimental on deep, low soil. Mowed the winter grass, barley and such summer as broomweed, careless thistle and poisonous weed. Mr. Horton is using a rotary cutter that is mounted on steel wheels and he is pulling this mower with a tractor that also has steel rear wheels. This reduces the time lost from punctures that would occur if he was using rubber tires on his equipment. Mr. Horton stated that the old growth was so heavy that the cattle would not eat in the heavy overgrowth, but as soon as the mower goes over the pasture the cattle move in and start grazing the buffalo and mesquite grass.

Walnut caterpillars have been reported to the agent's office. These are caterpillars that eat the leaves from the pecan trees. It is important to control them when they first show up and before they have caused severe defoliation. The following recommendations for control of these caterpillars are: (a) 2 lbs. 50% wettable DDT powder, or (b) one pint 55 per cent emulsifiable solution of malathion to 100 gallons of water.

The trees should be thoroughly covered with this spray. Present indications point to slightly better prices for turkeys in the fall of 1958 than prevailed last year, reports F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist. The more

STATE NEWS June 29 — July 5, 1958

The receipts of cotton since 1st of September as far as ascertained in all United States ports, up to the end of last week, exceed the amount of the corresponding period of last year to the extent of ninety thousand bales. Of this increase two thirds, or sixty thousand bales, are from Texas.

Anecdote of Henry Clay. — The great statesman and orator was traveling somewhere "out West," and put up for the night at a country tavern. Mine host in looking over the register discovered the name of Henry Clay. There was but one Clay. Could it be possible that he had this distinguished man under his roof? He was astounded, delighted, and the admirable Boniface bustled forward, and made his rude bow.

Mr. Clay, I believe sir? said he.

That is my name, said the gentleman in his affable tone.
Mr. Clay the Congressman?

Yes, sir.

Well, sir, I've heard of you, and I thought I'd ask you if you wouldn't give me and my old woman a little speech before you go?

Mr. J. Studor, Horticulturist in this neighborhood, presented us on Saturday last, a fine lot of English and delicious grapes of other varieties, also some fine, soft and nectarine peaches—all specimens which show how much industry, and science united, can contribute to the comfort and luxuries of this climate. Mr. Studor has set a fine example to our citizens.

Hotels—We call attention to the card of the Kirkwood House, Washington City. This is the house where a large number of Texas traveling community stop, where our Congressional delegation board, and where the best of fare and Texas Newspapers can be found. We speak from experience when we commend the Kirkwood House to our readers.

Taking a birds eye view of the crops in most of the Southern States, we are now prepared to say that in no state are there so promising crops as in Texas. We have never seen anything to surpass the crops upon the lower Brazos and Colorado, and we understand that these rich harvests are little more than an average in the whole State.

Hillside Mission

By LIDA BYRNE

Our dictionary tells us holiness is freedom from sin, sacredness; so holiness does not necessarily mean a so-called holiness movement or denunciation, but something to seek for our soul—a real attitude toward God, and we are not going to reach the goal in our shallow hit-and-miss way of living. The Bible says: "Sanctify yourselves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the LORD your God." Leviticus 20:7.

Department Of Public Safety Issues July 4th Safety Reminders

"Don't celebrate the Fourth of July by endangering your life and that of others by careless driving." This warning was given to Texas motorists today by Major W. J. Elliott, Commanding Officer of the Waco Region of the Texas Department of Public Safety. The Major pointed out that although many motorists will be taking a holiday this weekend, traffic accidents will not take a holiday. The Department Statisticians in Austin predict that 28 people will lose their lives in traffic accidents over our Texas Highway system during this July 4th holiday weekend.

It's a terrible indictment of our great Highway traffic system in Texas, that every time we have a weekend holiday, we pay for it with human lives and wrecked automobiles.

However, Major Elliott said that the predictions for so many deaths need not be proven true. Whether it does or not, depends on each one of us who drives, he said. We have it in our power to make this a safe and happy

Fourth. We all know of the three big "E's" in traffic safety; education, enforcement, and engineering; And now let's add a 4th "E," that of example. Let your driving be an example of the type good driving that will prevent accidents. By good drivers, we mean those who observe the following rules:

1. Limit the number of miles you try to cover so that you can keep your speed down.
2. Never drive after you've been drinking.
3. Watch for, and heed all road signs.
4. Step up your vigilance while driving in heavy holiday traffic.
5. Have your car completely safety checked before you start your trip.

Sergeant G. E. Simmons Jr. of the Llano Sub Station for the Texas Highway Patrol, pointed out that all of the Department of Public Safety Personnel in this area, including patrolmen of the Highway Patrol, License and Weight, and Motor Vehicle Inspection, Divisions will be working extra hours during this holiday weekend. We will be doing all we can do to stop traffic accidents by watching for traffic law violators, and removing those more serious violators from the road when they are detected. But with all of our extra hours, and effort, you, as a driver, will be the main factor in establishing our accident record. With your help and cooperation, Texas, and our Community, can make this holiday a happy and safe occasion.

Turkey Market Outlook Improves

College Station, (Spec.) — Present indications point to slightly better turkey prices in the fall of 1958 than in the fall of 1957, according to F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist.

Beanblossom bases this prediction mainly on the outlook for about a 14 per cent drop in the 1958 crop in the U. S. It now appears that a drop from the 1957 record output of 81 million birds is certain and this should help prices. However, he points out, the price rise will be tempered by large storage stocks. Too, the paying prices that storer will be willing to offer for 15 to 20 per cent of the crop which normally goes into long-time storage will be tempered by businessmen's judgments of the price that will prevail at the time the stored turkeys would normally be sold.

The use of turkeys from storage since January 1 has been greater than any preceding year, says the specialist. However, storage stocks are still large and on May 1 amounted to 109 million pounds compared to 109 million pounds on the same date last year and the 1947-56 average of only 11 million pounds. Any increase in demand for turkeys over 1957 is not a picture. Consumers may have as many dollars as in the fall of 1957. Other factors which the specialist says may affect the present outlook for broiler and larger supplies of competing meats.

PRIMER FOR AMERICANS

You live in the United States of America. You are an American.

Real Americans like their country. They are proud of it. They think it is a good place to live. And they want to keep it good—to keep it getting better all the time.

Why is America the way it is? What makes it a good place to live? The answer is simply this:

Throughout our history most Americans have believed that every person has certain rights and duties and responsibilities.

Americans have believed that there are certain things people should do, and things they should not do. They have also believed in certain things that people are, and are not.

These things that people believe are called principles. This book is an attempt to state the Principles of America in simple, primer fashion so that you can understand them, learn them, and remember them.

This is important. It was because earlier Americans believed in these principles and guided their lives by them, that America has grown to be the good place it is. If all of us learn and remember these principles—if we also guide our lives by them—then we can help to keep America growing better, and better, and better.

And if we follow these Principles of America, we can help make the world a better place to live in, too.

The Principles of America are these . . .

1. Each Person is of Importance and Value as an Individual.

This is the cornerstone . . . the foundation of all our other beliefs in a person's right to live his own life, to speak for himself, to choose and change his leaders.

From it comes our hatred of those "isms" under which the individual has no value or importance as a person, but is only one of many unimportant people who have to live the way their leaders tell them to.

Coming directly from that first principle are two others that are also part of the foundation of Americanism.

2. We Believe that All Men should Enjoy Personal Freedom.

3. We Believe that All Men are Created Equal. It is worth noting that the Declaration of Independence expressed the belief that "all men are created equal." It did not state or imply a belief that men develop equally or have equal ability, or that they should ever be forced to an exact equality of thought, speech or material possessions.

That would be equality without freedom. Americans have always believed the two should go together.

In our Constitution, and in other laws of our land, there are set down principles to protect the rights and freedoms and equality of individuals.

4. The Right to Freedom of Speech.

This includes freedom of the press, of radio, of motion pictures, of every means by which man may express his thoughts.

5. The Right to Freedom of Assembly.

As we believe in the right of individual action, so we believe that individuals should be free to act together.

6. The Right to Freedom of Worship.

Not only is the individual free to worship as he will, but religions themselves are free and equal.

7. The Right to Security of Person and Property.

Not just one, but three Amendments to the Constitution (4th, 5th and 14th) protect against illegal search and seizure, or loss of life, liberty, or property, without "due process of law."

8. The Right to Equal Protection before the Law.

As individuals are equally important, so laws must apply equally to all, without special privileges for any group.

9. The Right to Freedom from Slavery.

This includes "the right to quit," for no individual may be forced to work for another.

10. The Right to Petition the Government.

The right of the individual to "petition the government for redress of grievances" is evidence of the American belief that government is the servant, not the master, of the people.

11. The Right to Vote for people of your choice.

This is the individual's most potent weapon in the protection of his rights and freedoms . . . a weapon that to be effective must be constantly and wisely used.

Other Principles hold that every man has . . .

12. The Right to a Good Education.

13. The Right to Live where he pleases.

14. The Right to Work where he wants to.

15. The Right to Belong to an Organization.

16. The Right to Own Property.

17. The Right to Start his Own Business.

18. The Right to Manage his Own Affairs.

19. The Right to Make a Profit or to Fail, depending on his Own Ability.

There are other, similar rights of individual action which are Principles of America, but all of these individual rights may be combined in these two broad principles . . .

20. Every Man is entitled to Freedom and Equality of Opportunity.

21. Every Man may Earn his Living When, Where, and How he wants to.

There are also Limiting Principles . . . Principles of individual freedom sometimes clash with those of individual equality. Therefore our rights as individuals must be limited, and those limitations are themselves principles.

22. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with those of Other Individuals.

Your right to swing your arms stops where the other fellow's nose starts.

23. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with the Welfare of the People.

Freedom of speech does not give the individual the right to shout "fire" in a crowded theatre.

24. Every Individual owes Obedience to the Laws under which he Lives.

The individual has the right to talk against a law, to work and vote to change that law, but NOT to disobey that law.

Principles that are Patterns of Behavior . . . Many of our principles of individual freedom and equality are guaranteed to us by law. But we have other beliefs, other general rules of action and conduct that have grown to the status of principles. And these too, are foundations of Americanism.

25. A Man shall be Judged by his Own Record.

A man's family background, his race or his religion, is not as important as what that man himself can do, for Americans believe a man must stand on his own feet.

26. A Man is Free to Achieve as much as he can.

We believe that where any boy may become President, where any man may achieve greatness, there is the greatest incentive for every man to do his best.

27. To Achieve anything, a Man should be Willing to Work.

Americans have always known that "you don't get something for nothing," that to get anything takes a willingness to work.

28. Achievement also Depends upon the Ability to do a Good Job.

Add to "willingness to work" the ability to produce results and the combination is the basis for most individual achievement in our country.

29. Every Man has the Right to a Fair Share of the Results of his Work and his Ability.

Because of this belief, America has not only produced more goods, but they have been more fairly and more widely shared by more people than in any other country.

30. Security is the Ability of a Man to Provide for himself.

The only true security for any individual is the opportunity, the ability, and the determination to work and plan and save for his own present and future. Self-reliance is vital to individual independence and personal freedom. No man can be "proud and free" who depends on others for his security.

31. When an Individual cannot Provide his own Security, the Responsibility should be Assumed by Others.

We believe that no one should starve, or be without adequate clothing and shelter, so those who have more than their basic needs share the responsibility of providing the essentials of security for those who need help.

32. Each Individual must Deal Fairly with others.

Honesty, fairness, and personal integrity are virtues that help free and independent individuals get along with each other without losing their independence.

33. Fair and Free Competition is a Good Thing.

Americans have always believed that competition among individuals or groups encourages greater effort which in turn brings greater benefits to all.

34. Cooperation among Individuals is Vital.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has said: "The freedom to compete vigorously accompanied by a readiness to cooperate wholeheartedly for the performance of community and national functions, together make our system the most productive on earth."

Principles of Individual Responsibility . . . Freedom for individuals carries with it an equal responsibility to use that freedom wisely. If we wish to remain free, we must faithfully fulfill this responsibility.

35. The Individual is Responsible for himself and his Family.

He must protect them and provide for their present and future well-being.

36. The Individual has Responsibilities to the Groups of which he is a Part.

He must give of his best to his community, his church, his employer, his union, and to every group in which individuals cooperate for their mutual benefit.

37. The Individual has Responsibilities to his Country.

He must be an active citizen, interesting himself in local, state and national government, voting wisely, thinking and speaking and acting to preserve and strengthen freedom, equality and opportunity for every individual.

38. The Individual has Responsibilities to the World.

Man's horizons have expanded. What happens in the world affects him, and his actions can affect the world. Today, therefore, each man has a responsibility to act—and to encourage his country to act—so that freedom and cooperation will be encouraged among the people and the nations of the world.

For America's Future

Most of us have faith in our country's ability to move forward, to improve, to grow, to provide more and more individuals with more and more of everything they want and need in life . . .

If we, the people of the United States, want to have more material benefits, we must believe in and follow these two principles:

39. The only way we can Have More is to Produce More; and

40. As we Produce More, we must make it possible for More and More People to Enjoy that which we Produce.

If we, the people of the United States, want to have a better life, spiritually as well as materially . . .

41. We must stand firmly for our Beliefs, our Rights, our Principles.

There are those who would chip away our confidence that their special brand of tyranny might creep into America. They must not succeed. So, let us ask of every plan, or act, or idea . . .

Is it With or Against the Principles of Americanism?

The whole show was a reminder that firearms are here to stay, and that we'd better do something about keeping a place to use them. I was particularly impressed with the statement made by an old-timer who had been to most of the Camp Perry shoots. He was talking with a couple of game wardens at the Game & Fish Commission exhibit.

Why don't you fellows in Texas get a real shooting range?" he demanded. "You have a few pretty fair rifle and pistol clubs scattered around the state, but as big as Texas is you need a place to shoot that will even outrank Camp Perry."

That fellow had an idea which we hope some Chamber of Commerce will pick up and follow through on. We do need that big range, and we do need many smaller ones.

from drawing and firing time with a new fast gun just announced by High Standard. It patterned after the frontier models, but is double action and chambers nine 22 caliber cartridges.

This "Double Nine," as it is called, is sure to be showing up in all quick draw and rapid fire competitions where western guns will be required.

Better Ammunition Too—Ammunition manufacturers are continuing to bring out new and souped up versions of sporting ammunition that make us wonder how we ever killed anything with the old "thut-thuty."

Winchester has just announced a couple of new loads. One is the 264 Winchester Magnum, which will provide deer hunters with a high velocity, flat shooting, long range load, ideal for deer, sheep and antelope.

The other is a 338 Magnum, as an intermediate cartridge for moose, Kodiak bear, lion, tiger and other heavier game.

Col. Charles Askins Jr. who recently returned from Africa, field tested one of these 338 guns. He told me he had killed 18 animals with it in Africa. Only one shot was necessary on 13 of them.

Colonel Askins is one of the world's great marksmen. He has shot all over the world, first as a forest ranger, then as a Border Patrolman. While in the Border Patrol he held all world's records in pistol shooting.

He thinks the 338 is tops for a hunting gun. It will kick out a 200 grain bullet at 3050 feet, with 4130 pounds of muzzle energy, or a 300 grain bullet at 2400 fs with a knockdown of 3840 pounds.

Pellet Guns Popular Now — While on the subject of guns we were also impressed with the Crosman display at the NRA show. Here is a pellet gun that has made very rapid strides in the last few years, especially for indoor targets.

These guns are available either air or gas powered. They are made in both 22 and 177 calibers.

The pelgun offers a great deal for both indoor and outdoor shooting. It is less dangerous in the open than conventional rifles. It must not be sold short, however, in power, and should be handled with the same care as any other gun.

Crosman provides an indoor target range for the pelgun, which permits a lot of target practice at a very reasonable price.

Newest in the Crosman line is the CO2 pistol, which gives power without powder. The Medalist model, which was on display at the Dallas show attracted a great deal of attention from military marksmen.

We stood and watched with great admiration some of the army boys who had been used to plugging away with 45 ACPs picking up one of those light

State Poultry Meeting Is Set For July 9-10

College Station, (Spec.)—The 1958 Poultry Conference, which will deal with the breeding and care of laying hens, broilers and turkeys, will be held July 9 and 10 at Texas A&M College.

The intent of the program is to provide important, up-to-date information that will be useful in understanding the progress that has been made and the outlook for future developments in the poultry industry, according to Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman.

This will apply not only to the breeding of the birds, but also to the methods of care, says Wormell. Special emphasis will be given to the understanding and treatment of poultry health problems.

The list of speakers includes many outstanding representatives of the Texas poultry industry and out-of-state speakers who have a national reputation in their particular field of Crosman pistols and putting pellets into the bull's eye at every shot.

They seemed to get as much kick out of the accuracy of these powderless guns as did the onlookers who admired their marksmanship.

And, while Crosman makes mostly guns for fun, the company also produces another gun with a useful purpose. This gun, especially made for wildlife biologists, is used in trapping and tagging operations. It shoots a dart or needle containing an anaesthetic which paralyzes the animal until it can be tagged or treated as the case might be.

work in addition to Texas A&M staff members.

The out-of-state speakers this year are B. A. Keathly, turkey breeder from California; E. W. Glazener, head of the Poultry Science Department at North Carolina; Dr. Clement D. Goddon of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; and Dr. C. D. Mueller, geneticist with Arbor Acres broiler breeding farm in Conn.

Wormell says the conference should be of real interest to hatcherymen, breeders, hatchery and feed servicemen, related poultry industry salesmen and commercial producers of eggs, broilers and turkeys.

Copies of the program may be obtained upon request from county agents or the Department of Poultry Science, Texas A&M College, College Station, Texas. All interested persons are invited to attend.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, TEXAS—Texas has a fairly new addition to its long and much-vaunted list of "firsts" and "mosts." But this one's no fun to brag about. Texas has the greatest number of designated potential enemy bomb targets of any state in the union, says State Defense Coordinator, William L. McGill.

This, added to Texas' long-standing record of leading the nation in natural disasters, puts a heavy responsibility for defense preparedness on Texans, McGill told the annual State Defense Advisory Council conference in Austin.

Officially designated "aiming areas," as they are called, are Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Austin, San Antonio, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Laredo, Lubbock, San Angelo, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Others considered possible targets because of nearby military installations are Abilene, Beeville, Big Spring, Brownsville, Bryan, Dalhart, Del Rio, Killeen, Marfa, Pecos, Pyote, Sherman, Victoria and Wink. Texas has received a $320,000 federal grant, conferees were told, to draw up a state Survival Plan. Several larger city plans are complete, and the state plan, a massive and complex thing affecting the lives of millions, is due to be finished by December 31.

Rural residents cannot feel themselves invulnerable, the Council was told. In case of a large-scale bombing, it is felt likely that radioactive fallout would cover most of our terrain, contaminating crops, cattle, pasture and ponds.

Under the present national civil defense plan, considerable responsibility for advance training and preparation rests with the individual family. Each would be responsible for feeding itself for the first two weeks of a post-disaster period. After that, state and local government would take over for two weeks, and after that, if necessary, the federal government would step in.

Persons or organizations wanting to obtain official civil defense information and study materials may write the State Defense and Disaster Relief Office, Capitol Station, Austin.

Price Ads OK Again—In a rare reversal of one of its own rulings, the Texas Supreme Court has held it is not unlawful for optometrists to advertise the prices of their eyeglasses.

Last spring the court upheld a temporary injunction issued by a Beaumont court prohibiting Lee Optical Co. and others from advertising prices. Suit was brought by a competitor, Texas State Optical.

At issue was how to interpret a law passed by the Legislature in 1957 barring optometrists from advertising that is "fraudulent, deceitful, misleading... including statements of bait, discount, premiums, price, gifts..."

In its more recent ruling the court decided, 7 to 1, that the apparent Legislative intent, or sense of the thing, is only to prohibit price advertising that is false or misleading.

Effect of this is to knock out the injunction against Lee Optical.

Hot Potato—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson is being asked to give an official ruling on a highly controversial question.

It is whether Texas, under present law, can accept additional federal funds to extend the period of unemployment payments. Texas Employment Commission and Gov. Price Daniel are asking for the opinion.

Pros and cons already have been the subject of heated discussion. A recently passed federal law would allocate to the state, funds to provide an additional 12 weeks of $14-a-week payments to persons who had already come to the end of their 24-week benefit period. An estimated 60,000 Texans are in this category.

But, to receive this money, the state must repay the funds to the federal government. If it doesn't get the money by some other means, such as the normal accumulation during high employment periods, it would be pledged to raise the tax on employers after January 1, 1963.

Some argue that this would violate the constitutional prohibition against pledging the state's credit. Others say there is no obstacle since the state merely serves as a collecting and disbursing agent for the federal government, with no state money involved.

Spokesmen for organized labor have strongly urged that Texas enter into an agreement to receive the extra money.

Free Rides Eyed—State Auditor C. H. Cavness, watchdog of departmental spending practices, has questioned use of railroad and bus passes by Railroad Commission employees.

Commission Chairman Olin Cuiberson declared the passes were used only for official business. Use of passes for state business is specifically authorized by law for certain Commission employees.

Cavness noted that 30 employees had passes and that some apparently had not traveled on state business during the past year. He said he felt it violated the new code of ethics law which prohibits a state employee's using his official position to receive special privileges.

Holiday Heartache—Department of Public Safety predicts 28 Texans will die in traffic accidents during the July 4-5-6 holiday weekend.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, said the Highway Patrol would do all in its power to make the prediction false. Every available patrolman will be on duty, plus extras from the licensing and weights and vehicle inspection divisions, to remove dangerous drivers from the road.

Beyond that, said Garrison, it's up to each driver to do his part by following the law to the letter and not trying to drive too long.

New Assistants—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has named four new assistants to his department.

Two who will be on temporary assignment are Clyde Kennelly of Rosenberg and Neal R. Allen of Amarillo. Kennelly is to become Fort Bend County judge next January.

Other two appointees are Robert Hamilton Wells of San Antonio and Richard Owen Jones of Wichita, Kansas.

Short Snorts—Payments to jobless Texans took another substantial drop, according to Texas Employment Commission's latest report. Total claims dropped from 80,220 to 76,889. It only looks bad if compared to the 33,432 claims of a year ago.
