CURRENT COMMENT

BY JO A. CARROLL

EASY MEAT

A few nights ago a farmer living in Dallas County was aroused by the squealing of a hog in a pen near his home. Upon investigation to determine the cause he found one of his prime porkers with its throat cut. Some mauler had set out with the intention of securing meat. To avoid the loss of the hog the farmer called in some help and proceeded to dress the animal in the usual way of scalding, scraping and then hanging until the animal heat was gone from the body.

As this required some little time the workers decided to go into the house where they could get some coffee and other refreshment, at the same time whiling away the time necessary for the meat to cool. In due time they went back to complete the task of cutting the hog up and putting away the meat, but no hog was to be found. The supposition is that the original killer had returned during their absence and carried the animal away, leaving no clue behind.

NO REPEAL NOW

Speaker of the House and Vice President-Elect of the Nation, Jno. N. Garner, cut short the opening ceremonies of the House of Representatives Monday at noon and with a swiftness of action unprecedented in this body permitted Representative Rainey of Illinois, floor leader of the Democrats, to offer the party resolution for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. No amendments were permitted and debate was limited to forty minutes. This was going over the top in the darkest moments before dawn, but the ruse did not succeed, the wet forces were turned back, lacking a bare half dozen votes of attaining the required two thirds majority.

So ended the first attempt to repeal the amendment. There is little possibility that the resolution will come up again during this session of three months. The hope of its proponents was placed in the House of Representatives. It was believed by many that it would go over here by an overwhelming majority. Had it received the necessary two thirds vote in the House it would have been presented to the Senate where it was expected that the opposition would be much stronger. However, had the resolution passed both branches of Congress its supporters had little hope that it would escape President Hoover's veto.

LEGAL BEER NEXT

Some of the Democratic leaders have been promising the country legal beer by Christmas. The action of the House of Representatives to some extent cooled their ardor in this respect. However, as soon as the result on the repeal was known a movement for this purpose was launched. Hearings are already under way before the House Ways and Means Committee looking towards the bringing forth of a bill to legalize beer. Here again it might be sobering to remember that the Senate will be the real arbiter of this proposed legislation.

They may make a grand flourish and prophesy "beer by Christmas," and probably the House can rush through any bill upon which the committee may decide, but the test will come in the Senate, which body, traditionally more conservative than the House, will be disinclined to accept any hasty legislation that may not stand the test of analysis. Some thirty beer bills, hardly any two of them alike, were awaiting hearings when the House adjourned last Summer, and many more will be thrown into the hopper now.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts has introduced a bill which probably will receive special attention as it represents some of the clearest and most unprejudiced thought on the subject, and is designed particularly, through its provision for government supervision of manufacture, to prevent bootlegging of beer, which promises to become one of the most vexatious problems if that beverage is legalized.

It is by no means certain that a beer bill of any kind can pass the Senate at this session; certainly not one that is loosely drawn and does not contemplate, as far as is humanely possible, all legislation and administrative contingencies. The Walsh bill does not apply to wines or other than the so-called malt liquors, and in the wrangle to broaden a beer measure to include the product of the grape-growers, the whole legislation will probably be lost in this session.

Last Sunday was Universal Bible Day, a day sponsored by the American Bible Society. It met with more widespread co-operation

Rotarians Hear Relief Program

The Eastland Rotary club held its usual meeting Monday on Connellee roof, with Earl Bender presiding in the absence of the president, James Horton.

The program was presented by Dr. W. E. Chaney, who read a very clever and original verse entitled "The Rotary Brothers," a humorous production greatly enjoyed.

Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, presented an informative talk on the reconstruction program, funds received, and disbursements of same.

The Rotary will lunch in the high school cafeteria next Monday noon instead of their usual place and the program will consist of a visit through the high school, through invitation sponsored by the principal of the school, W. P. Palm, and superintendent, P. B. Bittle.

December Relief Work Check Was Received Tuesday

J. E. Spencer of Cisco has notified the local federal aid committee that the check for $15,000 for the work relief expenditures in the county has been received and has been forwarded to Mr. Tyler at Rising Star. This money is to be divided between the towns and communities of the county in the same manner as the money for the work during November was handled.

It is expected that the portion allotted to Ranger will be about the same as on the previous disbursement, which amounted to $3,408.25. This money will be used to pay for labor during the month of December.

Each town which received aid in November must file a statement showing the number of cases helped, the number of family heads who received work, the number of non-family heads worked, the number of cases needing no further aid, the number not yet helped but registered, the per cent of expenditure for work, the per cent of expenditure for direct relief, the per cent of expenditures for overhead and administration in order that the application for the January, February and March allotment can be made out.

Livestock Assn. Meets In Eastland

Lee Poe, president of the First National Bank of Cisco, and a prominent farmer and stockman, and Dr. Bob Hodges of Ranger were the principal speakers at the meeting of the Eastland County Better Livestock association meeting at the courthouse Saturday afternoon, Dec. 3rd. Other speakers scheduled to address the meeting were unable to be present.

R. F. Cox, president of the association, called the meeting to order and briefly outlined the work the association planned to do. He said that there is a great work for the association if those interested will get to work.

Mr. Poe, who organized the Pleasant Hill Cooperative Marketing association 20 years ago and which later was called the Cisco Cooperative Marketing association, gave a brief history of the association and its accomplishments.

Dr. Hodges discussed the possibilities of the sheep and goat industry in Eastland county, pointing out the many natural advantages existing here for such an industry.

The meeting was adjourned to meet here again on the first Saturday in January. Before adjournment, however, it was decided that the association would endeavor to meet at Cisco on the occasion of the meeting there on Feb. 24, 25 and 26th of the County Livestock Show.

HOLIDAY FOR FARMERS
GRIFFIN, Ga., Dec. 7.—Switching its attention from consideration of crime, the Spalding County grand jury recommended a five-year tax holiday for persons who buy, reside on and operate farms in this district.

City and county accord such an exemption to new industries. The grand jury argued that farming is just as much an industry as textile or other manufacturing enterprises.

Frank Killough and wife have gone to Terrell, where they expect to make their future home and where Mr. Killough has formed a law partnership with one of the leading attorneys of Kaufman county.

"Fashion for Less" is the motto for this store and is one that doubtless will appeal to the women of this section. Mrs. Dave Wolf recently returned from market where she purchased and is having assembled in her store here the market's newest in advance spring styles in apparel for women at prices far lower than the smartness and quality would suggest.

Ready-to-wear, millinery, lingerie, hose, footwear, gloves, purses, costume jewelry etc. in the latest styles and in prices ranging from the inexpensive to the more expensive. In fact Mrs. Wolf says she has endeavored to stock merchandise to suit everyone's purse.

The public is cordially invited to attend the opening of this store Saturday.

Man Charged With Robbery, Theft

A man, giving his name as William D. Stanley, was taken in custody Wednesday by Eastland county officers and held on a charge of robbery and theft from the person. The man alleged to have been robbed gave his name as Henry Clark and gave his home as Rotan.

Stanley and his wife were traveling through the country in a car and had stopped at the Gary Tourist Camp in the west part of town. Clark had been in Bell county picking cotton, although he is a partial paralytic. He was making his way back to Rotan and stopped at Gary's Tourist Camp to spend Tuesday night.

During the night he became acquainted with Stanley. Wednesday morning he claims to have given Stanley fifty cents to purchase a second hand casing for his car. Whereupon Stanley stated that he was going to Breckenridge and offered to take Clark that far on his journey, according to evidence given in the investigation by the Grand Jury. Clark accepted the invitation and they started north, but instead of following the Breckenridge road continued north at Morton Valley.

After going north for several miles on that road, according to the statements of both parties, Stanley stopped the car for some purpose and asked something about Clark's address. Clark handed Stanley his purse in order that he might get the address as it was shown on the inside. In the purse was thirteen dollars in money. It is alleged that Stanley took twelve dollars from the purse and other returned the purse with the other dollar to Clark, who protested and attempted to regain his money but, in his crippled condition was unable to do much.

Stanley then jumped into his car, the evidence shows, and left. Clark went to the home of H. D. Baggett and reported what had happened. Baggett took Lim to the home of John Nix, who in turn brought him to the Sheriff's office in Eastland, where he again reported his loss.

The officers went to the tourist camp and found Stanley's wife there but he had not returned. Deputy Steele Hill took a position in Hill Crest where he caught watch the camp and soon made the arrest when Stanley returned and started to leave the camp.

Thursday morning County Attorney Joe Jones and Deputy Hill induced Stanley to accompany Hill to the place where the money had been hidden and the entire amount was recovered. However, it was understood that in the meantime Clark had continued on his way to Rotan.

Stanley is being held in jail awaiting trial. It so happened that the Grand Jury was in session at the time the robbery is alleged to have occurred and an indictment was returned Wednesday charging him with robbery and theft from the person. Mrs. Stanley, who says her people live in Los Angeles, Cal., is stranded here without any means of support or any place to stay. However, steps were being taken to care for her until she could get in touch with friends or relatives.

Eastland Again Loser In Fight For Cheaper Gas

Eastland lost and Cisco won in their legal tilts with the Community Natural Gas company in the United States district court at Fort Worth.

Eastland asked the court to dissolve or modify an injunction granted the company by the court more than a year ago, restraining Eastland from interfering with the utility in the collection of a new rate schedule.

In refusing the motion of Eastland, the court did order the company to post a $50,000 bond to assure consumers of reimbursement in the event that the rates now being collected should be proven too high.

Cisco was successful in blocking the attempt of the utility to secure an injunction restraining the city from interfering with the company in collecting a new schedule of rates.

In this case the court held that the company had not exhausted its remedies before the Texas railroad commission. Attorneys for the company filed notice of appeal to the United States fifth court of appeals.

tion this year than ever before, according to reports. Many pastors over the country used some phase of this subject as a text in his Sunday morning sermon. Below are given a few excerpts from prominent preachers:
"Dr. L. Valentine Lee, pastor of the Church of the Incarnation at Dallas said: 'These are the days when men are turning in almost every direction for some slight ray of hope, for the gods they have served, the gods of much possession have turned deaf ears upon their pleas, for they have been gods of wood, of stone and of gold. So men driven in desperation to seek a re-evaluation of life, have indeed begun to think of and seek seriously for genuine hope. I wish with all my heart that I might be able to convey to you the vastness of the treasury of hope which is wrapped up for him who reads with discernment within the covers of the Bible. It is indeed the book of hope.'"
"Speaking of the Bible as a stimulus to overcome depression Dr. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the East Dallas Christian Church said: 'The average Bible character had difficulties innumerable to overcome. We, in this period of depression, are beset by many grievous ones, but intimate acquaintance with Biblical characters who fought their way out, conquered the difficulties and became victorious, will surely inspire each of us to more valiant struggles and may inspire the courage which means the difference between victory and defeat.'"
"Dr. G. L. Diehl, pastor of the Central Congregational Church, Dallas, quoted the following from Thomas Jefferson: 'I have always said, and I always will say that the studious perusal of the sacred volume will make better citizens, better fathers and better husbands.'"

STAGE LINE MARKER
A monument to be known as the Butterfield Trail Marker is to be placed on the highway just north of Graham in Young County as a point where the old stage line crosses the road. The base of this marker is in the form of a stage coach and is carved from Young County sand stone. This as well as the remainder of the monument will be constructed from stone taken from the ruins of old Fort Belknap, which was an outpost on the frontier and a station for the old stage line. Old Fort Belknap is an historical spot for this section of the state and the marker will cause many an old settler to recall thrilling incidents of the early day.

FUNERAL RITES AT ALAMO
A very fitting funeral was held at the Alamo in San Antonio Wednesday morning. The deceased was Mrs. Nettie Houston Bringham, daughter of Gen. Sam Houston. Mrs. Bringham died Tuesday as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident Saturday. She was the last of Gen. Houston's daughters to pass on to the Beyond.

Poultry Show Is Opened In Ranger

The Oil Belt Poultry Show opened its doors in Ranger Thursday with many birds on display. The show will be continued through Saturday night, with a number of merchandise wards, one cash prize and a number of ribbons being presented to the winners in the various classes.
Ben Whitehouse, manager of the show, stated that he was expecting an even larger number of exhibits this year than were shown last year, when the poultry show was considered one of the best ever held in this section of the country.

The exhibits will be on display in the old Tharpe Furniture building on Main street, where there is plenty of room and the entries can be shown to better advantage than in the former location.
All entries will be taken care of by the Future Farmers chapter of Ranger and will be watered, fed and sheltered at all times. All entries will be displayed with numbers on the coops until awards have been made, after which the name and address of the owners will be put on the coops.
Last year one of the largest crowds in the history of the annual Oil Belt shows was present during the three days of the poultry show, and it is expected that this year an even larger number of exhibits and visitors will make the show even more popular.

Much interest is still being shown in good poultry in this section of the country and this increasing interest is largely responsible for the remarkable success the previous poultry shows in Ranger have had.
No entry fee is being charged for any exhibits and no entrance fee for visitors is being charged, everything being free to both the exhibitor and those visiting the show.

Ferguson Fails Of Injunction

AUSTIN, Dec. 8.—The state supreme court this afternoon overruled an application by attorneys for former Governor James E. Ferguson for leave to file an injunction against the state highway commission.

The supreme court held that the controversy is now in the control of the Third Court of Civil Appeals until a writ of error is filed taking the case from that court to the supreme court.
After the supreme court announced its decision, Ocie Speer, attorney for Ferguson, notified the Third Court of Civil Appeals that he wished to apply to that court for an injunctive order. The court agreed to sit at 2 p. m.

The supreme court's decision was announced by Chief Justice C. M. Cureton. He said that the ruling was made without participation by Judge C. F. Greenwood, Judge Greenwood wished not to act because he believes he is related to Representative Bailey Hardy of Breckenridge, who had joined former Governor Ferguson in seeking to enjoin the highway commission.

Speer still contends that the state highway commission is restrained from acting. Attorney General James V. Allred has advised commissioners they are free to act.

COTTON PRICES
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Cotton prices broke a dollar a bale today after the government crop estimates of 12,727,000 bales had been issued.

This compared with the November estimate of 11,947,000 and was well above the expectations of the cotton trade.
Traders rushed to sell when the market reopened after the usual shutdown for the report. December futures dropped to 5.83 cents, off 23. Other deliveries showed net losses of 18 to 20 points.

The department's report showed 11,631,361 running bales had been ginned prior to Dec. 1, compared with 15,018,403 bales for 1931.

Mavericks Are to Play Buckaroos

The 1933 Mavericks will play the 1933 Buckaroos at Maverick field, Eastland, on Friday afternoon at 3:45. Only those who will be eligible to play football next year will be eligible for this game.

The two teams met last Friday afternoon at Buckaroo field in Breckenridge in a closely contested game that drew a good crowd and which was interesting to the fans of both cities because it gave them an insight into the possibilities of the teams to be used next season both in Eastland and Breckenridge.

An admission charge of 25 cents will be made in order that the expenses of the game might be eliminated.

Resolution

To the Eastland County Bar Association:
 Gentlemen:
 We, your committee on Resolutions, beg leave to report.

Jasper Lee Cearley, a member of this bar association, was born Sept. 20, 1882, in the State of Mississippi and at the age of 8 years was brought by his parents to Bell county, Texas, where he was educated in the public schools. In 1901, in Bell county, he married Miss Ida Spoons, and to this union eight children were born, six of whom with his widow, survive him. He was admitted to the Bar at Austin, Texas, and removed to Jones county where he engaged in the practice of his chosen profession. He served Jones county as county attorney, where he made an enviable record as a prosecuting officer. In 1919 he moved to Eastland county, opening a law office at Cisco, where he remained until Nov. 11, 1932, when he died from a throat trouble, from which he had suffered for many months and was buried at Anson, Jones county.

For 35 years he was a member of the Methodist Church and died triumphant in the ancient faith. To a member of this committee, when he knew that death was near, he expressed with hope and cheer the tenets of the Christian religion.

His life was largely dedicated to the service of the poor, the unfortunate and the distressed and thousands have occasion to bless his memory. J. Lee Cearley loved his fellowman, was loyal to his friends, an honest man, a faithful and affectionate husband and father and in his loss our Bar loses a faithful lawyer of the old school.

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished his widow, a copy furnished the press and a copy be spread on the minutes of each of our district courts.

FRANK JUDKINS,
 R. N. GRISHAM,
 Committee.

How about a suit case or auto trunk for a Christmas present? They are priced low at Mickle's.

Desdemona

A good crowd gathered at the high school on Tuesday night of last week when the "21" Study club presented a very enjoyable program. The opening number was Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" played by Mrs. Aaron pianist and W. S. Barron violinist. This beautiful selection was well rendered and enjoyed thoroughly. Next came two chorus numbers — "Somebody Loves You" and "Bells of St. Mary's" sung by Misses Nora Robert and Johnnie Buchanan and Misses W. E. Barron, Oben Henslee, Robert Weir, Barron, Mermer Ashburn and C. M. Bratton all in attractive costumes of green and white. Mrs. Aaron Henslee and Mr. Barron were accompanists for all chorus numbers. Next was a two act play "Not a Man in the House" an interesting comedy with the following cast: "Mrs. Bings a widow" played by Mrs. C. W. Malby; "Aunt Beinda" played by Mrs. C. E. Ragland; "Miss Lucy Rider" played by Mrs. Claud Lee; "Jessie Ray" played by Mrs. Gifford Acrea and "Kate the Maid" played by Mrs. R. D. Wright. Each one acted her part splendidly. The chorus then sang "Voices of the Village Choir" and "Kathleen." Mrs. Malby then read "The Hymn of Hymns" giving a true picture of the sinking of the Titanic. Mrs. Malby's readings are always enjoyed but this one was unusually fine. The closing number was a two act comedy "It's All Over Town" (presented by the Jake Hamon Domestic Science class under the direction of their teacher Miss Whitworth. The first act shifted from one woman's kitchen to another's where a bit of gossip was enlarged as it went. The second act was a meeting of the Uplift society and climaxed by the finding out that there was no foundation for the gossip. The costumes of the girls who presented the play were simply a scream and the acting was fine. The "21" Study were very much pleased with the assistance given by these Jake Hamon girls and one boy and their teacher who came over without any charge and rendered their play.

Tuesday a large crowd of Baptist from three counties, Stephens, Eastland and Shackelford met at the Desdemona church for their monthly workers' conference. At noon the ladies of the local church served a bountiful dinner to the crowd. Reports of the work in the various churches were given and good sermons were preached during the day.

The sympathy of the community is being extended to the family and other relatives of Andy Huff who died Friday at Vernon at a hospital. He and his family had lived a few miles north of town for several years and he will be greatly missed by his many friends in our town and the country where he lived and worked for the Magnolia company.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED
 Ordered to leave town, else go to jail on a vagrancy charge, Mae Keene leaves the town Detective MacKessie puts her on, at 125th Street. There she meets Jimmy Doyle, after duping him she gets her money back. When she gets some money from her friend Lili Blaw in order to pay him, she approaches just as he is bragging to his fellow fellows how he had her put in jail. This proves an instrument of starting a friendship between them that is changed when, after he shows her a garage he intends buying, he asks her to marry him. Jimmy knows nothing of her past and she is fearful that he will find out. When they return from their honeymoon at Palsades Park, they find MacKessie waiting for Mae. The detective reveals to Jimmy why he is there, and Jimmy, broken-hearted and miserable, saves Mae from jail by showing the detective their marriage license. He leaves after slapping her face. After brooding over it for some time, he finds that he cannot leave her because of his love for her. He warns her, however, to play square with him. They live very happily and together they save toward the garage. Suddenly Mae receives a phone call from Gert, a former girl friend. She visits her to find that she needs an operation, she begs Mae to loan her the money for a week. When Mae refuses on the grounds that the money is not hers to give, Gert goes to the bathroom, where she screams and collapses. Mae finds her there with a broken bottle of poison next to her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 "Gert!" cried Mae frantically, shaking her shoulders. "Gert! What happened?"
 The girl rose quickly and wet a towel. After Mae had doused her with it for some time, Gert opened her eyes.
 "Gert, you poor thing," sobbed Mae. "You shouldn't have done a thing like that."
 "I'm all right, Mae," said Gert feebly. "I lost my nerve the last minute. I guess I musta fainted."
 Mae was immense with relief. "Gee, hon, you had me scared." She

Suddenly the truth struck him forcibly, and a look of horror crossed his face lifted her up. "Come on—you better get back to bed."

 Gert rose and leaned heavily on Mae's arm.
 Mae comforted her. "Don't worry about the money, dear. I'll give it to you."
 Mr. Flanagan, of the future firm Flanagan & Doyle, visited Jimmy the following night. It would be all right for the deal to go through right away, he told Jimmy, as he needed the money. Jimmy could pay him the balance of the five hundred later. So it was all right with Jimmy, they could have the papers drawn up in a few days. Jimmy agreed excitedly.

He introduced Flanagan to Mae, and joyfully told her the news. She tried to appear as happy as she could, but it proved an effort. How would she get the money back from Gert in time?
 Several days short of the time Gert expected the money from her uncle, Mae was greatly worried when Flanagan left.
 Frank Cook, the starter at Jimmy's stand, breezed in a few minutes later.
 "Hello, Frank," Jimmy greeted him. "Hey, I've got some great news for you."
 Frank held up his hand. "Save it. First I want you to do me a favor."
 "What's that?"
 Frank bent over, almost touching his knees. He maneuvered around until he was directly in front of Jimmy.
 "There," he said solemnly, "that's just about right." He motioned to Jimmy. "Kick me."
 Jimmy kicked him as requested. Frank straightened up. "Thanks." "What's that all about?" grinned Jimmy.
 "Listen, pal. I want you to shake hands with the prize dumbbell of the twentieth century."
 "Am I a chump? Am I a chump?" "Will ya stop ravin' and tell me what happened?"
 "Well, it's like this. Remember the girl usta work over at Tony's?"
 Mae suddenly sat up alertly.
 "Gert?" inquired Jimmy. "Sure, I remember Gert."
 "Well, yesterday I got a call from her to come over to her place. Terribly important. So I rush like mad. When I get there she's in bed—sick. She tells me she's gotta be operated on right away. And it's gonna take two hundred bucks, and she's broke—and would I lend it to her?"

Mae stifled an exclamation. She gazed at him, aghast.
 Frank went on. "Well, naturally I turned her down. After all, she don't mean nothin' to me. Besides, I ain't got two hundred bucks. Well, what do you think she does?"
 "What?" asked Jimmy.
 "She tried to take poison, right under my nose."
 "No?" exclaimed Jimmy, genuinely surprised.
 "Yeah," said Frank in disgust. "So little Frankie gets chicken-hearted and she'll out a hundred bucks!"
 "Well, what's wrong with that?"
 "What's wrong?" asked Frank wildly. "I found out the whole thing's a racket!"

Mae stared, horrified. She was positive she was going to faint. The slim hope she had of getting the money back in time for the deal vanished in thin air.
 Jimmy shook with laughter. "And she wasn't even sick?" Is that funny, or ain't it?" He turned to Mae, who was sombly regarding the chandler. "Hey, Mae, is that funny, or ain't it?"
 She smiled feebly.
 "It may be funny to you," retorted Frank indignantly, "but I'm out a century!"
 "Well, it serves you right," Jimmy told him. "If you can't handle your dough any better than that, you don't deserve to have any. Take me, for instance. I don't take no chances. I turn my money over to the— He put his arm around Mae. "—First National Bank—where I know it's safe. Ain't that right, hon?"
 "Uh-huh," she said fearfully.
 The following evening, while Jimmy was out with the cab, she returned to Gert's boarding house only to find her gone. Mae, miserable and frantic, started a search for her that she was sure would prove fruitless. After several hours, however, she was rewarded. She located Gert at a third-rate hotel, where Lili lived. Lili was in Atlantic City at an Elks convention.
 Mae opened the door of Gert's room, grimly. Gert was sitting at a mirror. Suddenly she saw Mae and drew back in fright.
 "Hello, Mae," she said in a shaking voice.
 "Where's my money?" asked Mae menacingly, as she slapped the girl again.
 Gert was terror-stricken. "I haven't got it, Mae!" she cried. "Stop it, will ya?"

She crouched back in her chair, putting up her hands to protect her face. Mae grabbed the girl's hands out across Gert's face.
 She slapped her again and again, accompanying each slap with, "I want my money!" Soon a trickle of blood came out of Gert's mouth.
 "Stop it!" screamed Gert. "Stop it! You're killing me! I'll get your money for you!"
 After some time, Mae released her but stood over her threateningly. "Where is it?"
 "I gave it to somebody," she said, breathing heavily. "But I'll get it for you. Honest I will, Mae."
 "When?" Mae asked, her grimly.
 "Tomorrow night," Gert answered quickly. "I'd give it to you now but I haven't got it. Come around tomorrow night. I'll have it for you."
 After threatening to kill her if she didn't keep her word, Mae left.
 While Mae was trying to get the money back, an unfortunate thing happened. Jimmy, driving past in the cab, had stopped off at the house to get something to eat. And running into the bedroom to surprise Mae, he saw that the bed hadn't been slept in. Bewildered, he looked at his watch. Ten minutes to two. His mouth curled up in a contemptuous, cynical grimace, and he returned to his cab.
 At dinner, the following evening, Mae noticed that Jimmy's behavior was strange.
 "Aren't you feeling well, Jimmy?" she asked solicitously.
 "I'm all right."
 Mae tried to make him talk. "How'd you do last night? Any luck?"
 "Luck?" he answered with difficulty. "Yeah. Not bad."
 They both fell silent. Finally Jimmy spoke, trying to be casual. "What'd you do? Last night, I mean."
 "Oh, nothing much," she answered warily. "Sat around and read for awhile. Was in bed by ten."
 Her obvious lying embittered him, but he maintained an innocent front.
 "You must get awful lonesome when I work nights."
 She started to remove the dishes from the table, trying to cover her uneasiness.
 "What do you figure on doin' tonight?" inquired Jimmy.
 "Just clean up a little, I guess, and go right to bed."
 His eyes glittered. "Why don't you go to a movie or somethin'?"
 "There's a good one down the corner."
 She picked up the dishes and walked into the kitchen with them. "I wouldn't stir from the house for anything. It's raining cats and dogs."
 Jimmy got up and got into his hat and raincoat. He looked after her, bitterly disillusioned.
 "Stions, Mrs. Doyle." Without waiting for her response, he went out. Outside, he got in the cab and swung it around, parking on the corner of the opposite side of the street.

MAN COMES BACK AT SIXTY

This most interesting story of "a man who came back" will encourage those who are suffering from kidney trouble and its attendant ills, such as Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, etc. Mr. J. T. Brown, of Ambury, California, writes:
 "Six months ago I was very badly troubled with kidney ills; my back at times hurt me so severely that I could not stand or walk straight. When I got up in the morning I was more tired, if anything, than when I went to bed the night before; was also troubled considerably with rheumatism, and what was troubling me most was that I was fast growing a "bay window." That made my body very unshapely. Then I began drinking Yerbavida. Within three or four months I had lost all that corpulency; my kidneys are now as perfect as they ever have been and I feel like a young boy all the time, although I am past sixty. I can safely say that I never felt better in my life—not even in my younger days. I climb mountains and hills all day long without becoming tired."
 Yerbavida is produced from planes growing wild on the American Desert. It contains no drugs of any kind. In fact, no ingredients of any nature have been added to it. When brewed according to instructions it becomes a powerfully revitalizing tea which produces amazing results in the restoration of health. Yerbavida has shown remarkable results in eliminating poisonous acidity which produces stomach, liver and bladder disorders, inflammation, ulcers, headaches, uric acid in the blood with its resulting rheumatism, arthritis, constipation, and many other ills too numerous to mention.

 The endocrine glands are the alchemists which transmute chemical element into physical stamina and mental power. Premature old age, disease, low vitality and fatigue are the result of the endocrine glands becoming sluggish. Yerbavida revives the endocrine glands. A large package, enough for 240 cups, can be obtained for only $1.00. If your local drug-gist cannot supply you accept no substitute but send $1.00 direct to Yerbavida Sales Co., 612 Southwest Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

What Is ATHLETE'S FOOT

Over 30 Million Americans Now Have It—
 Is This Dreaded Disease Becoming a Plague?

Athlete's Foot is a fungus germ (Tinea) which appears on the feet in the form of a little yellow blister, causing severe irritation and itching—especially between the toes. This disease is very contagious and is spreading with alarming rapidity among all classes of people.
 The failure to successfully treat Athlete's Foot in the past has been due largely to the fact that these germs hibernate in the pores of the shoes. Salves and liquids applied only to the feet DO NOT PENETRATE THE PORES OF THE SHOES.
 Medical Science has recently developed an amazing treatment known as Merit Foot Powder, which laboratory and clinical tests have proved will positively kill these germs and restore feet so infected to a normal, healthy condition. It is simply sifted on the feet and into the shoes.

 Merit Foot Powder quickly eliminates excessive perspiration and itching of the toes. It heals irritation and is unsurpassed for chaffing and as a deodorant. Why suffer another day when this fast working treatment is positively guaranteed to overcome these distressing conditions or your money refunded?

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Christians' Use of Leisure

Text: Neh. 8:10-17; Mark 6:30-32.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 11.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist

There are a great number of people in America, both Christian and non-Christian, who have had of late more leisure than anything else. One of the most serious problems of unemployment is that relatively few people know how to make good and profitable use of time that is not engaged in needful rest or in actual work; and when people are confronted with more leisure than they already know what to do with, the problem is accentuated many fold.

The art of using leisure well, however, is not confined to the unemployed. No sensible person wants to allow any part of his life to be useless or wasted. He wants to employ his leisure time as profitable as any other part of his time, allowing, of course, for the fact that leisure would not be leisure if it were filled with hard and difficult tasks.

A farmer who was a very busy worker himself, once asked me how it was that so many people could gather together to listen to Jesus wherever he happened to be speaking. He seemed to think that the people of ancient Palestine had rather an easy time.

However, when we recall that a little country like Galilee had probably a population of two million people in the days of Christ, we can understand that it was not remarkable that crowds of several hundred should almost always have been available to listen to anyone who could tell them an interesting story or who could give to them some new and remarkable teaching.

Our leisure time ought to have two values for us. It ought to give us rest and refreshment, sending us to our real work with new vigor, and it ought to provide us with the help and vision that come from reflection.

In the busy work of life often we do not have time to think or to see our tasks in perspective, but with the leisure that every honest and faithful worker ought to have, work itself becomes more intelligently conceived an directed.

The Bible, while it lays great stress upon work, lays also great stress upon rest and leisure. The Sabbath and the Christian Sunday, whatever may have been their distant origin, seem to be peculiar to the religion that has its source in Palestine.

Our modern world with its rush and speed, and its disregard of the need of any rest day, is strangely at variance in its idealism and wisdom with the discernment and practice of Jews and Christians who have laid great stress upon the need of a day of rest.

In addition to this weekly rest day it is interesting to discover how much of the holiday and festival spirit there was in the life of the Jewish people. We can set altogether too light a value on the communal aspect of life in any community which lays stress upon this festival and holiday spirit.

With the progress of machine civilization, when machines are very sadly displacing enormous numbers of men, one solution for this acute problem would be to let the machine do more of the work that men have done and free humanity for a larger life of leisure and play.

That seems, in fact, to be the only solution for the problems of our enormously increased machine production. But if that solution comes, it will put upon men and women more than ever before the obligation to find the means of using their leisure well.

In the teaching and practice of Jesus he laid much stress upon rest and prayer, and there is something invigorating and significant, in the example of one who spent so much time in the fields and in the desert places in communion with nature as well as in communion with God and man.

Olden

OLDEN, Texas, Dec. 3.—Dr. Isbell with the aid of several assistants, administered diphtheria toxoid to pupils of the Olden schools Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church in Olden. A number of the parents interested in the work were present. One hundred and forty-six had returned the signed requests for the toxoid to Professor Collins. Most of them took the serum. This was provided free by the state in an effort to stamp out diphtheria.

Mrs. Arlie Fullen left Friday morning for East Texas where she will visit her father.

Joyzelle Joyner has been ill the past few days but is improved at this time.

The building soon to be occupied by the Church of Christ is being made ready for services. Members of this church will be justly proud of their building and invite the public to attend their services, notice of the opening date will soon be made.

Mrs. J. L. Kuhn gave a farewell party for Mrs. W. A. Jackson and Mrs. M. A. Lewellan Tuesday afternoon. The guests and honorees enjoyed a pleasant afternoon and were served delicious refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Lewellan and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are soon to leave for their new home in Oklahoma where they have rented a farm near Chickasha.

The Olden girls played Carbon and the Olden boys played Eastland Friday night at the Eastland gym.

Dolores Ray has been ill several days.

Virgie Sue Wyatt was on the sick list this week.

Olden's share of the reconstruction finance money will provide work for a number of men for some time. Work is now going on in public improvements and a clean-up of unsightly, empty lots on Main street.

Mrs. Troy Edwards of Cisco visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Weatherall Friday.

Scripp Rayford and his family are here from California visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Rayford.

John Cooper was in Olden the latter part of the week on business. He expects to farm this coming year in West Texas.

5 Big Features At Lyric Theatre

Five changes of programs will be presented at the Lyric each week instead of four changes, which has been the change policy of this theatre for the past year. The addition on this extra picture each week has been made on account of the number of exceptional pictures the Lyric has under contract for the coming year, and this will enable us to bring them to Eastland soon after release date of each picture.

The first picture on the week's program will be "Deception," with Leo Carrillo heading the cast and supported by Thelma Todd and the child wonder star, Dickie Moore. "Deception" is a story of racketeering in the sports world and is full of comedy and smart dialogue.

The second attraction for the week will be "The Mask of Fu Manchu," with Boris (Frankenstein) Karloff in one of his typical roles that has made him famous on the screen. The supporting cast includes such names as Lewis Stone, Karen Morley, Jean Hersholt and others. This story is one of Sax Rohmer's famous mystery stories of Oriental intrigue and mystery.

Sunday and Monday Will Rogers will be presented in his latest picture, "Too Busy to Work." In this new picture Will Rogers has one of his typical roles as "Jabber" the tramp who travels from place to place looking for his wife and child who have been stolen by another man. In this role Rogers not only reaches his peak of his powers of comedy but opens up on dramatic ability that few dreamed he ever had.

Tuesday and Wednesday the Lyric attraction will be "Prosperity" starring Marie Dressler and Polly Moran. This inimitable duo make their latest co-starring appearance in this story which was written especially for them by Selda Seers and is a story of the funny side of the current depression. "Prosperity" is the ninth comedy in which these two have co-starred and is a worthy successor to their many other comedy successes.

Thursday only a new co-starring team will be presented in one of Paramount's late pictures, "Under Cover Man." This picture with Nancy Carroll co-starring with George Raft, will bring to the screen for the first time this new co-starring team.

Sorority Dream Girls Coming to Connellee Here

(From Motion Picture Times) WACO.—Day-King's elaborate stage show "Sorority Dream Girls" continues playing at SRO receipts as it winds around the territory. Among important engagements was last Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Orpheum Theatre, Waco. Patrons stood in the aisles Saturday and Sunday in face of the fact that Waco theatres have been victims of acid bombs recently. Many thousand Wacoans and central Texas citizens saw Dream Girls for two days. Monday the show did practically capacity business.

Thursday and Friday the stage attraction was booked into the Howard Theatre at Taylor.

Unusual success in all engagements is the peculiar attribute to "Sorority Dream Girls." In includes a girl band that can really play good music and several artists from the big time successes. The show is now on its way throughout the state filling numerous bookings. In Corsicana last week it was reported the attraction did standing room only three days. Correction is that it was standing room only four days. The original booking was Friday and Saturday but it was held over for Sunday and Monday.

Sorority Dream Girls will be at the Connellee Theatre in Eastland, Sunday and Monday.

STAR SKETCHES

Story of RICHARD DIX by Irene Dunne

HAVE you ever taken yourself into a corner and given yourself a good talking-to? It's a pretty smart thing to do, every once in a while. It sweeps the cobwebs out of your brain and clears it for plans and problems of the future. . . at least that is what Richard Dix believes. He's been holding conferences with himself for a great many years now. . . and out of these talks with himself have come the resolutions and achievements which have carried him to stardom in motion pictures.

He's written himself letters, too. . . three of them marked milestones in his career: One of them was about work. . . one about wine. . . and one about women. You'd have to be a nastier snooper than the most callous columnist to divulge the contents of those three letters. . . they are like a diary. . . and, like a diary, sacred. But Dix will tell you this much. . . that the first letter he wrote himself he signed Ernest Carlton Brimmer, Jr. . . for Richard Dix is a pseudonym he took when he first went on the stage against the wishes of his family.

But he wanted to be an actor, so he went out for the dramatic club. . . and there began another theatrical career that was destined to end in star billing in Hollywood. It's a funny thing about grease paint. . . even when it's applied by amateur hands. . . it sort of seeps into the soul. Once you've acted, you want to do it again. Dix did. . . he acted all over the lot. . . all over the country. . . in stock companies from St. Paul to Norfolk, Virginia, and back to Broadway, by way of Texas.

There's a lot more to tell about this man Richard Dix. . . we'd like to repeat some phrases from those letters, too. But briefly: He saves his money and spends his energy generously on every job he's assigned. He plays a fast game of tennis and a deliberate game of bridge. He likes blonde women. . . blind men. . . youngsters who ask questions. . . old drivers of horse drawn cabs. . . who sit on the piazza of Central Park in New York and recount the glory that was Gotham's years ago. He can handle a team of wild horses or a squalling baby. . . he's that strong and tender.

He sort you know would write his own obituary modestly. . . but you hope not for many, many years.

DR. AND MRS. WILSON HONOR PASTOR

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson entertained at their home Monday evening with a delightful dinner at 7 o'clock, honoring Rev. and Mrs. Batdorf, who leave in a few days for Akron, Ind., for a short stay and then go to Fort Wayne, Ind., en route to Wauseon, Ohio, where they will visit Rev. Batdorf's people, and a much needed rest will be had.

June Seth, Miss Ruth Bruner, Miss Ruth Pitts, Norman Wilson, Claire Wilson, Mrs. E. W. Barnett and sons, Samuel and Billy, and Dr. and Mrs. Wilson, and honor guests, Rev. and Mrs. Batdorf.

A two-course dinner with last course of cake and fruit was served. A delightful evening was spent. Rev. Batdorf has filled the pulpit of the Church of God with success, but failing health has made a change for him necessary. A business meeting will be held in the Church of God this evening and the committee will elect a pulpit committee, who in turn will call a pastor.

Until the pulpit is filled, minister members of the Warner college faculty will supply and carry on.

Much regret is expressed over the departure of Rev. and Mrs. Batdorf, who have taken a prominent part in the work of the young people and the women's auxiliary of the church.

Cage Season In Oil Belt Opening

At a meeting held in the Gholson hotel, Ranger, Saturday to formulate plans for the Oil Belt basketball season, it was decided that the games would be played in much the same manner in which they were scheduled last year. Coach Shotwell of Breckenridge is to have the schedule worked out. Abilene will not be in the district this year, but Brownwood will play, making a seven team loop.

All teams refused to play in Ranger because of the small gymnasium and the small court, so all Ranger games must be played out of town, unless another court is provided.

Mineral Wells and Graham applied for entrance into the basketball district, but it was voted not to include them because of the distance teams would have to travel, for instance from Brownwood, to play games.

The basketball season will be opened earlier this year than last, the first games being played before Christmas instead of after the first of the year.

Strangled With Her Silk Stockings

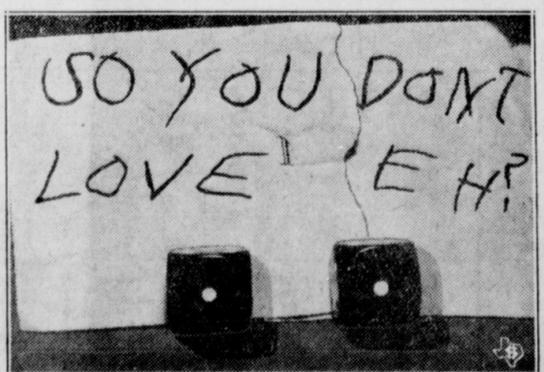

The frail body of Mrs. Leona Buchanan was laid to rest Sunday, leaving behind one of the most baffling murder mysteries on police records. The pretty 34 year-old film booker was found nude and strangled to death Thursday in her Dallas apartment following a drinking party. Here is the mysteriously worded death note, with the dice which weighed it down beside her when her body was found. Upper left is the murdered woman. Her husband, who rushed to Dallas from Oklahoma when he learned of her death, is shown in upper right.
