Bailey County Water Depth Measurement Indicates Decline

Bailey County ground water declined an average of 0.26 of a foot in 1991 in 80 privately-owned wells measured by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in its 353,900 acre service area within the county. This decline represents a reduction of 13,802 acre-feet of water from storage in the Ogallala Aquifer last year in the portion of Bailey County within the Water District boundaries.

Ground water levels within the Water District's Bailey County service area decreased 0.38 of a foot during the 10-year period from 1982 to 1992. A 0.40 of a foot decline was recorded during the five year period from 1987 to 1992.

Ground water levels in the Ogallala Aquifer within the 5.5 million acre Water District service area had an average decline of 0.73 of a foot from January 1991 to January 1992. This is a net reduction of about 602,250 acre-feet of ground water from storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the Water District service area.

Ground water levels stabilized for the first time in the Water District's history in 1985. Depth-to-water measurements revealed an average ground water level rise of 0.50 of a foot in 1986; an average rise of 0.90 of a foot in 1987; an average decline of 0.51 of a foot in 1988; an average decline of one foot in 1989; and an average decline of 1.06 foot in 1990.

A network of 1,025 privately-owned observation water wells is used to determine the annual change in the quantity of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the High Plains Water District. The depth-to-water measurements are taken in January and February of each year in order to allow water levels to stabilize from the pumping during the previous growing season.

By comparing the current depth-to-water measurements with those taken the previous year, Water District Technical Division staff members can determine what changes have occurred in the ground water levels.

Of the 15 counties or portions of counties making up the High Plains Water District, 14 showed an average decline in the depth-to-water measurements. These counties are Armstrong, Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Parmer, Potter and Randall.

Lynn County recorded an average ground water level increase of 0.12 of a foot from 1991 to 1992.

Crowd Fills Auditorium, Foyer; Overflows Outside

A large crowd filled the high school auditorium to standing room only Wednesday night for the public hearing on a proposed prison site for Bailey County.

Elected officials, along with Superintendent of Schools, Bill Moore, Richard Murphy, administrator of Muleshoe Area Medical Center, and Mike McDearman, president of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture and manager of the local office of Southwestern Public Service, all spoke expressing their support of a prison site for Bailey County.

If there was any opposition, none was voiced by the over 1,394 persons who attended the hearing.

Chuck Smith served as official time keeper, insuring the fact that none of the many speakers spoke for more than two minutes.

First on the long list of speakers was Bailey County Judge Marilyn Cox. "The commissioners court unanimously give their support for a prison facility for Bailey County. I have three children and four grandchildren, none of whom live in Muleshoe, with a prison facility maybe we could keep the young people here.

Others expressing their support included: Benny Claunch, commissioner. "I am a lifetime resident of Bailey County and I've never seen anything the county needed as bad as this prison.

Cindy Purdy, President of the MISD board, "The members of the board unanimously voted to support this proposal. It's important to the community.

Linda Elder, County Attorney---I can't say I've lived here all my life, this is my home. Why convict people if they don't serve time. Maybe with the prisons they will.

Johnny Atkinson, District Attorney---I've had the opportunity to visit with District Attorney's where they have prison systems and they say they are good neighbors. I am 100 percent for the proposal.

Jack Young---I spent twenty years as District Attorney and District Judge for 11 years. And I support the Prison Proposal 100 percent.

Harvey Bass read letters from Senator John Montford and Representative Pete Laney.

Laney stated that he wanted to be included in those supporting the proposal. I feel that the vegetable production is a great asset. Muleshoe has a first rate airport and medical facilities. I ask that you consider Muleshoe for the

Tax Deferral Available For Elderly Homeowners

Texans aged 65 or older can postpone paying delinquent and current property taxes on their homesteads by taking advantage of a tax option called "over-65 deferral." The elderly homeowner simply signs a deferral affidavit at the Bailey County Appraisal District office.

This special form of tax relief can also halt a lawsuit already filed to collect delinquent property taxes on an older Texan's homestead, according to Margaret Johnson, chief appraiser of the Bailey County Appraisal District. To stop a delinquent tax suit, Johnson said, the over-65 homeowner files the deferral affidavit with the court in which the suit is pending.

"This law means that, if the proper affidavit is on file, an older homeowner cannot lose a homestead because of delinquent taxes," Johnson said.

Once a homeowner files an over-65 tax deferral affidavit with the appraisal district, no taxing unit can initiate or pursue a suit for delinquent taxes as long as that person owns and lives in that homestead.

Johnson stressed, though, that tax deferral for the elderly only postpones paying delinquent taxes on the homestead, it does not cancel them. During the deferral period, taxes and delinquent interest continue to add up she said. "When the elderly taxpayer no longer owns or lives in the home, those accrued amounts become due. Taxing units can then sue to collect all the deferred tax and interest."

While a penalty may not be imposed on the delinquent taxes during the deferral period, the filing of the deferral affidavit will not forgive penalties which were already due. Also, an additional penalty associated with referring the account to a delinquent tax attorney may be charged if taxes remain delinquent more than 90 days after the deferral ends.

Forms for filing a tax deferral affidavit are available at the appraisal district office. "The homeowner should fill out the form Cont. Page 7 Col. 6 and anyone to join the FOL. Annual dues are still $1.00 and $5.00 for a family. Members (new and old) will have a chance to see and buy books before anyone else.

At 5 p.m. Friday the "Family of the Year" will be named and presented with a large family dictionary. This family is chosen for their regular use of the library and good record. "Many past recipients are still using and enjoying the library," Mrs. Camp continued.

The Big Book Sale of the Year will get underway Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and will continue Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"You're invited to come early, and have coffee, come during your break, or come during the noon hour, or afterwork, or anytime in between! But Come," Mrs. Camp concluded.

"Productivity appraisal" may lower the property taxes on your farm, ranch or timberland!

Texas law allows farmers, ranchers and timber growers to pay property taxes based upon the "Production value" of their land rather than on its market value. This "Productivity appraisal" means qualified land is taxed based on its ability to produce crops, livestock or timber--not on its value on the real estate market. And it can mean substantial property tax savings.

When is the application deadline?

If your land has never had a productivity appraisal, you must apply to your local appraisal district by April 30th to take advantage of this benefit on your 1992 property taxes. You may get up to 60 extra days if you have a good reason and ask for it by April 30. If you miss this deadline, you may still be able to apply, but you will pay a penalty. Check with your appraisal district office.

Do you need to reapply annually?

If your land already receives agricultural or timber productivity appraisal, you normally don't need to reapply unless the chief appraiser requires you to. If a new application is required, the appraisal district will notify you by mail.

Larry Parker Talks To Rotary

The Muleshoe Chapter of Rotary met Tuesday, March 31 in the Bailey County Civic Center with about 45 attending. Curtis Shelburne provided background luncheon music. Randy Field presided and introduced four guests. Early registration for District Convention in Amarillo was recommended. The Blood Drive held at the First Assembly of God Church Wednesday was announced.

Bill Moore introduced Larry Parker who gave the program on snake catching and his experiences in this area.

Parker showed a tape on the Sweetwater Rattlesnake Roundup. "You find den by finding the snake laying out. Gas fumes are used to cause the snakes to run out," Parker says. "We caught 66 rattlesnakes this year. There is a buyer in Sweetwater who buys all the snakes we catch," Parker says.

There was much interest in Parker's presentations on the part of the Rotary members.

"The number of rattlesnakes is decreasing in this part of the country. When you know the do's and don'ts about rattlesnake hunting, you lose your fear about the skill," Parker says.

A rattlesnake can strike half its body length."

At Sweetwater at the Roundup, individuals from 21 different states and many from outside the U.S. attended. There are prizes for the most pounds of rattles and a premium for the longest snake. The longest snake caught was over 7'. Snakes at the Roundup are weighed by the JayCees. In 1992, 18,000 lbs. of rattlesnakes were caught. The average is 12,000 lbs. each year at Sweetwater. The price for rattlers is up. Many are already sold off.

"Rattlesnakes are resistant to the venom of their own species."

Special boots are used for snake hunting. Parker also noted that the variety of snakes found in this region are the sand rattlers and that there are no diamond backs here. The population of rattlesnakes are down around here, according to Parker.

Parker himself has a small corn snake that he feeds baby mice that are so young they have no hair ("pinkies").

CAI Lab Names Student Of The Month

Wally Guerra, Muleshoe High School senior, was named Student of the Month for March in the CAI computer lab, according to Mrs. Kim Silhan, CAI instructor. The CAI lab was established as part of the Job Training Partnership Act. Wally was chosen for this honor because of his diligent performance of the skills for which the lab is designed. They are referred by the classroom teacher for reinforcement of skills that are presented in English and math. The students come into the lab two days a week for 20 minutes each session; they work on the computers at their own level. This level is assigned based on testing of individual needs.

To make pork chops tenderer, try a good pounding before microwaving.

Another tip to use in microwaving pork chops is to brown them in a skillet, then finish cooking by microwave.

It usually takes from 4 to 8 minutes per pound to defrost chops, covered with wax paper, turned over in the process. Let them stand a minute or two after defrosting.

Host Families Needed

Mary Mccorkle of Dallas, Local Coordinator for the Academic Year in America program of the AIFS Scholarship Foundation, has begun interviewing area families who would be interested in hosting an international student on the AYA program during the 1992/93 school year.

Mccorkle has the applications of several boys and girls who would like to live in this part of Texas next year. AYA students are between the ages of 15 and 18, have solid academic records, at least three years of English and the maturity and flexibility required for a year abroad. A family can select a student from Germany, France, Brazil, or any one of 30 other countries around the globe. AYA students have their own spending money for personal expenses and full medical insurance. Their host families are asked to treat them just like their own son or daughter.

Students arrive next August to begin the school year with their American classmates. They attend the local public high school, carry a full course load and join clubs, sports and other activities. The cross cultural learning is returned two ways. A student comes to understand how Americans really live, work and think. The host family discovers how holidays are celebrated in the student's homeland, learns a few phrases of his language and experiences a new way of looking at things they have long taken for granted. Families that decide to host now are invited to choose the student they would like to welcome. Letters can be exchanged immediately and the friendship begins.

Interested families should call Mary Mccorkle at 214-553-8444 or Regional Director, Karen Hall at the AYA national office in Connecticut at 1-800-322-4678.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Twelve Kiwanians and three honorary Kiwanians met this morning (Friday) at the Dairy Queen for breakfast. I don't know if spring fever has got the rest of the Kiwanians or just lazyness, because we had a lot of no shows.

Our honorary members who were present this morning were Dee Morris, Jon Keith Turner, and our wonderful young lady who has been sick, Lacy Morris. Lacy, it was sure good to see you this morning. We have missed you so much. Everytime you feel like coming, be sure your dad brings you.

President Larry Parker called the meeting to order. Vice President Randy Lewis led us in the pledge to our flag. Herb Langfitt gave the invocation.

Since Larry Parker had remarked that last Tuesday, he had gone to the Rotary Club and shown his rattlesnake film, Glen Morris said that since Larry was having to go to other clubs, that maybe he needed a friend. So Larry, look real hard and maybe you can find a friend in the Kiwanis Club.

Jim Lutz reported that the Cub Scouts had gone out and toured the TOLK Plant this week. On April 11 they would go to the game reserve and assist in planting some trees and on May 2,3 and 4 would be the cub and Dads camp out at Camp Post. I remember those camp outs at Post. Those are quite a deal and fun. Larry reported on the possibility of a Free Throw contest for boys and girls since little dribblers was about over. This should be fun.

Next Friday afternoon and evening, there will be a work day at the Mule Putt Golf course. All Kiwanians be there. Lots of work is to be done to get it ready.

We had a lot of no shows this morning. If you see Tiffany Angeley, pinch her and see if she is awake. Tiff, we missed you this morning.

PROPOSED PRISON SITE

Prison Hearing

prison site.

"I support the construction of a prison site in Muleshoe. Muleshoe would benefit from the work force. All the south plains area would benefit. I give my strong support and ask that you give Muleshoe every consideration," said Senator Montford.

Tammy Shakley, representing Teel Bivins', was here on Bivins' behalf. The community is united and I urge you to select Muleshoe for the site of a Prison System.

Joey Kendel, commissioner--The south end of the county express interest in the prison site for Bailey County. We hope that it will help keep the young people here.

Jerry Hicks, Bailey County sheriff--If a prison is built in Bailey County it will have a big impact on the Sheriff's Department. One of the main concerns I have heard is "Will people be released here. The answer is NO, they must be returned to Huntsville before they are released. I am behind it all of the way.

Paul Wilbanks, member of the City Council and a businessman in Muleshoe--I would like to commend the turnout tonight, it speaks well for our trade area. Our town is going down and we need good steady employment. I hope April 11 we start plowing dirt. We're ready. Muleshoe is a great place to live in and raise children. I am 100 percent for it.

A.V. Wood, member of the City Council--It's a great crowd. A prison site here would help Muleshoe and nearby towns. We have worked hard for this.

Nelda Merriott, District Clerk--I have never seen so much excitement in Muleshoe, it looks great.

Jay Messenger, chairman of the project gave a summary of the proposal. He stated that the Muleshoe area had shown their support from the beginning. First with the public hearing in September and then with a 80 percent vote for Proposition 4 in the General Election in November.

"Our $3.2 million packet is a long hard step for a town this size, but we are relying on our natural resources, high quality farm land with good water supply," Messenger continued. "The land is good and flat. It is larger than was requested. The proposed site is only three miles from our airport."

"We have the highest yielding vegetables in the state, fantastic. We have a strong Muleshoe Health Care System and an outstanding EMS. Our school system is excited and has offered many things in this proposal. This has been and will continue to be a rewarding project.

Curtis Shelburne, speaking for Ministerial Alliance, We are behind it all of the way. It took a lot of work but a lot of the churches let the members out for this meeting. The list of speakers goes on and on, but the general consensus was the same, all of the speakers were 100 percent for a prison site for Muleshoe.

In giving his closing comments, Mayor Darrell Turner, stated that the selection would be made on April 10 as to whether we do or don't get the prison. "Whether we do or don't we can hold our head high, we can be commended. I think we are going to get it. The Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation has spent a lot of long hard hours on this proposal."

In an earlier statement chairman of the prison board Sheldon Hale said, "Public support for a prison will be one of the critical factors considered by the board. I don't think a board of citizens like the Prison Board can afford to put a prison in somebody's backyard unless there's a good deal of support for it." As one person put it Wednesday night after the hearing, "If this hearing had any bearing on the selection of a site, Muleshoe has it made, it has the support of almost everyone."

Bailey county is only one of 47 communities seeking the prison site. Others still in the running include: Abilene, Agua Dulce, Amarillo, Anderson County, Beaumont, Big Spring, Borger, Bowie County, Breckenridge, Brownfield, Brownwood, Bryan, College Station, Burnet, Carrizo Springs, Childress, Curo, Dalhart, Dimmitt, Edinburg, El Paso, Fannin County.

And Fort Stockton, Gatesville, Hereford, Hondo, Jasper Karnes County, Liberty, Lubbock, Lufkin, Mitchell County, Muleshoe, Odessa, Overton, Pampa, Plainview, Ranger, Refugio, Rusk, San Diego, Shamrock, Snyder, Starr County, Upshur County, Wichita Falls, Willay County and Wood County.

"When we first started to work on this project they were to build six, 1,000 bed and three 2,250 bed facilities. That has changed today they are talking about 18-500 bed, six 1,000 bed and three 2,250 bed facilities. And the 2,250 bed facility may become 12 facilities," Messenger said in an earlier statement.

Computer Viruses Pose Risk

A recent encounter with the Michelangelo computer virus left some users of IBM-compatible computers in the electronic dark ages as files disappeared from their machines in early March.

While computer usage has expanded continuously in recent years, a Texas Christina University computer science professor doubts the general public truly understands the significance of computer viruses.

Dr. Dick Rinewalt explained that the average person doesn't see viruses as an immediate problem because that person doesn't have a great deal of interaction with a computer outside of the work place.

Rinewalt said as society grows increasingly dependent on computers, viruses could lead to life-threatening consequences. He suggested patients' lives could be jeopardized if the hospital's medical records data base were corrupted and improper medicines were distributed. Air traffic control could be interrupted with rogue software, which could lead to the potential risk of an aviation calamity, he added.

Although users can safeguard computer information by installing virus detection software, Rinewalt said making a system virus-proof is nearly impossible.

"Given any protection mechanism, someone who is knowledgeable enough can write a virus that will circumvent that particular protection," he said.

Rinewalt noted that great effort has been invested in making computers easy to use. "Everything we can think of to retard a virus defeats that. It really makes me sad that this is happening," he commented.

Strategies To Prevent Risky Behavior Among Teens

Traditional strategies to prevent risky behavior among adolescents, such as simply educating teens about risks and using scare tactics, have been largely ineffective, according to an article published in the March issue of Texas Medicine.

New programs designed to prevent drug and alcohol abuse, teen pregnancy, teen suicide and other risky behavior need to focus on improving adolescents' behavioral skills and should involve schools and communities, the authors of the Texas Medicine article state. Texas Medicine is the official news magazine of the Texas Medical Association.

In their article, Drs. Craig Bushong, John Coverdale and John Battaglia state that standard programs to prevent risky behavior have focused on increasing adolescent's factual knowledge or on enhancing self-esteem and responsible decision-making. The authors say "no clear cut relationship" exists between attitudes and knowledge and subsequent behavior. "Indeed, several studies have clearly shown these approaches are ineffective in changing behavior," they state.

Drs. Bushong and Coverdale work in the Department of Psychiatry at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. Dr. Battaglia is with The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas.

"One popular preventive program that has spent millions of dollars over the past several years without systematic investigation of effectiveness is the well-publicized 'Just Say No' campaign," Bushong, Coverdale and Battaglia writes. "Data suggest that programs that use a variety of 'scare tactics' are often unsuccessful in influencing behavior."

Psychiatric and behavioral problems have replaced infectious disease as the major cause of illness and death among adolescents. Seventy-five percent of adolescent deaths result from accidents, suicide or homicide. Alcohol and drug abuse remain high and incidence of physical abuse and neglect are increasing. More than 700,000 teenage girls become pregnant in the U.S. each year and rates of sexually transmitted diseases among teens are increasing.

The authors conclude that more effective prevention strategies may need to focus on social influence and personal and behavior skills. Such prevention would make students aware of social influences that encourage problem behavior and teach them specific strategies to refuse those influences.

TMA supports research and training in all aspects of adolescent health at Texas medical schools and supports comprehensive health education programs in public schools. The Association also supports legislative efforts to restrict availability of tobacco products to minors and to ban alcohol and tobacco advertising targeted at youths.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 31,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 119 component county medical societies around the state. The Association represents 82 percent of the doctors of medicine licensed and residing in Texas and 96 percent of the state's allopathic medical students. TMA's key objective is to improve the health of Texans through professional and personal development of its members.

Health News

A visit from a friend or relative can raise the spirits of a hospital patient. But, certain etiquette rules need to be remembered to ensure the privacy and comfort of the patient.

The September 1988 issue of the "Mayo Clinic Health Letter" offers some medical manners worth remembering.

*Timing is important. Call the patient to determine a good time to visit.

*Stop at the nurses' station. Upon arrival, check with the nurses before visiting the patient. After you are given permission to visit, knock on the patient's door before entering.

*Sit down whenever possible. When lying in bed, patients sometimes feel uncomfortable if visitors stand and look down at them. To ease the conversation, pull up a chair. Do not sit on the bed because this could disturb medical equipment.

*Be a good listener. Ask upbeat, open questions, and let the patient express his concerns. Don't cause additional worries by talking about problems at home or work.

*Keep the visit brief. Visits should be limited to 10 to 20 minutes because patients need rest. Sometimes patients are reluctant to admit they are too tired to talk.

*Do not visit in groups. No more than two or three visitors should be in the room at one time because the patient may have difficulty visiting with a large number.

*Keep an eye on children. If the nursing staff gives approval for children to visit, keep them quiet and the visit brief.

*Don't interfere with care. If a doctor, nurse or other hospital staff member enters the room ask if you should leave.

*Leave equipment alone. Never adjust equipment. If something is accidentally bumped, ask the nurse to see if anything was disrupted.

*Never give a patient medication. Nonprescribed medications can cause an adverse reaction with other drugs or interfere with tests.

According to Mark Blakemore, manager of Methodist Hospital's Patient Center, patients enjoy visits, but sometimes offering to help out with daily tasks they are unable to take care of can relieve worry and promote better rest.

"Take the initiative and be specific. A friend who is hospitalized may be afraid to impose. Offer to pick up mail, walk a pet, cook a meal or run an important errand," Blakemore said.

Hope for the best, but prepare for the worst.

STAR Program May Be For You

It may be easier than you think to get started in the health care profession with the Army Reserve's new Specialized Training for Army Readiness (STAR) program.

"Qualified young men and women train at an Army-approved, civilian school in their own town," said Capt. Roger Furnival, the Army Reserve operations officer at the Army recruiting battalion in Albuquerque, N.M.

In return, the Army Reserve will pay up to $6,000 a year for two years for a student's tuition, books, and any associated school fees, even student health insurance, Furnival said.

Depending on the student's qualifications and the needs of the local Army Reserve unit, students can train as a practical nurse, emergency medical technician, dental laboratory specialist, operating room specialist, x-ray technician, pharmacy specialist, respiratory specialist, or medical laboratory specialist.

Once students qualify for the program and enlist in the Army Reserve, the new soldiers attend eight weeks of Army basic training. Upon completion they return to the civilian school where they were accepted for their academic program, attending weekend unit drills and earning additional Army Reserve pay and benefits.

"When the STAR program soldiers graduate, they still get more medical training," Furnival added. "They're sent to an Army medical facility for four-weeks of on-the-job training before they go to their weekend units."

To find out the nearest available STAR school, talk to your local Army recruiter or call Furnival in Albuquerque at 505-266-1644.

LOOKING HER BEST FOR Easter

Easter is a day of conquest... a day of new life... a day of beginnings... This is the day that our Saviour arose in a mighty triumph over the grave. This is a day of joy... a day to remember... a day to attend services in the church that our Lord loved so much, but even though we all want to dress up and look our best for this special day it is not the most important part. For God does not look on outward appearances, but looks on the heart.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Several other Muleshoe students, accompanied by their sponsor Kerry Moore, also attended the convention. This group has been active in district and state activities during the 1991-92 school year. A highlight of this convention was the presentation by Jill Noble, also a senior at MHS, on "Suicide." This speech, accompanied by visual aids, won the state championship in the educational issue category. In addition to this honor, Jill has served this year as state corresponding secretary. Other students attending the convention included Chris Dominguez, who is the incoming district president for District XVII; Jac Green, the district president for 1991-92; Kip McCall, district parliamentarian, who also served as the chairperson for the state ethics committee; Virgil Snell, district corresponding secretary. Each of these students also served as state voting delegate. Kerry Moore, in addition to his local responsibilities, serves as a district, regional and state advisor.15. Misc.

An interesting section in Alsace Lorraine area of France to visit, Nancy and Strasbourg, which isn't as overcrowded as Paris and the Riviera, is the southeastern province of Alsace Lorraine. This is a beautiful country, leading up the French Alps, and it's also bilingual for the most part. Alsace Lorraine became German when Prussia defeated France in 1870. It remained German until 1918, the end of World War I. Again, after Hitler defeated France in 1940, Alsace Lorraine came under Berlin's control, and remained German-ruled until 1945. So one finds both languages spoken in most of the area, the cuisine of both nations and a France-German flavor. It's an area somewhat like the Tirol, which is a mixture of Italian and Austrian, where one can find and enjoy the best of two cultures-Italian and Austrian. Two of the most attractive cities

NOTES, COMMENT

Much time is wasted preparing for what doesn't happen.

There is nothing sweeter than youth, nor anything as truthful.

The person who said you can live without money never tried it.

Errors often arise when people try to prove that they've been right.

There are two sides to every law suit, the legal and the moral side.

Rarely does anyone take the trouble to thank anyone for anything.

Your money won't do much when you are dead. Put it to work now.

Love increases with time among those who avoid the fate of selfishness.

In spite of all the ads, we haven't found a way to lose ten pounds painlessly.

Church & State

In current presidential primary races the question of church support, the religious right, and anti-abortion religious forces have been hot topics.

One political aide commented that in the South there is a church "on every block." He added that there had been a massive increase in church involvement in political issues since 1988, when Pat Robertson was a presidential candidate (and polled 650,000 votes in southern states).

The question of church involvement in primaries and elections is a delicate one, and should be. In the Old World, where most Americans' ancestors came from, churches often had excessive influence in government. They were funded, in many cases, by the central government. They often concluded treaties or concordats with governments, making church teaching national law.

One of the strengths and freedoms of the United States is its adherence to the Constitution's prohibition of any government recognition or support of any denomination.

Thus, Americans, generally, have long favored keeping religious doctrine and teaching out of politics and government. Because he pledged to do that Jack Kennedy was elected president in a Protestant nation, despite his church's practices in Europe in the past.
