Legal 3.2 Beer Flowing Since Last Midnight

Legal 3.2 beer began flowing in Texas at one minute after midnight last night. At the election held last month Eastland county remained in the dry column, but Stephens county, a border county on the north, and Shackelford county, just northwest of Eastland, are wet and beer may be obtained there.

Exactly 3.2 miles from Ranger north across the Stephens county line places have been arranged and stocked with beer.

Transportation of beer into dry territories is not prohibited under the law regulating the manufacture and sale of beverages containing not more than 3.2 alcohol.

Hooper said it would be lawful for a person to purchase beer in wet territory and transport it to his home for personal consumption.

The law prohibits places whose principal business is the sale of beer from disposing of the beverage between the hours of 12 midnight and 7 a. m. of any day.

There is nothing in the law to indicate that restaurants, hotels, and other concerns not selling beer as their principal business would be required to desist from the sale at any time.

The county commissioners court can prohibit the sale of beer by any dealer whose principal business is the sale of beer where the place of business is within 300 feet of any church, school or other educational institution.

Under Hooper's interpretation of the beer law, "the manufacture, sale, barter, exchange" of 3.2 beverages only is prohibited in dry areas.

Hooper said it appeared that existing liquor regulations had been relaxed even in the case of counties and political subdivisions that have voted dry.

Hooper said the constitutional amendment directed the legislature to enact laws dealing with "possession for sale" an item that had been left out of new beer law.

1. Issue treasury notes.
2. Raise the price of gold in the domestic markets.

3. Purchase silver and issue treasury notes against it regardless of whether French and British cooperation could be obtained.

4. Create a dollar stabilization fund to force the value of the dollar down and to keep it down.

Lone Star Gas Co. Ordered To Lower Gate Rate

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—The Texas railroad commission Wednesday ordered the Lone Star Gas company to reduce its city gate rates at approximately 250 Texas cities and towns from 40 cents to 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

The commission estimated the reduction would result in annual saving of approximately $1,400,000 to gas consumers on the Lone Star system, the figure being based on average consumption.

"The commission urgently recommended to the company and its subsidiaries that this saving be passed on immediately to the consumers served by it," the commission stated in a prepared statement.

"If this is done the commission believes it will, to a very large extent, settle a long and bitter controversy that has been going on for years between the company and some of the towns in Central and Northern Texas served by it."

The commission stated it found the 32-cent rate to be fair and reasonable based on a rate valuation of $46,246,617. The company placed a valuation of approximately $72,000,000 on its properties for rate making purposes.

The order affects the city gate rate of Fort Worth, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Waco, Cleburne, Abilene, Corsicana, Denton, Hillsboro, McKinney, Sherman, Waxahatchie, Arlington, Paris, Mexico, Colorado, Clarksville, Taylor, Terrell, Eastland, Gainesville, Cisco, Vernon, Georgetown, Sweetwater, Snyder, Cameron, Chillicothe, Ferris, Albany, Ennis, Athens, Baird, Ballinger, Belton, Bryan, College Station, Commerce, Cooper, Farmersville, Gateaville, Glenrose, Granbury, Henrietta, Alvarado, Forney, Hamilton, Hearne, Meridian, McGregory, Honey Grove, Italy, Kaufman, Kemp, Kerens, Lancaster, Marlin, Mart, Rockwall, Plano, Pilot Point, Rockdale, Rosebud, Van Alstyne, Royce City, Strawn, Sulphur Springs, Teague, Whitebridge, Bridgeport, Deatur and Whitesboro.

Using 1931 as a test year, the commission said it found the revenues to be $9,301,862 and expenses $4,174,807. The annual depreciation was calculated at $965,066 on a 6 per cent sinking fund basis.

The commission disallowed the management fees of $95,062 paid to the Lone Star Gas corporation, stating that such management fees were "a division of the profits."

DENNING CALLS DECISION UNJUST IN LAW AND FACT

Branding the Texas railroad commission's order as "unjust in law and fact," L. B. Denning, president of the Lone Star Gas company, Wednesday announced that the company would "take every step necessary to protect its interests."

The statement was made by long distance telephone to a Fort Worth newspaper from the Lone Star headquarters in Dallas.

"We simply could not exist under the commission's orders," said Denning. "The investigation was very unfair. As an example, we bought 1,000 feet of 18-inch pipe at an unusually low price because the manufacturer wanted to get rid of it. The commission engineer, in evaluating the gas company property, set a value on 900 miles of pipe at the price we paid for the 1,000 feet."

"In my 30 years of experience in the gas business I have never seen a reduction in the price of natural gas unless it was voluntarily made."

Rotarians Hear Discussion of the County Fair

More about the fair was heard from B. M. Collie, presented by the program chairman, J. B. Johnson, at the noon luncheon of the Rotary club, held on the Connellee rot, with president, F. V. Williams, in charge, who at the close of Collie's talk, appointed Ben E. Hamner, J. B. Johnson and Leslie Gray as committee to arrange for a concession at the fair, and to confer with H. C. Davis, chairman, about the kind of concession to secure.

Balance of the program was taken up by Hamner with a description of his stops along the way to Chicago, and visit to Will Rogers' home, where he met Will's sister, and Hamner's impressions of the Century of Progress.

The luncheon committee reported the hotel would serve their luncheons at their former price, and the Rotarians will continue to lunch there.

It was offered by Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman 45 minutes after the session of the legislature, called by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, had convened at noon.

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—The Texas legislature convened at noon today for a 30-day and possibly a 60-day special session.

Earlier adjournment is possible. The members present, however, were almost unanimous in the belief.

T. & P. Announces New Low Fares On Dallas-El Paso Run

Drastic reductions in passenger fares which will permit travelers to ride in Texas & Pacific coaches and chair cars for as little as one and one-half cents per mile are announced by Frank Jensen, general manager agent. The new reduced rates are now effective between Dallas, El Paso and intermediate points also on the transcontinental division between Port Worth, Denon, Sherman, Paris, Texarkana and intermediate points. The new round trip rate of one and one-half cents per mile for distance traveled in coaches and chair cars is considerably less than half of the old rate. Mr. Jensen said. This permits passengers to travel to their destinations and return for less than it formerly cost them to go one way. The new one-way rate is one and three-quarter cents per mile. The new reduced rates are good in coaches and chair cars on all Texas & Pacific routes including the famous "Sunshine Special."

In addition to the reduce d mileage rates, the Texas & Pacific has made drastic reductions in coach and chair car rates from Texas points to and from Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco and other California points, Mr. Jenson's advisers think relief may also be extended out of the $20,000,000 state bond issue proceeds. The issue, however, will not provide funds for the immediate emergency. Several months will be required to issue the bonds and market them.

Next to relief measures, interest is centered in the proposal to change state anti-trust laws, and the effect, if any, it will have on pending anti-trust suits against major oil companies and the American Petroleum Institute.

General Johnson has requested Texas, and all states, to make the necessary changes to carry out six salient points in the national recovery program:

1. Consent for the president to use state and local officers and employes in carrying out the NRA program.

2. Extension of regulations applied to interstate commerce to concerns which operate only inside state lines.

3. Daily $500 fines for violation of fair practices as set out by the NRA codes.

4. Authority for competitors, as well as prosecuting attorneys, to enjoin code violators.

5. Exemption from anti-trust law violations if code rules are followed.

6. Granting of public contracts only to code observers. The state board of control already has issued such an order without any statute on the subject.

Besides the subjects named in the governor's message, it is expected she will later submit many more topics. Among these expected are:

Amendment of the state racing and boxing laws.

Readjustment of state salaries, cut 25 per cent by the regular session.

Additional revenue to meet the state financial difficulties.

Amendment or repeal of the Robertson insurance law, which, opponents say, prevents foreign capital coming into Texas.

Numerous investigations are also being forecast including:

Investigation of reported sales of patronage, the granting of state boxing and wrestling permits, the handling of state relief and an inlief at least a month will be needed to dispose of the matters for which the session has been called.

Relief for Rio Grande valley hurricane sufferers promised to be the earliest work of the session. It was not specifically included in Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's proclamation convening the session.

The legislature was called for issuance of $20,000,000 state unemployment relief bonds and to amend state anti-trust laws as requested by General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator. The lady governor, a noted housekeeper, also asked an appropriation for a cooling system for the executive mansion and improvement of its grounds.

Relinquishment of delinquent taxes has been suggested as a measure of valley relief. The gov-

BE WISE.... BUY ON A RISING MARKET AND SAVE MONEY!

We're proud of our Blue Eagle! Here are the lowest prices for years to come. Frankly, I admit, I may be just a little out of line in sponsoring this campaign at a time when replacements in many instances are quoted at a higher figure than I quote you. However, I feel that I am doing my part in helping my friends and customers in securing needed commodities at lowest price under existing conditions as long as I am able to do so. I am selling what stock I have at these prices. When I am compelled to pay more I will be compelled to advance. I doubt if I will be able to quote prices like these again!

Lyric Wednesday

Florence Arliss, wife of the famous stage and screen star, George Arliss, plays opposite her husband as his queen, in his latest Warner Bros. picture, "The King's Vacation," which opens at the Lyric theatre on Wednesday.

This is the third time his wife has played with him on the screen, having appeared before in "Disraeli" and "The Millionaire." She will not consent to play any role in his pictures except that of his wife and in a love story that has a happy ending. When the role calls for some other ending or another sort of characterization, another actress is invariably engaged for the part.

Mrs. Arliss appeared frequently with her husband on the stage, but only the three times on the screen. Before her marriage, she played on the stage independently as Florence Montgomery, "the girl with the nice arms," as Mr. Arliss describes her in his autobiography.

"The King's Vacation," is an unusually pleasing modern comedy drama with a delightful romance, written by Ernest Pascal, author of "The Marriage Bed." Mr. Pascal also adapted it to the screen in collaboration with Maude T. Howell.

There is an excellent cast, other players being Dick Powell, Patricia Ellis, Dudley Digges, O. P. Heggie, Marjorie Gateson, Vernon Steele, James Bell and Maude Leslie. The picture was directed by John Adolfi, who has directed most of Mr. Arliss' pictures.

South Ward: Mrs. A. E. Herring, principal; Misses Sidney Henderson, Lavelle Hendrick, and new teachers, Misses Maurine Davenport, Mary Pearl Judkins, Lillian Thompson, Opal Harrell and Marjorie Spencer.

West Ward: Mrs. A. E. Herring, principal; Misses Sidney Henderson, Lavelle Hendrick, and new teachers, Misses Maurine Davenport, Mary Pearl Judkins, Lillian Thompson, Opal Harrell and Marjorie Spencer.

WITH President Roosevelt's acceptance of the NRA Automobile Code, Chevrolet, the world's largest builder of motor cars, officially begins operations in accordance with the administration's recovery program.

Although the official code was signed only a few days ago, it will be of interest to Chevrolet's many friends to learn that the Chevrolet Motor Company started to carry out the spirit of today's recovery program over three years ago!

At that time, we put into operation a "share-the-work" plan, whereby our workmen cooperated in spreading the work to give more men jobs. By means of this plan, as well as by regulating hours of work per week to meet retail demand, and by building up parts stocks in lean seasons, it was possible to carry 33,000 men on our payroll through the depression. For eleven months of each year since 1929, we have kept our employment within 10 per cent of this average. We are justly proud of that record. We are also proud to say that Chevrolet workmen did not, at any time during the depression, become a burden on public welfare departments.

On August 1st of this year, Chevrolet announced a blanket wage increase as well as the adoption of a 7½-hour, 5-day week and the employment of 12,000 additional men. This wage increase was the second in the last 4 months, Chevrolet having been among the first to put a blanket wage increase into effect.

We feel that the President's recovery program deserves the whole-hearted support of every citizen and manufacturer in America. It is a bold, swift, courageous plan to start the ball rolling toward economic recovery. Its sincerity is unquestioned. Its objectives are admirable. And the direct, forceful steps the President and his associates are taking to make it a success, should stir the pride and admiration of every American.

We are proud and glad to do our part. And we are deeply grateful to the American people for the patronage that has enabled us to anticipate the present recovery program and to play our part today. After all, the immense number of men employed by Chevrolet is a direct result of the continued preference America has shown for Chevrolet.

CARBON.—Rev. A. A. Davis and wife surprised and delighted a number of friends Thursday noon with a birthday dinner. Rev. Davis, whose birthday was Saturday, invited Meses. Joe Hearne, J. W. Vaughan, V. C. Stafford whose birthdays were during the past week to partake of the lovely dinner prepared by Mrs. Davis. Others who were present were: J. W. Vaughan, Joe Hearne, Meses. J. W. Holt, Addie Kirk, and Miss Elizabeth Jackson of Silsby. Scripture reading and prayer followed by talks from most all present made this a very impressive occasion. Aunt May Hearne rose from the table after drinking four glasses of iced tea and called "Central." We suppose she wanted to find the doctor. Rev. Davis declared the chicken tasted like a Methodist had swiped it from Rev. Gwaltney. It was a great occasion and may joy be to all many days henceforth.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Rod Deane, such a young playboy, married Abby Fine, night club singer, against the wishes of his wealthy, successful father. They go to Europe on a gay honeymoon, then return to find their home all completed by a rival. Significantly, a spongy friend, Signif, of course, uses the Deane money to furnish the apartment. Life for the supporting actors, mother with liquor as the chief stimulus. Abby gets tired of all this, wanting to settle down. She implores Rod to give it up and go to work for his father. Just as he agrees, and they plan to spend an evening at home, Signif and a group of high-paying friends pop into the apartment with the announcement that they are all going to the Scandals. Abby wishes a day at home and an argument between Rod and Abby occurs. Rod leaves Abby alone in the apartment to go with Signif.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Rod came home that night—dead drunk—in the supporting arms of Sig. Sad because of the shameful plight of her husband, Abby retented in her pity.

The next morning she went down to the Deane bank to ask Franklin Deane, Sr., to give Rod a job. It ended in an argument and Abby left—no better off than she was before.

Deane, Sr., apparently sensed something sincere in Abby's manner. "The girl seems to be really interested in Rod's welfare."

"Yes," said Franklin, Jr. "It's just her way of dominating him."

"How do you mean?" "Well, from what Sig tells me, she does nothing but try to make Rod feel inferior. The thing is psychological. She's conscious of having married above her and that's her defense against it." The elder Deane thought a moment. "I see. Then it's a sort of victory for her—Rod's coming to work."

"That's all." Abby returned home. Rod, with the aid of the butler, had managed to come out of his drunken stupor. Abby immediately went to her room and started to pull her personal things from the dresser drawer. "What are you doing?" asked Rod.

"What does it look like?—I'm leaving you, Rod." A frown creased Rod's forehead. "Don't be foolish. Don't do something you'll be sorry for later."

Abby went on stonily. "There's no room for me in your life, Rod. You've proved that, acting as you did last night."

"That was in the heat of argument. I only did that because of what you said."

Abby went on packing. "Then you'll always go on doing it, Rod, because I'll always go on saying the same things. I can't change any more than you can, so I'm leaving you and your friend Sig to do what you want."

"I want you, Abby." "You said that last night."

"I mean it this time, Abby—I mean it then—only a fellow's liable to do anything when he's sore. I was thoughtless, that's all."

"That makes it just too bad for anybody who tries to help you."

"Nobody ever tried before. Maybe that's why it's not easy to take."

Abby looked at him, her eyes filling with tears. "If you leave me—well, I wouldn't know what to do—I'd be just running around in circles."

"I've been running around in circles ever since I married you. Abby broke into tears.

"Abby—dearling—don't. Don't cry!"

"Do you think it's easy for me to leave you?" Abby asked plaintively. "You aren't going to leave me, money—never mind what's happened before—I'll come through for you—if you'll just give me the chance—"

"Don't," pleaded Abby. "say it unless you mean it."

"I do mean it, dear."

Abby looked into his eyes. "Then go down to see your father—and ask him for a job."

"Ask him—I'll tell him!" Abby laughed through her tears as Rod took her comfortably into his arms.

Rod did see his father, and he did tell him—and Rod started at the bottom of the banking business. To be concise, Rod was a file clerk. Abby, of course, was delighted, for it began to look as though Rod's better characteristics were beginning to come to the surface.

But, exactly thirteen days after Rod started to work in the bank he quit. Let it be said for him that it was not entirely his fault. Franklin, Jr., his brother, had started at the top and kiddingly chided Rod for his foolishness in really working. Sig, too, was a bad influence.
