Nostalgic Memories Of Big Valley

By CHARLES ED BULL

— PART ONE —

The little log cabin where I was born, 100 yards from the old Austin-Fort Phantom Hill crossing on Bull's Creek; the big white house where my grandparents settled in 1859; the clump of giant oaks, one of which, perhaps, the highest oak tree in all America, which stood just north of the Big House; the half acre patch of horehound nearby, where the guineas stole away to make their nests in the scooped out basins they fashioned in mother earth. I shall never forget the well, with its bountiful supply of cold water; nearby was the garden, where Ben, the Mohler boys—Carter and "Chibbins"—and I would feast on Winter shellfish, after soaking our squares of cold cornbread in water dipped with a long handled goad dipper from the old oak bucket at the well—never a festa board so good as that.

The prettiest landscaping I ever saw in Mills was the premises at The Mohler home. Cap't. Mohler had brought "blooming willows," roses and Bermuda grass, which was always green except in winter, from McLennan County. It was a real oasis in the desert when dry, hot summer came. I wonder if that little bois d'arc—(we said board-ark)—tree still stands in the jam of the old rail fence that paralleled the north side of the road to Grandpa's house, about 150 yards east of the Mohler place?

Sweet Valley Mohler was the lady of the Mohler place, and my how she could play the piano! She and my mother were pals, both were vivacious, laughed easily, and they sang such songs as Buffalo Gals, with lilting voices, and laughed merrily and riotously when they had concluded their singing. I thought she and my mother were the two prettiest women I had ever seen.

Uncle Frank Bull had brought home a dear, lovely girl, Addie Bagley, as wife, from Nolan County, and with three women and a whole "passe!" of young Bulls coming along, things became a bit crowded in the Big House; and so our family moved to the Lynn McCurdy place—(Now known as the Joe Sellers place).

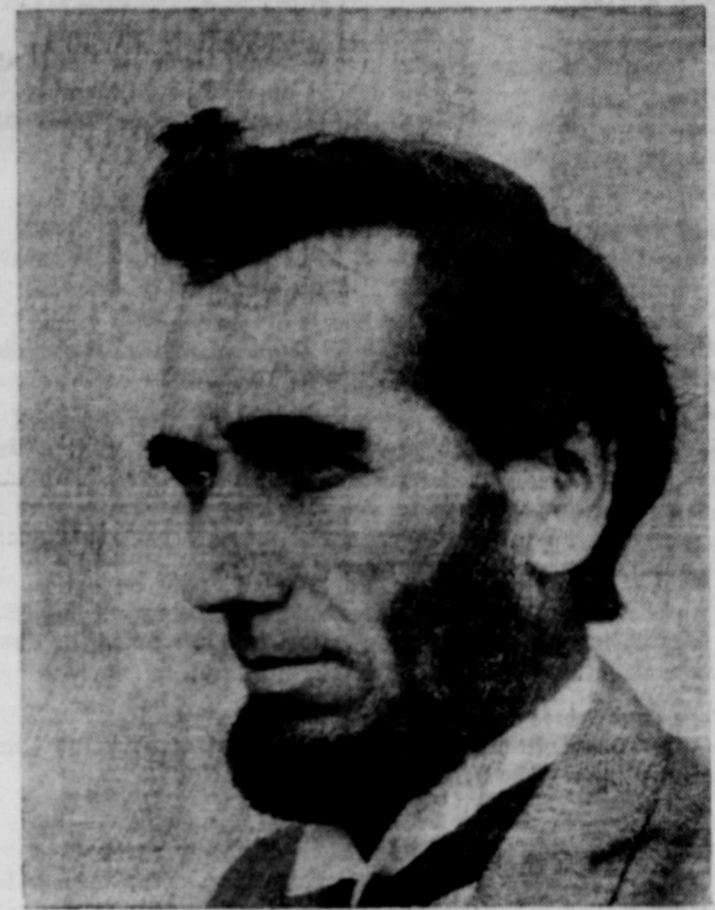

That fall I started to school, my first, in dear old Big Valley. Cap'n. Mohler was our Teacher. My mother rigged me up, fit to kill, except for my hat, which was an old one of brother Ben's which had "gone to seed." I had a new blue with white polkadots waist—(up North they called them roundabouts)—and a brand new pair of JEANS BRITCHES, with down-swinging handy flap in the back, barn loft-door effect, which buttoned onto my waist. (I must digress just here for the benefit of the last two or three generations to say: the modern day use of the word is a travesty on the word Jeans. Overalls of today are duck or heavy drilling, with not a speck of jeans in them). Jeans cloth was a giggery stuff, made of heavy cotton warp with wool of SHODDY. Shoddy is made of shredded RECLAIMED woolen rags which some damyankee had learned to manufacture and punge off on us Dixie boys as "poure" all woolen—"all wool and a yard wide," they said.

I recall as though it were yesterday instead of seventy years ago how I ran to the little branch north of the McCurdy place to meet my grandmother, riding old "Rebel," to say to her: "Granny, I'm up to baker"; baker was the first mile post in the old Blue Back Speller. Grandma had come to spend the weekend. I loved her dearly, and she had me do my lessons for her, but she always pinched the end of my nose, hoping to make it look like a nose. You see, my nose was long enough, but it was flat as a flitter in the middle and turned up, all spread out, like a toad frog at the end. That was the SECTION of my proboscis which always claimed the attention—(ministrations is a better word)—of my dear old "Granny."

Dear old Big Valley school house, just south of the Church house and the graveyard adjoining. I wonder who and how many of my boyhood school friends sleep there now?

(To be continued next week)

Increased Interest In Farm Housing Loans Shown By Farmers, Ranchers

Farmers and ranchers are showing increasing interest in the Farm Housing loan available through the Farmers Home Administration, according to a statement today from Aston W. Cole, County FHA Supervisor.

Farm Housing loans are made to eligible applicants to construct, improve, alter, repair, replace, or relocate a dwelling or other essential farm dwelling on the farm. This includes the purchase and transfer of an existing dwelling or other building to the borrower's farm. Loan funds may also be included to provide a water supply for dwellings and other farm buildings, including such facilities as wells, pumps and farmstead distribution systems, which are essential to the health and safety of the family or necessary to the successful operation of livestock enterprises.

In addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help a farm owner repair and up-date buildings. For example, he may wish to add a bathroom including a waste disposal system, modernize the kitchen, add an extra bedroom, improve the heating, insulation and electric wiring, and cement floors in service buildings, or paint the house and service buildings.

An eligible applicant must: (1) Own a farm which is large enough to be considered a farm;

(2) Have sufficient farm and other income to pay farm operating and family living expenses, and meet payments on existing debts including the proposed farm housing loan; (3) Have the ability, and experience necessary to carry out planned farming operations and other housing loan requirements; (4) Be a citizen of the United States; (5) Unable to secure adequate credit through the banks or other regular credit channels.

The interest rate on farm housing loans is 4 per cent per year on the unpaid principal. Loans are scheduled for repayment within the shortest time consistent with the borrower's ability to repay. In no case will the repayment period exceed 33 years. Each loan will be adequately secured by a mortgage on the farm, subject to any existing prior liens.

Mr. Cole states that over $100,000 was loaned through the FHA office in Lampasas for real estate during the last six months of 1958, most of which was for construction of farm dwellings.

Applications for Farmers Home loans in Mills County may be made at the FHA headquarters office for the Unit located in Lampasas or at the FHA part-time office in the Court House, Goldthwaite, on Tuesday morning of each week.

Lions Club Meets Tuesday

Members of the Goldthwaite Lions Club held their regular meeting Tuesday night at McLean Cafe at 6 o'clock. The meeting was called early to allow members to attend the basketball games which started at 7:00 p. m.

A committee was named to work with American Legion Post members in trying to furnish and equip the kitchen in the new Legion Hall which is expected to be completed in a short time. Serving on the committee are J. T. Jones, Harold Yarbrough, Truett Aldridge, Howard Campbell and Lee Roy Stacy.

Lions Club president called attention of the club to the forthcoming 30th anniversary of the Goldthwaite Club on May 13th. Plans will be made under the direction of Ray Duren and a committee working with him for the anniversary celebration. Charles Childress was introduced as a new member of the club and "B" "V" Martin was a guest.

January 31, Important Tax Date For Farmers

An important deadline date for farm operators will soon be coming up. This date, January 31, 1959, is the final day when reports are due and social security taxes are to be paid on their 1958 employees, according to Maurice M. Chastain, manager of the Temple District Office of the Social Security Administration.

Chastain mentioned that not all farm employees come under the law. One of two tests must be met for coverage: (1) the cash remuneration paid by the farm owner to the employee must amount to $150 or more in a calendar year; or (2) the employee must perform agricultural service for the employer in at least 20 different days during the calendar year for cash remuneration computed on a time basis (hours, day, or week).

Chastain said that only cash remuneration can be used in determining if the amount paid for agricultural service in a calendar year is subject to social security taxes. Cash remuneration includes checks and other monetary media of exchange, but does not include such items as board and lodging, clothing, etc.

The employer must keep all necessary records pertaining to those farm workers who are to be reported, and he should deduct 2 1/4 % of the gross, cash wages from the worker's pay up to a total of $4,200 for a worker for the year 1958. The employer contributes an additional 2 1/4 %.

The report should be made and the total 4 1/2 % social security tax paid to the Director of Internal Revenue no later than January 31, 1959, for all reportable 1958 farm workers. For 1959, cash wages up to $4,800 per worker must be reported. The tax will be larger on wages paid in 1959; 2 1/2 % should be deducted from the employee's wages, and the employer will match it with a similar amount. Chastain further mentioned that it is extremely important that each employee's name and social security account number appear on the report. Complete reporting instructions may be obtained from any Social Security Office or Internal Revenue Office.

APPRECIATION—"With the New Year comes a pleasant assignment of thanking many who have helped to make possible the continuance of our work.

"That work, of course, is tuberculosis prevention and control. By your able and fine support of our Christmas Seal campaign—and the support of other public spirited Texans—the Texas Tuberculosis Association is in a position to perform another year's work.

"I hope that your efforts in our behalf will be justified by our efforts in behalf of the health of all Texans." Sincerely, Beas Harris Jones, director, Public Information, Texas Tuberculosis Association of Texas.

BIG BEANS IN MILLS COUNTY—We can go on record now that there is nothing short about Mills County when it comes to growing butter beans. We have some evidence to back up that claim which will be stacked up against the big bean sample that was shipped in here just before the holidays from "Hi-Neighbor" John Gwin, Jackson, Alabama.

Pearl Crawford, Eagle correspondent for the Chappell Hill community, came to the office one day last week with a butter bean that measured just exactly a foot in length. The bean wasn't quite as big around the middle as the one that John sent here from Alabama, but, it had been dried out so that would account for some shrinkage, I suppose.

"But," as Pearl says, "This bean was raised up on the mountain and with just the normal rainfall and no extra, or special, fertilizer either."

In a way this is a special message to our friend and subscriber Gwin. We wouldn't try to belittle his bean—just want him to know about the BIG MILLS COUNTY BEANS.

THE BROWN AND WHITE JUG—Since our report a while back about the little brown and white jug, compliments L. O. Hicks, early day Goldthwaite merchant, that is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. "Toby" Bryant, we have received a call of another one.

This one is part of a bottle and jug collection belonging to Mrs. J. N. (Aunt Matt) Keese. It is one put out by early day Goldthwaite merchant J. C. Evans.

TAILTWISTERS FROM GOLDTHWAITE—Those attending the mid-winter conference for Texas 2-A district Lions ten days ago saw some real TAIL-TWISTING from Goldthwaite.

Conference officials had earlier invited Goldthwaite Lions Club to furnish the tail-twisters for the occasion. The local picked a four member team for the job. Each of the four members had demonstrated his ability on the artistic works of Lions Club tail-twisting on many previous occasions and were well qualified for the task.

Those selected for the job, which entailed not only extracting fines from fellow Lions attending, but, also entertaining them and their guests during the luncheon meeting, were L. J. Ward, Howard Campbell, Truett Auldridge and Jesse Moreland.

The team was named "Goldthwaite Hill Country Hillbillies." Individual characters were "Slocum," the guitar strummer—L. J. Ward; "Red," the joker—Howard Campbell; "Honeydripper," the ladies' man—Truett Auldridge; and "Zeke," the trickster—Jesse Moreland.

Reports have it that these four fellows did everything from singing to playing ball in the audience with eggs for baseballs. And—they collected about $45.00 for the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville.

RAT KILLING SPREE—Elmer Neal of the Mt. Olive community told several of his neighbors and friends about a special and unique way he has used for trapping rats at his farm home.

Mr. Neal said he placed a five gallon can in his cottonseed crib. Filled it one-half full of water and put cottonseed over the water about two inches deep and let the rats have at it.

At his last report he had caught 82 rats with this method. His largest catch in one night was 15.

The severe cold weather we have experienced the past two weeks almost put this rat trap out of business, but, it sure works fine as long as the water doesn't freeze—and that is just about all the time in these parts.

WHEN THE OLD BIRD WAS YOUNGER

10 YEARS AGO—
(Taken from The Eagle Files of January 21, 1949)

A telegram received by the Eagle just before noon yesterday from Aubrey H. Smith of Austin states that he will announce next week for the State Representative place vacated by the resignation of Representative-elect J. R. Eanes of Comanche, who wrote the Governor a letter of resignation on account of his health.

M. F. Horton of Goldthwaite was chosen by unanimous decision by the congregation of the First Baptist Church to superintend the construction of the new building.

Word was received here yesterday morning that Mark Levrett, former Goldthwaite resident had died in a Brownwood hospital at 6 o'clock Thursday morning.

Mrs. Maude Prater Allen of Brady, passed away at the home of her son, S. H. Allen Jr., in Houston Wednesday afternoon, January 19. The body was brought to Goldthwaite for burial.

Rain, ice, sleet and snow, falling in Mills County and West Texas during the past two weeks is believed to have permanently broken the three-year drought, which has been bad enough in Mills County and too bad for counties farther west. The last three months of 1948 were the driest experienced since 1917, old timers say.

Rev. J. S. Bowles III died at his home in Fort Worth, December 29, and was laid to rest in the Garden of Memories Park, Fort Worth, Texas, after a long illness.

At 4:00 p. m. on December 28, 1948 in a double ring ceremony at the chapel room of the Oak Lawn Methodist Church, Dallas, Miss Ouida Yvonne Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Gray of Goldthwaite, was married to Doyle Sears of Lamesa, Texas.

Mrs. L. V. Benningfield honored her husband with a surprise birthday dinner. When L. V. came home for lunch at 11:30 o'clock he found his brothers and sisters had gathered together to wish him many more happy birthdays.

25 YEARS AGO—
(Taken from The Eagle Files of January 19, 1934)

Weimer Hein, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hein of Priddy, sophomore student attending Texas Lutheran College at Seguin, has been initiated and accepted as a fully credited member of the Alpha Omega, better known as the Bolivars, a secret fraternity of limited yearly membership on the college campus.

George Faulkner, a son-in-law of W. J. Morris, lost his right hand by the accidental discharge of his shotgun on the Morris farm last Saturday afternoon. He carried his gun to the field with the intention of shooting crows. He laid the gun in a furrow and when the crows appeared he reached for the gun and picked it up by the muzzle with his right hand. As he drew it toward him the gun exploded and mangled his hand.

Mrs. H. A. Sykes passed away at the family home in Big Valley yesterday morning at 9:20 o'clock. She was stricken with apoplexy last Sunday and never rallied.

Relatives and friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCullough of Hico were pleased to learn this week of the birth of a daughter to them last Saturday.

Messrs. H. L. and Ben Egger, merchants of Regency, transacted business in this city Monday and were appreciated callers at the Eagle office. The Egger brothers have been in business at Regency a good many years and the family is among the most highly esteemed people of that section.

Mrs. A. F. Kipp left for her home in New York Saturday night after a visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin.

A message came here Sunday to friends of Mrs. J. F. Winn and family telling them of her death, which occurred in Waco Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Gibson, where she made her home. Mrs. Winn was a resident of Goldthwaite some years ago.

50 YEARS AGO—
(Taken from The Eagle Files of January 16, 1909)

Mr. Taylor Shaw died at his home in Bull's Springs community Wednesday evening at 6:35 o'clock, after a long illness. He was about 60 years of age and lived in this section all of his life and the Shaw creek and Shaw Bend community were named in honor of his family.

County Clerk Atkinson yesterday issued marriage license to Albert Whitley and Miss Emma Cox.

The bridge across the bayou at Slack Crossing has been completed and accepted by the commissioners court. It is on the site of the old bridge, but is slightly higher. C. I. Horton of Austin was the contractor and $5,850 was the contract price.

Lee Robertson of Boag, New Mexico, after spending several days here visiting relatives and friends, left Sunday night for Bangs, where he was to be married Tuesday to Miss Lucia Talbert, formerly of this city. The young people are well known here and have a great many friends who join the Eagle in extending congratulations and well wishes.

J. T. Ramsey and Ivy Richards have bought the second hand furniture business here to fore conducted by J. O. B. Smith.

W. C. Dew, cashier of the Trent State Bank and stockholder of the First State Bank of Mullin, spent the day Tuesday in Mullin, shaking hands with friends.

Success of Atlas Gives Scientists Confidence | U. S. Missiles Threaten Tremendous Blow

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—The four-ton Atlas satellite speeding in orbit around the earth has given United States missile men, scientists and manufacturers a new degree of confidence in this dawn rocket age.

The weight of the satellite may be a little misleading, as the Atlas long-range missile is not capable of hurling a four-ton payload to its destination. However, it does have the capability, proven, to carry a hydrogen bomb warhead to target in the event of war.

The recording and relaying devices in the next satellite have gotten a lot of attention because of the scientific first achieved in the communications field.

But perhaps of even more importance is the fact that the satellite was placed in orbit by its own guidance system. It is this fact that has most encouraged the men at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and the industrialists and scientists who designed and built the Atlas.

It has demonstrated that the missiles themselves we have been working on are correct and that the United States has the production facilities and materials to translate the theories into operational weapons.

The Atlas satellite, together with the previous missile of the same design that "flew" its full prescribed course along the Cape Canaveral test range, brings this ICBM close to "operations." Prospects now are that in a year or two the Atlas will be in the hands of military crews and be a part of the conventional weapons systems used to defend the U. S. against a military attack.

• THE TEACHER PROBLEM—Teachers' salaries are moving upward, according to a study by the National Education Association and are now more than four per cent higher on average than they were a year ago.

However, the NEA found, their jobs are getting tougher. Student enrollments in grammar, high schools and colleges are increasing faster than the supply of teachers, meaning more work and occasionally longer hours.

One group within NEA is giving serious study to advocating longer school day for primary and intermediate students to provide time for physical training. Another group wants a longer school term, essentially covering most of the 12 months each year.

Because of these facts, and others, a nation-wide teacher shortage is predicted for the foreseeable future, the NEA says.

• MID-EAST TURMOIL—When Assistant Secretary of State William Rountree was stoned and spat upon by a mob in Baghdad, recently, the demonstration headlines around the world.

Unfortunately, western efforts to blame the demonstration Communist-organized mobs, do not give a complete picture of a state of unrest in that area of the world.

It is true that many of the demonstrators were Communist sympathizers, and some of their leaders organized a mob to further Communism's interests. However, it is also true that the mob needed little prodding, were not professional agitators, and that their activities were the result of a genuine and deep dissatisfaction for the United States.

Iraqi leaders are trying to find a middle course between western "imperialism" for which they blame their oppression and many of the economic ills, and Communism and Nasserism which they fear just as much as a new form of imperialism.

However, whether they have the time to solidify their position leadership is questionable. Forces in Iraq are pushing that count toward Communism, or Nasserism. The next few months will tell the story, but current betting in the State department is that Nasser will win—probably as the lesser of two evils.

"Lyndon Johnson: How Does He Do It?"

There are some who argue that Senate majority leader Lyndon Baines Johnson is in fact, if not in theory, the country's most powerful man . . . because he loves to exercise power and President Eisenhower does not.

So reports Stewart Alsop in an article entitled "Lyndon Johnson: How Does He Do It?" in the current (January 24) issue of The Saturday Evening Post, in which the observation is made that the Texan has little chance of becoming President of the United States.

Alsop comments that it would be silly to suppose that a man in Johnson's position, with his instinct for power and will to succeed, would not want to be president.

He says that while Johnson has repeatedly and vehemently denied that he is or ever will be a candidate, the vehemence may derive from the fact that Johnson is capable of considering his own situation with shrewd objectivity and is well aware of the way things stand.

"The Northern liberal-labor groups in the Democratic Party are strong enough to exercise veto power over the presidential selection," Alsop writes. "In any presently foreseeable circumstances, they will veto Johnson."

"In a way this is grossly unfair—but then, politics is the unfairest business in the world. Most knowledgeable observers would agree that Johnson is probably the ablest politician in the Democratic Party."

Alsop finds that Johnson has been true to his New Deal origins—within the limits imposed by his Texas origins.

But, he adds, those limits are such as to make a Northern liberal labor veto of a Johnson candidacy almost automatic. A Texas politician has no choice but to take positions—on the oil depletion allowance, for example—which fly in the face of Northern liberal doctrine.

Above all, Alsop's analysis continues, on the civil-rights issue there is a line which no Texas politician can safely cross and plenty of East Texans are reported to believe that Johnson has crossed it already.

"In short," Alsop summarizes, "the accident of his Texas birth almost certainly bars Johnson from the White House."

Chevy adds Bel Air hardtop to '59 line

Prompted by popular demand for the hardtop styling, Chevrolet announces the addition of a Bel Air Sport Sedan to its 1959 line of passenger cars. This new 4-door hardtop sedan with its increased visibility area brings to three the number of models available in the middle-priced series of the new Chevrolets. The new model and other '59 Chevrolets will headline an "Open House" at dealerships nationally, Jan. 22-24.

Saylor Chevrolet Has Open House Introducing Bel Air Sport Sedan

As a formal welcome to a new-comer in the 1959 line of Chevrolets, Saylor Chevrolet Company will hold an "Open House" in its showroom in Goldthwaite today through Saturday.

The debutant is a Bel Air Sport Sedan, whose rakish design and rich appointments promise to make it a favorite in the automobile industry's most distinctive series of new passenger cars.

Although the Bel Air Sport Sedan has been selected as the star of the special, exhibit, W. G. and Kelly Saylor find still another reason for showroom decorations and ceremonies. The fact that Chevrolet has only recently been able to build up a sufficient stock of display models, they said, gives the "Open House" a double meaning.

"Because of circumstances beyond our control, we did not have a normal variety of body types at the time of the official announcement of 1959 models last Fall," they explained. "Now we are able to show and demonstrate models that production delays previously restricted."

Introduction of the Bel Air Sport Sedan, or "four-door hardtop" as it is more widely known, was prompted by the enthusiastic public reception of the 1959 sport sedan in the Impala series. Due to the immediate popularity of this styling, the company decided to make a sport sedan available at a lower price. The car has a flat roof with rear window overhang. It is two inches lower than the two Bel Air sedans which originally comprised the series.

The Saylor Chevrolet Company "Open House" will serve to review the features of the latest Chevrolets.

lamb output results in quicker profits for owners of breeding flocks. Owners usually cull ewes after each animal has produced a lamb.

Mr. Ruttle gives the following reasons for selecting large ewes as breeders: (1) The body size of the ewe has a direct influence on lamb production. In order to produce a large, heavy lamb, a ewe must be large so that she can carry and nourish the lamb.

The information is given in Extension Service publication L-166 and copies are available from my office.

Bennett points out in the leaflet that the best garden soil is a rich, deep sandy loam or loam with good drainage, good structure and water-holding capacity. But, points out the chemist, the addition of organic matter, such as compost or barnyard manure, and commercial fertilizer will make the good garden soil even better.

Bennett suggests that all gardeners take a soil test to determine the exact amount of fertilizer needed by the lawn or garden.

PRICKLYPEAR—

Good or Bad? This is a question in the minds of many ranchmen who often ask if pricklypear should be controlled or kept as an emergency feed reserve.

For over a century pricklypear has been used for livestock feed. On Texas rangelands it usually is considered an undesirable plant but does have some economic value as supplemental forage for cattle and sheep during winter and drought periods.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has published a bulletin entitled "Pricklypear—Good or Bad." The bulletin contains discussions of pricklypear's forage value and its advantages and disadvantages as a range plant. It also has sections devoted to control measures and what management follows control. This publication, B-806, is available free of charge from my office.

ODESSA LIVESTOCK SHOW

This was the first major livestock show in Texas this year. There were about 175 Hereford steers exhibited at the show. Mills County 4-H members exhibited six steers at the show and they placed as follows:

Wayne Poe, 7th and 19th;
Alvin Glenn Tiemann, 18th;
Charles Cornelius, 10th and 30th with two steers;

Jerry Duren 16th, with his Hereford steer.

The top placing 40 steers were sold at auction where they brought from 50 to 60 cents per pound.

Last year's harvest of wildlife resources in Texas was the greatest in the memory of many old-timers.

Thanks to good wildlife management, areas that were "shot out" 25 years ago had top hunting in 1958. The woods were full of deer. Quail were more numerous perhaps than ever before in Texas. And the duck and goose population from Canada was very good.

This all gets back to management. Naturally it had to start with control. Limits had to be put on the bag, and seasons had to be set. All of this, however, would have been to no avail without land management.

We have in Texas a rather paradoxical situation. The game belongs to the people—you and me and everyone else. The land on which it lives, for the most part, belongs to the individual landowner. There is very little public domain in Texas, and it also falls under controls.

Every Texas landowner is interested in having some wildlife resources on his land. Most landowners like to hunt and fish a little. But it doesn't take too much to satisfy them.

Hunters must remember that farmers and ranchers have to grow crops or raise cattle to make a living. They build fences to keep their livestock in... and to keep people out. Occasionally someone poaches and kills game that belongs to one landowner, but has taken up residence on another man's private property.

As a result the poacher finds himself confronted with the justice of the peace, who slaps a fine on him, usually amounting to forty some odd dollars.

With population growing it became the problem of those who placed controls on wildlife to find a way for every man to hunt. First the sportsmen got together. They didn't have all the answers, so they began to look to science. Biologists were brought into the picture.

They looked around and saw that much of the cover was being destroyed from the land. There wasn't ample feed and wildlife was starving to death, or moving to some other place that was more inviting.

Biologists approached the landowners, who asked the normal question of "why should we?" It was then up to the biologists and the sportsmen to convince the landowner that wildlife can be harvested the same as any other crop.

Some landowners had known this for years. That didn't stop them from overgrazing their land, however. They'd lease a pasture to some unsuspecting deer hunter for $50 a gun and there wouldn't be anything but a few old does around. So the hunter was unhappy.

Unfortunately there is no law covering it, but the man who knowingly takes money for a hunting lease, with full knowledge that there isn't sufficient game on the place to give the hunter a fair shake, is just as criminal as the fence crawler.

Convincing the landowner that he should put his holdings under a management program wasn't the easiest thing. In the first place there were conflicting ideas by some of the experts.

For instance one group of government officials told the landowner to knock down all the pesky mesquite and cedar on his land. Another group told him to save some for cover for wildlife.

Also there are examples in Texas where some very large and influential landowners have absolutely destroyed wild game habitat without regard for its future. Now they are sorry.

As a result most owners today are finding more answers before they destroy everything on their holdings.

To show what land management can do, the Game & Fish Commission, with funds from hunting and fishing licenses and from excise tax on equipment, bought a number of areas where wildlife restoration programs were put into effect.

A study was made of the carrying capacity of the land, what would grow well and what wildlife would thrive best. As a result some findings have been revealed that will help hunting and fishing through the remainder of time.

Adjacent landowners, watching the program, now are beginning to adopt many of these management practices. As a result they are providing food and cover. They are balancing their deer herd sex ration by allowing the taking of does.

Other landowners have done the same thing with small game. They have provided cover for birds, and food for them to eat. Their fence rows have multi-flora roses. They are not cutting all the brush. They are leaving cover at the end of the turn rows. And they are careful, in harvesting their crops, not to destroy nests.

In addition many of them are planting birds. For example, there is a state bird farm at Tyler that produces several thousand quail each year. These are sold to landowners at a fraction of their cost, for restocking purposes.

Naturally if a farmer spends money for a few birds, he's going to provide adequate food and cover for them. As a result he'll have good shooting. He will be entitled to ask a fee from his friends in town to hunt on his property. After all, when he goes to town he must pay for what he gets.

There still are some die-hards. They think they know more about wildlife than the men who study it every day in the year and compare notes.

On the other hand, the experts admit they don't know everything, and there is a lot

Income TAX FAX

What form shall I use for my 1958 federal income tax return? You have a choice. Form 1040-A, short form 1040 or long form 1040.

The card return form 1040-A for 1958 filing has been revised to cover employees with incomes up to $10,000.

The new card form may be used by any individual with total income of less than $10,000, consisting of wages reported on form W-2 and not more than $200 in dividends, interest, and wages not subject to withholding.

Husband and wife may also file a joint return on form 1040-A if their combined income does not exceed these limits.

By using form 1040-A, you automatically claim the standard 10 per cent deduction allowed by law for personal expenses such as contributions, interest payments, medical expenses, and the like. If your allowable deductions for these items is in excess of 10 per cent of your income you must use the regular form 1040 to claim them.

Taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 may figure their own tax or have Uncle Sam do it for them. If you owe some tax, this is a good way to get some extra time in which to pay it. Since the law does not permit this choice to be extended to income up to $10,000, taxpayers having $5,000 or more income must figure their own tax and remit with the return 1040-A.

1040 SHORT FORM
If your adjusted gross income is more than $10,000 and your itemized deductions are less than 10% of your adjusted gross income, you should use short form 1040.

1040 LONG FORM
If your adjusted gross income is over $10,000 you must use this form. If your itemized deductions are over 10% of your adjusted gross income, it will be to your advantage to use this form.

To assure any benefits of the split-income provisions, you and your wife should file a joint return. Both you and your wife must sign a joint return. One spouse cannot file a long form 1040 and take all the deductions and the other spouse file a form 1040-A or take the standard deduction or use the tax table.

You are expected to pay your income tax on the basis of the lowest figure possible; therefore, you should choose the form that results in the lowest tax for you.

IF YOU BUY FEED TAKE TIME TO READ THIS

Does the Pelleting of Roughages help make the Feeds More Digestible???
When Ground Peanut Hulls are added to a Feed, do you receive Full Value for your Money when comparing Actual Lbs. of Food to Other Feeds???

The above two questions are very important to you if you are interested in reducing the total amount of money you spend for feed. We think the answers to the above questions should be "yes" and believe if you will read the following you will agree.

With reference to "pelleting," the University of Illinois at their experiment station did some very good work on the effect that pelleting would have on hay as a feed for steer calves. They found that calves fed chopped hay free choice gained only 0.63 lbs. per head per day, but that similar lots of calves fed the same hay free choice in pellet form gained 1.73 lbs. per head per day.

Hence, the daily rate of gain on hay was nearly 3 times as great in pellet form as it was on the same hay in chopped form. To achieve this remarkable result, the calves ate 47% more pellets than chopped hay. It took 1722 lbs. of chopped hay to produce 100 lbs. of gain but took only 906 lbs. of that same hay in pellet form to produce 100 lbs. of gain. Obviously, pelleting has tremendously upgraded hay as a feed. These results were achieved on hay which was not of particularly good quality being 2/3 timothy and 1/3 alfalfa. Figuring cost of the chopped hay at $20.00 per ton, the University reports that feed costs were $17.22 per 100 lbs. of gain when chopped hay was fed.

Allowing $10.00 for the cost of grinding and pelleting, the cost of the hay in pellet form becomes $30.00 per ton. At $30.00 per ton for pelleted hay, they reported cost of gains at $13.59 per 100 lbs. when pelleted hay was fed. It is readily apparent that pelleting the hay not only upgraded the hay as a feed to a remarkable extent, but reduced cost of gains even after $10.00 per ton was added for grinding and pelleting. (This is excessive when thinking of our Topper feeds because we only charge 30c a hundred lbs. for our ground peanut hulls and in setting our prices on pelleted feeds, we add $2.00 for the actual pelleting process).

In another article taken from the "Feedstuff" magazine, a national publication, Dr. L. W. Pope of Oklahoma State University states that probably no development in feed processing has caused as much stir during the past few years as has the cubing or pelleting of feeds. Dr. Pope states that results up to date indicate that pelleting of single grains may improve feed efficiency but have little effect on performance, however, pelleting of high-roughage mixtures in which less palatable roughages are used may greatly improve performance and feed efficiency — apparently due to increased feed intake and a reduction in energy expended in digestion and assimilation of the nutrients in the feeds that are pelleted. With good quality roughages, little improvement from pelleting has been shown. (end of quote).

Ground peanut hulls as well as cottonseed hulls, corncobs, and most of the grass hays are considered to be low quality roughages while most hays such as alfalfa, peanut and other legume hays are considered to be the high quality roughages.

At this time, ground peanut hulls are priced at $6.00 per ton, cottonseed hulls around $15.00 to $18.00, the grass hays probably above $20.00 and the legume hays above $30.00.

Steam is used to help process a feed for pelleting and in addition to this heat a lot of heat is built up in the die itself due to the friction created in pressing the feed through the die. This seems to be breaking the low quality roughage down to where the animal is getting more food out of the roughage or is using less energy in digesting the pelleted feed.

Peanut hulls have not less than 7% and up to 8% crude protein of which 3.2% is digestible. In addition, a minimum of 1.5% fat is found and 25% N.F.E.

In comparing the value of feeds, certainly you must consider the amount of available food you are paying for in each feed. We would like for you to see how much food in lbs. that you are getting if you spend $3.50 for feed such as we will outline in the following:

For $3.50 you could purchase 1150 lbs. of ground peanut hulls at this time which will have a total of
36.8 lbs. Digestible Pro.
17.0 lbs. fats
287.0 lbs. N.F.E.

For $3.50 you could purchase 100 lbs. of 41% cottonseed meal which will have a total of 33.9 lbs. Digestible Pro.
3.0 lbs. fat
25.0 lbs. N.F.E.

For $3.50 you could purchase 450 lbs. of cottonseed hulls which will have a total of
0.45 lbs. Digestible Pro.
4.05 lbs. fats
165.1 lbs. N.F.E.

For $3.50 you could purchase maybe 230 lbs. of alfalfa hay which will have a total (average quality) of
22.0 lbs. Digestible Pro.
3.9 lbs. fats
83.0 lbs. N.F.E.

For $3.50 you might could buy 300 lbs. of Bermuda grass hay or Buffalo grass hay if you could find it. This feed would have a total of
11.1 lbs. Digestible Pro.
5.4 lbs. fat
145.2 lbs. N.F.E.

One more comparison with a high quality grain.
For $3.50 you can buy 140 lbs. of No. 2 yellow corn which will have a total of
9.9 lbs. Digestible Pro.
5.4 lbs. fat
95.7 lbs. N.F.E.

Now we are not trying to tell you that our peanut hulls will take the place of meal or corn in your feeds. Each of these feeds have a job to do. We are attempting to show you the peanut hulls we put in our pellets is your best bargain of all the other feeds, including meal and our good grains. Peanut hulls are a roughage feed and should be fed with this knowledge. An animal cannot eat enough lbs. to properly sustain itself without the addition of more concentrated feeds. That is the main difference. However, all ruminants must have sufficient roughage. Therefore, we believe we can offer you a pellet with peanut hulls as a base that can be used for pasture feeding, creep feeding calves or lambs or for full feeding that will save you money. I believe we have shown that for your money spent on the peanut hulls in our feed, you are getting more lbs. of food than for any of the other feeds we have in our pellet. Our pellets are cheaper so why not feed more lbs. to get the total amount of digestible feed that you want. In pasture feeding, the additional roughage in the pellets simply means your cattle or sheep will, with you feeding more lbs., fill up sooner and possibly eat less grass each day. A pound of grass saved each day for each cow is a lot of grass.

Quiet a few people still believe that if they have a lot of grass, nothing will beat feeding straight cottonseed meal pellets. We believe a pound of protein is the same in any feed and that by feeding 2 lbs. of our 20% protein pellet, you would be feeding about the same amount of protein and yet be feeding more fat and nearly three times the amount of N.F.E. than you would with one lb. of the cottonseed meal pellets. You would spend no more money and your livestock just might do as well or better and eat less grass due to the additional lbs. you would be feeding. 200 lbs. of our 20% pellet will have a minimum of 40 lbs. crude protein, 3 1/2 lbs. fat and 70 lbs. of N.F.E. whereas 100 lbs. of cottonseed pellet or cake will have a minimum of 41 lbs. crude protein, 3 lbs. of fat and 25 lbs. of N.F.E. You can see that you are getting more lbs. of food per dollar with our 20% pellets.

Let us make one more comparison for those who like the 20% all grain or high quality grain pellet. We have a 15% pellet with 48% peanut hulls in the formula. This pellet sells for $42.00 per ton. Remove the 48% peanut hulls and replace with ground milo, 960 lbs. x $2.20 is $21.12. Deduct the cost of 960 lbs. peanut hulls at 30c per hundred - 960 x 30c is $28.80. You have $18.24 to add to the $42.00 for a price of $60.24 for an all grain pellet that you know has no roughage of any kind and no feed that you wonder what it is. We believe this proves our pellet is priced cheap enough.

One more thing. Our guaranteed amounts of protein, fats and etc. are figured according to the accepted standards set by laboratory analysis.

According to the evidence so far and don't forget the chopped hay experiment outlined on the first page, pelleting of a roughage such as peanut hulls improves this feed. Peanut hulls have up to 8% crude protein and instead of 3.2% digestible protein which they have, it is possible that through the process of pelleting, this digestible protein may be increased considerably, possibly nearly doubled. This is supposing but certainly something happened to the chopped hay when it was pelleted and an increase in feeding value is the only thing that can put pounds on livestock.

We have outlined the large amount of feeding value per dollar spent in their unpelleted form. Peanut hulls are worth the money as is but if pelleting helps, that will be just that much more you will be getting for your dollar. Why not try some of our pellets? They are good for Dairy Cows, Beef Cattle, Calves, Sheep and Goats.

Thanks for reading such a long letter but I could not say what I felt should be outlined in anything less.

Sincerely,

Topper Sweet Feed Co.

WHAT'S COOKING?

It's fun to mix a lot of things and wonder how they'll "turn out." It's fun until you try to eat your own "exter-special" muffins. Then you wish you had used Mommy's old-fashioned recipe.

Thousands of parents are sharing today the disillusionment that is in store for our little cook—but on a more bitter scale. As juvenile offenders are herded into our police stations, courts and reformatories, heart-broken parents watch and wonder. What did they do wrong? Why didn't Johnny turn out to be a boy they could be proud of?

When you try to answer those questions you can't help but recall the old-fashioned recipe for raising children. It calls for generous portions of prayer, family worship, Church attendance. But more than eight million children are growing up today without ANY religious training.

When the church bells ring on Sunday morning, remember; the future of our nation, the character of our children, is at stake.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

EXPERIMENTAL RELIGION

... in writing to the Colossians, "And knew the God in truth." Col. 1:6. Did he mean? He did not mean mere knowledge. He meant that the religion of the Colossians was experimental. They knew the grace of God in truth. They had found it, but they had also felt it. They had experienced it. They had been moved by it. They had been changed, transformed by it. They had called them "saints and dear brethren." They had designated by the old-fashioned words, "experimental religion."

How did they come to this experience? The answer of the apostle is "by the grace of God." What does that imply? Grace means the free love and favor of God. The whole plan of salvation is perfectly free and freely given. "The grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared." 1. The contrivance of salvation is of grace. 2. The accomplishment of salvation is of grace. 3. The application of salvation is of grace, for no human merit can secure the renewing influences of the spirit. The religion of the Colossians was not mere knowledge. It was experimental. They "knew the grace of God in truth."

The importance of such knowledge. It is all-important. It is supremely important. Religion is not religion at all without it, without this experimental element. It is important for pardon. It is important for peace. It is important for hope and joy. True experimental religion gives all of these. Nothing short of this does it give them. The Colossians had borne such fruits "since the day that they heard and received the gospel." "They knew the grace of God in truth." They knew it sincerely, really, feelingly and experimentally.

HAPPY ENDING—An American tourist who "followed the sun to Israel" and found himself a wife, Michael Walder, 24, of Alexandria, La., and the girl he wooed, Nurit Pilzer, 19, drink a toast at their wedding in Tel Aviv. Walder saw the girl's photo on an Israeli travel folder and then journeyed to that country to find her. They will make their home in Louisiana.

Austin—We are averse to newspaper puffs, and for that reason never write them; but we would feel that we were derelict in duty, if we failed to notice Messrs. Sawyer & Risher's line of stages. On our canvassing tour for the Southern Intelligencer we traveled along their line from Austin to Clarksville, by way of Waco and Dallas; and having had ample opportunity to inspect their entire line, we are prepared to say that their coaches, having been built with a view to the comfort and convenience of the traveling public, are not surpassed by any.—Southern Intelligencer.

Godey's Lady's Book for January was received this week. To praise it would be superfluous; every one knows its excellence. At El Paso the weather is very cold, and there have been several snow storms. "My Lady's Page" is the pretty name given to a neat and very convenient contrivance, just imported for looping up ladies' dresses, in order to secure them from contact with the dirt while walking through the streets, on rainy days especially. It is composed of elastic silk cord, with a jet hook, and admirably serves its purpose.

The re-opening of the African Slave trade is assuming a formidable aspect in the South. Only a few papers yet openly advocate it. But coupling the fact that these are generally men of extreme tendencies, the results can easily be foreseen.

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: How can I have my social security account credited with my 3 years of military service during World War II?

Answer: Military service in World War II is not credited to an account until a claim for retirement or survivors or disability benefits is filed on the account. When a claim is filed, proof of military service can be presented. If the World War II service time is not used in computing another Federal benefit, and if it would increase the social security benefit, $160 per month will be included in the amount of earnings used in computing the social security benefit.

Question: My mother recently died, and we children paid her burial expenses, as our stepfather was unable to pay them. We have been advised that he will receive the lump-sum death payment from her social security account, as they were living together at the time of her death. Cannot we children be reimbursed from her account for the burial expenses we paid?

Hillside Mission
By LIDA BYRNE

Not long ago this scribe was talking to a lady who is a Christian and she seemed to be perturbed about some derogatory remarks by others regarding her and her faith.

Our Lord Jesus Christ says in St. Matthew 5:10-12: "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when man shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you."

Answer: No. The lump sum goes first to the surviving spouse if they were living together in the same household at the time of death. If they were not living together, the lump sum goes to the person or persons who paid the burial expenses.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Some cheered and some wept, but none will soon forget the eventful, suspenseful opening day of the House of Representatives of the 56th Legislature.

Waggoner Carr became the third man in recent history to win a second term as Speaker of the House, and Joe Burkett became the only one in many years to lose by so close a vote—79 to 71.

Burkett and Carr had been in a hard-fought contest for a year and a half. Burkett, from Kerrville in the Hill country, is a staunch conservative. Carr, from Lubbock in the South Plains, had more liberal support.

When the day came, every representative was present, and the floor and galleries were jammed with spectators. Secretary of State Zollie Steakley served as temporary presiding officer. An elaborate voting procedure was agreed upon to safeguard secrecy and assure fairness.

Representatives filed to the front of the chamber, one by one, had their folded ballots initialed by the clerk and then placed them personally in the ballot box. Six watchers, three representing each candidate, stood by.

The ballot box was opened and results called out, one by one. Only sound in the large chamber was the scratching of the pens of many score keepers, and the occasional fidgeting or gasping as the lead see-sawed between the candidates.

A cheer went up as Carr received his victory-assuring 76th vote. A round of hand shaking, back slapping and congratulations began. Following the final count, a procession composed of Carr's family and supporters escorted the Lubbock representative to the rostrum to take the oath of office.

ON WITH THE SHOW—After the opening dust had settled, Legislators turned to their everyday concerns.

Most immediate and pressing problem was finding money to operate the Legislature. Since the state's main monetary cupboard, the general revenue fund, was bare (worse still, in debt), there wasn't so much as a nickel on hand to pay salaries of the lawmakers and their helpers, nor even for stamps, stationery, phone calls and travel. A bill was offered to appropriate $2,300,000 that had accumulated in two special funds.

Several plans were being talked about to solve the even more vexatious long-term problem of overall budget balancing. To do so will involve finding money to pay off an expected general fund deficit of $65,000,000 plus some $130,000,000 in new money to meet expected expenses for 1960-61. Only alternative would be numerous and painful economies.

Generally, there seem to be two schools of thought developing on taxation: (1) those who hope to avoid a new tax by upping many present levies, such as selective sales taxes, removing several exemptions and re-shuffling funds here and there and (2) those who say the present tax blanket can't be stretched any further and that "pot shot, patch work" taxation should be replaced by an overall plan to distribute the increasing cost of government among more people.

PANORAMA—Other items for the record of what promises to be an historic Legislature:

Senator George Parkhouse of Dallas is new president pro tempore of the Senate, and as such, third in line to the governor. An outdoor advertising executive, Parkhouse is beginning his third Senate term.

No Free Overtime, resolved Senators in one of their first official acts, a resolution to quit on the dot May 12 when the 120-day period runs out. House members cheered the announcement.

A Famous Name returned to public life as Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin took the oath as senator. Former Congressman Martin Dies Sr., long identified with the Dies Un-American Activities Investigating Committee, came to see his son sworn in.

"Baby Of The House" is Rep. Jack Connell Jr. of Wichita Falls, youngest person ever to sit in the House. Connell was 21 years old plus 14 days on general election day.

A Football Star when he's not a lawmaker is Yale Lary, freshman representative from Fort Worth. Lary, a defensive back for the Detroit Lions pro team, was a college star for Texas A & M.

One Governor's Son succeeded another as W. P. Hobby Jr. was named parliamentarian of the Senate, a post held last session by Dan Moody Jr.

An Early Crisis was averted when the House sergeant-at-arms rushed a spittoon to the desk of snuff-dipping Rep. Jerry Sadler of Perella. Spittoons, once a standard accessory, had gotten lost in the chamber's re-vamping.

Folks With Money-Spending Ideas had best be armed with money-finding ideas when they come to the Legislature this year. This warning was issued by Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria in an Austin address.

Third House has its own ceremonies this year as, for the first time, lobbyists are required to register under the new law. From the length and variety of the list, there's a lobbyist for practically everything and everybody — teachers, farmers, firemen, policemen, labor unions, industries and even church groups.

Governor's Appointments — Gov. Price Daniel has appointed Secretary of State Zollie Steakley to a second term and promoted two assistants in the governor's office.

George Christian, former press assistant, becomes executive assistant, taking over non-legal duties of Jake Jacobsen. Jacobsen left to enter private law practice.

John Goldsum was promoted to administrative assistant and will take over Jacobsen's legal duties.

Pay For Secretaries Debated — One of the first issues for debate in the 56th Legislature was pay for secretaries of Senate and House members. Generally accepted rate is $14 per day for Senate secretaries and $10 for the House. But a resolution must be passed setting amounts of the salaries, at the beginning of each session. Rep. Obie Jones of Austin said House secretaries should receive $12 a day because the $10-a-day figure was embarrassing to House secretaries when they met their Senate counterparts during coffee breaks. Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria pointed out that the state couldn't afford the increase. "Maybe," he said, "we'll have to pay them out of our own pockets," and he pointed out that not all Senate secretaries received $14—that some of them were paid as low as $7 per day.

TELEPHONES INCREASE IN GOLDTHWAITE

The number of telephones in Goldthwaite increased by 43 per cent during 1958, according to A. J. Lacy, division manager for The Southwestern States Telephone Company.

During 1958, 28 telephones were added in Goldthwaite to bring to 877 the total number of telephones. The exchange gained 5 telephones in 1957.

The Southwestern States Telephone Company serves 132,500 telephones through 162 exchanges in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

STOCKMEN ALERTED ON SCREW WORM FLY

Screw worm flies have been found in isolated areas of the South recently and stockmen are urged to report promptly any attacks of this pest on their animals. A quick report to the county agent, accompanied by a specimen could help officials bring the fly under control.

State and federal officials are conducting a campaign to eradicate screw worms from the entire Southwest. The program is based on the fact that when a female screw worm fly mates with a sterile male she produces only infertile eggs. Flies are sterilized by radioactive cobalt, a product of atomic-energy research. Continued release of sterile flies in an infested area eventually eradicates the species.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM IN 1959

Texas is due to receive its share of the more than $200 million in federal funds allotted for the school lunch program this year. Federal authorities have apportioned $93 million to the states as a contribution to the operation of school lunch programs, another $50 is available for actual purchases of lunch foods and commodities valued at about $75 million are included.

Last year, two billion lunches were served to about 12 million school children—or 30 per cent of the total school enrollment. Nearly 60,000 of the nation's schools participated in the program.

Most of the food is purchased from local producers and suppliers. Much of the rest comes from government surplus items.

FARM PRODUCTION COSTS

Prices paid by the nation's farmers have increased approximately 2½ times since 1935-39, according to the Agricultural Research Service. Wage rates have risen nearly 5 times and are still advancing; prices for power and machinery have more than doubled. On the other hand, prices of fertilizer have leveled off at about 50% above those of the 1935 period and prices paid for feed, although nearly twice as high have declined during the past several years.

Looking ahead to the 1959 season, prices paid for goods and services used in production and cost per unit of production probably will be somewhat above the levels of last year. Wage rates to hired labor and prices for non-farm goods and services used in production also are expected to average higher. With normal weather and current production trends, feed and seed are likely to be lower.

By MRS. DUTCH SMITH

Well, we have not got that rain yet but are still hoping. Our nephew, Owen Smith, wife and James spent the weekend with us. We surely enjoyed their visit. We all attended the farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Smith and Clifton Carl visited us Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brearley visited her parents, the T. A. Casbeers and also attended the farewell party for Dick and Flo. Dutch and I visited Mrs. Edgar McNutt before church Sunday night.

Mrs. Fred Laughlin and I visited Mrs. Lee Long Monday night.

I made a mistake in my letter last week. It was Mrs. Lee Long who visited me and not Mrs. Ernest Wilson.

Flossy Lynn Jordan entertained friends over the weekend.

Lloyd King took a load of lambs to Fort Worth.

We attended the reception for S. L. Tate Jr. Sunday night. We surely did hate to see S. L. go, he was a wonderful person and we will really miss him. I guess those Angelolians can out pray us, for they got him. We hope for him the best for he deserves it. The only thing Brother Wood worked so hard to get him married.

I guess Mills County is slipping as we let our Home Demonstration agent leave without getting married, very, very unusual. We have had such good luck getting the agents married. Anyway, we wish for S. L. and Lucy May
