

City Council To Explore Street Paving

Street Committee And City Manager To Investigate Equipment Needed

The city council meeting in regular session Monday night started the ball rolling to explore the possibility of a street paving program for Goldthwaite. Present were Mayor Y. B. Johnson, aldermen Sam Edington, I. W. Mauney, F. D. Reynolds and Joe S. Langford. Also W. C. Barnett, City Manager, Gynn Collier, secretary, and Vic E. Koleber.

This action was taken after a lengthy discussion which brought out that there have been requests for paving from residents from the various sections of the city. All agreed that there is a definite need for street paving and from indications there is a willingness manifested by residents to share in the cost of such a program.

It was pointed out that the city is not in a financial position to undertake a major street paving program. If the program is undertaken on an extensive scale it will have to be a joint project with property owners sharing the cost.

The discussions brought out that there are two courses that can be followed. One is for the paving to be done by outside contractor and the other is for the city to purchase such additional equipment that may be needed to undertake the work program. In either case the major portion of the cost will have to come from property owners.

Costs of paving the streets, with curb and gutter, and without, were discussed by the council. It is estimated that a good paving job, without curb and gutter, will cost property owners approximately $1 per running foot.

Mayor Y. B. Johnson, with the approval of the council, instructed the street committee and City Manager W. C. Barnett to investigate the availability of equipment needed by the city and cost of such equipment. Members of the street committee are Joe S. Langford and Sam Edington. They are to report back to the council at the next meeting.

During the past five years the city has purchased a power loader, dump truck, street roller, watering tank and grader. This was all done with a view on a long range program which would lead to the time when the city would be in position to do street paving.

Additional equipment that the city would have to have in order to undertake street paving include the following: asphalt storage tank, asphalt distributor, motor driven broom, spreader with truck attachment and possibly a small tractor and an added truck.

Many property owners have expressed their interest to council members and their willingness to pay the necessary cost of paving their streets. They feel that it is worth the cost not only from the standpoint of not having to put up with muddy and dusty streets, but, that it will increase the value of their property.

As the matter stands at this point property owners who want their streets paved may well get busy and contact other residents and property owners on their block, or street, and get everyone lined up and then let the city council know how they feel about the matter.

If the program is undertaken it will be on a long range plan covering the next several years. If it is started this Spring and Summer it will be on a block or street basis where property owners are ready and where the need is most due to heavy travel.

Lions Club Takes On Project Of Furnishing The New Legion Hall

Members of the Goldthwaite Lions Club voted at their regular meeting Tuesday night to accept a committee report and proceed with the project of furnishing the new Legion Hall and have it as a permanent meeting place for the club.

The committee, composed of Truett Auldridge, L. J. Ward and J. T. Jones, reported their findings on what is needed to furnish and equip the hall so that it may be used by the Lions as well as other clubs and civic groups. The committee also reported on approximate cost of the project.

Plans call for equipping and furnishing the hall to take care of a banquet group of 80 persons. Some equipment must be purchased new while much of it will be secured on the used market and much is expected to be donated to the project.

Major items needed are 10 folding tables, one water heater, one refrigerator, one heating unit, kitchen sink, 10 feet of kitchen cabinet, one work table, exhaust fan and hood and cooking range. Also table service for 80 persons consisting of plates, glasses, cups, saucers, salad plates, silver service and all other miscellaneous items.

It is estimated by the Lions that it will cost $1,000 to do this job and W. P. Duren was appointed chairman of the finance committee to start the drive for funds and equipment.

Duren issued an appeal after the meeting Tuesday night for everyone who is interested in this fine community project to come forth with contributions in cash or items that are needed. Those wanting to contribute merchandise or cash should contact Duren or any member of the Lions Club.

C. D. McLean donated the cafe style range two weeks ago for the kitchen. Dr. M. A. Childress Tuesday night donated a water heater. So the ball is already rolling.

The Legion Post had the new hall built and it has been reported that the building cost considerably more than the organization had on hand and a number of members pledged $100 each to help finance the project. A number of Legion members are also members of the Lions Club and are working on the project through both organizations.

Lamb Imports 3.6 Per Cent Of Domestic Outturn

Congressman O. C. Fisher reports from Washington this week that increased imports of lamb carcasses from New Zealand has caused much concern among domestic growers and feeders. The Department of Agriculture, however, has deputed to intervene before the Tariff Commission to seek restrictive action.

Citing import figures, the Secretary of Agriculture expressed doubt that, at least up to this time, the imports have been enough to cause much damage. In the January-September 1958 period mutton and lamb imports were 18.6 million pounds against U. S. domestic production of $16 million—about 3.6 per cent of domestic outturn. In the Secretary of Agriculture's help, many became alarmed this rate of importation may increase and cause serious harm to lamb markets.

BIG HEARTED HOUSE—A few days ago there came a little story out of Washington that should really open the eyes of everyone who has any interest whatsoever in our government and what our members of congress are doing.

William McGaffin, Washington correspondent for the Chicago Daily News, reported the following. We want to give it to our readers in full just as it appeared in the press release.

"Washington—It did not sit well with a constituent of Rep. Yates (D. Ill.) when the Democratic-controlled House voted recently to give Joe Martin a Cadillac and chauffeur.

"Martin (R. Mass.) lost these and the $26,000 extra he had been receiving for more office help when House Republicans deposed him as minority leader and elected Rep. Halleck, (Ind.) in his place.

"But the Democrats felt so sorry for Joe they passed a bill restoring to him the Cad, the chauffeur and the money for extra help even though he is now just a plain member of Congress.

"Some folks around Washington have suggested that the 74-year-old Martin could well have afforded to provide his own limousine and chauffeur.

"They contend that he is well heeled and, moreover, has no family financial responsibilities to worry him, since he is a bachelor.

"But the new Cadillac has now arrived for him. And just to keep things even with Halleck, Martin's old Cad is being traded in so that Halleck, too will have a new one;

"Congressman Yates' constituent, however, is interested to know, 'how the home consumer is going to fare in this open-handed congressional session.'

"The constituent's name was withheld by Yates."

VERY INTERESTING—Yes it is, very interesting, indeed, when our representatives in Washington get to the point where they feel so sorry for a member of their opposition political party to vote for him a neat package bonus, of such proportions, or whatever size.

Of course there is the possibility that there is a mistake in this report. Coming from the source that it does, I would assume that it is correct and based on the Congressional Record.

Speaking of a neat package bonus, here is what it amounts to. The extra help portion is clearly stated as $26,000. One can assume that the Cad will amount to about $5,000, or more, unless Cad dealers in Washington are in the habit of giving big discounts to Congressional purchases—that I'd have to see. Then there is the little item of a chauffeur. You can guess at that salary for a year just as well as I can. At any rate you can figure about $35,000 in round numbers. If this is based on a one year or two year term we don't know at this point, but which ever it applies to, it's pretty fat bonus throwing for our congressmen.

HOW ABOUT IT, FISHER?—Here is a note to our own Congressman O. C. Fisher.

Your Honor: Assuming that you have seen and read the foregoing report I would like for you to comment on the subject for the benefit of our readers, by giving me a reply to the following questions, and any added comments that you might have.

- Is the report correct?
- What moved members of the House to take such action?
- Were you present when this matter was acted on?
- If present, how did you vote?
- If not present, where were you?

HOW SAD! HOW TRUE!—The following editorial from The Beacon, Lambertville, New Jersey:

"Charles H. Brower, president of one of the large advertising firms spoke recently of a trend that is causing many people to wonder whether we have lost the great driving force that gave us all the benefits we enjoy today.

"Brower said, 'This is the era of the good-off; the age of the half-done job. The land from coast-to-coast has been enjoying a stampede away from responsibility. It is populated by waiters who won't serve, carpenters who come around, some day . . . maybe, executives whose minds are on the golf course, students who take cinch courses, and salesmen who won't sell.'

"These are pretty strong words, but in too many cases they are true.

"Too many people look upon their work as a means to an end . . . a pay check. How much they lose in not learning how to work, how to develop pride in a job well done. Mr. Brower calls it . . . 'the thrill of achievement.'

"Perhaps our schools might develop a course on 'how to work'."

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Democrats Fuming Over Ike's Budget Figures Advance Announcements Called Grandstand

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's advance announcement of his proposed 1960 fiscal year budget totals has some congressional Democrats fuming.

They are charging that it is a grandstand play by the White House to get all possible favorable publicity before the new Congress meets and its leaders have had an opportunity to analyze and answer the figures.

Of greater concern to these Democrats, however, is the unexpectedly low budget total of $77 billion. They charge it is "unrealistic" and was knowingly held below practical limits. They charge further that "politics" is the motive behind the entire White House budget maneuver.

According to these Democratic leaders, the White House plan is to send to Congress a budget so small that the Democratic majority in the House and Senate will have no alternative but to raise the totals. And, when they do so, they claim, the President will charge them with irresponsible spending.

Some Democrats have suggested that the party organize and accept the entire presidential budget without any increases, at the same time making sure the public knows where responsibility for the totals lies.

However, the prevailing view among the Donkey party members is that to accept the President's budget would be an abdication of their own responsibility. They feel they must raise the totals, whatever criticism comes their way, and trust that the public will understand and support their position.

FARM FIGHT AHEAD—A major fight looms in Congress year over legislation to do something about the price support program which is taking billions in federal money without easing any way the problem of over-production and huge government-owned surpluses of some major crops.

Early in the last session of Congress there was a disposition of the part of both political parties to stall on any comprehensive federal program. Neither side wanted to alienate the farm bloc in an election year, and leaders of both parties were fearful that legislative solution would prove unpopular.

Now, however, last season's bumper crops, coupled with prospect of new record farm production in 1959, have caused legislative leaders to realize that the problem can be ducked no longer.

The fight will be brought to a head by President Eisenhower himself in his State of the Union and budget messages to the open session of Congress.

Most farm experts in Washington anticipate that Eisenhower's Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson will lose a major battle on the Hill, and the issue will be carried to the voters in 1960.

SMALL BUSINESS—Government leaders and members of Congress are enthusiastic about new aids to small business which were approved by the last session of Congress. These aids deal with the problem of small business resources to permit groups to handle their work more efficiently and economically.

Another facet has put the government in the loan guarantee business to make it easier for small manufacturers to finance their operations. So far the program has received much greater acceptance than believed, and prospects are for increased use of these new "tools."

One result has been a larger share of business going to small concerns. Government economists are convinced the program will make a significant contribution to the nation's economic recovery in the months ahead, and will do much to rescue small population areas by reviving enterprises that have fallen behind their big competitors because of lack of money to finance new plants and equipment.

Goldthwaite P-TA To Present Heart Program Monday Night, February 9

Dancing, talking marionettes and a look inside the human heart to see what makes it tick will feature the program of the monthly P-TA meeting at 7 o'clock Monday evening, February 9, at the Elementary School lunchroom.

Mrs. Phillip Nickols' fifth graders will display their handmade marionettes in a program during which the attractive little puppets will be made to dance, talk and sing by their makers. A similar program at a recent Friday afternoon assembly was greeted with laughter and applause. Mr. Allen Hardgrave will bring the devotional.

On the serious side a film sponsored by the American Heart Association depicting the symptoms and often frightening consequences of rheumatic fever in children will be shown. Heart disease, by far the greatest killer of active, adult American men and women, is also exacting a terrible toll from American children. A talk on heart diseases will be illustrated with two larger than life-size plastic hearts in natural color.

The hearts are on loan to Mrs. M. Y. Stokes, Mills County School Nurse, for use in the county's schools. Each heart has three little doors which open to show what goes on inside this remarkable organ, and P-TA members will be able to make a thorough examination of them.

The classroom which has the largest number of P-TA members voting for it will receive an award.

Nostalgic Memories Of Big Valley

CHARLES ED BULL PART THREE

I was out for the pres- at we lingered on the there would be no playground games; no town marbles or stink base till all. We gathered in small expressing the desire we might meet during summer—at some "church and dinner on the at the annual Confed- union, and most surely annual "tunament" sta- the 4th of July. Finally all boys started home. and Floyd were our pals, was about Ben's age, my Cousin Floyd, my real about my age. I would more than any other school friend I had known. I always enjoyed my numerous visits to Uncle Bob Bull's house.

Floyd and Walter had cleared a slide-away down a hundred foot sloping bank on the east side of Prescott creek, among the young "ellums," just near their house. Here we would slide down the hill on a puncheon board, turned around side down for speed. It was royal fun, but hard on our clothes. If you should lose your balance you lost your board and dragged to a stop on the seat of your pants. Our mothers forbade such play, but the fun we had was worth more than the lickin's we got.

From school our roads separated at the Big Valley store, where we all stopped for the mail. Ben and Walter had some asides planning their meetings for the Summer.

Floyd said to me, at parting: "When you comin' to see me, Ed?"

"Will we slide down the hill if I come?" I asked.

"Oh I reckon so," Floyd said.

"I'll come then, ever' Sunday if the weather's dry an' Ma will let me. No use to come if the slide is wet," I said.

"Alright then, I'll be lookin' for you," Floyd said.

"Alright then, goodbye Floyd," I said.

"Goodbye Ed," Floyd said.

"Come on Yaller Britches," said Ben, "less go." When we were alone Ben would kid me about my pants, but he would not let anybody else do it. Ben opened his Weekly Kansas City Star—25 cents a year, which the Postmaster had handed us. There would be no talk now. Ben began reading, but silently, which left me with my own thoughts, and I was very poor company for myself. Ben stopped from time to time to glean some news item, but I was impatient to show my report card to my mother, so I ran on home. My mother was waiting for us on the front porch.

"I passed to the SECOND READER, Ma," I said proudly. "I knew you would," she said, and she gave me a little hug.

Thus ended my first year of school—Cap'n Mohler, Teacher.

— POST SCRIPTUM. —

As I reread the prosaic conclusion of that story, and sensing that I may have aroused the reader's curiosity, I pen this addendum: Without playmates of my age, the days dragged along; the grass became dry and yellow, and the big grasshoppers rasped their feet with a clickety-clacking noise which grows very monotonous when the sun's rays are beating down and mirages of heat waves gallop like a band of goats across the distant horizon. But, the June bugs came and sang sweet music around the mesquite trees. But a boy will tire even listening to a June bug which he has captured and tied with a thread around one leg.

Casting about for something to do, a serious thought found lodgement in my brain. It had to do with Floyd and the slide and the puncheon boards; slowly a plan was evolving, "with malice a forethought."

"I got a lickin' that Summer every time I went to Floyd's house but you should have seen my britches; the seat was gone clean down to the skin, the knees were out, and several triangular tears from "bob war" fences left little flags wigwagging signals of distress, while areas of naked Bull were visible through the frayed holes.

Came 4th of July and the annual "tunament"; we all went in the old ranch wagon, including Pa's old cow dog—"Hound," branded like our cows, 137 on his side. Ma was terribly embarrassed by me and my britches. (I got another "good" scolding when we got home).

"And this, too, shall pass away," the wise man said. Time was on my side, and JEANS BRITCHES can't last forever; came August, and our revered old preacher, Brother D. I. Harlison, sent out word that the annual "Camp Meeting with dinner on the ground" would be held at Big Valley Church. We all went. Old "Hound" followed us, and after services had begun, "Old Hound" came walking down the aisle and lay down in front of the rostrum, where it was cool. Me? Well, I was wearing a BRAND NEW pair of JEANS BRITCHES.

LEGISLATION FOR THE TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE IN 1959

Improvement and updating of existing state farm laws is first on the agenda of requests to be made of the Texas Legislature early in January of the new year.

Chief among these suggested improvements are proposed amendments to the Texas Egg Law to provide for increased license fees for egg handlers and the addition of a license fee for retailers who are presently licensed without charge. These fees are needed to make enforcement of the law more nearly self-supporting.

Another proposed change is the Texas Weights and Measures Law, administered by the State Department of Agriculture. It calls for fees to be paid for accuracy tests and regulation of large commercial scales. Commissioner John C. White said the added revenue is "absolutely essential" to provide funds for replacement of expensive equipment without having to call for new tax money.

White said his department also plans to ask the Legislature to strengthen enforcement of the Warehouse Law by adding a provision to make minor violations punishable as misdemeanors. The law presently provides only for prosecution of felony offenses, leaving a potential loophole for minor offenders.

A new industry - sponsored nursery law will be submitted providing new classifications and regulations for plants moving into the state. A marketing assistance program for Texas peanut growers calls primarily for a peanut research and promotion commission to be set up to work with TDA marketing officials in expansion of Texas peanut markets.

Commissioner White emphasized that his department is "not asking for additional drains from the general revenue fund." "The bulk of the cost of improving facilities and enforcing regulations should be provided in the form of fees from those who derive the greatest amount of benefit and service from them," said White. He added that he hopes this legislature will help him achieve his goal of placing the program of his department on a self-supporting basis.

CHEVY'S NEW HI-THRIFT 6

More miles are back in a gallon of regular-grade gas—up to 10% more—and Chevy's new Hi-Thrift 6 engine puts them there. It also gives you more "git" in the speeds you drive the most.

Here's an engine that always seems able to coax extra miles out of a tank of regular-grade gas. In fact, if you're one of those drivers who keep tab on things like gas mileage, you'll soon see for yourself that this new Hi-Thrift 6 gets up to 10% more miles a gallon.

Another thing you'll like about this 135-h.p. 6 is the extra pep it gives you for passing and climbing hills. This is due to higher torque at normal speeds.

It may be hard to believe anything that looks and moves like this '59 Chevy can be such a stickler for economy. But—whether you pick the Hi-Thrift 6 or a vim-packed V8—this is just one more reason Chevy's the car that's wanted for all its worth. Stop by your dealer's and see.

TODAY'S Menu Make Cranberry Catsup To Enjoy All Year Long

By ALICE DENHOFF

WHILE the cranberry still sheds its rosy light over our markets, how about conserving its piquant flavor and nutritional value by preparing a special catsup?

Wash 3/4 lb. fresh cranberries and cook with 1/2 c. cider vinegar and 1/2 c. water in a covered saucepan 5 minutes, or until soft and tender. Strain through a sieve.

Add Spices

Add 3/4 c. brown sugar, 1/4 tsp. each ground cloves, ground ginger and paprika, 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon and 1/4 tsp. salt. Cook over low heat until the mixture begins to simmer, about 3 minutes.

Stir in 1/2 cup butter. Pour into a jar and store at room temperature. Or, if desired, double recipe, pour into 1/2-pint sterilized jars and seal for use when cranberries are scarce.

For Special Occasion

Moving into the hors d'oeuvres and canape department, here's something really exotic for a special occasion, a recipe for Curried Mushroom Boats.

To prepare 16 boats, drain 1-oz. can mushrooms and chop stems and caps very fine. Place in a heavy skillet or saucepan with 1/4 tsp. onion powder, 1 1/2 tsp. curry powder and 2 tsp. butter or margarine. Saute 4 to 5 minutes or until mushrooms are tender.

Pastry Shells

Add 3 tbsp. cooked rice, 1/4 tsp. salt, 3 tbsp. fine bread crumbs, 1/2 tsp. water, mixing well. Spoon loosely into baked boat-shaped pastry shells. Place under broiler to brown. Garnish with pimiento strips.

Serve hot.

To make pastry boats prepare 1 package pastry mix, according to directions or use your own pastry recipe.

Roll dough to 1/8" thickness. Cut oval-shaped pieces 2 in. long, 1 1/2" wide at the center, and half an inch wide at each end.

Foil Ovals

Cut an equal number of aluminum foil ovals the same size.

Place each oval of pastry over a foil oval. Shape to resemble boats and crimp edges. Prick bottom and sides with a fork to prevent blistering.

Bake at 425° F. 12 minutes or until brown.

If time is short, replace pastry boats with 24 two-inch rounds of bread sauteed in butter over which the mushroom mixture is spread. They're good, but the pastry boats are better!

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Those who find great joy in the outdoors will welcome the announcement that the Corps of Engineers now urges recognition of recreation as a use for water.

Recreation too long has been handed about as a step-child of flood control, power and agricultural water development. Col. William F. Powers, district engineer of the Corps of Engineers, writing in the December issue of Outdoor America, points the way.

"Within the Corps of Engineers' efforts to provide water for increasing urban populations, and industrial and agricultural and other economic needs, we must include the recreational use of water," he said.

Outdoor America is the official organ of the Izaak Walton League. Its publication of the address by this engineer means a great deal.

"Anyone who takes a thoughtful look," the engineer says, "at the upward trend of the population must conclude that we now must treat outdoor recreation as use of water rather than a by-product of water use planning for other purposes. We cannot escape such conclusions."

The colonel points out that since 1944 the Corps has continually strengthened the position of recreational use of water planning.

The flood control act of 1944, as amended, gave the engineers authority to provide for recreational use, and requires that water areas be open to the public without charge "for boating, swimming, bathing, fishing and other recreational purposes." It also provides that ready access to and exit from such areas be provided.

The colonel continues, saying that few persons in 1944 "were exactly clairvoyant in our foresight as to what this act of Trophies will go to winners in all divisions.

1944 would initiate in the way of public use of waters." Perhaps he might be right in some areas. It so happens, however, that it was along about that time that Lake Texoma was being completed on the Texas-Oklahoma boundary. It took a lot of pushing on the part of the Chambers of Commerce of that area to get even a few concession sites laid out properly with ingress.

Now, 15 years later, the Corps issues an annual report in which it says that more people use Lake Texoma than any other federal installation. Yet it still doesn't have adequate facilities for use of the public. Those who hold leases around the lake, in many instances, have not been able to make installations of a permanent nature because of the short duration of their leases.

And, as far as access is concerned, the number of public areas that contain adequate launching facilities, or even good roads, are still far short of the needs. The same is true of other engineer-built lakes in the state, and they are numerous.

This isn't meant as a criticism of the engineers alone. Perhaps the persons who are mostly to blame for the inadequacies of our water facilities are those who still like to yell "we want to do things at a local level."

Indeed, the public facilities at locally built lakes on the Colorado in Central Texas, are sadly lacking. A fine example is the inadequacy of facilities to be found even within the city of Austin.

We've been too complacent about providing for the needs. As sportsmen we've gone about, shoving our boats into the water wherever we find a place. We do a little fussing about it, but that's about all. Since there is no one agency responsible for looking after the public interest in the recreational use of water, we might want to place this responsibility on some existing group, or organization.

For example, we continue to build bridges over our rivers and causeways along the coast, without providing for access to the river banks. Our highway department demands ample rights-of-way everywhere it builds a bridge. It would require very little effort to have a dozer smooth over the surface under the bridge, where boat owners could get to the water.

Another tragic example is in the making at the present time. A fine new causeway is being built across the bay between Aransas Pass and Port Aransas. Unless something is done immediately, it will be finished without a thought as to the possible use of launching areas. There'll be no place for boats to be unloaded from the approaches to the causeway. There will be no catwalks for the convenience of fishermen, who otherwise are greeted with signs that say "No Fishing From This Bridge."

Last November we approved a constitutional amendment which will permit us, after an enabling act, to advertise for tourists. Those who advocated this measure said it would put us on a par with other states using public funds for such purposes.

If we are to follow in the path of other states, we might take a few lessons from the bridge and causeway construction program in the state of Florida, which does a lot of advertising.

Who is to take the initiative? Shall it be the local Chamber of Commerce? Will it be the editor of this newspaper? Or will little voices continue to sing out unheard for years to come, and we still not have the facilities we need?

Who will call on the Corps of Engineers and say we must

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: I was ordained as a minister in June 1940, and I have been in the ministerial work continuously since then. How do I elect social security coverage, and may I elect coverage for both 1957 and 1958?

Answer: You have until April 15, 1959, to sign a waiver to participate in the Social Security program on an elective basis. You should file Form 2031 with the Director of Internal Revenue, Dallas, Texas, before that date. The form may be obtained from your nearest social security office or from the Internal Revenue Service. You will be mandatorily covered retroactive to 1956. If the waiver is not filed before April 15, 1959, you will not be permitted to participate in the program. Question: My farm was leased to a tenant in 1957; but he did not want to renew the lease in 1958, I put my farm in acreage reserve under the Soil Bank Act instead of renting it. Will my soil bank payments count toward social security? Answer: In this case, the acreage reserve payments are treated the same as if you had been operating the farm yourself.

have these facilities locally? Or do we have a committee to call on the local dam builders and have them write recreation into their specifications? How will we get the highway engineers to draft plans for further utilization of facilities which are available?

Chances are we'll continue to do nothing about it until it will cost a great deal more than doing it right now.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Cordova Island is a piece of Mexico on this side of the Rio Grande River. The river used to run on this side of the Island, but its channel was straightened and that left Cordova on the Texas side. I don't know why Texas doesn't buy it and thus settle the matter, but it seems to be as easy as that. I see a few adobe huts on the island, and in some I see signs of life.

The traffic over the two international bridges from El Paso into Juarez and from Juarez into El Paso is said to be heavier than any other border crossing in the world. At times it is badly jammed and relief is badly needed. But lo, and behold, we discover a perfectly good bridge, not being used, from Juarez to Cordova Island. The legal authorities and the people are saying, "Why don't we use the Cordova Island bridge?" Now they are trying to do just that. But how long it will take we can't tell.

El Paso suffered a terrible tragedy Wednesday night. The president of the El Paso School Board, who was also a member of the El Paso County Health Committee, was returning with his wife from attending a meeting of Educators in San Francisco. When they landed at El Paso's International Airport about six o'clock, he was several times in the chest in the head by a former fatal patient. He was rushed to El Paso Hospital and El Paso's best medical service rendered to his aid, but all to no avail. He died about seven o'clock. The funeral was today (Friday) and all El Paso schools were dismissed in his honor.

Our days are still lovely. Our nights may be cold, but most of our days are bright with sunshine and by noon are mild and warm. Ideal for working in the yard. I see one daffodil bud, and the stocks are beginning to bloom.

A letter from Mrs. Edna Dwyer said it had been pleasant at Victoria too, and she and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cawyer had been setting out snapdragons and stocks. Austin also set out roses, camellias, and a pecan tree. She said Opal had to go to Austin Friday evening (today) to be ready to attend a teachers' meeting there Saturday. Mrs. Dwyer said she and Austin plan to go with her to Austin, then on to Ebony that night, and Saturday they would put out plants at the Dwyer home. Mrs. Dwyer said a card from Mrs. Effie Egger at Ebony said her son, Clayton Egger, had been quite ill since Christmas, but his Doctor Cousin, Dr. Seal Tippen Cutbirth, came out from Brownwood and soon had him all right again. We were surprised and very happy to learn that Dr. Cutbirth is now associated with the Medical Arts Hospital at Brownwood. He is the son of Sam and Ollie Tippen Cutbirth. His mother, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Tippen, grew up at Ebony.

Final Rites For Mrs. McCulley, Held January 28

Funeral services for Mrs. Olive McCulley, 80, of Waco were held in Wilkins Chapel Wednesday afternoon, January 28, at 2 o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. George B. McCrary, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Goldthwaite.

Mrs. McCulley was born July 7, 1878 in Stephens County, Texas and passed away in Waco January 26, 1959. She was a Methodist and had lived in Waco about 40 years.

On April 26, 1895 she was married to John Wesley McCulley at Lometa. She was preceded in death by a daughter, Lila Weta McCulley and also by her husband.

Survivors are a son, Clarence M. McCulley of Waco; one sister, Mrs. S. J. Enochs of Georgetown; three brothers, E. F. Nevans, Brownwood, C. F. Nevans, Fort Stockton, and J. F. Nevans of Lohm.

Pallbearers were Julian Evans, Raymond Little, R. T. Padgett, Lee Roy Stacy, Roy Wilkins and Joe Bill Johnson.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Roy Wilkins Funeral Home with burial in Goldthwaite Memorial Cemetery.

Center City News

By MRS. JOE GREEN

There was church at the Baptist Church Sunday morning. Brother Dycus of Brownwood did the preaching. He and his family were dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Virgie Wild.

Mr. Willie Knight is still in the hospital but he is slowly improving. We were all glad to learn he was better.

Mr. Charley Horner is also getting along better and we are all thankful he is doing so much better.

Virgil Sparkman visited with us a while Sunday morning and he is doing fine.

O. B. and Myrtle Hill are staying in town with Mrs. Evans, who is almost past going. She is so tired all the time and the weather so cold she needs help.

I thought maybe Spring was just around the corner but I have decided I was mistaken. It looks now like it is a long ways off.

The Worker's Conference is at Goldthwaite Monday night and I think the Center City group are all planning on going if it is not too cold.

The Star girls and boys played ball at Star Friday night. They played Carlton. They both played a good game and I think everyone enjoyed the game.

I visited Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Griffin a while last Thursday afternoon. They were all doing OK but had all been sick.

Mrs. Oleta Coffman visited Mrs. J. W. Coffman last Thursday. Mrs. Coffman hasn't been well but is feeling better at this time.

Georgie Brown spent the night with Linda Jewel Friday night.

There was no church Sunday night at the Baptist Church because of the icy condition of the roads.

Mrs. Lee Walton has been on the sick list. We all hope she is soon feeling better.

Eva Faye has a birthday the 5th of February and I know how old she is. Joe has a birthday the 22nd of February and I am not sure how old he is but I think he is still 39, he has been the last few years. He is just not going over that mark for some reason.

There was no school at Star Monday due to the icy conditions of the roads.

We have had our laughs and we have had our tears but I hope 1959 brings a better year, don't you?

The Rusk Enquirer mentions the fact, that on the 14th inst., three prisoners confined in the jail at that place, left very unceremoniously and without the leave of the jailer. They were all heavily ironed, but managed to unshackle themselves and cut a hole through the wall, and by means of blankets let themselves to the ground.

We learn from the San Antonio Herald, that a Mr. Hillburn, of Uvalde County, on Friday, 14th inst., shot an Indian, while out hunting hogs. The Indian was nearly naked, and refused to tell his tribe, and said that he was all alone. He died in about an hour after he was shot.

Austin—Attentions.— We are indebted to Hon'l. Matt Ward for a copy of the New York Day Book, to the Hon'l. A. G. Brown for a copy of the stump speeches of Douglas and Lincoln, and to the Hon'l. Guy M. Bryan, for the speech of A. H. Stevens, in defense of Judge Watrous, as well as his (Bryan's) own speech.—A friend has also sent us copies of the Patent office and Smithsonian Institute Reports.—Southern Intelligencer.

It will be seen in another paragraph, that of the 318,313 population in Arkansas, there are only 60,048 slaves, leaving 258,265 who either work or play, but who, in working, are degraded in the opinion of some of the Texas Democratic presses. And yet Arkansas is regarded by many as the very best cotton State in the Union.

The annual expenses of Arkansas are only $80,000. Texas, with 300,000 inhabitants, has an annual expense of half a million dollars. Verily Arkansas is a very economical, or Texas a very extravagant, country.—Southern Intelligencer.

We learn from the Galveston News that that city is soon to be lighted with gas—the first cargo of pipes having already arrived, while three others are on the way.

We learn from a passenger in the stage from Waco to this place, that on Monday, 24th, about ten miles beyond Belton, the lines became unfastened from one of the lead horses, soon as the driver perceived situation of affairs, he sprang upon the passenger to open door and jump out of the stage as quick as possible. No one had the passenger got out, the horses, taking advantage of their freedom from the stage, endeavored to free themselves also from the stage, which soon accomplished by unhooking it, then righting it, upsetting a second time, and then turning it a second time—meantime throwing the driver from his seat, breaking his uncoupling the wheels, and finally, by the horses each coming free from the stage going on "twenty-one" on own hook. The passenger tributes no fault to the driver, all the difficulty remitting to the use of springs instead of buckles on the lines.—Southern Intelligencer.

FACING LIFE
As I sat at the breakfast table at 9:11:00, I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to the understanding, nor favour to men of skill; time and chance happeneth to them all.

takes place. We see the blades that come up through the soil. We see the branch, we see the stalk. We see the blades drink in the sunlight. After a while we see that beautiful creation that has such rich coloring as to defy the skill of the greatest artist to capture it, or to lay it upon canvas. We say that is life, and that round brown mass that we hid in the earth moved and grew and unfolded into a thing of glory.

Life has always been a struggle. My earliest recollections are of struggle. We struggled in the spring to cut down the trees and clear the soil and dig up the stumps, and dig out the rocks, and get it ready to plow.

We struggled then to get the seed in the ground by a certain time. When summer came, we struggled to get water to keep the sheep and livestock alive.

We struggled to get the crops in, in the fall of the year, against the day when the cold frost and the winter snow would come.

We struggled to cut wood, to pile it up in cords, that we might be able to have fuel against the day when the snow would pile high against the sides of the house, and the warm fire would be a necessity, if we were to live.

It was a battle and a struggle from the cradle to the grave, and it always has been a struggle.

What is the purpose of the struggle? What is the end? What is the aim? What is the accomplishment that will be brought about by the struggle?

The answer is salvation. God so designed it. This life is a school.

Let us look at the intellectual man! Let us look at the physical man when they come down to the end of the road.

There is no comfort and no assurance at the hour of death for that man who has cultured and developed his mind from the books that he has read.

He may know Plato, Aristotle. He may know Pythagoras, He may know Epicurus. He may know Pyrrho. He may know all

Income TAX FAX

Do you have traveling expenses in connection with your employment?

If so, you can deduct them from your income in arriving at your adjusted gross income. This means that you also can use the standard deduction as you no longer have to itemize your deductions on page two in order to take these traveling expenses.

the great thinkers who have ever lived. But when he comes down to the hour of death, there is no comfort in anything that he has read. He must leave his books behind for others to read because he is going to leave it all. He didn't face life in its fullest sense, and he is not ready to die. Even though he has a bright sharp, keen, trained mind, he is not ready to die.

Look at that man who is a physical athlete when he comes to the end of the way.

Once he stood in the ring and the referee held up his arm, and the thousands cheered to the rafters. His face was upon every sporting page in the nation. Once his very name was a synonym for speed and strength, for training, for toughness, for stamina, for power. Once he was the very epitome, and to every little boy in this country he was the hero and the idol.

But you see him at the end of the way. He lies upon his bed, a thin, emaciated frame, a mere shadow of his former self. You take him by the hand, and it's a thin, emaciated, bony hand. He doesn't have strength now. He has come to the end of the way. If all he has in the physical, he has only faced life in one department, but life is getting the best of him.

Look at the business man. A man can be just as sick in a luxurious bedroom between silk bedclothes as he can be in a hovel by the river side. And death is just as much death for the rich man in his mansion as it is for the poor man in his cottage. Just because a man has stocks and bonds and insurance

The law provides special deductions for the expenses of travel while away from home in connection with your employer's business.

Traveling "away from home" means going away from the city or town where you normally work and remaining away at least overnight.

"Travel expenses" means the cost of transportation fares, meals, and lodging, and includes policies and piles of wealth, that does not mean he has faced life.

When he comes to the end of the way, he will be like that man who said:

"I'll pull down my barns and build greater ones."

He faced life, too, as a business man. He was a very successful business man, a very successful farmer. He went to bed that night with very happy dreams of activity on the morrow. The carpenters would be at work. The framework of the new and bigger barns would soon be reared up.

Soon he would gather in his great wealth and he would say, "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for thee." He thought he could satisfy his soul with material things, but when he came to the end of the way, God said,

"Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee. Then whose shall these things be which thou hast provided?"

He faced life, but life got the best of him.

porters' tips, hire of public stenographers, baggage charges, and similar expenses necessary to travel.

Travel expenses do not include any entertainment expenses, or any personal expenses such as laundry.

Other Transportation Expenses: Even though you do not travel away from home, as explained above, you may deduct transportation expenses paid in connection with the performance of services for your employer. Transportation expenses include payment for actual travel or, if you use your own car, the business portion of the cost of operation, including fuel, repairs, and depreciation.

Expenses of Outside Salesmen: The law allows "Outside Salesmen" to deduct all their ordinary and necessary business expenses. This applies only to full-time salesmen who are engaged in soliciting business for their employers away from their employer's place of business. The term does not include one whose principal activities consist of service and delivery such as a milk-driver salesman.

Any reimbursement of these expenses must be included in your income. Attach a statement to your return explaining in detail the expenses you deduct. You may obtain Form 2106 from the nearest Internal Revenue Service office to explain these expenses.

All expenses deductible under this section must be allowable expenses. Transportation expenses do not include the expense of commuting to and from work. Commuting is a personal living expense and is not deductible.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Firmness Called For When Children Rage

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

"HE screams his head off when he wants something until he gets it."

So writes an Ohio mother, who says she can't manage her child, 3. There is a brother 17 months old.

She says further: "I have trouble with his in-between-meal eating. He wants this and he wants that and carries on until I lose patience and give it to him."

I read countless such letters from mothers in a single year.

Tantrums Win

The explanation of this mother's problem is betrayed in her own words, "until he gets it," or "until I lose patience and give it to him." In either case, the child wins by his rage and screams. He's rewarded for them. The mother pays the child for his tantrums.

Her first problem is to be more careful about saying No or denying this child an object or privilege. Once having said No, or just acted No, she needs to prove she means it by what she does or doesn't do. As a rule, she doesn't need to do a thing but merely act as if she were a wooden post.

Should Be Unmoved

This means that she will act as if she doesn't hear him cry, or is unmoved emotionally by his crying, even if he "screams his head off."

She should know that his head really will stay on, however much he screams, and that he might scream a long, long while until he discovers her conversion from a jelly fish to a person with backbone.

As you can see, the lad has had lots of practice at holding out till he won, and he always won. At the same time, his mother has had lots of practice at surrendering, and she has always surrendered. Like a conquering army, he won't be defeated easily, and like an ever-retreating regiment, she won't easily take a stand.

The Ohio mother might find it easier to manage this lad but for the little brother who came and stole away from him some of the world that once was only his.

Needs Love

Helping this older child to feel more secure, loved and wanted in the family should ease the problemsome. Perhaps he should be cuddled more, played with more, read to more, praised more when he is good.

(My bulletins, "Preventing and Reducing Jealousy" and "Tantrums—Prevention and Correction," may be had by sending a self-addressed, U.S. stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

ANSWERING PARENTS' QUESTIONS

Q. Our son, 10, is a very poor reader but does well in spelling and arithmetic. May we hope for him to be able to enter college by and by?

A. Yes, if you can find ways to help him learn to read better.
