

We suggest that every farm owner in the county give his home a name. Also it wouldn't be a bad idea if that name, together with a brief description of the place and its location were placed on record in the county clerk's office.

The office boy emptied the waste basket before we got to it this week, hence we are shy of copy for this column.

These direct by mail campaigns are causing an awful mess about the postoffices. It seems the public just will not carry that "stuff" home but insist upon unloading it in the big can at the postoffice.

Heard a minister say this week that he would like to trade some preaching for gasoline or for something to eat. Come to think about it we believe that there are those who could well afford to trade with him.

We did find this in the wastebasket: Beer Bros. in New York deal only in dry goods.

Gas Officials
Put On Program

Should the city of Fort Worth, which is endeavoring to take over the properties of the Lone Star Gas company and the Fort Worth Gas company in that city and replace them with a municipally-owned gas plant, succeed in its undertaking the gas producing areas of this section will suffer more than will the Lone Star Gas company, L. B. Denning, president of the Lone Star, told a meeting of representative citizens of this section on the roof garden of the Connellee hotel in Eastland today at noon.

Mr. Denning's speech was delivered before a joint meeting of the Eastland Rotary and Lions clubs and a number of visiting Rotarians, Lions and others from Breckenridge, Cisco, Ranger and other points. The attendance was estimated at more than 200.

W. H. McDonald, president of the Eastland Lions club, presided and introduced the visitors in groups.

Will C. Grant, advertising manager of the Lone Star Gas company, introduced Mr. Denning and R. A. Crawford, first vice president of the Lone Star, as well as the Blue Blaze quartet composed of Travis Johnson, Reginald Ennis, Jimmy Hodges, W. R. Stephens, all employees of the gas company, and Mrs. Travis Johnson, pianist.

Mr. Denning, who is one of the pioneers if not the pioneer in the gas business in Texas, having built the Petrolia-Fort Worth gas line in 1909, reviewed briefly the history of the natural gas business in Texas and other states; he told of the struggles of his company in keeping ahead of its creditors for many years and quoted statistics to show that it now had invested millions of dollars, was one of the largest employers of labor and furnished a market for large quantities of natural gas produced in this country.

The Lone Star Gas company, Mr. Denning said, is closely watched by the railroad commission of Texas and corporation commission of other states until it could not, if it so desired, do otherwise than treat every person and every firm as nearly alike as possible.

All the Lone Star Gas company asks is fair treatment, an understanding of our problems and a fair return on our investments, Mr. Denning declared.

Mr. Denning, in reviewing the fight being made in Fort Worth against his company, said that should Fort Worth win, gas lines would be laid to other fields than the West Texas field and that gas would be taken from other sources than from this field. Fort Worth, Mr. Denning added, depends largely upon West Texas; it claims to be the friend of West Texas, and if this be true now is the time for West Texas needs it now.

Much of Mr. Denning's address was devoted to the discussion of the present depression, which he declared is at the turning point, if indeed, it has not already turned. This country, he declared, is not going to lower its standards of living, but its shelves are about empty, the people have worn out and used up their surpluses and they must be re-supplied, which will start factories to running, buyers to buying and put people to work. President Hoover's proposal for a year's moratorium, Mr. Denning said, may offer some help and if it should not other ways out will be found and that soon.

Of Sermons For
Baptist Church

Pastor W. T. Turner of the Baptist church announces a double series of summer-time sermons which will begin Sunday and continue through the month of July. Journeying with God, will be the theme of the night messages. The romance of the first home will be the theme of the first of the Sunday night series. Others to follow will include, "A Romance in which Eliezer finds a bride for his Master," and "a romance of a summer harvest field in which Ruth finds a husband." The pastor announces that according to his custom for the past several years these messages will be clothed in summer garb, but will be intensely practical. The Sunday night series will deal with home, heredity, youth, mating, divorce, and the many other questions of interest that grow out of these subjects.

Health Work In
Co. Progressing

Drouth relief health work in this locality has shown good results for the months of May and June. A nurse and sanitary inspector from the State Department of Health began work here shortly after May 1 and have been accorded splendid cooperation by the county health officer, Dr. F. T. Isbell and the county committee. Biologicals furnished by the state department have been used for the free immunization of school children. 150 have been vaccinated for smallpox, 317 have been given toxoid immunization for diphtheria and 345 have received inoculations for typhoid. Miss Margaret Hassley has cooperated with local physicians who have given their services freely for the work.

Harvey Miller, sanitary inspector, has put in two demonstration pit type sanitary toilets, inspected tourist camps, school sanitary equipment and dairy sites. He has sent samples of water from localities supposed to have been infected with typhoid, for analysis and in at least one instance has found and corrected a dangerous condition. A well ten miles south of here was found to contain typhoid germs and by chlorination was made safe for the half-dozen families who depended upon it for their supply of drinking water.

Will C. Grant, advertising manager of the Lone Star Gas company, introduced Mr. Denning and R. A. Crawford, first vice president of the Lone Star, as well as the Blue Blaze quartet composed of Travis Johnson, Reginald Ennis, Jimmy Hodges, W. R. Stephens, all employees of the gas company, and Mrs. Travis Johnson, pianist.

C. of C. Bulletin
For Month of June

All the world has taken on new courage. The dawn of better times is breaking. Shares in the stock market are jumping up from $5.00 to $15.00 a share. Cotton advanced $5.00 a bale. Wheat is up five cents a bushel. Silver and copper are quoted at higher prices.

There is no doubt but what for some time we have all been sitting on an ash heap blowing the clouds of gloom away. Probably some have repeated the words of Job of old, who said:

"My days are swifter than the weaver's shuttle, and are spent without hope."

Now the turn has come, let us lay hold of the new hope set before us.

Down on the Mississippi River they have a saying that "Good pilots are made during low water."

When business is booming with oil selling at $3.50 a barrel any oil can run a business and make money. But when the water is low the pilot has to use his brains and muscle to keep in the channel and avoid the sand bars.

Just so when the day comes that we are faced with a falling market, slack business, reduced salaries, and too often, unemployment. It puts every one on their mettle to avoid a smash.

The men and women who survive are those who use their brains—Think—Study—Plan—and with piston like action drive their commercial boat through the rapids to a safe harbor.

"The busy world shoves angrily aside, the man who stands with arms akimbo set, until occasion tells him what to do. And he who waits to have his task marked out, shall die and leave his errand unfulfilled."

The Chamber of Commerce continues to stimulate community imagination by calling attention to the blessings we are surrounded with, not the least of which is this delightful climate we possess. The abundant rains and bright sunshine have given our industrious farmers a bountiful crop. Heads up. Eyes right. Let's step to the feeding trough.

Dr. H. B. Tanner, Secy., Chamber of Commerce.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Former Eastland

Word has been received in Eastland of the death of Miss Laura Earline Richardson 20, of Port Arthur, who was drowned Tuesday, June 9. Miss Richardson and her great-uncle R. L. Patterson, 60, also of Port Arthur, were drowned in Dutch Lake, which is about 18 miles north of Beaumont. Miss Richardson was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Richardson, who resided in Eastland until six years ago when they moved to Port Arthur to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, their daughter, Patterson, and Miss Velma Henry, composed the party that went to the lake for an outing.

Miss Richardson graduated from Port Arthur High school in 1929 and from Port Arthur Business college in 1930. She was a member of the Eastland Methodist church.

Harry King left Wednesday for Dallas to visit his wife, the former Miss Alene Peterson, who is attending school in that city.

Davis Case Sent To Shackelford

The trial of Thomas Davis, charged with the slaying of Leon Shook in September, 1928, was stopped Saturday after seven jurors had been selected because of the illness of Mrs. R. N. Grisham, wife of one of the defense attorneys.

It was announced to the court that Mrs. Grisham had taken ill and an operation would be necessary. The court then decided that the case would be continued until Mrs. Grisham was better and her husband could give his time to the case.

On a motion for a change of venue Judge Elzo Been granted the request for the change and announced that the case would be tried in Albany.

No setting has been made Tuesday in the case but it was thought that it would be called in the district court at Albany as soon as the docket there would permit.

Judge Been dismissed the jurors that had been chosen and thanked them for being willing to aid in the case and apologizing for having to let them go after keeping them so long.

Gun Club Visits

Report Forger
At Work Here

A telegram has been received by the Ranger police department from the United Gas Public Service company of Houston stating that a crook was reported to be operating in this territory passing forged checks on the payroll of the company.

The telegram says that the man is about five feet nine inches tall, slender, red haired, red complexion and is reported to be driving a brown Pontiac coupe, license No. A01420.

The merchants of Eastland and neighboring towns are being warned to be on the lookout for the man and to report his whereabouts immediately if located. It is not known whether he is traveling with an accomplice or the name under which he is passing the checks.

The telegram read:

Gasoline Plant
Worker Burned

J. C. Kelley, employe of the Lone Star Gasoline company, was badly burned in a fire that broke out in the plant No. 101 about two miles southwest of Ranger on the Bankhead highway about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The fire is thought to have originated when vapors from a pump became ignited from a relay, causing a sudden flare-up of the fire. Kelley, who was working around the pump at the time was caught in the flash and was badly burned. His condition was reported to be painful but not serious and the physicians who attended him thought that he would be in no immediate danger from his burns.

The damage to the plant from the fire was reported as being very slight as there was not much that could burn or be badly damaged by a short fire of that kind.

The case of the state of Texas vs. John Ainsworth, charged with robbery with firearms, which was brought to trial Monday morning before Judge Elzo Been of the 88th district court, was still with the jury late Thursday afternoon and every indication was that a mistrial would be the result of the trial.

Ainsworth is charged with having held up Miss Pauline Head, cashier of the Arcadia Theatre at Ranger, with a pistol on the night of Feb. 13, last, and took $58 from the box office.

Miss Head and other witnesses positively identified Ainsworth as the man who pointed a pistol at Miss Head and forced her to hand over the money. A number of witnesses positively stated that Ainsworth attended a dance in Mings on the night of the robbery and was there at the time the robbery is alleged to have committed.

Pecan Crop of County Will Be
Heavy—Patterson

The pecan crop in Eastland county in 1931 will be heavy, according to J. C. Patterson, county agent. Native trees are heavily loaded with small pecans.

Although the late freeze killed terminal buds, reserve buds were forced out later and Patterson states that a heavy crop is in sight.

Pecan crops were held in ten communities by Patterson with the assistance of Jim Kelley of the Texas Department of Agriculture. Buds and grafts were put in and owners of native groves are clearing out noxious growth with Arsenic tree poison.

Several Eastland county growers plan to attend the State Pecan Growers Association when it meets at La Grange July 14, 15 and 16. Their chief interest is in the cooperative marketing of the 1931 crop.

Many Schools of the County
Included In Consolidations

According to County School Superintendent B. E. McGlamery five consolidations have been effected in the Eastland County Rural School system. Morton Valley and Pleasant Grove have combined at Morton Valley and will give the children of those districts a full four year High School course whereas they have had in the past only a two year high school in their respective districts. This new district will employ seven teachers for the one school which is the same number that have been employed in both schools.

Carbon has organized a Rural High School unit which includes the former Bear Springs, Jewel and Oak Grove districts and gives children from all these schools the advantage of longer terms and larger corps of teachers and added facilities under a more economical administration.

Leon and Willow Branch, county line districts with Comanche advantage have been included in the Gorman district and Brooks also a county line district, has been admitted to Rising Star. Wherever distances justify the children in these consolidated schools are transported by school buses.

Okra and Grigsby schools are united at Okra.

Talking About Us

Husband and Wife: A prominent citizen of Carbon and his wife motored over from Carbon Monday and stopped at the Chronicle office for a copy of last week's paper, saying they came over to investigate an offer made by an advertiser in the Weekly Chronicle.

Eastland Advertiser: "When people come to our place of business with the Weekly Chronicle in their hands and say 'we want to buy the goods you are advertising here' we know that advertising in the Weekly Chronicle is a good investment for us, and that is just what they are doing."

Mr. F. A. Fones, The Chronicle, Eastland, Texas.
Dear Mr. Jones:

Mr. F. A. Jones, The Weekly Chronicle, Eastland, Texas.
Dear Mr. Jones:

We were glad to get a report from Mr. Tullis stating that you have again opened the Chronicle at Eastland. We remember you from 10 years back when you were a purchaser of Intertypes and ran the Chronicle.

Wishing you success in your new venture and assuring you of our co-operation, we are,
Yours very truly,
Intertype Corporation.

Carbon Business Man: "I note that the people of Carbon are reading your paper, the Weekly Chronicle, and I have heard nothing but praise for it. You certainly scored a point when you made it a county-wide newspaper. It occupies an enviable position no other paper in the County has attempted to fill.

An Eastland Worker: "I have been in Eastland since 1919 and the Weekly Chronicle is the best newspaper we have had here since I have been in the city. Most of us have friends and relatives in other parts of the county and we appreciate very much the news from those places."

GOING AFTER BUSINESS

The Eastland Retail Merchants' association, as a body, is more active than it has been for many months. Competition is keen between the merchants of Eastland county towns, but the people who buy are going to be made to realize that Eastland business men are on the job and that they are not going to be excelled anywhere nor in any way.

FIELD EDITOR

Mr. Farmer, the Weekly Chronicle has a field editor in the field. He is at your service. If he or this newspaper can be of service to you we are at your command. We want news stories of you and yours and what is going on in the rural communities. We want to help you build up and we need your assistance in building up the Weekly Chronicle.

We want you to trade in Eastland if you can do as well for yourself here as elsewhere and we will appreciate it if you will keep this newspaper posted on the kind of treatment you get in Eastland. This is one way of locating and remedying errors and misunderstanding which cause by far the greater part of our troubles.

JUST SUPPOSE!

If all that we say
In a single day,
With never a word left out,
Were printed each night
In clear black and white,
'Twould prove queer reading, no doubt.

And then just suppose,
'Ere our eyes we could close,
We must read the day's record through,
Then wouldn't we sigh,
And wouldn't we try
A great deal less talking to do?

And I more than half think
That many a kink
Would be smoothed in life's tangled thread,
If one-half that we say
In a single day
Were left forever unsaid.

Talking About Us

The county and is well worth the price of subscription.

German Physician: The Weekly Chronicle is certainly a good county paper.

German Attorney: The Chronicle is the best county paper I have seen in many a day.

German official: The people will subscribe for and read the Chronicle because it is a newspaper for all the people of the county.

Case Attorney: I subscribed for the Weekly Chronicle because I saw in it just what I have been looking for, a county site paper giving the news of the county.

Eastland County Farmer: Your weekly newspaper offers a splendid contact between the people of the rural communities and those of the towns in the county. I like your slogan, "For All the People."

Older Citizen: Already your paper is well and favorably known over the county. I see and hear of it everywhere.

Eastland Woman: I like the Chronicle. The make-up and print especially appeals to me. My eyesight is not as good as it once was but the Chronicle seems to be so easily read. I attribute it to the make-up and style of printing.

The Weekly Chronicle, Eastland, Texas.

Don't Mr. Jones: Your letter in regard to the revival of the Eastland Chronicle is laid. We have placed your paper on our exchange list. Can you get back on the firing line and we shall do our best to help you and

WE THANK YOU!

The Weekly Chronicle is thankful for the splendid reception being given the paper by the people of the county. Hundreds are sending in subscriptions and others say they will subscribe within a short time. And those who have not yet subscribed express their appreciation of the paper.

We are sending out each week many sample copies of the paper. We do this for advertising purposes and of course can not continue it indefinitely. We ask our readers to not stand back on sending in their subscription on account of these copies. We believe you will agree that the paper is well worth the price we ask for it and we need your co-operation.

HONEY ONE OF MAN'S OLDEST FOODS

Honey is one of the oldest foods of man, the United States Department of Agriculture says. There is little doubt that our early ancestors discovered the honey of the wild bee long before they learned to make bread.

The honey of antiquity was likely as good as that of today except that different flowers at that time gave it a flavor different from that of our modern product.

Honey is unique in that it is the only unmanufactured sweet available in commercial quantities. It contains simple sugars, easily absorbed by the human system. Honey contains in limited quantities practically all the elements of a perfect food except the vitamins.

There is no honey other than that made by bees, and the Federal pure food laws prohibits the sale of any product as honey which is made by artificial means. Honey is a safe food to use because it is clean and pure.

Eastland county is now producing some of the best honey to be found anywhere and there is no reason why the industry shouldn't be made one of the leading industries of the county. Think it over.

EASTLAND COUNTY FARMERS BUSY

The farmers of Eastland county are busy. They have decided that they are going to live at home and be independent. If you don't believe they are doing this follow the Weekly Chronicle's field editor on his rounds over the county and read what the progressive farmers tell him.

WE ARE AT LEAST GROWING SPIRITUALLY

The pastor of one of the leading churches of Eastland made the statement recently that it might not be that his church nor the town as a whole was growing commercially, but his church was growing spiritually. If this particular church is growing stronger and more influential doubtless the other churches of the town are doing as well, and if this be true we shall win after all.

THE MOSQUITO IS WITH US

The annoying hum of the mosquito is being heard in Eastland late evenings and at night. Mr. Swearingin, the city sanitary officer, should redouble his efforts in fighting this pest. In fact it is "up to him" to keep them down. That is a part of his job. He is thoroughly capable of doing it and the public is entitled to protection against these breeders of disease.

Also the public can help Mr. Swearingin in his efforts to keep the mosquito out of town by following his instructions and not allow breeding places about their premises.

Co-Ops Expect To Handle 1,000,000 Bales Texas Crop

DALLAS, June 24.—Plans and policies for handling approximately 1,000,000 bales of this season's Texas cotton crop through the channels of cooperative marketing have been completed by the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, according to an announcement by B. C. Pittuck, acting general manager. Last season the association handled 618,000 bales of the Texas crop under the Federal Farm Board and Agricultural Marketing Act program, it was said.

"In the face of the trade's attack upon the cooperatives and the dissemination of propaganda, rumors, allegations, etc., with respect to the Federal Farm Board," Mr. Pittuck said, "reports to the association from every section of the State indicate that the value and benefit of organized effort is appreciated more than ever before, and that with the low price of cotton prevailing the individual farmer can hope for, but little relief from present conditions. He must meet organized industry in an organized way," he said.

The association's program this season is on a greatly enlarged scale for direct membership service, it was said, through district offices, branch offices and receiving agents located in every section of the State. The Federally licensed cotton classing program will be continued, it was stated, and according to Mr. Pittuck, "the association will be ready with its facilities to care for the movement of cotton when it starts soon in the South Texas area, and as it progresses throughout other sections of the State."

Mrs. L. D. Hillyer of Brownwood is here this week.

"Just a Gigolo" Comes to Lyric

She slapped his face—and so they were married.

Which is how the effervescent William Haines is catapulted into romance in "Just a Gigolo," his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talkie which will open Sunday at the Lyric Theatre.

Adapted from the brilliant New York stage play, "Dancing Partner," the story has Haines in the role of a young English nobleman with a flirtation complex and an idea that no woman can make a faithful wife because all can be misled. The slap in the face teaches him differently, in a vivid little drama which also abounds in comical situations.

Success in Europe

The play a European hit by Alexander Engel and Alfred Grünwald, was adapted to the English stage by Frederic and Fanny Hatton. It was produced with sensational success in New York by David Belasco, and for the screen was directed by Jack Conway, who directed "Paid," "The Unholy Three," "New Moon" and other well known films.

The plot starts when Haines promises a rich uncle to marry an heiress provided he can't mislead her in a month's time. At the end of a month of hilarious happenings mixed with some poignant drama he gets slapped for his pains and awakens to the fact that he really loves her.

The star is supported by a notable cast. Irene Purcell, the heroine, played the role for two years in the New York production, and Charlotte Granville, also of the New York production, is seen as the mother of the girl.

The choleric rich uncle is played by C. Aubrey Smith, remembered for his work in "The Bachelor Father" and "Daybreak." Others in the cast include Lilian Bond, Albert Conti, Maria Alba, Ray Milland, Lenore Bushman, Gerald Fielding and Yola Davril.

Film's High Spots

The dramatic highlights include Haines' discovery that he loves the June 28th, 1931. Mass at 8 a. m. This is the Fifth Sunday after Pentecost and the Gospel read in the Mass today is from St. Matthew V, 20-24. Christ speaks of the fifth commandment: "Thou shalt not kill"; and says that "Whoever shall say, thou fool, shall be danger of hell fire." Christ had been addressing the Scribes and Pharisees. The Scribes were the learned men of the law, who interpreted and explained the Sacred Scriptures to the people. They were usually priests and Levites; but they were often Pharisees. The Pharisees have their name from Phares, which signifies to separate, to distinguish, to differ; and they were called Pharisees, that is, the separated from the people, because they differed from the people in their way of living. As regards externals they led a good, mortified life, prayed and fasted much, gave alms abundantly, and tithes (tenth part) even of the fruits which they were not bound to give. They wore on their foreheads and the seam of their garments larger tablets than those of other Jews, washed themselves frequently, and carried their zeal for purity so far that they would

July Third Last Day for World War Veterans To File Their Claims

In a letter to department headquarters, Watson B. Miller, national chairman of the rehabilitation committee, warns veterans that they must file claims for War Risk insurance before July 3.

Following is the letter from Mr. Miller and instructions from the department judge advocate and department service officer:

"Even though a disabled veteran of the World War who carried War Risk insurance has not paid any premium there on since his discharge from the military service, if he makes claim in writing between now and July 3 of this year he will thereby preserve his rights to resort to court action hereafter if such procedure is necessary.

suit in the United States district court, in the district where the claimant lives. Under Section 365 of the War Risk Insurance Act, veterans who had a service connected disability upon which they did not collect their compensation, can have this compensation applied against the premiums due on their war risk insurance, from the time they allowed it to lapse, up until the time they became totally and permanently disabled and thus revive the insurance, so if you are not sure whether you are entitled to this insurance, make your demand, and submit your proof and you may be sure that the bureau in Washington will not pay you unless you are entitled to it.

Notables Attend Rededication of Tomb of Lincoln

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 25.—World notables, foreign diplomats, governors of several states, state executives and members of the Illinois State Legislature, were to join with President Herbert Hoover here today in paying tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

The rededication ceremonies, at which Mr. Hoover will deliver the only speech, with the exception of an introductory address by Governor L. L. Emmerson of Illinois, will mark the completion of a year's program to make the tomb one of the world's outstanding shrines for advocates of liberty.

The tomb has been closed to the public for months while workmen carried out provisions set out by the Illinois State Legislature, which appropriated $175,000 to beautify it.

Little Change Outwardly In general outward appearance there is little change in the monument since it was dedicated by President U. S. Grant in 1874, except that it has been given an air of newness and a terrace has been created at the entrance to the tomb, where a bronze head of Lincoln, by Gutzon Borglum, has been placed on a granite pedestal.

Here architectural skill, under the direction of State Architect Herick Hammond, former president of the American Institute of Architects, has combined to fabricate a rotunda connecting galleries and the sarcophagus chamber.

One of the main features of the galleries is nine Lincoln statuettes of bronze, depicting Lincoln at various stages of his career. All are the handiwork of internationally famous sculptors.

At each of the four corners of the central unit there is one of these statuettes, about three feet high, resting on a pedestal in a niche. Diagonally across from each of these is a statuette in a similar niche.

Eastland Team Beats Lone Star

Eastland Longhorns won their opening game of the season Thursday by trouncing the Lone Star Gassers at Ranger, 7 to 5. The Longhorns, attired in their new uniforms which were donated by the local business men, rapped out 12 hits including four extra base hits.

Connie Smith hogged the hitting honors of the day by slamming out three hits, one being a double. "Chill" Overby and Terrell Coleman each collected two hits. Overby getting a fluke home run and Coleman a triple.

The Longhorns made four runs in the first inning on hits by Watson, LaFon, and Smith. Brown's single and Smith's double produced another run in the fourth. Overby's fluke home run added the final tallies in the sixth.

Large Crowd Is Expected at Second Cowboy Reunion

STAMFORD, Texas.—The number of early arrivals of out-of-town people in Stamford during the forepart of the week for the second annual program of the Texas Cowboy reunion of Thursday, Friday and Saturday indicates that the attendance will be considerably larger than last year, officials of the organization declare.

Several ranch outfits were in and camped on the reunion grounds Tuesday and others were expected Wednesday morning. Camp fires at chuck wagons were glimmering over the prairie and the picket line of horses about the various camps were reminders that the cowboys were here.

Scores of cowboys who will enter the rodeo contests are in town; groups of pioneer cattlemen are to be seen on the streets and the general public is well represented about the town and on the reunion reservation.

All details for the opening of the affair Thursday morning are in good shape, W. G. Swenson, president and general manager of the association reports. The rodeo arena, corrals and chutes have been considerably improved since last year. The new arrangements will allow putting on the contests in a faster manner, he thinks. All the fences and buildings have been painted white and blue and the new grandstand is ready for use.

The open-air dance pavilion where the cowboy dances will be staged each evening after the close of the rodeo program is in shape. New lights have been provided to make the show in the evening, which will start at 8 p. m., as easy to see as the one in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The initial feature of the affair will be the formal opening of the reunion with a public program at the Stamford city auditorium at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. All men and women who saw actual service in the ranges prior to 1895 will be registered and provided with special badges which will entitle them to numerous courtesies.

TRAFFIC CHECKED J. D. Blankenship, maintenance superintendent of the state highways of this district, is now engaged in making a count of traffic over the highway's. This count, when completed, will be used in making budgets for next year's highway maintenance.

Beginning at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, June 20, the count lasted for four days, ending at 6 o'clock Wednesday, June 23. In this district there are 95 checking stations with two men at each station, as cars passing must be counted day and night. Eastland county stations were, one between Eastland and Ranger, one between Eastland and Cisco, one a few miles south of Eastland near the county farm, one on the Eastland-Breckenridge highway at the Stephens county line, one four miles north of Cisco on highway 23, one between Cisco and Rising Star.

Harrell Hudson of Ranger is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Harrell.

JESUS, THE WORLD'S SAVIOR

Golden Text: John 3:16. God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 28, Jesus, the World's Savior; Suffering and Sovereignty. Golden Text: John 3:16.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist.

The review of the quarter's lessons is placed under a noble title and a significant subtitle. In considering the world's savior we are brought immediately into the sublime association of suffering and sovereignty. Jesus is among those who stooped to conquer, and the glory of his triumph and his power to reach them were invited, Jesus came along the way that humanity itself has to tread—the way of sorrow—leading in his case to the very climax of suffering in the cross.

The full range of the quarter's lessons can be had only by taking into account the lessons of the preceding quarter in which we have followed the course of Jesus from his childhood through the days of preparation to the attaining of that popularity which so speedily changed to his rejection.

In the lessons of this quarter emphasis is laid upon the essential teachings of Jesus. In the first lesson under the parable of those who chose prominent places at the feast to reach they were invited, Jesus teaches the lesson of humility, and with the same lesson was associated the deep aspect of this in the recognition of the little child. The arrogant and proud are sure to undervalue little children, so that the lesson of humility was properly enforced in the blessing of the little ones.

Jesus Triumphs. Our lessons have then proceeded through the parable of the prodigal son, the story of the rich man and Lazarus, the parable of the Pharisee and the publican at prayer, the story of the conversion of Zachaeus, and the parable of the

Letters From Our Readers

I am a farmer residing on my farm not far from Eastland. I was in your beautiful city a few days ago. While there I talked with my banker and with some of my business friends. They really made me feel that I did not need a thing and that I ought to be happy. They said this was true because I had no water or gas bills to pay and had beans, cucumbers, radishes, and potatoes to eat. Really I got to feeling like I sure enough didn't need anything so I got in the Cadillac and started for home without buying a thing.

When I arrived at home the old woman and the children met me at the gate and wanted to know if I got the soda and baking powder, coffee, sugar and flour; did I get Matilda a pair of Sunday hose? Al Hoover's nose was blistered from going bareheaded. The patches had worn off the seat of Mellon's pants; Ford had run away from home, and little Lindy was about out of cough syrup.

I went out into the field where Brisbane was plowing. He told me he was going to quit if I did not take the plows to the shop and have them sharpened. I then went over to where the hard hand was cutting bushes. He had broken the handle out of the axe. A wolf had caught the old hen that had the little chicks and the hard hand had been trying to catch it. Old Spot was still trailing the wolf.

You ask me to write about farming. I do not know much about farming, but if I don't forget things I learn I'll be a good farmer when I get old enough. I have been trying to farm for fifty years, and have learned to think each year that next year there will be a good crop and prices for farm produce will be better.

You can put in a half hour telling someone how you planted a certain thing and raised a good yield to the acre. Then it will take them an hour to tell you what they think would have been a better way to have planted the same thing.

About all I know to tell you is to decide what your land will grow and produce best and plant it in the crop it will grow best and you like most to raise. Do not be afraid, you will put in too much time cleaning up your cowlots and hauling out your barnyard soil for it will pay you more for the time put in than anything else you can do on the farm.

I have not said anything about the bugs, the hail and dry weather. Maybe when we get old enough we will know more about what to do with them. I may write you again and tell you what I think about farming. But remember that when you get advice about how to make a success it is usually from someone engaged in some other kind of business. It is human nature for us to think that the other fellow has the best job and easiest time. So goodbye.

Hard Luck Farmer.

Estimating Crop Yields

"Yeah, my potatoes turned out fine, made a big yield." That's great, how much per acre did you get? "Oh! I don't know, there were ten rows across the garden and after keeping out all we can use and giving some to the boys I sold $36.00 worth." And that is about the average report on crop yields. Accurate reports are needed to help determine what returns may be expected from the various crops.

Naturally the most accurate results came from a careful measurement of the land and weight or measurement of the entire crop produced on the measured acre. However, this entails considerable trouble so a short cut has been worked out which for all practical purposes is accurate enough. Following is the method suggested to club boys:

To obtain the per acre yield, weight the yield from 21 foot space in the row where there is an average stand. Multiply this by 700 if the rows are 3 feet apart or by 600 if the rows are 3-6 apart. Ten times 21 is the length of a row one acre long and with 3 foot rows there will be 70 rows per acre, this gives the 700 which is used in the calculation. Where the rows are 3 and a half feet apart there will be 60 rows per acre, and this gives the 600 which is used for that estimate. This will be fairly accurate especially if measurements and weights are taken in several parts of the patch.

MANY FARMERS REPAY DROUTH LOANS EARLY

Secretary Hyde Praises Independence, Thrift and Business Judgment.

High praise of some of the farmers who obtained Federal drouth relief loans this spring is voiced by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, who announces that many borrowers have already repaid their loans in whole or in part.

"A most commendable attitude is evident," he said. "In many instances farmers have paid off the Government loans with the proceeds of early fruit or vegetable crops on which the Government held no lien. Not only have they shown their good intentions and fundamental integrity but they have also displayed good business sense. Several thousand borrowers have found that they do not need the full amount of the loan approved and have turned back our checks for second or later installments. Of course those who pay loans before the maturity date will receive interest rebates."

May Repay Loans at Any Time.

The Farmer's Seed Loan Office has received many inquiries from borrowers who wish to know if the notes may be paid before they are due. Secretary Hyde is encouraging all borrowers who can do so to repay at any time to save the expense of unnecessary interest charges. He said the tendency to make early repayments is an indication of the same sturdy spirit of thrift and independence which we have learned to expect from farmers, and foreshadows the repayment in full of a large percentage of the loans made."

Dress Contest.

The following score card will be used in the judging:

Suitability of the garment to purpose	10
Material and trimmings	10
Originality, beauty and interest of design	15
Workmanship	15
Appearance on woman	25

Pressing	10

The winner of the contest will be awarded a trip to College Station, July 27th to August 1st to the annual short course. The expenses will be paid by the County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Recommendations for Use in Canning

The following information sent out from College Station recently by Mrs. Sides, Nutrition Specialist and Miss McInnis, Home Industry Specialist, should be used by all women in food work.

"Many of the women have a tendency to use enamel cans for everything and this should be discouraged.

From information obtained from Chemistry of Canning, enamel can't protect the color of red fruits and vegetables, such as strawberries, raspberries, or beets. They are also used for pumpkins and squash.

C enamel may be used for corn, peas or any other vegetables which do not contain acid. It has been used successfully in some cases for meats but not enough so that a general rule may be given. C enamel is an enamel which was developed for canned corn. In fact the "C" originally meant "Corn." Canned corn when packed in plain cans develops an iron oxide or rust which is caused by the sulphur of the corn attacking the tin and causing black streaks or iron rust to form on the top of the can. This rust is absolutely harmless, but does not look unappetizing. C enamel was developed to counteract this trouble. There is a very small zinc contact in C enamel which counteracts the sulphur content in corn and prevents the oxide from forming.

Cans equipped with paper gaskets may be sealed tightly enough to exclude micro-organisms, but still admit air slowly. The gasket in such cases acts as an air filter and such cans are commonly known as "breeders". Rapid corrosion usually follows and the blackening of corn in some cases is attributed to this cause. The rubber composition gasket is less apt to permit air to enter, but if imperfectly sealed, admits not only air but nitro-organisms as well.

Every means should be employed to reduce the amount of air in the can since oxygen accelerates the corrosion of tin plate. This can be overcome by filling the can as completely as consistent with effective sealing; by buying both cans and product hot when sealed; and by perfect sealing of cans.

Peas sometimes develop a flaky black deposit similar in appearance to, and probably identical in composition with, the iron sulphide deposit in cans of corn. This is caused in either case, first, by a corrosion of plate during processing, and later a combination of the dissolved iron with the hydrogen sulphide form from the decomposition of the protein. Thorough washing and blanching before canning, and selecting young fresh corn and peas is believed to reduce this tendency formation of black deposit.

First Wheat Is Marketed Here

Frank Castleberry stated Friday morning that he purchased two carloads of wheat from Alex Fambrough of Wayland, paying 37 1/2 cents per bushel for it. Castleberry shipped the grain to market at Fort Worth.

Mr. Castleberry said this wheat was the first shipped out of Wayland and the first marketed in this section.

So far as could be ascertained this was the first wheat marketed in Eastland in many years. Mr. Castleberry states, however, that he is in the market for all the wheat he can buy. He also is in the market for livestock and a lot of farm produce.

Former Colony Man Is Injured

Word has been received in Eastland that J. P. Madding, who formerly lived at Colony but who now lives near Snyder, is recovering from the injuries he received last Wednesday when his team ran away.

Mr. Madding and three of his children were riding on a wagon loaded with wheat when the horses became frightened and ran away. His 9-year-old son, Clifford, was killed in the accident and Mr. Madding received serious injuries. His two daughters, Lorraine and Ruby, who were with him on the wagon, escaped without injury.

The reports said that Mr. Madding was recovering from his injuries in the hospital at Snyder and would soon be able to be out again.

OLD RELICS FOUND

Among the relics were an old copper kettle, bits of china and some iridescent glass with a bottle of the same material.

Health Nurse's Annual Report

The report for the work of the Child Welfare Club's public health nurse was made as follows:

"Last September when the nursing committee of the Child Welfare club asked me to be their health nurse and told me there were five ward schools and St. Rita's Academy to be taken care of, and some work at the high school and talks at clubs and P. T. A.'s, and conferences with mothers, meet with the Child Welfare club and give a report each month of the work, and see to it that every child in school had a health card sent out every month with their report cards. There seemed to be so much to be done, how was it possible for one nurse to do it all? It would be impossible if it were not for the very splendid cooperation of first the Child Welfare club.

"How these women work—really work—trying to help and relieve the burdens of others, and this past winter with so many right here in Ranger unemployed, there has been great need for such a club. Going in and out of these homes for eight months gave me a better insight into the Child Welfare club's work than most any one else I am sure.

"Social workers and others are sometimes inclined to think that being in need is a result of shiftlessness but it has been proven by statistics that more often it is the result of sickness and misfortune. Just so you people may understand a bit about the work of the Child Welfare Club, I will tell about two cases that are typical of many, many others that were cared for.

"The first one is: One day the nurse was called and asked to come to this home. The father was unemployed, the mother ill, a baby a few weeks old, and there were four other children. The sick mother had seen her doctor who told her the baby must have artificial feedings. The other four children were coughing with severe colds. There was scarcely any food and no money and no credit. Under such circumstances, how would you buy milk for your baby? I telephoned the chairman of the relief committee who went at once to help them get milk for the baby, food and cough medicine for the others. We went to that home every day for more than a week and had them under our care for six weeks.

"The second case was another family with a sick child under school age. I visited this home, took the child to the city physician for examination and treatment. I asked the mother how was it that she called the Child Welfare club and she answered, 'We have no relatives or any one here we could call on to help us. They were my only refuge,' and how many there were beside this woman whose only refuge was the Child Welfare club.

"The doctors and dentists were splendid too and without their help the health nurse's work would be impossible. They were never too busy but that any mother or child that I asked for help, it was given freely. Because of the many free smallpox vaccination, our public school children are 100 per cent immune against smallpox and no child was excluded from school because of not having money to pay to be vaccinated.

"Another factor in making it possible for one nurse to do so much was the superintendent, principals, and every teacher in our schools helped. Always whenever I asked for help or advice, it was given at once and with splendid cooperation.

"I wish to thank everyone who helped us with this work and to tell you that it was a most enjoyable work.

"No report is complete without figures so here are the figures: Different calls at school . . . 354 Business calls . . . 78 Home calls and talks with mothers . . . 137 Children taken to doctors and dentists . . . 114 Children operated for tonsillectomy . . . 5 Talks at P. T. A. and clubs . . . 9

"Literature given in schools about the value of toxin-antitoxin. "Eight (8) clinics were held in October with physicians making examinations of 168 children.

"Four (4) clinics were held in April for the pre-school children, one at each of the ward schools with the exception of Tiffin school who brought its children to the Hodges Oak Park clinic.

"Inspected 1157 children; measured 3312 children; weighed 6674 children.

"Prophylactic treatment for sore and inflamed throats, 382.

"Prophylactic treatment for inflamed eyes, 156.

"Talks in the class rooms, 80; but the most important talks were the ones given about health, cleanliness, and the care of the teeth to the children while doing a dressing or giving some treatment, or while taking them to the doctor, especially if their school work was not good, hoping to instill in them a little of the spirit of the youth in Longfellow's poem "Excelsior": "Still higher—Ever upward."

"Respectfully submitted, "Mrs. George Armstrong, R. N."

Mice Do Great Damage and Carry Disease; Control of Pest Is Asked

Mice, contrary to some belief, do not grow up into big rats. They are a family of themselves and while not so damaging to foods and fixtures, as rats, they yet cause great damage to an amount exceeding three millions of dollars annually.

These little household pests destroy and damage foodstuffs and carry disease germs inimical to human life. If for no other reason than of causing many sleepless hours, mice should be controlled. Snap traps generally are effective in exterminating mice and in many homes the cat will act as a deterrent. When relying on snap traps alone it should be well remembered that one may and cannot control a housefull of mice with one or even two traps. Get at least two dozen of the traps and let them all at one time; keep them set.

The best place to set these small traps is along the walls and between boxes and always have the trigger of the trap facing the wall. It is not necessary to bait the traps though a few sprinkles of dry oat meal will suffice for bait and is well accepted by mice. Arrange the traps so that the mouse will have to pass over the trap to get by the opening.

Red squill mixed with cereal mixtures in a proportion of one ounce of oven-dried squill to one pound of cereal mixture, is excellent in killing mice. "Mix one third of a pound of corn meal with one third of a pound of oat meal; then add one ounce of red squill and thoroughly mix into the dry cereals. Beat one fresh egg into one half cup of milk and thoroughly mix this egg and milk into the quill and cereal mixture." This mixture may be dried out and will keep indefinitely.

GEO. W. SISSON

the organization. Herbert Farrell, owner of Criswell Farm, Nashville, Tenn., was named vice-president by the board of directors.

Mr. Sisson has long been a leader in agricultural development and has initiated some of the most important work of the American Jersey Cattle Club in furthering the improvement of the Jersey breed in America.

Jack Shelton, manager of the $1,000,000 Luling Foundation farm, Luling, Texas, Judge J. D. Maddox, Bridgeport, Ill., Professor C. H. Staples, head of the dairy department, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La., E. J. Cornish, Cold Spring, N. Y., nationally known business man and owner of a noted herd of high producing Jerseys, and Samuel F. Crabbe, retiring president, were elected to fill vacancies on the board of directors.

Lewis W. Morley, executive secretary, who presented the annual report of the work of the organization, expressed optimism about the future declaring that dairying is fundamental and that the Jersey breed will continue its advancement in spite of the present business depression. He reported 57,717 purebred Jerseys registered during the fiscal year of the club and 33,708 transfers of purebred Jerseys recorded. Texas, with 13,085 breeders of purebred Jerseys, was first for number of breeders, registrations and transfers, Ohio ranking second.

"It is encouraging to note the increasing value and dependence which breeders are placing on production records," Mr. Morley said. "During the past fiscal year 3,157 official test records were completed by Jersey cows and accepted by the Register of Merit Department of the club. This is an increase of 8.58% in records completed. In addition thirty-four Jersey herds comprising a total of 789 cows finished 365-day production tests made through the Herd Improvement Registry of the American Jersey Cattle Club and sixty-one Jersey breeders now have their entire herds on test."

Imp. Canalisie, a 2-year-old purebred Jersey cow owned by Carl J. Tucker, of Mount Kisco, N. Y., was announced as the 1931 winner of the President's Cup, the highest trophy awarded by the American Jersey Cattle Club to outstanding butterfat production. Imp. Canalisie yielded 1672.57 lbs. of butterfat, 18,822 lbs. of milk, the equivalent of 1,340 lbs. of butter, 8,754 quarts of milk, in a 365-day test. With this yield she broke the national butterfat production record for imported Jersey cows for the second time. Other national Jersey production records completed during 1930 are reported at the meeting were made by Mary Lucille Ross, owned by Herman and Paul Rolfmeier, Seward, Neb., Golden Chief's Lady May, owned by L. A. Hulbert, Independence, Oreg., Rinda's Rosaire's Tessie owned by John Koplif, Gaston, Oreg., and Observer's Queen, owned by Longview Farm Lee's Summit, Mo.

Dr. H. E. Van Norman, former dean of the University of California School of Agriculture, spoke on breed improvement.

Leading Jersey breeders attending the meeting were confident about the future of the dairy industry and predicted an early increase in market prices for good dairy cattle and dairy products.

Young Artist Wins Deserved Success

Energy and ambition give a fine ballast to youth that is optimistic and striving for the permanent expression of that talent which the possessor may enjoy and this fact is well illustrated in the case of F. Wayne Jackson of Chicago, who has been on a recent visit in Eastland with his father, W. K. Jackson. Young Jackson has achieved success in his chosen art into standard business or specialized lines of work. Although only 27 years of age the young man can review the ten years since his graduation from Englewood High School of Chicago, with a just sense of gratification.

The Englewood Annual, "The E" published by the students of Englewood High School of date February 1921 the year Jackson graduated, has this to say: "Four Year Commercial Course, Englewood; Delegate two semesters; 'E' Staff three semesters; 2nd Lieut. and Captain, R. O. T. C.; Captain three semesters; Senior Sponsor 'E', 'F' and 'A'; Chairman Publicity Committee, Junior 'From' '19; Vice President S-A Class; Englewooder Social Committee; 4-B Social Committee; one of seven chosen for Camp Custer '20; Intercouncil '20; Assistant Supply Officer R. O. T. C.; Eze Club '20; Englewooder four years; Honor Society, Northwestern University."

In addition to the foregoing activities Jackson was chairman of the Artist's staff of the "E" one year prior to graduation and his work through 1920 claimed universal recognition.

The young man spent eight months with his father in Eastland after finishing school and upon his return to Chicago established an Art Studio for commercial work. His success was unusual. His novel ideas and originality in designing soon established a good clientele among business firms and people who issued specially engraved or illustrated business cards. His success increased to the point that he took in a partner and the firm was fairly prosperous. In 1924 and 1925 young Jackson did all the engraving, setting up, and original designing for a magazine known as the "Fraternity Set" issued in Chicago.

Eventually, Jackson conducted his art business alone and specialized on drawings for firms putting out certain lines of work. This brought him in contact with the Toy Tinkers, Inc., of Evanston, Ill. The firm engaged his services exclusively. Jackson was awarded a contract for writing the material for the booklets the firm issued, for the original designs for toys, for their coloring, their grouping, the background and the covers. In addition the Toy Tinkers, Inc., sends Mr. Jackson out on long confidential trips of interest of the work. The recent visit of Jackson was in the course of a trip by motor, train and airplane through eleven states covering a period of three to four weeks. This survey of the business conditions of the South was a most satisfactory one to Mr. Jackson reported. In one of the brochures issued by Mr. Jackson and named "Tinker Toys for Babies" he has engraved a picture of his two and a half years old son, Wayne Jr., a charming lithograph in soft colorings that is very attractive for tris style of leaflet.

Jackson is very modest about himself and his work and claims no special honor for having won his success. He ascribes anything he may have succeeded in doing to the influence of his delightful wife, and to the many ideas he gathers from watching his child at play.

Eastland-Ranger Buildings Gain

Eastland and Ranger showed substantial building activities during the month of May with $2,000 in permits being granted in Eastland and $7,000 being issued in Ranger.

The total for the state was more for the month of May than for April and was not very much under the figure for May, 1930.

Building permits granted in 35 Texas cities during May totaled $5,386,000, compared to $5,973,000 in April and $6,319,000 in May of last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Research.

"As a usual thing building permits drop off sharply during May as compared to the previous month," the bureau's report said. "The total for May this year was 15 per cent below May, 1930, in actual dollar value, but when adjusted for lower building costs as indicated by the Engineering News-Record index the decrease was only 7.3 per cent."

"The increase in Texas during May as compared to April was in contrast to a decline of 9.1 per cent in total building of the United States, as indicated by the F. W. Dodge corporation. United States figures on a dollar basis were 33 per cent below May of last year. "Permits granted in Texas cities were as follows: Abilene, $9,000; Amarillo, $293,000; Austin, $153,000; Beaumont, $347,000; Brownsville, $19,000; Brownwood, $38,000; Cleburne, $9,000; Corpus Christi, $78,000; Corsicana, $12,000; Dallas, $249,000; Del Rio, $57,000; Denison, $4,000; Eastland, $2,000; El Paso, $97,000; Fort Worth, $942,000; Galveston, $186,000; Houston, $777,000; Jacksonville, $43,000; Laredo, $11,000; Lubbock, $7,000; McAllen, $2,000; Marshall, $14,000; Paris, $6,000; Plainview, $20,000; Port Arthur, $51,000; Ranger, $7,000; San Angelo, $6,000; San Antonio, $116,000; Sherman, $3,000; Snyder, $4,000; Sweetwater, $2,000; Temple, $33,000; Tyler, $429,000; Waco, $1,253,000; Wichita Falls, $7,000."

INTERNATIONALIZING THE EGG

Eggs may be only "fresh" or "otherwise" to most consumers, but to the egg trader in 18 countries quality of shell eggs is more or less uniformly expressed in terms of air cells, condition of shells, yolks, whites, and germs.

Egg quality standards, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, are now recognized in 18 countries. Of 17 foreign countries, 15 maintain standards in connection with an export trade in eggs, and 2 countries—Germany and the United Kingdom, recognize standards for the domestic trade only. There is considerable uniformity in the standards.

Canadian egg standards were the first to be systematically formulated. United States standards were prepared later, and followed in essential respects the Canadian standards. Foreign countries in general have considered the same quality factors in formulating egg grades, and have adopted practically the same methods of describing the various degrees of quality.

In practically all of the standards, the specifications for the air cell deal with its depth. Similarly differences in quality, as evidenced by the condition of the yolk, are indicated in terms of visibility of the yolk. Countries which have established standards of quality for shell eggs are: United States, Canada, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Finland, Netherlands, Belgium, Russia, Poland, Danzig, Rumania, Ireland, South African Union, England, Wales, and Germany.

Man and Cow Win In Fight With Enraged Bear

LYONS, Colo., June 25.—Carl Brke, a rancher, narrowly escaped death in a battle with an enraged bear. He discovered the bear battling a cow who sought to protect her calf. The mother-instinct in the cow was strong, and the ordinarily passive bovine was stabbing frantically with her horns in an endeavor to keep the bear from the tiny calf. The battle, however, was unequal, and Brke ran home for a gun.

He returned with a shotgun, and fired both barrels at the bear, shattering one of its fore-legs. The bear promptly charged its attacker, and Brke fled for his life into a barn. The bear followed, and Brke jumped from stall to stall, to escape the maddened animal.

The rancher finally escaped and got into the house again, securing additional shells. As he emerged, the bear, limping away, turned again to the battle.

Rising on its hind feet, the animal waddled toward the man. Brke fired, but the bear continued its awesome walk toward him. The rancher fired again and again. At the sixth shot, when it was a yard from him, the bear toppled over dead.

Cotton May Be Substituted For Pulp In Factories

COLLEGE STATION.—Substitution of cotton for wood pulp in the manufacture of rayon, for jute in cotton bagging and more extensive use of the South's fleecy staple in the manufacture of bags for sugar, grains and vegetables were among the possibilities discussed meeting here of the cotton industry at the meeting of the Association for the Increased Use of Cotton.

J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, was elected president of the Texas division, a branch of the national organization formed recently at Atlanta, Ga., and tentative program for launching the organization's work in Texas was discussed. Increased efforts in the field of research in developing more uses for cotton was stressed as of major importance. President T. O. Walton of Texas A. & M. college assured the organization of the cooperation of the college and its agencies in the work. The organization's headquarters will be at Austin.

League Rules to Halt Recruiting

AUSTIN, June 25.—Adoption of a new rule in the football plan of the Texas Interscholastic league, authorizing the district executive committee to disqualify any high school whose officials or "fans" are believed to be recruiting players, has been announced by Athletic Director Roy Henderson, of the University of Texas league bureau. This announcement follows a meeting of the state executive committee here.

The new rule adds to the already existing duties of the district executive committee a third one, namely, to uphold the principle that high school football is worthwhile in schools as an educational force when properly controlled. The other two duties are to certify the district champion to the state office in due time, and to enforce rules in the district.

Efforts on the part of any school official or local fan to recruit players will be considered a violation of the principle, and will subject the school to disqualification," the news rule further read: "Qualification may be made by the district committee after the school concerned has been given an opportunity to be heard in its own defense. When a school is disqualified, it will remain on the disqualified list until its superintendent has convinced the committee that the errors complained of have been reformed and that he can guarantee the proper conduct of football in his school."

The new rule gives the district blanket authority to disqualify any school where belief is current that the recruiting of athletes is going on Mr. Henderson said. The effectiveness of its enforcement lies entirely with the district committee. In the past the constitution of the League has been such that it has been necessary for the ineligibility of a particular athlete to be proven before the school using him may be disqualified. There has been no regulation giving any committee arbitrary authority to disqualify a school.

News From Eastland County Farms

By Jim Moss, Field Editor

The field editor for the Weekly Chronicle was well received last week and this week by the people of the rural communities. We find them ready and willing to cooperate with the Chronicle in its efforts to assist the farmer and at the same time help those who do not live on the farm. Following are some of the farmers visited and the interviews given by them:

A. M. Knox Jewell, Carbon Rt. No. 2. Mr. Knox believes in crop diversification. He has a good, well improved farm and is making more than a living on it. He has plans for still greater improvements.

On this farm there is a flock of 150 Rhode Island Red chickens. Also a large drove of turkeys $16 worth of fryers were sold recently off the farm.

Mr. Knox does not grow cotton, planting his land in feed, peanuts and forage crops. He has adopted a policy of planting only every other row and says it pays. He has enough feed left from last year's crop to do him another year. There are a number of Jersey cows on the farm and milk is sold.

W. D. Harper Gorman. Mr. Harper lives near Gorman. He is also a believer in diversification and is growing much truck. He has six acres of cantaloupes which are fine and which will be ready to market July 1st. He has 15 acres planted to Irish potatoes 11 acres of which was fertilized with commercial fertilizer. He began harvesting these last Monday and the yield is good.

Mr. Harper has 42 acres in orchard, mostly planted to Elberta peaches, but with a number of plums, apples and pears. Also he has an orchard of paper shell pecans.

Mrs. Harper is superintending the cultivation of 1 1/2 acres in garden which is doing fine.

J. J. Krenshaw Gorman. J. J. Krenshaw is specializing on watermelons and has established quite a reputation for the quality and flavor of his product. He has a nice home and well improved farm with 40 acres in cultivation. There is a six acre orchard used by the family. One-third acre is planted to blackberries from which 200 gallons have been sold this year in addition to what has been used by the family. He has two acres in cantaloupes and plenty of onions, cabbage, beets, etc. He will have home grown roasting ears next week.

I. B. Bourland Lone Cedar, Eastland Rt. No. 2. Mr. Bourland is one of the pioneer settlers of this county, having lived here 56 years. He has a nice country home with most all modern conveniences. He has good crops and says the prospects for the farmer are better now than for many years.

Mr. Bourland has a nice flock of Barred Rock hens and some good Jersey cows. He is not selling duation of their son, Poe, from Rush Medical college, of the University of Chicago.

Homer Brelsford Jr., has returned from a business trip to Fort Worth.

T. L. Overbey was a business visitor in Dallas Monday.

Miss Pearl Marquis of Pittsburg, Pa., Miss Bessie Albrecht of Youngstown, O.; Miss Faye Grander of Preston, O., and Miss Lois Alsford of Ashland, O., are guests in the W. Z. Outward home.

Lee Bourland Olden, Eastland Rt. No. 3. Mr. and Mrs. Bourland have a nice modern home with water piped to all parts of the building and with gas for fuel and lights. They have three Jersey cows; 160 White Leghorn hens and sell milk, eggs and butter. Their crops are fine. They have planted watermelons and cantaloupes.

A splendid orchard is to be found on the farm. Also a good vineyard. They have plenty of canned goods left over from last year for another year, but are putting up an additional supply.

W. H. White Staff, Gorman Rt. 3. Mr. White is one of the many progressive farmers in Eastland county. He has a nice, modern brick home and plenty of good barns and other outbuildings on his farm. He is a firm believer in diversification of crops. He has some cotton and large forage crops planted.

There is a herd of 25 high grade white faced cattle on the place and a big flock of chickens.

Mr. White estimates that the recent hail that struck his section damaged crops 33 1-3 per cent.

Mrs. White, at the time of our visit was canning Irish potatoes, using a high pressure cooker and sealer. She declared that the canner and sealer were great things for the farmer and his family. The Whites have already canned large quantities of all kinds of vegetables, berries, grapes, etc. They have a large cellar, walled and floored with cement, which they use as a storage house. They also have plenty of hogs to furnish meat for the family use.

O. I. Lyres Desdemona. Little, if any, sign of depression was to be seen about this place. The Ayres have 200 laying hens, 600 Rhode Island Red baby chicks, which they bought from the Bell-Hurst ranch at Eastland. They also have a large number of White Leghorns and White Rocks which they purchased at Stephenville. There are 425 broilers on the place ready for market.

Mrs. Ayres took the premiums on her chickens at the Oil Belt Poultry Show last year. She has some White Rock pullets that were baby chicks last November that were laying on April 15.

The chicken houses on the Ayres place are modern. There is an electric incubator of 1,400 egg capacity, an electric brooder with violet ray lights.

In addition to chicken New Zealand rabbits are bred and grown on the Ayres farm.

Village Urged at Ruins
COLLIDGE, Ariz.—Katherine McRae, originator of the Casa Grande ruins pageant, has proposed construction of an Indian village at the prehistoric townsite, near here, in which each county and tribe in Arizona would have a section. Tourists would be drawn to the Casa Grande ruins, she contends, while the Indians could make money by offering their native wares for sale.

Huge Chart Displays Shoes.
ROCKLAND, Mass.—A mammoth display chart on which 129 pairs of men's shoes of various widths and sizes were fastened was recently assembled by Ernest A. Burrill, educational adviser of the National Shoe Retailer's association. The smallest shoe on the chart was a "5-B," and the largest a "15-AAAA."

Greedy Snake Life.
PHOENIX, Ariz.—A bull snake two and one half feet long, crawled through an inch and one-half feeder hole in a battery brooder at the Southern Hatchery here and gobbled down a week old chicken. His greedy cost him his life, as the bulge in his "tummy" prevented crawling out again.
