PUBLIC WELFARE COMMITTEE STUDIES NEEDS OF ESTLAND

Bankhead Cut-Off May Become Issue

Further plans for the Bankhead highway cut-off were discussed Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Judge McCarty, chairman of the highway committee, is to be commended on the work he has done to further the promotion of the proposed plans. In a statement recently made public, he discussed the justness of the construction of the cut-off. Many sound reasons for the completion of this work were presented by him, and the many benefits to be realized from it were discussed.

He pointed out the safety and the economy of this more direct route, and upheld the motives of those who are seeking to put it through. Its benefits to towns along the route as well as to tourists were ably and directly set forth.

Judge McCarty's efforts toward this end have been unflinching, and Eastland citizens appreciate the influence of the work he has done.

The people of this section should keep informed on the developments in this matter as every method possible is being used to kill the project.

Newspapers, radios and pressure on politicians are a few of the mediums that are planned for use in making the building of this safer and shorter route an issue in the coming election.

VISITING SPEAKERS ON ROTARY PROGRAM

Lindsey Hawkins of Breckenridge and J. Elmer Thomas of Fort Worth were featured speakers on the Rotary Club program Monday at noon.

Mr. Hawkins' subject was "Society Getting Along With Itself," and Mr. Thomas spoke on "Oil Conditions in Foreign Countries."

Visiting Rotarians were Lindsey Hawkins, Breckenridge; John Thurman, Ranger; Forrest Wright and E. P. Crawford, Cisco; R. B. Swiger, San Antonio; and J. Elmer Thomas, Fort Worth.

Ben Hamme was program chairman, and was assisted by W. C. Campbell. The program committee for next Monday is composed of Curtis Herteg and Walter Clark.

BETTER HOMES WORK PROGRESSES

Interest continues unabated in the preliminary campaign to the Better Homes in America demonstration week, which has been set by the Washington Bureau as from dates April 24 to May 1, and which will be observed in Eastland City, under the auspices of Better Homes Committee, in a series of public entertainments and events all open to the public without charge, and which will have a Demonstration Home, as a major feature for the week's program.

Talks in schools and clubs have progressed steadily and amongst these was an outstanding address given by Mrs. W. P. Leslie on the occasion of a recent meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club. Other clubs have had Better Homes items presented in roll call responses. From now until the middle of March the societies of the various churches will assist in this preliminary campaign, through special talks or music or some other feature in connection with their meetings. Next Monday, February 8th, the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will be addressed on Better Homes work by Mrs. T. J. Haley, Better Homes chairman for Methodist church organizations. The following Monday Mrs. A. J. Campbell, appointed Better Homes Chairman for the Baptist church societies, will arrange special features for that program in keeping with Better Homes teaching.

It is planned that each church should present some Better Homes feature in their program during interim of present date and as before stated. On the opening day of Better Homes Week, April 25, each Church Society assembling on that date, will present a special featured Better Home program.

Chairmen for these programs and those to be given in this interim include, in addition to those mentioned: Presbyterian Church, Mrs. J. L. Cottingham; Church of God, Miss Grace Baily; Catholic Church, Mrs. W. T. Root; Church of Christ, Mrs. Allen Dalbey; Christian Science, Mrs. C. A. Martin; First Christian Church, Mrs. A. J. Beard.

Mrs. W. K. Jackson, chairman of Eastland City Better Homes Committee, considers this campaign gives the greatest promise for good of any heretofore conducted in Eastland.

W. S. Adamson was here from Ranger Tuesday.

A newly appointed committee, known as the "Public Welfare Committee" of the Chamber of Commerce, met for its first time at the Chamber of Commerce offices Tuesday afternoon.

The members are Samuel Butler, Earl Bender, John D. McKee, J. E. Lewis, M. McCullough, Dr. J. H. Canton, John M. Mouser, K. B. Tanner, I. Wolf, O. E. Harvey, Neil Moore, Grady Pipkin, and E. E. Beaty. Mr. Butler was elected chairman and K. B. Tanner secretary and various committees are to be named by Mr. Butler later. Judge McKee and J. E. Lewis were absent on account of business.

Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, in a lengthy report, gave statistics on the decrease in the number of telephone subscribers, water users, etc., this January 1 as compared with January 1, 1931. He also reported on the increase in vacant houses, both homes and business places, all of which emphasized the need of this newly formed committee. Dr. Tanner, President C. J. Rhodes and the Chamber of Commerce are to be commended for creating this committee. It will no doubt result in many developments which will be of great aid to every citizen.

Among the different subjects that came up for discussion was holding the Prairie offices in Eastland, regarding which it developed that not a thing had been said or done to indicate that the offices are to be moved, at this time at least.

The matter of retaining the Boy Scout headquarters in Eastland was acted upon and a committee left for Brownwood Tuesday evening to meet with the executive committee of that organization which met there that night.

Our railroad, telegraph and bus service was discussed and action taken to better this service.

The newly appointed chairman, Mr. Butler, jumped right into the work, displaying much interest as well as willingness to speak out and say just what he thinks.

Judging from the enthusiasm and the support offered him it is believed that Mr. Butler and his co-workers will have some interesting developments to announce within a few days.

P. T. A. WILL GIVE PATRIOTIC TEA

The clubs of the United States have a decided trend toward studying civic and national history, as well as politics and current national conditions. In many literary clubs classes in citizenship are conducted by the club chairman appointed for such work. Today, more women are studying the rights of citizenship and the duties of the citizen toward his or her country than has been the case in a decade. The Parent Teacher Association of the high school does not lag in this special line of study and in connection with the observance of the birthday of George Washington, will give a patriotic entertainment in the form of a tea on the regular date of meeting of this Parent Teacher Association, February 17, from three to six p. m. Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins will be house hostess and will be assisted by members of the Association. A musical program of merit and in harmony with the patriotic flair of the tea will be in charge of Mrs. A. J. Campbell, program chairman for the Association. Other novel and patriotic features will be provided, as well. Tea room arrangements and hospitality will be under chairmanship of Mrs. P. B. Bittle, well known for her success in civic work.

Every member of the high school Parent Teacher Association, their friends and acquaintances, and any interested in the work of the high school, are cordially urged to attend.

TRAINING SCHOOL TO BE HELD HERE

The Cisco District Young People's Training School will meet at the Methodist Church of Eastland Sunday afternoon, February 7, and will run until Friday night, February 12. We want to enlist all the young people of the church in this training school. Make your plans to attend and take one of the courses.

Word has been received here that Miss Bernice Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Johnson of Eastland, and a student in Weatherford College, is doing excellent work in that school. She is one of the four students who are on the "all A honor roll" for the first semester. About 250 students comprise the student body.

Richard O. Hunter, who is attending the University of Texas at Austin, is at home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Hunter of the Eastland County Lumber Company. Richard formerly attended Baylor University at Waco.

Gas Range Seized In Shepperd Suit

Latest developments in the suit of C. F. Shepperd against the Community Natural Gas Company are as follows:

Justice of Peace M. Newman issued execution against the Community Natural Gas Company to satisfy judgment rendered in the case of C. F. Shepperd against the Community Natural Gas Company of $143, together with costs of suit. Execution was placed in the hands of Constable M. Seabourn together with indemnity bond in double the amount of judgement. Seabourn made levy of writ and seized a gas range and now has it in his custody, and served the gas company with notice of sale on February 12th to satisfy the judgement and costs of suit.

MRS. MABEL HALE TO SPEAK TUESDAY

Mrs. Mabel Hale, religious leader and author of several books, will be presented as a special speaker at a meeting of the Church of God Ladies Auxiliary Tuesday afternoon, February 9, at 2:30 o'clock, at the church. Her subject will be "Conquering Our Daily Pin Pricks." The public is cordially invited to hear Mrs. Hale in what is promised to be a most unusual address.

WORLD CLUB MEETS AT CHURCH WEDNES.

The Junior Boys and Girls World Club and the Children's World Circle met in joint meeting in the lower assembly room of the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. A number of songs were sung, with Mrs. F. L. Drago as piano.

The Juniors had their separate meeting in the Booster Room, with Rae June Stubblefield presiding. "Bring Them In" and "Sally-Like-a-Shepherd Lead Us" were sung, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. The minutes were read by the secretary, Nora Frances Mahon. Oletha King read a poem "When Ships Glide In." At this time the following new members were introduced: Henrietta Moss, Norma Jean Tucker, Helen Rosenquest, Percy Harris and Willie Jane Amis. Mrs. Stubblefield told the story of "Banana" to the club.

The Circle meeting was presided over by Mrs. Guy Parker. "The Flag We Love" was the opening song. Fred Patterson read "I Wouldn't Be a Growler," "Jesus Our Friend" was sung. The story of David and the giant was told by Neal Patterson. "Inside the Mill Gate" was given by Mrs. Parker. The meeting closed with a prayer.

Mrs. F. L. Drago is musical director and pianist for each group.

Primary children attending were Mava Lee and Wilda Jean Crossley, Neal and Fred Patterson, Jackie and Marguerite Hapeman, Ballard Harris and Daphne Ann Bludworth.

Tax Interest and Penalty Is Eliminated

At the Monday afternoon meeting of the City Council a decision was reached to eliminate all interest and penalty on delinquent taxes for the month of February.

The commissioners present, McCullough, Johnson and Moore, after disposing of details, discussed at length the subject of delinquent tax collections. It was finally decided that, in order to help the delinquent tax payers during the entire month of February the city would accept delinquent taxes from any tax payer and omit all interest charges and the usual penalty for delinquency.

This order holds good only through February, and it is believed that a great many tax payers will appreciate the favor extended by the Board and will call on the tax collector and pay up all delinquencies before the month has expired, thus helping the city treasury as well as the individual tax payer.

PYTHIAN WORK IS PROGRESSING

John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, Grand Vice Chancellor of Texas, was the principal speaker at a program and open house held Thursday night by the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters.

Deputy Grand Chancellor Doyle Harrell, of Ranger, and Chancellor Commander Galloway of Throckmorton were present.

Mrs. Artie Liles spoke on Pythian Sisterhood.

Messrs. Harrell, Hutcheson, Ferris and Harvey were participants in a debate on the subject of which is most useful, "a dinner or a broom?"

Music was furnished by Misses Earline Harvey and Jo Earl Uttz, violinists, and Clara June Kimble, pianist. Haymond Hunt and his associates played old fashioned string music. Readings were given by several children.

Coffee and sandwiches were served to about 100 guests.

These open house meetings are monthly affairs conducted by the Knights and the Pythian Sisters.

The lodge had one of its best meetings Tuesday night, when second degree work was given to two and third degree work to three. The lodge is steadily growing, and much interest is being manifested in the work.

J. C. ALLISON WILL RUN FOR COMMISSIONER

A number of people have been inquiring as to whether or not J. C. Allison is going to run for Commissioner of Precinct No. 1. In answer to this inquiry, he stated this morning that it was his intention to make the race on the proposition of greater economy in county affairs and lower taxes. He believes there is a way by which the expense of the county can be decreased and that he can help find that way. He will make a formal announcement at a later date.

WATCH YOUR STEP YOU MAY BE THE PERSON TO RECEIVE Free Theatre Ticket

If the Watch Your Step editor notices you on the street; sees you do some act of kindness, an amusing act or anything out of the ordinary you will find the act described in this column the following week, and you will be entitled to a free ticket to the Lyric Theatre. Your name will not appear.

Old folk, young folk, everyone alike, watch your step. Look over the list below and see if you are among those receiving a free ticket this week to see—

"EMMA"

If the gentleman who threatened to "fire his employee" will call at the Record office he will receive a ticket.

If the young lady who wanted to know where to find "Angel" will call she will receive a ticket.

If the gentleman who got peeved because we didn't carry a story he had told us not to use will call at this office, we will offer our sincere apologies and a theater ticket. (Note: We realize now that this was purely modesty on his part.)

We think that if anybody deserves a ticket it is the lady who made the salad just because she likes to cook, and then didn't know what to do with it.

If the gentleman who offered his gun for use in what sounded like a hot argument will call he will receive a ticket.

If the lady who beat the collector to his job will call she will receive a ticket.

If the lady who can't tell a music dealer from a newspaper man will call she will receive a ticket.

SHORT COURSE OPENED WITH RECORD BREAKING ATTENDANCE

Time Extended For Paying School Tax

The Eastland High School District at its regular meeting Monday night passed an order extending the time for payment of 1931 school taxes without penalty and interest until March 1, 1932, also the tax payers who have not paid their taxes for the year 1931, will be allowed to pay one-half in February 1932, and the balance must be paid on or before March 1, 1932. The penalty and interest will then go on the 1931 taxes, and will be considered delinquent along with all other taxes. The School Board requests that all those who have not paid their taxes make an effort to take advantage of this offer.

MORRISON TO SPEAK ON BEAUTIFICATION

The Civic League will meet at the Club house at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, February 10, to observe the regular program as planned, with Mrs. R. Q. Lee as speaker.

Morrison, of Fort Worth, who is touring West Texas under the auspices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and comes to Eastland at the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce and the Civic League, will speak on "Beautification in West Texas." His talk will be illustrated with pictures.

Every Eastland citizen is invited to hear Mr. Morrison, for his talk will be along lines that are of interest to everybody.

TAKE OLD CLOTHES TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Have you old clothes to give away? If so, will you please bring them to the Chamber of Commerce where they can be distributed to the needy? Calls for clothing are being received there every day, and the supply has been exhausted. Any contributions will be appreciated.

EASTLAND MEN IN CAR WRECK

M. H. Lobaugh and Jack McLain were slightly injured about four o'clock Tuesday morning when their car collided with a train standing on the T&P tracks.

The car was wrecked and the occupants were taken to the local hospital for treatment, but were later released.

A TRUE STORY

Are you planning a trip to Europe next summer? Have you heard that your great, great Aunt Sallie had left a large fortune, which in part may belong to you? Do you desire to vote for the next president? If so, a birth certificate, to establish certain facts, now locked in the archives of the Bureau of Vital Statistics may be necessary. You can get these facts about yourself, provided your doctor filed the record at your birth.

With our State Registrar Dr. W. A. Davis with his eighteen able assistants, are more than a million and a half birth and a million death certificates stored away in fire-proof vaults, containing secrets of Texas citizens. DO YOU KNOW that your record is to be found among the number? And do you know that only in the last three or four years Texas has practically ignored this very important law of birth and death registration? Therefore this being a fact, does it not seem advisable for every boy and girl to see to it that they have a copy of their birth certificate? In that way ascertain whether or not the birth is on record and if not, as in nine applications out of ten proves to be the case; then, it is high time someone was getting busy and getting it on record. From this time on there is going to be a demand for birth and death records for the settlement of many things that heretofore has not been required.

The great grandchildren of Anne Dobler heard that in Denmark a fortune had accumulated from the property held in trust by that government for the father of Mare Dupree. Anne was born in Sherman in 1859. Her birth certificate was filed in 1929; she was the daughter of Mare Dupree. That copy of a Texas record went all the way to Denmark, served its purpose and protected the rights of Anne Dobler's great grandchildren. The Doctor leaned back in his swivel chair, and with a smile, said: "You know, the best of us forget dates." One day a well known Texas attorney, a former attorney general and former chief justice of the supreme court, made application for a birth certificate for his oldest son who was soon to go to Europe, and must have a birth

One of the largest crowds that Eastland has seen for some time was present Thursday morning at the opening session of the two day short course held at the City Hall here yesterday and today by representatives of the International Harvester Company.

People from rural districts thronged the streets of Eastland and crowded the City Hall auditorium beyond its capacity. Numbers of school buses were prominent among the lines of parked cars extending in every direction from the City Hall.

The attendance was said to be the largest in any of the short courses conducted this year by the International Harvester people.

One hundred per cent representation of school children over twelve years of age was claimed by Center Point, Yellow Mound, Grapevine, Lone Cedar, Nimrod and Grandview. The $25 in cash prizes was distributed equally among them.

Community singing and numbers by the Colony Glee Club preceded H. S. Mobley's talk on "The Educational Use of Knowledge." Moving pictures completed the morning session.

Lunch was sold at noon in the corridors of the City Hall by the members of the Martha Durcas Sunday school class of the Methodist church.

The afternoon session was opened at 1:30 o'clock with a concert by the Eastland band. L. A. Hawkins spoke on "Soils and Soil Fertility" and Grace M. Smith spoke on "Feeding the Family," after which more illustrations were presented through the medium of moving pictures.

The Ranger Tickville Band featured the opening numbers of the evening session. "Communities Are Made of Folks" was presented by H. S. Mobley.

This short course is considered by Eastland citizens and people of the surrounding communities to be one of the most beneficial events that has been brought to this section for some time. In addition to furnishing high class entertainment, these programs are offering valuable suggestions and constructive ideas to individuals and to communities as a whole.

In addition to students from the local and rural schools and citizens of rural communities, numbers of Eastland club women and business men are in attendance.

Everybody is invited. If you were not present yesterday, make it a point to attend today's meeting at 10 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. You will be benefited.

TOMBOY TESS SENDS HER MESSAGE TO YOU

Tomboy Tess sends this message to you: "I'm going to be a comic strip run every Friday in the Record. If you don't look for me you are going to miss a peck o' luffs. Be sure and watch for me each week."

The above named comic strip is proving to be one that is enjoyed by both young and old, and is being used by some of the larger stores in the east in conjunction with their advertising.

Wolf's big general store next to the post office on Main street has added this feature and plans to run it each week in their ads in the Record. Tomboy Tess starts in this issue. Watch for her each week.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Wolf received a phone call early this week that their daughter, Miss Fannie, who is attending the University of Texas at Austin, was ill. Her friends will be glad to know, however, that word came later that her illness was not of a serious nature, and that she is much improved now.

BRECKENRIDGE DOCTOR SPEAKS AT LIONS CLUB

The Lions Club was entertained at its regular meeting Tuesday with a very interesting talk by Dr. Roger Gray of Breckenridge. His subject was "Lionism."

After discussion of his subject he launched into what he described as "crazy notions," which proved highly entertaining and furnished much food for thought. Being a Baptist and knowing of what he spoke, he made things a little uncomfortable for the Baptists present, but finally said that he believed all the Baptists and some of the other faiths would be within the pearly gates for the Roll call.

Dr. Bruce Snyder of Breckenridge also was a visitor, as well as Mr. B. E. Garner and Mr. A. H. Henderson of Ranger.

Tom Yonkers and Arthur Fletcher, of Ranger, were in Eastland Tuesday.

Rex Clark, student of Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, was a week end visitor with Fred Gary.

J. D. Barker, of Cisco, was here Tuesday.

The club has taken for its purpose the beautifying of the campus and class-rooms and a study of nature. At present the club is working on a rock garden project to be placed in Miss Ward's class room.

Saturday afternoon five members of the club went on a very interesting and beneficial field hunt, bringing back many rare and good specimens of rock, moss, fern and cactus.

SPORTS

The Stags save been on a winning

Governor of Philippines

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of Porto Rico, has been named to succeed Dwight F. Davis, who resigned from the Manila post.

On January 22 they defeated the Cisco C. of G. five by a very good margin. Henry Miller received high point honors with 18 to his credit. Lester Crose was a close second with 16 points. The game ended with a score of 56-11.
On January 29, the Stags defeated the fast Dothan team. These boys have defeated the Randolph five but they were unable to win over the Stags. The score at the end of the game stood, Warner 36, Dothan 18. Foster was high point man with 12 points. Ed White was second with 11 points.

The boys went from this game into a game with Morton Valley. Our boys almost triple scored their opponents. The game ended 47-17. Kardatzke was high point man with 14 points. Foster was second with 13 points.

The girls basket ball team is getting plenty of practice. They believe in the policy "practice makes perfect." The next game will be Friday night. We are expecting the Deers to win by a large score. They can expect a strong support from the pep squad.

CAMPUS NOTES

Miss Nina Mae Williams took dinner with Miss Lela Morgan at the home of Prof. H. H. Ward. The dinner which Mrs. Ward prepared was very nice and was enjoyed by all.

Miss Irene Smith and Miss Frances Ward spent the day alone at Dr. Wilson's residence. They prepared their lunch and the main dish was "brown gravy."—Miss Ward's hobby.

We are very glad to see the students recovering from the flu, and bad colds which most of them have had.

Dean and Mrs. Bailey are now occupying Prof. and Mrs. Reynolds' home. Mr. Nobles is planning to move into the Bailey's apartment.

Dr. Wilson preached at the Church of God at Gorman last Sunday.

Due to the hard work of Mit Kardatzke a tennis court has suddenly appeared upon the campus. Come out and play.

Several changes have been made in the classes of some of our teachers. Due to the leaving of Prof. Reynolds, Prof. Ward and Miss Ward will have charge of his classes. Miss Beatrice Smith is going to work in the library so Miss Ward and Prof. Kardatzke will have charge of her classes.

Miss Mildred McDowell and her mother, Mrs. Louise McDowell, entertained Prof. and Mrs. H. T. Reynolds at dinner Sunday in their home, 203 South Virginia street, Hillcrest Addition.

CHAPEL NOTES

Dr. Wilson Speaks In Chapel.
On February 1st, we were favored by having Dr. J. T. Wilson take charge of our chapel exercise. His subject was, "Peace Makers." We feel that this message was very timely and we have caught an inspiration, as individuals, to carry about with us an atmosphere of peace and good will.

CHAPEL NOTES

By FLORENCE PERKINS
Thursday afternoon the student body was entertained by the Ranger Boy's Glee Club. Their first number was a clever song of greeting, "Genevive" and "I Found a Million Dollar Baby" were their next selections. Mr. Meredith, the soloist, then sang. The entire club sang "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver." They also gave a novel interpretation to the chorus by whistling the entire refrain. The next selections were "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain," "The Bells of St. Mary's," "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet" and "A Big Yellow Tulip." Mr. Meredith sang another solo, and played his own accompaniment on the guitar. After Mr. Meredith's response to an encore, the director played "Polonaise in A Minor," a piano solo, thereby closing the program.

Supt. R. F. Holloway of Ranger gave a short talk, and announced the opening of the second term of the Ranger Junior College.

Principal Palm read the announcements and dismissed the assembly.

At the Monday afternoon assembly hour, Mr. A. A. White, a very clever story teller, was the guest entertainer. He told the story of Br'er Rabbit and Br'er Coon. The students enjoyed Mr. White's entertainment, and look forward to his announced entertainment Wednesday afternoon. After the announcements were read, the students were dismissed.

Some Miscellaneous Data.

Just at registration time many students remark that the school system takes on an aspect of being more of a "Fee System" than a "Free System."

Jim Watson, Beth Overbey, Ward Mullings and Victor Hand are among those taking Post Graduate courses.

Just two names of people that form expressions by themselves—An Eastland girl's whose is Ina Payne and a radio singer's whose is Dusty Rhodes.

We were admonished the other day by someone that the repetitious and frequent mention of a certain feminine person had been run into the ground. We'll admit that our would be publicity plan was of good intent but in its entirety was to personal.

Visual and vibratory conceptions of books are much more effective than merely a mental conception. Picturizations recently completed or in assemblage which will be welcomed especially by teachers and students are: Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue," Stevenson's "The Suicide Club," Halliburton's "The Royal Road to Romance," Dickens' "Oliver Twist" and Wiggins' "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Remarks relative to the unfitnes of "Taps" for Eastland High School's Official Song have been overheard. Personally we think it is more appropriate for funerals and such purposes as it was originally written. This won't have much weight as it has been fully two months since it has been played in chapel.

Pardon the above un-called for gripe. It symbolizes in a nutshell how a person feels when he has the influenza, which we have.

Here's good news for Raymond Lovett and others. Scientists state that freckles symbolize the mottled confusion of genius and that freckles are rarely found on the physical or mental weakling. We can save fifty cents by not buying that Stillman's now, can't we Raymond?

Overheard on Radio — "Herman Waldman and his orchestra will now play 'Marbles' on a phonograph record."

Jane's Jingles.

A new term now we start at school All over run by "fishmen" To mention them is now a rule Not to—an awful sin.

The other day I saw a fish That needed to be fried I fried her good—but Oh Alas! She giggled till I cried.

To think that one could be so dumb To giggle all the time

It really makes me sorry so I can hardly write this rime.

But that's not all, the little fish Are in an awful "haze" I wonder how the little things Like all these school "daze".

Another thing—a fish was once Taken for a ride He said he didn't mind it but I really think he lied.

And that is all, my children sweet About our dear (?) "fishmen" And so I'll end by saying, "Thanks—won't you call again."

OBSERVATIONS

By the EDITOR

Someone told me this story about a girl in our high school. I won't mention any names for it might be embarrassing to this particular girl. This girl had been up in the Exchange Bank building to see Dr. Caton. When she had finished she went out to the elevator and pushed the "up" button. Her friend who was with her asked her why she did this. The girl replied, "Why, I want him to come up after me." Wouldn't that floor you?

Diary of a High School Peeps: "Up betimes. Breakfast and off to school. Sat through two classes and slept in two dreary study halls. Home to lunch. Two more classes and another study hall. Home; studied and ate. Basketball game an dto bed."

We need Sherlock Holmes and Watson in our high school just now to solve that enticing mystery, "Who dropped the meter stick out the window?"

Good luck to everyone. It is rumored that Stuart Doss has started a Job club.

RAPTURE BEYOND

By Katharine Newlin Burt

It silenced Lynda on that theme. He chuckled wickedly at her heightening color and the lift of her chin. "And that's that," he said delightfully.

He put her himself into a taxicab, escorting her down through the house with its rumors of revelry and play.

She fancied that from behind one of the closed doors of the ground floor she heard Jock Ayleward's voice, cold, angry and excited. It brought back upon her oddly that light shiver of fear, of unhappiness and of regret.

At the very beginning there was this especial difference between Lynda Sandal and Jocelyn Harlowe: Lynda was without question the more open and ardent of the two. Her eyes had burned upon Nick, his home, his life, his friends with a golden flame of interest, of sympathy, of the will to understand. It was the gift which Marcella had refused and Felix Kent had not even desired to evoke.

One evening Felix questioned her. Heretofore Jocelyn had been the questioner.

"Why," he asked her, "do you look so conventional tonight?"

"Oh," said Jocelyn, realizing that she must answer. "You used to say that I didn't look as I ought to; conventional, that is."

"Tonight you do."

"That's funny."

Felix laughed a dry little laugh with secret meaning.

"I wonder whether it isn't very funny." He went over to her, sat on the arm of her chair and bent a bow over her, capturing her in one strong arm.

"Look, child, I have to be away from you for a fortnight presently."

Her heart went plunging, whether for joy or sorrow she could not for the life of her have told. "When I come back don't you think we could shorten this engagement of ours a little? I'm getting weary of convent airs. I want— and suddenly his face was dyed in deep hot color, "I want a wife."

Marcella spoke as though she were reciting from her volume.

"I can see no reason for keeping you waiting much longer Felix. I did say a four month's engagement but it seems to me you've tested each other's affections now sufficiently, have had time to draw close to each other."

The girl looked from one to the other with scared golden eyes.

"You mean you'll both go away? You'll leave me alone here for all those days before . . . before . . . ?"

Her heart beat visibly under the ivory silk across her breast.

Felix bent to her lips. Before his own fell upon them he said in a low key, "Much safer for you, my darling, to be rid of me just now." Even lower his voice dropped. "I can't wait. I can't wait." And the kiss she dreaded fell upon her lips with the anguish of a blow.

But she endured it, withdrawing into some fastness, anesthetizing her soul. All her body, however, drew itself up and back into the chair as though it had suffered pain.

She listened while Felix and Marcella discussed details. She breathed deeply, her heart at bitter, defiant labor. She was to be left alone in her ignorance of life. And then she was to be given to this man. "Oh, no," said Lynda Sandal speaking desperately to her own heart, "we shall see first. There will be a fortnight at least of liberty and of experience. Perhaps my mother is wrong. Perhaps this Felix does not understand me. Perhaps this one correct and most indulgent gentleman is not the only doorway into life and love. I have a chance to learn the truth, just a brief mad chance, and if during this fortnight I discover that my anger and my shame and my terror under the embrace of a future husband do not mean what my mother assures me that they mean," her chest lifted, a wind seemed to blow across her mind, "then I will never marry him, so help me God; not even to escape from . . . her!" To the terrible estrangement of this pronoun had Marcella driven her.

Events shaped themselves rapidly to make her quest of the truth possible. Cousin Sara came, an old woman with an ear trumpet, very active and very lame, who gadded about the city all day with a passionate enthusiasm for shopping, and went to bed at night exhausted by her own nervous activity.

So, after Felix had been gone four days—and Jocelyn rather anxiously recognized that she missed him—there came a night, Mary's night out, when Jocelyn drew from her old trunk the pleated skirt and the small dark jacket and the tam-o'-shanter and ran her fingers through her hair.

This time she found her father in

Two Women Killed When Plane Hits Mountain

Mrs. Ruth Stewart, St. Louis, and Mrs. Debbie Stanford, Toronto, two young women flying from St. Louis to New York, where they intended to attempt a flight to Buenos Aires, crashed to their death on the side of a mountain in Pennsylvania. The accident happened when they lost their bearings in the fog. Searchers came across their bodies and the wrecked plane two days later.

the outer room of the lodging, alone. He was doubled over a shabby desk and looked so queer, so almost gnomeic over his papers, with his brilliant squinting eyes, that Lynda had again that sick flash of repulsion. Perhaps he recognized it for he put both his dark distorted hands before his face an instant.

She wished to draw the poor face he had hidden against her breasts. He killed the impulse with laughter, genuine laughter that could not wound her, though it mocked.

"You wretched woman - thing," said Nick, his whole face gleaming with charm and with masculine rebellion, "get out, get away from me. I won't be mothered by you. Go on and rummage through my possessions, Eve. You may indulge your feminine curiosity at my expense but I'm blasted if I'll be the victim of your softness. Lynda, don't you fall in love with me, understand?"

"I must love you," said Lynda softly. "I must love you. You are me. I feel you in me."

"Above his papers he stared blankly for an instant. Then, "Thanks, Lynda," he said simply. "I like to be a part of your loveliness, if only for a little while. Go on now. I really have to finish this. When you come back we'll talk."

The bedroom, which contained one full-sized bed and one narrow cot against the wall, was the most untidy and unattractive Lynda had ever been allowed to enter.

On Nick's dressing table there were no photographs, no knick knacks; there were no pictures on his walls. On top of a tall chest of drawers, however, a set of clean cheap toilet articles had been neatly arranged and there was a great picture of a dog, one of those magnificent canine heads which, loyal, brave, unselfconscious, have a nobility greater than humanity's.

"Tell me about your dog, Father," was the girl's first question when after a very brief inspection she came back into the outer room. "He's such a beauty."

"It isn't my dog. It's Jock Ayleward's. The animal's dead now, I imagine. He was Jock's beast before Jock met with other beast's less beautiful. Jock keeps a sort of corner here with me."

"It's not his home, then?" "Bless the child! Home?" He clicked his tongue, his eyes laughing at her. "No, this is not his home. Look like a home to you? Jack is what you might call a bird of passage."

"A salesman?" suggested Lynda, proud of her worldly wisdom in being able to guess a business occupation for a man.

Nick chuckled. He seemed delighted with her suggestion. "Well, yes. You might have him call it that. He's a sort of hunter, too. Tonight he's after big game—against my express advice. Dangerous hunting. If I'm touchy tonight, Lynda, that's the reason. I'm not of a patient disposition. Are you?" Lynda considered this.

"I don't quite know. I think I must be. I've done nothing all my life so far but wait."

"When will you be married?"

"Tell me, shall I like being married, Father?"

"I wish you'd call me Nick."

"Oh, wouldn't that be horribly disrespectful?"

"The last thing I crave, O daughter of mine old age, is respect."

"Then—Nick . . . oh, please do answer me quickly, someone is coming up the stairs."

Nick listened, alert, rigid.

"Father, Nick, please. Before Jock Ayleward comes, Nick, shall I like being married?"

"No. Of course not, you little simpleton. It's not an institution ordained by God and man for anything so unimportant to the race as happiness. Don't let them fool you as to that. It's for your discipline, my angel. My father hath chastised you with scorpions. Don't you know the Old Testament?"

"We were not allowed to study our Bible," said Lynda white and scared. "Nick, Nick, I must be happy. I don't want to be chastised. I want not to be afraid . . . as my mother is. As my Mother is—" And at that instant first did the child know what it was in Marcella that so disturbed, so alienated her.

Nick had hastily finished his drink, had risen, was not looking at her but at his door. The step was mounting rapidly.

"Oh, that!" he threw back at her over his crooked shoulder. "I never said you had to be afraid, did I? That's just exactly the one thing you mustn't be, my girl. If Mr. Felix Kent really scares you in any profound sense of the word, quit him cold . . . It is Jock!"

The door was opened with a sort of quiet violence and Ayleward, faultlessly attired in evening dress, his hair as sleek as a screen lover's, came in, shut the door and flung a fierce arm about Sandal's shoulders.

"There, you old belly-acher, what do you say? Next time will you trust a born card handler."

As he spoke he was pulling from his pockets great handfuls of paper money which he shook before Nick's eyes and then tossed them up in the air so that they fell about the room like dead leaves. In this moment of some triumph mysterious to Lynda he had dropped the grim mask from his mobile and wild winged face. Lynda saw that he was young, ten years younger than Felix Kent, young enough to be Sandal's son.

"Jock, you fool. Here's Lynda!"

The mask snapped into place. Ayleward turned it upon Nick's visitor in startled grim fixation. He bowed and began to collect his earnings; for surely they must be, thought Lynda, some sort of earnings from his salesmanship! When he had them bundled together he added to them what was left in his clothing and put the whole great mass into a drawer which he locked. Then he turned to go.

"Take her home, will you Jock?" said Nick. "I'm done and she ought to be getting back to where she seems to belong."

But it was nearly morning when he came back to furious prowling Nick. Ayleward came in at the door then, humming a dance air with a strange dazed wistful look on his young face.

On the way to get a taxi, Lynda gripped Jock by the arm.

"I must talk to you. You must tell me about Nick."

er. Others drank and ate. But except for the music the long narrow room was very quiet and orderly.

Lynda drank the black coffee Jock had ordered for her. Jock was watching the dancers.

"Want to dance?"

In an interview, Dr. Townsend told me that he was sawbones for the Bluejays out back of Ikeshapelle. He described being on a party with my personal hero, Roul Luffberry, Big Time Ace of the Escadrille. I was just about to feel envious of Doc when I remembered that Roul had been dead three months when the Blue Jays got to France.

Harrison Thomas had to learn that all chocolate candy was not what it seemed. Lowell Snyder tells me there is a good story loose about him but I will never find it—I would look if I thought he knew a good one when he saw it.

Arl Williams complained that some old maid was forever fussing with him. I inquired the old maid's name and was shocked to hear it was Miss Nina Whitfield. That is a mistake, I am sure—seems to me that Miss Whitfield has been wearing an engagement ring about a dozen years.

Joe Weaver is back. I hope he does not mistake me for a merry-go-round. I hear some rumors about Donald Kinnard singing second tenor a few nights ago—I was not there and do not know the difference between second tenor and a syncopated burro anyhow.

Hatcher and Williams got a bunch of junk somewhere and made a folder out of it. It tore up the papers at first but has gradually been learning better manners. I guess it can be considered a success because the grease that Williams got on the back of his neck the last time he fixed it has worn white now. Miss Hale kept throwing out hints about some one cleaning her typewriter—I muffed them all, these flappers will work a man to death of you don't watch them.

Leroy Arnold was hunting ten-inch around the drug store—that is the only thing I know of that a drug store does not sell. Bill Martin says he will go to war if Uncle Sam will waive the age limit.

Postmaster Johnson is back for a long extended visit to his wife's folks—that is one way not to fell the depression. John VanGeem was postmaster while he was gone but the importance did not spoil him any—he still chews Scrap. Percy Harris has been more cheerful of late. Cicero and Ed Willman have at last agreed that Ed is the smartest of the two—I am glad that is settled. That is all the post office news.

Frank Bida says I ought not to talk about my car as lightly as I do—then Frank does not own my car. Si Perkins never says anything without considering it a dozen times first. I guess he is trying to remember whether or not he has previously told you anything that might conflict with what he is about to say.

It has been a foggy week and most people did not come to town. This hinders my observation. Julius Krause and I won a bridge session—that sure ought to be news.

French Vanilla

In France ice creams and ices of all sorts are something of a luxury. In America, if not actually a necessity, ice cream is assuredly a most commonplace commodity. It has been brought within easy reach of all.

Perhaps plentiful ice cream has its advantages, but when any article of food becomes commonplace it is somehow robbed of some of its appeal. From the French point of view the American portion of cream or ice is much too large. It should not be regarded as a mere food—mere nourishment. There should be only a morsel of it eaten as a pleasing contrast to more substantial viands. Ices and ice creams in France are very often served in little plated-silver dishes—that look exactly like very small porringers. There is one neat scoopful of the ice or cream on the dish. "Glace vanille"—vanilla ice cream—is most usually found on the bill of fare and is usually well made. Strawberry sherbet is usual enough and sometimes a vanilla ice—a very anemic sister to the more tempting "glace vanille."

If you are going to France and want to bring home an unusual little souvenir, get a set of these little metal "glace" dishes—the dishes that look like very little porringers. Then when you have friends for dinner or luncheon and want to offer an unusual touch to the serving of the sweet, you can serve some sort of sherbet or ice cream on these little French dishes.

certificate so as to get his passport. The copy was issued, and with that judgement and foresight of an immigrant jurist, he added: "My younger son may want to go to Europe some time, and as the cost is small, just give me a copy of his record too." The date was taken but it could not be found, although the judge was absolutely sure that it had been filed. The next day, a very meek voice over the telephone, said: "Doctor, my wife says my boy is a year older than I thought." And so with all due respect to the father, I am trying to say that even the parent may in after years become muddled as to an age date, and has been the case in the past year, the difference of one month in a boy's age determined whether this boy was to be tried in the Texas courts as a minor or an adult. In this case it was proven that the boy was a minor, and was tried as a minor for murder.

There was a family living on a small chican farm between Ft. Worth and Dallas. The father, an invalid, had been gassed during the war. The mother had been trying to make a living on a tiny farm of five acres. The Government paid the father $90.00 per month as a pension. Each child was entitled to $5.00 per month, but only the oldest one was getting his part. The mother tried to get the record of the other children, who were born in a Texas city, but the record had not been filed. The mother gave the name of the physician who attended at these births. A representative of the American Legion called on this doctor. What the Legion man discovered was astonishing and almost unbelievable—the doctor had not filed the births because the woman had never been able to pay him the medical fee. But then, there are doctors and doctors, and then you find another kind not heard of before. And too, doctors are careless. We all are.

There was a boy in West Texas who wanted to play football his senior year in high school. He was a big, heavy fellow, and a major position on the team would probably be given him. The rival teams were disconcerted. With this big fellow on the team, they were sure to lose. They took the birth-certificate route of putting him out of the game. A copy of his birth certificate showed the startling facts that he had celebrated his twentieth birthday on the fourth of July, before the game began, and he was ineligible to play high school football. They were frantic, but to the mother it meant more than football. She must prove that her son was a legitimate child first, considering this false certificate that had been produced. An attorney was employed, much investigation made, an old couple was found who made affidavits, as must be done in the filing of all old dates of births. The old couple did not remember the exact date, but they did remember the year and that it was in the dead of winter and the snow and ice all over the face of the earth. The State Registrar was convinced that the old couple were telling the truth.

The affidavits were attached to a corrected birth record. The son played high school football that season, but the mother loved her only boy all the more, for she had saved his name, as well as her own.

Now, how's that for a true story? These records are on file in Austin and can be seen if doubted.

This little story is written to impress the importance of seeing that your birth is recorded.—Written by Mrs. John Matthews, Registrar.

"I do," answered the teller, "That's what aroused my curiosity."

Ma—Aren't we going to let Johnny take saxophone lessons?"

Pa—Not while I own the adjoining houses.

Condemned—Have you done anything for me at all?

Lawyer—Yes indeed.

Condemned—What—commutation of sentence?

Lawyer—No. I have had the day of your execution changed from Friday to Thursday. Friday is an unlucky day you know.

"Emma" Brings Marie Dressler to Lyric Theatre

Popular Star's New Talkie Deals With Phase of Stepmother Problem

American family life, its comedies and tragedies told in intimate style, furnishes the basis for one of the most dramatic stories of the screen in "Emma," which brings Marie Dressler to the Lyric theatre for two days, Sunday and Monday, in her newest role.

The story deals with an engrossing phase of the "stepmother problem" with Miss Dressler playing the role of a devoted family servant who mothers the children of a rich inventor as though they were her own. Her subsequent transition from house-keeper to stepmother gives rise to a number of dramatic problems which reach a climax in a sensational courtroom sequence.

Dramatic Courtroom Scene

Miss Dressler, whose peerless talents in the straight dramatic field were first made apparent when she played the drunken hag in "Anna Christie," which was succeeded by her remarkable performance as the disreputable waterfront woman in "Min and Bill," is reported to have an even more forceful and stirring role in "Emma." Information is her scene in the courtroom episode is the finest piece of acting in her entire screen career.

The picture is not devoid of comedy moments and there are hilarious incidents in the family life in which moviegoers may enjoy the familiar Dressler humor. A scene in which the inventor proposes to Emma in a crowded railway station, an episode in which the star attempts to manipulate a pair of row boat oars and an incident at an airport in which Miss Dressler gets mixed up with a machine which tests for dizziness, are said to keep audiences in a constant uproar.

Frances Marion, Author

The story was written by Frances Marion, author of "Min and Bill," which won Miss Dressler the 1931 Academy award for the year's best performance by an actress, and it was directed by Clarence Brown, who directed Miss Dressler in "Anna Christie" and recently scored with "Possessed" and "A Free Soul." Richard Cromwell and Jean Hersholt head the supporting cast which also includes Myrna Loy, John Miljan, Funnell B. Pratt, Leila Bennett, Barbara Kent and Kathryn Crawford.

Old Lady (visiting prison) — Never mind, my friend, life is uncertain anyway. We are here today and gone tomorrow.

Convict 2223 — Well, lady you may be gone tomorrow but I won't.

Akron Moors Safely After Riding Storm

The U.S.S. Akron, largest of all aircraft was put through a severe test in an all-night cruise during which it encountered snow, sleet and balmy weather. After the test it successfully moored to the U.S.S. Patoka, mother-ship of the dirigible fleet. The test was made to see how the Akron would handle in weather conditions that would keep planes on the ground.

CHURCH OF GOD CHANGES SERVICES

Beginning next Sunday, February 7, the Church of God will change from its present order of morning service to what is known as the Unified plan. The established order of service in most all churches has been to have Sunday school beginning at a certain hour and closing at a certain time. Then the church service followed. Under this order of services some people go to church and do not attend Sunday school. Others attend Sunday school and do not stay for church. Besides this, there is an unnecessary duplication of worship program and loss of time. The average morning service under this plan lasts about two hours and fifteen minutes.

By the Unified plan of morning worship, we mean that there will be but one service instead of two separate services as in the past. This service will start at ten o'clock sharp—fifteen minutes later than has been common. The classes will meet in their departments and 45 minutes will be given to the study of the Sunday school lesson. Immediately following this lesson period and without any intermission, the classes will assemble for the worship program and sermon. The service will close at 11:45. By having this one service in the place of two services, and thereby eliminating one worship program, the time of the morning service is reduced to one hour forty-five minutes.

We are adopting this plan in order that all may attend Sunday school and church. We believe the public will appreciate this order of service and we will be delighted to see you present at ten o'clock next Sunday morning. Children's services for the Junior and Primary classes will be conducted following the Sunday school lesson in the church building across ### the street. Miss Luella Warren has charge of the Junior church services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Love" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, January 31.
The golden text was from II Corinthians 13:11. "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you."
Passages from the Scriptures included the following from Romans 13:10: "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law."
Included in the service was also the following from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 57):
"Love enriches the nature, enlarging, purifying, and elevating it. The wintry blasts of earth may uproot the flowers of affection, and scatter them to the winds; but this severance of fleshly ties serves to unite thought more closely to God, for Love, supports the struggling heart until it ceases to sigh over the world and begins to unfold its wings for heaven."

SPECIAL QUARTET SINGS AT 9:49 CLASS

A quartet composed of J. M. Knox, A. E. Herring, B. M. Collie and Edmond Meredith of Ranger, sang two numbers at the Sunday morning meeting of the 9:49 Men's Bible Class.
The song service, led by Frank Pierce and A. E. Herring, was accompanied by Mrs. W. T. Root at the piano and Misses Drago, Hart and Lindsley, violinists. The class voted to buy more song books.

Announcement was made of a special patriotic program that is being arranged to be observed on the occasion of Washington's birthday. Special music and talks will be features of the program.
The subject of Judge Hickman's lecture was Christ's feeding of the multitude.

Those present were G. H. Kinard, A. L. Agate, G. L. Maynard, M. L. Keasler, L. W. Ferguson, J. A. Wattan, Jno. W. Turner, R. C. Ruffner, V. T. Seaberry, Virgil T. Seaberry, J. W.
