Rufus Cox Heads Better Livestock Association Here

Organization of the Eastland County Better Livestock association, begun two or three weeks ago, was completed at a meeting in the courthouse in Eastland Monday afternoon with the election of Rufus Cox of Okra as president, Guy Stoker, Eastland route 2, vice president; H. C. Davis, Eastland, secretary; treasurer, and Bob Hodges, Ranger; Bob Weddington, Cisco; Till Wheat, Berry, Eastland and Berry; v. sh. Ranger; John Nix, Eastland; J. F. (Kid) Mosley, Olden; Frank Castleberry, Eastland; Berry Hargus, Eastland; John Berry, Eastland, directors.

These officers are to serve until January 1, 1933 when another meeting will be held and officers for 1933 selected. The next meeting of the association will be on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 2:00 o'clock in the county courtroom in Eastland.

The association is county-wide in its scope and has for its purpose the encouragement of the breeding and raising of a better grade of all kinds of livestock, poultry, etc. The purpose in naming a long list of directors was to select, as near as possible, one director for each variety of livestock produced in the county.

A number of splendid talks were made before the meeting Monday. Rufus Cox reviewed the work of the Tri-County Livestock association, organized five years ago and which aided very materially in bringing about the production of registered livestock in this, Stephen and Callahan counties, all of which were included in the association.

Green Wright brought out in a talk at the Eastland meeting the fact that there is a shortage of work horses and mules in this section. The splendid results obtained from the inauguration of bull circles in the county several years ago were also discussed.

Final Political Rally For Ferguson

A delegation of Ferguson supporters, starting from Cisco and accompanied by a Cisco band, made a tour of some of the towns of the county Monday afternoon in the interest of Mrs. Ferguson's candidacy for governor.

At Eastland, where there was a large Trades Day crowd in town, a stop was made long enough for the band to play a number of selections and where large quantities of literature was handed out advertising a Ferguson rally to be held Monday night in Cisco.

The Killouf, Luther Bewley, Homer Stiles and Frank Jones joined the delegation at Eastland for the trip to Ranger.

Booth, delivered his farewell sermon Sunday night. The large auditorium of the church was filled to almost full capacity and the audience included many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Shearer who were members of other churches.

Immediately following the sermon a social meeting was held in the Sunday school class room when refreshments were served. At this meeting a set of service plates were presented Dr. and Mrs. Shearer by the A. F. K. Circle in token of their esteem and affection.

Dr. Shearer left Wednesday for Waco to attend the annual Central Texas conference of his church which will be in session from Wednesday over Sunday.

88th Grand Jury In Final Report

The 88th district court grand jury, in its report to Judge Elzo Been before adjourning on Nov. 4, said that it had found law violation on the decrease in Eastland county and attributed this to the diligent efforts of the law enforcement officers to run down law violators. Following is the grand jury's report:

"Eastland, Tex., Nov. 4th. To the Honorable Judge Elzo Been, Judge 88th Dist. Court Eastland, Texas.

We, your Grand Jury, for the September term A. D. 1932, of your court, respectfully submit to you the following report:

During the term we have been in actual session nine days, and have examined 150 witnesses, and have returned 37 bills of indictment.

We have been favorably encouraged with the co-operation we have had from the citizenship of this county in efforts to run down law violations and are very happy to report that law violations are on the decline in Eastland county. This, we are sure is the result of the diligent efforts of the law enforcement officers of this county.

We have examined the jail and find it in fair condition, but would recommend that it be given a general re-building on the inside. Many places the plaster is off and our judgment; the entire job could be done at a minimal cost and would add considerably to the sanitary condition of the jail. The prisoners confined therein are receiving as good care and attention as conditions warrant.

Having completed our investigations, we request that we be discharged from further duty. Respectfully submitted, W. C. Bedford, Foreman."

Elmer Williams, Colored, Found Dead In His Bed

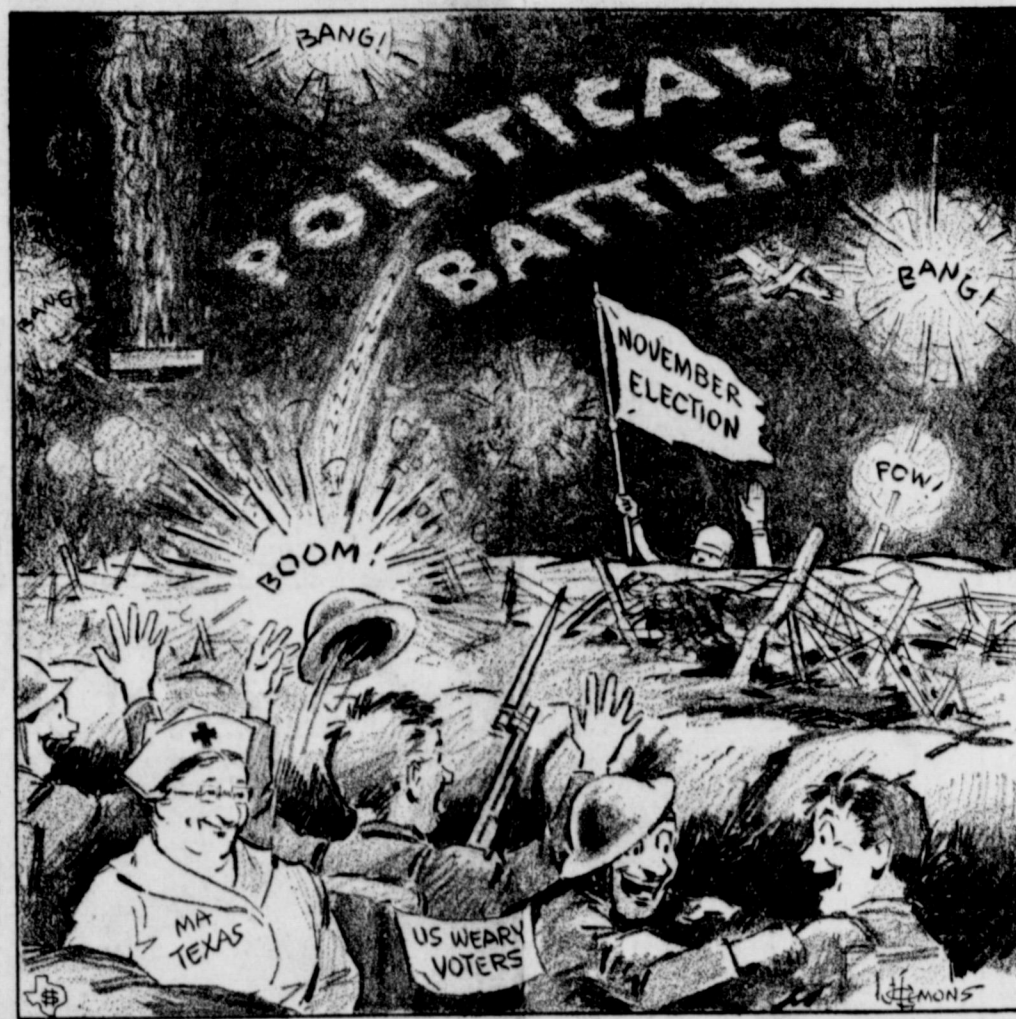

Elmer Williams, colored, about 35, was found Monday morning dead in a cabin in which he lived alone just across the Leon river bridge east of town. Apparently he had died of natural causes and had been dead several hours. Acquaintances of Williams said that he had been sick for several days and Monday friends went to his cabin to see how he was getting along and found him dead in bed.

Funeral services and burial were Monday afternoon. Justice of the Peace Milton Newman had previously held an inquest, rendering a verdict of death by natural causes.

COTTON CROP GOOD

R. E. Sikes of Eastland, who owns some farms in Fisher and Scurry counties, has been spending quite a bit of time there recently. He says that the cotton crop is good in that section and has light lots of it. More than 100 bales will be gathered off his farms, which he had worked on the halves, he said.

Hooray! Another Armistice!

Arvel Moudy, 32, Dothan Farmer, Killed Friday

Funeral services were held Saturday at Dothan for Arvel Moudy, 32, Eastland county farmer, residing near Dothan, who was killed late Friday afternoon in a car accident on the Bankhead highway between Cisco and Dothan.

Moudy and J. W. Adams, also of the Dothan community, were going to Cisco in a car driven by a negro and in which a number of other negroes were riding struck the car in which they were riding, overturning it. Moudy died from loss of blood, an artery in the right thigh having been severed. Adams was injured but not critically. Officers immediately began a search for the negroes who did not stop after hitting Moudy's car.

Moudy is survived by his mother, Mrs. B. F. Moudy, and a brother, Jack Moudy, of Dothan; a sister, Mrs. Metta White of Long Beach, Cal., and a half-brother, Arch Birt, county commissioner-elect from precinct No. 4, Cisco.

Cisco Delegation At County Home

A delegation of women members of the Cisco Baptist church visited the County Home Monday of last week and put on a program for the benefit of the inmates. They also brought a supply of fruits, sandwiches and other good things to eat for the inmates. Superintendent Pafford states that the inmates of the home really appreciated the program and the fruits and other edibles. Also that he, as superintendent, appreciates the interest shown in the home and the inmates.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hickman of Liberty Hill arrived today for a week-end visit with Mr. Hickman's brother, Judge J. E. Hickman and wife. They will accompany Judge and Mrs. Hickman on a trip to Fort Worth to witness T. C. U. and Texas University football game this afternoon. W. B. Smith of Electra was here the first of the week.

Bandits' Plans Thwarted By An Eastland Woman

Quick, determined action in connection with the use of plenty of cool nerve rewarded Mrs. F. T. Isbell handsomely Saturday afternoon and at the same time thwarted the plans of two thieves and possible would-be hi-jackers.

Mrs. Isbell was keeping her husband's office, which is in the Exchange National Bank building, while the doctor was on a call. She left the office and stepped into a rest room just across and down the hall, leaving the office door open and unlocked.

Scarcely had she left the office when two young men appeared in the hallway and asked W. I. Allison, who was working in an office across the hall from the Isbell office, where Dr. Isbell had gone. Allison replied that he did not know, but that Mrs. Isbell would be in the office soon and told them to go in the office and sit down.

As Mrs. Isbell was returning to her office she passed the man in the hallway and became suspicious of them. She hurried to the office and quickly examined her purse, which she had left on a table. Finding twenty dollars in bills missing from the purse she decided that the men she had just passed in the hallway must have gotten it. Rushing out of the office and called to the operator to wait. Although the elevator was well on its way down the operator stopped and returned to the floor he had just left.

Mrs. Isbell got on the elevator. The two men she had passed in the hall were also on it. As the operator started the elevator again Mrs. Isbell faced the two men she had followed and accused them of taking her money. "Are you going to give it back to me or shall I take you to the sheriff's office," she asked them. One of them said to the other: "You had best give it back to her." His companion raised his cap and took the money out of it and handed it to her. By this time the elevator was at the ground floor, the operator opened the door and the two men hurried out into the streets and were not seen again.

Mrs. Isbell's son cashed a check about noon at a local store and gave her $20, which she placed in her purse, and it was this money that the men had taken. It is believed that they saw young Isbell give her the money and went to the office with the intention of getting it if they had to use armed force.

While there has been no Armistice Day program announced, the day will be observed by Eastland people in various ways. A large number of them will attend the Eastland-Ranger football game at Ranger, while others will attend football games and visit friends and relatives in other towns.

Trades Day Here Was Well Attended

If you missed the First Monday program in Eastland Monday you missed some of the best entertainment ever presented on an occasion of this nature. The rodeo was unusually good. There were a large number of broncs ridden and the goat roping contest was splendid. The crowd was one of the largest to attend a trades day here in long time.

In the goat roping contest there were three prizes given as follows: first, McNabb; second, Graham, and third, Basham.

Following the rodeo a racing program was given at the Connelley Park track. Rhoad Boy, owned by Jack Tindall of Eastland, won the race.

The committee in charge of arranging programs for the monthly trade days have already begun work on next First Monday's program and expect to have a real program.

Rabbit Breeders Join Association

The Eastland County Rabbit Breeders association held a session Thursday night of last week, in the Eastland county courthouse with president, H. L. Owen, conducting and L. V. Simmonds serving as temporary secretary, in the absence of J. A. Ross.

A splendid talk was given by Mr. Simmonds, descriptive of the State Rabbit Breeders association display in Grand Prairie on Saturday and Sunday, October 29-30, followed by the meeting of the state association in Fort Worth.

Methods and work of the state association were explained. The Eastland county association voted to affiliate with the state organization in which dues are 31c per capita.

Plans for a winter rabbit show were discussed and will be brought up at the next meeting for continued discussion.

A round table talk on breeders problems proved interesting to J. A. Garrett and H. T. Johnson of Cisco; John W. Tibbels, J. M. Ralston, and Ben F. Lively of Ranger, and Eastland members, Eugene Witt, R. M. Herron, L. V. Simmonds, George Parrack, E. M. Dunnam and H. L. Owen.

Patterson And Lone Star Band At Moran Fair

County Agent J. C. Patterson and the Lone Star band under the direction of A. J. Campbell of Eastland had a part in the annual fair at Moran Friday and Saturday. Patterson judged the agricultural exhibits and Mr. Campbell and his band furnished the music for the occasion. Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, assisted in judging the exhibits.

Displays included poultry, 15 booths of home canned goods, handwork, culinary products, antiques, flowers, field crops and school exhibits.

Charity Play Was Decided Success

The recent play staged by the Parent-Teacher association of the South Ward school as a charity benefit was one of the most delightful and pleasing amateur productions, seen in Eastland.

Each one in the cast filled that role to perfection, the stage settings were good, and correct, and the special songs and dances most successful and pleasing features during intermission.

After all expenses were met, the sum of $26.50 was cleared. This is greatly to the credit of the association, under the existing conditions.

H. L. Coleman and daughter, Miss Rosaline, of Vernon, visited Mr. Coleman's daughter, Mrs. Don Parker and family from Thursday to Monday. While here they attended the Vernon-Eastland football game. Miss Rosaline formerly lived with her sister here and attended Eastland High School.

Rising Star Will Entertain West Texas Pecan Assn.

RISING STAR, Nov. 10.—Those attending the two-day program and pecan show of the West Texas Pecan Association at Rising Star November 18 and 19th will be shown true western hospitality since the entire citizenship has joined hands in planning the reception and entertainment of visitors. The goat barbecue at noon of the opening day and the banquet each night demonstrating the table use of pecans are among the features being planned to supplement the show and pecan program. All those interested in the pecan industry are invited to attend.

Probably the outstanding feature of the first morning will be the talk by Bill Millican on "Personal Opinions of Some Pecan Growers," followed by a rejoinder from his running mate, Frank Moore. These two cowboys turned pecan growers are simply good so be sure to hear them. Dad Burket of Texas Department of Agriculture will make nutty remarks and Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald will also appear on the platform. H. G. Lucas, president of the National Pecan Marketing Association will discuss pecan distribution. Jimmie Rosborough, horticulturist of the A. & M. Extension Service who does the judging of the pecan show will tell how it is done and Miss Sallie Hill, a district home demonstration agent has agreed to discuss pecans in the diet. Dr. Smith of the U. S. Pecan Laboratory in Austin is to tell what varieties of pecans to plant for the maximum polonization. Tips on the identification of pecan budwood illustrated with some twenty specimens will be among the many subjects to be thoroughly exhausted in the two-day program.

Registration begins at 11:00 a. m. Friday, November 18th, in the exhibit building. Small cash premiums are offered on the various varieties of Western and Eastern pecans as well as native seedlings and walnuts all shown in quart. Parcel Post shipments of exhibits may be made to E. M. Howard, West Texas Pecan Show, Rising Star. Jars will be provided for mailed exhibits. Exhibitors of seedlings are urged to send two pounds of each sample in order that one quart may be sent to the A. & M. College for careful testing in the hopes of finding new varieties worthy of propagation. Exhibits are also to be selected for the Texas Pecan Exhibit at the Chicago Worlds Fair in 1933.

County Agent Patterson urges Eastland county pecan growers to participate actively in this meeting and show. Take or send samples of your good pecans both improved and native seedlings. Take the two days off and show the visitors from the outside that Eastland pecan people are wide awake and eager to aid in promoting the pecan industry in every possible manner.

Quick Thinker

Mrs. R. I. McArron and Mrs. Winter Wood of Breckenridge were guests of Mrs. McArron's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Martin, Tuesday.

Tom Foley and Judge J. D. Barker of Cisco were business visitors in Eastland Wednesday.

Quick Thinker

An attempted holdup of the Reinhart State bank, Reinhart, Texas, failed when the cashier, C. N. Riggs (above), refused to hold up his hands. Instead of obeying the orders of the two bandits who came upon him while he was alone in the bank, Riggs yelled loudly, grabbed a gun and routed them.

TOWN AND COUNTRY SHOULD COOPERATE

The business man in Eastland who does not realize that the boom days when he could depend upon the oil field workers for trade, are gone and that the trade that supports the town must come from the people of the rural districts who make their living on farms and ranches, is far behind and needs to get a new vision of things.

Also the fellow of the rural communities who has not learned that for him to be successful and prosper the towns must also prosper, needs enlightenment.

In fact we are all dependent one upon another and the man in town cannot be prosperous unless the man in the country is prosperous, and vice versa. The thing for us to do, therefore, is to get our heads together and together work out our salvation.

LET'S BUY THE FARMERS PRODUCTS

Eastland is greatly in need of a market for the products of its trade territory. Either our merchants should go into the market and buy the various products of our trade territory or we should have a marketing association through which these products could be sold.

Peanuts, pecans, cotton, watermelons, grain of many kinds, fruit, turkeys, poultry, hogs and other livestock as well as products from many dairies are produced in abundance in this section, but with the exception of one or two local buyers of poultry and eggs, there is not a buyer for any of these in Eastland. It seems that we all want to sell the other fellow something, but few of us want to buy what he has to sell.

BETTER LIVESTOCK ORGANIZATION A GOOD MOVE

This newspaper is in hearty accord with the movement inaugurated by H. C. Davis of Eastland for the purpose of encouraging the raising of more livestock and a better grade of livestock in Eastland and adjoining counties and which has resulted in the organization of the Eastland County Better Livestock association.

At a meeting of the association Monday in Eastland Rufus Cox of Okra was selected to head the association and a better man could not have been selected for the place. Mr. Cox is one of the most progressive farmers and stockmen in Eastland county. He has been, for a number of years, specializing in breeding high class hogs and is interested in building up a better grade of livestock of all kinds.

But Mr. Cox and the other officers associated with him cannot alone make a success of the association; they must have the co-operation of the citizenship of this and adjoining counties and especially must they have the full co-operation of those interested in better livestock.

SHOULD EASTLAND HAVE A BANK?

One year ago last October Eastland's only bank closed its doors and although numerous people with banking experience and sufficient capital have interested themselves in the matter and submitted propositions for opening and operating a bank in the city we are still without banking facilities and so far as this paper is able to learn we are as far from having a bank as we have ever been.

The bank here closed during an epidemic of bank failures that swept this and other states and which included banks in a number of other towns in this section, few, if any of them, better towns than Eastland. In nearly all of these towns, however, new banks have been organized and most of them have been doing a profitable business for almost a year, while Eastland still leans on its neighboring towns for banking accommodations.

The absence of banking facilities in Eastland retards the progress of virtually all businesses and thereby retards the growth and development of the town and the surrounding trade territory. Not only do people in business in the town suffer, commercially speaking, but the people of the rural communities likewise suffer. It is imperative, therefore, that we have a bank if we are to hope to compete with the other towns of this section.

To say that a bank in Eastland would not pay and that there is no one to finance and operate one, is absurd. It is not the lack of capital nor the lack of experienced and trustworthy bankers who are willing to engage in the banking business here that we are still without a bank, but, in our opinion, it is the lack of sufficient co-operation from our own people.

If the citizens of Eastland will unite in an effort to get a bank we will have one by January 1st. It is up to us; what are we going to do?

Mavericks Defeat Vernon Lions On Maverick Field

By JO CARROLL

The Mavericks defeated the Vernon Lions at Eastland Friday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0 in one of the hardest fought contests seen on Maverick field in several seasons. The outcome was doubtful up to the last whistle as each team made drives that were not stopped until the opponents ten yard line was reached. Each team used what is commonly known as straight football throughout the game. Very few passes were attempted, one by Eastland was smothered before it got away. Out of four made by Vernon, two were incomplete, one was good for a short gain and one was intercepted by Mackall. The last half of the game was played in a pouring rain. The Maverick touchdown came in the middle of the second half. Burgamy received a punt on the 50 yard line and returned to the Lions' 30 yard strip.

On the first play Mackall plunged through center and, with the aid of good interference, made a broken field run for the necessary distance. Burgamy failed on his trip for the extra point.

Most of the first quarter was played in midfield. In this period the Lions did not get within Eastland's 30 yard line. Near the close of the quarter the Mavericks made a bid for a touchdown and with off tackle plays by Burgamy, line plunges by Mackall and an end run by Brown reached the Lions' 15 yard line before they were held on downs. The quarter ended with the ball on the 50 yard line and it was only necessary for the teams to change sides.

The second quarter produced no serious scoring threats with the exception of the one that delivered results for the Mavericks. On a minor threat the Lions got to a point where they could see the Eastland goal lines, but the Mavericks had no difficulty in stopping them on the fifteen yard line. This period was featured by punting with Daniels outclassing Garner, quarter back for Vernon.

The half ended with the ball on Eastland's 40 yard marker in her own possession. The Lions came back in the second half with a rush and for a few minutes, as Garner ripped through on off tackle plays and around ends for long gains, it seemed that the Eastland lads might be swept off their feet again, but they said, "To the ten yard line you come and no further." That held good throughout the game.

Vernon made her most serious threat for a touchdown during the third quarter. Starting on their own 10 yard line, where one of the Daniel variety of punts had been downed, marched steadily up the field with Garner and Thompson, half back and captain for the Lions alternately carrying the ball until they reached Eastland's 10 yard stripe. Here they failed only because one of the Maverick linemen hit Garner so hard that he forgot to hold on to the ball. Eastland recovered the fumble. Another similar threat was made in the fourth quarter.

Eastland made three bids for touchdowns in their own 35 yard line. Burgamy, Mackall and Brown plunged and ran the ball to Vernon's 8 yard line only to be held on downs. Garner punted to his own 40 yard line and Burgamy returned to the 10. But four tries failed to gain.

During the last minute of play Garner fumbled one of Daniels' long punts within ten yards of his goal and the ball was covered by Allison on the two yard line. One try by Mackall gained only half the distance and the final whistle blew.

Burgamy and Mackall were the shining lights for the Mavericks. Allison played a splendid game at center but not so outstanding as usual. Bagley at tackle showed up well in the second half. For Vernon, Garner at quarter was the star with Thompson a close second. In fact there were no bad players on the Vernon team.

FOOTBALL IN THE OIL BELT

By JO CARROLL

RESULTS LAST WEEK

The Mavericks defeated the Vernon Lions here Friday afternoon by a score of 6-0 in a dope upset game. Before the game the Eastland boys were considered the under dogs, but they showed the fans some good, hard, clean football that was of the winning brand.

Over at Breckenridge the Buckaroos won over the Olney Cubs to the tune of 21 to 0. The Cubs are a class B team and coach Slotwell started his second string against them.

The Ranger Bulldogs sent the Abilene Christian College freshmen home with the short end of a 13 to 0 score Friday afternoon. At no time was the Ranger representative in danger during the game and Coach Curtis let his substitutes in for some service during the latter part. Jones showed that he was capable of handling his usual brand of football.

The Abilene Eagles were inactive last week. At Cisco Coach Elkins divided his squad into two teams and spent an hour and a half in scrimmage.

WHERE THEY PLAY

There will be two important games in the Oil Belt this afternoon, games that will be watched with the greatest interest because the outcome may be the deciding factor in the race for district honors.

The Breckenridge Buckaroos will go to Abilene this afternoon to take on the Eagles for the annual tilt. The dope bucket would indicate a victory for the Buckaroos in this game by something like two touchdowns. But the dope has been kicked around quite a bit and upset a time or two this season, and it is entirely possible that it could be upset again in this event.

As stated elsewhere the Mavericks will pay the Bulldogs at Ranger a visit this afternoon. The Mavericks generally are rated as the underdogs in this bout, and preceding events justify the fans in this presumption that Ranger will win. But here is a chance that another upset may occur. There is not so much difference in the rating of the two teams and, like Abilene, the Mavericks have showed some improvements as the players have become more seasoned. The Eastland lads may fool somebody.

The Brownwood Lions have taken on an easy assignment this week. They go to Comanche for a test of strength against a class B team. While the Indians are strong in their class, the Lions should have no difficulty in running up several touchdowns against them.

The Cisco Lobos will probably meet the representatives of the San Angelo Junior College for their week-end engagement. Nothing is known here in regard to the ability of the San Angelo boys but they will probably give the Lobos an interesting reception.

HOOK 'EM MAVERICKS

This yell will be heard several times from the pep squad stands at Ranger this afternoon. The pep squad and the Eastland fans would be delighted to see just that happen.

What a thrill it would be to see the Mavericks toss those Bulldogs about the field and trample on them. It is not impossible, for them to do so. They are a strong aggregation with plenty of reserves to keep a team out there fighting to the peak of its ability during the whole time, the boys having their all to win, and then some. Incidentally, the Mavericks are determined to do just this. Predictions are usually unwise, but this is one time that Eastland will win a football game.

JUST SUPPOSAS

Just suppose that the Abilene Eagles win from the Buckaroos and the Mavericks win from the Bulldogs this afternoon, wouldn't this Oil Belt championship race be in one awful mess. Four teams would again be on equal standing in the percentage column. Of course it would be narrowed down to two again when Eastland meets Abilene and Ranger meets Breckenridge. It is not at all impossible for that very thing to happen this afternoon.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

The Union National Bank has been robbed and the watchman killed. Matt Brown, assistant cashier, has been held for the crime. He refuses to furnish an alibi. Dickson, president of the bank, refuses to believe Matt Brown's story. A man starts on the bank and it appears that they will have to close their doors. Just as the police are taking Matt away, Helen, Mr. Dickson's secretary, who is in love with Brown, tells the inspector that Duke Finlay, a gangster, visited Cluett, the cashier, the day before. A detective informs the inspector that Cluett visited Finlay last morning. The inspector tells his man to call him in Cluett's office in five minutes and to sign "Mother Machree."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

For five minutes the Inspector stalled and Cluett hedged. Then the phone rang. Kelly sang "Mother Machree," to which the Inspector replied.

"Dude Finlay, huh? Where you got him? What? You don't mean Cyril Cluett, the cashier? Yes. Why did Dude Finlay tell you that? Yeah, I got him right here now. O. K., Kelly, good work. Looks like a—." He broke off suddenly. Cluett made a bolt. "Get him, boys." It took but a moment to bring the cashier back. The Inspector called Dickson in.

"You're right, Dickson, Brown didn't have a thing to do with it; here's your man." Dickson stared in amazement. "Why, you must be crazy. Why, I've known this man for years. He's confessed. He's mixed up with the toughest gangsters in town." Dickson could not believe his ears. "Good heavens, man, what's got into you?" Cluett whined. "I don't know. It's all been like a crazy nightmare, Mr. Dickson. I gambled, owed a lot of money and last week I lost $50,000. Yesterday they came over to collect it. I begged them to wait. I wanted time to think, but they wouldn't listen to me. They said they'd kill me if I didn't pay. I was wished to be alone. Matt left, determined to save the bank in spite of the President. He and Helen got busy and called every small business man who deposited in the bank. They urged them to make deposits, no matter how small. Furiously they worked, calling, calling, calling. All the while the funds available kept growing smaller and smaller. First one window and then another had to close. The people became frantic when they observed the windows closing. They saw visions of losing their life savings.

Mrs. Dickson rushed to the bank, and said to her husband: "Tom! Oh, Tom, darling, I came to explain about last night. Cyril Cluett doesn't mean a thing to me. Tom, I went out with him last night simply because—well, I'd begun to think that I didn't have any part in your life—that I was an outsider." He sat with his face buried in his hands. She continued to plead and explain. "Tom—Tom, all we did was to go to the theatre, and then we went back to his apartment afterward for a drink. That's all it was. I didn't do anything wrong. Tom, I couldn't do anything wrong. I love you too much; you know that. Oh, Tom! While she was trying to reason with her husband, Matt's and Helen's phone calls commenced to bear fruit. First, one man entered the bank and loudly declared he wanted to make a deposit. He waved his bank book. "Any bank that Tom Dickson has anything to do with is all right. I'm putting my money in here. Why should you be afraid? Tom Dickson's all right. He's perfectly square. I'm putting my money in this bank. I know what I'm doing. Open up. I want to put some money here. I don't want to take any out."

He was followed by another, who shouted: "I got money. I want to put it into the bank." The crowd broke away, amazed at the courage of the man. Before the depositors could recover from their astonishment, an Italian yelled, "I want to make a deposit. $4,600. He's the desperate. I didn't know what to do. Then they suggested that I help them rob the bank. All I had to do was turn off the alarm and fix the time clock. It sounded so easy. "What were you doing at Finlay's this morning?" the Inspector inquired. "They took my keys and I went there to get them back. I had nothing to do with killing the man. I was in my apartment last night. I swear it."

"Clas he was there with a married woman, but won't mention her name," the Inspector explained. "He won't believe it, Mr. Dickson, but it's the truth. I was in my apartment last night. It's the truth. Ask your wife—she—" "My wife! What's she got to do with it?" "Well, she just came up for a drink. Just a few minutes. As Cluett finished Dickson picked up the phone and called his wife. She was evasive, but he finally got the truth from her.

"She wasn't to blame, Mr. Dickson. It wasn't her fault. Honest it wasn't," Cluett pleaded. But Dickson paid no heed. He was stunned, shocked. His mind went blank. The bank depositors, everything was forgotten. When Clark offered to buy him out at $50 a share, Dickson told him to go ahead and draw up the agreement. When Helen asked him if he wanted the rest of the phone calls made, he looked at her blankly and said no. "Come on, boys, come on Clark, it'll do your heart good. Look at that! They're shovin' their hard-earned money across the counter with a 19 to 1 chance against them. If you fellows want to stay with this bank, get some real money over here right away."

"That's enough for me," O'Brien declared. "Dickson, I'm ashamed of myself. I'll have a hundred thousand dollars over here in five minutes." "Now you're talking. Ames?" "I'm sold," he replied. One after another, the directors agreed and within half an hour arranged trucks stood outside the bank carrying bags of money into it. The run was stopped and the very people who were clamoring for their funds began to say, "That's the trouble with people nowadays. They hear a crazy rumor and right away they lose their heads. Not me. You didn't see me draw my money, did you?" And the only reason they didn't was because they couldn't get to the window before the tide broke.

Dickson and his wife adjusted their difficulty, and as a reward Dickson gave Matt and Helen a vacation trip, which was really a honeymoon. (THE END)

Never before in the history of sports has an All America football team been assembled, much less given an opportunity to play a game of football. This feat was accomplished at Universal City recently, where the 1931 All America football team was assembled for the moving picture, "The All American," showing Sunday at the Lyric Theatre. The photograph above shows this team and the All America Board of Football.

Democrats Gain Control of The National Congress

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The political tempest that swept Franklin D. Roosevelt into the presidency, assumed greater proportions with each passing hour today.

The same landslide which carried the democratic nominee to the white house, swept a democratic majority into both houses of congress and returned democratic governors in state after state.

On the basis of nearly 26,000,000 tabulated votes this afternoon Governor Roosevelt had carried 41 states, with 461 electoral votes. President Hoover had carried five with 59 electoral votes. The count in Kentucky with 11 electoral votes was delayed.

The division of popular votes was as follows: Roosevelt, 15,022,447 Hoover, 10,542,939.

Roosevelt's lead of approximately 4,500,000 over Hoover was a steady trend manifest during the day.

The president-elect will have an ample congressional majority to carry forward his "new deal" program. A sweep of wet sentiment forecast sufficient converts to change the prohibition laws.

The balloting swept aside republican leaders who have served the party for years. These included Senator Jim Watson of Indiana, party floor leader; Senator Smoot, Utah, high tariff leader, and Senator George Moses of New Hampshire, president pro tem. This triumvirate, which ruled the senate, will be no more after next March 4.

Roosevelt is expected to call an extra session at an early date in his new term. Here are some of the problems, with which they must deal:

1. Reconsideration of prohibition.
2. Reconsideration of war debts.
3. Continuation of depression recovery measures in one form or another.
4. Consideration of tariff adjustments.
5. Application of at least a 25 per cent reduction in government expenditures.

Horace Oldham turned in the high rifle score at the American Legion gun club Sunday afternoon.
