All workers for the Mills County and Goldthwaite campaign met at this time for breakfast, a short program, and to select prospect cards for the drive. Yarborough is the treasurer; other members include: Lewis Hudson, Ray Duren, Warren Duren, Glynn Collier, C. F. Stubblefield, Gerald C. Head, Hollis Blackwell and Rev. Presnall H. Wood.

The Service Unit committee maintains a fund locally for the purpose of aiding in an emergency manner, needy people. Over 100 people were helped last year. The welfare services rendered included grocery orders, hospital care, cash assistance, fuel, lodgings, meals, and transportation.

Schwartz named the following captains for the drive: L. J. Ward, Raymond Casbeer, Lee Tabor, Lee Roy Stacy, and Charles Conrad. Each captain named four workers for the drive. Each worker and captain will work about 5 prospect cards.

Loy Long is heading the Rural section of the drive. He is naming workers for every community of the county to aid in this welfare undertaking.

Rain Monday Is Big Boost To Grain Crop

Rainfall ranging from one-quarter inch to one and three-quarter inches covering Mills County Monday gave a big boost to the county grain crop, according to spot checks Monday afternoon and Tuesday.

This was the first rainfall recorded this month that was heavy enough to be of benefit for rangeland and crops.

Goldthwaite recorded .90 inch at the official weather bureau rain gauge, according to Harry Allen, weather observer. This is gauged at Mr. Allen's home. He also reported that his unofficial gauge downtown measured 1.60 inches.

Other reports coming to the Eagle office were: Priddy, .25 to .50; Star, .50 to 1.00; Bozar, 1.00; West of Bayou, 1.75 inches. The Eagle rain gauge on Hannah Valley Road recorded 1.20 inches.

Reports indicate that some oats too far along for this rain to help for grain crop. Some ranchers had turned stock in for grazing.

Other reports from some sections of the county indicate that practically all their oats are still in good shape and prospects for crop are good.

Only other rainfall recorded in Goldthwaite during the month of April was .05 inch on April 13 and 23 inches Tuesday night, April 26. This makes the total for April 1.18 inches.

"Were You Counted?" Campaign Underway By Census Bureau

With the 1960 Census of Population and Housing virtually completed locally, District Supervisor William G. Stacy today announced the beginning of the "Were You Counted?" campaign to insure that no resident in the area has been overlooked.

Persons who believe they have been missed by the census taker are urged to notify the census district office by means of "Were You Counted?" forms.

Area newspapers are printing these forms in their current editions as a public service. Prompt mailing of the "Were You Counted?" forms will speed up the compilation of preliminary population figures for the area.

Preliminary figures presenting the total population of incorporated places of 10,000 or more population, and for counties, will be issued as soon as the district supervisor is convinced that a complete count has been made. Final, detailed population figures will be issued in Washington later this year after the returns have been tabulated on the Census Bureau's electronic computers.

The importance of a complete count was stressed by the district supervisor. He pointed out that the population figures compiled in the current census must stand as official until the next Federal Census.

"Federal aid funds are allotted to States and State funds, in turn, are allotted to counties and municipalities on a per capita basis. So a short count means a short allotment. Thus, it is imperative that we have a complete count. The help of every resident of the area is needed to reach this goal," he said.

TIME TO THINK—With the primary election only 10 days off more and more people are taking a few minutes out to think about the little matter of voting.

Then there is of course also the presidential election this fall. While that seems far in the future it is nevertheless important enough that it deserves some thinking on the part of the average citizen also.

With elections there comes also the thought of voting. Just how serious are the American people about the matter of voting?

A young lady, from the states, who is living in England where her husband is stationed with the U. S. Air Forces, wrote a letter to her auntie on March 9, in which she relates the fact that she has been wondering about voting.

It's an interesting letter and should be worth passing on to you. Here is what she had to say:

"Dear Auntie:

"I've been wondering about Dale's and my voting. I suppose it's too late now for us to pay the poll tax. There's been quite a lot in the English papers about the presidential candidates. I think there are too many people like Dale and I, who think only of our families and our jobs—strictly personal—and let 'other people' do the worrying about our government.

"We think 'America is the greatest, so why worry?' If we are not careful with this complacent attitude, we'll wake up one day to the fact that America is no longer the greatest—and it will be the fault of people like us.

"We have the 'I'm all right, Jack!' attitude—self satisfied, contented, egotistical, fat and sassy.

"When you're living in America, you hear or read mostly praises of America, but, in a foreign country, you hear and read a lot of criticism of America and her ways. Of course, you don't believe all of it, but you wonder.

"I'm proud to be an American and I want to be able to say the same 20 or 30 years from now. Also I'll have two children to consider. America has been good for me and I want it to be good for them.

"A group of us were discussing this at June's house, and out of the six couples present, I don't think one of them had bothered to vote since they have been in England. And some like Dale and I, have never voted at all. Of course that's only a few—but there must be millions more just like us. I'm worried!" Love you lots, Shirley.

Just thought it worthwhile to pass parts of the young lady's letter on to you—give you something to think about.

True, it's too late to pay that poll tax this year. If you don't have yours you will not be able to vote this year. But, there will be other years for some, and there will be elections coming up in the years to come.

The young lady seems to hit the nail on the head. It's time that more Americans stopped to think about their voting record.

Records show that citizens of America are the worst in the world when it comes to the matter of voting. Percentage-wise Americans are pretty low on the Totem Pole with their voting record.

One weakness is that too many don't bother to take time out and pay their poll tax, or register, as the case may be to be qualified to vote.

Another weakness is that too many of those who are qualified do not vote. That's just as bad.

The fact remains that more people in America should vote.

Too many issues are being decided by a minority instead of by a majority. The only way that can be corrected is for every one to vote in all elections that come along. It doesn't matter what kind of election it is, they are all important.

MARCH OF EVENTS

CENSUS WORKERS CANNOT ENUMERATE ALL AMERICANS

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Association Washington Writer
WASHINGTON—Census officials admit some of Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces won't have their noses among those of the rest of us enumerated by the small 160,000 census takers.

Despite the most strenuous efforts, some Americans missed. That's because some Americans in virtually unknown places; trailers of-the-way locations; above railroad cars—even in caves! In a job as big as taking a census of million Americans, there are bound to be of headaches, naturally. However, the is expected to be a very accurate portrait Uncle Sam. One headache that plague census officials every 10 years is the imposters who think it's a big lark to census enumerators and pry into the of strangers.

Bona fide census takers will be armed heavy official form booklets and will official identification cards. Before answer any questions, ask the census to identify himself by showing his card.

ANOTHER CENSUS HEADACHE is that some folk fiba about themselves. It is legendary that lots of the fudge a bit in telling their ages, knocking 'em down a many years, of course. Some others will—consciously or not—embroider the truth about their jobs. One for instance, described himself as a "reclamation engineer" or even a jail term could be inflicted upon respondents for false answers—or refusing to answer.

The 1960 census is a "decennial" (once in 10 years) counting, but the Census bureau doesn't rest between. Every year, it publishes a thick volume entitled Statistical Abstract of the United States. This includes a vast array of lions and millions of facts, ranging from the number of to the consumption of plywood logs—and including such and figures on chemical production, electric power consumption, retail price indexes, the number of persons arrested (and offenses) and the amount of hay production and across states!

The "big" census, of course, carries on where the Statistical Abstract leaves off. It gives information of inestimable government planners, businesses, scholars and others.

The identity of the individuals who give information, of course, kept a careful secret. Only overall figures are made and made available to the public. Census takers are required to take an oath of secrecy.

CENSUS OFFICIALS ANTICIPATE that, when the is done, it will be revealed that America's population is about 180 million persons. One result will be to change the position of the House of Representatives to reflect the shifting trends of America's population. California is expected to be the biggest gainer of new congressmen because of its rapidly burgeoning population.

The Golden State should pick up at least seven—and possibly more—new representatives if estimates of growth are proved correct. Other fast-growing states will congressmen, too. Areas which have grown only slightly which have lost population will lose representatives.

The vast mountain of paperwork required of the Census bureau's 160,000 enumerators will be somewhat lessened by innovation. A form, calling for such information as the of rooms in your home and the number of electric appliances you own, has been mailed out in advance.

OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45 WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER

Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 253-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in. . . . Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

4 Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

MAY FOOD PLENTIFULS
Milk and dairy products are headliners on the May plentiful foods list. Also included are canned freestone peaches, cranberry products, vegetable fats and oils and scallops.
Ice cream is one of the dairy products that deserves a place in May meals. Cottage cheese is another popular item for spring salads, cold plates or relish dishes. Vary it by adding chopped parsley, chives or a little onion juice.
For breakfast or dessert fruit, those canned freestone peaches may be served chilled or heated, as desired.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

plenty of miles in the coon-hunting families in your neighborhood and almost surely in the process of getting acquainted, at least one family will invite you to go along on a hunt. If there doesn't happen to be such a hospitable family nearby—and you don't own any land of your own—your next best bet is to interest a landowner in this new sport.

Even if you have to "lease" hunting privileges it is money well spent.

Most likely though, friendly as these country folk generally are, the landowner, though he may not hunt himself, will welcome any responsible sportsman who wants to trim down the coon population on his place.

And you will find coons almost anywhere in Texas. There are more of them in South Texas than in points farther north, but the ringtails are plentiful over most of the state.

Your principal problem will be dogs. You can, in a pinch, use almost any sort of mongrel the landowner may have on his premises. Often these mutts turn into pretty good coon dogs, if given a little training.

But your best bet would be to chip in with one or two sportsmen friends and buy two or three good coon hounds, and board them with the landowner. Quail hunters often do this with their dogs, successfully, and coon dogs are more rugged and easier to keep. Many ranchers and farmers will cooperate with you on a deal like that.

Next, you and your friends should get a jeep. If not a jeep, some old high-axled car. Don't worry about how battered up it may be if the engine and tires are good, for it will get rough usage.

Finally, outfit yourselves with warm clothing, a good spotlight torch, hot coffee in a thermos bottle, stuff for a midnight snack, and one or two good .22 rifles or pistols.

Once your equipment is packed in the jeep and your dogs are settled in the back, you are ready to leave the ranch house for the starting point of the hunt.

If you don't know the country it might be wise to ask your host to go with you the first time or two.

When you turn the dogs loose at the pre-selected spot, they will vanish quickly into the brush. But there is no need for you to follow them. Wait until they pick up a hot trail. They will let you know when they need you.

When you hear the first "roup-roup" of your hounds, that means they have found coon signs.

Locate the direction carefully, turn off the road, step on the gas, and head across country toward the action. Keep driving until you spot your hounds, or find that they have lost that particular trail. If the latter, then beep your horn button for them to come back and start all over. (When jeeping coons the car horn replaces the old cowhorn of a former day.)

Right here it might be well to mention that there are two ways to kill a coon, after the dogs have treed him.

Some coon hunters, once they have their varmint treed and spotted, bring him down with a well-placed slug. Other hunters "jump" their coon out of the tree and let the dogs finish him off. They claim this method is more sporting.

Those who choose shooting should use nothing larger than a .22 rifle, or pistol. This caliber is amply large, and the smaller gun is safer and more easily carried. All you do is spotlight the coon in the tree and shoot him. It is that simple.

"Jumping" your coon is somewhat more difficult. Here, one member of the party must climb the tree in which your coon has taken refuge and dislodge him. For this the climbers uses a long stick, for an angry coon can be a tough customer at close quarters.

When the coon jumps, the waiting dogs pounce on him, triggering off a fierce, roaring battle. Sometimes the coon escapes, which provides the sporting chance mentioned.

This little drama is repeated over and over again, as often as you wish, only limited by the territory you can cover and the eagerness of your dog and companions . . . or your own physical ability to take it.

If, after reading this column you have formed the idea this is a cushy way to hunt coons, revise your notions.

"Jeeping for coons" is plenty rough, but you will enjoy it lots. When dawn lightens the sky, after clinging to the seat of a rocking, jarring, swaying jeep all night, you'll return to the ranch house craving plenty of rest to ease your weary, aching bones. And you will admit you've really had a hunt.

THE TRUTH

JOHN 8:32

Why Be Baptized?

1. Christ commanded it. "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father... Son... and Holy Spirit." Matt. 28:19.

2. Baptism washes away sins. "And now why tarriest thou? Arise and be baptized, and wash away thy sins." Acts 22:16.

3. Baptism saves. "The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us." I Peter 3:21.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

By H. L. BERRY

Just about any time you need to increase your faith in conservation, a trip to James Aldridge's stock farm will do the trick. His farm is located in the Pompey Creek watershed six miles north of Mullin.

A basic conservation plan was developed with the Brown-Mills Soil Conservation District in 1949. This plan, according to Mr. Aldridge, was scheduled to be fully applied in three years, but he completed it in one year. Since the first year, Mr. Aldridge has deferred at least one pasture each year. On his 304 acres there are four pastures. This allows him to rotate his grazing to maintain good grass on all pastures. His fields are planted to grazing crops each year and used as supplemental grazing. Adequate grass is maintained at all times in order to eliminate the need for supplemental feeding. Mr. Aldridge said, "he fed his cattle less than ten pounds of cottonseed cake per cow last winter." A combination of cows, goats and sheep are used to better utilize the grazing plants with one animal unit for ten acres.

A large percentage of his range has knee-high grasses such as little bluestem, big bluestem, Indian grass and side oats gramma. This is excellent cover for quail. We left his house to observe his grass and jumped a covey of quail about a hundred yards from his house. Also about one hundred yards from his headquarters is a small lake stocked with bass and channel catfish which furnish food and recreation.

Mr. Aldridge has several acres of range seeding which has proven very successful. He has three acres of King Ranch bluestem within his field fence and approximately 15 acres of cropland converted to range. This area was seeded to a native mixture. Conservation and wise use of natural resources is a profession with Mr. Aldridge. He is a conservation contractor having a bulldozer and root-plow. He believes that heavy equipment should supplement native vegetation in preventing erosion rather than take the place of it.

Chances are, he'll grow up to think like his dad. For Pop's the hero... and the way he does things, the way he acts, is "the right way."

Think of that next time you're tired when it's time to go to church or

ONE STAR Agriculture

The Texas Department of Agriculture

By John C. White, Commissioner

TEXAS LAND VALUES—UP, UP, UP

The decade of the 1950's saw a boom in Texas farm land prices which prompted frequent and free predictions from many an old-timer that a bust could not be far behind.

There was nothing approaching a bust, of course, even in the drouth-ridden middle '50's. And as the new decade of the 1960's gets under way there are no real signs to indicate that the boom actually has even reached its peak.

Farmers may and probably will continue to complain of lower farm prices and increasing costs—which is well justified by current facts and figures. Some farm families probably will continue to forsake the land and its discouragements, although the number driven away from the farms to the cities is not nearly as high as during the drouth years.

But the value of the land itself appears to be holding a remarkably steady upward trend, and this is observed in nearly all areas of Texas. Prevailing prices of farm and ranch land generally is higher than can actually be justified by its value for crop or livestock production.

The factors combining to produce this situation also have developed another over-all condition which is often observed and pointed out in many sections of Texas. The condition is this: More and more land over the State is becoming tightly held and to all practical purposes taken off the market altogether, automatically cutting down the quantity of biddable land available to influence any market fluctuation.

The top strengthening factor in price determination of farm and ranch land, not only in Texas but in most other agricultural states, is the vast increase in population to be considered against the fixed amount of land available. In Texas, this more or less simple situation of supply and demand is intensified because of the more than normal growth in population.

During the past two decades, the trend of farm folk flocking to the middle-sized and big cities in Texas also has had a reverse reaction—a notable rise in week-end farming and ranching. Money from Texas industry and commerce in the cities has found its way back to the land in an ever-increasing volume—no accurate measurement has yet been taken of just how large the volume might be, but the effect on farm land values

Regency News

(Delayed)

I failed to get my news in last week. I had a big day last Sunday and Monday we went to San Angelo to a birthday dinner for my Dad, there and back the same day. The trip was tiresome although I enjoyed the day very much. This was the first time in ten years we had all been together, there are eight of us girls, quite a family. When the children and grandchildren get together it looks like school was turned out.

Our Dad, J. A. Churchwell of San Angelo, was honored Sunday, April 10, at his home with a birthday dinner. He was 77 years old and enjoyed having his children and grandchildren with him for a delicious dinner and visit in the afternoon.

Easter has come and gone and the weather is cool and crisp but we got by without a frost. The cemetery working turned out fine, quite a few people came out and worked and sure made the cemetery look nice. Several brought their mowers and mowed the cemetery from fence to fence. Everyone should be interested in the up keep of the last resting place of our loved ones.

Sue Rowlett was home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Rowlett, for the Easter holidays.

Mrs. Cleo Gaddy and son, James, of San Saba ate supper with us Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Butch Rowlett spent the day with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Adams and children of Mercury.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jackson of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie England of Alvin visited us Sunday afternoon.

We are glad to say our aunt, Mrs. George Garner, who is a patient in Childress Clinic and Hospital at Goldthwaite, is doing as well as could be expected. We hope she will soon be home again.

We have two new families living at Regency now, Mr. and Mrs. Light and children and Mr. and Mrs. Freedman and daughter, all of Valley Mills. The men are the bosses of the new road they are building.

RELATIVES VISIT

MRS. J. W. WEATHERS
Mrs. J. W. Weathers, who is a patient in Childress Hospital, was carried to her home Saturday, April 16, where she spent an enjoyable day with her children and grandchildren. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe

J. Johnson, Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weathers, Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Martin, Susie, Mike and Kim, Corpus Christi.

At the noon hour a delicious turkey dinner was enjoyed and the afternoon was spent visiting and making pictures with a movie camera.

Sears 4-H Club Swine Program Announced For Mills County

County Agent George Reese has announced that the Sears 4-H Club swine program is again open this year to Mills County 4-H Club members.

The program will be conducted under the following rules and regulations.

An essay contest is to be conducted in Mills County, Brownwood Store Area.

The award program is to be directed by a general committee, composed of the county agricultural agent, district agent, Swine Specialist, State 4-H Club Leader, Officials of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and managers of the Sears-Roebuck & Company stores.

Five purebred registered gilts and boar will be given to this county and will represent one of the major breeds of hogs.

Interest Continues At 3 1/2 Per Cent For Most '60 Crop Loans

The interest rate charged producers on 1960-crop price support loans will continue at 3 1/2 per cent per year on all loan repayments received by the regular nonrecourse loan maturity dates, the Department of Agriculture has announced.

Lee W. Tabor, Office Manager of the Mills County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, points out that this rate applies to nonrecourse loans and to that part of a recourse loan which is repaid by the regular maturity date. Application of the 3 1/2 per cent rate to recourse loans if repaid during the regular loan period is designed primarily to encourage early repayment of these loans.

On recourse loans, which were authorized by recent legislation limiting non-recourse price support to $50,000, the rate will be 6 per cent per year on the portion of these loans not repaid by the regular maturity date.

Recourse loans must be repaid with interest, but they do not have to be repaid until a full year after the last date for obtaining loans for each of the commodities. The regular non-recourse loans can be satisfied by forfeiture of the collateral securing the loan, and interest is charged only on the principal repaid.

Under the law, nonrecourse price support is limited to $50,000 on those commodities determined to be in surplus supply. However, any person may obtain unlimited nonrecourse support if he reduces his 1960 production of the commodity by 20 per cent below his 1959 production, and any person may obtain recourse loans for any excess over $50,000 without reducing his production but the excess amount advanced must be repaid in full with interest.

Crops determined to be in surplus under this provision of law include wheat, barley, grain sorghums, upland and extra long staple cotton, oats, cottonseed, flaxseed, soybeans, rice, peanuts, tobacco, corn and rye.

these pigs, the 4-H Club member will write and submit an essay entitled, "The Value of Producing Hogs as a Source of Cash Income on our Farm." The essay to have not more than 500 words.

The contest is open to all 4-H Club members in Mills County who have not been previous winners.

All essays must be in the hands of the county agent by May 15, 1960 and must be written on notebook paper, typed or in ink and must contain the name of club member, address and name of club. The essay must be judged by a committee in the county, appointed by the county agent or assistant county agent.

Pigs will be awarded as prizes on the basis of 40% for best essay showing knowledge and information the contestant has on the subject, and 60% upon his facilities and ability to successfully complete the demonstration. Judges reserve the right to talk to the contestants, to inspect the farm, and to talk to the parents and others in making their decisions.

Each essay must be accompanied by an agreement blank signed by the contestant and parent or guardian. In the agreement the club members agree to feed, care for, and breed the sow pigs under the direction and supervision of the county agent. They further agree to return either $15.00 or the choicest gilt, with certificate of registration, from their first litter to the county agent for distribution to their club members in the county the following year. The county agent will select the top gilt from the first litter or he may choose to take the $15.00 in lieu of a sow pig. If the sow pig is selected, it is to be delivered on or after it is ten weeks of age.

All pigs will be delivered into the hands of the winners of essays on a date to be set and announced later.

The pigs which have been distributed to the contestants will be returned to a show in the fall to be judged for the best development as breeding stock and not as fat hogs. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation will at that time award prizes in each county, as shown in a schedule now in the hands of the county agent.

Awards will be given for the heaviest litters at 56 days of age in each store area.

The first prize gilt and boar from this county will be brought to a store area show for competitive exhibit and appropriate prize will be awarded.

The county agent will maintain an up-to-date breeding record on all animals including foundation stock and all offspring thereafter. They will make such reports as are requested by the Extension Service.

Club members who receive boars will not be required to return a pig to the county agent, but instead will be required to give free service to the other Sears-Roebuck Foundation gilts in the county for first litters. This will make it
