Red Cross Fund Drive Is Short Of Goal

The Mills County Red Cross fund drive is still short of the small goal set for this year, it was reported early this week by fund drive chairman Lee Roy Stacy and Harold Yarborough, Red Cross Chapter Chairman.

As of Tuesday morning total contributions reported were $968.35. The goal for 1959 has been set at $1,175.

Contributions reported are as follows:

Goldthwaite	$631.46
Pleasant Grove	20.00
Big Valley	34.45
Chappell Hill	15.00
Bozar & Trigger Mt.	20.76
Rattler	6.50
Mullin	84.98
Priddy	104.10
Seallorn	51.10

Drive chairman Stacy is urging all who have not contributed to do so now so that the job may be completed. Community chairmen who do not have their reports in should get them in this week and individuals should mail or bring theirs to Mr. Stacy or to Glynn Collier at Mills County State Bank.

Farm Bureau Donates $125 To Lions Kitchen Fund

The Mills County Farm Bureau contributed $125 to the Lions Club to be used in their project of furnishing and equipping the kitchen in the new Legion building.

A check in that amount was presented to Lions Club president Charles Conradt at the regular meeting of the club Tuesday night by W. W. Fox, Farm Bureau secy-treas. The Farm Bureau as an organization contributed $50 and the other $75 was made up by individual farm bureau members.

This contribution gives further boost to the Lions Club committee that is heading the project. W. P. Duren, chairman, will have an up to date report on the drive at the next meeting.

In the meantime plans are moving forward for the open house that will be observed by the American Legion Post to show the building to the public on Sunday afternoon, March 29.

Plans are also moving ahead for the White-Elephant Auction Sale which will be conducted on Saturday, April 11, for the purpose of retiring the indebtedness on the Legion building. A group of Legionnaires assumed the responsibility of completing the building when the organization didn't have sufficient funds for the project. Since it is a community building to be used by civic, family and school groups of the entire county everyone is invited to take part in retiring the debt by donating something to be sold at the White-Elephant Auction.

Anything that has any sale value will be accepted and sold. Arrangements have been made whereby all merchandise that is donated will be stored in the building next to Duren Grocery.

The committee in charge has announced that it is time for action and those who have contribution to make to the sale should bring it to the storage building. If unable to bring it they should contact any member of the Lions Club and arrangements will be made for pick-up service.

ROOT PLOWING—With a plow such as the one pictured here L. B. Burnham is now root plowing and range seeding approximately 100 acres of rangeland. Moisture conservation and increased production is his aim.

April First Is Deadline For New Auto Licenses

Sheriff C. F. Stubblefield has announced that time is running out for those who have not purchased their new auto license plates for 1959. Deadline for this is April 1, 1959, after that, if anyone wishes to drive their car they will be subject to being fined.

So, as Sheriff Stubblefield says, "don't wait until the last minute, come on in now and get those new plates."

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson and Mrs. Jack Burns spent the weekend in Houston with Mr. and Mrs. Ewell (Jack) Wilson and Fannin (Doc) Wilson, Fannin, who was injured in a car wreck several weeks ago and is in a critical condition, is in a Houston hospital. Ernest remained in Houston to be with his brother while Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Burns returned home Sunday night.

Soil Conservation District News

Many methods of eliminating undesirable vegetation have been tried on Texas ranches. The battle against mesquite and other semi-desert plants has, in most cases, been discouraging. The root plow, however, has done much to reclaim vast acreages of infested rangeland in Texas.

Root plowing and range seeding, in the same operation, has been done on approximately 750,000 acres of brushland in Texas to date. This figure is increasing rapidly. This week D. H. Williams, conservation contractor from Coleman, is root plowing and seeding approximately 100 acres on the L. B. Burnham ranch just south of the Colorado river bridge.

Mr. Burnham hopes to accomplish three things by using this method which has proven so successful both west and south of here. First, he hopes to retard growth of all undesirable plants to such an extent that they no longer are a problem.

Secondly, the huge plow passes under the ground surface from ten to fifteen inches with closely placed fins extending up and slanted back fracturing the soil. This allows the soil to store large amounts of water which is urgently needed by grass. Thirdly, he expects to get speedy recovery of lush grazing plants. To accomplish this, he is seeding a mixture of adapted grasses which respond rapidly to this type of treatment.

Grasses used by Mr. Burnham include King Ranch bluestem, side oats gramma, blue panic, Blackwell switch, and green sprangletop. The County ASC Committee has allowed him cost share assistance on both the plowing and the range seeding. This same land must then be deferred. Here again cost share assistance is available through the county ACP.

Anyone interested in carrying out these practices should contact the local ASC Office or the Soil Conservation Service.

Growers Need Complete Wool Sales Record

Chairman E. L. Burkett of the Mills County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office reminds wool producers to be sure that the sales documents they have received for selling wool during the past year contain all the information required under the wool incentive payment program.

It is particularly important, Mr. Burkett says that the sales documents show the true net sales proceeds including deductions made for freight and other marketing charges. The county ASC office where the program is administered has the authority to adjust sales proceeds when charges are not shown. Where false information is filed, both the producer and the wool buyer are subject to penalties.

Producers will be eligible for payments to be made this year under the 1958 program for wool and unshorn lambs marketed not later than March 31 this year. Later marketings will be eligible for payments under the 1959 program.

Applications for payment under the 1958 program must be filed not later than April 30 at the county office. This cut-off date is necessary to permit a final accurate calculation of the average price received by farmers for wool during the 1958 marketing year. When the average price received for shorn wool is known sometime this summer, the payment rate will be announced and payments will be made to growers.

Mullin City Government To Be Re-Activated With City Election

The city government of Mullin which has been inactive for the past several years will be placed back on an active basis, it was announced this week by C. A. Williams who served last as mayor pro tem.

Williams announced that a regular city election has been called for Tuesday, April 7, to elect a mayor and five aldermen. The election will be held in the GI Building.

There is one candidate for mayor and there are 10 candidates for the five places to be filled on the council.

Candidates are, for mayor: E. L. Burkett. For aldermen: Charley Hays, Tom Perry, Edgar Smith, S. M. Casey, A. L. French, Geo. M. Fletcher, Glenn Calder, C. A. Williams, Willard Mosier, and Bruce Scott.

The City of Mullin has a tax levy rate of 40¢ and approximately $75,000 assessed property valuation. After the city election is certified and new members of the council and mayor take office they will face the problem of whether to revise the tax structure with respect to property valuation and tax levy in order for the city government to function properly or whether to call a special election for the purpose of placing the city back on an un-incorporated town basis.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kirby attended funeral services for her nephew, Roy Taylor, in Austin Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dalton of Mullin spent Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Locklear.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harris and children of Fort Worth spent the weekend with relatives here.

SOLILOQUY

FROM OUR READERS—Mrs. Etta Keel, San Antonio, writes as follows: "Owing to the fact that only a few of my old friends are there any longer, I am enclosing two dollars to pay for the paper for the next six months. I have spent quite some time in hospitals and of course do not see the Eagle regularly. I always read your editorials and think them quite timely. It is very amusing to hear our Governor talk economy since he called extra session and squandered State's money last year to put us in the red. Now he is recommending raised salaries for all department heads, and with all this he expects the gullible voter to believe he is sincere."

"Enclosed is our check for another year's subscription to the Eagle. We enjoy and look forward to receiving it each week out here in our new home in West Texas. It keeps us in touch with our friends and loved ones back in the old 'home town.' So please keep it coming out our way."—Mrs. Ray Hammond, Midland, Texas.

Mrs. Marvin Laughlin, Grand Prairie, Texas—"Please renew my subscription to the paper, I don't want to miss one issue as I always enjoy the news from home, it is just like a visit from my old home town."

A LETTER FROM ROBIN—Who would be writing a letter, with postage due, to Joe Dan was a quite natural thought for Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hardgrave when they took the mail from their box on Rural Route 1.

The letter was addressed to their four year old son and it came with a postage due notice.

It soon developed that the letter, as it were, came from Joe Dan's little friend, Robin Reid, also four. I say "as it were" because there was the envelope properly addressed but there was no letter inside.

Later the whole story came out.

Robin's sister Judi was working on the typewriter and, being a rather potent member of the Dale Reid family, Robin had his sister address the envelope to his friend Joe. After all he is big enough to write letters too—his big sisters Judi and Benna Von don't have a thing on him.

Before family members knew what the score was the little letter writer had it sealed and in the mail box on the way to its postage due destination.

THE TOTAL SELLING MEDIUM—How valuable is newspaper advertising to the retail merchant?

Here's what the president of a Montana department store has to say: "If I were suddenly restricted to one and only one advertising medium, I would board up the display windows, discontinue all interior and departmental selling displays, eliminate all informative show cards, discontinue all sales meetings and sales incentives, stop all telephone selling—and continue an aggressive business-building advertising investment in the newspapers."

This merchant also terms newspapers "the total selling medium. What advertiser could ask for more?"

WE BELIEVE—On the occasion of its 35th anniversary, the American Farm Bureau Federation adopted resolutions explaining its credo. These included the following:

- "We believe: . . . in the American competitive enterprise system.
- . . . that a man's search for progress should be encouraged by maintenance of opportunity, not hindered by illusions of security.
- . . . that a person should be rewarded in accordance with his productive contribution to society.
- . . . that every man is entitled to own property, earn money honestly, save, invest and spend as he chooses.
- . . . that government's regulatory functions should be based on law.
- . . . that government should provide only minimum controls and aids.
- . . . that government should stimulate, not discourage individual initiative."

Dulles' Current Illness Has Washington Worried

Soviets Likely to Gain Advantage in Cold War

By HENRY CATHCART

Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness—the third in less than three years—spotlights the real problem of conducting foreign affairs in these perilous times.

While President Eisenhower is charged by the Constitution with the conduct of American diplomacy, Dulles has been the arm of the Allied approach to keeping the cold war from heating up.

It has been a personal, almost a one-man show for Dulles ever since he entered the White House with the advent of the Eisenhower administration six years ago. However, the 71-year-old Dulles obviously is tiring. His vitality and endurance have been admirable.

What causes concern in Washington is this latest evidence of physical weakness which could cause the Communist-bloc nations to press harder in the cold war to gain advantages over people less skilled than Dulles are at the helm of the State department.

John Foster Dulles After a previous Dulles illness more than three years ago, a basic decision was reached by President Eisenhower to provide, insofar as it was humanly possible, a continuation of U. S. foreign policy leadership in the event of Dulles' future incapacitation.

Christian Herter was brought in as undersecretary of state since that time has undergone an intensive course in foreign policy objectives and the means of achieving them.

Herter is now actively in charge of the department and of the conduct of American foreign policy, in the absence of Dulles. Should Dulles return to his desk, Herter will take over in name, as well as in substance.

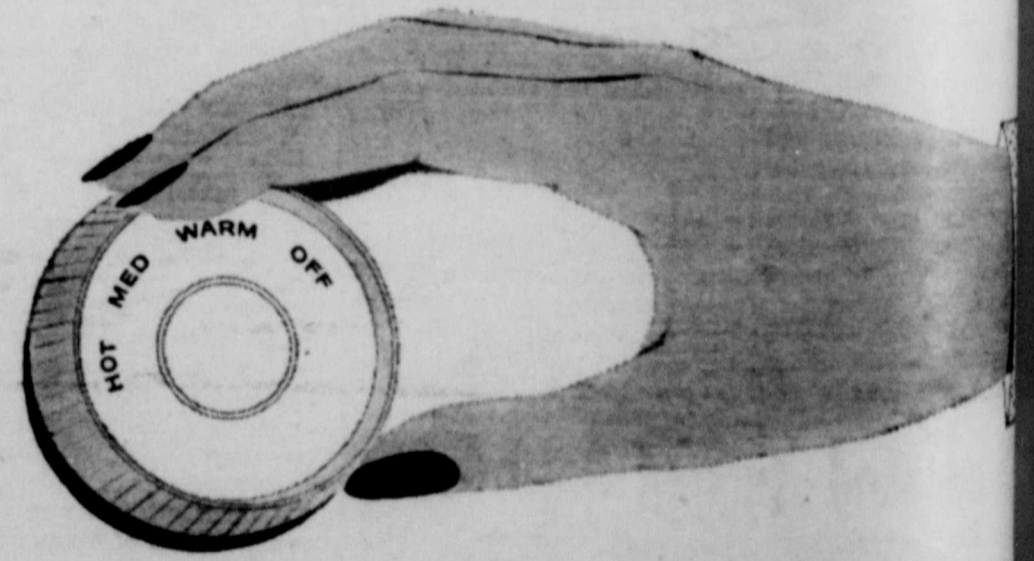

ADOPTIONS—More than 90,000 children are adopted by their parents each year in the United States. Unfortunately, many of these adoptions, entered into in haste, have caused unhappy children and foster parents alike.

To assist prospective adoptive parents, the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has just issued a revised booklet titled When You Adopt a Child. It can be obtained from the Government Printing office for 15 cents.

The booklet tells you how to find out where to go to seek an adoptive child, the reasons why people adopt children, some questions you should ask yourself before adoption, what you should know about the child you plan to adopt, how adoptions are handled, and many other helpful suggestions.

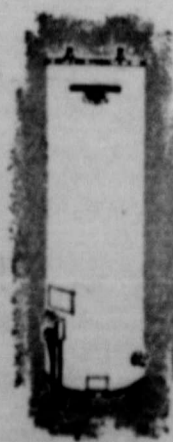

Perhaps the most sagacious observation in the entire pamphlet is contained in the introduction. It says: "Adoption is a serious business. It's a lasting pact. It may take a lot of what you call red tape, fuss, bother. And you're going to want it to take more, if it's needed to get you what you really want. Because we say adoption is lasting. It stretches beyond the cradle-days. It stretches through the years. It's a kind of road that you and the child travel all of your lives."

No self-respecting car washer would touch your car for less than $1.50... and more if it happens to have white sidewalls. But even at $1.50, it costs better than a hundred a year to keep it clean and shiny. And a hundred a year is far more than you pay your doctor... almost three times what you spend for medicines.

COTTON PICTURE: CHALLENGE FOR SURVIVAL
The man first set plow to fertile fallow ground of a century and a half ago, has reigned supreme as the state's top agricultural money-maker. Today, that position of cotton faces a challenge—not only for continued supremacy—but for actual survival as an agricultural mainstay.

This challenge to the cotton industry of Texas and the South boils down in final analysis to one critical point: Economic survival of the crop under today's heavy production costs. Competition from synthetics, threats of pest infestation and weather uncertainty are of minor concern when faced with the possibility of voluntary elimination of cotton as an economically unfeasible crop.

The responsibility for meeting this challenge has been placed squarely on the shoulders of the cotton farmer, for he alone can decide whether he can produce a cotton crop under today's pent-up costs and come out with a profit. He is under no obligation to anyone to undertake the tedious task of raising cotton, and if there is no money in it for him, he will switch to something else.

economic fact is that cotton is initially produced by the farmer for the benefit of the farmer and, of course, to provide fiber for consumer goods. Growth and profit of other facets of the cotton industry which follow the farmer are important, to be sure, but their growth and their profit are a by-product of the farmer's work, and they can not exist for any other purpose.

The price of the farmer's cotton bale today is more or less stabilized. But his expense involved in producing and getting it into the bale is not stabilized. Nowhere in our country has inflation become more real than in agricultural production costs, and no crop has been harder hit by inflated production costs than has cotton. If costs continue to rise at the present rate of increase, a cotton crop won't put a dollar into the farmer's jeans, and then no one else in the industry can hope for a dollar either.

While the Texas farmer's chances for an equitable profit from cotton production have lessened, he has at least been given a provisional opportunity to try his luck at coming out on a larger production volume. The change in acreage allotment rules allowing for increased cotton acreage under a lowered support price could possibly give cotton farming a boost in some areas where production is most economical such as in South, Central and West Texas.

This alternative to a higher support accompanying acreage is hailed by many farmers who are more willing to work uninhibited on a sizeable crop and to take their chances on getting a fair price. With the Soil Bank gone—and no one in Texas has expressed extreme regret at seeing it go—the prospect of increased or renewed production will likely bring to front the farmer's enterprising spirit to face even the challenge of production costs.

CUBA
The Harrison Flag is in favor of the acquisition of Cuba, not by purchase—for it thinks it is idle to talk about that—but by peaceable colonization. The Flag says:

"Let patriotic young men of our country emigrate peacefully with arms in their hands, let them expatriate themselves, and let our government support the Monroe Doctrine, and Cuba will be free—its present despotism and slavery will be things of the past."

For our young men to enter Cuba "with arms in their hands," for the avowed purpose of colonization, strikes me as being rather a singular mode of peaceful acquisition. The Spanish Dons, who are somewhat eccentric in their notions of things, might, in their simplicity, regard the entrance into their territory, of such pacific colonists, in martial array, in the pleasant light of a hostile

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: I will reach age 72 on August 6, 1959. Will my earnings for 1959 affect the number of checks I will receive?

Answer: If your earnings for 1959 are over $1200, you will be subject to the loss of one month's check for each $80 or fraction of $80 by which your earnings exceed $1200. However, you will not lose a check for any month in which you are age 72 or older, or in any month in which you neither earn over $100 as an employee or perform substantial services as a self-employed person.

Question: In 1958 I suffered a loss on my farm even though I sold over $1200 in farm products. Is it possible for me to obtain any social security credit for 1958?

Answer: If your gross farm income is more than $1800 and your net farm earnings are less than $1200, you may count as your net earnings from farming either your actual net earnings or $1200. The actual net earnings must be at least $400.

zens can do so with safety, they had better, probably suspend hostilities against the larks, which might become useful in the extermination of the above mentioned pests, of which they are very fond.

Mr. Taylor also states that much solicitude still exists in the country on account of the presence of mad dogs about Lampasas. We marvel what will come next.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

A card from Mrs. Edna Dwyer assures us that she is back at her home at Ebony. Now she will go to work on her flowers and her garden. The day she wrote (Tuesday) she had gone to Brownwood with Mrs. Cecil Egger and was spending part of the day with her friend, Mrs. Lena Crowder.

My sister, Mrs. Grace Bateman, writes me from Fort Worth that she has had "hosts" (apologies to William Wordsworth) of gorgeous daffodils this spring and that this seems to be a good year for bulbs all over town. When I taught at Locker—Oh, so long ago!—Mr. Kent was the principal. Grace was in his room. Only a curtain partitioned my room from his. For quite a while every afternoon he would have his English class repeat together Wordsworth's beautiful poem about The Daffodils. Ever since I have wanted a "host of daffodils." Once Grace wrote me that she had counted as many as 500 daffodils, all open at once, in her back yard, and they had all come from five bulbs. Not so with me. I plant them year after year and never yet have I had a host of them. But still I hope to someday produce my heart's desire—a host of golden daffodils.

Marilyn writes from Port Lavaca that she and Tommy have bought a home. Not new. Two years old, but just what they wanted. Three bedrooms, two baths, separate dining room, central heating and cooling system.

Ruth writes that her doctor has advised serious surgery for her and she must not wait till school is out. The date isn't definite yet, but she thinks it will be about March 31. Marilyn will come to stay the first two weeks. By that time I will likely be headed toward Beaumont.

Bill, together with other El Paso Western Auto managers, is scheduled to fly to Kansas City Sunday for a few days of conferences and consultations with the men at Headquarters.

Prejudice is an adult trait. It does not exist in the heart of a child. There are only two Negro children in Cooley School. When a third grade teacher saw that one of them was being enrolled in her room, her heart sank. She thought, "I know my children will resent this." But when they were all in the room together, and she was trying to decide on a seat for the newcomer, she found that all the children wanted him in their row.

El Paso's pigeons are making headlines. J. L. Pennington, former member of the California Fish and Game Commission, has offered his services free. He traps the birds with net wire coops and fisherman nets. By Wednesday he had captured an estimated 4,000. Wednesday night he captured 2,500 more. He gets the pigeons for his services. Thursday morning's paper said he had rented a 52-room downtown hotel for the pigeons and that they had heat, running water, and everything. But the evening paper stated that Mr. Pennington said he didn't know where the hotel idea came from. He has the use of two big down-town lofts and some rooms in an old house once used for a rooming house, but now designated as unfit for human habitation until proper improvements and alterations have been made. Thursday he was crating his 6,500 pigeons to be sent to a gathering corral he has leased at Montoyo west of El Paso.

Mr. Pennington said the pigeons would finally be transferred to the California Fish and Game Commission on a contract basis. Meanwhile city carpenters are working on a rush order of bigger and better traps to capture more El Paso pigeons.

Miss Gertrude Kauhs of Sweetwater spent several days with homefolks.

Mrs. R. H. Hannah of Junction spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Linkenhoger.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin, Texas—If you can't beat it, don't knock it.

That sentiment, in varying forms, is being expressed by legislators struggling to write tax bills to fill the yawning holes in the state's money supply.

People who come before the Legislature to oppose a money-raising proposal usually get a tart invitation to come up with a better one.

Opponents of a tobacco tax plan got short shrift before the House Committee. "If you come criticizing, don't you think you should come up with some solution to the tax problem?" asked Rep. H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock.

Similarly, anyone who comes to push a money-spending bill is challenged to produce a money-making bill to match it.

Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth drew cheers from fellow House members when he criticized the approach of a teachers' letter writing campaign. Gladden said the teachers had been instructed to ask for higher pay but make no statement on what taxes they would favor.

Rocky Road—Overall, the tax picture is still "all shook up."

Rep. Jamie Clements' bill to remove the tax exemption on cigarettes sold on military bases was sent by the House Taxation Committee to Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. Question to Wilson is whether the state can collect a tax from a federal agency.

A proposed liquor tax hike suddenly gained redoubled potency when the sponsor, Rep. Pete LaValle tacked on an amendment that would legalize liquor-by-the-drink sales. Gov. Daniel, who had urged the original bill, promptly protested. Bill was sent to subcommittee for study.

House Appropriations Committee apparently is taking note of the Tax Committee's rocky road. It is reportedly doing some painful paring of spending requests.

Wide Open Field—Meanwhile, many more "little tax" ideas are swirling about. Most apparently are aimed at avoiding deadlock over a new "big tax."

Rep. Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont introduced a bill to tax gross receipts of scrap metal sales, and Rep. W. T. Oliver, Port Neches, a five per cent gross receipts tax on advertising sold by newspapers, radio and TV stations and billboards. Oliver also is said to be considering taxes on phonograph records and parking lots.

Other possibilities being discussed are (1) a 1.5 per cent general sales tax, exempting food, feed and fertilizer, by Rep. Frates Seelgson of San Antonio, (2) an across-the-board increase in the omnibus tax system which includes almost all present levies, (3) a registration fee for airplanes, similar to auto licensing.

Rep. Homer Koliba of Columbus said he would prefer to raise money through legalized liquor-by-the-drink and horse racing, heavily taxed, than by a general sales tax.

High-Voltage Issue—House State Affairs Committee will take on a supercharge issue March 16—the long struggle between private utilities and REA co-ops.

REAs are seeking a law that would assure their being able to continue to operate in a one-rural area after it is annexed by a city. Under the measure sponsored by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, the co-ops could serve old customers and recruit new ones for a period of 10 years. After this, a municipal franchise would be required.

Private power companies, offering stiff opposition, say the non-tax-paying co-ops want to spread through the cities, socialize the power industry. Co-ops retort they are the ones being swallowed up—by spreading cities.

Re-Organization Asked—A bill has been introduced to reorganize the State Insurance Department, which was reorganized by the Legislature two years ago.

Rep. George Cook's measure would set up a part-time board of nine members "familiar with the insurance field."

Cook indicated the proposal was in answer to complaints that the present three-member board (1) does not represent industry and (2) serves full-time, contrary to "legislative intent."

Keeping The Sabbath—Sunday beer buying seems likely to continue, but not Sunday auto buying.

A bill to ban beer sales on Sunday and after 10 p. m. on weekdays has been sent to an unfriendly House subcommittee. A spokesman for "drys" irritated committee members from beer-drinking areas by implying use of beer "separated the saved from the unsaved."

Senate Transportation Committee approved the ban of Sunday auto sales, after dealers presented a solid front of support. Only opponents were representatives of Seventh Day Adventists, who observe Saturday as their day of worship.

College Expansion OKAYED—Elevation of two junior colleges—Arlington State and John Tarleton—to full four-year status has been approved by the House.

Economy advocates protested that "we have 16 fully supported state four-year colleges now—more than any other state." But supporters replied that no additional appropriation would be needed immediately.

"Little Hoover" Bill—Creation of a state commission to conduct an efficiency study—similar to the Hoover Commission for federal government—has gained House approval.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, sponsor, pointed out that the Hoover Commission resulted in a seven billion dollar savings in its first year.

Opponents protested the Cory commission would be just another money-spending state ag-

Sheep And Goat Raisers To Meet

Angelo (Spec.)—The second quarterly meeting of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association will be held in Abilene, Saturday, March 21, Lance T. Sears, TS&GRA President, of Abilene, has announced. This is the first time the association has met in Abilene, and we are looking for large attendance from that area. There are many sheep and goat men in the county and they have been very busy in the Taylor County Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association.

All the meetings will be at the Hotel. A change has been made in the meeting place, Sears added. Committees meet from 8:30 a. m. to 10 a. m. and the general meeting will be from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. or 1 p. m.

TS&GRA officers and committee chairmen will report on the activities since the annual convention. Ranch labor is expected to receive lots of attention, Sears said, and a complete report will be made of legislative activities in Austin where Association representatives have spent considerable time on a series of bills affecting animal health.

Lunch will also be served at the hotel to all who register for and attend the morning meetings.

"I want to urge all sheep and goat raisers in the Abilene area to attend this meeting. They are welcome," stated President Sears.

Sud Locklear of Eden made a short visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. Locklear, one night last week.

Miss Rachel Elder of Austin was a weekend visitor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Elder, and Don.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas — A possible shaft of light has pierced the murky tunnels of legislative tax study in the form of an "in-between" type money raising bill.

An omnibus tax measure introduced by Reps. R. L. Strickland of San Antonio and Wesley Roberts of Lamesa would tax a raft of things not previously hit, but avoid the label "general sales tax." It is regarded as a possible compromise between Gov. Price Daniel's tax program and Rep. Frates Seeligion's general sales tax, neither of which have attracted widespread support.

Strickland and Roberts estimate their proposal would raise from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000, an impressive sum even in the face of current huge needs.

New tax sources it would tap include sales of real estate, bonds, debentures, corporate stocks, transportation of persons and commodities, occupancy of a retail establishment, hotel and motel use, and trading stamps. It would increase the natural gas production tax and raise sales taxes on new cars, cosmetics, playing cards, radios and TV sets and raise taxes on telephone and telegraph companies.

"Strings" attached to the bill are that after the state deficit is paid off, the money raised could be used to provide school teachers a $600 a year raise, add $13,000,000 to higher education programs and $2,250,000 to the hospital program.

No Hurry—In terms of decisions, the tax program has made no dramatic forward strides.

Rep. Frates Seeligion of San Antonio, introduced his 1.5 per cent general sales tax measure. It would raise an estimated $67,000,000 annually earmarked for the school foundation program. Informal surveys indicate a majority of lawmakers pledged opposition to a general sales tax in their campaigns last summer.

Despite urging from Gov. Daniel, the House Tax Committee showed itself in no hurry to get out the bill that would raise corporation franchise taxes. Committee declined, on a 15-2 vote, to order a report from the subcommittee which holds the bill.

Part of the governor's plan was to get this bill passed in time to take effect May 1 so the added revenue from it could help offset this year's deficit.

Committee also agreed to allow more time to hear groups wishing to oppose a proposed trading stamp tax.

First Hurdle Cleared — Texas public school teachers won the first round in their campaign for an $800 a year pay raise.

Senate Committee voted favorably on the $107,800,000 public school improvement program recommended by the Hale-Aiken Committee. Teachers' raises would account for the bulk of the cost, about $80,000,000. Other items would include lengthening the school year to 180 days, increasing transportation allowances, programs for the academically gifted and for non-English speaking children, driver education, etc.

Some 3,000 teachers, plus many citizens from other walks of life, came to the Capitol in behalf of the bill.

Warm Issue—Another crowd-getter was the Senate hearing on the bill to reduce maximum working hours for firemen and policemen.

With feelings running high, the committee voted to send the bill to subcommittee for a week's study. Same bill was voted out favorably by the House Committee.

Texas Municipal League is strongly opposed to the measure which they say is about as palatable as having the federal government set wages and hours for Texas Highway Patrolmen. League's counter-measure would abolish state regulation of city firemen and policemen.

No Peace On The Trinity — State Board of Water Engineers is caught in the middle of a king-sized struggle over Trinity River water.

Houston asked the Board for a permit to construct a dam at Livingston and impound some 1,750,000 acre feet of water.

Trinity River Authority was joined by Dallas, Fort Worth and other Upper Trinity towns in howls of protest over Houston's "water-grabbing." TRA filed a petition asking that Houston's application be dismissed and also filed an application for the same permit Houston is seeking.

A hearing on Houston's application had been set for April 6, but the North Texans are asking for delay. Indications are that such a set-to between Texas' major cities probably cannot be settled for some time.

Higher Tuition Asked—Commission on Higher Education is recommending the Legislature adopt a new system of automatic tuition increases for state-supported colleges.

By the Commission's formula, tuition would be in proportion to the college's spending. If legislative appropriations to the college went up, so would tuition.

It was estimated the formula would raise present tuition for in-state students from $100 a year to about $125 to $137.50.

Many students protested that the hike would be an undue hardship on the 65 per cent who earn part or all of their college expenses.

Don't Stop Now—Gov. Daniel's Statewide Water Committee is asking the Legislature to restore proposed cuts in the Water Board Budget.

Governor Daniel told a meeting of the statewide water group that water development in Texas needs all the $1,700,000 asked by the Water Board. Legislative Budget Board recommended only $900,000.

Daniel said he felt more water planning had been accomplished in the past two years than ever before in the state's history. To cut back now, he said, would amount to "complete surrender" to federal control.

Hands Off Ladies' Bill—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson nimbly sidestepped efforts to get him to rule on the proposed equal rights for women amendment.

Senators had dodged the issue by asking for an attorney general's opinion on how the amendment would affect existing legislation concerning women. Wilson said the question was too general and that he didn't feel he should tell the Legislature what it should do.

Scout Leaders Training Conference In Breckenridge

First Junior Leaders Conference in the Comanche Trail in recent years will be held March 21 and 22 in Breckenridge. Object in the course of the training is to train boy-leaders with their Scoutmasters and Advisors in advance leadership methods. The leaders, both boy and adult, will receive instruction in almost every phase of Boy Scouting.

"This meeting in Breckenridge will be the first of a two-fold program to train the men and boys in patrol and troop operations. The second conference will be a camping experience and will teach scoutcraft and outdoor skills and will be held one month later.

Werner Berndorf of Breckenridge, the Conference Chairman, said that nearly 250 men and boys are expected to attend.

The classes and discussion groups will be held in the Junior High School with registration scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. on March 21. The faculty will include discussion leaders from Breckenridge.

At the conclusion of the meeting certificates will be awarded the participating Scouts and Scouters and at the conclusion of the second conference a colorful emblem will be presented each person completing the national course.

Accommodations for housing and dining have been arranged. James D. King of Brownwood, Chairman of the Leadership Training Committee for the Council urges all Scoutmasters and Explorer Leaders to register immediately for themselves and their boy leaders.

IN MYSTERY EXIT—Star in an unexplained disappearance act is Molly Ardrey (right), 22, show girl in a road house night club outside Pittsburg, where she had teamed with her sister, Sally (left). Police were told that Molly vanished after taking a cab from her motel to downtown Pittsburg. Sally became alarmed, because Molly had never been known to miss a show.

It's a long way from Texas to Michigan, but a story comes from the Canadian border that should make a few Texans shed tears. It is estimated that some 50,000 whitetail deer are facing starvation in that state, closed in by snow, and with insufficient feed for the terrific herds that have been built up.

Fortunately Texas has had no real cold weather during the past winter months. If we had, perhaps we'd have had a heavy loss, too. When we think of the work that has been done to produce 50,000 deer in any one state, and of the hunters who will be robbed of their right to harvest such animals, it is sickening.

This is just another reason why we must turn to our research programs and do everything possible to bring about the proper balance of nature.

The 50,000 dying deer are in the forests of Michigan. Snow has blanketed the low browse and there is nothing for the animals to eat. The same thing can happen easily in our own east Texas, but for another reason. In much of our forestry program in East Texas we have ignored the hardwoods, which furnish most of the food for the deer. They practically live on the acorns and browse. When we cut out the hardwood entirely, we are robbing posterity of the wildlife to which it is entitled.

Too few of us pay enough attention to the necessity of producing feed for the wildlife we expect to harvest. We had a typical example in several areas of Texas during the past winter. Thousands of quail literally starved to death. Not all of this can be blamed on the lack of feed. There was a tremendous increase in rat population, along with an increase in quail. The rats got to the food first and the quail perished.

All of which is a very good reminder that right now we should begin our program of providing more feed and cover for this year's quail crop. Fortunately many landowners have found that wildlife is a crop and can be harvested for profit. As a result they are putting in more habitat all the time to take up some of the loss we are getting in other areas.

Unfortunately in the process of civilization it is necessary to eliminate many natural resources. A bulldozer knocking down trees to provide for city streets can destroy more wild life habitat in a day than we are likely to build up in a year. Destroyed also are water holes, leaving no water for birds or animals to drink.

There is an opportunity this year for every landowner in Texas to do something about wildlife habitat and feed. If you don't know what to do, call in your game warden. He in turn can get biologists who can tell you just what to plant and where.

By doing this, we can have another bountiful quail crop. Perhaps another year the rats won't be so bad. We are making tremendous headway in killing them off. If we have plenty of food and cover for the quail we can have a bountiful harvest again in 1959.

From all indications there was a heavy carry-over of both doves and quail from the 1958 season. In some areas the birds perished, but this always happens when nature is not properly balanced.

If we have favorable weather conditions this spring, we will have another good crop of birds, providing we have the feed and cover for them.

One fellow recently said he plans to set aside one acre of millet, not too far from a well on his ranch. He thinks this acre will go a long way toward feeding the three coveys of quail left on his place.

Many other landowners will plant multiflora roses down their fence lines. They'll leave brush in the corners. Some will plant some extra grain sorghum to leave standing. Others will just do nothing. Those who do try to provide for their birds will find it a profitable business.

The Game & Fish Commission will operate its hatchery again this year, with a new brood stock of wild birds. These quail will be available for stocking purposes in areas where they are needed. The price again will be 50 cents per bird, which is about half the cost of producing them.

If you want some of these quail for restocking your place, write to the commission in Austin, or contact your local game warden.

While on the subject of birds, let us remind you that right now is a good time to kill off a lot of crows. During the past few weeks they've really been taking over. There isn't too much food for them right now, so they are destroying everything they can get their dirty beaks to.

Crow shooting is a real sport. You can pot them off with a rifle, or call them in shooting range for your shotgun.

Most landowners will be glad to give you permission to kill crows on their places. They may specify whether you can shoot a rifle on the place or not.

So many landowners now have valuable livestock they don't want killed that they will not permit rifle shooting. However, you can have as much fun shooting them with a shotgun. If you don't believe it, get an imitation owl and a crow call. Put that owl on a fence post and hide back in the brush and give a few calls. The crows will come in. That's a fine place to burn up a few of the shotgun shells you had left from last season.

Another interesting way to get crows is to shoot them at passes in the late evening, when they are headed for their roosts. You can kill them by the dozens and every crow you kill now will help to save quail eggs later in the season.

There are many conservation measures that can be put into practice by everyone. Those who have forests can leave some hardwood browse for the deer. Those who own farms can plant some feed and cover. And those who hunt can cooperate with the landowners, and have game for a long, long time.

Agricultural Conservation Practices Help Solve Mills County Problems

Farmers have solved many of Mills County's conservation problems through work they performed under the Agricultural Conservation Program on their individual farms, says Lee W. Tabor, office manager of the Mills County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

Under the 1958 ACP 230 farmers in the county carried out one or more conservation practices. These conservation practices protect the soil and water resources. In the county, the major conservation practices carried out under the 1958 ACP included tanks, terraces, wells cross-fences, control of brush and seeding perennial grasses and legumes.

Through the ACP Nationally, the government pays about half the cost of approved conservation practices. The farmers pay the other half.

Mr. Tabor states that the 1959

ACP in Mills County includes about the same practices; however, the maximum amount that each producer may earn has been increased from $1,000.00 to $1,500.00 per person. Farmers who want to carry out one or more practices under the 1959 ACP may request cost-sharing at the Mills ASC County Office in Goldthwaite.
