FREEZING THE FARMER

Under the above title the Cisco News in the editorial column of its Sunday edition publishes a comprehensive discussion of the Agricultural Credit Corporation towards making loans for this year. In order to help create a sentiment that will lead to a request for a more liberal policy on the part of the corporation's officials, we give the editorial in full below:

If the purpose of the Agricultural Credit corporation's loans to farmers is to provide the farmers a source of cheap credit not available elsewhere, as the intent of the law is interpreted, then the corporation, under the policies as understood here is defeating its own purpose, and not only defeating its own purpose but threatening to bring about an even worse condition than now exists.

Most of the farmers entitled to this relief already have their collateral mortgaged to the limit. The requirement that the government be given a first lien on collateral securing the corporation's loan means that the farmer must use the money obtained from the government to pay off the prior indebtedness, thus leaving his chattels and other collateral mortgaged to the government. Very few of the applying farmers—perhaps 25 per cent as indicated by the records of applications already made to the Eastland county committee,—are able to provide security for a loan large enough to amortize their debts to banks and merchants and have a surplus with which to make another crop. The most of them therefore will simply shut themselves off from future credit by paying the banks and merchants under a mortgage to the federal government. In effect this will be a transfer of indebtedness by freezing up collateral in a worse condition than ever.

Consider an example:

Bill Jones, a tenant farmer, after experiencing two successive crop failures, owes his banker $250 which is secured by a mortgage on his stock, his tools, his crop and other chattel. Perhaps he owes his merchant $100 secured by chattels not listed in the mortgage to the bank. The security he has to offer will guarantee a loan of $350 and no more on the basis of present market values. He applies to the government, secures a loan of $350 and pays the banker and the merchant, giving to the Agricultural Credit corporation a first lien upon all his goods. He has transferred his indebtedness, helped to relieve the banker and the merchant and has assisted himself to the extent of reducing the interest rate he pays to six and one-half per cent. But he has no money. He is faced with the necessity of obtaining a loan to make his next crop so that he can pay the government at least 50 per cent of the $350 plus interest he has borrowed. Where is he going to get it? Would the banker, with no security available, advance him the money? His only source of credit may be what, on the strength of his character, he can purchase on open account from the merchant, but that will tend to relieve his condition little.

Unless the corporation's loan policy is liberalized to place its benefits primarily within the reach of the type of farmer above, who is the type for which the aid is designed, its existence is not warranted by any credit condition now existing. For the farmer who can avail himself of its benefits can, with equal ease, secure accommodation through the regular channels of credit. Most of our banks are in solid condition and can well take care of the 25 per cent. It is the 75 per cent that must be reached. Under the existing requirements the corporation loans will serve to thaw out the ice in one place and freeze it in another, and more serious place. It will leave the majority of the farmers with neither opportunity for further credit nor the purchasing power which is not only essential to their operations but essential to the welfare of business.

There should be a forceful demand upon the part of business men, bankers and merchants in general that the policy of the government agency charged with the distribution of these loans be put in accord with the spirit of the legislation which created the agency. Otherwise we are to have the spectacle of the government defeating its own ends. Three hundred million dollars loaned to the farmers of this nation will do more to relieve the distress of the public in general, thaw out frozen credits and release purchasing power than ten times as much loaned to the large corporations, banks, and other business enterprises. It will have a progressive influence that will gather magnitude in the point of expanding credit much out of proportion to the progression that starts at the top of the pyramid and trickles down, and an influence more spontaneous in its character and consequently more in accord with natural business operations.

EVIDENCE THAT EASTLAND NEEDS A BANK

Three weeks ago Eastland was astir. Rumors were current that a bank was to be located here soon. This was a common subject for conversation in the home, on the street and in the business houses. Now we hear no more about a bank. Have all the plans that then seemed so hopeful come to naught? The Chronicle understands that all the arrangements for the establishment of a bank cannot be made in two or three weeks. Those directly interested may be working out the details for the consummation of the plan. It is hoped by the business interests of the city that this is true. Eastland needs a bank.

More evidence of just how badly Eastland needs a bank was brought out last week by an act of the commissioner's court. It was announced on Tuesday that the Commercial State Bank of Ranger had been designated as the county depository for the coming two years. The point is not in the selection of the depository. A bank at Eastland, if any, or

Story of WILL ROGERS by Clara Bow

To write of Will Rogers is like introducing one to his best friend, for Will Rogers is everybody's friend. He sits at every breakfast table. His homely humor is quoted in every home. Everyone knows that he is from Oklahoma, that he can twirl a rope with the best of them, that he was in vaudeville for years with the exception of a short time when he made some early movies. That he is a great humorist, and has been a tremendous success. That he is a polo player of national prominence and has two sons, both of whom also are famous as poloists.

But there are a few things that we notice in the studies that are not always common knowledge outside. Will Rogers, although he chews gum constantly and buys it by the gross, never seems to have a piece handy but is always borrowing a stick from somebody. He swears he is not superstitious, but is regularly knocking on wood.

As a correspondent for close to 200 newspapers he has never missed a day or been late with a story, regardless of where he happened to be. His articles are frequently prepared in his automobile, and he carries a typewriter in his car at all times. His personal liking for flying and his articles on the subject have constituted one of the greatest boosts that aviation has received. Many of his articles have been written in the air. He has never played golf or tennis.

He dislikes the man who meets him and starts reminiscing. He can't conceal the fact if he doesn't like a person.

He shies from conversing on the subject of his early life as a cowboy. His early ambition was to grow up and be a man. Often wonders if he realized it. He reads the newspapers and current literature. When asked if he reads any fiction, Rogers replied: "Yes, the newspapers." Rogers enjoys the unique distinction of being the only actor who was ever allowed to fill in the amount of his own checks—Charles Dillingham always sending him his salary with the amount left blank to be filled in when depositing.

He is truly the spokesman of the people. He sits beside kings and presidents, and is welcomed in the homes of the rich and the world famous. But he is of the common people—he is their representative to the seats of mighty—their nominee to the hall of fame.

any bank in the county might be so designated under certain conditions. The evidence is in a statement made by Hall Walker, vice president of the Commercial State Bank, in announcing that his institution had been selected as custodian for the county funds.

Quoting from a news story in the Ranger Times: "Mr. Walker pointed out that it was a good thing for the city of Ranger, because all county monies were deposited in the local bank and all pay checks for county employees had to be cashed there. In addition all the rural school teachers' checks are cashed at the bank and, when these employees come to Ranger for their monthly pay, it is logical that they will do considerable shopping in the city, which will be of material benefit to the merchants. It is expected that, by being the county depository, the bank will be a deciding factor in bringing much business to Ranger."

While it is not compulsory that all county employees and rural teachers go to the depository bank to cash checks, we realize that many of them do. When workmen on the roads, rural teachers, and county officials are all considered it is possible that a large number go to Ranger. If Eastland had a bank, it would not be necessary for anyone receiving a check here to go to Ranger. Checks would be cashed here and the resulting business kept at home. If everything possible is not being done to secure a bank greater effort should be put forth. The obtaining of a bank for Eastland is a challenge to the business leaders.

BRECKENRIDGE DEMOCRAT MERGES WITH SUN

A copy of the Stephens County Sun came to our desk this week. The Sun is a weekly paper published at Breckenridge. Recently the Breckenridge Democrat and the Sun, both weekly papers, were merged and the copy received here is the first issue since the merger. If future editions come up to or improve on the standard set by the first one, the people of Breckenridge and Stephens County will have a paper of which they can justly be proud. The first issue showed an eight column eight page paper, well arranged and neatly printed. It was full of live news, besides it carried several special features that will make it attractive to the readers. Odie Minaira, former owner of the Sun, is in charge of the combined papers.

The Breckenridge Democrat is one of the oldest papers in this part of the state and did not lose its identity in merging with the Sun. The Democrat was established about fifty years ago by Ed Davenport, an able newspaper man. Under his management it had an important part in the political and civic affairs of Stephens County. From the time it was founded until the oil boom the paper was published by Mr. Davenport or some member of this family, except one year. Twenty years ago it was published for some time by J. C. Allison and Frank Jones, at that time publishers of Eastland Chronicle. At the expiration of the lease Harbert Davenport, son of Ed Davenport, took charge of the paper and continued its publication until at the beginning of boom days it was sold to other people. In the final adjustment of newspaper affairs in Breckenridge it became the property of the Breckenridge American and has since been a weekly visitor in many homes throughout this section of the State. Now as the Stephens County Sun and Democrat it will continue to exert an influence.

Those who have been watching the summary of commercial failures as an indicator of business conditions will derive some hope from the records for January as sent out by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. This report gives the total number of insolvencies for Texas for the five weeks ending February the first as 78. This total made a larger gain over December than could be accounted for as purely seasonal, still the report calls attention to the fact that the number is less than half that for January a year ago and that in the past fourteen years there have been eight cases in which the total for January was higher than it was this year.

TRIVIAL IDINGS

Oldest Citizens of Texas Dies

Last week this column carried a story about Uncle Black Shirley of Springtown, Texas, who was 114 years old and claimed to be the oldest man in Texas. Mr. Shirley died at his home at Springtown early Friday morning of last week while the Chronicle was being delivered to its Eastland readers. He attributed his long life to the fact that he had chewed tobacco since he was a small boy and that he took a "nip of whiskey every morning." An untouched plug of tobacco was at his bedside when he died. He had not used whiskey for ten years, because he said "the kind you get nowadays is too rotten to drink."

Mr. Shirley was a lover of horses but he wanted good horses. He declared, "I won't ride anything that hasn't got two eyes." He was active and rode horseback a great deal until he was past 80 years of age. He disliked movies, baseball and automobiles and preferred to drink water from an old tin cup.

Man Burned Because Had No Money

Lee Marshall, a 50 year old homesteader, lived alone in his dugout near Logan, New Mexico. On a night last week two bandits entered his home and demanded that he give up his money. He had none. They poured gasoline over him, bound him, set him on fire and left, believing he would die. He straggled to a neighbors home and was taken to Tucuman for medical aid. Now grim-faced ranchers and officers are searching that part of the country for the two bandits. If found, the sheriff of the county intends to take them direct to the state penitentiary for safe keeping. Mr. Marshall told physicians that the men had been drinking before they came to his dugout and that they had a bottle of liquor with them.

Old Money Shows Up at Coleman

Last Saturday a woman from Santa Anna went into the Coleman County Building and Loan offices at Coleman to pay a debt of $800. In making the payment she used the large old-style bills which went out of circulation in 1929. There were four $100 bills, four 50s, ten 20s and one $100 gold note printed in the '80s.

Richest Indian Traded Auto For Nag

Jackson Barnett, called the world's wealthiest Indian, once thought so little of the paleface's mechanical masterpiece that he traded a new automobile for a $40 pony. This was revealed in a deposition read in Federal Court at Los Angeles, Cal., Friday by Isom Beans, fellow member of the Creek tribe and a grandnephew of the 91-year-old brave. "Jackson bought an automobile for about $700," said Beans. He kept it about two weeks. He had a fellow teaching him to drive it. One day they ran it in the ditch and it stalled. The driver went to get help to pull it out. When he returned Jackson was gone and a strange fellow sat in the car. He said Jackson traded him the automobile for his horse. The horse was worth about $40.

Years ago the Government gave Jackson a quarter section of land in Oklahoma. Oil was discovered on the tract and riches have poured into the pockets of the Indian ever since.

Starved Youth Dies During Game

Fourteen year old Eggar Lepley of Coldwater, Michigan, a public school student, died of starvation while playing a basket ball game, physicians said Saturday. The boy collapsed on the high school gym floor at Pleasant Lake, Mich., and died a few moments later. Doctors said continued undernourishment coupled with the exertion of the game was too much for him. It was revealed that he and his parents, two brothers and six sisters have been living on a meager city dole for many weeks.

Valentine Baby Born With Two Teeth

Little Everett Loftin Fields, born to Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fields, Breckenridge, Texas, on February 14th, has a greater distinction than being a "Valentine baby." He was born with two upper front teeth. Everett Loftin will forego some of the aches and pains of other babies in the teeth-cutting time since he has his set started early. The baby weighed seven pounds and otherwise was normal.

Builds Business On Capital of 45 Cents

John Pederson of Racine, Wisconsin was out of a job and had only 45 cents. Hunger seemed just a little ways off, but John was not out of resourcefulness. Using as their capital the forty-five cents, he and his wife went to work making oil cloth flowers. That was four years ago. Now there are fourteen girls at work for Pederson and his business is estimated at $6,000 a month.

Man Floats On Auto Tire Amid Sharks

A story of hunger, thirst and the menace of Gulf stream sharks was related Friday by Leon Brink, an aviator of Miami, Florida, who had clung to an inflated auto tire for fifty-two hours after his plane was forced down off the Florida coast. Brink was bouned from Miami to the Bahamas when motor trouble forced him down. The plane broke up in the heavy seas ten minutes after it struck the water.

Then Brink had only the automobile tire to keep him afloat, and he had to use a hand pump occasionally to keep that inflated. The water was infested with sharks. Brink admitted that he was frightened at times when the sharks came to close but said they seemed to be more inquisitive than hungry. He was picked up by a Sun Oil tanker and arrived home carrying the tube and a small hand pump with which he had kept it afloat.

Good Health Depends On Mineral Balance

Lee's Mineral Compound With Vitamins Builds Bodily Strength and Vigor by Supplying Needed Minerals and Vitamins

In the light of recent scientific discoveries, leading Physicians and Health authorities agree that the human race could be practically free from most ailments, and could live to a ripe old age if the system could be regularly supplied with a sufficient quantity of the essential Minerals and Vitamins.

DEFICIENCY OF MINERALS

The process of refining modern foods; bleaching of flour, rice, sugar, etc.; together with improper cooking takes out of our foods the very things that God intended we should have.

ACIDITY DESTROYS HEALTH

As the Mineral content of the body is lowered, slowly but surely the acid content of the system is increased until it finally reaches the point where the organs of assimilation and elimination cannot perform their natural functions. Our powers of resistance are lowered. Disease germs creep into the blood. The system becomes clogged with impurities. Various aches and pains appear, and before we realize what is taking place, we are on the very verge of a physical break-down.

MAKE THIS 10 DAY TEST Convince Yourself!

Stop dosing yourself with "patent medicines," harsh purgatives, oils and cathartics for just 10 days. Go to your nearest Druggist and secure a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND. Take it regularly, and watch the results. You'll be amazed at the feeling of renewed strength and vigor that soon appears. No narcotics or alcohol to "boost you up" but a natural method of restoring health and energy.

AMAZING NEW FORMULA

Fortunately for humanity, science has found a way to prevent most of these conditions. After years of careful research and experimentation, a new and remarkable formula has been perfected. This preparation, known as LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND is a scientific combination of the eleven most essential Mineral Elements of the human body combined with Vitamins. It is not, in any sense, a patent medicine but is more in the nature of a FOOD VITALIZER. By supplying the system with the necessary Minerals and Vitamins it aids nature in quickly balancing the Mineral content of the body so that good health naturally follows.

BRINGS QUICK RELIEF

Stomach disorders, such as indigestion, hyperacidity, "heart-burn," gas, and bloating soon yield to this amazing natural compound. Constipation and attendant ills, such as nervousness, headaches, biliousness, bad breath and sallow skin, soon give way to a feeling of renewed strength and vigor.

WHAT IS THE "PLANT OF LIFE?"

A. Yerbavida is an anti-spasmodic which, by calming and quieting acidity and indigestion, systems, promotes sound and refreshing sleep.

Q. Will Yerbavida relieve poisoning of the nervous and muscular system?

A. Although Yerbavida contains no drugs of any kind, it has shown marvelous results in eliminating heartburn, gas and acidity, thereby allowing Nature to heal even an ulcerated stomach.

Q. Is Yerbavida pleasant to drink?

A. You will find Yerbavida a very delicious and satisfying beverage; and if used regularly, you will prefer it to tea, coffee or any other drink.

Q. What does Yerbavida cost?

A. Yerbavida is very economical—a large package, enough to make 240 cups, can be purchased for only $1.00.

Q. How can I obtain Yerbavida?

A. If your local druggist cannot supply you, accept no substitute, but send $1.00 direct to Yerbavida Sales Co., 612 Southwest Bldg., Los Angeles, California.

A. What was known by the aborigines and the early Mormon settlers in this country as the "Plant of Life" is an herb growing wild on the American Desert and containing properties most beneficial to health and bodily welfare.

Q. Is the "Plant of Life" obtainable by the public generally?

A. Yes, it is now available for general consumption under the name of "Yerbavida."

Q. How does Yerbavida work upon the human system?

A. The endocrine glands are the alchemists which transmute chemical elements into physical stamina and mental power. Premature old age, disease, low vitality and fatigue result when endocrine glands become sluggish. Yerbavida revives the endocrine glands.

Q. Will Yerbavida eliminate constipation?

A. Although it contains no laxative of any kind, it wakes up the liver, which regulates bowel action.

Q. Will Yerbavida eliminate sleeplessness, nervousness and irritability?

PYTHIAN SISTERS EXHIBIT QUILTS

The Pythian Sisters temple had their handsome quilt on exhibition at their meeting Monday night, conducted by Most Excellent Chief Mrs. Cora Frye, with 12 or 15 members in attendance.

The tulip design of the cover is worked out in colors on a white background. The quilt will be on display this week at the Penny store.

Plans were made to have the association of this district hold their regular meeting in April at Eastland, with the date of day and night sessions to be announced later.

This is a big thing and will bring a large number of visitors to the city. The Eastland temple will take up degree team work, beginning next Monday night and every member is urged to be present.

HCME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS

The above council held an interesting meeting Monday afternoon in the district courtroom at court-house, with Mrs. Lee Birkhead of North Star, presiding chairman, conducting session, and Mrs. Lillian Neal Eastland of Ranger, serving as secretary pro-tem.

Mrs. Barry gave an inspirational line of information and suggestions and stated that after the clubs have absorbed the lessons, and information given them by the home demonstration agents, they should in turn spread this cult to their neighbors and friends.

Fashion Opens Sale Today On Springtime Wear

This issue of the Eastland Weekly Chronicle carries an important announcement in a money saving message from the Eastland's new modern up-to-the-minute ladies ready to wear store.

Eastland and surrounding community women can well feel proud of such a store to do their shopping as it is conveniently and attractively arranged in the interior which gives every shopper an opportunity to select their complete wardrobe in an atmosphere of fashion and refinement. Modern fixtures make it possible for each garment to be shown in its individuality, thereby eliminating the necessity of so-called "hunting" through them all to find what you want.

Mrs. Dave Wolf has just recently returned from market, where purchases were made for every department to complete the store for everything for Spring. Mrs. Wolf states: "I have never seen such wonderful spring coats and beautiful dresses and while the prices are exceedingly low they are of the highest quality and we do not believe it will be necessary for any woman to leave Eastland for their spring purchases after they see the lovely lines that we have to show them. Due to the fact that we opened our store between seasons and stock carried were only for immediate disposal, this is our first real opportunity to really give our friends and customers and all others the benefit of our experience in selecting merchandise that will appeal to the most fastidious and discriminate as well as those who make selections at random. We want every woman to come and visit our store whether they buy or not at this time just to show them that Eastland can and does have merchandise equal to any city anywhere." The opening day of the Spring Sale is Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. and will continue through and including Saturday, March 11th. The store will be closed Friday morning until 2 p. m.

LIONS DEFEAT EASTLAND
The Brownwood Lions came over Tuesday night and took the Mavericks into camp by a score of 31 to 19 in the last basket ball game between these two teams for the season. The playing was rather one-sided, as three of the Eastland first string were sick and Fisher, the star center, was not able to go on the floor at all.

Muirhead Motor
Is Showing New
Oldsmobile Here

The 1933 offering of Oldsmobile cars, presenting the most advanced modes have been the major motor attraction at Muirhead Motor Co., Oldsmobile dealer. The new cars have attracted continuous crowds of motorists and other interested visitors to his show-rooms at the corner South Seaman and Olive streets.

"The easily apparent added value, at material reduction in prices, the distinctive styling of both the Six and Straight Eight coupled with the highly individual attractiveness and smartness of each line, have made a deep impression on those familiar with Oldsmobile's inherent and characteristic qualities of dependability, comfort and performance, Mr. Muirhead said.

"Second only to beauty of appearance, the public is displaying unusual interest in the Fisher No-draft, individually controlled ventilation system. This is considered the greatest health, and comfort improvement since closed bodies were introduced.

"The lower, air-streamed lines of both the Six and Straight Eight are made possible in a great measure by a new frame construction with what Olds engineers designate an X-type cross member. This not only adds to the strength of the frame, but adds to the stability of the cars.

"Every quality of performance has been highly praised, especially the ease of control, quietness and the smoothness with which the cars glide along the streets. Comments on every feature have been so favorable that we feel certain the new Oldsmobiles will be accepted by the public as the finest cars the company has ever produced.

development is the three-point engine suspension used on both the six and eight. The three mountings are cushioned in rubber and designed to control torsional vibration. An unbelievable smoothness at all speeds results.

"Numerous other refinements have been made in these new Oldsmobiles, which keep their mechanical excellence on a par with the design advancements that have earned them the title of style leaders of the year."

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Over 30 Million Americans Now Have It—
Is This Dreaded Disease Becoming a Plague?
