EASTLAND

By JOE THOMAS COOK

Tuesday of this week Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, cast his fourteenth presidential ballot. He cast his first vote for president when Garfield was elected in 1880. The Doctor was 21 years old on February 13 preceding election day in November. Out of these fourteen votes, which have covered a period of two years more than half a century, the venerable Doctor won nine and lost five. He lost two votes when Cleveland was elected for his first and second administrations, two more on Wilson and his fifth on Roosevelt. In other words the Democrats have been in power only 16 years since Dr. Tanner cast his first vote in 1880.

The Doctor, who was born in the North and reared a Republican, smiled this week when he told the Eastlander that his grandson, Karl Tanner, voted a straight Democratic ticket. "Well, I suppose we old people will have to withdraw and leave politics to the younger generation," he chuckled.

The Eastland Mavericks will have their backs to the wall with everything to win when they meet the Ranger Bulldogs. If the Mavericks win this game they will have almost an equal chance with the other teams in this district to win the district championship, but if they lose they will be all washed up as far as this football season is concerned.

Despite the fact the team was in the worst condition of the season before the Breckenridge game, they outplayed the Buckaroos during the first half, but weakened during the second half to let the Buckaroos win. Last week they were in much better condition and with a little boosting from Eastland fans they clearly outclassed the flashy Vernon Lions here last Friday.

This week the team is in almost perfect condition with the exception of Allison, star center, and the players are in the right spirit to win. And they will if the people of this town will let them know that they still have faith in the team.

Citizens of Eastland will be called upon this week to purchase membership in the Red Cross, as the roll call is started here next Monday. No one with average intelligence needs to have the importance of this organization explained to him. It is perhaps the greatest service organization to humanity throughout the world that has ever been known. The recent disaster in Porto Rico is only one of the million examples of the service of the Red Cross.

Since last April Eastland has been receiving its share of the Red Cross flour which is being distributed to the unemployed and needy. Within the past two weeks about 1800 yards of Red Cross cloth has been distributed in Eastland. The Red Cross is worthy of the support of every citizen in Eastland. Let us try to answer the roll call.

Old Clothes Drive Planned by Clubs

The Rotary and Lions Clubs at their weekly luncheon meetings next Monday and Tuesday will make plans for the annual old clothes drive for Eastland. These drives have been conducted in previous years and have proved successful. Citizens from time to time bring old clothes to the Chamber of Commerce to be distributed to the needy, but it is thought that a concentrated campaign should be conducted again this year to supplement the work of the Red Cross in their distribution of cloth and flour.

John Burke, manager of the Lyric Theater, has volunteered to cooperate with leaders in this drive by showing "Daddy Long Legs" Saturday, November 19, and charging a bundle of old clothes for admission. This was done last year and it met with response from the citizenship of Eastland.

COUNCIL TO MEET

The County Home Demonstration Council will meet Saturday of this week at 2 o'clock in the county courtroom, Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, announced Thursday.

Business Men Meet With Gas Company Officials to Discuss Local Problems

A group of approximately forty business men met with officials of the Lone Star Gas Company and the Community Natural Gas Company in the roof garden of the Connellee Hotel Wednesday night in an informal meeting to discuss problems confronting Eastland and the two companies.

Among the visitors present were F. L. Chase, vice president of the Lone Star company; Chester L. May, vice president of Community; F. L. Carmichael, superintendent of distribution of Community; E. F. Schmidt, general superintendent of Lone Star; and J. L. Foster, chief engineer of Lone Star. They were introduced by Mr. May.

Other speakers were Judge C. L. Garrett, Samuel Butler, John Turner, Dr. H. B. Tanner, C. J. Rhodes, Frank V. Williams, George Harper, and Earl Democratic Sweep Elects Roosevelt President of U. S.

An unexpected Democratic sweep over the United States placed Franklin D. Roosevelt in the president's chair, gave the Democrats majorities in both houses of the National Congress, and elected Democrat governors in a majority of the states.

In an unprecedented landslide of Democratic votes Roosevelt received 472 of the total 531 electoral votes, while Hoover received the remaining 59. This was a greater political reversal than in 1928 when Hoover received 444 electoral votes to about 87 for Alfred E. Smith. Every state west of the Alleghenies voted against the return of Hoover, including Iowa, the state of his birth, and California, the state of his residence.

Democratic votes in Texas Thursday had given Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson almost 100,000 majority over her Republican opponent, Orville Bullington, for governor of this state. Returns from 179 counties of the 254 showed that Mrs. Ferguson had polled 256,398 votes while Bullington had received 162,823. The presidential popular vote in this state stood: Roosevelt 346,587, Hoover, 47,220.

Indication were Thursday that the nine proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution would be adopted, since the vote on most of them was about 60,000 or 70,000 to 20,000 or 30,000 against. The homestead tax exemption amendment received the largest majority so far with a vote of 88,084 for and 22,934 against.

Advertising Notice Issued by R. M. A.

A special notice was issued this week by the Retail Merchants Association that the members of that association will not support any sort of advertising project which has not been approved by the advertising committee of the association.

The notice as issued by the association follows:

"Notice is hereby given that the members of the Eastland Retail Merchants Association will not support any kind of advertising, sponsored by any person or persons, clubs, societies, associations, etc., unless such person, club, society, or association has first secured a letter of approval stating that the advertising committee of the Retail Merchants Association has investigated the proposition and has found it to be legitimate advertising.

"This is for the protection of the merchants of Eastland against various forms of 'gyp' advertising that the merchants are asked to support from time to time.

"To secure a letter of approval, all that is necessary is to present your proposition to the secretary of the Retail Merchants Association. This will be presented to the advertising committee, and if they see fit to endorse the proposition, you will be furnished with a letter from the secretary.

"This is not meant to hinder any good cause, but is strictly for the protection of the merchants of Eastland."

Alpine — Bids called for quarters for local post office.

Bender. Mr. Bender introduced the Eastland business men, stating the business of each.

Carl P. Springer acted as chairman of the meeting, opening with a welcome address to the visitors. Mr. Chase responded, and at intervals during the meeting advanced encouraging thoughts concerning the welfare of the companies and the community.

Better Understanding. The meeting developed a better understanding on the part of both groups, according to those present, and a feeling as expressed by the visitors that they were a part of the city and were interested in its problems, recognizing their duty to the community.

The citizens emphasized the value to the community of the high type men employed here by the companies, especially Frank V. Williams, local manager for the Community Natural Gas Company, and Sam Gamble, manager of the Lone Star Gas Company, both men being active in service clubs, churches, and other civic movements for the betterment of the town.

Mr. Williams made an appeal for Eastland, his home town, stating among other things that his home is here, he is spending his money here, and that if the company contemplates further expenditures any place in this section, Eastland would appreciate its consideration and investigation.

Taylor Speaks On Public Schools at Education Dinner

Speaking as a practical school man and one who knows something of his subject, Dr. Tom Taylor, president of Howard Payne College at Brownwood, stood before an audience of some 125 Lions, Rotarians, and their visitors Monday evening and told them something of what the public schools of the nation have done for the nation as a whole, and especially the schools of Texas and what they have done for the state, and then what the schools are facing during the "present strenuous times." Because of the exemptions of small homesteads from taxation by reason of the amendment voted on at the last Tuesday election and which Dr. Taylor conceded would pass, he stated that many school districts would face bankruptcy unless the coming regular session of the Legislature passed tax measures that would replace the funds that would be taken away because of the homestead exemption law.

The regular meeting of the Rotary Club on Monday and of the Lion Club on Tuesday were dispensed with this week and the cooperative meeting held Monday night at the roof garden of the Connellee Hotel, and the special Education Week program arranged for the occasion. County Superintendent

Eastland County Livestock Association Organized at Meeting Here Monday

The final organization of the Eastland County Livestock Association was perfected Monday of this week at a meeting of stockraisers held in the county courtroom in connection with the first Monday Trades Day program.

Rufus Cox of Rising Star was elected president of the association at the meeting. Guy Stoker, Eastland Route 2, was chosen vice-president, and H. C. Davis, secretary-treasurer of the Eastland Retail Merchants Association was elected secretary.

The directors of the association as named at the organization meeting are as follows: Till Wheat, Ranger, Route 2; John Nix, Eastland, Route 2; John Weddington, Cisco; Green Wright, Eastland; B. L. Eargis, Eastland; Kid Mosley, Ranger, Route 4; Dr. Bob Hodges, Ranger; John Berry, Morton Valley; and Frank Castleberry, Eastland.

The purpose of the association is to promote and encourage the breeding and raising of better livestock in this county. The association was organized for the benefit of all the farmers and stockraisers in this county, and men from almost every town in

10 Per Cent Cut In City Salaries Made By City Commission

A 10 per cent reduction in the salaries of all the employees of the City of Eastland was made by the City Commission Monday in an effort to bring the expenditures of the general operating fund within the newly adopted budget.

A proportionate retrenchment will be made in the other expenses of the city. The operating expense of the city this past fiscal year was approximately $25,000, and the budget for the present fiscal year allows only $20,000 for these expenses, City Manager Marlow told the commission at its semi-monthly meeting. Upon the suggestion of the city manager the commission voted a 10 per cent reduction in salaries and a proportionate reduction in all other city expenses.

The salaries of the employees in the water and sewer department will total $340 per month under the new arrangement, and the other salaries, including those of city manager, the city police, firemen, and office assistants, will amount to $1050 per month under the new budget. In addition the city manager dispensed with both the sexton at the cemetery and the mosquito control man.

C. of C. Requests Money.

C. J. Rhodes, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary; and J. E. Lewis appeared before the commission asking for a larger appropriation for that organization for this year. No action was taken by the commission on the request. An appropriation of $75 per month is now made by the city to the Chamber of Commerce to help finance its work.

Several citizens presented delinquent tax cases to the commission for adjustment at the meeting Monday. Commissioners present were Alex Clark, chairman, Neil A. Moore, and Morris Keasler. City Manager Marlow was also in attendance.

143 Families Share In Red Cross Cloth

More than 140 families had been clothed at the Red Cross workrooms in the Chamber of Commerce here by Wednesday afternoon, 1804 yards of cotton materials having been given away. Only a small part of the garments have been made for the recipients. Old clothing that has been donated to the Chamber of Commerce is also being distributed.

The work is under the supervision of Mrs. W. E. Stallter, and is carried on through the assistance of women of the various clubs and church organizations of the town. The work will be suspended Friday on account of the holiday, but will be resumed Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Stallter said.

Eastland Mavericks Meet Ranger Team In Crucial Contest

The Eastland Mavericks are prepared really to "shoot the works" in the most crucial game of their schedule with the Ranger Bulldogs at Lillard Field at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The team, with the exception of Allison, star center, is in the best physical condition that it has been in so far this season. The plague of boils, which so handicapped the team in its game with the Breckenridge Buckaroos, has almost been cleared up. Allison is still suffering from painful boils on his arm and he may not be able to play all the game.

Jack Heath, brilliant defense star at guard, will be in condition to play this afternoon for the first time since the Breckenridge game, in which he received a right knee injury. Likewise John Garrison, who has been marked by his punting and ability in

Eastland County Granted $32,000 For Work Relief

Eastland County has been granted $32,000 for unemployment relief for the months of November and December, according to the local relief work committee of which Milburn McCarthy is chairman. The county requested an allotment of $40,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation several weeks ago. The entire state of Texas through the three regional chambers of commerce requested $1,400,000 from the corporation, which is handling this money for the government, and the RFC made an appropriation of $795,369 for this state.

Members of the local committee, which is composed of Milburn McCarthy, chairman, W. C. Marlow, Alex Clark, C. J. Rhodes, and Dr. H. B. Tanner, were scheduled to make a trip to Wichita Falls last Wednesday to receive the money and receive instructions for the use of it, but this

Red Cross Roll Call Will Start Monday

The annual roll call of the Red Cross will be started Monday in Eastland and Eastland County, George Brogden and Dr. H. B. Tanner, Red Cross committeemen of this county, announced this week.

The membership drive will last only one week, ending next Saturday. The quota for Eastland County has been set at $1500, and it is likely that the quota for Eastland will be approximately $500, since $525 was raised in this city last year.

The membership fee in the organization is $1, of which 50 cents will be sent to national headquarters and 50 cents retained by the county organization. Many people contribute as much as $10 and $25 each year and all except 50 cents of each membership fee is retained in this county.

Local theaters are cooperating with the local organization in giving publicity to the roll call. The Lyric Theater managed by John Burke ran a movie short the early part of this week and the Connellee Theater managed by George Belcher ran the same film the latter part of this week.

Eastland People Leave for Camp

A party composed of Dr. J. H. Caton, C. A. Peterson, J. Wright Ligon of Cisco, son of Mrs. C. S. Ligon of this city, and Sam Williamson is leaving today for Camp Allison, 36 miles east of Sonora, where the party will camp, hunt and fish for two weeks.

The group will be joined by Dr. S. R. Parks of Dallas and his father, S. R. Parks, Sr. Next week at the opening of deer season Ted Ferguson, Fred D. Maxey, and Dr. W. E. Chaney will leave Eastland to join them for the remainder of the trip.

Members of the party will spend their time fishing and hunting turkeys, squirrels, and deer. This is the tenth annual trip that Dr. Caton has made to Camp Allison, always going about Armistice Day and returning a day or two before Thanksgiving.

ANSWER FIRE CALL

The Eastland Fire Department made a run about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning to Lynch apartments on West Commerce. The fire was quickly extinguished before any damage was done.

Reserved seat tickets for the Maverick-Bulldog game this afternoon can be purchased at the Corner, Beaty, Eastland and Toombs and Richardson drug stores until 10 o'clock this morning. The tickets are being sold at 50 cents.

handling the safety position, will be back in his half position ready for the Bulldog fray.

The team has had a more successful week of practice than for any previous game this season with Coaches Gibson and Brothers stressing blocking and tackling.

The Bulldogs will be handicapped with minor injuries which will not keep any of the players out of the game and also from lack of sufficient reserve material. The probable starting line-up for the Bulldogs will be Bray and Britt, ends; Standard and Adkins, tackles; Love and Williams, guards; John Bray, center; "Rabbit" Jones, quarter; Lyon and Anderson, halves; and J. L. Jones, full.

Record Crowd Sees Rodeo Here Monday

A record-breaking crowd attended the Trades Day rodeo here last Monday as a part of the first Monday entertainment. The events were held at the new rodeo grounds on North Seaman street, and were under the supervision of Carl Johnson, Ira L. Hanna, Sid Pitzer, J. O. Earnest and H. C. Davis, members of the entertainment committee.

The winners in the goat-roping contest are as follows: McCaugh, first; Graham, second; and Basham, third.

In the horse race Ronie Boy owned by Jack Tindall and ridden by Archie Horton took first place, Blue Baby ridden by Daus Fulcher was second, and Firefly owned by Hensley and ridden by Robinson won third place.

Some of the contestants in the bronc riding contest were Homer Squires, Bill Wilson, Dublin, Johnny Chancellor, "Wild Bill," and Jasper Phelps.

Merchants Close Stores Armistice

"Practically all business firms of Eastland will be closed Friday, November 11, Armistice Day. Drug stores will be closed from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m."

This is a statement issued this week from the office of the secretary of the Eastland Retail Merchants Association. It has been the custom during past years for the merchants to close their stores on Armistice Day.

This holiday will allow merchants and their employees to attend the Maverick-Bulldog football game in Ranger in the afternoon of Armistice Day.

Ladies of Church Plan Contest

Mrs. Mallaqua Taylor was hostess Monday afternoon to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church. A short business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. M. C. Hayes, during which a membership contest was arranged. Mrs. G. S. Stire, Mrs. Chester Geue, and Mrs. W. J. Peters were appointed as the contest committee. Mrs. Geue and Mrs. Mary Stire were received as new members. The devotional was conducted by Miss Mabel Hart. Two book reviews on Julia Peterkin's "Scarlet Sister Mary" and "Bright Skin" were given by Mrs. Geue. Light refreshments were served to Mes. Herron, Sone, Mary Stire, G. S. Stire, Smith, Peters, Pangburn, Horton, Hayes, Elder, Arnold, Taylor, Miss Mabel Hart, and two visitors, Mrs. Lebaugh and Mrs. Kilborn. The auxiliary will hold its next meeting Monday, November 21.

Shearer Attending Annual Conference

The Rev. George W. Shearer, for four years pastor of the Eastland Methodist Church, left Tuesday to attend the annual conference of Central Texas Methodists, now in session at Waco. Rev. Shearer was recently appointed presiding elder of the Cisco district to succeed the late Dr. Cullom H. Booth, who resigned his position several weeks before his death. It is said that Rev. Shearer will either be re-appointed to continue his work in this district or be transferred as presiding elder elsewhere. Appointments will be made at the conference Sunday, after which time Eastland Methodists will be notified as to the identity of their new pastor.

Mrs. Beard Hostess to Christian WMS

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Christian Church met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Beard for a program on the subject, "The Jesus Road." "All Hail the Power" was sung as the opening song, followed by a prayer by Mrs. C. A. Peterson, president of the society. During a short business meeting, Mrs. J. S. Rawson was appointed to help receive subscriptions to the "World Call." The resignation of Mrs. D. J. Fiensy as reporter was accepted, and Mrs. Grady Owen was appointed to succeed her. Devotional was led by Mrs. Fiensy, assisted by Mrs. Homer Meek, who read the scripture lesson, "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" was sung, the Lord's prayer repeated in unison, and "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations," was sung. Three papers on "A New Day for the Indians" were read by Mrs. W. B. Dukes, Mrs. J. H. Caton, and Mrs. K. F. Page, program leader. "A Visit to Haskell" was brought by Mrs. Jim Gilbreath. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Miss Wilma Beard, in serving a plate of tuna fish salad, olives, cookies, coffee and mints to the following: Mes. M. L. Smitham, Jim Gilbreath, Harry King, Will Wood, Ernest Wood, T. L. Cooper, K. F. Page, Homer Meek, C. A. Peterson, W. B. Dukes, E. R. Johnston, D. J. Fiensy, Jimmie Watson, J. H. Caton, and Grady Owen. The next meeting of the society will be held Monday, December 5, at the home of Mrs. Owen. Mrs. Will Wood has been appointed program leader.

LIPSEY CHOSEN PASTOR

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 6. Included with other passages read from the Bible was the following from Luke: 13, "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her; and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God." The lesson-sermon also included citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; among these was the following: "When speaking of God's children, not the children of men, Jesus said, 'The kingdom of God is within you; that is, Truth and Love reign in the real man, showing that man in God's image is unfallen and eternal. Jesus beheld in science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick. Thus Jesus taught that the kingdom of God is intact, universal, and that man is pure and holy' (p 476)."

Class Continues
Bible Study

The Church of Christ Bible Class met Monday afternoon at the church for a lesson on "The Continuation of Christ's Ministry." Mrs. Lorette Herring, teacher of the class, led the discussion. "The Old Rugged Cross" was led by Mrs. Hoyt Davis, and Mrs. J. R. Crossley and Mrs. Guy Sherrill led in prayer. Those present were: Mes. Wiegand, Hanna, Boles, Reed, Sherrill, Herring, Reagan, Crossley, Miller, Kellett, Lawrence, Wood, Fehl, Downtain, Everett, Davis and Graham.

ATTENTION, BAPTISTS OF COUNTY

For the first time in the history of the Cisco Baptist Association, a car is being loaded for Buckner's Orphan Home. It makes only two stops in Eastland County, Cisco, Monday, November 21, and Ranger, Tuesday, November 22. An earnest appeal is made to every Baptist home to begin to assemble such things as clothing, and any kind of food for man or beast, corn, potatoes, onions, canned goods, etc., and bring it in. Baptists of Eastland and surrounding territory, if you want some one to call for your donation, get in touch with the Rev. O. B. Darby or Mrs. J. B. Overton, benevolence chairman. It takes a great deal to fill a car; do your part that it may not go half-filled. Seven hundred and fifty orphans are depending upon you.—Mrs. W. D. R. Owen, Reporter.

Burr Employees Are Entertained

Employees of the local L. C. Burr store were entertained Monday night with a theater party, following a lunch at the home of Miss Thelma Woods. A weiner roast had been planned, but was prevented by bad weather. The guests gathered at the home of Miss Woods, and spread their lunch, later attending a show. Employees and their guests attending were: Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Lippard, Miss Thelma Woods, Howard Gaston, Miss Elizabeth Davenport, William Leslie, George Sprague, and Miss Clara Mae Jones. County Superintendent B. E. McLamery and the Rev. D. P. Gillis left Wednesday for Waco to attend the annual Central Texas Methodist Conference.

Cape and Muff Set

This separate cape and muff set is the newest thing in fur accessories. Where once a fur scarf was thought of only to wear with a wool street dress or a furless coat, now one may choose a shoulder-fitting cape or a tiny muff to match. Gray Persian lamb is the fur used in this practical set.—Woman's Home Companion.

Armistice Program
Plans Announced

The Hon. James G. Harrell of Breckenridge will deliver the principal address at the Armistice Day program to be given at the Men's 9:49 Bible Class Sunday, November 13. The Morning Tower Bible Class of Breckenridge and a number of members of the Breckenridge Methodist Church will be guests of the local class. The following program will be given:

- "America," congregation.
- Invocation, Judge W. P. Leslie.
- Welcome address, Dr. H. B. Tanner.
- Response, Mr. C. W. Newby of Breckenridge.
- Vocal solo, Mrs. John C. Ward of Breckenridge.
- War songs (selected).
- Armistice address, Hon. James G. Harrell of Breckenridge.
- Vocal solo, Mr. John Z. Martin of Breckenridge.
- Violin solo, Miss Wilda Drago.
- Scripture lesson, Judge J. E. Hickman.

Arrangements for the program were announced at last Sunday's meeting, when 93 members and visitors were present. Judge Hickman read the nine amendments to the state constitution, and called for comments and discussions. Frank Pierce led a special song service, with Mrs. T. J. Haley at the piano and Miss Wilda Drago and her violinists accompanying.

Baptist WMS Holds Business Meeting

The Baptist Woman's Missionary society held its monthly business meeting at the church Monday afternoon, when reports from the various officers and chairmen were heard. The program was opened with the song, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," followed with a prayer by Mrs. W. H. Munton. The devotional on "Stewardship" was led by Mrs. W. D. R. Owen. The following recommendations were adopted: first, that a yearbook be adopted; and second, that the Bible be studied in the circle meetings. Reports from the following were heard: treasurer, Mrs. Ghent Sanderford; benevolence chairman, Mrs. G. Overton; missions chairman, Mrs. Marvin Hood; periodical chairmen; stewardship chairman; all circle chairmen; and personal service chairman, Mrs. Frank V. Williams. The car of supplies to be sent to Buckner's Orphan Home was discussed. The meeting was closed with prayer.

West Ward P.-T. A.
Sponsoring Show

The West Ward Parent-Teacher's Association will sponsor a magician's performance to be given in the high school auditorium Tuesday night, November 15, at 7:45 o'clock. The association has secured the services of Laurant, said to be one of the twelve real magicians of the world, Mrs. David S. Eubanks, president, announced this week. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil T. WITH KID GLOVES

By PAUL HAWK

"The day you're married," Mr. Vance said genially, "is the day I make you General Manager of the factory—and give you half interest. Think you two can live on that?"

Nanette looked at Hal, but she could see no signs of elation. Hal kept his eyes studiously on his plate. So she said nothing.

"And you can't make it too soon to suit me!" Mr. Vance continued. "Your mother and I are rather taken up with our daughter-in-law-to-be. We want to see you two settled."

Hal grimaced unconsciously. "Settled is right," he blurted sarcastically.

It was so unlike Hal that Nanette looked up, startled. Apparently the older people were unaware of any tension in the air, but there was a little perplexed frown on Nanette's face during the rest of the meal. And after dinner, when she and Hal were driving on their favorite road towards the lake, she was thoughtfully silent. Hal maintained a moody silence too, and the first blot had appeared on their happiness.

The sun was but half a sun when Hal stopped the car. It's gold and red rays cast a roseate glow that made a shimmering pathway over the water straight to them, softening the landscape about them. It was their favorite hour, but they sat silent.

Despite the cheerful light on Hal's face, it had an expression mixed of wistfulness and discontent that gave Nan a little twinge of pain, as if a sensitive nerve were touched with a hot needle. Her mind began probing alertly into the past.

How often had she seen Hal look longingly at the horizon—as he was doing now—and say "I wonder what's happening over there?"

Nan realized with a start that one of the first things that had attracted her to him had been his eager, searching curiosity about people and things, his unwillingness to have his horizon bounded by the walls of his father's factory, or by the city limits of New Knoxville. She knew he enjoyed working in the factory, but—She wondered if he realized how much that did mean to him?

"Look at that heron—see it?" Hal said suddenly, and they drew close together and watched the leisurely sweep of its wings, and Hal was himself once more.

But Nanette had caught a glimpse of something that made her very uneasy. Hence, a week later, she was not surprised when Mr. Vance called and asked if she could come over to the Vance home.

There Mr. Vance fixed her with his piercing gaze. "Can you stand a shock?" he asked bluntly.

Nan looked at him and then at Mrs. Vance sitting quietly at the window. "Why, yes," she said.

"Van has bought a passage to Europe! I happened to overhear—"

Nan was prepared; and yet the actual, precise words were a distinct shock. "Yes—I know," she said faintly.

Mrs. Vance looked up and studied her intently. Mr. Vance was surprised. He crossed and put his hand on her shoulder.

"You can stop this nonsense," Nan. Everybody gets cold feet just before a wedding. And at heart Van wouldn't hurt anybody—least of all you whom he loves. You talk to him. Tell him right out he's got to marry you—at once. He will. He's usually sensible."

"Yes—he would," Nan said apathetically.

"It's up to you," Mr. Vance pursued. "I can't do anything to him! You can't do anything with him. I—I talked to him."

Nan was silent.

Mr. Vance went on. "He's got the wanderlust. Afraid he'll settle into a rut. All sorts of nonsense. Why, he's been perfectly content and interested in the factory. Bring him to his senses."

"Don't tell Hal about this—talk, will you?" Nan begged.

She sat dumbly in the chair after Mr. Vance had gone. Mrs. Vance sauntered over and sat down opposite Nan.

"Aren't men and boys funny?" she remarked casually. "Always the same. Yet they are harmless if handled with gloves."

Nan's eyes filled. "It's not a very easy decision, is it? If I keep him, he'll always feel like I tied him down. If I do nothing, he'll go, and I'll lose him."

Mrs. Vance patted the chair arm absently. "You know, once when Hal was little he got the idea he wanted to run away." She chuckled reminiscently. "Warned his father. Mr. Vance threatened to send the police after him if he did." She pased. "It only made him more determined."

Mrs. Vance was seeing these events of long ago. Nan waited.

"I—I called him in and taked to him as if I were interested in seeing him travel." She laughed. "I even gave him fifty dollars out of my own bank account and told him to be good while he was gone . . . He came back in two days . . . He really isn't the rolling-stone type."

Mrs. Vance stood up and held out her hand. "You do love him, don't you?"

Three days later Mr. Vance called Nan again. "He's going today. But I removed his passport and tickets from his luggage. He'll not miss them 'til it's too late."

Nan went at once to his office. "Give them to me," she said.

As the train rolled in, Nan stepped from behind a pillar and hailed Hal. She forced her brightest smile. "I almost didn't make it," she told him lightly. "But you will need these."

She held out the ticket and passport. "Your father," she explained.

A variety of emotions chased each other across Hal's countenance. "But how—what—" he stammered.

"You better get on the train," Nan told him. "Your father may be here to head you off any minute."

"But—you don't care?" Hal blurted in amazement.

Nan laughed lightly. "I'm helping you elope, aren't I?" she pointed out.

The train started moving before Hal could speak. He still stared perplexedly—almost fearfully—at her.

Laughing, Nan gave him a shove. Like one in a trance, Hal climbed on the train, still looking dumbly at her.

Nan blew him a kiss, hoping he couldn't tell her eyes were blinded by tears. Then she went to the phone.

"Mrs. Vance? I tried—the kid gloves," she said simply.

"My dear, you come and stay with me a while."

Nan wandered aimlessly about in Hal's room. She touched objects here and there. She felt like a martyr—and she didn't like being a martyr, for with the passing of each sixty-two

Pecan Association Plans Show to be Held In Rising Star

Rising Star, Nov. 10.—Those attending the two-day program and pecan show of the West Texas Pecan Association at Rising Star November 18 and 19 will be shown true western hospitality since the entire citizenship has joined hands in planning the reception and entertainment of visitors. The goat barbecue at noon of the opening day and the banquet that night demonstrating the table use of pecans are among the features being planned to supplement the show and pecan program. All those interested in the pecan industry are invited to attend.

Probably the outstanding feature of the first morning will be the talk by Bill Millican on "Personal Opinions of Some Pecan Growers" followed by a rejoinder from his running mate, Frank Moore. These two cowboys turned pecan growers are simply good, so be sure to hear them. Dad Burkett of Texas Department of Agriculture will make nutty remarks and Commissioner of Agriculture, J. E. McDonald, will also appear on the platform. H. G. Lucas, president of the National Pecan Marketing Association will discuss pecan distribution. Jimmie Roseborough, horticulturist of the A. and M. Extension Service who does the judging of the pecan show will tell how it is done and Miss Sallie Hill, a district home demonstration agent has agreed to discuss pecans in the diet. Dr. Smith of the U. S. Pecan Laboratory in Austin is to tell what varieties of pecans minutes since he had gone, the lump in her heart had grown heavier. Still, she had done right. Better this than to have him look on her as a jailor. Perhaps—same day—

Nan saw through the film of tears a picture of Hal on the dresser. She walked over and picked it up. The image moved! Nan laughed hysterically. Seeing things already! It was so soon!

Then she saw she really held a mirror.

Slowly she turned around. Hal made one leap and caught her in his arms. "I got off at the edge of town, but a traffic jam held me up," he explained breathlessly. "Always do when you're in a hurry. And I was—because we're being married as soon as we can find a 'knot-tie'."

to plant for the maximum polonizations. Tips on the identification of pecan budwood illustrated with some twenty specimens will be among the many subjects to be thoroughly exhausted in the two-day program.

Cash Premiums Offered.

Registration begins at 11:00 a. m. Friday, November 18, in the exhibit building.

Small cash premiums are offered on the various varieties of Western and Eastern pecans as well as native seedlings and walnuts all shown in quarts. Parcel post shipments of exhibits may be made to E. M. Howard,

West Texas Pecan Show, Rising Star. Jars will be provided for mailed exhibits. Exhibitors of seedlings are urged to send two pounds of each sample in order that one quart may be sent to the A. and M. College for careful testing in the hopes of finding new varieties worthy of propagation. Exhibits are also to be selected for the Texas Pecan Exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

Eastland county pecan growers are urged by County Agent Patterson to take an active part in this show and the meetings. There should be a large group of visitors from outside the county and we should convince them by our presence and exhibits that we are awake to pecan situation and eager to help in every way possible protect and foster the industry.

REDUCES FEED COST

Anson — Sudan and small grain pasture for his 8 dairy cows has kept the feed cost of producing one pound of butterfat down to 4 cents per pound during the last 11 months, reports E. H. Childress of Avoca, Jones county, to the county agent. His profit above feed cost for this time has been $454.77.

WORTHY OF SUPPORT

An organization recently formed in this county which is worthy of the support of this town and the county as a whole is the Eastland County Livestock Association, which was organized Monday of this week, after several preliminary meetings had been held to discuss the possibilities of such an association.

The purpose of the association is to stimulate and encourage the breeding and raising of better livestock throughout this county. Eastland county already ranks high in the state as a rabbit-raising county and it is the purpose of the association to raise the level of all the livestock raised in this county. Although it does not now rank high as a stock-raising territory, this county can within a few years receive recognition for the superior grade of stock raised and exported, if the farmers and stockraisers will cooperate with the new association in the observance of rules relating to breeding and care of their stock.

It is not the goal of the association especially to produce great numbers of livestock as it is to produce a superior grade of livestock which will bring prestige to the county. The association intends to show the stockraiser that in the long run it is cheaper to raise registered stock than it is unregistered.

At the meeting Monday of this week several members of the association commented on the fact that no Eastland merchants were present at the meeting. The association expects the support and interest of the merchants of this town and it is justly entitled to it. Let's attend their next meeting to be held December 3.

Farm, Home Hour Program Listed

Special programs from the meetings of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities and of the American Society of Agronomy will be features of the Department of Agriculture periods of the National Farm and Home Hour for the week beginning Monday, November 14.

The land grant college program on Wednesday, November 16, will bring to the microphone leading agricultural educators and scientists attending the meeting of the association in Washington and the agronomists' society program on Friday, November 18, will bring reports from leading agronomists of the Nation, including Doctors P. E. Brown, Iowa State College, J. G. Lipman, Rutgers University, H. K. Hayes, University of Minnesota, and C. W. Warburton, U. S. Department of Agriculture, on recent results of agronomic research and extension work.

Economic reports for radio listeners during the week include those on cattle and lamb feeding situations, the price situation, and the trend on dairy production. Dr. Henry G. Knight, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, on Monday, November 14, will report recent results of chemical research on production and storage of hay.

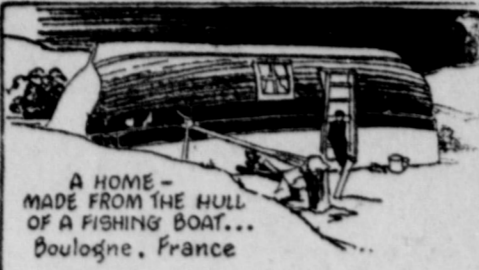

The program for the week follows: Monday, November 14—"November Cattle Markets," C. V. Whalin, Bureau of Agricultural Economics; "November Sheep Markets," C. L. Harlan, Bureau of Agricultural Economics; "Science Serves Producers and Users of Hay," H. G. Knight, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils.

Mavericks Find Themselves to Drive Through Vernon Lions By 6-0 Score

By JOE THOMAS COOK

Smarting from defeat at the hands of the Breckenridge Buckaroos week before last, the Eastland Mavericks last Friday drove through to a 6-0 victory over the Vernon Lions, the leading contenders of District 5. The Mavericks were the first team to cross Vernon's goal line this year.

Playing in a drizzling rain which broke into a downpour during the second half, neither team was able to show anything except straight football. Only three or four passes were attempted during the game and most of them were intercepted or incomplete.

The Mavericks clearly outplayed the visitors throughout the game, but occasionally the Lions would flash a brilliant offensive threat which showed the reason why they are ranking so high in their district, having defeated the strong teams of both Wichita Falls and Childress.

Daniels' Punting Good. After fighting on more or less even terms during the first quarter with the punting of Daniels keeping the Maverick goal line safe, the Mavericks launched an offensive which gave them the winning touchdown of the fray. About the middle of the second quarter Burgamy returned a punt from the 50-yard line to the 30. On the next play co-captain Ed Mackall broke through the center of the line of scrimmage and with excellent interference weaved his way through a maze of tacklers to the goal line. The try for extra point failed and the score stood at 6-to-0 throughout the game.

The principal scoring threat of the Lions also came in the second quarter. Miller received the kick-off after the Maverick touchdown and ran it back about 25 yards. Captain Thompson made several good gains on end runs, got away for a 30-yard gain which placed the ball in scoring position. The Maverick line held the next few plays, and Daniels knocked down a Lion pass to end their scoring threat.

The playing of Garner, 130-pound race horse for the Lions, featured the second half. Most of his gains were short but occasionally he would break through for a 20 or 30-yard gain. The Maverick line would always bolster and hold, however, when the Lions would come within scoring distance, and the long punts of Daniels stood out as perhaps the difference between victory and defeat for the Mavericks.

Gun Prevents Touchdown. The Mavericks advanced to the 10-yard line during the second half but were held for downs. A fumbled punt by Garner gave the Mavericks possession of the ball in the shadow of the goal a minute before the game ended. If the game had lasted one minute longer the score would possibly have been either 12 or 13 to 0, since the Mavericks had three downs to make a few yards when the final gun fired.

The punting of Daniels, return of punts by Captain Burgamy, the plunging and blocking of co-captain Mackall, tackling of Allison and Bagley, the defensive and offensive work of Delmer Brown, Willie Taylor, and Vaughn were the highlights of the game for the Mavericks. Garner and Captain Thompson, with their line plunging and broken field running, were the stars for the Vernon team.

GENERAL PROPERTY TAX Prepared by State Educational Committee.

It has been said that there is nothing certain but death and taxes, but evidently there are some people who do not agree to the certainty of taxes, or there would not be such a term as "tax-dodger." It is a well-known fact that a great deal of personal property escapes assessment and taxation, thereby increasing the burden of taxes on real property. The assessment of intangible property is particularly difficult, so that not much of this class of property appears on the tax rolls. Real property is immovable and visible, and as a result it is assessed much more completely than personal property.

The report of the Tax Commissioner of Texas for the years 1925-1926 states that the assessment rolls showed 1,091,670 automobiles, carriages, buggies, wagons, motorcycles, bicycles, etc., valued at $109,715,094. Other records showed approximately 1,276,312 automobiles registered in 1925. The amount of money on hand returned for taxes in 1925 was only $37,731,042, whereas the deposits in State and National Banks on January 1, 1925, totaled $652,861,809. On December 31, 1925, the demand deposits held by incorporated banks in this State amounted to $516,518,000; the amount of money reported by taxpayers as on hand or on deposit on January 1, 1926 was $25,238,595, or 4.8 per cent of the demand deposits reported for the previous day. Everything considered, this is a fair indi-

Education Must Not Be Neglected

By B. E. McGlamery, County School Superintendent

This is no time for "back-tracking in education" in spite of the "temporary economic difficulties," Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the Interior, declared in a statement made public recently by the U. S. Office of Education, in which a school enrollment of 31,000,000 is predicted for the nation as a whole this year.

Public, elementary and high school attendance will approximate more than 25,000,000 while the university and college enrollments are expected to exceed 1,225,000.

"What we do in our public schools with our children determines what our nation shall be," Dr. Wilbur said. "In spite of temporary economic difficulties, it is no time for back-tracking in education. It is more vital for us to have better education and more of it to protect us from our own ignorance and follies."

"The school teacher writes the influence policy of democracy," says William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, Chicago. "The preservation of democracy is sacred trust placed upon the public schools by the builders of the nation, a task regarded by the teachers as their prime function in a government by the people." There is a special necessity for public education today, and the danger of losing many of its benefits is so great as to demand of those interested a most careful study of the benefits of our public school system and an increased interest in its proper support. For several weeks past the press of the county has carried articles of general interest on our public school system. Each week will see additional articles and we urge a careful reading of these articles in order that we may intelligently act on such questions as will come before the public for their consideration.

According to Proven Facts May Be Traced to Your Eyes.

At least you should investigate. Stomach troubles, headaches, nervousness, constipation, and many other ailments disappear when you relieve the eye strain.

Our claim is not that we are "Cure-alls" but we may help you. . . . We are helping others and point with pride to our list of satisfied patients.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that after having trouble with my eyes for several years I was referred to Dr. Beskow, and wish to state that Dr. Beskow treated my eyes with treatment lenses which cured my headache and burning of the eyes. Also, since I have been wearing Dr. Beskow's glasses my eyes have gradually been getting better.

Legion of Ranger Plans Celebration

The Carl Barnes Post No. 79 American Legion, of Ranger, is planning a big three-day celebration starting Thursday night, November 10, with their annual Armistice Day smoker at the Legion hall, and all ex-service men with paid-up Legion cards are invited to attend this smoker.

Saturday and Sunday afternoons a big rodeo will be held at the football field. The rodeo programs will start at 2 o'clock, and entries are being received from some of the best rodeo performers in Texas. Cash prizes will be offered in all events. Some of the features of the rodeo programs will be calf roping, goat roping, bronc riding, steer riding, and donkey polo.

Friday Night, November 11, a football dance will be held at the Legion hall, and a cowboy and cowgirl dance will be held at the same place Saturday night, November 12.

Farm Food Saving Contest Profitable

Graham — Total farm food raised averaged more than $550 per family in 60 of the 87 Young county farm families recently completing a "Farm Food Saving Contest" conducted by county farm and home demonstration agents in cooperation with local civic organizations. The average value of the pantries full of home grown food was $217.21 and the meat, dairy, poultry and other products brought the grand totals to well above the $550 goal set.

Crosbyton—N. J. Smally purchased City Meat Market recently.

Eastland County--

meeting was postponed until next Wednesday, Dr. H. B. Tanner, said this week.

Eastland's share of the $32,000 appropriation will be approximately $6,400, according to the ratio by which the Red Cross flour has been distributed over the county, Dr. Tanner explained. This amount will be available for the months of November and December, and there is a possibility of another appropriation for the following winter months.

Organization for this relief work in Eastland County was perfected Monday, October 31, in the courthouse here. J. E. Spencer of Cisco was named chairman for the county and County Judge C. L. Garrett was named vice chairman. Milburn McCarty was named Eastland's representative on the county committee as well as chairman of Eastland's local committee.

More than 200 unemployed men in Eastland and this vicinity have registered for work provided by this relief fund, and it is probable that some of them will start work by Monday, November 21. It is understood by the local committee that the money may be expended for wages on projects only and not for materials. Several business men are raising money to buy crushed rock to be used in improving the streets of Eastland. Much complaint has been made about the streets in Hillcrest addition. Work on leveling and improving the high school grounds will probably be the first project started.

Taylor Speaks--

ent McGlamery was chairman of the program committee, and the committee proper was composed of members from both civic organizations.

Darby Gives Invocation.

President James Horton of the Rotary Club opened the meeting by asking the audience to face the flag and sing one verse of "America," following which the Rev. O. B. Darby, pastor of the Eastland Baptist Church, read the invocation.

Following the banquet President Horton turned the program over to Supt. McGlamery, who spoke a few words and then introduced little Miss Ellen Ayers Rice of Gordon, pupil of Miss Wilda Drago, who rendered "Liebesfrend," Kreisler; "Mighty Lak n Rose," Nevin; and "Elves Dance," Jenkinson, on her violin. Miss Drago accompanied her at the piano. Mrs.

McGlamery, representative of the Federated Clubs of the county, spoke a few words in behalf of the amendment to the constitution giving the Legislature power to appropriate funds for a Texas Centennial in 1936.

McGlamery then introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Dr. Taylor, president of Howard Payne College, who has an enviable record as a speaker wherever he is known, and who presented convincing facts and figures concerning his subject to his listeners Monday evening.

143 Families--

Practically all of the clothing made has been for children. The following garments had been completed Wednesday: eight shirts, two dresses, two suits of coveralls, five pairs of bloomers, three night gowns, and one lady's slip and dress.

The following volunteer workers from various organizations have spent one or more afternoons helping with the sewing and distribution:

Baptist Church: Mmes. W. J. Her-ington, D. B. Roark, Joe Epperson, Richard Jones.

Methodist W. M. S. and Martha Dorcas Sunday school class: Mmes. Frank D. Roberson, W. A. Whitley, K. G. Porter, T. M. Johnson, F. D. Hale, Iola Mitchell.

Thursday Afternoon Club: Mmes. W. B. Pickens, Hubert R. Jones, E. Roy Townsend, W. P. Leslie, Carl Springer, R. E. Sikes, Dan Childress. Church of God: Mmes. S. A. Harrall, E. F. Ganow.

Presbyterian Church: Mmes. J. Leroy Arnold, M. C. Hayes.

Civic League: Mmes. Maurice Shelton, Eugene Day.

Music Club: Mmes. Joseph M. Perkins, M. J. Pickett, A. J. Campbell, Turner Collie, Joe Thomas Cook.

First Christian Church: Mmes. J. R. Gilbreath, Will M. Wood.

Pythian Sisters: Mmes. Milton Newman, D. B. Roark.

Mrs. D. E. Throne has also assisted with the work.

Families served up to and including Wednesday afternoon numbered 143, making a total of 588 individuals clothed with the 1804 yards of material, and averaging 3 1/2 yards to the person.
