Melt the butter in a stewpan till quite hot, but be careful it does not burn. Separate the yolk of the egg from the white, and beat up the yolk first. Stir this into the shredded fish, with the mixed herbs, a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper. Beat the white lightly in with the rest. Now pour the mixture into the stewpan over a clear fire. Stir for one minute with a knife until it begins to set, shake over the fire until it rises, which it should do almost at once. Then fold it over on a hot dish and serve at once.

Listen! We got help offered to us. Our staff has been so rotten that Nupe and Upe left some stuff with the editor to help us make our column spicy. No fooling—we appreciate all the help we can get and are going to show it by running all of their stuff that can go through the mails. It isn't patented—send in all your stuff and we will use it.

By Nupe and Upe. Mike and Ike said Jo Earl Uttz could not get a beau. This week she has had several girls worried. We are glad Jo Earl is doing good. —Mike and Ike.

We wonder what has happened to the McGlamery-Francis affair. They both seem to be wondering, too. The path of true love never runs smooth.—M. and I.

The present big moment of a popular freshman is Darrell Tully. She is hoping her big moment will turn into an hour.

Ellen, you are bragging.—M. and I. Can anyone help Eloise Ligon. She is in love. Nothing unusual but He is different.

Just growing pains.—M. and I. Why do some people insist on saying that Runt Arthur is so stuck up? Ask the marines, we don't know.—M. and I.

Miss Word announced that the itch is in high school. She wants to use a soap that she does not know the name of. Neither do we but we are calling it Gottascratch.

The druggist may not know that name. Better ask her again.—M and I. Conrad Reeves has had quite a bad time getting twenty-five cents to take Agnes Odum to the Elks Dance.

Maybe Agnes would stay home.—M. and I. There was a lot more but we gotter put in some of our own stuff or our salary stops.

If Wayne Copeland's gym pants were any more abbreviated, she would have to use them for ear muffs.

Wanda Jean Huling has been wearing a black and red sweater that would fit Mr. Mouser. Mary Dingle still knows how to blush—and does.

Leona Key got married. She would rather be a slave driver than a high school girl. What became of Frances May's beret. Miss Bell wasted half the history period panning L. G. Tucker for her orange hair—somebody try green hair and see what Miss Bell would say.

Daus Simmonds keeps the Eighth Period Study Hall for Miss Word—or does the study hall keep him? Roger Moorehead did not know who Dora Fields was—he put on his paper that she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fields.

Time to study Latin and such. If you want any more see Nupe and Upe. We thank you.

Honesty Among High School Students

AN EDITORIAL

Most all of the students in our high school are honest and trustworthy. I think that we are to be complimented on our general code of morals. However there are a few among us who are real snakes in the grass. Among this bunch was the thief who took some Red Cross money out of Miss Johnson's room last Monday. Any one who would stoop low enough to steal money that the high school students are raising to help the Red Cross is a disgrace to our school. We don't know who he or she is, but I certainly hope that the guilty person will read this editorial and get some good out of it. I am not trying to gripe. I think this needed to be written.

Verna F. Johnson, Head of the English Department. Hazel Tilley

Miss Johnson was born in Eastland and has never lived anywhere else. She attended and graduated from Eastland Grammar school, and Eastland high school.

Miss Johnson attended College of Industrial Arts, Denton, and graduated from Texas Tech, Lubbock, in 1929 with a B. A. degree.

Miss Johnson did part of her Master's work at Texas Tech, Lubbock and University of Wyoming, Laramie, from which she will receive her M. A. degree next summer when she presents her thesis on "Texas Poetry."

She taught her first school at Yellow Mound. This is also the school Miss Johnson's mother taught. Miss Johnson taught English for two years in South Ward and taught Freshman and Sophomore English for two years in Eastland high school. She is now head of the English department. Her mother also was formerly a teacher of Eastland high school. Miss Johnson is following in the steps of her mother. Let's hope she doesn't follow them so far as to marry a doctor. What could our school do without her?

Miss Johnson, with the help of Mr. Johnson, is sponsoring the Junior class. They said: "We are going to give the seniors a banquet such as they have never had before, one that will not be in accordance with the depression."

Miss Johnson, with her sweet disposition, deep understanding of her students, sense of humor and intelligence, is loved and respected by all students.

Some Miscellaneous Data

By S. M. D. Miniature golf courses are gone, but miniature salaries seem reluctant of leaving as quickly as the aforementioned craze.

We heard the other day that the average American does not reach the seventh grade. However, because of slowly improving figures educators are very optimistic.

Bob ties are about as extinct as the once famed Dodo bird. The Dodo bird, in case you don't know, is an extinct bird that could not fly and was larger than a turkey. They used to be found in great numbers off the Madagascar coast in Africa.

Taking for granted that the reader will pardon a personal reference, we want to say that because of personal reasons very obvious, Ruth Rosenquest takes the cake. More than likely the writer will hear dissatisfaction assented, but beauty should be rewarded.

Bob Martin tells us he used to have a rattling good time when a baby.

Lee Grubbs aspires to higher things. He plans to be an aviator.

The Bronk cheer is being overdone. Practically every show one sees somebody in the movie gets the razzberry. By releasing air out of an inflated squawking balloon, sucking in on pipes producing strange noises, letting a deck of cards pass card by card, touching a finger, and making noises with the mouth, are the most common methods of doing something that was once a surefire method of getting laughs.

Incidentally the first letters of each word of the title of the purported column are my initials.

CHAPEL NOTES

By Florence Perkins

At the Thursday afternoon chapel hour the Dramatic Club gratified our wish and presented another very entertaining program. Jessie Ruth Barnett read a clever reading entitled, "A Right Sweet Curse." Then a short skit from the story "Penrod" was presented by the following members of the dramatic club: Ed Pritchard, Carl Garrett, Dorothy Day, Lurline Brawner, S. J. Arthur, Conrad Reeves, Happy Hightower, Jack Grubbs, Estes Burgamy, Shirley Ferrell, Truett Fulcher and Nelle Yeager. The skit was very amusing and interesting. The Dramatic Club is doing great work. Superintendent Bittle read the announcements.

The Monday afternoon assembly hour was opened with the student body singing "America" in unison. Then Mr. Palm gave a short talk on the idea that the high school student should learn the American Creed and the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. Coach gave a very interesting and clever talk on football. In his talk he answered questions submitted by students, and explained some of the most important rules of the game. Some of the points brought out were the penalties, ways of scoring points, the qualifications of a player, and he gave some of the well-known plays. In concluding the Coach read a report of the 1940 Eastland-Cisco game, in which he described the elegant uniforms of the players, the method of playing, and what took place between halves, and the last minute victory of one of the Mavericks. The student body appreciated the originality with which this talk was presented.

Dr. Brooks of Baylor College at Waco was a visitor, and he gave a short talk on the duty of the high school student to prepare himself for future citizenship. We invite Dr. Brooks to visit us again. Principal Palm read the announcements.
