STOCK SHOW TIME—Here it is, another year has gone by and time again for the annual Mills County stock show.

The show will be held at the show barns this Friday and Saturday and if the weatherman smiles in our favor we should have a good turn out as well as a good show.

Club boys and girls have been working on their projects for the past year, as they do every year, getting things ready for this big annual county show.

Much credit goes to the club members, their parents, and their leaders, the county agent and ag teachers of the four county schools, for their efforts.

Last year our county show was held earlier. It was between Christmas and New Year holidays. It was one of those years that come along once in a while when Old Man Winter really gets rough.

There was rain, cold, sleet and a little ice before the two day show was over. We had good attendance, though, even if it was cold.

Since we had a good cold spell the week before the show this year maybe the weather will play in our favor and we will have some nice sunshine and warm weather for the two day event.

At any rate, regardless of weather, see you at the stock show in Goldthwaite Friday and Saturday. ☆ ☆ ☆

TAKING TURNS—A woman waiting at the door and ready to go to the store had her arms full of coats. Her four small children surrounding her.

The husband came down the stairs and demanded to know why she was standing in the entry.

"Well, Fred," she replied sweetly, "this time I want you to put the children's coats on. I'll go out to the car and honk the horn." ☆ ☆ ☆

MORE HOSPITAL ROOMS—This is something to start thinking about.

It has been less than a year since the new Childress Clinic and Hospital was formally opened in Goldthwaite.

It is interesting to learn from Dr. Childress and his staff that from all indications we are now in need of more hospital rooms and more beds.

There have been times during the eight or nine months of operations when they had plenty of beds to take care of the needs.

On many, many other occasions they have had as high as 15 patients in what was originally termed a 10 bed hospital.

There have been times during this short period when patients that needed hospitalization had to be turned away, so to speak, because there were no beds available.

All this points in the general direction that the hospital needs to be enlarged. A wing, or extension, with 10, 12 or 15 bed capacity is needed.

The hospital was planned and constructed with that in mind and it wouldn't be too big a problem of adding this wing.

I am happy to report that Dr. Childress is starting to make plans for this addition to the hospital. He came in one day last week and got some large sheets of paper to start sketches for the proposed addition.

It will take time to do this planning. All good programs take time and planning, but, it is a start. Let's give it a little encouragement. ☆ ☆ ☆

FARMERS' FLIGHT TO BE BIG ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN | COST-PRICE SQUEEZE IS DUE TO BE WORSE IN '60

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Washington Writer

WASHINGTON — The plight of the nation's farmers was brought home forcefully the other day when the Agriculture department announced that prices received by farmers for crops and livestock have fallen to a 19-year low.
The figure is based on the "parity" formula under which the prices farmers get for their products are related to the prices they have to pay for the things they need.
Thus, while the dollar figure for their products may be higher, the dollars they pay out for goods and services is proportionally much higher.
What's more, the farmers' cost-price squeeze is no temporary thing. The forecast is that this situation will continue and worsen in the coming crop year.
The increasingly acute farm crisis is not generally realized in the large cities and industrial centers of the country where the much closer economic problems of "labor" and "production" receive a lot of attention.
But it is a fact of political life that the next President of the United States probably will be chosen on the basis of the farm issue more than any other single factor.
Politicians know this and leaders of both political parties are casting about for a way out of the dilemma. Right now, Democrats are the principal beneficiaries of the farmers' discontent, primarily because they are out of power at the federal government level.
However, it is not as simple as that. Farmers as a bloc are better acquainted with the policies of the two political parties and their representatives than any other group. The Democrats cannot hope to benefit politically by simply opposing Republican solutions: they must produce something constructive of their own.

● NIXON-ROCKEFELLER COMPROMISE? — A news story which appeared inspired reported that Leonard W. Hall, former Republican national committee chairman who has been working for Richard M. Nixon's presidential nomination, would not be named Nixon's campaign manager.
A Nixon spokesman promptly replied that Hall was Nixon's "number one guy." Hall was defeated by Nelson Rockefeller in his efforts to win the New York GOP gubernatorial nomination in 1958, and has been cast in the role of a bitter Rockefeller adversary ever since.
There is reason to believe that Nixon forces have advised against naming Hall to any top spot in the vice president's political organization for fear of incurring wrath.
Behind this reluctance is the obvious hope that Rockefeller might yet withdraw from the presidential sweepstakes and accept second place on the GOP ticket. Nixon forces honestly believe this to be the best solution and the one most likely to result in a Republican political victory in November, 1960.

● BENSON FOR ROCKEFELLER?—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has indicated to some close friends that he favors Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination.
Benson Hasn't Forgotten
His reasons are not given, but some observers believe he resents Vice President Nixon's lack of support for the Republican farm program or Benson's program.
At a time when Benson was under sharp attack on Capitol Hill, Nixon reportedly raised with President Eisenhower the matter of removing Benson from the Cabinet. The President declined to do this, but Benson has never forgotten the incident.

COLDS COMMON IN YOUR FAMILY???

Are colds common in your family? If so, check your daily menus to be sure you are including some foods rich in vitamins A and C.

Both these vitamins are effective in preventing the invasion of cold germs. That's because they help the linings of the nasal passages resist bacterial invasion. These two vitamins, plus general good nutrition, help provide resistance to all types of bacterial infections, not just colds.

There are other benefits, too. Vitamin A improves the eyes' ability to adjust to light and dark; lack of it causes "night blindness." Children need vitamin A for optimum growth, and vitamin C for proper tooth formation and speedy healing of wounds and burns.

Good sources of the vitamins are dark green leafy and yellow vegetables, citrus fruits, tomatoes, raw cabbage, and milk, butter, eggs, cheese, cantaloupes, strawberries and potatoes.

BETTER LIVING POSSIBLE FOR TEXAS FAMILIES

Making more money is not the only road to better living. Many families in Texas are living better because they are keeping better records and being more realistic in their planning. Families are finding that the smaller the income the more important it is to plan carefully and manage well. Certain common human requirements determine the "floor" for a living which all families hope to maintain. These requirements include: provision for health and growth of the children, some goods to enable the family to live as others, facilities for educational and recreational expression, and some provisions for the future in savings and investments.

Families place their own "ceiling" to their wants by taking a realistic look at the resources they have of income, health, abilities, skills, knowledge, time and energy. When family members share in this planning and management, spending is much more likely to be based on the needs and interest of the family as a whole. It does away with the business of trying to keep up with the "Joneses."

MONEY—FAMILY STYLE, an extension bulletin, contains ideas and suggestions for family financial planning. Copies are available at my office.

Did you ever stop to consider the economic value of hunting and fishing in Texas?

Some people think of these two great outdoor sports as significant only to tourist courts, camp operators, marine services, and similar businesses located along the coast or near our lakes and streams.

Not so. It doesn't matter where you live, if you are in business you'll benefit, as some of the two hundred million dollars that hunters and fishermen spend in Texas every year comes to you, directly. Maybe you've got a business statistics expert handy who can tell you, offhand, the indirect benefits.

I didn't pick that two hundred million dollar figure out of the air. A few years ago the Texas Game and Fish Commission employed the Crossley pollsters to make a survey. It showed that the total expenditures for hunting and fishing in Texas was $165,054,000. That was in 1955. This total has increased by thirty-five million dollars, or more, since that time.

If the total figure doesn't impress you, consider this fact. Texans spend twice as much money to hunt and fish as they do for admission to all football, baseball, and basketball games, all other spectator sports, all movies and all other stage attractions combined. I mean the sum total of all of them!

Research also reveals that the hunting and fishing bill of Texans is greater than the total amount spent for medical care, plus dental care, plus hospitalization insurance.

There is another interesting fact. . . . 27% of all Texans twelve years age or older go fishing or hunting every year. The biggest group is fishermen—15%.

Here's how the angler's dollar was spent: 65c for the trip; 1.2c miscellaneous; 32.6c for equipment; and 1.2c for licenses. The hunter's dollar went like this: 35c for the trip; 15.5c for miscellaneous; 45c for equipment; and 4.5c for licenses.

Take your town — any town. In every other household there is at least one hunter or fisherman, or both. When these men and women start for the outdoors, they must have supplies, food, clothing, equipment, gasoline, and many other necessities, for the trip.

Your town may be far from the river, lake, or coast, but there are hunters and fishermen in your town, by the hundreds. Not only that, but other hunters and fishermen pass through your town on the highway. They eat at the cafes.

4-H Winners In '59 Projects

Two 1959 project winning boys from Texas, both 17, attended the 38th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

They were G. C. Dean Jr. of Bishop, dairy project winner whose Chicago trip was provided by the Oliver Corporation, and Herky Killingsworth of Paducah, the state's best on 4-H entomology projects, who went to Chicago as guest of Hercules Powder Company.

Both have completed their 4-H work under direction of the Cooperative Extension Service. In eight years of club work Dean has earned nine trophies and 100 ribbons, including a number of grand and reserve championships.

Young Dean has fulfilled a dream of becoming president of the Bishop 4-H Club. He is a senior at Bishop High school.

Through his 4-H study young Killingsworth has become the Lone Star state's outstanding 4-H entomologist for 1959. He has done valuable work along this line for the Texas A & M College system. For two years he was a member of the winning Cottle county entomology team, placing fourth this year at the State Round-Up.

A junior at Paducah High school, Killingsworth has organized and is junior leader of an entomology club for younger girls and boys.

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: I have heard various individuals talk about the optional method for reporting farm income. Can you explain this optional method?

Answer: A self-employed farmer whose gross income is $600 to $1800 may report for social security purposes two-thirds of his gross income. If his gross profit is over $1800 and his actual net profit is less than $1200, he may still report the actual net profit or $1200. If his gross profit is over $1800 and his net profit is over $1200, then he must report the actual net profit as the option is not applicable.

Question: I understand that I do not have to pay any social security tax if the net profit on my farm is less than $400 a year. Would it be of any benefit to me to elect to report under the optional method since my gross profit is more than $600?

Answer: It could be of benefit to you in two different ways. salt water fish, at the same time.

Serious hunters make theirs a year-round sport too. When it is out of season for some species, they may go for rabbits, squirrels, crows, or varmints. They may unlimber the gun for a little trap shooting, or they may take the trusty twenty-two rifle out for a bit of target practice.

Hunting and fishing are high on the list of attractions that lure tourists to Texas.

Our hunting is excellent. We can point with pride to the Hill Country deer and turkey; to our fine dove and quail shooting; and to the duck and geese hunting along the coast.

Our fishing is unsurpassed. "They bite every day" on the coast — is no exaggeration. In our lakes, rivers, streams, and farm ponds, there are unlimited bass, crappie, bream and catfish.

Summing it up — Texas has hunting and fishing resources galore — economic values that hardly have been touched.

First, by using the optional method, you may receive credit for additional quarters of coverage that you may need in order to be eligible for benefits, and second, the benefits payable to you may be higher if you elect to use the optional method.

Miss Frances Jeanette Fisher And Billy Joe Benningfield Repeat Vows

Miss Frances Jeanette Fisher and Billy Joe Benningfield exchanged wedding vows Friday evening, December 18, in Coggin Avenue Baptist Church, Brownwood, at 8 o'clock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Fisher of 1618 Second Street, Brownwood and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Benningfield of Goldthwaite.

Dr. H. H. Hargrove performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with white mums, gladioli, palms and wedding bells.

Mrs. W. J. Becktold presented traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Jo Layne Hill as she sang "Because" and "Always."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length dress of nylon Chantilly lace and taffeta highlighted by a jacket designed with a pointed stand-up collar, fitted sleeves tapering to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt was tiers of lace over taffeta and net. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls and pearl earrings.

Her finger-tip veil of nylon net was attached to a pearl band of orange blossoms. She carried an orchid atop a white prayer book, showered with streamers tied in love knots with feathered carnations.

Mrs. Monette Grinstead was matron of honor and Nancy Chessner and Kay Benningfield, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They wore red polished cotton sheath dresses with nylon organza overskirts, white hats of velvet tubing and flowers and white gloves. Mrs. Grinstead's dress was pink. They carried cascade bouquets of white gardenias and red feathered carnations.

Jimmy Don Elliott served as best man and Willis Cline and Charles Cornelius were groomsmen. Ushers were Gerald Grinstead and Don Fisher, brother of the bride. Candles were also lighted by the ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fisher chose an avocado wool jersey sheath with white accessories and a white gardenia corsage. Mrs. Benningfield, mother of the groom, wore a stratosphere blue taffeta and lace dress with white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Gail Crump presided at the register.

The bride's table was laid with a white cloth and centered with the attendants' bouquets. The table was highlighted by a tri-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Appointments were silver and crystal. Punch was ladeled by Libby Coffman and Sue Green served cake.

For a wedding trip the bride wore a grey wool suit with a box jacket, white blouse, white feathered hat with white and black accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Brownwood High School and was a member of the Co-Ed Boosters and majorette in the school band three years. She is attending Howard Payne College and majoring in elementary education.

The groom is a graduate of Goldthwaite High School and served four years in the United States Navy. He is attending Tarleton State College at Stephenville, where he is majoring in animal husbandry.

The couple will resume their studies and are now at home at 1704 Second Street, Brownwood.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Benningfield honored the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner on Thursday night at Chisholm's Restaurant. The couple presented gifts to their attendants.

Electric Scoreboard Fund Grows

The fund for purchase of electric football scoreboard for Eagle Field is growing, according to announcement by Supt. J. T. Jones.

He reported that the fund now stands at $625. The benefit basketball game on New Year's brought in $241.45, and contributions by interested citizens account for the balance in the fund.

The Quarterback Club and Student Council are working on the project and it is hoped that sufficient funds can be raised soon so that the scoreboard can be ordered and installed this summer to be ready for the football season next fall.

Total cost of the all-electric scoreboard including installation and guarantee for a year will be approximately $2,000, according to Jones.

Members of the Student Council are: John Burdette, president; Robert McKenzie, vice president; Norma Faye Duren, secy.-treasurer; Peggy Rowlett, Pam Berry, Ronnie Cline, Ronald Cagle, Harlan Jernigan, Loretta Manuel, Sandra Jordan and Marsha Edington. Advisors are J. T. Jones and David J. Williams.

"JESUS WORKED A MIRACLE"
Scripture: Mark 4:35-41—
He said . . . "unto the sea,
Peace, be still."

There are many miracles, all about us. And some that are called miracles. You will see advertised the "miracle mile," making up a mile long strip of retail stores, and many other so named things. The word miracle is applied to certain foods, soap, or anything else supposed to be out of the ordinary. This seems to be a part of our American optimism—everything is wonderful, terrific, stupendous. Even fruits come in only three sizes: mammoth, gigantic, and colossal!

In a more serious way of thinking, a miracle is performed when a higher law takes over on a lower plane. For example, when I pluck an apple from a tree before its time, I perform a miracle to the vegetable world. Last evening I looked into a Japanese Bible. The characters made utter nonsense to me, but the missionary can pick up the book and read rapidly from it. So far as my intelligence is concerned, it is a miracle!

But this is not the truest meaning of a miracle. It helps us, however, to see the true meaning. God comes down into human experience and works in our heart and lives by His Holy Spirit. Why should we, and how could we, doubt such a thing? Cannot the God who made us and the world intervene on behalf of His own to deliver them from their enemies? Should He not be called on to help them in their time of need? It is not a hard thing with God to perform a miracle for His children. Let us notice this miracle of Jesus stilling the storm and the sea.

First, it was a miracle within the bounds of reason. We would not say that it is fully explained by reason, but still it is believable. It was not an outlandish thing, with no relation to the reality of the disciples' need. It was not a sensational breaking of the laws of nature, but control of them, by the One who had made them.

This is something for us to remember. We should not ask the Lord to do for us the outlandish, the irrational, just to prove something to us. "A wicked and adulterous generation seeking after a sign."

In the second place, this miracle was based on the power of the Master. Certainly the disciples were powerless to bring the boat to land. They had done their best—and it was a good "best," for they were experienced men with a boat. They had done all they knew how to do, but had come to the end of their knowledge and ability.

In order to receive the miracle-working help of Christ we too must come to the end of our own resourcefulness. There must be an acknowledgment of our helplessness, and of His divine power, before we can expect His help. So long as we struggle and founder around, trying to solve our problems alone, He will let us, not that He will let us sink, but He will let us think we are going to sink, so that we are willing to admit our powerlessness in ourselves. Then He can do something for us.

This does not, of course, mean that we are not to do our best. We cannot ask the Lord to do for us what we can do for ourselves. But it does mean that, when we have done our best, we must still recognize it is not enough.

Again, it was a miracle based on faith in Christ. The disciples were at first afraid the boat would sink in the terrible storm, not realizing that it was unsinkable so long as they had Him on board. They were like us modern Christians when we are anxious about the Lord's work. Sometimes we pray "Lord don't you care?" This was exactly what the disciples were asking while they were arousing Him from sleep. "Carest thou not that we perish?" Jesus wondered at their fearfulness and said, apparently puzzled, "How is it that ye have no faith?"

What we must remember is that He cares for His work and for His workers. This does not mean that we are to put forth no effort, but that we shall do so in full confidence that we are "workers together with God." This changes the whole picture, so that now we see in full perspective the ultimate purpose of God, the high values of the Kingdom, and our place in the divine scheme of things. When we see this, we see that the boat is the Lord's, the storm is the Lord's, the sea, the disciples, even the pillow—all are the Lord's! So we work, but don't fret; we are concerned, but not worried. Outward circumstances do not defeat us because we have inner resources of faith. As someone has said, we are not rowboat Christians doing everything in our own strength; nor sailboat Christians, depending on favorable weather; but steamboat Christians, with inner resources of fire that drives us on.

Sen. Yarborough Leads Dimes Drive

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, of Texas, leads off the 1960 New March of Dimes with his contribution to Pat Lombardo, six-year-old polio victim in Washington, D. C. New March of Dimes funds are being used to combat three crippling: birth defects, arthritis and polio.

tians, with inner resources of fire that drives us on.

Finally, the miracle was wrought only when the disciples called for help. We don't know how long Jesus would have slept if they hadn't called Him. From our vantage point in history, we know that the boat would not have sunk with Him on it. But, at any rate, it is worthy of note that He did not wake up until they cried out in urgency, "Master . . . we perish."

God wants to do things for us today, but we are so absorbed in our own effort we don't ask Him. We are so busy running a church, operating a machine, attending committee and board meetings, getting out publicity, that we don't wait on God. All these things are good in their place, but they have meaning only when kept in their place. After all, why should we do these other things if we are not going to have God's blessing on our lives and His presence in our hearts? We might as well run a hamburger stand or a bakery as to run a church without the presence and power of the Spirit. For a church without the Lord is no longer a church, in the true sense of the word.

We need the miracle of Christ's presence in the church today. We have lived on the past long enough. It is time to rouse ourselves, and by faith in the Lord, and with vision for the future, to tackle a task so much bigger than we are that we must cry for divine grace and help. Then the Lord can help us. Then, on hearing our cry for help, we can hear Him say . . . "peace, be still."

George R. Jordan Announces For State Representative, District 73

George R. Jordan, Brownwood, this week authorized the Eagle to announce his candidacy for State Representative for the 73rd Legislative District comprised of Mills, Brown and Comanche counties.

Jordan, Brownwood businessman and known throughout Central Texas as a chamber of commerce manager, told The Eagle speaking engagements and frequent visits to Goldthwaite will be included in his campaign.

He will oppose Ben Barnes of De Leon, for the office vacated by Ben Doyle Sudderth of Comanche.

Jordan was born on a farm six miles west of Hillsboro and lived there until 20 years of age.

"Needless to say, I'm vitally interested in all matters affecting the farmer and ranchman," Jordan said.

"I am aware," he said, "of

the strong and united desire in Goldthwaite to find a solution to the area's water problem.

"I feel that concern should also exist in the office of the 73rd District Representative's office in Austin to offer every means at its disposal to help solve that problem."

Primarily concerned with the civic, cultural and economic progress of the West Central Texas area, Jordan said he would seek to reduce expenditures of the government, favor states rights and rights of local self-government.

The past zone chairman and deputy district governor of Lions International is past president of the 4-H Club, past master, past Thrice Illustrious Master and past High Priest of Masonic bodies, past director of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Assn., and past chairman of Community Services Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

In 1959 he entered private business after serving as Chamber of Commerce Manager in Brownwood for four years.

He is married and has three children.

ject as covered in their report. Other items discussed with these present taking part included: possibility of a dam being built on the river, a river authority being created, water rights, laws covering the functions, creating water district and methods of financing.

W. C. Barnett, city utilities manager, reported briefly on the history of water in Goldthwaite. He stated that in 1941 all city wells produced 67 gallons per minute for a total production on 24 hour basis at 96,000 gallons. Today the city wells produce 265 gallons per minute for a 24 hour production of 381,000 gallons, which falls far short of the summer demands.

Mr. Rady was asked how long it would take to complete such a project if it were undertaken.

He explained that if it were started now it would take about two years before being completed. Therefore in all probability it would be Summer of 1962 before the new system could supply water for needs of Goldthwaite.

The time required was broken down in this manner by Mr. Rady. Suppose the water district was created by the Legislature effective in April. Validation of the district in May or June. Bond election in 30 days, July or August. Two to three months to project and sell bonds and get the money, August, September or October. Authorize planning to begin, let contract about January 1, 1961. About one year to build the project taking it to January 1, 1962.

It was pointed out that if the program was undertaken now it couldn't be ready to serve water by the summer of 1961.
