

Senator Burkett Opens Campaign Here Saturday

Senator Joe Burkett of San Antonio, who is a candidate for congressman-at-large, will deliver the opening address of his campaign here tomorrow (Saturday, March 12) at 2:00 p. m. The meeting will be at the Eastland county courthouse in the 88th district court room. Mayor Marshall McCullough will preside and Judge Elzo Been will introduce Senator Burkett.

Having lived for many years in Eastland and adjoining counties, where he farmed, conducted newspapers, taught school, practiced law and held public office, Senator Burkett is well and favorably known to the voters of this section. It will be remembered that Senator Burkett served this county as district clerk, county judge and district judge. Also that he represented this district in the state senate and served as a member of the state highway commission.

Texas, according to the late federal census, is entitled to elect three additional congressmen-at-large until such time as the state has been redistricted. Senator Burkett aspires to be elected as one of these. He has already canvassed a good portion of the state and everywhere is being given enthusiastic receptions.

A few years ago Senator Burkett moved to San Antonio, where he established a law office. He is said by his friends over the state to have a large following in San Antonio and South Texas where he has lived only a short time. In Central and West Texas he is well known and doubtless will draw a good support from those sections.

Senator Burkett's friends and supporters, especially his old friends, are urged to attend the meeting here Saturday. Senator Burkett is a good speaker, is well informed on the issues of the day and will have something interesting to tell his audience.

Neff Opposed To Appointment of Victor Gilbert

AUSTIN, March 10.—Former Governor Pat M. Neff, member of the state railroad commission, today contested the appointment of former Representative Victor Gilbert of Cisco as assistant director of the motor division and named Abe Gross of Waco for the place.

Gilbert was named by Chairman C. V. Terrell and Commissioner Lon Smith, following the resignation of Walter E. Gates of San Antonio from the $3,600 position. Chairman Terrell was absent from Austin. Commissioner Smith said there would be no statement in reply until Terrell returns tomorrow.

Neff, in a letter to Terrell, said: "I am prompted to make this nomination for the reason that I have a signed communication from Commissioner Smith sent to me a few days after you and Mr. Smith testified before the legislative investigating committee that certain appointments had been allocated to me, naming as one of these appointments to the place held by Mr. Gates."

"I am further prompted to make this nomination for the reason you have made all the appointments that have been made here at the capitol, 19 in number, during the past year, without any conference with me about any of them."

Son of Famous Character Dies

GILROY, Calif., March 10.—Rose of the Rancho's son is dead. In the shadows of the crumbling arches of old Mission San Juan Bautista they have buried Policrónico Escobedo de Guadalupe Anzar, 81-year-old son of Maria Antonio Castro, famed as the true life heroine of "Rose of the Rancho." Richard Walton Tully's famous drama.

Anzar lived and died on the vast Rancho de las Aromas, which his great-grandfather, Don Juan Bautista de Anzar, received as a grant from the King of Spain. It was the life on this boundless domain that Tully immortalized in his play. Belasco produced it in 1906.

Don Juan, known as the first white explorer of California, kept a record of his travels. These records, discovered years later in old Mexico City libraries, necessitated re-writing much of the history of the North American continent.

Maria Antonio Castro Anzar—Rose of the Rancho—was the daughter of Gen. Jose Castro, early California governor and opponent of Gen. John C. Fremont in the historic battle of San Juan. Guadalupe Anzar was born in 1851 in the old Plaza Hotel at San Juan Bautista, which was owned by his father, Don Miguel, who, with Anzar's uncle, Father Jose Antonio de Anzar, came to California from Old Mexico in 1833. Jose de Anzar was the last of the Franciscan padres at Mission San Juan Bautista.

Men Wait Turns To Take Gasoline

Ten years ago it was no uncommon sight to see wagons with water tanks on them lined up at springs waiting their turn to get water to haul into town and sell. Today it seems to be a common sight to see them waiting with their automobile gas tanks empty and lined up near a drip in a gas line waiting their turn to draw off gasoline.

Sheriff Foster and Steele Hill were called out to a farm southwest of Eastland yesterday in response to a complaint and found six men waiting for the gasoline to accumulate. They had built fires to make themselves comfortable and one of them had made a pot of coffee. The six were brought into town and charges were filed against them in justice of peace court.

Pleas of guilty to stealing gasoline were entered by Oris Robinson, Elmer Robinson, Roy Justice, Ervin Harrison, W. L. Taylor and H. D. Lanham, and each was fined $1 and costs.

Gilbert to Take Office March 15

AUSTIN, March 10.—"Victor Gilbert of Cisco will take office as assistant director of the motor division on March 15," was the only reply at railroad commission offices here today to former Governor Pat Neff's nomination of Abe Gross of Waco for the post.

Neff protested to the commission yesterday that the appointment was one allotted to him. Commissioner Lon Smith said former Governor Neff knew of the vacancy for two weeks, that its filling was passed over at the regular meeting a week ago and filled at the regular conference Monday. Neff did not attend that conference.

"He made no nomination until after the place had been filled," said Smith.

Chairman Terrell declined to enter into the controversy. He walked away when the question was brought up by newspapermen.

Word from Cisco, home of Gilbert, said today that he had not made up his mind whether to accept the position or not. He was quoted as saying he had it under consideration and did not know at this time whether or not he would accept.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Kelly and son Joyce spent the week-end with Mr. Kelly's parents in Kill-een.

Mr. and Mrs. Hulsey of Abilene are spending the week with Mrs. Richard Jones at the Lamar Hotel.

Steele Hill has been in Dallas since Friday and is expected to return Monday bringing some promoters with him.

Girl Is Held In Rioting At Plant

DETROIT, Mich., March 10.—Rioting of unemployed at the Ford plant in which four men were killed and 22 hurt, has resulted in mobilization of the national guard and arrest of 15 alleged mob leaders, including the defiant girl who shouted: "Come on, you — cowards."

The grim-faced girl, Mary Goffman, her shabby blue dress still was in fighting mood as she faced her police accusers today.

"Yes, I was there. I am not sorry. I did it for starving millions. Blame capitalism, which is the cause of all suffering. Now don't talk to me," the tearless woman shouted.

Police charged the rioting of the 3,000 jobless men and women was planned by communists, Sticks, stones, tear gas and bullets were used by police and rioters before the disturbance was quelled.

The four killed were Joseph York, 23; Joe DeBruske, 20; Coleman Lenz, 25, and Joseph Bussell, 16, a newsboy.

Police had arrested 15 alleged members of the mob and prosecutors said they probably would be charged with manslaughter.

Police said the girl had a record in several other cities as a labor agitator.

Road Meeting Called Friday

G. J. Rex, who resides in the Merriman community, has called a meeting of the farmers of that section, to which a number of people have been invited, to work out plans for having the road from the Bankhead highway to the Merriman school.

The meeting is to be held at the Merriman school at 7:30 Friday night and a large crowd is expected to be present.

Enough teams and fresnos have been secured to haul the gravel and trucks have been donated for hauling gravel by one of the oil companies. The gravel is to be secured, free of charge, from a gravel pit near the road. Several men to help handle fresnos are needed and it is planned to secure them from the city of Ranger.

V. V. Cooper, county commissioner, has agreed to scatter and level the gravel after it is hauled and to keep the road in good condition after it is fixed. He, accompanied by a representative of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, will attend the meeting and help to work out a schedule by which the farmers in the community may work.

It is expected that the road will be built without expense to the county, within the next few months, having it ready for use this spring.

Judge Newsom Is Speaker Here

Judge Newsom of Fort Worth, state organizer of citizens tax reduction associations, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Eastland County Taxpayers association here Friday of last week.

Speakers appearing before the meeting urged the election of men to public office who had the interest of the masses at heart and not men who favored the "favored few."

The next meeting of the association will be Saturday, March 19, at the courthouse.

$2,733,221 Totals Fire Insurance Companies Loss

The fire insurance companies doing business in Texas operated at a book loss of $2,733,221 in 1930, and apparently will show a still larger loss for 1931 operations, according to sworn reports to the state insurance commission.

The reports on 1931 business are required to be in the hands of the commission by Aug. 31 and the figures will be tabulated and totals reached by July in one of the most complex statistical computations made by any branch of the state.

The companies collected gross direct premiums of $26,983,764 in 1930 on business in Texas, their reports showed. They paid direct losses of $17,225,418 and reported expenses paid of $12,481,567.

Out of each dollar collected in premiums, they reported that they paid out 63.8 cents in losses and 46.2 cents in expenses.

The expense items included agents' commissions, salaries and all other items of cost against the premium collections.

Reinsurance was not accounted for in these tabulations.

The companies that in 1930 collected over $1,000,000 premiums had the following experience as to expense and loss payments:

Home Insurance company, premiums, $1,024,090; losses, $567,414; expenses $144,551.

The Aetna company had $654,310 premiums $412,670 losses and $340,490 expenses on fire insurance, and United States Fire Insurance company, $539,675 in premiums; $362,510 in losses and $211,627 in expenses.

Legion To Meet In Brownwood

The next district convention of the seventeenth district of the American Legion of Texas will be held at Brownwood on March 27 and 28.

M. J. Benefield, executive committee man of the district, of Brady, states that a great program is being planned for the two days' gathering and that the Brownwood post is counting on and preparing for the largest attendance of ex-service men ever to assemble there.

Benefield has the reputation of putting district conventions and everything he undertakes over in a big way and he is writing every post in the district to rally to the call to Brownwood and show to the world that "the old Legion is going ahead in the face of Old Man Depression."

The auxiliary will also hold its district meeting at the same place and at the same time. Mrs. M. J. Benefield is the active and able chairman for the district.

FILES SUIT

R. N. Grisham filed suit against the Community Natural Gas company of Eastland in Judge Newman's court to recover $1.42 alleged to have been charged him for gas, this amount being alleged to be in excess of what the company can legally charge under the rates authorized by the city commission.

The pleadings of the petition further set out that Grisham has a deposit up with the company which he alleges he made several years ago and that the company does not admit his having made the deposit. Damages are claimed in the amount of $100 actual and $50 exemplary plus the $1.42 alleged to have been overcharged him on gas.

Change In Management Revived Faith In Poultry

Skim milk is only one of several home produced poultry feeds that helped M. H. McClarty of Bomarton, Baylor county, to make a profit of almost $100 last year from 92 hens. About to quit the chicken business in disgust in the fall of 1930, County agent P. C. Colgin induced Mr. McClarty to try a better system for 60 days before selling off the 25 old white leghorn hens and 114 pull-ets. A change in the ration resulted almost immediately in more eggs from the flock and Mr. McClarty became a poultry demonstrator. He culled in May and August and at the end of the year there were 90 hens in the flock with an average production for the first 11 months of 172 eggs per bird.

The McClartys say the poultry income helped a lot last year and that the demonstration has convinced them that a farm flock can pay very well. Close culling and a good cheap farm-grown ration are two of the most important points in securing profits, Mr. McClarty believes. He has also recognized the importance of good housing by recently improving the old poultry quarters and separating the hens and turkeys. The ration used last year consisted of ground wheat, oats, and barley, and skim milk. When milk became scarce in the fall he mixed in 10 pounds of cottonseed meal with each 100 pounds of mash which was balanced with two to three gallons of swim milk daily.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED.
Julia Cavanaugh left penniless by a bank failure, is deserted in a small village by Count Karloff, whom she expected to marry. She takes a post to give Flash Madden, retired racketeer, the venue of a gentleman and later becomes engaged to Dick Webster. When the engagement is announced Count Karloff returns and demands $25,000 for her letters to him. Flash Madden goes to get them unbeknownst to anybody. As a result of the interview, the Count is killed. Madden is charged with the crime and refuses to put up any defense. His lawyer is addressing the jury. He has just intimated that a woman is back of Madden's silence.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.
Having finished his address to the jury, Blake turned toward the curious crowd assembled in the courtroom. Dick Webster was there and so was Julia Cavanaugh. Blake's eyes took in the entire picture and then rested on Julia. "Miss Julia Cavanaugh—will you please take the stand?" he asked. "What's she doing here?" asked Flash as he leaped to his feet and exclaimed, "I won't stand for it, I tell you. I won't have her testify."

For the first time in his life Flash Madden was happy.
(Poised by Lois Moran and Charles Bickford.)

He was speedily silenced and Julia took the stand. After the necessary formalities she said: "Mr. Madden went to Count Karloff's to get some letters of mine. Some letters that he was using to get money from me for."
"How much?"
"Count Karloff demanded $25,000."
"That will be all," said Blake, and Julia started to leave the stand.
"Just a moment," said the prosecuting attorney, stepping forward. "We are not through with you yet, Miss Cavanaugh. The court is particularly interested in those letters. What sort of letters were they?"
"Ordinary letters. Some I had written to the Count."
"They must have been more than ordinary letters since the Count demanded $25,000 for them, a man lost his life over them and another man is on trial for murder because of them. Surely, Miss Cavanaugh, you wouldn't describe them as ordinary letters. What were your relations with Count Karloff?"
"Thus began a long and tedious cross-examination which brought out all the incidents of that episode on the coast of Normandy. It ended Julia's hope of marriage as far as Dick Webster was concerned.
At length the case went to the jury. There was tense silence while twelve just men debated the fate of Flash Madden—and then the verdict. The words of the foreman rang out clearly, "Not Guilty."

Flash felt that he had been a failure. He wanted to do something grand for Julia. He was perfectly willing to sacrifice his life that she might be happily married to Dick Webster. That was impossible. He had failed.

The man sought Julia to confess his shame and tell her that he was going out of her life.

"I sure did pull a boner!" he said. "I've gunned the works. I guess I was never cut out to be a gent. It's a tougher racket than I thought."
"You're the greatest gentleman in the lot," she declared, "and I'm proud of you." She drew him to the sofa. "I want you to give me some advice. It—it's about a man." She tried to repeat word for word the scene that had taken place in Paris when Flash had tried to propose to her.

"I'm kinda stumped, though. I wanta ask him to marry me. I got

Play a Success at Morton Valley.
The play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills," given by the Thelma Riddle Dramatic club of Warner Memorial university, at Morton Valley on March 1, was a splendid success. The auditorium was filled with an appreciative audience. The actors played their parts well in spite of the fact that they were not familiar with the stage and the surroundings.

The play is expected to be repeated on March 15 at the Alameda high school auditorium. However, this is not a definite statement.
Batdorf's Entertain.

Business Slowed Down By Weather

DALLAS, Mar. 10.—Unseasonably warm weather and frequent rains affected business adversely during the past month, the federal reserve bank of Dallas said in its March report in reviewing business conditions in the eleventh federal reserve district.

"Much of the outdoor work has been retarded and consumer buying has been sluggish," the report stated. "Department store sales in larger centers reflected a seasonal decline of 59 per cent as compared with the previous month and were 29 per cent smaller than in the opening month of 1931." Wholesale merchandising showed less than the usual seasonal expansion in Texas and was materially smaller than in January last year. Bad roads also cut down buying in rural sections.

"Agricultural conditions continue generally favorable," the survey revealed. "Small grains and other winter crops have made good progress and present prospects are encouraging. A deep sub-soil season obtains in all sections of the district, which will be a sustaining factor in the event of dry weather late in the season."
"On the other hand, land preparation has been retarded and there have not been sufficient freezes to pulverize the soil and kill insects. Livestock and their ranges continue in good condition and prospects point toward early abundant pasturage in the spring."

Financial operations reflected largely the effect of seasonal factors, the bank reported. Federal reserve bank loans to member banks declined from $16,572,000 on Jan. 15 to $14,168,000 on Feb. 15. There has been a gradual return flow of federal reserve notes, the actual circulation being $41,835,000 on Feb. 15, or a recession of $4,978,000 since the first of the year.

The loans and investments of member banks in reserve cities showed an expansion of $5,390,000 between Jan. 6 and Feb. 10. The daily average of combined net demand and time deposits amounted to $664,954,000 in January, as compared with $677,029,000 in December, and $198,354,000 in January, 1931. Effective Jan. 28, the federal reserve bank of Dallas reduced its discount rate from 4 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent.

The volume of construction activity, as measured by the valuation of building permits issued at principal centers, was practically the same as in December, but was only 59 per cent of that in January, 1931.

For the third consecutive month, the production of petroleum in this district fell off. Oil production for January was 28,336,550 barrels, or a decline of 7.8 per cent from December production. This is at the rate of 847.94 barrels daily as compared with 919,698 barrels daily in December. Drilling operations, however, continued active and the initial production of new wells increased.

Commercial failures during January numbered 178, an increase of 32.8 per cent over December, and the liabilities of the failures totaled $4,051,626, an increase of 71.3 per cent over December.

Following the heavy foreign shipments of raw cotton in December, the January exports showed a noticeably large seasonal recession, but they were substantially above the low volume shipped in January, 1931, and compared favorably with the same month of earlier years. Receipts of cotton at Houston during the initial month of 1932 were fractionally smaller than those a month earlier, while at Galveston an unseasonable increase was recorded; receipts at both ports reflected considerable increases over January a years ago. Stocks of cotton held at these ports on Jan. 31 reflected a substantial increase over those a month earlier and a year ago.

The consumption of cotton and the production of cloth at textile mills in Texas declined in January due to the closing down of some mills and the curtailment of operations on the part of others, the report said. Shipments of goods during the month were greater than production with the result that supplies of finished products held on Jan. 31 were below those a month earlier. Stocks were also considerably smaller than a year ago.

Total valuation of building permits issued at 14 principal centers in the district during January showed a decline of 1.9 per cent from the previous month, despite the fact that eight of the cities reported substantial increases. The January volume amounted to $1,665,938, as against $1,698,781 in December, and $3,301,082 in January, 1931. There were 1,257 construction permits issued in January, as compared with a total of 1,023 in the previous month, and 1,690 in the same month a years ago.

Patriotic Song 100 Years Old

BOSTON, Mass.—Every American school child knows that last month marked the 200th birthday anniversary of George Washington. Probably few know that it also marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of a patriotic song they often sing—American.
It was a dismal February day in 1832. Samuel Francis Smith, a native of Boston and a senior at the Theological seminary then conducted by Phillips academy, was sitting in a house on Main street, Andover, looking over some German music books. Of what then happened Smith, years later, wrote:

"Written on Scrap Paper."
"Falling in with the tune of one of them (the German songs) and being pleased with its easy and simple movement, I glanced at the German words, and seeing that they were patriotic, instantly felt the impulse to write a patriotic hymn of the same tune. Seizing a scrap of paper, I put upon it, within half an hour, the verses substantially as they stand today."

Thus, while the tune of America is like that of the British, God Save the King, it reached Smith as a German hymn. The tune with the poem Smith put to it, beginning, My Country, 'Tis of Thee, was first played in public at Park Street church, Boston, Fourth of July, 1832. It was 10 years later before it became generally known. Though George Washington had been dead more than 30 years when Smith wrote the words of America, there is little doubt that Belief that Washington knew this America is based on the fact that other tunes by Billings, published in the same book, were well known to soldiers of the Continental army, including Chester, a rousing anthem with rhythm and movement well adapted to drum and fife.

Billings' America appeared as the first piece of music in his New England Psalm Singer, a thick volume of his own compositions which was the first complete book of American compositions to be published in this country.

Compiled in the Offices of the County Agent and County Home Demonstration Agent

American Cheese Made In the Homes of the County

Following the short course given by the International Harvester Company, some of the representatives visited some of the demonstrators of the home demonstration clubs. At the home of Mrs. E. M. Oney, member of the Friendship-Dethan home demonstration club, these visitors were served cheese sandwiches and grape juice. The cheese was made by Mrs. Oney and the grape juice reserved by her. The cheese is a product as good as any commercial cheese and better than much on the market at present. Mr. and Mrs. Oney have a filling station and live with their business, but the business does not take all the time. They have time all during the year to preserve the foods, grown in their garden, for use during the winter months.

Mrs. Oney makes the American cheese on the halves, the milk furnished by a neighbor lady and Mrs. Oney furnishes the tablets, cheese cloth, paraffin and her time and fuel for making. She makes ten gallons of milk at one time and gets approximately ten pounds of cheese. She makes the cheese in one five pound block and two 2 and 1-2 pound blocks. Mrs. Oney finds a ready sale for all the cheese she has over her supply used at home. The cheese is made and cured before it is sold. The approximate cost of making the cheese (ten pounds) is 88c (includes 25c per hour for the time used for making); selling the cheese for an average of 18c per pound gives $1.80, $1.80 less the cost 88c leaves 92c profit. Mrs. Oney had made 83 pounds of cheese since January 1.

American cheese has proved a profitable home made product in the food line in the homes of Eastland county, giving another milk product for home use and in this and other instances, something to bring in a little extra money. Any one who has a supply of milk can make the cheese at home. The equipment needed for making: large dish pan, wash tub or similar container, dairy thermometer, gallon syrup bucket (with ends malted off), two "followers" (made of ordinary board, sawed round so they will fit loosely inside the bucket)

1-2 yard cheese cloth; weights for pressing cheese and stove. Supplies needed: five gallons of milk, one half rennet and color tablet (the sure that you have the cheese rennet tablets), three teaspoons salt.

Directions for making cheese: Be sure that the milk is sweet. It's a good plan to take the milk obtained at night and morning, place in a large container, and heat to 86 degrees. Hold the thermometer with one hand, with the bulb in the milk, while you stir the milk from the bottom with a ladle or with the hand, so the milk will heat in uniform manner. After about one minute of 86 degrees heat, remove from the stove, and mix in the amount of cheese coloring desired (one-half tablet for five gallons of milk). Dissolve the tablets in three tablespoons cold water (using two cups). Stir thoroughly, cover with a cloth and let stand 30 to 40 minutes. The milk should then form a soft even curd. Take a long knife and cut in columns each way, let stand a few minutes until the whey begins to rise, then place on stove again. Lift and stir the curd gently, and break into small pieces about the size of grains of corn. If handled too roughly it allows the cream to escape. Heat slowly until it reaches 98 degrees then, after a minute's time, remove from the stove and pour off all the whey possible.

Spread a clean cloth (a flour sack ripped open is good) in a large pan (dish pan or something of the sort) and pour the curd into it. Raise it up and drain two or three minutes, salt lightly, and it is then ready for the hoop. Line the hoop with cheese cloth and place one of the followers on the top, put the cheese in the press and press down. When all the curd is in the press, put the other follower on and then add the weights. Two weights should be used, the first one put on when the curd is first put into the hoop and after four or six hours put the other on. This should be pressed over night. Remove from press the next morning and put in cool place for from three to five days. The cheese should be turned once or twice daily. At the end of this time the cheese cloth and paraffin should be put on and the block put in a cool place to cure or ripen. It should be good to eat at the end of 40 days, but every week's age that is added improves the product.

Mr. and Mrs. Oney have made a press for the cheese they make as have some of the other club members and families who make cheese for home use. These presses are made of scrap lumber and waste around the house and all the expense is the time it takes for making.

American cheese making demonstrations have been given in all the home demonstration clubs and in five unorganized communities by the agent. Through the home demonstration club members fifty percent of the communities have been given demonstrations in cheese making and by the end of the cheese making season this year at least eighty-five percent of the people will have been helped with cheese-making through demonstrations.

THE JAPAN MISSION SPEAKS AT 46TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

(Editor's Note—The following is a report of the Japanese Mission of the Methodist Church, which met at Kobe, Japan, and was sent to Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Mickle of Eastland by their son, Joe J. Jr., who is a Missionary in Japan and stationed at Kobe).

The Japan Mission of our Church is now met in its 46th Annual Session, in the city of Kobe where the Mission was founded. In view of the beginning of the Cultivation Period late during this month in the Home Church, we have felt impelled to make a statement concerning the actual situation in our field, encouraged as we are to do so by Bishop Kern who is presiding at this session. We furthermore feel that the heart of the Home Church would be deeply touched if once the facts as they are, and as we see them face to face, could be adequately known.

This Mission, like all other Missions founded by the American Churches, was begun with enthusiasm, undertaken with faith, and established with success. At the beginning of the foreign missionary movement the call was for heroic adventure. But now it is the heroism of perseverance and patience which is demanded if the movement is to be sustained. The report from the Board of Missions announcing the falling off of collections and the necessity of further and sharp reductions in the appropriations to this field has been received by us with disheartening anxiety in view of the magnitude of our work and the presence of enlarging opportunities. We are in deepest sympathy with our people at home at this time under their present extraordinary financial distress. But we feel a deep sense of duty to make known the situation here.

Our Mission has been created by a gradual growth and expansion in the course of fifty years. At the time of the Centenary Movement at home it was greatly enlarged. Our boundaries were widened, our institutions were better equipped, and our evangelistic force was greatly increased, this being made possible by the unprecedented giving on the part of the Home Church. But later the tide of benevolence at home began to recede and year after year it became necessary for us to cut down.

After a cut of approximately 32 percent in our evangelistic work and budget, during the last eleven years, we find ourselves so hampered by lack of all the necessities for effective evangelistic work that any further reduction threatens to undermine the evangelistic structure. Doubtless all our other Mission fields are similarly affected, but we can only speak from knowledge of conditions here in Japan. And now in addition to this a drastic reduction is called for at a time when our work had already been reduced to the utmost limits. We are asked to retrench at a time when the weight of responsibility for advance is felt by us as never before. We are bidden to retreat at a time when fresh and amazing Providence are calling for us to go forward.

The rural population, for example, long closed to any approach with the Gospel, has been penetrated with radical ideas from abroad and the negative effect of this penetration is an open-mindedness which really prepares the way for the Christian evangelist and his positive message of light and hope. Sixty percent of the population of Japan is rural and has scarcely been touched by the Christian propaganda. And now this vast field is opening and the rural people in different parts of the country are found to be eager for the Gospel. As an instance, one of our missionaries reports a probationers' training class of 87, composed largely of young farmers, held at night where after a hard day's work in the fields they come and remain through a late service.

One Missionary in the rural section reported:

"I am now to turn over to my successor a circuit sixty miles long full of opportunities for successful pioneer work." It seems probable, however, that the holding of our missionaries at home will leave this circuit, as well as others, unsupplied.

Another field hitherto most difficult to reach has become surprisingly friendly to Christian approach. One of our lady missionaries in a large city is visiting seven different factories and her visits are most sympathetically received by the workers themselves and heartily encouraged by the management. In another city, one of our ladies visits Rayon factory where 1,000 are employed and so eager were the workers for Christian literature that it was difficult to supply a sufficient quantity. In another city, our ladies' Evangelistic Center comes into contact with 1,000 people every week, 600 of whom are factory girls. This recent Providence opening to us doors of access to the vast factory population has stirred us profoundly.

We are face to face, speaking of the more general situation in Japan, with a changed attitude of mind. It is clearly perceived that the momentous increase of responsibility on the part of Japan as a nation has not been paralleled with a balancing and deepening spiritual advancement through a firm faith in the living God. We are assured by Bishop Akazawa, who has travelled recently widely throughout the country, that there is a moral yearning among the Japanese people, a growing dissatisfaction with present tendencies, and an increasing anxiety as regards the creation of spiritual foundations adequate for this great nation. There is a widening call for just such a message as is committed to the Church for reassuring hearts and minds in a troubled world.

It is simply impossible for us to contemplate, in view of these opportunities, without a deep feeling of sorrow and disappointment, reductions in the contributions made to this field such as will not only check further progress but will affect the very integrity of the work already established.

We would appeal to the Home Church to bear in mind the magnitude of our Christian establishment here in Japan for the furtherance of the Christian religion. At our present session, reports have been made by our missionaries representing Districts, Circuits, Churches, Chapels, Preaching Places, Colleges, High Schools, Theological and Bible Women Training Schools, Kindergartens, village Sunday Schools, Bible Classes, mothers' meetings, besides numerous other activities. These manifold services are constantly carried on in the name of Christ and in obedience to His will and are spread over a wide and thickly populated territory, reaching the great centers of population as well as many out-of-the-way places in the country districts and among the most spiritually neglected people. It would bring no relief but rather aggravate the situation to enforce economy by reducing the number of foreign missionaries. Our Mission is not only a force, but a great, organized establishment as well. The entire machinery for the spread of the Gospel dependent upon the missionaries and upon the Home Church which is supporting them and their work would be threatened with a complete breakdown. Plans and enterprises already on the way would of necessity be abandoned. Prompt responses to the fresh appeals the changed opportunities are making to us would not be possible.

We are fully aware of the hard conditions existing in the home land. But there are times when the supreme issues of like make unequalled and unequalled demands upon us, when every sacrifice must be salted with fire. Curtailment is necessary in many business enterprises, in the economies of the home, and in personal self-denial. But the summons to continue the work of the Gospel comes to us from the agony of the Cross and in order to meet the deepest need of the world. Knowing as we do the troubled conditions and disheartening circumstances under which funds are raised in the Church at home at the present time, it is with a deep feeling of regret and pain that we must send forth this appeal for the maintenance of our work and for the continued outpouring of benevolences by the Church at home. But necessity is laid upon us. We cannot look upon the present spiritual destitution and moral yearning among the people without feeling, "Who is me if I preach not the Gospel."

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

JESUS COMFORTS DISCIPLES

JESUS COMFORTS DISCIPLE Text: John 14:1-18. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 13.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist In the last lesson we saw the Master washing the disciples' feet, teaching them through his act the lesson of humility, and rebuking the selfish ambitions that led them to quarrel about matters of place and preferment.

A very different atmosphere surrounds this lesson. Here Jesus is the minister of comfort to those whose trouble and disappointment he foresees. The very lack of spiritual discernment on the part of the disciples was bound to make more perplexing and trying the experiences through which they were about to pass.

They had staked their faith upon the establishment of an earthly kingdom, in which they anticipated that they were going to have places of power and responsibility. That dream was about to find its crucial disappointment. Whether or not Jesus in his earthly consciousness had known from the beginning what was to be the climax of his earthly ministry on Calvary, it seems evident that at this time the clear consciousness of his impending sacrifice was ever present with him.

Under these conditions Jesus gave all the power of his utterance to strengthening the disciples for the crisis. He did this, not through warning and appeal, but by seeking to create in them the sort of faith and the quality of vision that would sustain them in their hour of need.

Here he brings the ministry to the troubled into the atmosphere of the eternal and abiding. The one great reason why we may rise above our perplexities and our troubles is the assurance that, no matter what comes, God's love and God's care abide with us. Jesus does not argue about this. He does not present facts and reasonings to uphold or prove it, he takes it rather as an assumption of spiritual reality. "If it were not so, I would have told you," he says. There are things, he suggests, that are at the very foundation of life and of goodness.

He is equally specific in defining the effect of this faith upon himself and upon his mission. He is going to prepare a place for the disciples, but he will not be separated from them. He is seeking to lead them in the way that he himself is going.

We must read these words in the light of the declaration of Jesus, "I am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life." He personifies in his personality and presence the divine realities which every reader of the Old Testament associated with the Eternal God.

Our lesson expresses the fact of the Incarnation as a practical, rather than a theoretical, doctrine. This relationship of the disciple to God, through the earthly Jesus, who is leading the way, as associated with the practical manifestation of religion in good works. Faith and communion are expressed in prevailing prayer, and in the prevailing power of righteous living. If we live in close communion with Jesus we become the sharers of his holiness and his power.

Talkie At Lyric Tells Story Of Shady Politics

Law versus underworld politics and the wiles of a woman used as a tool to wreck a city are the high lights on which was built the plot of "The Beast of the City," dramatic saga of the police, which will be shown Saturday at the Lyric theatre.

Essentially a dramatic romance the picture reveals startling "inside" facts concerning the relationship between the underworld and corrupt politics. It attempts to show in detail the truth about police activities in the modern American city and its sensational episodes provide a sweeping exposure of the entire structure of municipal political life. Based on facts taken from the most part from police records and newspapers, the story casts a new light on current urban civilization. Police alarms sent out by radio broadcasts, a remarkable bank specie robbery and realistic underworld battles form exciting moments in the picture which is based on the attempt of a police chief to prevent his brother, a detective, from going over to "the other side."

Walter Huston, remembered for his outstanding performance in "The Criminal Code," has the role of the police chief. Carl P. Springer has returned from a business trip to Arstin.
