Facts About Brucellosis Control

By GEORGE G. REESE
County Agent

BRUCellosis—What is brucellosis? Brucellosis is a contagious disease of animals and man caused by a bacteria. In cattle, it has been called Bangs disease. It is sometimes referred to as undulant fever in man. In brief the Texas Brucellosis Law Provides: 75% of cattle owners, owning at least 51% of cattle as shown by tax rolls must petition to designate a county as control area. A control area may contain additional or less area, in reasonable amount, than that encompassed by county boundary. When Commission receives a petition it will issue a proclamation describing area and stating type of area, plus date regulation becomes effective. This date cannot be less than 90 days from issuing proclamation. A hearing will be held on each applying area at least 30 days after proclamation. Two types of Brucellosis control areas, petition must be specifically designate which type is being requested. In Type II areas the Commission will conduct the test and vaccination and enforce the rules and regulations. An area will be certified when not more than 1% of the cattle in 5% of the herds are found to be infected. Prohibiting the Commission from adopting regulations that would interfere with free movement of vaccinates under 30 months of age from unquarantined herds in this state. Penalties for anyone moving cattle into or within control area without permit, except owner can move cattle to contiguous pastures if not quarantined. Owners must submit cattle for test, vaccination, or identification or be subjected to penalty. Reactors must be fire branded letter "B." Indemnities shall not be paid. Appeals to Civil Courts if dissatisfied with rulings of Commission.

Present National Situation In Brucellosis Control
When the national brucellosis eradication campaign was started in 1934, the incidence of the disease in cattle was an appalling eleven per cent. Although the national incidence has been reduced to only one and six-tenths per cent, several areas have a much higher level of infection. It is estimated from current information that as a state average, Texas has above a six per cent rate of infection in all types of cattle. (East Texas has a much higher rate of infection than the Western part of Texas.)

On a national scale, brucellosis is moving at a rapid and accelerating rate. Fifteen states are currently recognized as Modified Brucellosis Free. At last count, fifty-three per cent of the counties in the United States are either certified, or on area control programs.

According to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, ninety per cent of all U. S. counties will be certified by 1960. Texas' 254 counties represent approximately seven per cent of the U. S. total.

SAFE-DRIVING TIPS FOR TEENAGERS—The National Safety Council describes a free booklet of safe-driving tips for teenagers, which is distributed by a leading American oil company and its marketing affiliates as one of the most important contributions to safety ever made.

The tips come from professionals—the state patrolman, the test track driver, the trucker. Here are some of them:

1. Don't show off or clown behind the wheel.
2. Have guts enough behind the wheel to chicken out when common sense tells you it's time to give in. Never mind who's right—Be smart—stay alive!
3. The public highways are for sharing, not competing.
4. The squeal of tires and roar of the exhaust may sound like hot stuff to a driver who needs it to build up his ego. But it tags him as strictly an amateur to the real pro.
5. The pro gives in to bad weather, bad roads, and traffic jams, and slows down.
6. Would your coach send in a player who has been drinking? Well, it goes double for driving. Remember — a half-loaded driver is more dangerous than a loaded gun.

Teenagers are involved in twice as many fatal accidents for the number of miles they drive as drivers over 25. This tragic and needless picture will change in a hurry if the young drivers will follow sound and simple tips like these.

PRICED OUT OF THE MARKET—Labor hurts itself by pressing for increases in the minimum wage.

That statement comes from a top authority—Lawrence C. Lockley, Dean of the School of Commerce of the University of Southern California. He expresses it in an interview published in the June issue of Nation's Business.

His point is that unrealistic wage pressure can cause workers to price themselves out of the job market. To quote directly: "In the first place, a minimum wage of any size will eliminate the lowest grade of workers."

"When they are sifted out because they can't earn a minimum wage, there appears to be no place for them to go."

"In the second place, the minimum wage inevitably adds price rigidity and makes it more difficult for management to adjust labor application to the best advantage."

"Therefore, labor itself ultimately suffers."

At the present time, it is proposed not only that the federal minimum wage be increased by 25%, but that the coverage be extended to large groups of workers, notably those in retailing, who have been exempt ever since the law came into being back in depression days. Should this effort succeed, retailers and others affected will have no choice save to pare marginal employment to the limit. Widespread unemployment among the unskilled would result—and these people would lose the opportunity to gain the experience necessary to qualify them for better jobs.

"BACK DOOR" TO THE TREASURY—In the view of Senator Byrd, who is certainly a top authority on the complex subject of government financing and spending, "nothing could be more fiscally irresponsible" at this time than an amendment which a Senate committee has tacked on to the pending foreign aid bill.

The effect of this amendment, if it becomes law, will be to by-pass the Appropriations Committee of Congress, and to obtain huge sums of foreign aid money by going through the "back door" to the Treasury. In other words, it would be entirely outside the normal appropriations process of the government.

In Senator Byrd's words: ". . . the proposal would directly increase the already astronomical federal debt of this country by $5 billion, at the rate of $1 billion a year for 5 years, to make foreign loans which 'do not qualify' for financing elsewhere."

The big issue here is not whether any particular foreign aid proposal is good or bad, or whether it should be approved or disapproved. The issue is whether—at a time when the President has found it necessary to ask for lifting the ceiling on an already unbelievably high federal debt — Congress is to irresponsibly abandon its duty of managing federal spending. This "back-door" precedent could pave the way to the kind and degree of inflation that would totally destroy the value of the dollar.

BEATING THE "SUMMER SLUMP"—An executive of a big department store recently had something to say about how retailers can move goods, particularly during the so-called "summer slump." He put it in a jingle:

- "Early to bed;
- "Early to rise;
- "Work like 'H';
- "And advertise."

Then he dealt with newspapers as an advertising media: "Newspaper circulation stays up in the summer. There is no appreciable change in the number of papers distributed, and this means that our advertising will get full readership and may even be more effective, because people are more relaxed and have more time to read."

No matter what the season—and in spite of the emergence of newer forms of advertising media—newspapers remain a prime vehicle for interesting people in goods and services and persuading them to buy. You can't beat the written word.

Nixon's Russian Trip Grows More Important | Presidential Ambitions Could Hang in Balance

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's forthcoming trip to Russia is growing greatly in importance as the accomplishments of the Geneva foreign ministers conference fade into nothingness.

There are some indications that the Russian leaders now look to Nixon's visit as a substitute for a summit meeting. Should the vice president undertake serious talks with the Soviet leaders, it undoubtedly would be looked upon as a diplomatic exchange at least somewhat above the foreign ministers level.

The prospect presents great opportunities for Nixon in furthering his political aspirations but there are also great dangers. If Nixon should produce some accommodation with the Communists in easing East-West tensions it would be hailed as a great achievement and enhance his stature in foreign policy matters.

However, an effort culminating in failure would be a serious blow to his prestige and his presidential ambitions.

There is the danger, too, that such two power talks would serve the Russian objective of splitting the Allies. In the past the United States has flatly rejected all Soviet efforts to set up talks which did not include representation by the other Allied powers.

Increasing importance of the Nixon trip already is having an effect. A large number of American news correspondents are being assigned to cover his travels than had been anticipated originally. As a result, Nixon's Russian trip will be the most completely covered of all his foreign tours.

● SUMMER TAX TROUBLES—With the advent of the summer vacation season, the Internal Revenue service has given notice that it will scrutinize personal tax returns closely to make sure that holiday travel is not deducted as a business expense.

A few years ago, IRS wanted to embark on a program to track down on expense account living, but the howl raised in Congress forced it to back off. However, IRS still feels that some business executives are doing a lot of "chiseling" on expense accounts, inflating personal travel, hotels and meals as business expenses while they really are vacations.

This year IRS plans to take a really close look at tax deductions for such items as beach cottages, club dues, yachts, airplane trips and the uses of company-owned cars.

The revenue loss to the government is not great, but IRS feels these loopholes must be checked "in fairness to the vast majority of citizens who pay every penny of their tax liability."

● THE ELUSIVE BEAR—A 250-pound, 6-foot black bear has been terrorizing Washington suburbs for weeks. At times literally hundreds of policemen and more than a thousand civilians have joined in the hunt or to watch the spectacle. However, the bear always has escaped.

A black bear of that size is considered a real threat to human beings, particularly when cornered. Nonetheless, humane societies have been urging that the bear be caught alive and turned over to the zoo. Officials of some surrounding counties have been reminded that state laws prohibit killing the bear, but police privately have planned to defend themselves with their weapons.

The other night a bear answering the description of the Washington marauder was cornered and killed in neighboring Baltimore. It was an all-night hunt by scores of policemen before the animal was shot.

Washington police believe it was their bear on the assumption that two such similar creatures would not be rampant in the area at the same time. At least, they hope so.

The annual reunion of the families of the late Jack and Sarah Locklear which is held each year at the Richards Park in Brady was held this past weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Locklear of Voca. TEN THOUSAND DEATHS BUT NOT A SINGLE TEAR

Very important to house keepers and gardeners. There is not a garden but can be preserved from the ravages of insects, or a house that cannot be cleansed of all vermin pests, by Lyon's Magnetic Powder. One dollar invested will save fifty in profit and pleasure. It is the powdered leaf of a plant, discovered by E. Lyon, a French botanist, in the interior of Asia. It kills all garden worms, bed-bugs, ants, ticks, fleas, moths, etc. It is entirely free from poison, and harmless to mankind and domestic animals. The government and societies of Europe have liberally rewarded Mr. Lyon. It can be ordered through any merchant.

AIR CONDITIONING MOVES TO BARN AND GREENHOUSE

What's new in the animal kingdom? Animal air conditioning, that's what!

Researchers have taken one of mankind's greatest boons to comfort and have begun cooling plants and animals for greater profit.

It has been a known fact for many years that the hot Texas summers slow growth and production rates of farm animals. But the difference in just a few degrees of temperature will mean a more rapid growth rate which increases farm income.

According to preliminary research studies, hens kept in cool chicken houses not only lay larger, tougher eggs but they also produce up to twice as many. In addition, a "heat struck" hen may consume up to 4 pounds of feed in her efforts to produce a dozen eggs. But when kept cool and comfortable, the hen needs only about 2.66 pounds of feed per dozen.

The air conditioned chicken house also increases flock production. Eight per cent more of the setting hens' eggs hatch in a cool house. Chick mortality falls and the house itself can accommodate 15% more chickens comfortably, reports show.

Pigs and cattle respond equally well to cooler quarters in the summertime. If pigs are kept at 70 degrees, they reach a marketable weight in one-fourth the time needed at 90 degrees. And they consume a total of only one-third as much food.

When cattle are kept cool, they gain up to half-pound milk, according to research tests.

Air conditioning trials in greenhouses reveal that plants respond equally well. Plants need light, air, water and heat for growth—but in correct proportion. The blazing Texas heat often retards plants in the hottest months.

Cooling greenhouses thus can double the growing rates of marketable flowers and vegetables, researchers claim.

The experiments have been conducted by the American Society of Heating and Air Conditioning Engineers. The organization is developing systems for cooling farm buildings for an operating cost of under $5 per month which would require investments of under $500.

The once small sleeping porch with only ducking curtains for accommodation, has now become a large, roomy den, suitable for any occasion. All walls inside the house have been sheetrocked and tinted, and Mrs. Reeves is an artist when it comes to selecting her tints. You should see her pink and gray kitchen. The old divan has gone into the den, and a beautiful new hide-a-bed is in the living room. We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Reeves on their beautiful remodeled home.

Mrs. Stanley Reeves had also given us eggs, and every time we pass Mrs. Effie Egger's she loads us down with milk and peaches and tomatoes, etc. Our children had been disappointed that they did not get to go to the river more. Don't delay! Check your machinery, equipment, yard and buildings today! Remove all hazards and make all necessary repairs! Keep fire fighting equipment handy! Make it a rule to do everything the "safe" way!

All of us have a tendency to go to a distant spot to fish. When we get in our boats we rush across to the other side of the lake, knowing full well that fishing might be just as good right where we put in.

The same is true when we head for the coast. We seem to think that the farther away we go, the better fishing will be. Certainly I would not want to take anything away from the southern tip of Texas, or for that matter, from the mouth of the Sabine.

In fact I go there myself and enjoy every minute of it. On the other hand, I had occasion recently to take a comparatively short drive from my Austin home, so I did a little fishing on Copano Bay. We put in first at Glenn's bait house at the south end of the bridge near Bayside.

Next day we joined with Pat Autrey, who also runs a motel at Bayside. At Glenn's we fished with J. D. Derrough, who has been working those waters for a number of years. He knows where all the reefs are, and what hits around them.

He took us out to some of these reefs at night, to fish by one of the flares from an oil well out in Copano. On this particular night the flare had been extinguished. But when the flare is burning, dozens of boats go there every night and load up on trout.

J. D. is a bait fisherman. He doesn't care particularly for live shrimp, and says he has much better luck with frozen bait. Personally, we like a good live, frisky shrimp, but after all, we can't catch them as well as he can, so perhaps he has a point. One thing for sure, he's there where he can have all of either kind he needs, and he prefers 'em frozen.

From Autrey's place we took a look at the new bird island sanctuary planned by the Copano Club, headed by Dr. J. D. Bauer of Refugio. There we saw hundreds of shore birds making their summer homes. We saw eggs, baby birds and grandparents. There were big roseate spoonbills, egrets and herons by the hundreds.

They were nesting in the scrub oak trees that cover this shell island. They brought in food for the baby birds from the surrounding wet lands.

This island, built of shell and

Can You Stop In Time?

It takes more than the distance between goal posts on a football field (100 yards) to stop a car traveling at 60 miles per hour under the best driving conditions. 4-H Club members point out. At 60 mph, a car travels 88 feet per second. There's not much "time" to come to a dead stop upon approaching a tractor or other slow-moving farm machinery.

"Highway safety is everyone's responsibility," 4-H leaders declare, and during the summer when traffic is at its peak the obligation becomes greater. The devastating fact that three out of four traffic fatalities occur in rural areas makes the 4-H Safety program the "number one crop" for nearly a million conscientious club members.

Statistics reveal that there are more teen-age drivers on the highways today than ever before.

It is also true that drivers under 20 years of age have a worse safety record than older drivers.

So each 4-H boy and girl enrolled in the safety project is encouraged to become a "self-policing committee of one." These 4-Hers make certain that the family car, truck, and tractor are in safe operating condition at all times.

For the past 15 years the 4-H Safety program has been supported nationally by General Motors, which among other things provides incentive awards for top ranking club members in each state. The awards consist of $400 college scholarships, all-expense paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, medals of honor, and plaques. The program is under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

thick with brush, is at the mouth of Mission Bay. The area is a wonderful spot for red fish. We caught several small ones and saw a number of large ones. Both Derrough and Autrey say that real red fishing period in Mission Bay begins in October. Anyway, they're sold me and I plan to get back there in October.

There are other nearby spots on the Texas coast which also have been overlooked by many fishermen. They include Bay City, Palacios, Port Lavaca and Port Aransas. Incidentally, Port Aransas now has another modern motel. It is the Paradise Isle, managed by W. C. Price, who formerly lived in Dallas. It is modern in every respect.

with refrigerated air conditioning, TV and a radio with a marine band so you can listen to boatmen talking to one another.

Such places as the Paradise Isle motel are badly needed all along the coast. For many years accommodations on the coast were geared to fishermen only. Groups of men usually went there, hired a boat and didn't spend too much time in their cabins. They weren't particularly interested in comfort.

Now times have changed. Families go to the coast today and trail their own boats. They want a swimming pool for the kiddies as well as comfortable rooms and good eating places.

They launch their own boats, with a pair of 35 horsepower motors and the whole family goes fishing or boat riding. Some of the boat owners don't fish. They like to ride around and look at the islands and the birds, or just leisurely play around.

As a result, business has picked up even for the commercial boatmen, who find they still have about all the customers they can care for.

Right now most of the fishing on the coast is for kings, mackerel and trout. Of course, there are those who want the fighting bill fish or the big tarpon.

If you are just looking for tonnage, then go out for snapper. Raymond Muchowich, who operates the Party Boats at Freeport, says the hot weather hasn't affected deep sea fishing and that every day fishermen going out from Freeport come in with huge loads of red snapper and quite a few ling.

This is a trip that can give you more thrills and make you as tired as you've ever been in your life. You hook that big snapper down on the bottom, at about 150 feet. Then you hoist him to the top and over the side of the boat. By the time you've landed your third one you feel you have had enough punishment — but you can't quit. It's hard work — but it's fun, too!

Party boats leave the docks at 2 a. m. Some of the fishermen sleep on the way out. They are fortunate because they don't get quite so tired. Those who stay awake enroute to the banks and then catch a tub full of fish, usually are very quiet when the boat starts back in about noon. They are plenty tired, and usually are ready to "hit the sack."

Yes sir, the Texas coast is an ideal place to take your family for this year's vacation if you haven't already had one. Or you can run down there for a couple of days at the weekend. It is worth the trip whether you fish or not. And it's worth a lot more if you fish.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

One of the busiest locations in Washington is 815 16th St. N. W., for here is headquartered an organization named COPE. It is indeed an organization the nation must learn to cope with.

In fact, the activity of this organization set up three years ago is the principal reason why Congressional leaders are constantly impugning independent businessmen, and all who believe in the free enterprise system to take a more active interest in government.

COPE stands for Committee on Political Education set up by the AFL-CIO. It also stands for the complete domination of the nation's governmental life.

According to the best estimates, in this country, out of a working force of some 58 million, there are only 17 million union members. Deduct those members who are only members by compulsion and the figure might get down as low as the reputed 3 million party members who run 220 million Russians.

In COPE's large and well staffed headquarters, there is constant activity financed by "voluntary" contributions by the nation's 17 million union members.

Detailed maps of voting precincts all over the country are maintained in COPE headquarters in Washington. In fact, these maps are so comprehensive individual houses are marked out.

As a further refinement, the economic interests and status of the family occupying each house are roughly defined. Thus, a dark line is drawn across all houses where a Cadillac is owned, a light line where certain other types of cars are owned.

But if a family is buying a washing machine on time, and COPE gets this sort of information, that home in due course is bound to be called on by a member of COPE's nationwide task force, usually organized on a local basis by leaders trained in Washington.

Here then, starts the local agitation to convince the susceptible that their best interests lie in talking, acting and thinking just like Big Brother COPE wants them to respond.

There has probably never been a better organized, a more minutely set-up operation in all history for the purpose of a minority taking over government without armed revolution.

And as the investigations by Sen. McClellan and Sen. Kennedy bring out more about certain gangster type operations going on in some labor circles, the more active COPE becomes.

Tough minded, shrewd, heavily financed, and with a definite goal in mind, COPE in three short years has become one of the most powerful operations in the nation.

Thus, labor moves on unchecked, despite public disgust with the Becks, the Hoffas and the rest of that crew.

Only strong and effective organization on broad front will prevent that minority that is organized labor from becoming the master. Free enterprise will not long remain free unless it learns to cope with COPE.

Larger Crop Of Whitewings Seen For Fall

Austin, (Spec.) — The 1959 white-winged dove breeding population has been estimated to be 38 per cent greater than in 1958, according to the Director of Wildlife Restoration, Texas Game and Fish Commission. A census conducted June 11-20, in the Rio Grande Valley, indicates the breeding population for the State this year is about 338,000 birds.

Based on findings of previous years, existing breeders usually reproduce a number equal to the number of breeding birds. This means that around 676,000 whitewings are possible for the fall hunting season.

A maximum kill of around 180,000 birds may be expected if a hunting season is ordered. This would include the usual 20 per cent loss of cripples and would leave a carryover of approximately 496,000 birds for potential breeding population for 1960.

Based on the recent census and other findings, it has been recommended to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in Washington that there be a mid-September three half-day open season on whitewings of alternate days. It has also been suggested that the bag limit be 10 white-winged or mourning doves, or 10 white-winged and mourning doves in the aggregate, with shooting hours from 2 p. m. to sunset.

A final ruling on the date and limit of the white-winged dove hunt will be decided at the next Commission meeting scheduled Friday, July 24.

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: I plan to move soon and find that some magazines to which I subscribe require two months notice to change my address. How early should I send notice to have my address changed for my social security checks?

Answer: If your change of address card is received by the Social Security Administration by the 15th of the month, the check issued on the 3rd of the following month will be delivered to the new address. Use the postal card given you at the time you filed your claim, or get one from your social security office. Be sure to show your name, claim number, new address, and sign card.

Question: I understand a person must be age 50 to receive cash disability benefits. How old does his wife have to be?

Answer: The age of the wife does not matter if she has in her care children who are entitled to benefits. If there are no such children, the wife must be at least age 62.

You've got more to go on than our say-so: Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED says it this way: "... surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." And if you want the thrift of a six, you still get the best of it in a Chevy.

BEST ECONOMY No doubt about this! a pair of Chevy sixes with Powerglide came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon.

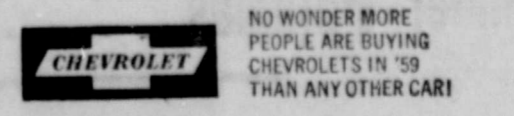

BEST BRAKES Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST RIDE A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

BEST TRADE-IN Check the figures in any N.A.D.A. Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST ROOM Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST STYLE It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas — Texas' 56th Legislature fizzled to the end of its third session and 180th day with its main job—providing money to run state government — still undone.

Gov. Price Daniel called a fourth session to begin just hours after the last one ended. House members repeatedly voted down tax bills presented by joint conference committees of senators and representatives. Senate voted favorably each time.

First House rejection was by a vote of 81-to-64. This was on a bill to tax tobacco, natural gas production, corporation franchises, utilities, motor vehicles, liquor, wine, boats, motors, airplanes, radios, TVs, phonographs, cameras and liquor by the drink in private clubs.

Speaker Waggoner Carr named a new House conference group composed of members who had voted against the bill. They met with the same Senate conferees that had worked twice before.

Only change in the new report was that the private club tax was cut out and the radio and TV tax slightly increased.

House rejected it again, this time 83-to-66.

More conferences and more votes followed in the final frantic hours. All futile! none made any apparent progress toward compromising the basic bone of contention, whether to tax gas pipelines. House favors this "severance beneficiary" tax by a narrow margin. Senate is flatly against.

Along with his new call, Governor Daniel issued a sober warning: "Unless a tax bill is passed and effective (requiring a two-thirds vote) by Aug. 15, there won't be time or money to get Sept. 1 checks to 225,000 old age pensioners."

Carr Foes Back Down—During the tense, short-tempered days in the wind-up of the last session, Speaker Waggoner Carr was, for a short time, the target for pent-up frustrations and pressure.

Carr had worked to get the House to accept the Senate-passed tax bill. When the House turned the bill down, Carr said that "obstructionists" had defeated it.

This was a red flag to members already sensitive to public criticism of a "do-nothing" Legislature. For several days they simmered. They accused Carr of trying to thwart the will of a House majority, talked of voting him out of the speakership. In a dramatic showdown, Carr stepped down from the rostrum and challenged his critics to remove him if they thought it would make things any better.

Nobody accepted his dare. A few minutes later, on motion of Rep. Joe Burkett, the man Carr defeated for the speakership, Carr was escorted back to the speaker's chair.

And the wearying legislative battle began again.

Student Fee Bill Okayed — A bill to require state college students to pay an activity fee passed both houses by very narrow margin.

FALLOUT SHELTERS are the best way for rural Americans to protect themselves from a massive nuclear attack which could unleash dangerous radioactive fallout throughout the country. Some of the shelters recommended by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization are not as elaborate as this one, which includes an auxiliary generator and an electric air filtering and ventilating system. However, all recommended shelters should include the basic features shown here—a place to sleep; food, water and medical supplies, and at least eight inches of concrete or an equal weight of other materials for shielding the shelter against fallout. IN THIS NUCLEAR AGE CD's a Vital Part of Farm Safety

Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Leo A. Hoegh in a Farm Safety Week statement urges farmers to accept Rural Civil Defense as a vital part of farm safety in this nuclear age.

Mr. Hoegh pointed out that fallout from nuclear attack on key military, metropolitan and industrial centers could cover hundreds of thousands of square miles of the United States.

"EVERY FARM family, no matter how remote it may be from a target," he said, "should build a family fallout shelter and stock it properly. This means providing a two-week supply of food and water, a battery radio, a first-aid kit, flashlights, bedding and other items that would be essential to your survival."

Mr. Hoegh said Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, serves to remind farmers of the need to recognize and support the objectives of the Farm Division of the National Safety Council.

He said: "This nation cannot survive and recover from attack without its farmers. Rural America has always carried a heavy burden in times of national emergency. In this nuclear age, it is more important than ever before."

Mr. Hoegh pointed out that fallout is one menace of thermonuclear attack against which simple protective measures can be taken.

"It need not kill," he said. "It is up to you to take action. Nobody can do it for you, any more than they can ship you a packaged civil defense from a factory."

"SURVIVAL WILL always be a personal thing. What you know and do will determine whether you—and your family—will live to help the nation survive."

Director Hoegh said free plans and designs for various shelters can be obtained by writing to OCDM Rural Civil Defense, Battle Creek, Mich.

leges to charge students up to $30 a semester to support health services, book rentals, cultural and athletic events, campus publications, parking, etc.

Any college may exempt from the fee up to 10 per cent of its enrollment in cases where the charge would cause "undue financial hardship."

Bill was hard-fought. Opponents declared it would make "free public education" available only to the rich. Backers said the colleges had to have more money. It was estimated the bill could bring in as much as an extra $1,000,000 a year.

Beach Bill Passes — Both houses passed and sent to the governor a bill guaranteeing public access to state-owned beaches.

It took a conference committee to work out the differences between House and Senate ideas on the bill.

As finally passed, the bill says the public shall have the right to come and go from public beaches. No one, it says, shall erect a fence or barrier to prevent this.

Beaches that cannot be reached by public road or ferry are exempt.

Wait, Young Lovers—Governor Daniel's expected signature on a newly passed bill will put a damper on the elopement plans of Texas teen-agers.

It will require boys under 21 and girls under 18 to wait three days after obtaining a license to get married. Also, to get the license, the youngsters must be accompanied by parents or guardians.

Some lawmakers said it would mean more running across the state line to marry. However, Oklahoma recently passed a similar law.

Need Money First—Amid the legislative tax deadlock, the Commission on Higher Education decided to stop studying new money-spending programs until there's money to spend.

Commission's job is to determine needs of the state's colleges and universities and make recommendations to the Legislature. Expanded programs and new degrees are being sought by many schools. But when the Commission met, there was no money in sight even to open the schools next fall, let alone expand them.

Commission resolved to "approve no programs which entail additional expenditures until such time as monies are provided for the programs and offerings already in existence."

Oil Quota Kept Down—Texas oil allowance will be held down to nine producing days again for August.

Railroad Commission ordered the same production as for July—2,700,164 barrels a day on a nine-day schedule.

Major oil purchasing companies and independent producers were virtually agreed that production must be kept low to reduce excessive stocks.
