Refund Checks Due Hamilton Customers

Hamilton County Electric Cooperative Association, which serves much of Mills County, has mailed out refund checks to members and checks to members for capital credit accrued during the period of 1947-1966. This was the first refund check issued by the electric service cooperative. Steve Young, office manager of the Co-op, said that approximately 16,000 checks have been mailed to members with the total refund for this year amounting to approximately $97,000. The refunds were made possible under a new rate structure approved last year by the Public Utility Commission, according to Young.

He said that many of the checks represent the total amount of capital credits earned by members during the 20-year period, but that additional payments will be made annually for the next nine years to those whose capital credits exceeded $10. This year's payments to those whose credits exceeded $10 was based on 8.44 percent.

In a letter accompanying the checks, John Hartgraves, manager of the Co-op, said "Capital credits represent the revenue which is received above the expense of operating the Co-operative. Each year capital credits are allocated to the Members' accounts in proportion to what they have paid for electric service during that year."

"This year's refund is based upon capital credits that were earned by the members from 1947 through 1966. Refunds were made as follows: (1) accounts of $10 or less were refunded in full and (2) accounts in excess of $10 were refunded at a rate of 8.44%. Any future capital credit refunds will cover the period from 1947-1966 until such time as the entire amount of all members' capital credits for this period have been refunded."

Young said that anyone who has not received a check, but feels they may be eligible for a refund, should contact the Co-op as soon as possible. He said that "quite a few" checks have been returned as not deliverable by the post office because of inability to trace the whereabouts of the former members.

"We'll make a special effort to see that all refunds are paid," Young said in inviting calls from persons who may be eligible for refunds but have not yet received checks.

He said that more than $929,000 is due to be refunded during this and the nine succeeding years.

Saturday Is Pickin' and Fiddlin' Time

The regular 1st Saturday fiddler's musical, sponsored by the Fiddler's Association, will be held at the Goldthwaite Senior Center Saturday night, Aug. 4, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone is invited to this relaxing, foot stomping musical.

Annual Meeting Hamilton Co-Op Friday

The 40th Annual Membership Meeting of the Hamilton County Electric Cooperative Association will be held Friday, August 3, at 8:00 p.m., in the Hamilton School cafeteria, Hamilton, Texas.

John B. Hartgraves, manager of the Hamilton Co-Op, will be the guest speaker for the evening. Prizes will be given away to lucky members of the association. Public is invited.

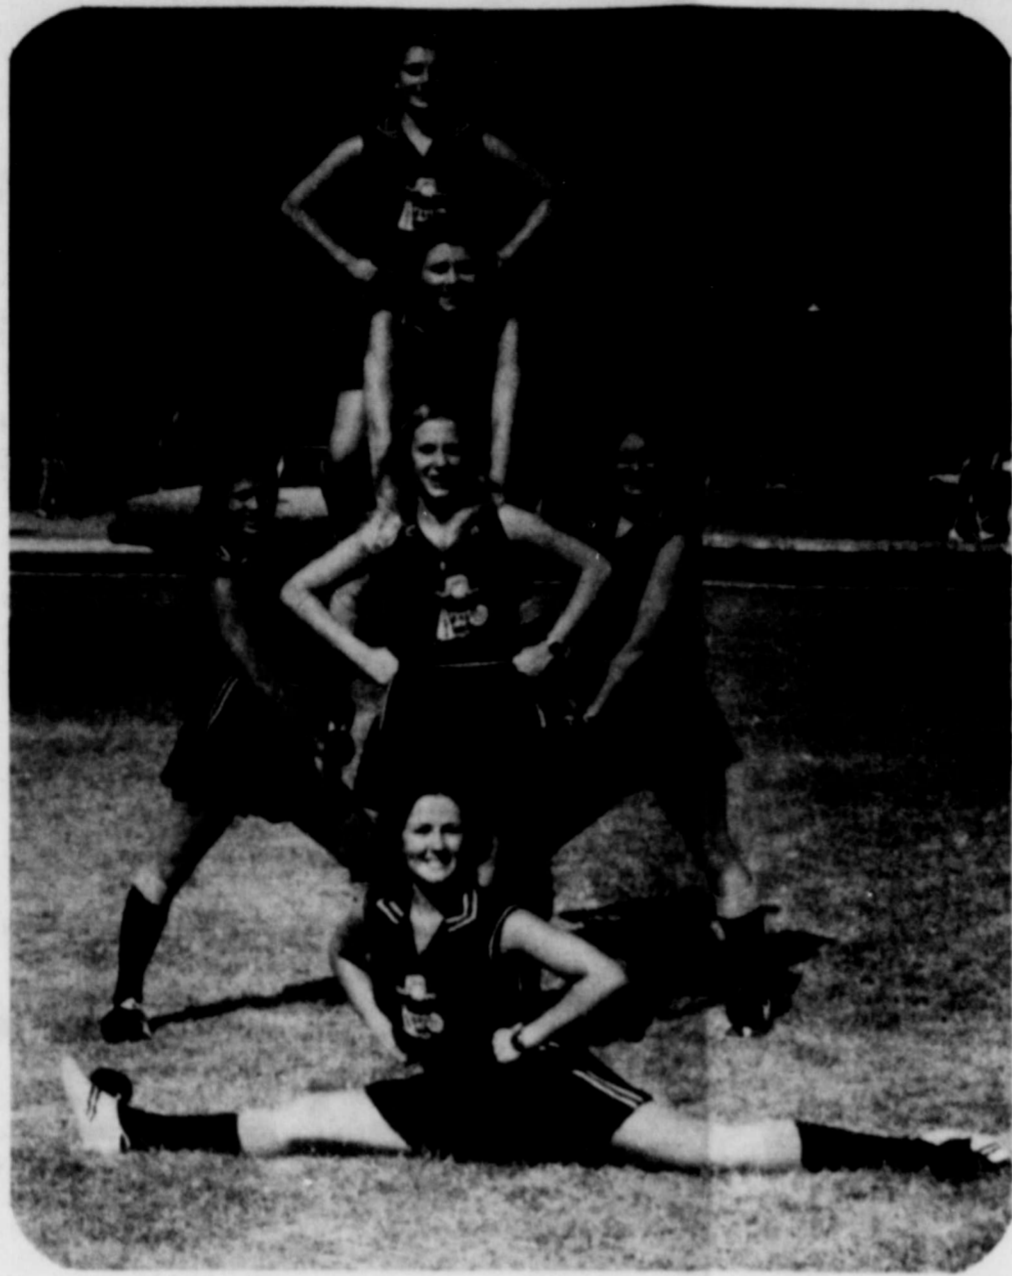

Commissioner Brown has served as a member of the graduate faculty of Colorado State University during his tenure with the Extension Service, teaching extension courses in Human Services.

March 1974, Brown named special assistant Governor Dolph Briscoe, responsible for rural development and agricultural programs.

In recognition of his service to more than 5,000 members of the community building meeting of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Executives honored Brown with a special award, one of the first of its kind. The resolution of the Chamber of Commerce of Texas, "We honor Dolph Briscoe for having advanced and enriched the lives of thousands of members of the Chambers of Commerce of Texas."

March 28, 1977, Dolph Briscoe was sworn in as Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, appointed by Governor Dolph Briscoe to fill the two-year unexpired term of the former commissioner. Texas voters elected Brown to his first term in May 1978.

Prizes will be given away to lucky members of the association. Public is invited.

GHS Cheerleaders Bring Home Spirit Stick

Recently the Goldthwaite High School cheerleaders attended a cheerleading clinic on the campus of Hardin Simmons University, Abilene. The girls worked very hard for five days and brought home some items to attest to their school spirit and willingness to work.

The Eagle cheerleaders won four superior ribbons and one excellent ribbon. These ribbons are awarded to the squad which shows the best technique, spirit, cheerfulness, and cooperativeness.

The squad also brought home the Spirit Stick, which is awarded the squad that maintains high spirit all during the clinic.

Finally, the Eagle squad was nominated for the Award of Excellence. Four squads are nominated for this award; one is chosen. These nominations are made on the squads' ability to maintain excellent cheerleading technique, high school spirit, ability to get along with everyone at the clinic, leadership, and overall good attitude. Although the Eagle squad did not win the Award of Excellence, they should be congratulated on their hard work and high spirits.

The GHS cheerleaders for the school year 1979-80 are: Tina Studer, head cheerleader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Studer; Cindy Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Berry; Beverly Carothers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Carothers; Joy Truitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Truitt; Sunnye Sims, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Sims; and Patti Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Wilcox.

New Lab Instrument

Children's Hospital has recently installed a blood gases analysis machine in the laboratory at the medical facility. The new instrument will greatly improve the blood examining capability of the hospital, according to Dr. Vijay Koli. Dr. Koli said the results of tests run in the machine can show much about the overall conditions of the patient, particularly in the acid-basic areas of diagnosis. The instrument is another step forward in the progress of the small clinic and hospital in Goldthwaite. The remodeling and addition of two examining rooms and offices is now underway at Childress.

Yvonne Humphries, 1979 Mills County Farm Bureau Queen will participate in district competition at the San Saba High School Cafeteria on Sunday, August 5 at 7 p.m. Also participating in district Talent Find competition will be the 1979 Mills County Farm Bureau Talent Find winners Kay Collier, Beverly Carothers and Tim Spradley, alternate for Stephen Schwartz.

Winners in both the district queen and talent contests will advance to state competition in November at McAllen. Winners at state receive an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. and to the American Farm Bureau Federation convention.

Come out and support these talented youngsters on August 5 at the San Saba High School Cafeteria.

Beautiful Gem Collection Featured At Mills Museum

The Board of Directors of the Mills County Historical Museum is proud to present Mr. and Mrs. Sam Drew's collection of gems and minerals for display. The Drews started collecting this outstanding collection while they were residents of Hobbs, N.M., and as their collection grew, they entered and won many blue ribbons at shows throughout their state and in other western states. The ribbons are on display with the gems.

Included in the Drew's beautiful collection are many semi-precious stones, both cut and polished, and in their natural state. There are rubies from India, opals from both Mexico and Australia, garnets and pearls and Okenite from India. One will also find unusual pieces of obsidian from the Western U.S., picture rocks which show nature's own landscapes and animals painted thousands of years ago by volcanoes, and many, many beautiful geodes, one of nature's most beautiful stones. There are fossils of all types - two very unusual ones - one showing a fish and the other a beetle - and there are also fossils that were found in Mills County.

While the Drews lived in New Mexico, they were members of the Lea-Lap Gem and Mineral Club and were affiliated with the Rocky Mountain Gem and Mineral Federation.

Mrs. Drew made jewelry and carvings from many of her gems and stones, and also painted pictures with them.

The Mills Minister

By: George R. Qualley

Recently, Zion Lutheran Church was pleased to have as its guest preacher, Vicar Carol Whittington of Faith Lutheran Church in Seguin. Her message brought much reflection to the members of Zion church -- because it dealt with expectations.

How often it is that we close ourselves off by expecting only certain things. We try to tell God what we want, and when we want it. As a people, we seem to have lost that openness, which the ancient Israelites had toward the providence of God.

Think for a moment, what do you really expect from God in your life right now? God's love for you is all encompassing. It is His love which has reached out to you through Jesus Christ on the cross. It is His love which has given you life -- a life with which you can have real impact in this community.

The Christian walk is truly an adventure, when we realize that God at any time can give us a new set of marching orders, and a new command. This new command may be the call to more and closer activity with your family or beloved one. It could be the call to reach a friend who is hurting, or someone whom you had long ago written off as a waste of time. It could be the discovery of new talents, or a new profession, or a new way to say "I love you" to your mate.

The unexpected is not a threat to life, but rather, one further step on the road to full self-discovery. The unexpected is the ever present challenge of life. Yet, the unexpected is only thrilling when it is expected; when you as an individual are open to newness.

Jesus after His resurrection granted peace to His disciples. It was this sense of inner peace which gave them the courage to strike out on new paths to proclaim the Gospel. This same sense of inner peace is given also to us through baptism as we are made children of God. With the water and the Word, we are given the openness to expect the unexpected, and to live it for Jesus' sake.

The predatory animal control problem is still of major concern to Mills County producers. Losses due to predation have been reduced through efforts of government trappers and the county animal control program.

Producers are urged to support the control program through voluntary donations to the Mills County Predatory Animal Control Fund. The donations support both the government trapper program and the bounty program, which are in operation at the present time.

Donations should be made to Judge James Ledbetter or County Ext. Agent, Danny Long. Donations also should be designated as to how it be used for support of the trapper program, or the bounty program, or both.

Members of the Mills Co. Commissioners Court have asked that residents of Mills County exercise caution on county roads. Recent rains have produced dense forage growth in many of the county road right of ways. This restricts vision and is a possible threat to drivers.

Heritage Happenings

We enjoy many activities, but the Barbecue for our residents and volunteers was one of our most pleasurable. We appreciated so much the time you took out of a busy schedule to be with us on this occasion. We want to thank Marj Head, Kay Collier, the Hairston Sisters, Wynell Kirby and Sybil Head, for their entertainment.

We also enjoyed another watermelon feast last week, and we thank Oleta Collier and Irene Meier for their help with that.

We are seeing smiling faces all around lately, and I am sure it is because so many of our residents have enjoyed having their families and friends visit during the summer. I hope this will continue right on through the year.

The Church of Christ of Goldthwaite served our birthday party in July. The Kiddie Korner entertained. We appreciate the children coming so very much. Thanks Patsy for bringing them. Those enjoying birthdays were Jessie Gotcher, Bill Woody, Florence Reese, Robert Carter, Charlie Stephens, and Addie Welby.

WE WELCOME: Mima Powell, Billy Dickson and Paul Bartlett.

ZEN HO! DISQUIET IN THE FOREST OF PENCILS
Two students are fighting in their room in the second floor dormitory, Lao Tsu Hall, at the White Mountain School of Oriental Philosophy. Mark McCabe picked up a copy of "Theories of Perception and the Concept of Structure," by Floyd H. Allport, John Wiley and Sons, 1955, and hit his room mate over the head with it. The weighty tome stunned Freddie, and he fell to his knees. For a few seconds he saw a miniature of Kaiser Wilhelm flying around the room singing Rachmaninoff's "In The Silent Night" in E Flat. As he struggled to his feet he was aware of his daze, and a lost feeling came over his mind. He had never heard the Rachmaninoff in E Flat before.

Mark, seeing his friend hurt, rushed over to help Freddie to his feet.

"You OK?" he asked.
"Yeah, I guess, but E Flat?" he replied, reeling a bit as if he were about to fall again.

They were fighting about a treatise on Zen Buddhism by Huang Po. The Northern School of Zen taught the Gradual Awareness of One Mind. The southern school taught the Sudden Awareness of One Mind. Freddie believed in the way he had learned everything else - that it takes time to master things. Mark decried that Zen wasn't a compartmental or a step-by-step study. Satori (a great moment of complete enlightenment) was attained by a sudden intuition, an absence of words and their tyranny.

"You see," Freddie was saying, "even as you are explaining the Sudden Awareness of One Mind, you are taking time, many words, you are doing it gradually proving that I am right about the Gradual Awareness of One Mind."

It was this that brought on Mark's vehement reply. "There! Now! You are aware!" he shouted it as he swung the weighty copy of "Theories of Perception and Concept of Structure," by Floyd H. Allport, John Wiley and sons, 1955, on Freddie's head.

So you see-- it wasn't really a fight at all. They sat down afterward and were very quiet for a long while. They were letting the "all reaching beyond universes, all encompassing one mind" become.

A lot of top quality hay is being produced this year, and some of the best hay in the state will be exhibited at the State Hay Show at Lufkin, November 10, 1979, at the Lufkin Civic Center.

Most hay entries will come from county competitions such as the Mills County Show, which is scheduled for late September.

County and state shows benefit hay producers by allowing them to compare hay on local and state levels. They can then evaluate their hay's feeding value and learn how to put up better quality hay.

The state show includes educational exhibits and commercial exhibits of equipment, seed, chemicals and fertilizer.

At every show, hay is judged according to its feeding value to livestock compared to hay of its type. State hay classes are coastal bermuda grass, other bermuda grass, other perennials, mixed grasses, summer annuals, winter annuals, alfalfa, and other legumes and legume-grass mixtures.

Within each class, hay is placed by physical and chemical scores. The physical score is determined by maturity, texture, leafiness, color and freedom from foreign material.

Chemical score comes from an analysis to determine crude protein. The score is assigned on a scale determined by the hay class.

The final score of hay sample is the average of physical and chemical scores. This score determines the place of the sample within its class, ultimately determining the Grand and Reserve Champions.

More information on submitting hay samples for county and state competition will be available from the County Extension Office in the next few weeks.

Father, I have knowledge.
So will you show me now
How to use it wisely
And find a way somehow
To make the world I live in
A little better place
And make life with its problems
A bit easier to face.
Grant me faith and courage
And put purpose in my days;
And show me how to serve thee
In the most effective ways.
So all my education,
My knowledge and my skill
May find their true fulfillment
As I learn to do thy will.
And may I ever be aware
In everything I do
That knowledge comes from learning
And wisdom comes from you.

Rural women said untapped labor force

COLLEGE STATION — Rural women, roughly one-third of the female population, represent the greatest untapped labor force in America today, a study by a Texas A&M University sociologist shows.

While the resource is great, few women participate in jobs outside the home even though many farm incomes are operating at or below the poverty level. Why don't they participate?

"You've got to have the opportunity first," explains the researcher, Dr. Elizabeth Maret. "There are just fewer job opportunities for women in rural areas and the jobs are relatively low paying."

Ms. Maret stresses that rural women represent a tremendous reserve of potential and, given the opportunities, could become a viable part of America's supply of labor.

"Lady," said the bus driver to a woman who was boarding his vehicle with 11 children, "are they all yours, or are you going on a picnic?" "They're all mine," she replied, "and believe me, it's no picnic."

One advantage in growing older is that you can stand for more and fall for less.

From Congressman
Marvin Leath

SHOULD LOOK TO THE EXPERTS

Twentieth Century technology has made us a nation of specialists. Our economy and our society demanded instant expertise, and we have focused the solution to every problem through those who become expert in their particular field of interest.

It is true everywhere but in government. Today in all areas of government, it is absolutely unthinkable to have anyone who knows anything about a problem even considered as one who might offer a solution. We would rather have a government full of untrained amateurs and political loyalists who nor can make little or no meaningful contribution to solving the problems at hand, and in many cases, simply compound that problem.

This paradox cuts through all branches of government and is perhaps the greatest national weakness. Today the catchword is special interest, and national culprit more than not is big business. It is absurd to let a profit, according to those who have created our stages, given us inflation and burdened us with unbearable taxes.

It may be entirely too late today, but I believe early that the best way to solve a problem was to seek out those who know how to solve it. Wouldn't it be interesting to see what the President's program would have been had he sought out those with knowledge in the area to solve that problem at the Camp David meetings? To me, the best place to start would have been to have the best of Mexico and Canada at Camp David. He should have convinced them that it is in their best interest, as well as ours, to have a hemisphere that is independent, both from an energy standpoint and overall economic conditions. He should have committed to them our total technology in return for their resources.

Next, it would have seemed entirely logical to have the chief executive officers of every major oil company and every major utility in this country at Camp David. Then, taking a page from Lyndon Johnson's book, he could have told them the rules and insisted that they come forth with every possible alternative and pledge their absolute commitment to making this nation and this hemisphere energy-independent. After this group, it would have then been appropriate to have the chief executives of the nation's financial institutions — commercial banks, mortgage banks, brokerage firms and others — to bring forth their contribution on how we could get the capital with which to finance these accomplishments. Then finally, he could have summoned all those scientists and companies with the ability to produce alternate energy sources such as coal, liquefaction and gasification, biomass, nuclear, solar and many others.

It seems obvious that this combination of experts could have indeed decided a course and given the President the ability to take the country in the right direction. Certainly, social needs and politics will of necessity play a part in all of our decisions, but we need to learn once more that sound, sensible economic decisions and strong free enterprise principles will always ultimately work to the benefit of all our people.

Bikers Ride For World Hunger

by George R. Qualley

On a bright sunlit morning, with the click of gears and the whirring of bicycle spokes, the World Hunger Bike-a-thon was off. As an outgrowth of the recent Vacation Bible School held at Zion Lutheran Church in Priddy, five students and the Intern chose to actively increase the World Hunger Relief Fund of the American Lutheran Church.

Marla Hopper, Melanie Seider, Kevin Seider, Rhonda Tiemann, James Vlasak, and George Qualley practiced long distance bicycling for several evenings before the event. On the Sunday prior to the ride, students from the Bible School assisted in a special presentation to the congregation to appeal for sponsorship. On the day of the Bike-a-thon, the riders faced a stiff breeze and several hills, but all completed the event successfully. Following the Bike-a-thon, the bikers received over $180.00 in donations for World Hunger Relief.

Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Report

The Federal government's efforts to regulate energy production, distribution and use have caused the current energy shortage and it's time to get "the regulators out of the energy business" says the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

The livestock producer group, meeting in Corpus Christi July 6-7, sent a resolution to President Carter and his energy advisors calling for deregulation of U.S. energy so that "this country's vast energy resources may be located, developed and distributed to the American consumers in the most expeditious and equitable manner ever devised by a civilized society."

Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent of Kerrville told the 410 cattlemen in attendance that the long-term energy picture for Texas is bleak unless alternate sources of energy are developed. He pointed out that Texas is the leading state in lignite coal supplies, has a burgeoning gasohol industry, is rich in shale oil and has an excellent potential for solar and geo-thermal energy production.

In a bullish short-term outlook on cattle prices, Dr. Ed. Uvacek, Texas A & M University livestock economist, warned that double-digit inflation was short-changing cattlemen and deflating current cattle prices.

A 10% decrease in beef supplies for consumers in 1979 will be offset by an almost 2% increase in total red meat production. He also said cattlemen are beginning to rebuild depleted cattle numbers.

Feeder cattle this fall will not be in tight supply as expected earlier. Light calves should bring no less than 85 cents a pound this fall. He expected feeder prices to follow the fed cattle market, but with higher grain prices, that market's profit margins will be slim.

J. Evan Goulding, legal counsel for the National Cattlemen's Association in Denver, reviewed cattlemen's struggle to remove a ban on 2,4,5-T, a herbicide used in brush control for decades. NCA and other livestock associations have joined Dow Chemical Co. in a lawsuit to overturn the Environmental Protection Agency ban. Goulding warned that negative publicity and attempts to link the cost-saving tool to the controversial Agent Orange of Vietnam notoriety by the media, environmentalists and emotional elements within the Veterans Administration could force manufacturers to abandon production entirely.

Hillview Highlights

We had been intrigued all month by something listed on the activity calendar for Wednesday, July 18, as a FUN FASHION SHOW. We wondered what that was going to be. Now we know! It was an affair that was described by the commentator as fantastic, unbelievable, unique, original and positively indescribable—all very true.

The fashions were created and modeled by Hillview employees and, believe me, included everything crazy, silly, weird and funny. Mary Beth Cahill, our in-service coordinator, introduced models Kathi Williams, Jean Newton, Jewel Dufner, Norma Sutherland, Mary Grba, Fern Rajnoch, Jill Norton, Tracy Shelton, Boyd Humphries, Cheryl Elliott, Pauline Lucas, Geraldine Geeslin, Suzie Warren, Mary Williams and Stephanie Landrum.

It was a lot of fun for employees and residents alike. We thank Mary Beth for serving as commentator, Hazel Moseley for providing music, and we congratulate Suzie Warren who won first prize with her Skylab fallout ensemble.

Our thanks go, also, to the young people of Mills County who brought their pets to Hillview on Friday the 27th. They include Andrea Hoover, Natalie Rajnoch, Jo Childress, Cindy and Kitty Karnes, Cain Cline, Lisa Lasater, Sarah Patterson, Chad Boykin, Kelley and Jason Cockrum and Didie and Julia Blackwell. We want each of you to know how much we enjoyed seeing your pet and appreciate your sharing with us. Judges for the pet show were Ben Welch and Marie Kirsche who awarded prizes to Chad Boykin, Natalie Rajnoch, Jo Childress, Didi Blackwell and Kitty Karnes.

Marwitz Brothers Purchase Evant Funeral Home From Richard & Joan Boxes

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boxes of Evant announce the sale of the Evant Funeral Home and Gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Marwitz, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Marwitz and Mr. and Mrs. David Marwitz, effective Wednesday, August 1, 1979. The Evant Funeral Home has been in operation since 1948 when Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Hamilton started the business.

Richard, Joan, Michael and Julie moved to Evant on July 23, 1970. They purchased the Evant Funeral Home from the Hamiltons on March 17, 1971. The Boxes established Joan's Flowers and Gifts in August, 1972. Richard has served on the Evant Independent School Board since 1973. Richard and Joan have been active in Calvary Baptist Church where Richard served as deacon and Joan as G.A. director. Richard is presently serving as Vice-President of the Ted Elmore Evangelistic Association, Inc. Joan has served on the Evant City Council since the city of Evant was incorporated. Michael is 16 and will be a Junior in High School. Julie is 10 and will be in the fifth grade. The Boxes have been active in all civic and school activities. "The Lord has been very good to us, in permitting us to live in and be of service to this community. We have shared many joys and many sorrows. We have many memories that we will cherish from now through eternity. We would have never sold our business to the Marwitz brothers if we did not feel that they would continue with devoted service to our people," said Richard. The Boxes will be retaining the R-J Company, a floral wholesale company, in Evant.

Gary, Scott and David were all reared in Evant and have family ties there. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Marwitz of Gatesville (formerly of Evant), and the grandsons of Hanna Marwitz of Evant. Gary is married to the former Jo Parker of Hubbard. Scott's wife is the former Brenda Rhoades of Izora, and they have seven-year-old son, Clay. David is married to the former Darlene Sheldon of Waco at this time.

Gary, Scott and David announce the appointment of Bob Boyd as Funeral Director in Charge. Bob was born and reared in the Pecos and Gatesville areas. He is married to the former Jo Bobbitt of New Boston. They have two children, Karen, 18 and Stephanie, 12. He has been associated with the funeral profession for over 25 years. Oleta Faye Horton will continue her association with Joan's Flowers and Gifts as manager.

Senior Citizens Bits And Pieces

Tuesday, July 24, was a busy day at the Mills County Senior Center. To begin the day, Mrs. Febe Garcia and Judith Latimer with the Governor's Commission of Physical Fitness were at the Center from 9:30 - 11:00 a.m. to lead a lively workshop on physical fitness. Lewis Eubank won first place as most active.

Then, after the Senior Citizen's Lunch, the Center was host at 1:30 to Hill Country Community Action Regional Board members who were making a tour of all HCAA Centers and other facilities. Local board members making the tour were Judge James Ledbetter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Duren, Mrs. Philip Nickols, and Mrs. Charles Schrader. Other dignitaries here for lunch were Samuel Lee, TDCA, Betty Jean Reece and Melba Johnson, CSA, Dallas; Linda Penny and Sue Kiminsky, Austin; Mark Scott, Manpower-San Saba; and John A. Geistweidt, of Austin.

The pride of RSVP, the Klitter Klatter Kombo, enthusiastically entertained during the luncheon, a drawing was held for the TV given away by the Senior Center for those who had contributed to the Carpet Fund for the "Golden Door" thrift and craft shop. The lucky winner of the TV was Mrs. Z. (Louise) Karnes of Star.

Many thanks to the staff and all others who helped make it a great day.

Funeral Services for John Seider July 25

Funeral Services were conducted Wednesday, July 25, 1979, for Richard John Seider of Priddy, who passed away Monday, July 23rd at Childress Hospital, at age 71.

Mr. Seider was born February 3, 1908 in Mills County. He married Pauline Freida Hohertz on Oct. 14, 1935 in the Priddy community. He lived in the Pottsville community most of his life, but was living at Priddy at the time of his death.

He was a farmer and rancher, and worked on road construction. He was a confirmed Lutheran.

The services were held in Wilkins Funeral Chapel with Rev. Terry Woodring, from Brownwood, officiating. Interment was in the Priddy Cemetery.

He was preceded in death by one grandchild, four brothers and two sisters.

Survivors include his wife of the home; two sons, Raymond Seider of Indian Gap, and Melvin Seider of Caradan; one daughter, Shirley May Manuel of Boyd, Texas; 13 grandchildren; one brother, Albert Seider of Priddy; and one sister, Mrs. Emmet Kinche-loe also of Priddy.

Serving as pallbearers were J. C. Partin, Charlie A. Seider, Jr., Alvin Seider, Royce Curry, Walter Painter, and Charles Seider.

Jimmy Davis Completes Army Course Recently

Spec. 4, Jimmy A. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby J. Davis of Goldthwaite, recently completed a primary noncommissioned officer course at Ft. Hood.

The course offers increased career educational opportunities while preparing the student for leadership duty.

Davis entered the Army in October 1976.

Shelly Covington Becomes Bride Of David Smith

Shelley Covington and David Smith were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony Saturday evening, July 21, at 7:30 in the home of the bride's parents, Bro. Doug Holtzclaw, Pastor of the First Baptist Church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Covington and the granddaughter of Mrs. L. C. Keating and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Covington, all of Goldthwaite.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David L. Smith of Goldthwaite. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John McKowen of San Saba.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length dress of white organza over satin featuring an empire waist and lace edged A-line skirt. A Point d'esprit lace ruffle accented with seed pearls formed the neckline. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a satin bandeau trimmed with lace applique. The bride's bouquet of silk roses in shades of pink was accented with greenery and satin streamers.

For something old, the bride wore a gold ring that belonged to her maternal great grandmother. Something new was her wedding dress. Something borrowed was a lace handkerchief that had been carried by her mother and grandmother in their wedding. Something blue was a blue garter, a gift from her maid of honor.

Vows were exchanged before a basket of fresh flowers in shades of pink, flanked by two white wrought iron candleabra entwined with greenery and pink silk roses.

Mary Treadaway was the bride's maid of honor. She wore a pink, floor-length dress with an empire waist and tie shoulder straps. She carried a single long-stemmed pink silk rose trimmed with satin ribbon streamers in shades of pink.

Flower girls were Shanna and Sherry Covington, sisters of the bride. They wore long dresses of pink bastiste trimmed in white lace and carried baskets of natural straw decorated with pink ribbon and rosebuds.

Joshua Parker of Cisco, nephew of the groom, lighted the candles.

Ray Hammond served as best man. He was dressed in a black tuxedo with a pink shirt. The groom wore a black tuxedo with a white shirt. They both wore pink silk rosebud boutonnières.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a crocheted cloth made by her paternal grandmother. The three tiered white cake was decorated with clusters of pink roses. The top tier was separated by four white columns and topped with the traditional bride and groom. Punch, coffee, mints and nuts were served from silver and crystal appointments.

Members of the house party were Karen Parker of Cisco, sister of the groom, Elaine Covington, cousin of the bride, Cheryl Elliott and Terry Daniel. Edna Davis registered the guests.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. David L. Smith on Thursday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hammond.

A miscellaneous shower was held for the couple on July 14 in the community room of the Mills County State Bank. Hostesses were Buzz Hammond, Edna Davis, Darla Watson, Authula Nickols, Iva Cockrell, Peggy Long, Bettianne Wright, Mary Treadaway, Glenda Lemke, Jerol Daniel, Freida Johnson, Theresa Black and Marge Studer.

★ Star News ★

Last Monday, a group of young people left Star to attend the Youth Congress at the Heart of Texas Encampment at Lake Brownwood. They spent the week with some 500 plus young people in worship, sports, music and fun. They came home tired, inspired and happy. One young lady, Gina Butler hurt her knee but seems to be doing fine.

Those who attended were Randy Ethridge, Dewayne Monroe, John Vicks, Kristy Boyd, Darla Emdy, Loraine Stalk, Bonnie and Charles Grossman, the sponsors of the group.

Last week Natalie and Gerry Whitlock attended the Student - Parent orientation and Registration at Stephen F. Austin State University. They spent three days meeting staff people, learning about the University, getting to know other people in this fall's freshman class and registering for the Fall semester.

Mr. Randy Garrett is still in the V. A. Hospital in Temple. Mr. Fred Wall is home and appears to be doing well after his recent visit to the hospital. Mr. Hardy Collier is to have some treatment and a recheck this week in Abilene after his recent surgery. We wish all these the very quickest of recoveries.

Remember, next week is Vacation Bible School for children 3rd to 5th grade every morning at the Star Baptist Church. The young people 7th grade and up will meet each evening for Bible Study and games. If you fit into either group, do plan to attend.
