Keeping Vital Statistics Proves Interesting Task

HOUSTON.—Between the stork and the grim reaper stands T. T. McDonald, registrar of the Bureau of Vital Statistics—and he finds it an interesting job.

Keeping the official book of life for the city has been his work for the past 13 years. It has brought him a philosophy which he feels he would not have obtained in any other field of endeavor.

During those years, save in a very few cases, no child has been born in Houston and no person has died without McDonald noting it. He has entered in his record book 57,910 births and 36,709 deaths.

The ratio of births to deaths—the stork constantly leading the race—supplies one of the reasons for his contentment. He has come to watch over the city's birth rate with a patriarchal air.

There is a touch of pathos, however, as he has never had a child of his own though he has reared three adopted daughters.

The girls are gone from his home—two married and the other a biology teacher at the University of Alabama. McDonald, a widower, is again left with his records for company.

When twins happen along, McDonald smiles and lights a cigar. The happiest day of his life was when he recorded the arrival of triplets.

Other times he has drawn the sad duty of writing the last chapter in the lives of his friends and relatives. In 1922 he recorded the death of his own wife.

 itors to the legislative halls since the inauguration ceremonies in January. They came here by automobiles and trucks for the most part. Prior to the hearing, which began at 1:30, they assembled in Woodridge Park and moved from there in a body to the Capitol. Groups from the various counties bore placards with the names of their counties prominently displayed.

College Help Needed
 Shelton and Mrs. Anthony presented the case of the group in opening talks following a brief announcement of the purpose of the hearing of Speaker Coke Stevenson of the House and Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt, president of the Senate. "We are here because of our interest in the appropriation for the Texas A. & M. College, especially as it affects the extension and experiment station work," Shelton said. These are hard times. We need all the help the college can give us in carrying on our work on the farm.

 "We have asked this hearing before our Legislature in behalf of the interests of the whole State," Mrs. Anthony said. "One million people on Texas farms were made independent in 1932 through the A. & M. farm program as carried on by the extension service. This work is the sort of farm relief that should not be crippled and it is to prevent it that we are asking a revision of the House committee's proposed 41 per cent cut on the budget."

A delegation of Eastland county citizens left early Tuesday for Austin where they appear before the House committee on appropriations to protest against proposed reductions in the appropriations for the Agricultural Extension Service of the A. & M. college, if such reductions are such as will hinder and cripple the service. Among those who are making the trip: Rufus Cox, James McCracken, Romney; Mrs. Ed Bills, Eastland; Mrs. Fred Diehnhofer, Ranger.

 The Eastland county group was met at Austin by similar groups from other Texas counties and the combined delegations will go before the appropriations committee.

The House appropriation committee is favoring a reduction of 41 per cent for the state agricultural extension work. Those opposing such drastic cut have agreed to a 25 per cent reduction, which they maintain is as high as it can be to maintain the efficient service of the extension work.

Another argument being offered against the 41 per cent cut is that, since the federal government matches the appropriation with dollar for dollar if the state appropriation is kept up to a certain point, the federal money will be lost to the state if the cut is more than 25 per cent.

 Senator W. B. Collie of Eastland, in a letter to Mrs. Louis Pitcock of Ranger, stated that he was opposed to reducing the appropriations for the agricultural extension work to the degree that the service would be crippled or hindered.
 Rep. O. F. Chastain of Eastland, who is a member of the House appropriation committee, is in favor of the 41 per cent reduction.

Changes Made At the City Hall

 Brown. These changes together with those made at a previous meeting, when Guy Parker was chosen as city manager and B. F. Pryor and John D. Seale were given positions on the police force, complete the selection of officials and employees of the city to date.
 At a meeting of the commission on Jan. 20 of this year a contract with the Brown-Crummer company of Dallas was entered into with regard to refunding the outstanding bonds of the city. This contract carried an option which made it possible to terminate its force and effect under certain conditions. The commission decided that those conditions now exist and declared the contract terminated.
 The contract in substance provided for the refunding of the bonded and time warrant indebtedness of the city on the basis of $1,026,700 refunding bonds to extend over a period of 30 years with annual interest varying from 2 per cent to 5 per cent. It was provided that the city commission should exert their best efforts to maintain throughout such period a fixed valuation on properties within the limits of the city subject to taxation at $2,143,000 for the first year beginning Jan. 1, 1933, and thereafter at $2,000,000, and to maintain the annual tax rate throughout the period of 30 years at 2:50 on the $1.00 valuation.

The contract further provided that other indebtedness, evidenced by tax anticipation warrants, scrip warrants, and notes and delinquent interest, all aggregating in the sum of $127,766.17 should be liquidated from proceeds realized from the collection of delinquent taxes, aggregating in the sum of approximately $177,723.89.

There is a provision in the contract providing for the appointment of a creditors committee composed of R. E. Crummer, W. A. Middendorf, and James G. Martin, who were to secure the old bonds, make certain substitutions and generally handle the carrying out of the refunding plan, secure the printing of the refunding bonds, and approval of the attorney general, without cost to the city. A delinquent tax committee composed of N. A. Moore, Alex. Clark, Earl Bender, Donald Kinnaird and M. H. Smith was provided for with power to collect, adjust, compromise, renew and extend delinquent tax payments, but all acts of the committee were to be approved by M. H. Smith, who was empowered to direct suits for the enforcement of the collection of such taxes, the commission reserving its power with reference thereto as granted by law but it agreed "to cooperate and exercise their appropriate powers under the law to diligently press the collection and liquidation of delinquent taxes and to file such foreclosure suits as may be necessary to effect early collection and liquidation." The expenses incident to the collection of delinquent taxes were to be paid out of the collections thereof.

These SILVERTOWNS never blew. They were run till the tread was gone—but the Life-Saver Golden Ply refused to give.

Moreover, road tests with leading makes of tires show that Goodrich Safety Silvertowns have the most skid-resisting tread. This tread gives your car extra road-grip . . . reduces danger of skidding to a minimum.
