Dove Hunters In North Zone Find Few Birds

Dove hunters in the North Zone have found slim picking so far since opening of the season September 1, according to reports to J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator of the Game and Fish Commission.

In some areas where the grain sorghum harvest has been underway, doves seem to be fairly plentiful. Waterhole shooting, however, has been very skimpy.

According to reports from Oklahoma, dove shooting there has been very good. It is expected that with a change in weather conditions, many of these doves will be moving on south.

Feed then is the problem. If dove weed seeds are ripe and there is plenty of feed to hold doves, they may remain scattered through the northern zone, according to game wardens who have been watching the whole dove situation. Outlook for a good quail season this year is still good, according to many of the wardens.

45 miles.

The official rain gauge measured 1.99 inches, according to Harry Allen, Fisher Street gauges reported 2.75 inches, the Eagle gauge on Hannah Valley Road recorded five inches during the two days and Priddy area reported 4.40 inches.

Total recorded here officially for this month is 2.07 inches.

Rain and storm clouds started breaking up Tuesday evening and sunshine came early Wednesday morning.

Football 35 Years Ago In Goldthwaite

(Editor's Note: The following account of football 35 years ago in Goldthwaite, was written by Clell W. Reed, now residing at 1414 Leggett Drive, Cisco, Texas, as he remembers it while a playing member of the team that year. Original photos were made by Mrs. Carrie Burch and reproduced and enlarged by Wicker Studio. Mr. Reed stated that perhaps it would be of great interest if other members of that team could be heard from, telling where they are and what they are doing now—35 year later.)

By CLELL W. REED

There were only 16 boys on the team that year and were a rather large team in average weight. They played possibly more by brawn than by skill as defensive play was stressed in punting and holding the opposition for downs.

Offensively they relied on out-running and dodging most of the time and when the chips were down, they just tried to run over or through the other teams. The team did not huddle to give signals before lining up, but signals were given orally for plays to be run from formation after teams were lined up in position for play. Single wing, double wing, box formation and spinner plays (later called T formation) were used in offensive play.

No signals were called for defensive play as each man attempted by some method to tackle the ball carrier whoever he might be.

They were coached by Rev. David Barnhill, a Baptist Preacher, who taught science and physics in addition to his coaching duties. D. A. Newton was School Superintendent at that time. It was a common occurrence for the boys who had graduated a year or so before and the headgear was equally as poor in insulation. Some players did not use them as there were no rules to enforce their use at that time.

A strong desire to play rough football and to be in superb physical condition were the top requirements in out-lasting or knocking out the opposition.

To emulate such blockbusters as Alvis Taylor, Glynn Nickols, Bill Lane, Earl Hale, Pepper Brinson and many more fine former Eagle Stars was a stimulus for many of them to do just a little better than their best for a full 60 minute game.

Numerous fistfights would break out during the game up and down the side lines and

He said death occurred sometime between 10 p. m. and midnight Saturday.

Eagles Lose To Mountaineers 12-8; Play Llano Friday Night

Fullback Robert McKenzie intercepted a pass and raced 44 yards for the Eagles' lone touchdown Friday night in the second game of the season. They played the Santa Anna Mountaineers at Santa Anna. Due to mistakes made in the first quarter of the game the Eagles lost 12-8, according to Coach Jackie Williams.

Although the Eagles have had no victories this season as yet, they are chalking up better than last season when they did not score at all against Hamilton and Santa Anna.

Santa Anna's first score was made when Harold Walker went four yards for a touchdown. Pete Simmons passed to Randy Brown 14 yards for their second score of the game.

SOLILOQUY

A Poultry magazine that was handed to the editor by Jesse Moreland, local feed dealer, contained this bit of information that you may enjoy reading.

"From Nicholas Turkey News comes these three timely observations:

"A Father and mother can support 14 children through thick and thin, but the children want the government to support the old folks.

"And it was Goethe who wrote, 'Men are so constituted that everyone undertakes what he sees another successful in, whether he has aptitude for it or not.' How true that has always been of the turkey business.

"Thirdly, it is said that the training for life in our schools will not be completely realistic until the students are allowed to leave in the middle of class for a coffee break."

GHS FOOTBALL 35 YEARS AGO—In this issue of the Eagle you will find some pictures along with story about Goldthwaite High School football 35 years ago.

Original photos were made by Mrs. Carrie Burch and were reproduced and enlarged by Wicker Studio. Original photos belong to Clell W. Reed of Cisco, who wrote the story as he recalled their experiences. He was a member of the team.

Some of our readers will no doubt have the same impression, or feeling, about football in GHS 35 years ago as the editor did when the story and pictures were mentioned to him.

Roy Wilkins and the B. C. Wickers had talked to Mr. Reed and Mrs. Wicker's brother, Mr. Koen some time during the past year about the pictures and story. They thought it might make a good story for the Eagle and Reed agreed to mail the pictures and make some notes as he recalled the happenings.

When I was asked if I would like to have a picture of the Eagle Squad of 35 years ago, I said, sure would, thinking to myself, that is a long time ago.

Then when I was given the pictures and started to read the story, the first line I read was: "The line-up of the fighting Eagles of 1926." I looked at that 1926 again, and the next thought that crossed my mind was, "Shoot, that's not so long ago." But it is just the same.

Hope you enjoy the story and see how many of the Eagles you know today. Thanks to Mr. Reed and Mr. Koen for sending the pictures and giving us some of their football highlights of 1926.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS MOVING AHEAD—Yes, improvements at Mills County Park are moving ahead.

Last week the Eagle reported on the progress being made and improvements that were being planned, as the Lions Club contributed $100 to the park improvement fund.

This week, we are happy to report that work is under way on constructing two brick and concrete picnic tables with benches. These two units will be permanent fixtures and will provide additional facilities for park patrons.

Additional improvements, such as entrance, bridge across the creek and walk way from the park to the Legion Hall are in the planning stages.

Thanks to the members of the Park Board and Garden Club Park Committee for their continued efforts in behalf of park improvements.

SOLILOQUY

A Poultry magazine that was handed to the editor by Jesse Moreland, local feed dealer, contained this bit of information that you may enjoy reading.

"From Nicholas Turkey News comes these three timely observations:

"A Father and mother can support 14 children through thick and thin, but the children want the government to support the old folks.

"And it was Goethe who wrote, 'Men are so constituted that everyone undertakes what he sees another successful in, whether he has aptitude for it or not.' How true that has always been of the turkey business.

"Thirdly, it is said that the training for life in our schools will not be completely realistic until the students are allowed to leave in the middle of class for a coffee break."

GHS FOOTBALL 35 YEARS AGO—In this issue of the Eagle you will find some pictures along with story about Goldthwaite High School football 35 years ago.

Original photos were made by Mrs. Carrie Burch and were reproduced and enlarged by Wicker Studio. Original photos belong to Clell W. Reed of Cisco, who wrote the story as he recalled their experiences. He was a member of the team.

Some of our readers will no doubt have the same impression, or feeling, about football in GHS 35 years ago as the editor did when the story and pictures were mentioned to him.

Roy Wilkins and the B. C. Wickers had talked to Mr. Reed and Mrs. Wicker's brother, Mr. Koen some time during the past year about the pictures and story. They thought it might make a good story for the Eagle and Reed agreed to mail the pictures and make some notes as he recalled the happenings.

When I was asked if I would like to have a picture of the Eagle Squad of 35 years ago, I said, sure would, thinking to myself, that is a long time ago.

Then when I was given the pictures and started to read the story, the first line I read was: "The line-up of the fighting Eagles of 1926." I looked at that 1926 again, and the next thought that crossed my mind was, "Shoot, that's not so long ago." But it is just the same.

Hope you enjoy the story and see how many of the Eagles you know today. Thanks to Mr. Reed and Mr. Koen for sending the pictures and giving us some of their football highlights of 1926.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS MOVING AHEAD—Yes, improvements at Mills County Park are moving ahead.

Last week the Eagle reported on the progress being made and improvements that were being planned, as the Lions Club contributed $100 to the park improvement fund.

This week, we are happy to report that work is underway on constructing two brick and concrete picnic tables with benches. These two units will be permanent fixtures and will provide additional facilities for park patrons.

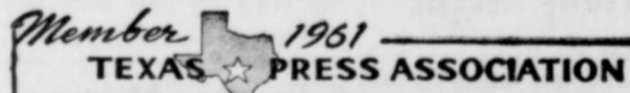

Additional improvements, such as entrance, bridge across the creek and walk way from the park to the Legion Hall are in the planning stages.

Thanks to the members of the Park Board and Garden Club Park Committee for their continued efforts in behalf of park improvements.

Farmers are very busy out our way the past few weeks breaking land and sowing grain.

Word from Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hughes of Hot Springs, Arkansas, stated they were leaving shortly for California, where they will visit Mrs. Hughes' sister, Mrs. Bonnie Montgomery and Mr. Montgomery. On their return they will come by Texas for a visit with the C. H. Blacks.

We enjoyed a very pleasant visit in Midland last week with a daughter, Mrs. Curtis Mosley and Mr. Mosley. While in San Angelo we had the pleasure of visiting Boys Ranch of West Texas. Most of the 56 youngsters met us with a hearty handshake and introduced themselves.

After meeting most of the staff we were invited to the large dining room for the noon meal. After lunch we were driven through the grounds for an inspection of the different phases of improvements which are underway to make the home attractive as well as profitable.

Layton and Thresa Black of Navasota spent Friday night with his parents. Other guests of the Blacks were Dr. Turman and family of Austin.

Guests in our home last week were Mrs. Hazel Mosley and a friend, Mrs. Floyd Thompson of Midland.

Charles J. Hill and children, Jimmy and Jane, of Morton visited friends here, Thursday and Friday. They were en route home from Fort Worth where Jimmy had received a check up.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Vizins of Aransas Pass were guests of Mrs. J. W. Weathers Sunday afternoon.

NEWS from YOUR COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT TEXAS A. & M. COLLEGE EXTENSION SERVICE

By ELGIN SMITH

Seed grass to increase returns. It is seldom possible to duplicate composition of what was climax vegetation on a given site, because during the time the grasses were missing the site itself underwent certain changes and became either better or worse than it was originally. In the case of abandoned fields, probably worse.

Abandoned fields, even though stable with a cover of threeawn and weedy plants, can be made more productive with today's planting materials. Using today's locally adapted seed such as sidecoats grama, green sprangle-top, Indian-grass, and switchgrass, old fields can be re-established with climax vegetation with a certainty we didn't always have in the past.

If you are in the ranching business for a profit—make old fields pay their own way.

Threeawns and weeds cannot compare in production or palatability with sidecoats grama, switchgrass and the other adapted grasses previously mentioned.

Threeawns lose their palatability when they make seed in early summer. Grasses such as sidecoats grama and switchgrass keep their palatability until they make seed in the fall. Also they cure out well and are readily taken by livestock the winter.

In addition to palatability real eye-opener is the capacity the more palatable grasses have over threeawn. Clipping studies made in August substantiate this fact.

On a shallow soil threeawn was producing 2,400 pounds air dried forage per acre. Sidecoats grama clipped an average of 3,425 pounds of air dried forage on the same soil. If we were grazing a cow to every acre sidecoats would give an additional 5 tons of gain per cow—and that "ain't bad."

A single clipping of bluestem on a shallow soil the same area, but one more fertile, produced 11,000 pounds of air dried forage. On the same basis of one cow ten acres this would be an additional 34.5 tons of grass per cow when compared to 5 pounds of air dried forage produced by threeawn on this soil.

Make your plans now for seeding to be done next year. Make old fields pay their

Plucky Stevie Helps Science Toward Answer to Arthritis

Stevie Vardol gives blood sample to laboratory nurse.

For plucky Stevie Vardol, 10, life much of the time is just an unhappy succession of giving samples of his body to science.

But Stevie, who would rather be swimming and roller skating in Minneapolis (if he only could) than spending endless hours in the Children's Rheumatic Clinic of the University of Minnesota Medical School, doesn't feel sorry for himself. He knows he is doing a job that must be done: that the doctors' appraisal of the tissue samples from his swollen knees, specimens of knee-joint fluid, and of his blood may in time prevent in other children the affliction that befell him three painful years ago.

Stevie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in the knees, hands, wrists.

Throughout the nation, another 30,000 Stevies—or their small sisters—also suffer each year from this excruciating disease. With March of Dimes funds, The National Foundation (which made possible development of the Salk polio vaccine) is today supporting the University of Minnesota's Children's Rheumatism Clinic with a research grant. Other arthritis research projects are under way at the Rockefeller Institute, at New York University, the University of Buffalo and at other famed scientific institutions, all financed by the March of Dimes.

Additionally, The National Foundation has established arthritis study centers at Columbia University, the University of Rochester (N. Y.), the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco.

The doctors confidently tell Stevie they will solve the enigma of rheumatoid arthritis in time, and find a preventive, given enough support. But they don't delude this valiant little boy or his puzzled father and mother who ask, despairingly, "Why should this happen to us, to Stevie?" The medical scientists look him squarely in the eye and say, "We just can't promise we'll make you well again. But then again, perhaps eventually we will."

Stevie's stout answer is to roll up his sleeve for another ten cc's of his blood (which contains an abnormal protein, a mark of his disease); or to pull up his trouser leg to give up another specimen of lubricating fluid from his knee.

In the laboratory, Stevie's blood is compared painstakingly to normal blood in the incessant search for an answer to what is wrong with Stevie and with the other 30,000 children. Perhaps what is wrong is an abnormal development of antibodies. Antibodies are the substance that combat bacteria. Then, samples of the connective tissue around his knees are studied and photographed under the giant electron microscope and compared to normal tissue.

Stevie doesn't cry although his doctors say that the pain he suffers at times beggars description. He is not a "guinea pig" in the full medical sense of the term. But the resolute and uncompromising bearing of this young gentleman of only 10 is evidence that he knows he is a volunteer of the fight against the nation's No. 1 Crippler—arthritis, which in one or another form, strikes at 11 million Americans.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin, Texas — Radioactive fallout is under close scrutiny at Texas' two testing stations in Austin and El Paso.

Resumption of nuclear testing by the Soviet Union brought on the 24-hour-a-day shift atop the State Health Department building in Austin where sampling devices, working like vacuum cleaners, pull jet streams of air through a filter to measure fallout.

During the four year nuclear test ban, radioactive got progressively lower. Before the tests were stopped, engineers said it was 50 to 100 times higher. They expect results of Russian shots to begin showing up here within the next few days.

Meanwhile, Gov. Price Daniel announced a survey is being launched in Texas to make fallout shelter space available over the state. He said Col. R. Paul West of the U. S. Army Engineers at Fort Worth, who has been assigned to survey, will work in coordination with the State Civil Defense and Disaster Relief Division and local civil defense officials.

Survey is part of a national program to locate possible fallout shelter space in existing buildings, tunnels and other protected areas.

POULTRY INDUSTRY IN TROUBLE
Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White organized a conference of southern Agriculture Commissioners in Atlanta, Ga., to "seek ways and means to help save the poultry industry."

White said they will attempt to relieve the current "disastrous poultry prices" which are at the lowest point in the history of commercial broiler production.

"This is not just a local situation in Texas," White said. "The entire national broiler industry is suffering from a price depression."

He reported poultry prices dropped in the past week to as low as 10.5 cents per pound, or as much as five cents below cost for many producers.

Meanwhile, the Attorney General's Department is studying the record of a special court of inquiry to determine if anti-trust violations are involved in the price decline.

Phil Friberg, manager of the Western Hatcheries in Gonzales, said 50 per cent of Texas' broiler producers will be out of business if something doesn't happen.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson wants to determine if "there is any effort to price the Texas poultry producer out of business."

PADRE ISLAND STUDY ORDERED

Governor Daniel has taken up Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler's recommendation that a feasibility study be made to determine whether Padre Island beaches should be turned into a state park area.

Sadler said the Governor agreed to appoint a statewide committee with instructions to report quickly. The long, slender island, a potential playground paradise, has been the center of controversy since it was proposed that a large portion of it be turned over to the federal government for a national park area.

DEMOCRAT TURNS REPUBLICAN

Jack Cox of Breckenridge, former member of the Texas House of Representatives who ran as a democrat for Governor in 1960, announced he is enlisting in the Republican Party "as a buck private."

"I can no longer support nor be a part of the Democratic Party under its present leadership and political platforms," he said. "And I shall immediately exercise my constitutional privilege of pledging my efforts and dedicating whatever abilities I may have to assist the Republican Party in its fight to restore constitutional government."

He said he will gladly serve the party of his new choice "in any capacity, no matter how small."

But he left the door open to run for Governor again. He polled some 620,000 votes in a two-man race that Governor Daniel won with 909,000 votes in 1960.

LOAN COMPANIES CLEARED OF ANTI-TRUST CHARGE

A civil anti-trust suit alleging 31 loan companies conspired to push punitive small loan laws through the Texas Legislature has been dismissed by Federal Judge Ben Rice Jr. in Austin.

Suit, filed by J. L. House Jr. who operates a small loan business in Waco and other cities, charged that large Texas and out-of-state loan companies conspired to secure enactment of laws that would "destroy the small loan business of the plaintiff and all other similarly situated."

Judge Rice held the allegations did not show sufficient cause against the defendant companies to warrant a court trial.

National P.T.A. Finds Varied Ways To Meet Range of Children's Needs

Major goals are the same in some 47,000 P.T.A.'s of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, even though ways of approaching them are as diverse as the various communities.

In Alaska, where children leave for school in the dark and return home in the dark, every child carries a flashlight. To attend P.T.A. meetings the president of the Alaska Congress of Parents and Teachers frequently travels hundreds of miles per day in country where temperatures may stay around 25 below zero for weeks at a stretch. She can reach many communities only by small plane.

In Hawaii, the autumn ripening of the coffee crop makes fall the season for "summer" vacation from school. The state's mid-ocean locale makes the Hawaii Congress president an accessible consultant to parents and educators who fly in from Southeast Asia to learn more about the P.T.A.

American schools in Europe take advantage of their location to offer foreign language studies in elementary grades and to hold classes with native children. P.T.A.'s in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers are concerned, too, with problems of establishing residence for children of U.S. servicemen and government employees applying for admission to outside colleges.

Here in these far-flung areas as well as in all the areas where 47,000 P.T.A.'s serve, each local unit of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers adapts its own program to fit the needs of its youngsters.

"This is the way of the P.T.A.," says Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, of Roslyn Heights, L.I., N.Y., who now heads the 12-million-membership organization as National Congress president.

"We have one essential objective as an organization," she

Children of every age and heritage are the concern of the P.T.A., as the National Congress of Parents and Teachers this fall schedules a new membership effort aimed at adding more workers to the P.T.A. "team" that now includes more than 12,000,000.

notes. "It is the welfare of children. But our individual approaches to promoting their well-being may vary as widely as do the children themselves."

This fall the National Congress is scheduling a new membership effort to enroll more people—parents, teachers, other interested persons—in P.T.A. activities.

"They will find local programs challenging and vital," Mrs. Jenkins promises, "because P.T.A. activities center around the needs of each community and the children who are its future."

In Alaska, for example, the Congress of Parents and Teachers, concerned about education for children of homesteaders, is currently urging a study of road maintenance in outlying areas, so that children in isolated spots may be assured of passable routes to school.

Getting to school is a real problem, even in well-settled areas, according to Mrs. Robert C. Cole, who heads the Alaska Congress. Her home in Spennard is only eight miles from Anchorage, but morning and evening she sends the family dog along to protect her two children from wild moose that roam the woods in the quarter-mile area between home and bus stop.

P.T.A.'s in the nation's newest state are seeking to preserve Hawaiian culture in terms of dances, language, and music. Mrs. Teruo Yoshina, of Honolulu, president of the Hawaii Congress, sees this interest as an important segment of Hawaiian P.T.A. activity. Another aspect of the state's P.T.A. program—its emphasis on adult education—is of special interest to the groups from Thailand, Pakistan, India, Cambodia, and Indochina who have been entertained there during recent months.

Parent-teacher cooperation is something new in most of the nations where the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers functions; but its president, J. Gordon Smock, finds that educators abroad are anxious to cooperate in joint programs to help American youngsters learn more about the culture and people of the countries in which they are living.

Meeting problems of a more conventional nature is "typically P.T.A.," as well, Mrs. Jenkins points out. For example, —The parking problems of some 500 students who drive to school daily at Elkhart (Ind.) High School recently gave rise to a P.T.A. survey of available parking space in the neighborhood. These students now have maps showing free and metered space, all within easy walking distance.

—Lack of a library in one of the elementary schools in Fords, N. J., was corrected through P.T.A. effort. Nearly 1,000 books were collected, indexed, and installed in shelves built by a P.T.A. father. Library service is dispensed by some of the P.T.A. mothers.

—Firearms safety is taught in special classes arranged by the Scottsdale Tavan (Ariz.) P.T.A., with "safe hunter" badges awarded to youngsters who complete training given by expert riflemen.

—An unprotected walk on a highway bridge, a twice-daily hazard in Boise, Idaho, for some 75 Whittier School pupils, got the P.T.A.'s attention. Now a protective railing, erected by the state highway department, makes the well-traveled route a safe one.

"In any of these situations," says Mrs. Jenkins, "the P.T.A. first sees and then serves a local need. Service to communities and to children everywhere will continue to grow as more and more persons join the P.T.A. local, state, and national partnership."

Fishermen— not fish— break fishing tackle.

When the truth wins out, you will discover that the "big one" that broke the line wasn't so big after all.

Let me relate the story of an angler who lost a "huge" redfish in the surf near High Island on Bolivar Peninsula. Although this took place several years ago, it will illustrate the point of this column.

I won't embarrass the angler by naming him. But here's the story.

He hooked a red fish—and in short order the fish broke the line. The angler boasted that the fish was a real monster because he was using brand new 36-pound test line.

Within an hour after the fellow lost the fish, some beach-seiners about a mile down the beach brought in their net. One of the fish trapped was a redfish complete with a hook in its mouth, a long wire leader, and about 10 yards of line.

The angler, who happened upon the scene, identified the terminal tackle as his. The beach-seiners, in view of this unusually large catch—that got away—gave him the fish. Now here comes the corker.

That redfish weighed exactly

11 pounds. It was a far cry from the 40 to 50 pound monster implied by the angler.

Sure enough the angler's line was brand new. His rod tip and guides were in good shape. So the line wasn't weakened by fraying.

Truth of the matter is that the fisherman—not the fish—broke that 36-pound test line. Here's how it happened.

When the fish made its run for freedom, the angler feared he might not have enough line on the reel. So he hauled back as hard as he could to check the run. Naturally the strain of the fish pulling in one direction, and the angler jerking in the other, parted the line.

Fish losses like this happen every day. It's the result of excitement and inexperience. Usually the angler could have landed the fish by playing it.

Redfish aren't noted for long runs. Their runs are short, 20 to 30 yards at most, before they change directions.

So if that angler, who felt that the line was getting near the end of the spool, would have walked down the beach with the fish or even waded out into the water, he might have landed it.

Many line breaks occur because the angler fails to periodically check the line for frayed spots.

Let me point out here that line fraying usually occurs in the first few feet of the line. And here's why.

Every time you cast out, tremendous pressure is exerted on the line where it comes in contact with the rod-tip top. Eventually this will fray and weaken the line. Play it safe by cutting off a few feet of line every time you make a trip. Thus you will get rid of that part of the line subjected to heavy pressure and the greatest wear in casting.

You should frequently check the rod-tip top—particularly if you use nylon or monofilament line. These lines are extremely hard and in heavy fishing will wear grooves in the tip top.

Agat tip tops will crack and chip, and the sharp edges will cut the line. Replace faulty tip tops immediately.

Rust on the metal tip top will ruin a line. If you can't clean the rust off, replace the tip top. Line comes in various pound tests. Its strength will remain constant unless the line is abused. This is particularly true with linen lines used in salt water fishing. Linen line stored wet will rot quickly.

It's better to practice good line maintenance than to lose a fish because of line neglect.

Regardless of the strength of the line, you weaken it every time you tie a knot in it. The degree of weakening, however, can be minimized by learning to use the proper knots.

The simple, ordinary square knot will cut line strength about 50 per cent. Obviously a line testing out at 36-pounds will break at about 18 pounds at the point of the knot.

Best knot to use is the blood or jam knot. It's tied simply by running one end through the hook eye. Twist this end at least five times (preferably eight or ten times) around the standing end of the line. Then slip the end back through the loop between the hook eye and the first twist. Now run the end back through the big loop just formed and pull the knot tight.

It's easy to tie. It forms a neat knot that will not slip. But more important it decreases line strength at the point of the knot only by about 20 per cent.

For example, with 36-pound-test line, this knot will reduce line strength at the point of the knot by a little more than seven pounds. For the sake of round numbers, let's say eight pounds. The weight needed to break the line would then be 28 pounds—which is a long way from the 18 pounds required to snap the line if a square knot is used.

A rod with the wrong kind of tip action will cause an angler to break lines.

The rod tip is a shock absorber. It takes up the shock transmitted by a fish on a sudden run, or the shock transmitted when the angler hauls back hard to bed the hook in the fish's mouth.

A springy tip allows the strain of the sudden shock to be transmitted to the line gradually.

With a very stiff tip, the strain on the line is quite sudden. Result: Pop goes the line and the fish goes free.

Next time you lose a fish, don't blame it all on the size of the fish. Stop and consider how you played the fish. Then examine your tackle. If your tackle is okay and you "played it" right—perhaps you did lose a big one. Maybe even a record-breaker!

A Moment With The Bible

THE KINGDOM

The beginning of Christ's kingdom was near when John spoke of it, and when the twelve were sent forth (Matt. 3:2; 10:7). The seventy preached it had "come nigh" (Luke 10:9). Jesus promised that some people then present would live to see the kingdom come with power (Mk. 9:1), so it must have been established in that generation (Acts 2).

His kingdom is a spiritual kingdom, not of this world (John 18:36). Christ is the king (John 18:37) who was raised from the dead to sit on David's throne (Acts 2:30). He will continue to reign till the end of the world; He will not establish another kingdom in the future, but when he returns his kingdom will then be delivered to the Father (I Cor. 15:24-26).

Policy Development Precinct Meetings Set For Farm Bureau

Mills County Farm Bureau Policy Development Committee under the leadership of Hubert Reeves met Tuesday night, September 5, to organize Precinct meetings to be held throughout the county. These meetings will be held the week of September 18 through September 22 at the following places:

September 18 — Goldthwaite Farm Bureau Office, W. G. Bishop, chairman;

Sears Swine Judging Here Last Saturday

The Mills County Sears Swine Show was held last Saturday morning at the Livestock Show barn in Goldthwaite. There was $18.75 awarded in prizes.

First place gilt was owned and exhibited by Sandra Kay Alexander of Star. Bobby Burns exhibited the second place gilt. Vicki Jeske exhibited the third place gilt. Darrell Hunt placed fourth with his gilt and John Carl Smith placed fifth with his gilt.

These gilts were awarded to these 4-H Club members in June of this year and these boys and girls will return a registered gilt from their first litters next June.

Sandra Kay will compete in the Sears Swine Show on Saturday, September 16 at Brownwood. The following counties make up the Brownwood District: McCulloch, Mills, San Saba, Brown, Comanche, and Erath.

The boar pig, owned by Larry Alexander, will also be exhibited at the Brownwood Show, according to George Reese, County Agent.

September 18—Ridge Schoolhouse, Andy Rowlett, chairman;

September 19—Star Schoolhouse, Arnold Head, chairman;

September 21—Mullin Agriculture Building, A. R. Whisenhunt, chairman;

September 22—Priddy Schoolhouse, Ewell Priddy, chairman.

All meetings will begin at 8:00 p. m., and each Farm Bureau member is urged to attend one of these meetings, according to announcement by W. G. Bishop, president. Mr. Bishop says, "come out and let's talk over our problems and help decide on sound policies for Farm Bureau. Small meetings such as these in the neighborhood are most important. Here the facts can be studied and good discussions can take place. These meetings make it possible for more members to take an active part in their Farm Bureau."

"Policies in Farm Bureau are 'Signposts' that guide us in what we do about all sorts of problems. They give direction to the officers and staff. They provide the basis for unity of purpose and action by the organization."

"Farm Bureau policies are built by our membership and whether the policies are on county problems or on state and national issues, they are based on RECOMMENDATIONS adopted by a majority vote. It's the process Farm Bureau has developed to make it possible for farmers everywhere to meet, study, debate, decide and rally around a sound solution to their policies."

"Come out and help draw up these recommendations."

Mrs. Hud Hamilton returned last week from McCamey where she visited her husband.

MRS. WILBUR KARL GRELL

Iva Lucille Bunting Becomes Bride Of Wilbur Karl Grell

Miss Iva Lucille Bunting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Bunting of Indian Gap became the bride of Wilbur Karl Grell of Hondo, Saturday evening, September 2, at 8 o'clock, in the Caradan Baptist Church. Rev. Maebon Sanner, pastor of the church, officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony, before an altar decorated with baskets of white glads and mums and candelabra with tall white tapers. Mrs. Maebon Sanner presented appropriate musical selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white bridal gown. The Chantilly lace basque featured a scalloped neckline and long sleeves that came to points over the hand. The very bouffant skirt was enhanced with panels of Chantilly lace. Her tiered veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations surrounded by stephanotis.

Miss Martha Bunting was her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Kenneth Grell of San Antonio was bride's matron. They wore gowns of Royal blue taffeta with chiffon overskirts, blue shoes and carried bouquets of white mums.

Gene Bunting, brother of the bride, served as best man. Howard Bunting, brother of the bride, James Poer, uncle of the bride, and Kenneth Grell, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents. The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth over blue and centered with an arrangement of white mums, carrying out the bride's chosen colors. Miss Joann Senger and Miss Joanna Fay Dryman served the three-tiered wedding cake and punch, assisted by Mrs. W. R. Pearson of Corpus Christi, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Tommy Allman of San Antonio presided at the bride's book.

For a wedding trip to Big Bend National Park the bride wore a lavender suit with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Goldthwaite High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Hondo High School and is a member of the Sheriff's Department at Hondo, where the couple are now at home.

The players had to provide their own transportation in Model T's, 490 Chevrolets and Baby Overland cars to and from the games played away from home.

Several of the local "fist swingers" were carried along just for security reasons and to help keep the game officials honest, who were sometimes enlisted at the last moment from the opposing school town's citizenship when the situation was doubtful.

The Eagles won over half of their games that year, playing Comanche, Lampasas, Lometa, San Saba, Richland Springs, Cross Plains, Santa Anna and other teams in the Goldthwaite area. Several of these boys went on to college and universities to become outstanding players. Those days were the middle of the roaring 20's in Goldthwaite High School football.

1961 Feed Grain Payments Underway

Final payments to farmers who earned them by taking part in the 1961 feed grain program for corn and grain sorghum are now being made throughout the county, E. L. Burkett, Chairman, Mills County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

Advance payments were made to many producers at the time they signified their intention of participating in the program as a means of helping meet production expenses and maintaining farmers' income.

tended to thirty-nine potential sponsor organizations and churches to be represented by five persons each with the plan that additional Scouting units be organized this Fall so that hundreds of new members may join.

Rev. Wallace J. Shelton of Brownwood is Chairman of the Together Committee for the eight-county Council. Warren P. Duren of Goldthwaite is Chairman in the South Central District.

Mills County farmers are eligible to receive a total of $43,440 for diverting corn and grain sorghum acreage into soil-conserving uses, as provided under the program. As of Sept. 11, 1961 payments already made in the county—including advance and some final payments—totalled $38,527. Payments are made in the form of certificates, which producers may exchange for grain or the cash equivalent of grain. In earning these payments, farmers in Mills County diverted 2,800 acres from corn and grain sorghum production to conservation.

The 1961 feed grain program was designed to reduce production of feed grains eligible for price support and to end the constant buildup of stocks on which the Government must pay storage. Chairman Burkett emphasized that compliance with the program is contingent upon the proper protection, throughout 1961, of the land retired from production. A violation of program provisions could result in a tremendous loss to the producer.

Congress has authorized a similar program for 1962 grain crops, adding barley, the corn and grain sorghum crops covered by the program.

The program sign-up for crop winter barley will get under way soon, as well as for 1962 wheat stabilization program made available by the recent approval of making quotas for the 1962 wheat crop.

Definite sign-up dates will be announced by the County Office.
